In hanging robe or v ornament, Guinevere 506
And I stood sole beside the v bier. Lover's Tale iii 58
Till you find the deathless Angel seated in the v tomb. Locksley H., Sixty 278
And sanguine Lazarus felt a v hand To Mary Boyle 31 Vacillating O damned v state ! Supp. Confessions 190 in my good mother's hall Linger with v obedience, Gareth and L. 13 Vagrant And v melodies the winds which bore The Poet 17
' If all be dark, v voice,' I said, Two Voices 265
A v suspicion of the breast : „ 336
Some v emotion of delight „ 361
Love is made a v regret. Miller's D. 210
But sickening of a v disease, L. C. V. de Vere 62
But v in vapour, hard to mark ; Love thou thy land 62
And v desires, like fitful blasts of balm Gardener's D. 68
I shook her breast with v alarms— The Letters 38
And therewithal an answer v as wind : Princess i 45 moulder'd lodges of the Past So sweet a voice and v, „ iv 64 as babies for the moon, V brightness ; „ 429
To that v fear implied in death ; In Mem. xli 14
Is faith as v as all unsweet : „ xlvii 5
If any v desire should rise, „ lxxx 1
V words ! but ah, how hard to frame „ xcv 45

Vagrant (continued) v desire That spurs an imitative will. In Mem. cx 19 swaying upon a restless elm Drew the v glance of Vivien, Balin and Balan 464
To one at least, who hath not children, v, Merlin and V. 506
'You breathe but accusation vast and v, „ 701
There gleam'd a v suspicion in his eyes: Lancelot and E. 127 came and went Before her, or a v spiritual fear— Guinevere 71
Laziness, v love-longings, the bright May, Sisters (E. and E.) 128
What v world-whisper, mystic pain or joy, Far—far—away 7
Till, led by dream and v desire, To Master of B. 17
Vaguer v voices of Polytheism Make but one music, Akbar's Dream 150
Vail her hand Grasp'd, made her v her eyes: Guinevere 663
Vail'd He look'd but once, and v his eyes again. Last Tournament 150
Vain (adj.) (See also Vaäin) Of knitted purport, all were v. Two Voices 168
The chancellor, sedate and v, Day-Dm., Revival 29 blank And waste it seem'd and v; Princess vii 43
From talk of battles loud and v, Ode on Well. 247
V solace! Memory standing near To J. S. 53
No v libation to the Muse, Will Water. 9
Who will not hear denial, v and rude Lover's Tale i 628 like a v rich man, That, having always prosper'd „ 715
'But v the tears for darken'd years Ancient Sage 183
And v the laughter as the tears, „ 185 Rail at 'Blind Fate' with many a v 'Alas!' Doubt and Prayer 2 Help thy v worlds to bear thy light. In Mem., Pro. 32 making v pretence Of gladness, „ xxx 6
That not a moth with v desire „ liv 10
At night she weeps, 'How v am I! „ lx 15
With fifty Mays, thy songs are v; „ lxxvi 14
Thy likeness, I might count it v „ xcii 2 Half-grown as yet, a child, and v— „ cxiv 9 man of science himself is fonder of glory, and v, Maud I iv 37
She murmur'd, 'V, in vain: it cannot be. Lancelot and E. 892 project after project rose, and all of them were v; The Flight 14
I was jealous, anger'd, v, Happy 66
May your fears be v! To One who ran down Eng. 2
Vain (s) I would shoot, howe'er in v, Two Voices 344
Her and her children, let her plead in v; Enoch Arden 166
Borrow'd a glass, but all in v: „ 240
If all be not in v; In Mem. cxiv 18 the Queen, who long had sought in v To break him Gareth and L. 139 Foredooming all his trouble was in v, „ 1127 that ye blew your boast in v?' „ 1229
To sleek her ruffled peace of mind, in v. Merlin and V. 899
That proof of trust—so often ask'd in v! „ 920
She murmur'd, 'Vain, in v: it cannot be. Lancelot and E. 892
When some brave deed seem'd to be done in v, Holy Grail 274 all My quest were but in v; „ 783
And now his chair desires him here in v, „ 901 her life Wasted and pined, desiring him in v. Pelleas and E. 496 have but stricken with the sword in v; Pass. of Arthur 23
And we had not fought them in v, The Revenge 74
Torture and trouble in v,— Def. of Lucknow 86
Or you may drive in v, Politics 8
But the Bandit had woo'd me in v, Bandit's Death 10
Vainglorious Nothing of the vulgar, or v, On Jub. Q. Victoria 13
Vainglory Drove me from all vainglories, Holy Grail 32
Vainlier v than a hen To her false daughters Princess v 328
Vale Winds all the v in rosy folds, Miller's D. 242
THERE lies a v in Ida, Œnone 1 many a v And river-sunder'd champaign „ 113
Lay, dozing in the v of Avalon, Palace of Art 107
'Make me a cottage in the v,' „ 291 and many a winding v And meadow, Lotos-Eaters 22 Beyond the thick-leaved platans of the v. Princess iii 175 roll The torrents, dash'd to the v: „ v 350
'Pretty bud! Lily of the v! „ vi 193 come; for all the v's Await thee; „ vii 215 Light, so low in the v You flash and lighten afar, Window, Marr. Morn. 9
The flocks are whiter down the v, In Mem. cxv 10 up the v of Usk, By the flat meadow, Marr. of Geraint 831
'And thence I dropt into a lowly v, Holy Grail 440 and where the v Was lowest, found a chapel, „ 441

Vale (continued) Re-makes itself, and flashes down the v— Guinevere 610
By thousands down the crags and thro' the v's. Montenegro 8 and every way the v's Wind, Tiresias 182
A gleam from yonder v, Early Spring 33 in this pleasant v we stand again, Demeter and P. 34
'Among the tombs in this damp v of yours! The Ring 325
Our vernal bloom from every v and plain To Mary Boyle 9 gulf on gulf thro' all their v's below. Prog. of Spring 73
But when she gain'd the broader v, Death of Œnone 91 Came that 'Ave atque V' of the Poet's Frater Ave, etc. 5
'Frater Ave atque V'—as we wander'd to and fro „ 7
Valence 'O ay, what say ye to Sir V, Merlin and V. 705
Sir V wedded with an outland dame: „ 714
Was charged by V to bring home the child. „ 718
Valentine birds that piped their V's, Princess v 239 Valiant Ring in the v man and free, In Mem. cvi 29
'I have fought for Queen and Faith like a v man and true; The Revenge 101 they stared at the dead that had been so v and true, „ 105
Valkyrian ourself have often tried V hymns, Princess iv 139 Valley (See also Island-valley) the broad v dimm'd in the gloaming: Leonine Eleg. 1 or fills The horned v's all about, Supp. Confessions 152 lovelier Than all the v's of Ionian hills. Œnone 2 Behind the v topmost Gargarus Stands up „ 10 panther's roar came muffled, while I sat Low in the v. „ 215
In this green v, under this green hill, „ 232
As I came up the v whom think ye should I see, May Queen 13
All the v, mother, 'ill be fresh and green „ 37 up the v came a swell of music on the wind. „ Con. 32
And up the v came again the music on the wind. „ 36
Wild flowers in the v for other hands than mine. „ 52
Full-faced above the v stood the moon; Lotos-Eaters 7 bolts are hurl'd Far below them in the v's, „ C.S. 112 others in Elysian v's dwell, „ 124
The v's of grape-loaded vines that glow D. of F. Women 219
Where yon dark v's wind forlorn, On a Mourner 22
I lived In the white convent down the v there, St. S. Stylites 62 from the v's underneath Came little copses Amphion 31
From some delightful v. Will Water. 120
To bicker down a v. The Brook 26 fought their last below, Was climbing up the v; Aylmer's Field 228 come, for Love is of the v, come, For Love is of the v, come thou down Princess vii 198 let the torrent dance thee down To find him in the v; „ 210 turning saw The happy v's, half in light, „ Con. 41
Follow'd up in v and glen With blare of bugle, Ode on Well. 114
All in the v of Death Rode the six hundred. Light Brigade 3
Into the v of Death Rode the six hundred. (repeat) „ 7, 16
A thousand shadowy-pencill'd v's The Daisy 67
ALL along the v, stream that flashest white, V. of Cauteretz 1
All along the v, where thy waters flow, „ 3
All along the v, while I walk'd to-day, „ 5
For all along the v, down thy rocky bed, „ 7
And all along the v, by rock and cave and tree, „ 9
Above the v's of palm and pine.' The Islet 23
The v, the voice, the peak, Voice and the P. 27 and jutting peak And v, Spec. of Iliad 14
Fly to the light in the v below— Window, Letter 12
Ringing thro' the v's, Maud I xii 10
And the v's of Paradise. „ xxii 44
Flee down the v before he get to horse. Gareth and L. 941 thro' many a grassy glade And v, Marr. of Geraint 237 long street of a little town In a long v, „ 243
And out of town and v came a noise „ 247
That glooms his v, sighs to see the peak Sun-flush'd, Balin and Balan 165 fill'd With the blue v and the glistening brooks, Lover's Tale i 331 men dropt dead in the v's V. of Maeldune 31
To silver all the v's with her shafts— Tiresias 32 horsemen, drew to the v—and stay'd; Heavy Brigade 3
When over the v, In early summers, Merlin and the G. 17
Drew to the v Named of the Shadow, „ 86 while we dwelt Together in this v— Death of Œnone 30 Thro' blasted v and flaring forest Kapiolani 12

Valorous many a v legionary, Boädicea 85 our most v, Sanest and most obedient : Geraint and E. 910 a v weapon in olden England ! Kapiolani 4 Valour V and charity more and more. To F. D. Maurice 40 courtesy wins woman all as well As v may, Last Tournament 708 Stately purposes, v in battle, Vastness 7
Value To loyal hearts the v of all gifts Lancelot and E. 1214
The v of that jewel he had to guard ? Lover's Tale iv 153
And trebling all the rest in v— ,, 200
A gift of slenderer v, mine. To Ulysses 48
Valued he knew the man and v him. Enoch Arden 121
Valueless and you saved me, a v life, Despair 61
Valuing V the giddy pleasure of the eyes. M. d'Arthur 128
V the giddy pleasure of the eyes. Pass. of Arthur 296 Valve and betwixt were v's Of open-work Princess iv 202 marble stairs, And great bronze v's, ,, v 365 Descending, burst the great bronze v's, ,, vi 75
Van Love wept and spread his sheeny v's for flight ; Love and Death 8
Then those who led the v, and those in rear, Lover's Tale iii 24
Van Diemen grows From England to V D. Amphion 84
Vane not the County Member's with the v : Walk. to the Mail 12
Still on the tower stood the v, The Letters 1
Waverings of every v with every wind, To the Queen ii 50 and once we only saw Your gilded v, The Ring 331 Vanish So v friendships only made in wine. Geraint and E. 479 and pass And v in the woods ; Balin and Balan 327
Dreamlike, should on the sudden v, Holy Grail 260
From less to less and v into light. Pass. of Arthur 468 madden'd the peoples would v at last, Despair 24
And ever vanishing, never v'es, Ancient Sage 44 thy world Might v like thy shadow in the dark. ,, 52
The hope I catch at v'es and youth The Flight 16
But Song will v in the Vast ; Epilogue 40
Till shadows v in the Light of Light. Epit. on Caxton 4 Will v and give place to the beauty Happy 36 ere it v'es Over the margin, Merlin and the G. 128
if such a wife as you Should v unrecorded. Romney's R. 69
Let the golden Iliad v, Parnassus 20 v in your deeps and heights ? God and the Univ. 1
Vanish'd (adj. and part.) But O for the touch of a v hand, Break, break, etc. 11
And those who sorrow'd o'er a v race, Aylmer's Field 844
But since it pleased a v eye, In Mem. viii 21
And, thy dark freight, a v life. ,, x 8
The days have v, tone and tint, ,, xliv 5
And thou hast v from thine own Pref. Poem Broth. Son. 5
Far among the v races, old Assyrian kings would flay Locksley H., Sixty 79
All I loved are v voices, all my steps are on the dead. ,, 252
When, in the v year, You saw the league-long rampart-fire Pro. to Gen. Hamley 26
Light among the v ages ; To Virgil 25
Stung by his loss had v, none knew where. Lover's Tale iv 102
Many a hearth upon our dark globe sighs after many a v face, Vastness 1
Many a planet by many a sun may roll with the dust of a v race. ,, 2
Arthur had v I knew not whither, Merlin and the G. 77
Has v in the shadow cast by Death. D. of the Duke of C. 3
Vanish'd (verb) she cast back upon him A piteous glance, and v. Aylmer's Field 284 clink'd, and clash'd, and v, and I woke, Sea Dreams 135
v panic-stricken, like a shoal Of darting fish, Geraint and E. 468
Until they v by the fairy well Merlin and V. 428
And v, and his book came down to me.' ,, 650
v suddenly from the field With young Lavaine Lancelot and E. 508 every bridge as quickly as he crost Sprang into fire and v, Holy Grail 506 now there is a lion in the way.' So v." ,, 646 bounded forth and v thro' the night. Pelleas and E. 487 Or ev'n a fall'n feather, v again. Last Tournament 372 watch'd them till they v from my sight Lover's Tale ii 42 flash'd thro' sense and soul And by the poplar v— Sisters (E. and E.) 110 power over Hell till it utterly v away. Despair 102 when the white fog v like a ghost Before the day, Death of Œnone 67
Vanish'd (verb) (continued) before him V shadow-like Gods and Goddesses, Kapiolani 26
Vanishing (See also Ever-vanishing) grave itself shall pass, V, atom and void, Lucretius 258 to the last dip of the v sail She watch'd it, Enoch Arden 245
And ever v, never vanishes, Ancient Sage 44 Vanity Oh ! v ! Death waits at the door. All Things will Die 16 they sing Like poets, from the v of song ? Gardener's D. 100 thy v so shot up It frighted all free fool Last Tournament 306 my strangled v Utter'd a stifled cry— Sisters (E. and E.) 199 Vanquish knew that Love can v Death, D. of F. Women 269
Vanquish'd when our side was v and my cause For ever lost, Princess vi 24
We v, you the Victor of your will. ,, 167
Victor from v issues at the last, Gareth and L. 1262
Vantage I set thee high on v ground, Balin and Balan 534
Vantage-ground With such a v-g for nobleness ! Aylmer's Field 387 nor a v-g For pleasure ; Ded. of Idylls 23
Vapid But languidly adjust My v vegetable loves Talking Oak 183 Vapour ' High up the v's fold and swim : Two Voices 262 swimming v slopes athwart the glen, Œnone 3
But vague in v, hard to mark ; Love thou thy land 62
The v's weep their burthen to the ground, Tithonus 2
When the ranks are roll'd in v, Locksley Hall 104
Comes a v from the margin, ,, 191
Faint shadows, v's lightly curl'd, Day-Dm., Sleep. P. 5 flowing range Of v buoy'd the crescent-bark, ,, Depart. 22
My breath to heaven like v goes : St. Agnes' Eve 3
In crystal v everywhere Sir L. and Q. G. 5
A v heavy, hueless, formless, cold, Vision of Sin 53
When that cold v touch'd the palace gate, ,, 58
A belt, it seem'd, of luminous v, lay, Sea Dreams 209 saw The soft white v streak the crowned towers Princess iii 344
Roll'd the rich v far into the heaven. Spec. of Iliad 8
Behind a purple-frosty bank Of v, In Mem. cvii 4
All night the shining v sail ,, Con. 111 yellow v's choke The great city sounding wide ; Maud II iv 63 a lovely baleful star Veil'd in gray v ; Merlin and V. 263
The moony v rolling round the King, Guinevere 601 silvery v in daylight Over the mountain Floats, Kapiolani 16
Vapour-braided And sweet the v-b blue, The Letters 42
Vapour-girdle from my v-g soaring forth Prog. of Spring 79
Vapour-swathed forehead v-s In meadows ever green ; Freedom 7
Variable Then follow'd calms, and then winds v, Enoch Arden 545 Varied With all the v changes of the dark, Edwin Morris 36
The coming year's great good and v ills, Prog. of Spring 93
Varier pious v's from the church, To chapel ; Sea Dreams 19
Varieties (Beauty seen In all v of mould and mind) To ——, With Pal. of Art 7
Various Each month is v to present The world Two Voices 74
All v, each a perfect whole From living Nature, Palace of Art 58
' O all things fair to sate my v eyes ! ,, 193
So beautiful, vast, v, Ancient Sage 84 foremost in thy v gallery Place it, Ode to Memory 84
That v wilderness a tissue of light Lover's Tale i 419
To prize your v book, and send A gift To Ulysses 47
Varmint (vermin) ' Gaw up ageän fur the v ? ' Owd Roä 98
Varnish'd once more in v glory shine Thy stars Prog. of Spring 38
Varsity (university) 'e coom'd to the parish wi' lots o' V debt, N. Farmer, N. S. 29
Fur Squire wur a V scholard, Village Wife 25
Vartical (vertical) ' Cast awaäy on a disolut land wi' a v soon ! ' North. Cobbler 3 Vary To v from the kindly race of men, Tithonus 29 violet varies from the lily as far As oak from elm : Princess v 182
And as the light of Heaven varies, Marr. of Geraint 6 so loved Geraint To make her beauty v day by day, ,, 9 value of all gifts Must v as the giver's. Lancelot and E. 1215
V like the leaves and flowers, Poets and Critics 4
Vary-colour'd A walk with v-c shells Arabian Nights 57
Varying v to and fro, We know not wherefore ; Aylmer's Field 73
Form, Ritual, v with the tribes of men. Akbar's Dream 125
Ever v Madeline. (repeat) Madeline 3, 18, 27
The v year with blade and sheaf Day-Dm., Sleep. P. 1
By many a v influence and so long. Princess vi 267

Varying (continued) poesy, v voices of prayer ? Vastness 31
Vase From fluted v, and brazen urn In order, Arabian Nights 60 from v's in the hall Flowers of all heavens, Princess, Pro. 11 or prove The Danaïd of a leaky v, „ ii 340 Break, thou deep v of chilling tears, In Mem. iv 11
Years that make And break the v of clay, Ancient Sage 92 Vashti O V, noble V ! Summon'd out She kept her state, Princess iii 228
Vassal (adj.) In v tides that follow'd thought. In Mem. cxii 16 Delivering, that his lord, the v king, Gareth and L. 391 follow'd up by her v legion of fools ; Vastness 12
Vassal (s) Not v's to be beat, nor pretty babes Princess iv 146
And makes it v unto love : In Mem. xlviii 8 feeble v's of wine and anger and lust, Maud II i 43 loyal v's toiling for their liege. Com. of Arthur 282
Doorm, whom his shaking v's call'd the Bull, Geraint and E. 439
Who now no more a v to the thief, „ 753
But work as v to the larger love, Merlin and V. 491
A prisoner, and the v of thy will ; Pelleas and E. 241
The Present is the v of the Past : Lover's Tale i 119
And make thy gold thy v not thy king, Ancient Sage 259
the tyrant v of a tyrant vice ! The Flight 25 Vassalage See Kitchen-vassalage
Vast (adj.) V images in glimmering dawn, Two Voices 305
The v Republics that may grow, Day-Dm., L'Envoi 15
But, all his v heart sherris-warm'd, Will Water. 197
The v Akrokeraunian walls, To E. L. 4 and fell In v sea-cataracts— Sea Dreams 54 lays His v and filthy hands upon my will, Lucretius 220 then how v a work To assail this gray Princess iii 233
The bones of some v bulk that lived „ 294 the v designs Of his labour'd rampart-lines, Ode on Well. 104
And in the v cathedral leave him, „ 280 fur I luvv'd 'er a v sight moor fur it : N. Farmer, N. S. 36 Drops in his v and wandering grave. In Mem. vi 16
His own v shadow glory-crown'd ; „ xcvii 3
No doubt v eddies in the flood „ cxxviii 5 for a v speculation had fail'd Maud I i 9 whose v wit And hundred winters Com. of Arthur 280 drew The v and shaggy mantle of his beard Merlin and V. 256 but I dreamt Of some v charm concluded „ 512
Drew the v eyelid of an inky cloud, „ 634
And whelm all this beneath as v a mound „ 656
' You breathe but accusation v and vague, „ 701
The v necessity of heart and life. „ 925
Brake from the v oriel-embowering vine Lancelot and E. 1198
Then Arthur made v banquets, and strange knights Pelleas and E. 147
On some v plain before a setting sun, Guinevere 77
I, whose v pity almost makes me die „ 534 who broke The v design and purpose of the King. „ 670 and her throne In our v Orient, and one isle, To the Queen ii 31 mighty gyres Rapid and v, Lover's Tale ii 198
The v occasion of our stronger life— Columbus 35
So beautiful, v, various, so beyond Ancient Sage 84
The v sun-clusters' gather'd blaze, Epilogue 54
In that v Oval ran a shudder of shame. St. Telemachus 73
Thro' all the v dominion which a sword, Akbar's Dream 14
Vast (s) Thine own shall wither in the v, In Mem. lxxvi 11
A soul shall draw from out the v „ Con. 123
But Song will vanish in the V ; „ Epilogue 40
Vaster May make one music as before, But v. In Mem., Pro. 29
What v dream can hit the mood Of Love „ xlvii 11
As, unto v motions bound, „ lxiii 10
And still as v grew the shore „ ciii 25
My love is v passion now ; „ cxxx 10
Or in that v Spain I leave to Spain. Columbus 208
Sway'd by v ebbs and flows than can be known Locksley H., Sixty 194
Vastness In v and in mystery, In Mem. xcvii 7
Swallow'd in V, lost in Silence, Vastness 34
Vat flask of cider from his father's v's, Audley Court 27 red with spirted purple of the v's, Princess vii 202 Vault (s) Imbower'd v's of pillar'd palm, Arabian Nights 39
Nor any cloud would cross the v, Mariana in the S. 38 Ranges of glimmering v's with iron grates, D. of F. Women 35
O Priestess in the v's of Death, In Mem. iii 2
In v's and catacombs, they fell ; „ lviii 4 Vault (s) (continued) up thy v with roaring sound Climb thy thick noon, In Mem. lxxii 25 Far beneath a blazing v, Will 18 from the deep v where the heart of Hope Fell into dust, Lover's Tale i 94
And laid her in the v of her own kin. „ iv 39 entering the dim v, And, making there a sudden light, „ 52
Then at the far end of the v he saw His lady „ 56
Drown'd in the gloom and horror of the v. „ 62
Vault (verb) lightly v from the throne and play The Mermaid 33
Far as the Future v's her skies, Mechanophilus 17
Vaulted (See also Hollow-vaulted, Long-vaulted, Over-vaulted) V o'er the dark-blue sea. Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 40
Then some one sent beneath his v palm Princess v 31
So many a time he v up again ; Gareth and L. 1125
And v on his horse, and so they crash'd In onset, Balin and Balan 555 Ran thro' the doors and v on his horse And fled : Pelleas and E. 539
v upon him, And rode beneath an ever-showering leaf, Last Tournament 491
Vauntcourier that one V to this double? Lover's Tale ii 30
Vaunted and v our kith and our kin, V. of Maeldune 47
Veer the warm hour returns With v of wind, Last Tournament 231 Veering (See also Ever-veering) bird that still is v there Above his four gold letters) The Ring 332
By v passion fann'd, Madeline 29
Vegetable But languidly adjust My vapid v loves Talking Oak 183 Veil (s) inner impulse rent the v Of his old husk : Two Voices 10 thro' thick v's to apprehend A labour „ 296 Slow-dropping v's of thinnest lawn, Lotos-Eaters 11
the time Is come to raise the v. Gardener's D. 274 And draws the v from hidden worth. Day-Dm., Arrival 4 rose of Gulistan Shall burst her v : Princess iv 123
From orb to orb, from v to v.' In Mem. xxx 28
Behind the v, behind the v. „ lvi 28
A lucid v from coast to coast, „ lxvii 14
We heard behind the woodbine v „ lxxxix 50 an Isis hid by the v. Maud I iv 43
A faded mantle and a faded v, Marr. of Geraint 135
And in her v enfolded, manchet bread. „ 389
And tearing off her v of faded silk Geraint and E. 514
I knew the v had been withdrawn. Holy Grail 522 aghast the maiden arose, White as her v, Guinevere 363 from under this A v, that seemed no more than gilded air, Lover's Tale iv 290 our mortal v And shatter'd phantom De Prof., Two G. 46 the v Is rending, and the Voices of the day The Ring 38
She comes to dress me in my bridal v. „ 98
But the bridal v—Your nurse is waiting. „ 488 Veil (verb) I cannot v, or droop my sight, Eleänore 87 gleams of good that broke From either side, nor v his eyes : Love thou thy land 90
She bow'd as if to v a noble tear ; Princess iii 289
v His want in forms for fashion's sake, In Mem. cxi 5
Well might I wish to v her wickedness, Guinevere 211 and now He v's His flesh in bread, Sir J. Oldcastle 156 Murder would not v your sin, Forlorn 49
Veil'd (See also Willow-veil'd) eyes have been intent On that v picture—v, for what it holds Gardener's D. 270
That v the world with jaundice, Walk. to the Mail 20 he v His face with the other, and at once, Aylmer's Field 808 again She v her brows, and prone she sank, Princess v 107
In the centre stood A statue v, to which they sang ;
And which, tho' v, was known to me, In Mem. ciii 12
seem'd a lovely baleful star V in gray vapour ; Merlin and V. 263 but what I saw was v And cover'd ; Holy Grail 851 walk'd abreast with me, and v his brow, Lover's Tale ii 86
I walk'd behind with one who v his brow. „ iii 12
' He v Himself in flesh, Sir J. Oldcastle 156
Veileth every cloud, that spreads above And v love, Two Voices 447
Veilless He drove the dust against her v eyes : Geraint and E. 529 Vein (s) Life shoots and glances thro' your v's, Rosalind 22 a languid fire creeps Thro' my v's Eleänore 131 you can talk : yours is a kindly v : Edwin Morris 81
Here stays the blood along the v's. Day-Dm., Sleep P. 4

Vein (s) (continued) brooking not the Tarquin in her v's, Lucretius 237
The summer of the vine in all his v's— Princess i 183
But branches current yet in kindred v's.' „ ii 245
From out a common v of memory Sweet household talk, „ 314
I felt my v's Stretch with fierce heat ; „ v 537 half the wolf's-milk curdled in their v's, „ vii 130 now the wine made summer in his v's, Marr. of Geraint 398 his forehead v's Bloated, and branch'd ; Balin and Balan 391
The flowers that run poison in their v's. Lover's Tale i 347 Burst v, snap sinew, and crack heart, Sir J. Oldcastle 123 heat of a wretched life rushing back thro' the v's ? Despair 68 Vein (verb) all the gold That v's the world Princess iv 543
Velvet (adj.) added fulness to the phrase Of 'Gauntlet in the v glove.' To Marq. of Dufferin 12
Velvet (s) dusted v's have much need of thee : To J. M. K. 4
Black v of the costliest— Aylmer's Field 804 Veneer'd V with sanctimonious theory. Princess, Pro. 117
Venerable 'Thanks, v friend,' replied Geraint ; Marr. of Geraint 303
Among the Roses, the more v. Sisters (E. and E.) 76
Venerator not a scorner of your sex But v, Princess iv 423
Vengeance 'Is this thy v, holy Venus, Lucretius 67
What hinders me To take such bloody v on you both ?— Princess iv 534 when he told us 'V is mine !' V. of Maeldune 120
Venial Or seeming-genial v fault, Will 13
Venice then I pass'd Home, and thro' V, The Ring 192
Venom Not one to flirt a v at her eyes, Merlin and V. 609
Venom'd See Faintly-venom'd
Venomous You should have seen him wince As from a v thing : Walk. to the Mail 72 Strike dead the whole weak race of v worms, Maud II i 46 Venture my poor v but a fleet of glass Sea Dreams 138 would v to give him the nay ? The Wreck 17
Ventured Alone at home, nor v out alone. Enoch Arden 517
And boldly v on the liberties. Princess i 205 or half the world Had v— Gareth and L. 65 Venturous Maud with her v climbings Maud I i 69
Venus 'Is this thy vengeance, holy V, Lucretius 67
And o'er his head Uranian V hung, Princess i 243
And silver-smiling V ere she fell Lover's Tale i 61
V near her ! smiling downward Locksley H., Sixty 183
Hesper—V—were we native to that splendour „ 187
Veragua thunders in the black V nights, Columbus 146
Verbiage This barren v, current among men, Princess ii 54
Vere de Vere (See also Clara Vere de Vere) repose Which stamps the caste of V d V. L. C. V. de Vere 40
Verge Float by you on the v of night. Margaret 31
That lent broad v to distant lands, Palace of Art 30 hull Look'd one black dot against the v of dawn, M. d'Arthur 271
May from v to v, And May with me from head to heel. Gardener's D. 80
That sinks with all we love below the v ; Princess iv 47
Blot out the slope of sea from v to shore, „ vii 38
And on the low dark v of life In Mem. l 15 hull Look'd one black dot against the v of dawn, Pass. of Arthur 439
Each way from v to v a Holy Land, Lover's Tale i 337 dipping his head low beneath the v, „ 509
Verged kinds of thought, That v upon them, Gardener's D. 71
Veriest The v beauties of the work appear Sisters (E. and E.) 105
Sworn to be v ice of pureness, Sir J. Oldcastle 108
Vermeil-white near her, like a blossom v-w, Marr. of Geraint 364 Vermin (adj.) and the v voices here May buzz so loud— Lancelot and E. 138 Vermin (s) (See also Varmint) As fancies like the v in a nut Princess vi 263 curse me the British v, the rat ; Maud II v 58 and then like v here Drown him, Gareth and L. 822
I will track this v to their earths : Marr. of Geraint 217 from the v that he sees Before him, Pelleas and E. 285 show'd him, like a v in its hole, Last Tournament 165
Vernal till all Our v bloom from every vale To Mary Boyle 9
Broaden the glowing isles of v blue. Prog. of Spring 60 Versatility The grace and v of the man ! Lancelot and E. 472
Verse How may full-sail'd v express, Eleänore 44 invade Even with a v your holy woe. To J. S. 8 another which you had, I mean of v The Epic 26 Verse (continued) gave the v 'Behold, Your house is left unto you desolate !' Aylmer's Field 628 great Sicilian called Calliope to grace his golden v— Lucretius 94
In v that brings myself relief, In Mem. lxxv 2 Take one v more—the lady speaks Merlin and V. 445 the name at the head of my v is thine. To A. Tennyson 6 read me a Bible v of the Lord's good will Rizpah 61 sought the tribute of a v from me, To Dante 5 in his hand A scroll of v— Ancient Sage 6 patriot-soldier take His meed of fame in v ; Epilogue 33 Versed In many a subtle question v, In Mem. xcvi 6 Version which I know no v done In English To E. Fitzgerald 33
Vert Flame-colour, v and azure, in three rays, Com. of Arthur 275
Vertical See Vartical
Verulam (Lord, Francis Bacon) Plato the wise, and large-brow'd V, Palace of Art 163
But Homer, Plato, V ; Princess ii 160
Verulam (Roman Colony) London, V, Cámulodúne. Boädicea 86
Very The v graves appear'd to smile, The Letters 45
And some that men were in the v walls, Princess iv 485
The v source and fount of Day In Mem. xxiv 3
But brake his v heart in pining for it, Gareth and L. 57
I fear'd The v fountains of her life were chill'd ; Sisters (E. and E.) 266 when Even descended, the v sunset aflame ; V. of Maeldune 66
This v ring Io t'amo ? The Ring 133
Vesper From prime to v's will I chant Pelleas and E. 349 Vessel On the coals I lay, A v full of sin : St. S. Stylites 170
There lies the port ; the v puffs her sail: Ulysses 44
The silver v's sparkle clean, Sir Galahad 34 to make the name Of his v great in story, The Captain 19 Reporting of his v China-bound, Enoch Arden 122
Waving, the moment and the v past. „ 244
The v scarce sea-worthy ; „ 656
And o'er his head the Holy V hung (repeat) Holy Grail 512, 520
And to the Holy V of the Grail.' „ 840 one A v in mid-ocean, her heaved prow Clambering, Lover's Tale ii 169 when all at once That painted v, „ 191
Tho' his v was all but a wreck ; The Revenge 64
Fleeted his v to sea with the king in it, Batt. of Brunanburh 60 crest of the tides Plunged on the v The Wreck 90
Launch your v, And crowd your canvas, Merlin and the G. 126 Vestal tended by Pure v thoughts in the translucent fane Isabel 4 love-whispers may not breathe Within this v limit, Princess ii 222 in the V entry shriek'd The virgin marble „ vi 350
The flower of all their v knighthood, Balin and Balan 508 Vested See Woman-vested Vestibule v's To caves and shows of Death : Lover's Tale ii 125
Veteran Me the sport of ribald V's, Boädicea 50
Vex V not thou the poet's mind (repeat) Poet's Mind 1, 3
Will v thee lying underground ? Two Voices 111
'The end and the beginning v His reason : „ 298 to v me with his father's eyes ! Œnone 255
And an eye shall v thee, Locksley Hall 85
I will not v my bosom : Amphion 102 want of pence, Which v'es public men, Will Water. 44
v the unhappy dust thou wouldst not save. Come not, when, etc. 4
And it would v him even in his grave, Enoch Arden 303
For my dead face would v her after-life. „ 891
Ere you were born to v us ? Princess vi 248 ill counsel had misled the girl To v true hearts : „ vii 242
As daily v'es household peace, In Mem. xxix 2
I v my heart with fancies dim : „ xlii 1
Let this not v thee, noble heart ! „ lxxix 2
An old song v'es my ear ; Maud II ii 47 boys Who love to v him eating, Geraint and E. 561 V not yourself : ye will not see me more.' Pelleas and E. 304 began To v and plague her. Guinevere 68
I seem To v an ear too sad to listen to me, „ 315
And v them with my darkness ? Lover's Tale i 732
A madman to v you with wretched words, Despair 108
To v the noon with fiery gems, Ancient Sage 265
Vexed-Vext Vex'd with a morbid devil in his blood Walk. to the Mail 19
The farmer vext packs up his beds and chairs, „ 39
Draw down into his vexed pools Supp. Confessions 133
The vexed eddies of its wayward brother : Isabel 33

Vexed-Vext (continued) ' Go, vexed Spirit, sleep in trust ; Two Voices 115 scudding drifts the rainy Hyades Vext the dim sea : Ulysses 11
if he come again, vext will he be To find Enoch Arden 301
And James departed vext with him and her.' The Brook 110
Vext with unworthy madness, and deform'd. Aylmer's Field 335
Then their eyes vext her ; " 802 they vext the souls of deans ; Princess, Pro. 162
I stood With Florian, cursing Cyril, vext at heart, " iv 171
What time have I to be vext ? Grandmother 104 Fool that I am to be vext with his pride ! Maud I xiii 5
Vext with lawyers and harass'd with debt : " xix 22
But he vext her and perplext her " xx 6
Vext with waste dreams ? Com. of Arthur 85 bitterness and grief That vext his mother, " 211
And vext his day, but blesses him asleep— Gareth and L. 1286
A little vext at losing of the hunt, Marr. of Geraint 234
' No, no,' said Enid, vext, ' I will not eat Geraint and E. 656
Vext at a rumour issued from herself Merlin and V. 153
Then Lancelot vext at having lied in vain : Lancelot and E. 102
He seem'd so sullen, vext he could not go : " 210
Glad that no phantom vext me more, Holy Grail 538 vext his heart, And marr'd his rest— Pelleas and E. 398 carcanet Vext her with plaintive memories of the child : Last Tournament 29
I should evermore be vext with thee Guinevere 505
Vext me a bit, till he told me First Quarrel 36 to have vext myself And all in vain for her— Sisters (E. and E.) 200 Never since I was nurse, had I been so grieved and so vext ! In the Child. Hosp. 45
Vext, that you thought my Mother came to me ? The Ring 140
A demon vext me, The light retreated, Merlin and the G. 29
Vexillary In letters like to those the v Gareth and L. 1202
Vexing O Mary, Mary ! V you with words ! Romney's R. 29
Vext See Vexed
Vial A man with knobs and wires and v's Princess, Pro. 65
Viand Lay out the v's.' " iii 347 before us glow'd Fruit, blossom, v, amber wine, " iv 35 many a v left, And many a costly cate, Gareth and L. 848
Nor roll thy v's on a luscious tongue, Ancient Sage 267
Vibrate chord which Hampden smote Will v to the doom. England and Amer. 20
Star to star v's light : Aylmer's Field 578
In the Queen's shadow, v on the walls, Lancelot and E. 1175
Vicar Rome's V in our Indies ? Columbus 195
Vice Or crush her, like a v of blood, In Mem. iii 15 heart of the poet is whirl'd into folly and v. Maud I iv 39
And doubling all his master's v of pride, Marr. of Geraint 195 stirr'd this v in you which ruin'd man Merlin and V. 362
I call it,—well, I will not call it v : " 368
They fain would make you Master of all v.' " 469 bagpipes, revelling, devil's-dances, v. Sir J. Oldcastle 149
But pity—the Pagan held it a v— Despair 41
the tyrant vassal of a tyrant v ! The Flight 25
Rip your brothers' v's open, Locksley H., Sixty 141
Viceregal Your v days Have added fulness To Marq. of Dufferin 10 Vicious Who being v, old and irritable, Marr. of Geraint 194
His dwarf, a v under-shapen thing, " 412
Both grace and will to pick the v quitch Geraint and E. 903 a shatter'd wheel ? a v boy Locksley H., Sixty 215 Vicisti Galilæe often mutter low ' V G ' ; louder again, Spurning a shatter'd fragment of the God, ' V G ! ' St. Telemachus 15 Victim (See also Fellow-victim) death quiver'd at the v's throat ; D. of F. Women 115 snake-like slimed his v ere he gorged ; Sea Dreams 193
And dress the v to the offering up. Princess iv 130
He seem'd a v due to the priest. The Victim 36 Priest was happy, His v won : " 62
The rites prepared, the v bared, " 65
Till the v hear within and yearn Boädicea 58
One took him for a v of Earl Doorm, Geraint and E. 524
If not, the v's flowers before he fall.' Lancelot and E. 910 lurks, listens, fears his v may have fled— The Flight 71
A virgin v to his memory, The Ring 221
O you that can flatter your v's, Charity 29
Victor (adj.) Than that the v Hours should scorn In Mem. i 13

Victor (s) (See also World-victor) Whichever side be V, in the halloo Princess ii 231
The bearded V of ten-thousand hymns, " iii 352
We vanquish'd, you the V of your will. " vi 167 great World-victor's v will be seen no more. Ode on Well. 42
And V he must ever be. " 258
And fawn at a v's feet. Maud I vi 30 nor make myself in my own realm V and lord. Com. of Arthur 90 V his men Report him ! " 249
' Nay, not a point : nor art thou v here. Gareth and L. 1055
And v of the bridges and the ford, " 1232
V from vanquish'd issues at the last, " 1262
Who doubts thee v ? " 1296
' Hark the v pealing there ! ' " 1318
I watch'd thee v in the joust, " 1356
On whom the v, to confound them more, Geraint and E. 169
And v at the tilt and tournament, " 960 Arthur's host Proclaim'd him V, Balin and Balan 20 bore the prize and could not find The v, Lancelot and E. 630 and in the strength of this Come v. Holy Grail 481 Far less to bind, your v, and thrust him out, Pelleas and E. 293 for when our King Was v wellnigh day by day, Last Tournament 335 beheld That v of the Pagan throned in hall— " 665
V in Drama, V in Romance, To Victor Hugo 1 iron-hearted v's they. Locksley H., Sixty 80
But they rode like V's and Lords Heavy Brigade 48 the Light is V, and the darkness Dawns On Jub. Q. Victoria 70 Victoria V,—since your Royal grace To the Queen 5 Victory Not Arac, satiate with his v. Princess vii 90
Bellowing v, bellowing doom : Ode on Well. 66 down their statue of V fell. Boädicea 30 and there cometh a v now. " 46 with pure Affection, and the light of v, Gareth and L. 331 Whether ye wish me v or defeat, Geraint and E. 80 in steepness overcome, And victories of ascent, Lover's Tale i 387 Swallowing its precedent in v. " 763 trumpets of v, groans of defeat ; Vastness 8
Victual in his hand Bare v for the mowers : Geraint and E. 202 Geraint Ate all the mowers' v unawares, " 215 fetch Fresh v for these mowers of our Earl ; " 225 and return With v for these men, " 240
Vied Sappho and others v with any man : Princess ii 164
Vienna That in V's fatal walls In Mem. lxxx 19
I have not seen, I will not see V ; " xcviii 12 View (See also Half-views) full in v, Death, walking all alone Love and Death 4 whose brilliant hue Is so sparkling-fresh to v, Rosalind 40
When thus he met his mother's v, L. C. V. de Vere 34 Half-invisible to the v, Vision of Sin 36 here were telescopes For azure v's ; Princess, Pro. 68
Her early Heaven, her happy v's ; In Mem. xxxiii 6
But somewhere, out of human v, " lxxv 18 Yea, tho' it spake and bared to v " xcii 9 to reprove her For stealing out of v Maud I xx 9 lands in your v From this bay window— Sisters (E. and E.) 51 loved the v Long-known and loved by me, Pro. to Gen. Hamley 5
She held them up to the v ; Dead Prophet 72 but the goodly v Was now one blank, Death of Œnone 3 View'd suffering v had been Extremest pain ; Lover's Tale ii 129
Viewless The v arrows of his thoughts were headed The Poet 11
Vignette In bright v's, and each complete, The Daisy 45
Vigorous with the growths Of v early days, Lover's Tale i 133
Vigorously So v yet mildly, that all hearts Geraint and E. 957
Vigour So that my v, wedded to thy blood, Œnone 161
The faith, the v, bold to dwell In Mem. xcv 29
Yourself shall see my v is not lost.' Geraint and E. 82
Vile And yonder a v physician, Maud II v 36
A little at the v occasion, rode, Marr. of Geraint 235
' This is more v,' he made reply, Two Voices 103
v it were For some three suns to store Ulysses 28
Hired animalisms, v as those that made Lucretius 53
A red-faced bride who knew herself so v, Gareth and L. 110 for men sought to prove me v, Merlin and V. 495
How justly, after that v term of yours, " 921 climb'd The moulder'd stairs (for everything was v) Lover's Tale iv 127

Vile (continued) V, so near the ghost Himself, The Ring 230
Vileness mean V, we are grown so proud— Aylmer's Field 756
No inner v that we dread? In Mem. li 4
Sinn'd thro' an animal v, The Wreck 42 Viler I am a sinner v than you all. St. S. Stylites 135 or the v devil who plays his part, Balin and Balan 300 of a kind The v, as underhand, Maud I i 28
Vilest The v herb that runs to seed Amphion 95
Village (adj.) Looks down upon the v spire : Miller's D. 36
I saw the v lights below ; „ 108
Why come you drest like a v maid, Lady Clare 67
' If I come drest like a v maid, „ 69
At the head of the v street, Maud I vi 10
She came to the v church, „ viii 1
For only once, in the v street, „ xiii 26 maid That ever bided tryst at v stile, Merlin and V. 378 came the v girls And linger'd talking, Pelleas and E. 508
' A hignorant v wife as 'ud hev to be larn'd Village Wife 106 and pigmy spites of the v spire; Vastness 25
And darkness in the v yew. Two Voices 273
And a v maiden she. L. of Burleigh 8 Leads her to the v altar, „ 11 as the v girl Who sets her pitcher underneath Enoch Arden 206
Born of a v girl, carpenter's son, Aylmer's Field 668
And on a simple v green ; In Mem. lxiv 4
Thou hear'st the v hammer clink, „ cxxi 15
By v eyes as yet unborn ; „ Con. 59
Seems to be pluck'd at by the v boys Geraint and E. 560 as the v wife who cries ' I shudder, Guinevere 56 having climb'd one step beyond Our v miseries, Ancient Sage 207 Village (s) (See also Sea-village) Two children in two neighbour v's Circumstance 1
Where almost all the v had one name ; Aylmer's Field 35
The little v looks forlorn ; In Mem. lx 9
Maud the delight of the v, Maud I i 70
Below me, there, is the v, „ iv 7
For one from out his v lately climb'd Balin and Balan 167 tho' he tried the v's round, First Quarrel 43 Village-churls And there the surly v-c, L. of Shalott ii 16
Villager slavish hat from the v's head? Maud I x 4
Villain (adj.) Low down thro' v kitchen-vassalage, Gareth and L. 160 Villain (s) One says, we are v's all. Maud I i 17
How the v lifted up his voice, Gareth and L. 716 a v fitter to stick swine Than ride abroad „ 865
' There lurk three v's yonder in the wood, Geraint and E. 142
Villainous the v centre-bits Grind on the wakeful ear Maud I i 41
Villainously foully slain And v! Balin and Balan 136
Villainy V somewhere! whose? One says, Maud I i 17
And I will tell him all their v. Geraint and E. 132
My violence, and my v, come to shame.' Balin and Balan 492 beneath the shadow of those towers A v, three to one : Pelleas and E. 277
So Gawain, looking at the v done, Forbore, „ 282 lust, V, violence, avarice, of your Spain Columbus 172 Vine (See also Briony-vine) comest not with shows of flaunting v's Ode to Memory 48
And silent in its dusty v's : Mariana in the S. 4 leaning on a fragment twined with v, Œnone 20
And overhead the wandering ivy and v, „ 99
From cave to cave thro' the thick-twined v— Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 95 valleys of grape-loaded v's that glow D. of F. Women 219
And chimneys muffled in the leafy v. Audley Court 19 Old elms came breaking from the v, Amphion 45
The v stream'd out to follow, „ 46 from a bower of v and honeysuckle : Aylmer's Field 156 and so by tilth and grange, And v's, Princess i 111
The summer of the v in all his veins— „ 183 we two Were always friends, none closer, elm and v : „ ii 337
At last I hook'd my ankle in a v, „ iv 268
Or foxlike in the v ; „ vii 203
Beating from the wasted v's Ode on Well. 109
Of olive, aloe, and maize and v. The Daisy 4
Mixt with myrtle and clad with v, The Islet 19
V, v, and eglantine, (repeat) Window, At the Window 1, 8 and go By summer belts of wheat and v In Mem. xcviii 4

Vine (continued) Queen Brake from the vast oriel-embowering v Lancelot and E. 1198 berries that flamed upon bine and v, V. of Maeldune 61 v's with grapes Of Eshcol hugeness ; To E. Fitzgerald 27 they tell me, now in flowing v's— Tiresias 144 send my life thro' olive-yard and v And golden grain, Demeter and P. 110 spinning at your wheel beside the v— Romney's R. 5 serpent v's Which on the touch of heavenly feet Death of Œnone 4
Vine-bunches Between the shadows of the v-b Œnone 181
Vine-clad an oriel on the summer side, V-c, Lancelot and E. 1178 Vineyard Peace in her v—yes!— Maud I i 36 torrent v streaming fell To meet the sun The Daisy 10 tilth and v, hive and horse and herd ; To Virgil 10
Vinous And softly, thro' a v mist, Will Water. 39 Vintage Whether the v, yet unkept, „ 97 praised the waning red, and told The v— Aylmer's Field 407 Whom they with meats and v of their best Lancelot and E. 266 with her spice and her v, her silk and her corn ; Vastness 13 Violate behold our sanctuary Is v, our laws broken : Princess vi 60
And that she now perforce must v it, Geraint and E. 367
Which flesh and blood perforce would v : Last Tournament 689 v's virgin Truth for a coin or a cheque. The Dawn 15 Violated So was their sanctuary v, Princess vii 16 Violating Not v the bond of like to like.' Lancelot and E. 241
Violator mine of ruffian v's! Boädicea 50 Violence Moved with v, changed in hue, Vision of Sin 34 and shriek'd ' Thus, thus with v, Sea Dreams 25
' Thus with v Shall Babylon be cast into the sea ; „ 27
Uther, reft From my dead lord a field with v : Gareth and L. 335
Was nigh to burst with v of the beat, „ 763
And snatch me from him as by v ; Geraint and E. 357
And bare her by main v to the board, „ 654
Edyrn wrought upon himself After a life of v, „ 913
For I that did that v to thy thrall, Balin and Balan 61 forget My heats and v's? „ 190
So this will help him of his v's! ' „ 205
Moaning ' My v's, my v's! ' „ 435
My v, and my villainy, come to shame.' „ 492 power To lay the sudden heads of v flat, Holy Grail 310 with v The sword was dash'd from out my hand, „ 825
From flat confusion and brute v's, Last Tournament 124 small v done Rankled in him and ruffled Guinevere 48 Villainy, v, avarice, of your Spain Columbus 172 truthless v mourn'd by the Wise, Vastness 5
Violent I hear the v threats you do not hear, Geraint and E. 420 Rang by the white mouth of the v Glem ; Lancelot and E. 288
Violet (adj.) and sunn'd Her v eyes, Gardener's D. 137
For large her v eyes look'd, Pelleas and E. 71
Violet (Christian Name) V, she that sang the mournful song, Princess vi 318
Violet (flower, colour) With what voice the v woos Adeline 31
V, amaracus, and asphodel, Lotos and lilies : Œnone 97 from the v's her light foot Shone rosy-white, „ 179
To die before the snowdrop came, and now the v's here. May Queen, Con. 4
O sweet is the new v, that comes beneath the skies, „ 5
The smell of v's, hidden in the green, D. of F. Women 77
The v of a legend blow Among the chops Will Water. 147
In mosses mixt with v Her cream-white mule Sir L. and Q. G. 30
Pity, the v on the tyrant's grave. Aylmer's Field 845
The v varies from the lily as far As oak from elm : Princess v 182
Crocus, anemone, v, To F. D. Maurice 44
The v of his native land. In Mem. xviii 4
A wither'd v is her bliss : „ xcvii 26
The v comes, but we are gone. „ cv 8
By ashen roots the v's blow. „ cxv 4 and my regret Becomes an April v, „ 19 jewel-print of your feet In v's blue as your eyes, Maud I xxii 42 with earliest v's And lavish carol Lover's Tale i 282
And, tho' thy v sicken into sere, Prog. of Spring 25
Violet-hooded Epic lilted out By v-h Doctors, Princess ii 376
Violin twangling v Struck up with Soldier-laddie, „ Pro. 85
All night have the roses heard The flute, v, bassoon ; Maud I xxii 14
Viper fling it like a v off, and shriek Princess vii 94

Viper (continued) Jenny, the v, made me a mocking curtsey Grandmother 46 and stood Stiff as a v frozen ; Merlin and V. 845 Virgil ROMAN V, thou that singest To Virgil 1
Old V who would write ten lines, Poets and their B. 2
Virgilian The rich V rustic measure The Daisy 75
Virgin (adj.) solitary morning smote The streaks of v snow. Œnone 56
To Christ, the V Mother, and the saints ; St. S. Stylites 112
V Mother standing with her child High up Sea Dreams 242
The v marble under iron heels : Princess vi 351
That marry with the v heart. In Mem. lxxxv 108
It more beseems the perfect v knight Merlin and V. 22
Pure on the v forehead of the dawn ! ' Pelleas and E. 505 from her v breast, and v eyes Remaining fixt on mine, Tiresias 46 v soul Inform'd the pillar'd Parthenon, Freedom 2
A v victim to his memory, The Ring 221
Or easily violates v Truth for a coin The Dawn 15
Virgin (s) To holy v's in their ecstasies, Holy Grail 867
For I was ever v save for thee, Guinevere 557 in front of which Six stately v's, all in white, Lover's Tale ii 77
Save those six v's which upheld the bier, ,, 84
Who sits beside the blessed V now, Columbus 232 Virtue He spake of v : not the gods More purely, A Character 13
And V, like a household god Promising empire ; On a Mourner 30
Like V firm, like Knowledge fair, The Voyage 68
V !—to be good and just— Vision of Sin 111 Glory to V, to fight, to struggle, Wages 3 if the wages of V be dust, ,, 6 because he bare The use of v out of earth : In Mem. lxxxii 10
Your words have v such as draws ,, lxxxv 13 from my hold on these Streams v—fire— Gareth and L. 1310
I savour of thy—v's ? fear them ? no. Merlin and V. 39
The highest v, mother of them all ; Holy Grail 446
V must shape itself in deed, Tiresias 86 in thy v lies The saving of our Thebes ; ,, 109 whether crown'd for a v, or hang'd for a crime ? Despair 76
All his v's—I forgive them— Locksley H., Sixty 44
Virtuous A v gentlewoman deeply wrong'd, Merlin and V. 911 Visage His v all agrin as at a wake, Princess v 521 his v ribb'd From ear to ear with dogwhip-weals, Last Tournament 57 Visaged dark v, stately and tall— The Wreck 15 Visible (adj.) Lord over Nature, Lord of the v earth, Palace of Art 179
(A v link unto the home of my heart), Lover's Tale i 431
Visible (s) Shaped by the audible and v, Moulded the audible and v ; ,, ii 104
Vision With dazed v unawares Arabian Nights 111
And there a v caught my eye ; Miller's D. 76
She moves among my v's of the lake, Edwin Morris 144
As on this v of the golden year.' Golden Year 58
Saw the V of the world, (repeat) Locksley Hall 16, 120
And see the v that I saw, Day-Dm., Pro. 14
Ah, blessed v ! blood of God ! Sir Galahad 45 one fair V ever fled Down the waste waters The Voyage 57
I HAD a v when the night was late : Vision of Sin 1
V's of a perfect State : ,, 148
Enoch seem'd to them Uncertain as a v or a dream, Enoch Arden 356
Like v's in the Northern dreamer's heavens, Aylmer's Field 161
I slept again, and pieced The broken v ; Sea Dreams 110 seizure came Upon me, the weird v of our house : Princess iii 184
O Soul, the V of Him who reigns ? Is not the V He ? High. Pantheism 2
But if we could see and hear, this V— ,, 18
If any v should reveal Thy likeness, In Mem. xcii 1
I dream'd a v of the dead, ,, ciii 3 there is no such city anywhere, But all a v.' Gareth and L. 207 whether there be any city at all, Or all a v : ,, 250
Who passes thro' the v of the night— Lancelot and E. 1406
But the sweet v of the Holy Grail Holy Grail 31 so perchance the v may be seen By thee and those, ,, 127
My sister's v, fill'd me with amaze ; ,, 140 among bright faces, ours, Full of the v, prest : ,, 267
My sister's v, and the rest, ,, 272
As thou art is the v, not for these. ,, 294 for a strength Was in us from the v, ,, 334
For thou shalt see the v when I go.' ,, 484

Vision (continued) and the v had not come ; Holy Grail 572
If God would send the v, well : if not, ,, 658 but now—the Quest, This v— ,, 734
And out of those to whom the v came ,, 895
And one hath had the v face to face, ,, 900
Let v's of the night or of the day Come, 910
This air that smites his forehead is not air But v— ,, 915
And knows himself no v to himself, Nor the high God a v, ,, 917
A v hovering on a sea of fire, Pelleas and E. 52 nor would he tell His v ; Guinevere 306
And some had v's out of golden youth, Pass. of Arthur 102
The memory's v hath a keener edge. Lover's Tale i 36 led on with light In trances and in v's : ,, 78 darkness of the grave and utter night, Did swallow up my v ; ,, 599
And in my v bidding me dream on, ,, ii 119
Oftentimes The v had fair prelude, ,, 124
As a v Unto a haggard prisoner, ,, 147 and all The v of the bier. ,, iii 11
There, there, my latest v—then the event ! ,, 59
I deem As of the v's that he told— ,, iv 23
Past thro' his v's to the burial ; ,, 357
Is our misshaping v of the Powers Sisters (E. and E.) 230
V's of youth—for my brain was drunk Despair 65 Strike on the Mount of V ! Ancient Sage 285 with all the v's of my youth ? Locksley H., Sixty 162
O follower of the V, Freedom 13
And the V that led me of old, The Dreamer 5
Visionary Wreck'd on a reef of v gold.' Sea Dreams 139 Visit (s) Or later, pay one v here, To F. D. Maurice 45
I go On that long-promised v to the North. Sisters (E. and E.) 188 Visit (verb) oh, haste, V my low desire ! Ode to Memory 4
Does the king know you deign to v him Columbus 4
Visitant Edith ever v with him, Aylmer's Field 166
Visitation And hourly v of the blood, Lover's Tale i 206 Visited Father's fault V on the children ! The Ring 176 Visiting there From college, v the son,— Princess, Pro. 7
Visual No v shade of some one lost, In Mem. xciii 5 Vital Call'd all her v spirits into each ear Aylmer's Field 201
So much the v spirits sink In Mem. xx 18
Vitriol v madness flushes up in the ruffian's head, Maud I i 37
Vivat Rex Death is king, and V R ! Vision of Sin 179
Vivian (Sir Walter) See Walter, Walter Vivian
Vivian-place we were seven at V-p. Princess, Pro. 9
But miss'd the mignonette of V-p, ,, 165
we climb'd The slope to V-p, ,, Con. 40 Vivid Distinct with v stars inlaid, Arabian Nights 90
And now those v hours are gone, Miller's D. 195 but less v hue Than of that islet Aylmer's Field 64
And v smiles, and faintly-venom'd points Merlin and V. 172
Some sudden v pleasure hit him there. Lover's Tale iv 178
Vivien V, with her Squire. Balin and Balan 439
But follow V thro' the fiery flood ! ,, 454
Drew the vague glance of V, and her Squire ; ,, 464
And, V, tho' ye beat me like your dog, ,, 582
At Merlin's feet the wily V lay. Merlin and V. 5 for V sweetly said (She sat beside the banquet nearest Mark), ,, 17 and V following him, Turn'd to her : ,, 32
O V, save ye fear The monkish manhood, ,, 34
And V answer'd, smiling scornfully, ,, 37
But V, into Camelot stealing, ,, 63
She past ; and V murmur'd after ' Go ! ,, 98
But V half-forgotten of the Queen ,, 137 so V in the lowest, Arriving at a time of golden rest, ,, 141
The wily V stole from Arthur's court. ,, 149
V, being greeted fair, Would fain have wrought ,, 155
That V should attempt the blameless King. ,, 164
And V follow'd, but he mark'd her not. ,, 199
And V ever sought to work the charm ,, 215
And lissome V, holding by his heel, ,, 238
V answer'd quick, ' I saw the little elf-god ,, 248
So V call'd herself, But rather seem'd ,, 261 tricks and fooleries, O V, the preamble ? ,, 266
And V answer'd smiling saucily, (repeat) ,, 268, 651

Vivien (continued) did you know That V bathed your feet before her own ? Merlin and V. 284
And V answer'd smiling mournfully : (repeat) „ 311, 438
Take V for expounder ; „ 319
Too curious V, tho' you talk of trust, „ 358
And V, like the tenderest-hearted maid „ 377
But, V, when you sang me that sweet rhyme, „ 434
V, For you, methinks you think you love me well ; „ 482
And V answer'd smiling as in wrath : „ 526
And being found take heed of V. „ 529
'Thou read the book, my pretty V ! „ 667
And V, frowning in true anger, said : „ 691
And V answer'd frowning wrathfully : „ 704
'O ay,' said V, 'overtrue a tale. „ 720
'O ay,' said V, 'that were likely too. „ 746
And V answer'd frowning yet in wrath : „ 768
But V, deeming Merlin overborne By instance, „ 800
But V, gathering somewhat of his mood, „ 842
Poor V had not done to win his trust „ 863
But V, fearing heaven had heard her oath, „ 940 lissome V, of her court The wiliest and the worst ; Guinevere 28
V, lurking, heard. She told Sir Modred. „ 98
Vizier V's nodding together In some Arabian night ? Maud I vii 11
Vizor and the knight Had v up, Marr. of Geraint 189
But Gawain lifting up his v said, Pelleas and E. 370 and when thou passest any wood Close v, Last Tournament 535
Vizoring and v up a red And cipher face Gareth and L. 1038
Voät (vote) An' I'd v fur 'im, my oän sen, Owd Roä 14
Voäted (voted) a knaws I hallus v wi' Squoire N. Farmer, O. S. 15 Vocabulary diminutives Scatter'd all over the v Aylmer's Field 540 in the rich v of Love 'Most dearest' Sisters (E. and E.) 291 Vocal brook V, with here and there a silence, Aylmer's Field 146
Is v in its wooded walls ; In Mem. xix 14
While yet beside its v springs „ lxiv 22
Alphabet-of-heaven-in-man Made v— Akbar's Dream 137 Voice (See also Organ-voice, Sea-voice) v of the bird Shall no more be heard, All Things will Die 24
Old v's call'd her from without. Mariana 68
That her v untuneful grown, The Owl ii 6
And yet, tho' its v be so clear and full, Poet's Mind 34
With an inner v the river ran, Dying Swan 5
But anon her awful jubilant v, „ 28
I would fill the sea-halls with a v of power ; The Merman 10
With what v the violet woos Adeline 31
I shall know Thy v, and answer from below. My life is full, etc. 10
A STILL small v spake unto me, Two Voices 1
Then to the still small v I said ; „ 4
To which the v did urge reply ; „ 7
Thereto the silent v replied ; „ 22
Again the v spake unto me : „ 46
'Yet,' said the secret v, 'some time, „ 64
'Yea !' said the v, 'thy dream was good, „ 157
'O dull, one-sided v,' said I, „ 202
'Consider well,' the v replied, „ 241
'If all be dark, vague v,' I said, „ 265
the v with which I fenced A little ceased, „ 317
The still v laugh'd. 'I talk,' said he, „ 385
Then said the v, in quiet scorn, „ 401
The dull and bitter v was gone. „ 426
A second v was at mine ear, „ 427
'What is it thou knowest, sweet v ?' I cried. 'A hidden hope,' the v replied : „ 440
To commune with that barren v, „ 461 by common v Elected umpire, Œnone 84
Then first I heard the v of her, „ 107
'No v,' she shriek'd in that lone hall, 'No v breaks thro' the stillness of this world : Palace of Art 258
And sweeter is the young lamb's v to me May Queen, Con. 6
O blessings on his kindly v and on his silver hair ! „ 13
The v, that now is speaking, may be beyond the sun— „ 54
His v was thin, as v's from the grave ; Lotos-Eaters 34 my v was thick with sighs As in a dream. D. of F. Women 109 Sudden I heard a v that cried, 'Come here, „ 123
Her warbling v, a lyre of widest range „ 165
'Alas ! alas !' a low v, full of care, Murmur'd „ 249

Voice (continued) and in her throat Her v seem'd distant, To J. S. 55
And murmurs of a deeper v, On a Mourner 16
But fragments of her mighty v Came rolling Of old sat Freedom 7
Or v, or else a motion of the mere. M. d' Arthur 77
as it were one v an agony Of lamentation, „ 200
let thy v Rise like a fountain for me night „ 248
And, further inland, v's echoed—'Come „ Ep. 27
From the woods Came v's of the well-contented doves. Gardener's D. 89 such a v Call'd to me from the years to come, „ 179
The silver fragments of a broken v, „ 234
Her v fled always thro' the summer land ; Edwin Morris 67
And lower v's saint me from above. St. S. Stylites 154 he plagiarised a heart, And answer'd with a v. Talking Oak 20
She sent her v thro' all the holt Before her, „ 123 thy low v, Faltering, would break its syllables, Love and Duty 38 the deep Moans round with many v's. Ulysses 56 for a tender v will cry. Locksley Hall 87
And whisper'd v's at his ear. Day-Dm., Arrival 24
I hear a v but none are there ; Sir Galahad 30
Wings flutter, v's hover clear : „ 78
The v grew faint : there came a further change : Vision of Sin 207
At last I heard a v upon the slope Cry „ 219
A deedful life, a silent v : You might have won 8
And the sound of a v that is still ! Break, break, etc. 12
Or means to pay the v who best could tell Enoch Arden 266
Their v's make me feel so solitary.' „ 397
And sent his v beneath him thro' the wood. „ 444 his v Shaking a little like a drunkard's hand, „ 464
Nor ever hear a kindly v, „ 582
Crying with a loud v 'A sail ! a sail ! „ 913 but ever call'd away By one low v Aylmer's Field 60 but a v Of comfort and an open hand of help, „ 173
Low was her v, but won mysterious way „ 695
Is there no prophet but the v that calls „ 741
I wish'd my v A rushing tempest of the wrath of God „ 756
But your rough v (You spoke so loud) Sea Dreams 280 bird Makes his heart v amid the blaze of flowers : Lucretius 101 women sang Between the rougher v's of the men, Princess, Pro. 245 and a V Went with it, 'Follow, follow, „ i 99
His name was Gama ; crack'd and small his v, „ 114 Hers are we,' One v, we cried ; „ 235 that full v which circles round the grave, „ ii 45 all her v Faltering and fluttering in her throat, „ 186
They stood, so rapt, we gazing, came a v, „ 318
'So sweet a v and vague, fatal to men, „ iv 64 for still my v Rang false : „ 120 then shall they That love their v's more than duty, „ 512
we saw the lights and heard The v's murmuring. „ 559
Thy v is heard thro' rolling drums, „ 577
We stumbled on a stationary v, „ v 2
she moved, She moan'd, a folded v ; „ 72
At which she lifted up her v and cried. „ 81
(And every v she talk'd with ratify it, „ 133
An awful v within had warn'd him thence : „ 338
Ida with a v, that like a bell Toll'd by an earthquake „ vi 331
Then the v Of Ida sounded, issuing ordinance : „ 372
Low v's with the ministering hand „ vii 21
Sweeter thy v, but every sound is sweet ; „ 219
And the v trembled and the hand. „ 227
Her v Choked, and her forehead sank upon her hands, „ 246
O v from which their omens all men drew, Ode on Well. 36
He knew their v's of old. „ 63
When he with those deep v's wrought, „ 67
With those deep v's our dead captain The tyrant, „ 69 thro' the centuries let a people's v In full acclaim, A people's v, The proof and echo of all human fame, A people's v, when they rejoice „ 142
A people's v ! we are a people yet. „ 151
We have a v, with which to pay the debt „ 156
His v is silent in your council-hall „ 174
But the one v in Europe : we must speak ; Third of Feb. 16 UPLIFT a thousand v's full and sweet, Ode Inter. Exhib. 1
Roll and rejoice, jubilant v, W. to Alexandra 22
The v's of our universal sea W. to Marie Alex. 16
Deepening thy v with the deepening of the night, V. of Cauteretz 2

Voice (continued) Thy living v to me was as the v of the dead, V. of Cauteretz 8
The v of the dead was a living v to me. „ 10
Paid with a v flying by to be lost on an endless sea— Wages 2 if He thunder by law the thunder is yet His v. High. Pantheism 14
The v and the Peak (repeat) Voice and the P. 1, 37
All night have I heard the v „ 5
Hast thou no v, O Peak, „ 9
'I am the v of the Peak, „ 11
A thousand v's go To North, South, East, and West ; „ 13
The valley, the v, the peak, the star Pass, „ 27
A Spirit, not a breathing v. In Mem. xiii 12
Four v's of four hamlets round, „ xxviii 5
Each v four changes on the wind, „ 9
Then echo-like our v's rang ; „ xxx 13
Our v's took a higher range ; „ 21
Yet if some v that man could trust „ xxxv 1
And many an abler v than thou. „ xxxvii 4
O for thy v to soothe and bless ! „ lvi 26
The v was low, the look was bright ; „ lxix 15
The v was not the v of grief, „ 19
Or v the richest-toned that sings, „ lxxv 7
So loud with v's of the birds, „ xcix 2
Like strangers' v's here they sound, „ civ 9
A potent v of Parliament, „ cxiii 11
And that dear v, I once have known, „ cxvi 11
And v's hail it from the brink ; „ cxxi 14
I heard a v 'believe no more' „ cxxiv 10
A deeper v across the storm, „ cxxvii 4
Thy v is on the rolling air ; „ cxxx 1
I prosper, circled with thy v ; „ 15
A v as unto him that hears, „ cxxxi 6
A v by the cedar tree In the meadow Maud I v 1
And wild v pealing up to the sunny sky, „ 13
Silence, beautiful v ! Be still, „ 19
Not her, not her, but a v. „ 28
And simper and set their v's lower, „ x 15
Or the v of the long sea-wave as it swell'd „ xiv 31
V in the rich dawn of an ampler day— Ded. of Idylls 36
And find nor face nor bearing, limbs nor v, Com. of Arthur 71 before a v As dreadful as the shout of one „ 116 lifted his v, and call'd A hoary man, „ 144
A hundred v's cried, 'Away with him ! „ 231 heard among the holy hymns A v as of the waters, „ 291 gathering half the deep And full of v's, „ 381 while the phantom king Sent out at times a v ; and here or there Stood one who pointed toward the v, „ 437 past along the hymns A v as of the waters, „ 465 full v Swept bellowing thro' the darkness Gareth and L. 176 heard A v, the v of Arthur, „ 318
'A boon, Sir King (his v was all ashamed), „ 442
How the villain lifted up his v, „ 716 nor rough face, or v, Brute bulk of limb, „ 1329 nor have I heard the v. „ 1336
And muffled v's heard, and shadows past ; „ 1373
Not hearing any more his noble v, Marr. of Geraint 98
'The v of Enid, Yniol's daughter, rang „ 327 and as the sweet v of a bird, „ 329
So the sweet v of Enid moved Geraint ; „ 334
'Here, by God's grace, is the one v for me.' „ 344 the soldiers wont to hear His v in battle, Geraint and E. 175 and felt Her low firm v and tender government. „ 194
On a sudden, many a v along the street, „ 270 the tender sound of his own v And sweet self-pity, „ 348 Cried out with a big v, 'What, is he dead ?' „ 541 answer'd in low v, her meek head yet Drooping, „ 640
'The v of Enid,' said the knight ; „ 780
It seems another v in other groves ; Balin and Balan 215
Mark The Cornish King, had heard a wandering v, Merlin and V. 8
With reverent eyes mock-loyal, shaken v, „ 157
O my Master, have ye found your v ? „ 269
So tender was her v, so fair her face, „ 401
And heard their v's talk behind the wall, „ 631
Then her false v made way, broken with sobs : „ 857
When its own v clings to each blade of grass, And every v is nothing. Lancelot and E. 107

Voice (continued) and the vermin v's here May buzz so loud— Lancelot and E. 138
Won by the mellow v before she look'd, „ 243
And seeing me, with a great v he cried, „ 309 like a friend's v from a distant field „ 999 High with the last line scaled her v, „ 1019 a courtesy Spake thro' the limbs and in the v—I knew Holy Grail 23 till I found a v and sware a vow. „ 194 in a v Shrilling along the hall to Arthur, „ 288 but found at top No man, nor any v. „ 428 and he had Scarce any v to answer, „ 434 heard a v, 'Doubt not, go forward ; „ 823
v singing in the topmost tower To the eastward : „ 834
He heard her v ; Then let the strong hand, Pelleas and E. 233
'I never heard his v But long'd to break away. „ 255
he heard The v that billow'd round the barriers Last Tournament 167
He ended : Arthur knew the v ; „ 455 about his feet A v clung sobbing till he question'd it, „ 759 and the v about his feet Sent up an answer, „ 760 crying with full v 'Traitor, come out, Guinevere 105 then came silence, then a v, Monotonous and hollow „ 419 the warhorse neigh'd As at a friend's v, „ 531
there her v brake suddenly, „ 607
Meek maidens, from the v's crying 'shame.' „ 672
To where beyond these v's there is peace. „ 698 when the man was no more than a v Pass. of Arthur 3 Thine, Gawain, was the v— „ 47
Moans of the dying, and v's of the dead. „ 117
The v of days of old and days to be. „ 135
'Hearest thou this great v that shakes the world, „ 139
Or v, or else a motion of the mere. „ 245
as it were one v, an agony Of lamentation, „ 368
let thy v Rise like a fountain for me night and day. „ 416 as if some fair city were one v Around a king „ 460 this, indeed, her v And meaning, To the Queen ii 19
The v of Britain, or a sinking land, „ 24
There rang her v, when the full city peal'd „ 26
Or Labour, with a groan and not a v, „ 55 loved The sound of one-another's v's Lover's Tale i 256 low converse sweet, In which our v's bore least part. „ 542
At first her v was very sweet and low, „ 563 for the sound Of that dear v so musically low, „ 708 for my v Was all of thee : „ ii 14
And v's in the distance calling to me „ 118
Willy's v in the wind, 'O mother, come out to me.' Rizpah 2 for my Willy's v in the wind— „ 82
A sweet v that—you scarce could better that. Sisters (E. and E.) 14
Marvellously like, their v's—and themselves ! „ 24 let me ask you then, Which v most takes you ? „ 30 says The common v, if one may trust it : „ 37 Harsh red hair, big v, big chest, In the Child. Hosp. 4 our children would die But for the v of Love, „ 12 but his v and his face were not kind, „ 15
V of the dead whom we loved, Def. of Lucknow 11 nor v Nor finger raised against him— Sir J. Oldcastle 44 lifted hand and heart and v In praise to God 'Columbus' 16
There came two v's from the Sepulchre, „ 95
I heard his v between The thunders „ 145
I heard his v, 'Be not cast down. „ 157
And I shall hear his v again— „ 159
His v again. „ 162
God's Own v to justify the dead— „ 203
Our v's were thinner and fainter V. of Maeldune 22 with human v's and words ; „ 28 whenever their v's peal'd The steer fell down „ 29 his v was low as from other worlds, „ 117
Stormy v of France ? To Victor Hugo 8
For like the clear v when a trumpet shrills, Achilles over the T. 19
So rang the clear v of Ækidês ; „ 21
Two v's heard on earth no more ; To E. Fitzgerald 41
I heard a v that said 'Henceforth be blind, Tiresias 48 was mine the v to curb The madness of our cities „ 70
I knew not what, when I heard that v,— The Wreck 52 Mother, the v was the v of the soul ; „ 54 a v rang out in the thunders of Ocean and Heaven „ 88

Voice (continued) In the rigging, v's of hell— The Wreck 92
I yearn'd For his v again, „ 104
May'st haply learn the Nameless hath a v, Ancient Sage 34
The splendours and the v's of the world ! „ 177
Nor list for guerdon in the v of men, „ 262
' Forward ' rang the v's then, Locksley H., Sixty 77 hear the v's from the field. „ 116
You that woo the V's—tell them „ 131
Poor old v of eighty crying after v's that have fled !
All I loved are vanish'd v's, „ 251
Hears he now the V that wrong'd him ? „ 269
Too many a v may cry That man can have Epilogue 72
Who wert the v of England in the East. Epit. on Stratford 4 thy v, a music heard Thro' all the yells To Duke of Argyll 7 WELCOME, welcome, with one v ! Open. I. and C. Exhib. 1
Britain's myriad v's call, „ 35
We thank thee with our v, and from the heart. To W. C. Macready 4
One full v of allegiance, On Jub. Q. Victoria 22
All your v's in unison, „ 63 from all the world the v's came ' We know not, Demeter and P. 66
I heard one v from all the three ' We know not, „ 84
Thousands of v's drowning his own Vastness 6 all the sciences, poesy, varying v's of prayer ? „ 31
I hear your Mother's v in yours. The Ring 28
V's of the day Are heard across the V's of the dark. „ 39 is Muriel—your stepmother's v. „ 139 one silent v Came on the wind, „ 153
No v for either spoke within my heart „ 162
And then the tear fell, the v broke. „ 367
All the world will hear a v Scream Forlorn 27
A hateful v be utter'd, Prog. of Spring 103 and roll my v from the summit, Parnassus 6 Shall the royal v be mute ? By an Evolution. 14
she lifted up a v Of shrill command, Death of Œnone 98
Not the Great V not the true Deep. Akbar's Dream 59
A v from old Irân ! Nay, but I know it— „ 89 vaguer v's of Polytheism Make but one music, „ 150 clatter of arms, and v's, and men passing Bandit's Death 24 Blest be the v of the Teacher Kapiolani 2 their v's blend in choric Hallelujah Making of Man 7 dream'd that a V of the Earth went wailingly The Dreamer 3
A V spake out of the skies Voice spake, etc. 1
Silent V's of the dead, Silent Voices 4
Call me rather, silent v's, „ 7 Voiced See Clear-voiced, Low-voiced, Sweet-voiced Voiceless creatures v thro' the fault of birth, Geraint and E. 266 Void I am v, Dark, formless, Supp. Confessions 121
Kate saith ' the world is v of might.' Kate 17
Not v of righteous self-applause, Two Voices 146
Naked I go, and v of cheer : „ 239
The stalls are v, the doors are wide, Sir Galahad 31 for it seem'd A v was made in Nature ; Lucretius 37 Vanishing, atom and v, atom and v, „ 258
v was her use, And she as one that climbs Princess vii 34
A v where heart on heart reposed ; In Mem. xiii 6
The captive v of noble rage, „ xxvii 2
Or cast as rubbish to the v, „ liv 7
V of the little living will Maud II ii 14 from within The city comes a murmur v of joy, Tiresias 101
Volcano Cold upon the dead v sleeps the gleam Locksley H., Sixty 42
The smoke of war's v burst again Prog. of Spring 97
Volley v on v, and yell upon yell— Def. of Lucknow 34
Volley'd V and thunder'd ; (repeat) Light Brigade 21, 42
Volleying And the v cannon thunder his loss ; Ode on Well. 62
Volubility all that heard her in her fierce v, Boädicea 4
Yell'd and shriek'd between her daughters in her fierce v. „ 72
Voluble Miriam Lane Made such a v answer Enoch Arden 903
Volume I found it in a v, all of songs, Audley Court 57
In this hand held a v as to read, Princess ii 455 held A v of the Poets of her land : „ vii 174
She moved, and at her feet the v fell. „ 254
Voluptuous Low v music winding trembled, Vision of Sin 17 which outredden All v garden-roses. Ode on Well. 208
To whom my false v pride, Guinevere 641
The sombre close of that v day, „ 688
Voluptuousness in his lust and v, Boädicea 66
And leave the hot swamp of v Ancient Sage 277 Vote (See also Voät) A wretched v may be gain'd. Maud I vi 56 Voted See Voäted
Vow (s) I listen'd to thy v's, Supp. Confessions 71
Kate snaps her fingers at my v's ; Kate 19
O would she give me v for v, Miller's D. 119 that died To save her father's v ; D. of F. Women 196 v's, where there was never need of v's, Gardener's D. 258
That oft hast heard my v's, Talking Oak 98 did she read the name I carved with many v's „ 154
Before you hear my marriage v.' The Letters 8 Kissing his v's upon it like a knight. Aylmer's Field 472 my v Binds me to speak, and O that iron will, Princess ii 201
That breathe a thousand tender v's, In Mem. xx 2
At one dear knee we proffer'd v's, „ lxxix 13
Of early faith and plighted v's ; „ xcvii 30
Bound them by so strait v's to his own self, Com. of Arthur 262
And glorying in their v's and him, „ 458 for the King Will bind thee by such v's, Gareth and L. 270 Arms for her son, and loosed him from his v. „ 530 my knights are sworn to v's Of utter hardihood, „ 552 so my knighthood keep the v's they swore, „ 602
v's like theirs, that high in heaven Merlin and V. 14
They bound to holy v's of chastity ! „ 695
And swearing men to v's impossible, Lancelot and E. 130 Full many a holy v and pure resolve. „ 879 till I found a voice and sware a v. Holy Grail 194
I sware a v before them all, „ 195 and Galahad sware the v, And good Sir Bors, „ 199
Did Arthur take the v ? ' „ 204
' Had I been here, ye had not sworn the v.' „ 276
I sware a v to follow it till I saw.' „ 282
' Nay, lord, therefore have we sworn our v's.' „ 285
Go, since your v's are sacred, being made : „ 314
All men, to one so bound by such a v, „ 565
How far I falter'd from my quest and v ? „ 568
Had never kiss'd a kiss, or vow'd a v. „ 584 but one night my v Burnt me within, „ 607 Hope not to make thyself by idle v's, „ 871 if the King Had seen the sight he would have sworn the v : „ 904 for I have sworn my v's, Pelleas and E. 244
But when she mock'd his v's and the great King, „ 252
O noble v's ! O great and sane and simple race „ 479
' Have any of our Round Table held their v's ? ' „ 533
By noble deeds at one with noble v's, Last Tournament 123 his one true knight—Sole follower of the v's '— „ 303
With Arthur's v's on the great lake of fire. „ 345
My God, the power Was once in v's „ 649 thro' their v's The King prevailing made his realm :— „ 650
' V's ! did you keep the v you made to Mark „ 655
The v that binds too strictly snaps itself— „ 657
The v's ! O ay—the wholesome madness of an hour— „ 674 but then their v's—First mainly thro' „ 681 a doubtful lord To bind them by inviolable v's, „ 688 v's—I am woodman of the woods, „ 699 spitting at their v's and thee. Pass. of Arthur 62
My house are rather they who sware my v's, „ 157 strange dream to me To mind me of the secret v I made Columbus 92 and heard his passionate v, The Flight 83 swore the seeming-deathless v . . . Locksley H., Sixty 180
V's that will last to the last deathruckle, and v's that are snapt in a moment of fire ; Vastness 26
I swore the v, then with my latest kiss The Ring 298
I told her of my v, No pliable idiot I to break my v ; „ 401
Vow (verb) Godless Jephtha v's his child . . . The Flight 26
While she v's ' till death shall part us,' Locksley H., Sixty 24
Vow'd I v that could I gain her, our fair Queen, Marr. of Geraint 787
Had never kiss'd a kiss, or v a vow. Holy Grail 584
I v That I would work according as he will'd. „ 783
I v That, if our Princes harken'd to my prayer, Columbus 99
I v Whate'er my dreams, Akbar's Dream 12 Vowing some V, and some protesting), Holy Grail 270
Voyage (See also Home-voyage) go This v more than once ? yea twice or thrice— Enoch Arden 142

Voyage (continued) this v by the grace of God Will bring fair weather Enoch Arden 190
And dull the v was with long delays, „ 655
Then he told her of his v, His wreck, „ 861
And after my long v I shall rest ! ' Lancelot and E. 1061
And let the story of her dolorous v „ 1343 and tell them all The story of my v, Columbus 12
I sail'd On my first v, harrass'd by the frights „ 67
Who fain had pledged her jewels on my first v, „ 229 yet Am ready to sail forth on one last v. „ 237
Art passing on thine happier v now Sir J. Franklin 3
Vulcan mounted, Ganymedes, To tumble, V's, Princess iii 72 Vulgar Nothing of the v, or vainglorious, On Jub. Q. Victoria 13
Vulture (adj.) Thereat the Lady stretch'd a v throat, Princess iv 363 Vulture (s) For whom the carrion v waits You might have won 35 swoops The v, beak and talon, at the heart Princess v 383 Vulturous Then glided a v Beldam forth, Dead Prophet 25

W

Waäist (waist) wur a-creeäpin' about my w ; Spinster's S's. 26
Waäit (wait) W till our Sally comms in, North. Cobbler 1
You Tommies shall w to-night Spinster's S's. 120 but w till tha 'eärs it be strikin' the hour. Owd Roä 18 Waäked (waked) An' when I w i' the murnin' North. Cobbler 39
To be horder'd about, an' w, Spinster's S's. 97
Then I w an' I fun it was Roäver Owd Roä 60
Waäste (waste) D'ya moind the w, my lass ? N. Farmer, O. S. 29
Dubbut looök at the w : „ 37 an' I 'a stubb'd Thurnaby w. „ 28 Wäy (way) in anoother kind of a w, North. Cobbler 96 lasses 'ud talk o' their Missis's w's, Village Wife 57
'ud 'a let me 'a hed my oän w Spinster's S's. 101
An' 'ed goän their w's ; Owd Roä 36
I wur gawin' that w to the bad, „ 71 wind blawin' hard tother w, „ 104
rummle down when the roof gev w, „ 109
I fun that it warn't not the gaäinist w to the narra Gaäte. Church-warden, etc. 12
Wader James Made toward us, like a w in the surf, The Brook 117 Waft (s) crosses With one w of the wing. The Captain 72 like the w of an Angel's wing ; In the Child. Hosp. 38
Waft (verb) Yet w me from the harbour-mouth, You ask me, why, etc. 25
Spread thy full wings, and w him o'er. In Mem. ix 4
Wafted the woodbine spices are w abroad, Maud I xxii 5
Wag kings Began to w their baldness up and down, Princess v 19
The palsy w's his head ; Ancient Sage 124 Wage I w not any feud with Death In Mem. lxxxii 1
' Behold, for these have sworn To w my wars, Com. of Arthur 508
To w grim war against Sir Lancelot there, Guinevere 193
I w His wars, and now I pass and die. Pass. of Arthur 12
Waged W such unwilling tho' successful war Merlin and V. 571
Wages The w of sin is death : if the w of Virtue be dust, Wages 6
Give her the w of going on, „ 10
Will pay thee all thy w, and to boot. Gareth and L. 1005
' The w of sin is death,' The Wreck 93
I need no w of shame. Charity 40
Wage-work comfort after their w-w is done, Com. of Arthur 418
Wagg'd Till his eye darken'd and his helmet w ; Geraint and E. 505
This tongue that w They said with such Sir J. Oldcastle 14
Waggled till 'e w 'is taäil fur a bit, Owd Roä 105
Waging and ever w war Each upon other, Com. of Arthur 6 while the King Was w war on Lancelot : Guinevere 156
From w bitter war with him : „ 434
Waif rolling in his mind Old w's of rhyme, The Brook 199 thrones and peoples are as w's that swing, W. to Marie Alex. 26 flung from the rushing tide of the world as a w of shame, The Wreck 6
Wail (s) gets for greeting but a w of pain ; Lucretius 138
Phantom w of women and children, Boädicea 26 whose dying eyes Were closed with w, In Mem. xc 6 then with a childlike w, And drawing down Balin and Balan 596 wife and child with w Pass to new lords ; Pass. of Arthur 44 as by some deathbed after w Of suffering, „ 118 Wail (s) (continued) a w That seeming something, yet was nothing, Lover's Tale iv 103 the sudden w his lady made Dwelt in his fancy : „ 149 the mother's garrulous w For ever woke Sisters (E. and E.) 262
I read no more the prisoner's mute w Sir J. Oldcastle 4
I am roused by the w of a child, The Wreck 7
w came borne in the shriek of a growing wind, „ 87 and the w Of a beaten babe, „ 122
Let be thy w and help thy fellow men, Ancient Sage 258
Among the w of midnight winds, Demeter and P. 59
As we forget our w at being born. The Ring 465 nor w of baby-wife, Or Indian widow ; Akbar's Dream 196
I sent him a desolate w and a curse, Charity 14 my w of reproach and scorn ; „ 23
To the w of my winds, The Dreamer 13 thought that he answer'd her w with a song— „ 16
Wail (verb) Here it is only the mew that w's ; Sea-Fairies 19 Cease to w and brawl ! Two Voices 199 the Dead March w's in the people's ears : Ode on Well. 267 if he be not dead, Why w ye for him thus ? Geraint and E. 547 wherefore w for one, Who put your beauty „ 674 burst away To weep and w in secret ; Lancelot and E. 1245 beneath a winding wall of rock Heard a child w. Last Tournament 12 and w their way From cloud to cloud, Pass. of Arthur 39
At once began to wander and to w, Lover's Tale iv 99
Whereat the very babe began to w ? ' „ 375
The wind that 'ill w like a child Rizpah 72
And they w to thee ! Tiresias 107
Wherefore do ye w ? ' Demeter and P. 60
' We know not, and we know not why we w.' „ 62
WHY w you, pretty plover ? Happy 1 Wail'd w and woke The mother, and the father suddenly cried, Sea Dreams 57 fell on him, Clasp'd, kiss'd him, w : Lucretius 280 and w about with mews. Princess iv 282
They wept and w, but led the way In Mem. cxii 18
the wind like a broken worlding w, Maud I i 11
Cast herself down, knelt to the Queen, and w. Merlin and V. 66
Queen, Who rode by Lancelot, w and shriek'd Holy Grail 356
But w and wept, and hated mine own self, „ 609 and he shrank and w, ' Is the Queen false ? ' Pelleas and E. 531 Queens in yon black boat, Who shriek'd and w, Pass. of Arthur 453 finds the fountain where they w ' Mirage ' ! Ancient Sage 77
So the Shadow w. Then I, Earth-Goddess, Demeter and P. 101 and the dream W in her, when she woke Death of Œnone 82 Wailest who w being born And banish'd De Prof., Two G. 41 Wailing (See also Keenin') And on the mere the w died away. M. d'Arthur 272
To ailing wife or w infancy Or old bedridden palsy,— Aylmer's Field 177
After much w, hush'd itself at last „ 542
Their wildest w's never out of tune Sea Dreams 231 they hate to hear me like a wind W for ever, Princess v 99
Moaning and w for an heir (repeat) Com. of Arthur 207, 368
Your w will not quicken him : Geraint and E. 549 clapt her hands Together with a w shriek, Merlin and V. 867 the owls W had power upon her, Lancelot and E. 1001
And on the mere the w died away. Pass. of Arthur 440
W, w, w, the wind over land and sea— Rizpah 1 before their Gods, And w ' Save us.' Tiresias 106 hear in one dark room a w, Locksley H., Sixty 262
She used to shun the w babe, The Ring 358
O the night, When the owls are w ! Forlorn 30
She heard a w cry, that seem'd at first Death of Œnone 20
Wailingly Voice of the Earth went w past him The Dreamer 3
Wain or when the lesser w Is twisting In Mem. ci 11
The team is loosen'd from the w, „ cxvi 5
Wainscot (adj.) And the shrieking rush of the w mouse, Maud I vi 71
Wainscot (s) Behind the mouldering w shriek'd, Mariana 64
Waist (See also Waäist) the girdle About her dainty dainty w, Miller's D. 176
You should have clung to Fulvia's w, D. of F. Women 259
Lovingly lower, trembled on her w— Gardener's D. 131
She strove to span my w : Talking Oak 138
And round her w she felt it fold, Day-Dm., Depart. 2
And held her round the knees against his w, Princess ii 363

Waist (continued) coverlid was cloth of gold Drawn to her w, Lancelot and E. 1158
Waist-deep Beyond the brook, w-d in meadow-sweet. The Brook 118 Wait (See also Waäit) Oh! vanity! Death w's at the door. All Things will Die 17
To w for death—mute—careless of all ills, If I were loved 10 hands and eyes That said, We w for thee. Palace of Art 104
And there to w a little while May Queen, Con. 58
From those, not blind, who w for day, Love thou thy land 15
W, and Love himself will bring The drooping flower Love and Duty 23
W: my faith is large in Time, „ 25
So the Powers, who w On noble deeds, Godiva 71
For me the Heavenly Bridegroom w's, St. Agnes' Eve 31
For whom the carrion vulture w's You might of won 35
she cried, Scared as it were, 'dear Philip, w a while: Enoch Arden 430 Yet w a year, a year is not so long: Surely I shall be wiser in a year: O w a little!' „ 432
as I have waited all my life I well may w a little.' „ 436
In those two deaths he read God's warning 'w.' „ 571 she shall know, I w His time,' „ 811 he could not w, Bound on a matter he of life and death: Sea Dreams 150 thoughts that w On you, their centre: Princess iv 443
Invective seem'd to w behind her lips, „ 472
As w's a river level with the dam „ 473
'The second two: they w,' he said, „ v 4 every captain w's Hungry for honour, „ 313 to w upon him, Like mine own brother. „ vi 298
'W a little, w a little, You shall fix a day.' Window, When 11
The Shadow sits and w's for me. In Mem. xxii 20
And doubt beside the portal w's, „ xciv 14
And those white-favour'd horses w; „ Con. 90
And the lily whispers, 'I w.' Maud I xxii 66
'Wherefore w's the madman there Naked Gareth and L. 1091
'Therefore w with me,' she said; Marr. of Geraint 180
W here, and when he passes fall upon him.' Geraint and E. 129
Enid stood aside to w the event, „ 153 there he w's below the wall, Pelleas and E. 380 your flower W's to be solid fruit of golden deeds, Last Tournament 100 greedy heir That scarce can w the reading of the will Lover's Tale i 676
And in a loft, with none to w on him, „ iv 138
His master would not w until he died, „ 259
'W a little,' you say, 'you are sure it 'll all come right,' First Quarrel 1
W! an' once I ha' waited—I hadn't to w for long. Now I w, w, w for Harry.— „ 3 an' I work an' I w to the end. „ 7
Doctor, if you can w, I'll tell you the tale „ 9
'W a little, my lass, I am sure it 'ill all come right.' (repeat) „ 74, 91
w till the point of the pickaxe be thro'! Def. of Lucknow 27
W a while. Your Mother and step-mother— The Ring 145 Nor w, till all Our vernal bloom To Mary Boyle 8 to mourn and sigh—Not long to w— „ 58
To w on one so broken, so forlorn? Romney's R. 17
That all the dead, who w the doom of Hell „ 132
W till Death has flung them open, Faith 7
Waited I w underneath the dawning hills, Œnone 47
To me, methought, who w with a crowd, M. d'Arthur, Ep. 20 none of all his men Dare tell him Dora w with the child; Dora 76
I w long; My brows are ready. St. S. Stylites 205
I w for the train at Coventry; Godiva 1
Mute with folded arms they w— The Captain 39 thronging in and in, to where they w, Vision of Sin 26
'Annie, as I have w all my life Enoch Arden 435 and there a group of girls In circle w, Princess, Pro. 69 let us know The Princess Ida w: „ ii 21 and w, fifty there Opposed to fifty, „ v 484 Fixt by their cars, w the golden dawn. Spec. of Iliad 22 sent her coming champion, w him. Gareth and L. 1192
And while he w in the castle court, Marr. of Geraint 326
And stood behind, and w on the three. „ 392
And w there for Yniol and Geraint. „ 538

Waited (continued) Then Enid w pale and sorrowful, Geraint and E. 83 while we w, one, the youngest of us, Merlin and V. 415 Lost in a doubt, Pelleas wandering W, Pelleas and E. 393
And w for her message, Lover's Tale iv 146
Wait! an' once I ha' w— First Quarrel 3
Waiter (See also Head-waiter) halo lives about The w's hands, Will Water. 114
'Slip-shod w, lank and sour, Vision of Sin 71
Waitest What aileth thee? whom w thou Adeline 45
Poor child, that w for thy love! In Mem. vi 28
Waiteth standeth there alone, And w at the door. D. of the O. Year 51
Waiting (See also A-waätin') 'W to strive a happy strife, Two Voices 130
My whole soul w silently, Fatima 36
Kept watch, w decision, made reply. Œnone 143
W to see me die. D. of F. Women 112
Like truths of Science w to be caught— Golden Year 17
A shipwreck'd sailor, w for a sail: Enoch Arden 590
There stood a maiden near, W to pass. The Brook 205
So quickly, w for a hand, In Mem. vii 4
That Shadow w with the keys, „ xxvi 15
Now w to be made a wife, „ Con. 49
stay'd W to hear the hounds; Marr. of Geraint 163
In shadow, w for them, caitiffs all; Geraint and E. 58
I saw three bandits by the rock W to fall on you, „ 73
Three other horsemen w, wholly arm'd, „ 121
And w to be treated like a wolf, „ 857
Tristram, w for the quip to come, Last Tournament 260
Ready to spring, w a chance: Guinevere 12
Then w by the doors the warhorse neigh'd „ 530
W to see some blessed shape in heaven, Lover's Tale i 312
w still The edict of the will to reassume „ ii 160
W to see the settled countenance Of her I loved, „ iii 39
Your nurse is w. Kiss me child and go. The Ring 489
W for your summons . . . Forlorn 22
Waive she will not: w your claim: Princess v 296
Wake (fair) visage all agrin as at a w, „ 521
Wake (festival) wid the best he could give at ould Donovan's w— Tomorrow 42
Wake (funeral festival) at yer w like husban' an' wife. „ 82
Wake (trail) With w's of fire we tore the dark; The Voyage 52
Morn in the white w of the morning star Princess iii 17
Wake (verb) Then—while a sweeter music w's, To the Queen 13
I w alone, I sleep forgotten, I w forlorn.' Mariana in the S. 35
Æolian harp that w's No certain air, Two Voices 436
You must w and call me early, (repeat) May Queen 1, 41
I shall never w, If you do not call me loud „ 9 to sit, to sleep, to w, to breathe.' Edwin Morris 40
I w: the chill stars sparkle; St. S. Stylites 114 leave thee freër, till thou w refresh'd Love and Duty 97
We sleep and w and sleep, Golden Year 22
'O w for ever, love,' she hears, Day-Dm., Depart. 11
'O love, thy kiss would w the dead! „ 20
And w on science grown to more, „ L'Envoi 10
'W him not: let him sleep; Enoch Arden 233 but as one before he w's, The Brook 215 he said, 'pass on; His Highness w's:' Princess v 5 wind w's A lisping of the innumerous leaf „ 13 a storm never w's on the lonely sea, The Islet 33
Sleep, little ladies! W not soon! Minnie and Winnie 10
W, little ladies, The sun is aloft! „ 19
With morning w's the will, and cries, In Mem. iv 15
To whom a conscience never w's; „ xxvii 8
I almost wish'd no more to w, „ xxviii 14
I w, and I discern the truth; „ lxviii 14 wherefore w The old bitterness again, „ lxxxiv 46 regret for buried time That keenlier in sweet April w's, „ cxvi 2
And I w, my dream is fled; Maud II iv 51
Let it go or stay, so I w to the higher aims „ III vi 38
w's Half-blinded at the coming of a light. Com. of Arthur 265 sound cause to sleep hast thou. W lusty! Gareth and L. 1283 and Enid had no heart To w him, Geraint and E. 370 Ride, ride and dream until ye w— Merlin and V. 118
'Man dreams of Fame while woman w's to love.' „ 460
'Do I w or sleep? Lover's Tale iv 78 and w The bloom that fades away? Ancient Sage 93

Wake (verb) (continued) But w's a dotard smile.' Ancient Sage 132 to rest and w no more were better rest for me, The Flight 7 how early would I w ! „ 63
Before a kiss should w her. The Ring 67
I rais'd her, call'd her 'Muriel, Muriel w ! ' „ 449 his young music w's A wish in you To Mary Boyle 63 an answer 'W Thou deedless dreamer, St. Telemachus 20 great shock may w a palsied limb, „ 57

Waked (See also Waäked) to sleep with sound, And w with silence, M. d'Arthur, Ep. 4
w at dead of night, I heard a sound Holy Grail 108
He w for both : he pray'd for both : Lover's Tale i 227
I remember once that being w By noises in the house— The Ring 416
She w a bird of prey that scream'd and past ; Death of Œnone 87

Wakeful Beginning, and the w bird ; In Mem. cxxi 11
Grind on the w ear in the hush of the moonless nights, Maud I i 42
Before the w mother heard him, went. Gareth and L. 180
A w portress, and didst parle with Death,— Lover's Tale i 113

Wakefulness After a night of feverous w, Enoch Arden 231

Waken (See also Wakken) The fire-fly w's : w thou with me. Princess vii 179
That w's at this hour of rest In Mem. civ 6 and in my breast Spring w's too ; „ cxv 18
Than to w every morning to that face I loathe The Flight 8

Waken'd the first matin-song hath w loud Ode to Memory 68
What eyes, like thine, have w hopes, Day-Dm., L'Envoi 45
For thrice I w after dreams. Lucretius 34
Till at the last he w from his swoon, Geraint and E. 583
A way by love that w love within, Holy Grail 11
Suddenly w with a sound of talk Pelleas and E. 48

Wakenest Who w with thy balmy breath In Mem. xcix 13
Sun, that w all to bliss or pain, Gareth and L. 1060

Wakening Gareth, w, fiercely clutch'd the shield ; „ 1304
Rode till the star above the w sun, Pelleas and E. 500

Waking W she heard the night-fowl crow : Mariana 26
If you're w call me early, May Queen, N. Y's. E. 1 if you're w, call me, call me early, „ 52
the dreams that come Just ere the w : Lucretius 36
And, truly, w dreams were, more or less, Princess i 12
W laughter in indolent reviewers. Hendecasyllabics 8
Till a silence fell with the w bird, Maud I xxii 17
But come to her w, find her asleep, „ II ii 81
And Enid started w, with her heart Marr. of Geraint 674 Tristram w, the red dream Fled with a shout, Last Tournament 487 set the mother w in amaze To find her sick Demeter and P. 57
From off the rosy cheek of w Day. Akbar's Dream 202

Wakken (waken) I couldn't w 'im oop, Owd Roä 102

Wales It was last summer on a tour in W : Golden Year 2 Urien, Cradiemont of W, Claudias, Com. of Arthur 112 ears for Christ in this wild field of W— Sir J. Oldcastle 13

Walk (s) (See also Garden-walks, Wood-walk) A w with vary-colour'd shells Arabian Nights 57 you may hear him sob and sigh In the w's ; A spirit haunts 6 with echoing feet he threaded The secretest w's of fame : The Poet 10 said Death, ' these w's are mine.' Love and Death 7 yielding, gave into a grassy w Gardener's D. 111 last night's gale had caught, And blown across the w. „ 125
With words of promise in his w, Day-Dm., Arrival 23 and all round it ran a w Of shingle, and a w divided it : Enoch Arden 736
Enoch shunn'd the middle w and stole „ 738
Katie somewhere in the w's below, The Brook 86
Would often, in his w's with Edith, claim Aylmer's Field 61 our long w's were stript as bare as brooms, Princess, Pro. 184 the chapel bells Call'd us : we left the w's ; „ ii 471
Dropt on the sward, and up the linden w's, „ iv 209
Nor waves the cypress in the palace w ; „ vii 177
Or w's in Boboli's ducal bowers. The Daisy 44
Shadows of three dead men Walk'd in the w's with me, G. of Swainston 4
In those deserted w's, may find In Mem. viii 14 partner in the flowery w Of letters, „ lxxxiv 22
Up that long w of limes I past „ lxxxvii 15
That saw thro' all the Muses' w, „ cix 4 her light foot along the garden w, Maud I xviii 9
I did not talk To gentle Maud in our w „ xix 13
From the meadow your w's have left so sweet „ xxii 39

Walk (s) (continued) Glanced at the doors or gambol'd down the w's ; Marr. of Geraint 665
A w of roses ran from door to door ; A w of lilies crost it to the bower : Balin and Balan 242 paced The long white w of lilies toward the bower. „ 249
she stole upon my w, And calling me the greatest Holy Grail 594 How oft with him we paced that w of limes, To W. H. Brookfield 6 an' they goäs fur a w, Spinster's S's. 85
He dreams of that long w thro' desert life To Mary Boyle 55

Walk (verb) In sleep she seem'd to w forlorn, Mariana 30
I w, I dare not think of thee, Oriana 93
W's forgotten, and is forlorn.' Mariana in the S. 48
So sweet it seems with thee to w, Miller's D. 29 made it sweet To w, to sit, to sleep, to wake, Edwin Morris 40
Could slip its bark and w. Talking Oak 188
But any man that w's the mead, Day-Dm., Moral 9
Katie w's By the long wash of Australasian seas The Brook 193 Averill w So freely with his daughter ? Aylmer's Field 269 nor cares to w With Death and Morning Princess vii 203
O we will w this world, Yoked in all exercise „ 360
He that w's it, only thirsting For the right, Ode on Well. 203
Nor follow, tho' I w in haste, In Mem. xxii 18
That nothing w's with aimless feet ; „ liv 5
I w as ere I walk'd forlorn, „ lxviii 5
From state to state the spirit w's ; „ lxxxii 6 to w all day like the sultan of old Maud I iv 42 each man w's with his head in a cloud of poisonous flies „ 54
There she w's in her state „ xiv 3 the Powers who w the world Made lightnings Com. of Arthur 107 Hath power to w the waters like our Lord. „ 294
Merlin, who, they say, can w Unseen at pleasure— „ 347
I will w thro' fire, Mother, to gain it— Gareth and L. 133
' Will ye w thro' fire ? Who w's thro' fire will hardly heed the smoke. „ 142
w with me, and move To music with thine Order Balin and Balan 76
Until this earth he w's on seems not earth, Holy Grail 912
W your dim cloister, and distribute dole Guinevere 683
Who w before thee, ever turning round Lover's Tale i 490 his wont to w Between the going light „ 663
Where Love could w with banish'd Hope „ 813 w's down fro' the' All to see, North. Cobbler 91 To w within the glory of the Lord Columbus 89 lies all in the way that you w. Despair 112
An' maäybe they'll w upo' two Owd Roä 17
Thraldom who w's with the banner of Freedom, Vastness 10
I used to w This Terrace— The Ring 167
We often w In open sun, and see beneath our feet „ 327

Walk'd-Walkt One walk'd between his wife and child, Two Voices 412
The little maiden walk'd demure, „ 419
But, as he walk'd, King Arthur panted hard, M. d'Arthur 176 and looking, as he walk'd, Larger than human „ 182
I'm glad I walk'd. How fresh the meadows look Walk. to the Mail 1 what home ? had he a home ? His home, he walk'd. Enoch Arden 669 for she walk'd Wearing the light yoke Aylmer's Field 707
So now on sand they walk'd, and now on cliff, Sea Dreams 37
And that the woman walk'd upon the brink : „ 112
And while I walk'd and talk'd as heretofore, Princess i 16 there One walk'd reciting by herself, „ ii 454
she you walk'd with, she You talk'd with, „ vi 254
Walk'd at their will, and everything was changed. „ 384
I walk'd with one I loved two and thirty years ago. V. of Cauteretz 4 while I walk'd to-day, The two and thirty years „ 5 Shadows of three dead men Walk'd in the walks G. of Swainston 4 where the path we walk'd began To slant In Mem. xxii 9
I walk as ere I walk'd forlorn, „ lxviii 5
In walking as of old we walk'd „ lxxi 12
Where first he walk'd when clasp't in clay ? „ xciii 4 out he walk'd when the wind like a broken Maud I i 11 Walk'd in a wintry wind by a ghastly glimmer, „ iii 13
I have walk'd awake with Truth. „ xix 4
He walk'd with dreams and darkness, Merlin and V. 190
For all that walk'd, or crept, or perch'd, or flew. Last Tournament 367
But, as he walk'd, King Arthur panted hard, Pass. of Arthur 344
and looking, as he walk'd, Larger than human „ 350 same old paths where Love had walk'd with Hope, Lover's Tale i 821

Walk'd-Walkt (continued) One walk'd abreast with me, and veil'd his brow, Lover's Tale ii 86
I walk'd behind with one who veil'd his brow. „ iii 12 and while I walk'd with these In marvel „ 18
I walked with him down to the quay, First Quarrel 20
Fur Molly the long un she walkt awaäy Village Wife 97
I walk'd with our kindly old doctor In the Child. Hosp. 43 men Walk'd like the fly on ceilings? Columbus 51
whiniver ye walkt in the shtreet, Tomorrow 37
Fur I walk'd wi' tha all the way hoam Spinster's S's. 32
Till I dreäm'd 'at Squire walkt in, Owd Roä 55

Walking (See also A-walkin') Death, w all alone beneath a yew, Love and Death 5
W the cold and starless road of Death Œnone 259
As in strange lands a traveller w slow, Palace of Art 277 Beauty and anguish w hand in hand D. of F. Women 15
W about the gardens and the halls Of Camelot, M. d'Arthur 20
Met me w on yonder way, Edward Gray 2
W up and pacing down, L. of Burleigh 90
Would care no more for Leolin's w with her Aylmer's Field 124
In w as of old we walk'd In Mem. lxxi 12
I was w a mile, More than a mile Maud I ix 1
She is w in the meadow, „ II iv 37
For once, when Arthur w all alone, Merlin and V. 152 one fair morn, I w to and fro beside a stream Holy Grail 592 once, A week beyond, while w on the walls Pelleas and E. 225
W about the gardens and the halls Of Camelot, Pass. of Arthur 188
Brute that is w and haunting us yet, The Dawn 23

Walkt See Walk'd-Walkt

Wall (s) (See also Abbey-wall, Castle-wall, Cottage-walls, Gable-wall, Garden-wall, Mountain-wall, Nunnery-walls, Palace-walls, Shield-wall) About a stone-cast from the w Mariana 37
A pillar of white light upon the w Ode to Memory 53 sunlight falls Upon the storied w's; „ 86
She stood upon the castle w, Oriana 28
Atween me and the castle w, „ 35
Two lovers whispering by an orchard w; Circumstance 4
When from her wooden w's,— Buonaparte 5
Four gray w's, and four gray towers, L. of Shalott i 15 Struck up against the blinding w. Mariana in the S. 56
The one black shadow from the w. „ 80 as yonder w's Rose slowly to a music Œnone 40 bellowing caves, Beneath the windy w. Palace of Art 72
That stood against the w. „ 244 girt round With blackness as a solid w, „ 274 between w's Of shadowy granite, Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 3
Upon the tortoise creeping to the w; D. of F. Women 27
All thine, against the garden w. The Blackbird 8 its w's And chimneys muffled in the leafy vine. Audley Court 18 and thou art staring at the w, Locksley Hall 79
the blind w's Were full of chinks and holes; Godiva 59
Gleam thro' the Gothic archway in the w. „ 64
That watch the sleepers from the w. Day-Dm., Sleep. P. 24
All creeping plants, a w of green Close-matted, „ 45
He watches from his mountain w's, The Eagle 5
The vast Akrokeraunian w's, To E. L. 4
But turn'd her own toward the w and wept. Enoch Arden 283
Then Annie with her brows against the w „ 314
The late and early roses from his w, „ 339 compass'd round by the blind w of night „ 492 blown across her ghostly w: „ 661 and stole Up by the w, behind the yew; „ 739 Stood from his w's and wing'd his entry-gates Aylmer's Field 18
I cry to vacant chairs and widow'd w's, „ 720
Staring for ever from their gilded w's „ 833
A mountain, like a w of burs and thorns; Sea Dreams 119 higher on the w's, Betwixt the monstrous horns Princess, Pro. 22 Had beat her foes with slaughter from her w's. „ 34 some were whelm'd with missiles of the w, „ 45
A broken statue propt against the w, „ 99
That drove her foes with slaughter from her w's, „ 123 from the bastion'd w's Like threaded spiders, „ i 107
The foundress of the Babylonian w, „ ii 80
Before two streams of light from w to w, „ 473
The splendour falls on castle w's „ iv 1

Wall (s) (continued) And some that men were in the very w's, Princess iv 485
By glimmering lanes and w's of canvas „ v 6
From those two hosts that lay beside the w's, „ vi 383 cloud Drag inward from the deeps, a w of night, „ vii 37 silent light Slept on the painted w's, „ 121
the w's Blacken'd about us, bats wheel'd, „ Con. 109
Your cannons moulder on the seaward w; Ode on Well. 173
But thieves from o'er the w Stole the seed by night. The Flower 11
Flower in the crannied w, Flow. in cran. wall 1
Is vocal in its wooded w's; In Mem. xix 14
There comes a glory on the w's: „ lxvii 4
That in Vienna's fatal w's „ lxxxv 19
I past beside the reverend w's „ lxxxvii 1
A river sliding by the w. „ ciii 8
The blind w rocks, and on the trees „ Con. 63
With tender gloom the roof, the w; „ 118 little flower that clings To the turrets and the w's; Maud II iv 34 and Guinevere Stood by the castle w's Com. of Arthur 48
Seeing the mighty swarm about their w's, „ 200
To drive the heathen from your Roman w, „ 512 fools have suck'd their allegory From these damp w's, Gareth and L. 1200
Echo'd the w's; a light twinkled; „ 1370
And enter'd, and were lost behind the w's. Marr. of Geraint 252 ivy-stems Claspt the gray w's with hairy-fibred arms, „ 323 now and then from distant w's There came a clapping „ 565 slide From the long shore-cliff's windy w's Geraint and E. 164
Push'd from without, drave backward to the w, „ 273
No stronger than a w: there is the keep; „ 341 like a household Spirit at the w's Beat, „ 403 Along the w's and down the board; Balin and Balan 84 the w's Of that low church he built at Glastonbury. „ 366 portal of King Pellam's chapel wide And inward to the w; „ 406 rummage buried in the w's Might echo, „ 416
Woods have tongues, As w's have ears: „ 531
Closed in the four w's of a hollow tower, (repeat) Merlin and V. 209, 543
And many a wizard brow bleach'd on the w's: „ 597 to him the w That sunders ghosts and shadow-casting men „ 628
And heard their voices talk behind the w, „ 631 and she watch'd him from her w's. „ 775
'Traitor' to the unhearing w, Lancelot and E. 612 first she saw the casque Of Lancelot on the w: „ 806 to whom thro' those black w's of yew „ 969
And grew between her and the pictured w. „ 993
In the Queen's shadow, vibrate on the w's, „ 1175 Till all the white w's of my cell were dyed With rosy colours leaping on the w; Holy Grail 119 from the w's The rosy quiverings died into the night. „ 122 necks Of dragons clinging to the crazy w's, „ 347 plaster'd like a martin's nest To these old w's— „ 549 painting on the w Or shield of knight; „ 829 upon his charger all day long Sat by the w's, Pelleas and E. 217 'Out! And drive him from the w's.' „ 220 still he kept his watch beneath the w. „ 223 while walking on the w's With her three knights, „ 225
And drive him from my w's.' „ 229 loosed him from his bonds, And flung them o'er the w's; „ 316
Then bounded forward to the castle w's, „ 363
That all the echoes hidden in the w Rang out „ 366 there he waits below the w, Blowing his bugle „ 380
but rode Ere midnight to her w's, „ 413
Far down beneath a winding w of rock Last Tournament 11
So from the high w and the flowering grove Guinevere 33
That keeps the rust of murder on the w's— „ 74
Or thrust the heathen from the Roman w, Pass. of Arthur 69
Or build a w betwixt my life and love, Lover's Tale i 176
And steep-down w's of battlemented rock „ 399 thro' the ragged w's, All unawares „ ii 152 from an open grating overhead High in the w, „ iv 61
—in the night by the churchyard w. Rizpah 56 it is coming—shaking the w's— „ 85 fell, Striking the hospital w, crashing Def. of Lucknow 18 into perilous chasms our w's and our poor palisades. „ 55

Wall (s) (continued) coming down on the still-shatter'd w's Def. of Lucknow 92
And breach'd the belting w of Cambalu, Columbus 108 to the base of the mountain w's, V. of Maeldune 14
From w to dyke he stept, Achilles over the T. 15 hail of Arès crash Along the sounding w's. Tiresias 97 more than w And rampart, their examples reach „ 125 phantom w's of this illusion fade, Ancient Sage 181
A dying echo from a falling w; „ 263 an' sets 'im agean the w, Owd Roä 82
A footstep, a low throbbing in the w's, The Ring 409
This w of solid flesh that comes between Happy 35
The sunset blazed along the w of Troy. Death of Œnone 77
So I turn'd my face to the w, Charity 27
Till this embattled w of unbelief My prison, Doubt and Prayer 11 Wall (verb) To embattail and to w about thy cause To J. M. K. 8 splinter'd crags that w the dell With spires D. of F. Women 187
And w them up perforce in mine— Akbar's Dream 62 Wall'd (See also Clear-wall'd) Flourish'd a little garden square and w: Enoch Arden 734
And on the top, a city w: Holy Grail 422 Wallow They graze and w, breed and sleep; Palace of Art 202 wolf and wolfkin, from the wilderness, w in it, Boädicea 15
To w in that winter of the hills. Romney's R. 15 decreed That Rome no more should w in this old lust St. Telemachus 78
Peelè the Goddess would w in fiery riot Kapiolani 8
Wallow'd And w in the gardens of the King. Com. of Arthur 25
I have w, I have wash'd— Last Tournament 315 an I w, then I wash'd— „ 318
And we w in beds of lilies, V. of Maeldune 48
Wallowing great with pig, w in sun and mud. Walk. to the Mail 88
When the w monster spouted his foam-fountains in the sea. Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 107 w in the troughs of Zolaism,— Locksley H., Sixty 145 draw The crowd from w in the mire of earth, Akbar's Dream 141
Walnut Across the w's and the wine— Miller's D. 32
Walter (See also Walter Vivian) 'O W, I have shelter'd here Whatever maiden grace Talking Oak 37 visiting the son,—the son A W too,— Princess, Pro. 8 me that morning W show'd the house, „ 10
Ask'd W, patting Lilia's head (she lay Beside him) „ 125
But W hail'd a score of names upon her, „ 156
W nodded at me; He began, The rest would follow, „ 200
W warp'd his mouth at this To something „ 214 and W said, 'I wish she had not yielded!' Con. 4
And there we saw Sir W where he stood, „ 81
'From W,' and for me from you then? The Ring 71 bad the man engrave 'From W' on the ring, „ 236 Walter Vivian (See also Walter) Sir W V all a summer's day Princess, Pro. 1 Wan (See also Wan-sallow) Philip's rosy face contracting grew Careworn and w; Enoch Arden 487 tinged with w from lack of sleep, Princess iii 25
w was her cheek With hollow watch, „ vi 144
As w, as chill, as wild as now; In Mem. lxxii 17
'But she, the w sweet maiden, shore away Holy Grail 149
I was changed to w And meagre, „ 571
W was her cheek; for whatso'er of blight Lover's Tale i 694 an' looks so w an' so white: First Quarrel 2
W, but as pretty as heart can desire, In the Child. Hosp. 40
W, wasted Truth in her utmost need. Clear-headed friend 19
W Sculptor, weepest thou to take the cast Wan Sculptor 1 under this w water many of them Lie rotting, Gareth and L. 824
'He hears the judgment of the King of kings,' Cried the w Prince; Geraint and E. 801 Familiar up from cradle-time, so w, Balin and Balan 591 w day Went glooming down in wet and weariness: Last Tournament 214 for I have seen him w enow To make one doubt „ 563 only the w wave Brake in among dead faces, Pass. of Arthur 129 Wan (one) an' meself remimbers w night comin' down Tomorrow 7 afther her paärints had inter'd glory, an' both in w day, „ 53 his Riverence buried thim both in w grave „ 87
Wand Straight, but as lissome as a hazel w; The Brook 70
He held his sceptre like a pedant's w Princess i 27
And over these is placed a silver w, Marr. of Geraint 483
And over these they placed the silver w, „ 549

Wanded See Serpent-wanded
Wander Hating to w out on earth, Supp. Confessions 57
Light and shadow ever w O'er the green A Dirge 12
Wild words w here and there: „ 43
Alone I w to and fro, Oriana 8
And then we would w away, The Merman 18
But at night I would w away, away, The Mermaid 31
W from the side of the morn, Adeline 52
Hope is other Hope and w's far, Caress'd or chidden 10
Arise, and let us w forth, Miller's D. 239
My heart may w from its deeper woe. Œnone 44 brother mariners, we will not w more. Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 128 there to w far away, Locksley Hall 157 might a man not w from his wits Princess ii 440
DAINTY little maiden, whither would you w? (repeat) City Child 1, 6
I w, often falling lame, In Mem. xviii 6
To w on a darken'd earth, „ lxxv 31
you w about at your will; Maud I iv 59
An old man's wit may w ere he die. Com. of Arthur 405
So shook his wits they w in his prime— Gareth and L. 715
Who may not w from the allotted field Holy Grail 908
She felt the King's breath w o'er her neck, Guinevere 582
Which w round the bases of the hills, Lover's Tale ii 121
At once began to w and to wail, „ iv 99
They that can w at will where the works of the Lord In the Child. Hosp. 35
I will w till I die about the barren moors. The Flight 56
You will not leave me thus in grief to w forth forlorn; „ 85
but w hand in hand With breaking hearts, „ 99
That w's from the public good, Freedom 26
And w's on from home to home! The Wanderer 8
Wander'd A walk with vary-coloured shells W Arabian Nights 58
Nor w into other ways: My life is full 3
I blest them, and they w on: Two Voices 424
I had w far In an old wood: D. of F. Women 53 nor having w far Shot on the sudden into dark. To J. S. 27
'O yes, she w round and round These knotted knees Talking Oak 157
Here about the beach I w, Locksley Hall 11
Years have w by, The Captain 66
W at will, but oft accompanied By Averill: Aylmer's Field 137
Who knows? but so they w, hour by hour „ 141
Sounds of the great sea W about. Minnie and Winnie 8
I w from the noisy town, In Mem. lxix 5 whose ring'd caress Had w from her own King's golden head, Balin and Balan 513
The flaxen ringlets of our infancies W, Lover's Tale i 235
And we w about it and thro' it. V. of Maeldune 87
W back to living boyhood Locksley H., Sixty 3 while I w down the coast, „ 53 as we w to and fro Gazing at the Lydian laughter Frater Ave, etc. 7 perhaps indeed She w, having w now so far The Ring 107
Wanderer Charm, as a w out in ocean, Milton 12
Wandering (adj. and part.) (See also Often-wandering) Wrestled with w Israel, Clear-headed friend 26
Mournful Œnone, w forlorn Of Paris, Œnone 16
And overhead the w ivy and vine, „ 99
Weary the w fields of barren foam. Lotos-Eaters 42
Once heard at dead of night to greet Troy's w prince, On a Mourner 33 Inswathed sometimes in w mist, St. S. Stylites 75 with yet a bed for w men. Enoch Arden 698 with now a w hand And now a pointed finger, Princess v 269
Forgive these wild and w cries, In Mem., Pro. 41
Drops in his vast and w grave. „ vi 16
Yet as that other, w there In those deserted walks, „ viii 13
Is dash'd with w isles of night. „ xxiv 4
How often, hither w down, „ lxxxix 5
The joy to every w breeze; „ Con. 62
How once the w forester at dawn, Gareth and L. 498
Mark The Cornish King, had heard a w voice, Merlin and V. 8 when the dead Went w o'er Moriah— Holy Grail 50 Wealthy with w lines of mount and mere, „ 252 while ye follow w fires Lost in the quagmire! „ 319
That most of us would follow w fires, (repeat) „ 369, 599
That most of them would follow w fires, „ 891
Lost in a doubt, Pelleas w Waited, Pelleas and E. 392

Wandering (adj. and part.) (continued) Stay'd in the w warble of a brook ; Last Tournament 254 name Went w somewhere darkling in his mind. „ 457 ghost of Gawain blown Along a w wind, Pass. of Arthur 32
And I am blown along a w wind, „ 36
As moonlight w thro' a mist : Lover's Tale ii 52
we gazed at the w wave as we sat V. of Maeldune 89 Wandering (s) ' The w's Of this most intricate Universe A Character 2 fold our wings, And cease from w's, Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 20
Down shower the gambolling waterfalls From w over the lea : Sea-Fairies 11
(For often in lonely w's I have cursed him Maud I xix 14 magic which can trace The w of the stars, Holy Grail 667
Then, in my w's all the lands that lie Tiresias 25
Wane The long day w's : the slow moon climbs : Ulysses 55
Or when a thousand moons shall w In Mem. lxxvii 8
O sorrow, then can sorrow w ? „ lxxviii 15
Speak, as it waxes, of a love that w's ? Lancelot and E. 1401 when the day began to w, we went. Holy Grail 488 Waned councils thinn'd, And armies w, Merlin and V. 573 to this present My full-orb'd love has w not. Lover's Tale i 734
The day w ; Alone I sat with her : „ ii 139
Gleam, that had w to a wintry glimmer Merlin and the G. 83
Waning (See also Slowly-waning) The pale yellow woods were w, L. of Shalott iv 2
Yon orange sunset w slow : Move eastward 2
' Bitter barmaid, w fast ! Vision of Sin 67
What songs below the w stars Margaret 33
When the flowers come again, mother, beneath the w light May Queen, N. Y's. E. 25 over many a range Of w lime the gray cathedral towers, Gardener's D. 218 praised the w red, and told The vintage— Aylmer's Field 406 rooks, That gather in the w woods, In Mem. lxxxv 72
The last long stripe of w crimson gloom, Ancient Sage 221
Wann'd Psyche flush'd and w and shook ; Princess iv 160 and ever w with despair, Maud I i 10
Wannish No sun, but a w glare In fold upon fold „ vi 2
Wan-sallow a man of mien W-s as the plant Gareth and L. 453 Want (s) And left a w unknown before ; ' Miller's D. 228 Shall sing for w, ere leaves are new, The Blackbird 23
'tis from no w in her : It is my shyness, Edwin Morris 85
And to the w, that hollow'd all the heart, Love and Duty 61
Cursed be the social w's that sin Locksley Hall 59
Or that eternal w of pence, Will Water. 43 nor compensating the w By shrewdness, Enoch Arden 250
Or thro' the w of what it needed most, „ 265
No w was there of human sustenance, „ 554 Doubled her own, for w of playmates, Aylmer's Field 81 any of our people there In w or peril, Princess ii 267
For dear are those three castles to my w's, „ 417
And either she will die from w of care, „ v 85
Not perfect, nay, but full of tender w's, „ vii 319
And ev'n for w of such a type. In Mem. xxxiii 16
Shall love be blamed for w of faith ? „ li 10
And he supplied my w the more „ lxxix 19 a thousand w's Gnarr at the heels of men, „ xcviii 16 Ring out the w, the care, the sin, „ cvi 17 veil His w in forms for fashion's sake, „ cxi 6 let Kay the seneschal Look to thy w's, Gareth and L. 434
Unfaith in aught is w of faith in all. Merlin and V. 389
And I must die for w of one bold word.' Lancelot and E. 927
I—misyoked with such a w of man— Last Tournament 571 the daily w Of Edith in the house, the garden, Sisters (E. and E.) 245 days' of fever, and w of care ! The Wreck 147 Mere w of gold—and still for twenty years The Ring 428
Want (verb) More life, and fuller, that I w.' Two Voices 399
Of those that w, and those that have : Walk. to the Mail 78 when you w me, sound upon the bugle-horn. Locksley Hall 2
I w her love. Princess v 136
When the man w's weight, the woman takes it up, „ 444
I w forgiveness too : „ vi 290 thy mother says thou w's to marry the lass, M. Farmer, N. S. 37
Who w's the finer politic sense To mask, Maud I vi 47
And if he w me, let him come to me. Geraint and E. 237

Want (verb) (continued) To doubt her fairness were to w an eye, Lancelot and E. 1376
To doubt her pureness were to w a heart— „ 1377
For we that w the warmth of double life, Holy Grail 624
But if thou w's thy grog, North. Cobbler 8
But if tha w's ony grog „ 113
Fur I w's to tell tha o' Roä Owd Roä 19
if tha w's to git forrards a bit, Church-warden, etc. 49
Want-begotten Nor any w-b rest. In Mem. xxvii 12
Wanted Another ship (She w water) Enoch Arden 628 nor w at his end The dark retinue Aylmer's Field 841 truth ! I know not : all are w here. Marr. of Geraint 289 Wantest What w thou ? whom dost thou seek, Oriana 71
Wanting And w yet a boatswain. Would he go ? Enoch Arden 123
I grieve to see you poor and w help : „ 406
He look'd and found them w ; Geraint and E. 935 impute themselves, W the mental range ; Merlin and V. 827 Wanton (adj.) (See also Seeming-wanton) When I past by, a wild and w pard, Œnone 199
And w without measure ; Amphion 58
In the Spring the w lapwing gets himself another crest ; Locksley Hall 18
To take a w dissolute boy For a man Maud I x 58
And that within her, which a w fool, Geraint and E. 432
Told me, that twice a w damsel came, Balin and Balan 609
Half overtrailed with a w weed, Lover's Tale i 525 (like a w too-officious friend, „ 627 anon the w billow wash'd Them over, „ ii 9
Wanton (s) What did the w say ? Merlin and V. 812
Wanton (verb) Say to her, I do but w in the South, Princess iv 109
Wantonness That hover'd between war and w, To the Queen ii 44
War (s) (See also World-war) Elsinore Heard the w moan along the distant sea, Buonaparte 10
And all the w is roll'd in smoke.' Two Voices 156
At such strange w with something good, „ 302
And let the world have peace or w's, Palace of Art 182 minstrel sings Before them of the ten years' w in Troy, Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 77 Sore task to hearts worn out by many w's „ 86
And trumpets blown for w's ; D. of F. Women 20 when fresh from w's alarms, My Hercules, „ 149 Across the brazen bridge of w— Love thou thy land 76
' Come With all good things, and w shall be no more.' M. d'Arthur, Ep. 28
Made w upon each other for an hour, Godiva 34
To sleep thro' terms of mighty w's, Day-Dm., L'Envoi 9
His bashfulness and tenderness at w, Enoch Arden 289
They hate me : there is w between us, Aylmer's Field 424
Communing with his captains of the w. Princess i 67
The Carian Artemisia strong in w, „ ii 81 arts of w The peasant Joan and others ; „ 162
If more and acted on, what follows ? w ; „ 229
I spoke of w to come and many deaths, „ iii 150
And clad in iron burst the ranks of w, „ iv 504
clapt her hands and cried for w, „ 590 o'er the imperial tent Whispers of w. „ v 10 red-faced w has rods of steel and fire ; She yields, or w.' „ 118 say you, w or not ? ' ' Not w, if possible, „ v 124
I said, ' lest from the abuse of w, „ 126
More soluble is this knot By gentleness than w. „ 136
I would the old God of w himself were dead, „ 145
To our point : not w : Lest I lose all.' „ 204 yet my father wills not w : And, 'sdeath ! myself, what care I, w or no ? „ 277
loth by brainless w To cleave the rift „ 300
Great in council and great in w, Ode on Well. 30
Such a w had such a close. „ 118 the leader in these glorious w's „ 192
Not sting the fiery Frenchman into w. Third of Feb. 4
Wild W, who breaks the converse of the wise ; „ 8
The works of peace with works of w. Ode Inter. Exhib. 28 discuss the Northern sin Which made a selfish w begin ; To F. D. Maurice 30 w's avenging rod Shall lash all Europe into blood ; „ 33
That shriek and sweat in pigmy w's Lit. Squabbles 2 these all night upon the bridge of w Sat glorying ; Spec. of Iliad 9

War (s) (continued) As one would sing the death of w, In Mem. ciii 33
Ring out the thousand w's of old, „ cvi 27 heart of the citizen hissing in w Maud I i 24
Is it peace or w ? Civil w, as I think, „ 27
Is it peace or w ? better w ! loud w by land and by sea,
W with a thousand battles, „ 47
At w with myself and a wretched race, „ x 35
This huckster put down w ! can he tell Whether w be a cause or a consequence ? „ 44
For each is at w with mankind. „ 52
I swear to you, lawful and lawless w „ II v 94 spoke of a hope for the world in the coming w's— „ III vi 11
I thought that a w would arise in defence of the right, „ 19 flames The blood-red blossom of w „ 53 and the w roll down like a wind, „ 54
Commingled with the gloom of imminent w, Ded. of Idylls 13 Far-sighted summoner of W and Waste „ 37 and ever waging w Each upon other, Com. of Arthur 6 Lords and Barons of his realm Flash'd forth and into w : „ 66
as here and there that w Went swaying ; „ 106
So like a painted battle the w stood Silenced, „ 122
Do these your lords stir up the heat of w, „ 169
That Gorlois and King Uther went to w : „ 196 lords Banded, and so brake out in open w.' „ 237 for these have sworn To wage my w's, „ 508 mine innocent, the jousts, the w's, Gareth and L. 86
Were Arthur's w's in weird devices done, „ 225
A knight of Uther in the Barons' w, „ 353 ye know we stay'd their hands From w „ 422
w of Time against the soul of man. „ 1198 who held and lost with Lot In that first w, Balin and Balan 2
But rather proven in his Paynim w's „ 38
In those fierce w's, struck hard— „ 177
Waged such unwilling tho' successful w Merlin and V. 571
The lady never made unwilling w „ 603 you know Of Arthur's glorious w's.' Lancelot and E. 285 then the w That thunder'd in and out „ 290 nor cares For triumph in our mimic w's, „ 312
Yet in this heathen w the fire of God Fills him : „ 315
From talk of w to traits of pleasantry— „ 321
Where Arthur's w's were render'd mystically, „ 801 Where twelve great windows blazon Arthur's w's, Holy Grail 248 perchance, when all our w's are done, „ 256
Where Arthur's w's are rendered mystically, „ 359
To whence I came, the gate of Arthur's w's.' „ 539
I came late, the heathen w's were o'er, Last Tournament 269 while the King Was waging w on Lancelot : Guinevere 156 To wage grim w against Sir Lancelot there, „ 193 that night the bard Sang Arthur's glorious w's, „ 286
From waging bitter w with him : „ 434
I waged His w's, and now I pass and die. Pass. of Arthur 12
Gawain kill'd In Lancelot's w, „ 31 Around a king returning from his w's. „ 461 and shadowing Sense at w with Soul, To the Queen ii 37
That hover'd between w and wantonness, „ 44
' Spanish ships of w at sea ! The Revenge 3 past away with five ships of w that day, „ 13
Then told them of his w's, and of his wound. Sisters (E. and E.) 60 mine that stirr'd Among our civil w's „ 75 Red in thy birth, redder with household w, Sir J. Oldcastle 53
Urge him to foreign w. „ 68
Spain was waging w against the Moor— Columbus 93 slain thy fathers in w or in single strife, V. of Maeldune 121
There was the Scotsman Weary of w. Batt. of Brunanburh 36
Mangled to morsels, A youngster in w ! „ 74 own in his own West-Saxon-land, Glad of the w. „ 104 men contend in grievous w From their own city, Achilles over the T. 9 and sail to help them in the w ; „ 13 the crowd would roar For blood, for w, Tiresias 65 these blind hands were useless in their w's. „ 78 a weight of w Rides on those ringing axles ! „ 92 whose one bliss Is w, and human sacrifice— „ 112 holding, each its own By endless w : Ancient Sage 252
w will die out late then. Locksley H., Sixty 173

War (s) (continued) Could we dream of w's and carnage, Locksley H., Sixty 189
Most marvellous in the w's your own Pro. to Gen. Hamley 11
You praise when you should blame The barbarian of w's. Epilogue 5
I would that w's would cease, „ 11
Or Trade re-frain the Powers From w „ 16 who loves W for W's own sake Is fool. „ 30 w's, and filial faith, and Dido's pyre ; To Virgil 4
An' the munney they maäde by the w, Owd Roä 44
' A warrior's crest above the cloud of w '— The Ring 338
You were parting for the w, Happy 74
You parted for the Holy W without a word to me, „ 77
The smoke of w's volcano burst again Prog. of Spring 97 bolt of w dashing down upon cities The Dawn 8
Storm of battle and thunder of w ! Riflemen form ! 3
War (verb) To w with falsehood to the knife, Two Voices 131
What pleasure can we have To w with evil ? Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 49
To w against ill uses of a life, Gareth and L. 1130
To w against my people and my knights. Pass. of Arthur 71 War (was) An' I went wheer munny w : N. Farmer, N. S. 21
Warble (s) at first to the ear The w was low, Dying Swan 24 Wild bird, whose w, liquid sweet, In Mem. lxxxviii 1 a bird with a w plaintively sweet Perch'd The Wreck 81
And rolling of dragons By w of water, Merlin and the G. 45
Warble (verb) thou may'st w, eat and dwell. The Blackbird 4
Than he that w's long and loud You might have won 33
W, O bugle, and trumpet, blare ! W. to Alexandra 14
' O birds, that w to the morning sky, O birds that w as the day goes by, Gareth and L. 1075 birds Begin to w yonder in the budding The Flight 61
The blackcap w's, and the turtle purrs, Prog. of Spring 55
O w unchidden, unbidden ! The Throstle 14
Warbled NIGHTINGALES w without, G. of Swainston 1
Nightingales w and sang Of a passion „ 8
That she w alone in her joy ! Maud I x 55 Warbler Dan Chaucer, the first w, D. of F. Women 5 in their time thy w's rise on wing. Prog. of Spring 108 Warbling springs By night to eery w's, Sir L. and Q. G. 34
She struck such w fury thro' the words ; Princess iv 586
Her w voice, a lyre of widest range D. of F. Women 165 damsel-errant, w, as she rode The woodland alleys, Balin and Balan 438
War-cry Spurr'd with his terrible w-c ; Geraint and E. 170 Ward (surname) generous of all Untramontanes, W, In Mem., W. G. Ward 4
Ward (minor) and a selfish uncle's w. Locksley Hall 156
Ward (of a hospital) Here was a boy in the w, In the Child. Hosp. 13
O how could I serve in the w's „ 24 past to this w where the younger children are laid : „ 27
They freshen and sweeten the w's „ 38
Then I return'd to the w ; „ 44 such a lot of beds in the w ! ' „ 54 caught when a nurse in a hospital w. Charity 41
Ward (guard) Keep watch and w, (repeat) Maud I vi 58 why shine ye here so low ? Thy w is higher up : Gareth and L. 1098 Warded For each had w either in the fight, Com. of Arthur 131
Warder The w's of the growing hour, Love thou thy land 61
Old w of these buried bones, In Mem. xxxix 1
War-drum Till the w-d throbb'd no longer, Locksley Hall 127
Ware (adj.) they were w That all the decks were dense M. d'Arthur 195
Then was I w of one that on me moved Holy Grail 409
He woke, and being w of some one nigh, Pelleas and E. 520 they were w That all the decks were dense Pass. of Arthur 363 Ware (s) As when a hawker hawks his w's. The Blackbird 20 sold her w's for less Than what she gave Enoch Arden 255 faith in a tradesman's w or his word ? Maud I i 26
Ware (verb) w their ladies' colours on the casque, Last Tournament 184 War-field Earls of the army of Anlaf Fell on the w-f, Batt. of Brunanburh 54
War-glaive The clash of the w-g— „ 78
War-harden'd Kissing the w-h hand of the Highlander Def. of Lucknow 102
War-hawk Gave to the garbaging w-h to gorge it, Batt. of Brunanburh 109
War-horse On burnish'd hooves his w-h trode ; L. of Shalott iii 29
A w of the best, and near it stood Gareth and L. 678 Death's dark w-h bounded forward with him. „ 1401 and thence Taking my w-h from the holy man, Holy Grail 537

War-horse (continued) Lancelot slowly rode his w back To Camelot, Pelleas and E. 583
He whistled his good w left to graze Last Tournament 490 waiting by the doors the w neigh'd Guinevere 530 War-knife—The welcome of war-knives— Batt. of Brunanburh 68
Warless Earth at last a w world, a single race, Locksley H., Sixty 165
W ? when her tens are thousands, „ 171 —who can fancy w men ? „ 172
W ? war will die out late then. „ 173
Warm (adj.) Ice with the w blood mixing ; All Things will Die 33
So let the w winds range, „ 42
Her subtil, w, and golden breath, Supp. Confessions 60 run short pains Thro' his w heart ; „ 162
Ev'n as the w gulf-stream of Florida Mine be the strength 12
As when a sunbeam wavers w Within the dark Miller's D. 79
I'd touch her neck so w and white. „ 174
From her w brows and bosom her deep hair Œnone 177
dear the last embraces of our wives And their w tears : Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 71 (while w airs lull us, blowing lowly) „ 89
For Nature also, cold and w, Love thou thy land 37
' Here, take the goose, and keep you w, The Goose 7
' So keep you cold, or keep you w, „ 43
And one w gust, full-fed with perfume, Gardener's D. 113 we dragg'd her to the college tower From her w bed, Walk. to the Mail 90 eat wholesome food, And wear w clothes, St. S. Stylites 109
'Tis little more : the day was w ; Talking Oak 205 world-wide whisper of the south-wind rushing w, Locksley Hall 125
The slumbrous light is rich and w, Day-Dm., Sleep. B. 7
' The birds were w, the birds were w upon him ; Aylmer's Field 260
From where his worldless heart had kept it w, „ 471
And, where w hands have prest and closed, In Mem. xiii 7
O heart, with kindliest motion w, „ lxxxv 34
'Twas well, indeed, when w with wine, „ xc 9
But where the sunbeam broodeth w, „ xci 14
Nor bowl of wassail mantle w ; „ cv 18
A life in civic action w, „ cxiii 9
Kept itself w in the heart of my dreams, Maud I vi 18
Sir Lancelot thro' his w blood felt Ice strike, Gareth and L. 1398 shall wear your costly gift Beside your own w hearth, Marr. of Geraint 820
And felt the w tears falling on his face ; Geraint and E. 586
Not to be bound, save by white bonds and w, Pelleas and E. 353
W with a gracious parting from the Queen, „ 558 till the w hour returns With veer of wind, Last Tournament 230
The w white apple of her throat, „ 717 neither Love, W in the heart, his cradle, Lover's Tale i 158
Constraining it with kisses close and w, „ 468
Her w breath floated in the utterance „ ii 141
' O, you w heart,' he moan'd, „ iv 76
w melon lay like a little sun on the tawny sand, V. of Maeldune 57
This useless hand ! I felt one w tear fall upon it. Tiresias 167
Low w winds had gently breathed us away The Wreck 63
W as the crocus cup, Early Spring 29
W enew theere sewer-ly, Owd Roä 111 often while her lips Were w upon my cheek, The Ring 399 Warm (verb) Roof-haunting martins w their eggs : Day-Dm., Sleep. P. 17
New life-blood w the bosom, Will Water. 22
That w's another living breast. In Mem. lxxv 116 to w My cold heart with a friend : Holy Grail 618 Cold words from one I had hoped to w so far Sisters (E. and E.) 194 And w's the child's awakening world— To Prin. Beatrice 5 the long day of knowledge grows and w's, Prog. of Spring 101
And w's the blood of Shiah and Sunnee, Akbar's Dream 107
Warm-asleep When you are w-a, mother, May Queen, N. Y's. E. 24
Warm-blue The w-b breathings of a hidden hearth Aylmer's Field 155 Warm'd (See also Sherris-warm'd) One hope that w me in the days Two Voices 122
And w in crystal cases. Amphion 88
W with his wines, or taking pride in her, Aylmer's Field 554
Too ragged to be fondled on her lap, W at her bosom ? „ 687
And hearts are w and faces bloom, In Mem., Con. 82
Took gayer colours, like an opal w. Merlin and V. 950
And the sea rolls, and all the world is w ? ' Holy Grail 672 Warm'd (continued) w but by the heart Within them, Akbar's Dream 132
Warmer Wild wind ! I seek a w sky, You ask me, why, etc. 26
We came to w waves, and deep Across The Voyage 37
Is a clot of w dust, Vision of Sin 113
You turn'd your w currents all to her, Princess iv 301
Warmest Brimm'd with delirious draughts of w life. Eleänore 139 Warming Alone and w his five wits, (repeat) The Owl i 6, 13
w with her theme She fulmined out her scorn Princess ii 132 but w as he went, Glanced at the point of law, Lover's Tale iv 275 Warmth (See also Mid-warmth) So full of summer w, so glad, Miller's D. 14
And doubled his own w against her lips, Gardener's D. 138
The w it thence shall win To riper life Talking Oak 254
And the w of hand in hand. Vision of Sin 162 new w of life's ascending sun Was felt Enoch Arden 38
And all the w, the peace, the happiness, „ 761 Having the w and muscle of the heart, Aylmer's Field 180 and turning to the w The tender pink „ 185
The loyal w of Florian is not cold, Princess ii 244 helpless w about my barren breast In the dead prime : „ vi 202 broke A genial w and light once more, „ 282
A rosy w from marge to marge. In Mem. xlvi 16
A central w diffusing bliss In glance and smile, „ lxxxiv 6 underfoot the herb was dry ; And genial w ; „ xcv 3
A w within the breast would melt „ cxxiv 13 all the kindly w of Arthur's hall Balin and Balan 236
For we that want the w of double life, Holy Grail 624
An out-door sign of all the w within, „ 704
I yearn'd for w and colour which I found Guinevere 647
With hated w of apprehensiveness. Lover's Tale i 632 for the cold Without, and w within me, To E. Fitzgerald 29 ranged from the narrow w of your fold, Despair 38 light and genial w of double day. To Prin. Beatrice 22
With all the w of summer. The Ring 30
Thy w's from bud to bud Accomplish Prog. of Spring 113
Beyond all hopes of w, Œnone sat Not moving, Death of Œnone 74
Express him also by their w of love Akbar's Dream 109
War-music when first I heard W-m, Princess v 266
Warn part against himself To w us off, Love and Duty 46
Something divine to w them of their foes : Sea Dreams 69
And fearing waved my arm to w them off ; „ 132 from him flits to w A far-off friendship Demeter and P. 89
Be not deaf to the sound that w's, Riflemen form ! 8
Warn'd spoken, And w that madman ere it grew too late : Vision of Sin 56
An awful voice within had w him hence : Princess v 338
Balan w, and went ; Balin remain'd : Balin and Balan 153
w me of their fierce design Against my house, Lancelot and E. 274 Warning (See also Phantom-warning) Take w ! he that will not sing The Blackbird 21
For by the w of the Holy Ghost, St. S. Stylites 219
In those two deaths he read God's w ' wait.' Enoch Arden 571 nail me like a weasel on a grange For w : Princess ii 206
Did I wish Your w or your silence ? Geraint and E. 77
Then not to give you w, that seems hard ; „ 422 yet to give him w, for he rode As if he heard not, „ 451 Take w : yonder man is surely dead ; „ 672
' Thereafter, the dark w of our King, Holy Grail 368
Then I remember'd Arthur's w word, „ 598
Some w—sent divinely—as it seem'd Lover's Tale iv 21
Who ever turn'd upon his heel to hear My w Tiresias 73
You scorn my Mother's w, The Ring 326
Warp (s) wonder of the loom thro' w and woof Princess i 62
Warp (verb) lies that w us from the living truth ! Locksley Hall 60
' Ye are green wood, see ye w not. Princess ii 75
I loved thee first, That w's the wit.' Merlin and V. 61
Warp'd Walter w his mouth at this To something Princess, Pro. 214
Warrant (s) Crown'd w had we for the crowning sin Last Tournament 576
Slender w had He to be proud of Batt. of Brunanburh 66
Warrant (verb) I w, man, that we shall bring you round.' Enoch Arden 841
Butter I w's be prime, an' I w's the heggs be as well, Village Wife 3
I w ye soom fine daäy— Spinster's S's. 63
Sa I w's 'e niver said haafe wot 'e thowt, Church-warden, etc. 18
Warren And waster than a w : Amphion 4 couch of incest in the w's of the poor. Locksley H., Sixty 224

Warring W on a later day, Ode on Well. 102 conscience of a saint Among his w senses, Guinevere 640
She reels not in the storm of w words, Ancient Sage 70
Be struck from out the clash of w wills ; Prog. of Spring 95
Thro' all the w world of Hindustan Akbar's Dream 26
Warrior (adj.) Could give the w kings of old, To the Queen 4
The daughter of the w Gileadite, D. of F. Women 197
Wilt surely guide me to the w King, Balin and Balan 478 Warrior (s) (See also Statesman-warrior) W of God, whose strong right arm Alexander 1
And like a w overthrown ; Two Voices 150 sprang No dragon w's from Cadmean teeth, Lucretius 50 made the old w from his ivied nook Glow Princess, Pro. 104 about their heads I saw The feudal w lady-clad ; „ 119 in thunder-storms, And breed up w's ! „ v 440 Home they brought her w dead : „ vi 1
Lightly to the w stept, „ 10
And happy w's, and immortal names, „ 93
Come, a grace to me ! I am your w : „ 224
W's carry the w's pall, Ode on Well. 6 Glory of w, glory of orator, Wages 1 laugh'd upon his w whom he loved And honour'd most. Com. of Arthur 125 and his w's cried, ' Be thou the king, „ 258 charg'd his w whom he loved And honour'd most, „ 447 therebefore the lawless w paced Unarm'd, Gareth and L. 914
And heated the strong w in his dreams ; Marr. of Geraint 72
At which the w in his obstinacy, Geraint and E. 454 vanish'd by the fairy well That laughs at iron— as our w's did— Merlin and V. 429
And on the third are w's, perfect men, Holy Grail 236 dreading worse than shame Her w Tristram, Last Tournament 385
There rode an armed w to the doors. Guinevere 409
w's beating back the swarm Of Turkish Islam Montenegro 10 W's over the Weltering waters Batt. of Brunanburh 47 and round The w's puissant shoulders Achilles over the T. 3
The w hath forgot his arms, Ancient Sage 138
Lies the w, my forefather, Locksley H., Sixty 28
Dead the w, dead his glory, „ 30
Indian w's dream of ampler hunting grounds „ 69 old-world inns that take Some w for a sign Pro. to Gen. Hamley 14 realm were in the wrong For which her w's bleed, Epilogue 35 right to crown with song The w's noble deed— „ 37
W of God, man's friend, Epit. on Gordon 1 the shadowy w glide Along the silent field Demeter and P. 152
A w's crest above the cloud of war '— The Ring 338
My w of the Holy Cross and of the conquering sword, Happy 21 pine which here The w of Caprera set, To Ulysses 26 Find her w Stark and dark in his funeral fire. To Master of B. 19
The wounded w climbs from Troy to thee. Death of Œnone 39
Warrior-king the w-k's, In height and prowess Tiresias 178
Warrior-wise w-w thou stridest thro' his halls Last Tournament 517
Warship Fled to his w : Batt. of Brunanburh 59
War-song His country's w-s thrill his ears : Two Voices 153
Full many a noble w-s had he sung, Guinevere 278
Wart Were it but for a w or a mole ? ' Dead Prophet 56
War-thunder shuddering W-t of iron rams ; Tiresias 100
War-worker w-w's who Harried the Welshman, Batt. of Brunanburh 121 Was (See also War) For w, and is, and will be, are but is ; Princess iii 324
And now the W, the Might-have been, To Marq. of Dufferin 38
Who am, and w, and will be his, his own Happy 7
Wash (s) Katie walks By the long w of Australasian seas The Brook 194 Wash (verb) (See also Wesh) O mercy, mercy ! w away my sin. St. S. Stylites 120
It may be that the gulfs will w us down : Ulysses 62
And in the great sea w away my sin.' Holy Grail 806 Wash'd (See also Fresh-washed, Wesh'd) W with still rains and daisy blossomed ; Circumstance 7
A league of grass, w by a slow broad stream, Gardener's D. 40 daily left The little footprint daily w away. Enoch Arden 22 shone Their morions, w with morning, Princess v 264 stream Descended, and the Sun was w away. Gareth and L. 1047
I have wallow'd, I have w— Last Tournament 315 an I wallow'd, then I w— „ 318
Wash'd (continued) w up from out the deep ? Last Tournament 685 anon the wanton billow w Them over, Lover's Tale ii 9
Washer See Dish-washer
Washing I heard the ripple w in the reeds, M. d'Arthur 70
And the long ripple w in the reeds.' „ 117
I heard the ripple w in the reeds, Pass. of Arthur 238
And the long ripple w in the reeds.' „ 285
Universal ocean softly w all her warless Isles Locksley H., Sixty 170
Wasp W's in our good hive, Princess iv 535
Wassail pledge you all In w ; „ Pro. 186
Nor bowl of w mantle warm ; In Mem. cv 18
Wassail-bowl The host, and I sat round the w-b, The Epic 5
I,' quoth Everard, ' by the w-b.' „ 23 Waste (adj.) Stretch'd wide and wild the w enormous marsh, Ode to Memory 101
swan's death-hymn took the soul Of that w place with joy Dying Swan 22
' From emptiness and the w wide Of that abyss, Two Voices 119 like a wind, that shrills All night in a w land, M. d'Arthur 202 Fly o'er w fens and windy fields. Sir Galahad 60
Down the w waters day and night, The Voyage 58
Sunning himself in a w field alone— Aylmer's Field 9
To the w deeps together. Sea Dreams 238 blank And w it seem'd and vain ; Princess vii 43 Better the w Atlantic roll'd On her Third of Feb. 21
From out w places comes a cry, In Mem. iii 7
And thus the land of Cameliard was w, Com. of Arthur 20
Vext with w dreams ? „ 85
Gray swamps and pools, w places of the hern, Geraint and E. 31
To the w earldom of another earl, „ 438
O'er these w downs whereon I lost myself, Lancelot and E. 225
And down the w sand-shores of Trath Treroit, „ 301
Lords of w marshes, kings of desolate isles, „ 527
And whipt me into w fields far away ; Holy Grail 788
For out of the w islands had he come, Pelleas and E. 86
Better the King's w hearth and aching heart Guinevere 524
On the w sand by the w sea they closed. Pass. of Arthur 92 like a wind that shrills All night in a w land, „ 370
Forthgazing on the w and open sea, Lover's Tale ii 177
And all the land was w and solitary : iv 125 a crowd Throng'd the w field about the city gates : Sir J. Oldcastle 40
Some lodge within the w sea-dunes, The Flight 90
Now somewhere dead far in the w Soudan, Epit. on Gordon 2
Waste (s) (See also Waäste) The level w, the rounding gray. Mariana 44
Ammonian Oasis in the w. Alexander 8 across the w His son and heir doth ride D. of the O. Year 30 play'd Among the w and lumber of the shore, Enoch Arden 16 babes were running wild Like colts about the w. „ 305 flour From his tall mill that whistled on the w. „ 343
With one small gate that open'd on the w, „ 733 and came out upon the w. „ 777 of all his lavish w of words The Brook 191 wrought Such w and havock as the idolatries, Aylmer's Field 640 Doom upon kings, or in the w ' Repent ' ? „ 742 and molten on the w Becomes a cloud : Princess iv 72 that somewhere in the w The Shadow sits In Mem. xxii 19 dreamful w's where footless fancies dwell Maud I xviii 69 Far-sighted summoner of War and W Ded. of Idylls 37 glancing round the w she fear'd Geraint and E 50 and she drove them thro' the w. „ 100
Here in the heart of w and wilderness. „ 313 and sent a thousand men To till the w's, „ 942
The sad sea-sounding w's of Lyonesse— Merlin and V. 74 rose And drove him into w's and solitudes For agony, Lancelot and E. 252
I saw the least of little stars Down on the w, Holy Grail 525 Fled all night long by glimmering w and weald, And heard the Spirits of the w and weald Guinevere 128 or doth all that haunts the w and wild Mourn, Pass. of Arthur 48
In praise to God who led me thro' the w. Columbus 17
turn'd, And fled by many a w, Demeter and P. 74
She comes on w and wood, On farm and field : Prog. of Spring 22
By w and field and town of alien tongue, St. Telemachus 30 Waste (verb) if I w words now, in truth You must blame Love. Miller's D. 191

Waste (verb) (continued) The sea w's all: but let me live my life. Audley Court 51
To w his whole heart in one kiss Sir L. and Q. G. 44
That like a broken purpose w in air: So w not thou; but come; Princess vii 214
Forgive me, I w my heart in signs: let be. „ 359
Half the night I w in sighs, Maud II iv 23
Nor dared to w a perilous pity on him: Geraint and E. 525 Speak therefore: shall I w myself in vain?' Lancelot and E. 670 and w the spiritual strength Within us, Holy Grail 35 her too hast thou left To pine and w Last Tournament 598 when I knew the twain Would each w each, Tiresias 69 Ill To w this earth began— Epilogue 23

Wasted (adj. and part.) My heart is w with my woe, Oriana 1
Wan, w Truth in her utmost need. Clear-headed friend 19
Where they smile in secret, looking over w lands, Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 114
I that have w here health, wealth, and time, Princess iv 352
And wordless broodings on the w cheek— „ vii 112
Beating from the w vines Back to France Ode on Well. 109
Confusions of a w youth; In Mem., Pro. 42
I trust I have not w breath: „ cxx 1
Thro' the hubbub of the market I steal, a w frame, Maud II iv 69
W so often by the heathen hordes, Holy Grail 244
W and worn, and but a tithe of them, „ 723
But when the matron saw That hinted love was only w bait, The Ring 360
You that lie with w lungs Waiting for your summons . . . Forlorn 21

Wasted (verb) Last night I w hateful hours Fatima 8
And beat me down and marr'd and w me, Tithonus 19
He w hours with Averill; Aylmer's Field 109
There they ruled, and thence they w Boädicea 54 waging war Each upon other, w all the land; Com. of Arthur 7
'O I that w time to tend upon her, Geraint and E. 38 and thro' her love her life W and pined, Pelleas and E. 496

Wasteful And scaled in sheets of w foam, Sea Dreams 53 disciple, richly garb'd, but worn From w living, follow'd— Ancient Sage 5

Waster And w than a warren: Amphion 4

Wastest The w moorland of our realm shall be Safe, Gareth and L. 603

Wasting w odorous sighs All night long Adeline 43 leapt To greet her, w his forgotten heart, Aylmer's Field 689
'w the sweet summer hours'? Charity 1

Watch (s) (See also Death-watch) Kept w, waiting decision, Œnone 143 wan was her cheek With hollow w, Princess vi 145
And w'es in the dead, the dark, „ vii 103
Come: not in w'es of the night, In Mem. xci 13
Keep w and ward, keep w and ward, Maud I vi 58 did Enid, keeping w, behold In the first shallow shade Geraint and E. 118 still he kept his w beneath the wall. Pelleas and E. 223 Wide open were the gates, And no w kept; „ 415
But kept their w upon the ring and you. The Ring 300 heron rises from his w beside the mere, Happy 3

Watch (time-piece) seal, that hung From Allan's w, Dora 136

Watch (verb) I w thy grace; and in its place Eleänore 127
Fancy w'es in the wilderness, Caress'd or chidden 12
I w the darkening droves of swine Palace of Art 199
To w the crisping ripples on the beach, Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 61
To w the long bright river drawing slowly „ 92
To w the emerald-colour'd water falling „ 96
W what main-currents draw the years: Love thou thy land 21
W what thou seëst, and lightly bring me word.' M. d'Arthur 38
W what I see, and lightly bring thee word.' „ 44
I bad thee, w, and lightly bring me word.' „ 81 saw An angel stand and w me, as I sang. St. S. Stylites 35
I used to w—if I be he that watch'd— Tithonus 52 did we w the stately ships, Locksley Hall 37
To w the three tall spires; Godiva 3
That w the sleepers from the wall. Day-Dm., Sleep. P. 24
He w'es from his mountain walls, The Eagle 5 dewy eyes That w me from the glen below. Move Eastward 8 built their castles of dissolving sand To w them overflow'd, Enoch Arden 20
There often as he watch'd or seem'd to w, „ 600

Watch (verb) (continued) 'Good,' said his friend, 'but w!' Aylmer's Field 275 and one was set to w The watcher, „ 551 and w A full sea glazed with muffled moonlight, Princess i 247
O to w the thirsty plants Imbibing! „ ii 422
Or seem'd to w the dancing bubble, „ iii 24 and w The sandy footprint harden into stone.' „ 270
I w the twilight falling brown To F. D. Maurice 14 if that eye which w'es guilt And goodness, In Mem. xxvi 5
And those wild eyes that w the wave „ xxxvi 15
Ye w, like God, the rolling hours „ li 14
So may'st thou w me where I weep, „ lxiii 9
To those that w it more and more, „ lxxiv 2
'I w thee from the quiet shore; „ lxxxv 81
For who was left to w her but I? Maud I xix 10
And w her harvest ripen, her herd increase, „ III vi 25
Guinevere Stood by the castle walls to w him pass; Com. of Arthur 48
w his mightful hand striking great blows Marr. of Geraint 95 last bethought her how she used to w, „ 647
Not dare to w the combat, Geraint and E. 154
Geraint Waving an angry hand as who should say 'Ye w me,' „ 445
From whence to w the time, and eagle-like Balin and Balan 535 the Seer Would w her at her petulance, Merlin and V. 175 and laugh As those that w a kitten; „ 177 And w the curl'd white of the coming wave „ 292 while women w Who wins, who falls; Holy Grail 34
'There he w'es yet, There like a dog Pelleas and E. 262
W what thou seëst, and lightly bring me word.' Pass. of Arthur 206
W what I see, and lightly bring thee word.' „ 212
I bad thee, w, and lightly bring me word.' „ 249
I could not w her for four— In the Child. Hosp. 59 Still—could we w at all points? Def. of Lucknow 49
w the chariot whirl About the goal again, Tiresias 176
Or w the waving pine which here To Ulysses 25
'Father and Mother will w you grow'— (repeat) Romney's R. 104, 106
Christian faces w Man murder man. St. Telemachus 55

Watch'd She w my crest among them all, Oriana 30
In lazy mood I w the little circles die; Miller's D. 74
I w the little flutterings, „ 153
And w by weeping queens. Palace of Art 108
I used to watch—if I be he that w— Tithonus 52
And w by silent gentlemen, Will Water. 231 Maiden, I have w thee daily, L. of Burleigh 3 to the last dip of the vanishing sail She w it, Enoch Arden 246
There often as he w or seem'd to watch, „ 600
Miriam w and dozed at intervals, „ 909
They parted, and Sir Alymer Aylmer w. Aylmer's Field 277 conscious of the rageful eye That w him, „ 337
Or made occasion, being strictly w, „ 478 and groves of pines, W even there; „ 551 and Sir Aylmer w them all, „ 552 the wife, who w his face, Paled at a sudden twitch „ 731 and w it lying bathed In the green gleam Princess i 93 While Psyche w them, smiling, „ ii 365 and w Or seem'd to watch the dancing bubble, „ iii 23
I w the swallow winging south „ iv 89 but w them well, Saw that they kept apart, „ 339 but w awake A cypress in the moonlight shake, The Daisy 81
There was one who w and told me— Boädicea 30
And I myself, who sat apart And w them, In Mem. ciii 30
That w her on her nurse's arm, „ Con. 46 and w the great sea fall, Wave after wave, Com. of Arthur 378 and w him from the gates: „ 449
Then she that w him, 'Wherefore stare ye so? Gareth and L. 939
Knave, when I w thee striking on the bridge „ 992
But w him have I like a phantom pass „ 1335
Yet have I w thee victor in the joust, „ 1356
While he that w her sadden, Marr. of Geraint 67
he w The being he loved best in all the world, Geraint and E. 102
And w the sun blaze on the turning scythe, „ 252
Eyes too that long have w how Lancelot draws Balin and Balan 375 Queen Among her damsels broidering sat, heard, w And whisper'd: Merlin and V. 138 one had w, and had not held his peace: „ 162

Watch'd (continued) and she w him from her walls. Merlin and V. 775 while she w their arms far-off Sparkle, Lancelot and E. 395 many a time have w thee at the tilt „ 1359
Sat by the river in a cove, and w The high reed wave, „ 1389 all along the street of those Who w us pass ; Holy Grail 345
W her lord pass, and knew not that she sigh'd. Last Tournament 130 the knights, who w him, roar'd And shouted „ 468 westward-smiling seas, W from this tower. „ 588 fledged The hills that w thee, as Love Lover's Tale i 12
All day I w the floating isles of shade, „ ii 5
And w them till they vanish'd from my sight „ 42 an' I w him, an' when he came in First Quarrel 75
So they w what the end would be. The Revenge 73
How often have we w the sun fade The Flight 41
many's the time that I w her at mass Tomorrow 29
W again the hollow ridges Locksley H., Sixty 2
A soul that, w from earliest youth, To Marq. of Dufferin 25
W my far meadow zoned with airy morn ; Prog. of Spring 69
You w not I, she did not grow, Romney's R. 105
I w my son, And those that follow'd, Akbar's Dream 187
She w me, she nursed me, she fed me, Charity 33
Watcher The w on the column till the end ; St. S. Stylites 163 and one was set to watch The w, Aylmer's Field 552
A lidless w of the public weal, Princess iv 325
Sat watching like a w by the dead. „ v 62
kinsman left him w o'er his wife And two fair babes, Merlin and V. 706 Heard by the w in a haunted house, Guinevere 73
Watchest Thou w all things ever dim In Mem. cxvi 3
Watcheth shepherd who w the evening star. Dying Swan 35 Watchful Leolin ever w of her eye, Aylmer's Field 210 all offices Of w care and trembling tenderness. Lover's Tale i 226 for I do not doubt Being a w parent, Sisters (E. and E.) 31
Watching with triumph, w still To pierce me thro' Rosalind 26
Tho' w from a ruin'd tower How grows the day Two Voices 77
W your growth, I seem'd again to grow. Aylmer's Field 359
Sat w like a watcher by the dead. Princess v 62
With Psyche's babe, was Ida w us, „ 512
All her maidens, w, said, „ vi 3
w here At this, our great solemnity. Ode on Well. 243
Now w high on mountain cornice, The Daisy 19 awful sense Of one mute Shadow w all. In Mem. xxx 8
In w thee from hour to hour, „ cxii 12
An angel w an urn Wept over her, Maud I viii 3
Darken'd w a mother decline And that dead man „ xix 8 when he turn'd from w him. Gareth and L. 1032
w overhead The aërial poplar wave, Sisters (E. and E.) 83
No phantoms, w from a phantom shore Ancient Sage 179
w till the day begun— Locksley H., Sixty 91
W her large light eyes and gracious looks, Prog. of Spring 19
You that are w The gray Magician Merlin and the G. 4
Watchman the w peal The sliding season : Gardener's D. 182
Watch-word Nor deal in w-w's overmuch : Love thou thy land 28 and this proud w rest Of equal ; Princess vii 300 be grateful for the sounding w ' Evolution ' here. Locksley H., Sixty 198 Water (See also Bog-wather, Fresh-water, Sea-water, Watter) the glimmering w outfloweth : Leonine Eleg. 9
A sluice with blacken'd w's slept, Mariana 38 which crept Adown to where the w slept. Arabian Nights 30
The trenched w's run from sky to sky ; Ode to Memory 104
Holy w will I pour Into every spicy flower Poet's Mind 12
Winds were blowing, w's flowing, Oriana 14
Keeps his blue w's fresh for many a mile. Mine be the strength 8
Their moon-led w's white. Palace of Art 252 night-dews on still w's between walls Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 3 river drawing slowly His w's from the purple hill— „ 93
To watch the emerald colour'd w falling „ 96
Scaffolds, still sheets of w, divers woes, D. of F. Women 34
On one side lay the Ocean, and on one Lay a great w, M. d'Arthur 12
And the wild w lapping on the crag.' „ 71
' I heard the w lapping on the crag, „ 116
Many an evening by the w's did we watch Locksley Hall 37 as moonlight unto sunlight, and as w unto wine— „ 152
Rift the hills, and roll the w's, „ 186 Water (continued) Side by side beneath the w Crew and Captain lie ; The Captain 67 stars all night above the brim Of w's The Voyage 26
Down the waste w's day and night, „ 58
Illyrian woodlands, echoing falls Of w, To E. L. 2
The blaze upon the w's to the east ; Enoch Arden 594
The blaze upon the w's to the west ; „ 596
Another ship (She wanted w) „ 628
The silent w slipping from the hills, „ 633
To where the rivulets of sweet w ran ; „ 642
Like fountains of sweet w in the sea, „ 803
Beyond it, where the w's marry— The Brook 81
Down in the w, a long reef of gold, Sea Dreams 127
And drew, from butts of w on the slope, Princess, Pro. 60 smile that like a wrinkling wind On glassy w „ i 116 Over the rolling w's go, „ iii 5 smile dwelt like a clouded moon In a still w : „ vi 271
To meet the sun and sunny w's, The Daisy 11
All along the valley, where thy w's flow, V. of Cauteretz 3
Where yon broad w sweetly slowly glides. Requiescat 2
The forest crack'd, the w's curl'd, In Mem. xv 5
Is on the w's day and night, „ xvii 11
As drop by drop the w falls „ lviii 3
By that broad w of the west, „ lxvii 3
I hear thee where the w's run ; „ cxxx 2 was heard among the holy hymns A voice as of the w's, Com. of Arthur 291 Hath power to walk the w's like our Lord. „ 294 there past along the hymns A voice as of the w's, „ 464 all her dress Wept from her sides as w flowing away ; Gareth and L. 217
And drops of w fell from either hand ; „ 220
To turn the broach, draw w, or hew wood, „ 486 under this wan w many of them Lie rotting, „ 824 and beside The carolling w set themselves Balin and Balan 44 as an enemy that has left Death in the living w's, Merlin and V. 148
At once she slipt like w to the floor. Lancelot and E. 830
Heard on the winding w's, eve and morn „ 1408
Ye could not hear the w's for the blast, Holy Grail 797 with living w's in the change Of seasons : Pelleas and E. 511 Unruffling w's re-collect the shape Last Tournament 369 after the great w's break Whitening for half a league, „ 464 as the w Moab saw Come round by the East, „ 482
And one was w and one star was fire, „ 736
On one side lay the Ocean, and on one Lay a great w, Pass. of Arthur 180
And the wild w lapping on the crag.' „ 239
' I heard the w lapping on the crag, „ 284
Down that long w opening on the deep „ 466 pleasant breast of w's, quiet bay, Lover's Tale i 6 semicircle Of dark-blue w's and the narrow fringe „ 38 and thro' the arch Down those loud w's, „ 59 charm of light and strength Upon the w's, „ 92
And glory of broad w's interfused, „ 401 how he woo'd The w's, and the w's answering lisp'd „ 544
Like w, drop by drop, upon my ear Fell ; „ 576
When he leaps from the w to the land. The Revenge 55
And the w began to heave and the weather „ 113
Rather to thee, thou living w, Sir J. Oldcastle 131 where the w is clearer than air : V. of Maeldune 77 Warriors over the Weltering w's Batt. of Brunanburh 48 the w's—you hear them call ! Despair 47 for my brain was drunk with the w, „ 65
This wealth of w's might but seem to draw Ancient Sage 9 and hear the w's roar, The Flight 90 as a man Who sees his face in w, The Ring 370 rolling of dragons By warble of w, Merlin and the G. 45 you will not deny my sultry throat One draught of icy w. Romney's R. 23
A fall of w lull'd the noon asleep. „ 83
Waterbreak With many a silvery w The Brook 61
Water-circle Gleams of the w-c's as they broke, Lover's Tale i 67 Water-course The tangled w-c's slept, Dying Swan 19 and show'd A riotous confluence of w-c's Lucretius 30
Scarr'd with a hundred wintry w-c's— Holy Grail 490

Water'd Seal'd it with kisses ? w it with tears ? Œnone 234
Waterfall Thou wert not nursed by the w Ode to Memory 51 Down shower the gambolling w's Sea-Fairies 10
w's Pour'd in a thunderless plunge V. of Maeldune 13
Waterflag There in the many-knotted w's, M. d'Arthur 63
There in the many-knotted w's, Pass. of Arthur 231
Waterfowl they ride away—to hawk For w. Merlin and V. 108
Water-gate Storm at the W-g ! Def. of Lucknow 37
Water-gnat in the burn w-g's murmur and mourn. Leonine Eleg. 8
Water-lily She saw the w-l bloom, L. of Shalott iii 39
But as the w starts and slides Upon the level Princess iv 255
Waterloo in sawdust, slept, As old as W ; Will Water. 100
In that world-earthquake, W ! Ode on Well. 133 nobler work to do Than when he fought at W, „ 257 Plunged in the last fierce charge at W, Sisters (E. and E.) 64 Water-pipes Creeps to the garden w-p beneath, D. of F. Women 206 Water-side The first house by the w-s, L. of Shalott iv 34
Water-smoke thousand wreaths of dangling w-s, Princess vii 213
Water-sodden Dagonet stood Quiet as any w-s log Last Tournament 253 Water-world Thro' his dim w-w ? Maud II ii 20 Watery slight Sir Robert with his w smile Edwin Morris 128
' That weak and w nature love you ? No ! The Ring 396 Watter (water) 'E seeäms naw moor nor w, North. Cobbler 76 some on 'em said it wur w— „ 83 thou can't graw this upo' w ! ' „ 86
Wattle he built with w's from the marsh Holy Grail 63
An' 'e torn'd as red as a stag-tuckey's w's, Church-warden, etc. 31
Wattled bleat Of the thick-fleeced sheep from w folds, Ode to Memory 66
Wattling And one was rough with w, Balin and Balan 366 Wave (s) (See also Sea-wave) The slumbrous w outwelleth, Claribel 18 when the crisp slope w's After a tempest, Supp. Confessions 126
And the blue w beat the shore ; All Things will Die 43 the rainbow hangs on the poising w, Sea-Fairies 29
And shook the w as the wind did sigh ; Dying Swan 15
But the w would make music above us afar— The Merman 22
adown the steep like a w I would leap The Mermaid 39
As w's that up a quiet cove Rolling slide, Eleänore 108
Thro' the w that runs for ever By the island L. of Shalott i 12
I loved the brimming w that swam Miller's D. 97
One show'd an iron coast and angry w's. Palace of Art 69 swallow 'ill come back again with summer o'er the w, May Queen, N. Y's. E. 19
' This mounting w will roll us shoreward soon.' Lotos-Eaters 2 gushing of the w Far far away did seem to mourn „ 31
' Our island home Is far beyond the w ; „ 45
In ever climbing up the climbing w ? „ C. S. 50 wind and w and oar ; „ 127 holy organ rolling w's Of sound on roof and floor D. of F. Women 191 on the bounteous w of such a breast Gardener's D. 139 Came wet-shod alder from the w, Amphion 41
We came to warmer w's, and deep The Voyage 37 on w's that idly burst Like Heavenly Hope „ 69 Thy tribute w deliver : A Farewell 2
Rising, falling, like a w, Vision of Sin 125
And w's of shadow went over the wheat, Poet's Song 4 sweep Of some precipitous rivulet to the w, Enoch Arden 587 Who still'd the rolling w of Galilee ! Aylmer's Field 709 that great w Returning, while none mark'd it, Sea Dreams 233
No rock so hard but that a little w Princess iii 154 old-recurring w's of prejudice Resmooth „ 240 drench his dark locks in the gurgling w Mid-channel. „ iv 187 like a beacon-tower above the w's Of tempest, „ 493
Naked, a double light in air and w, „ vii 167
Nor all Calamity's hugest w's confound, Will 5
W's on a diamond shingle dash, The Islet 16
And w's that sway themselves in rest, In Mem. xi 18
And in the hearing of the w. „ xix 4
the w again Is vocal in its wooded walls ; „ 13
And those wild eyes that watch the w „ xxxvi 15
The lightest w of thought shall lisp, „ xlix 5
And every pulse of wind and w Recalls, „ lxxxv 73
Or cool'd within the glooming w ; „ lxxxix 45
Upon the thousand w's of wheat, „ xci 11
Till all my blood, a fuller w, „ cxxii 12 scream of a madden'd beach dragg'd down by the w, Maud I iii 12

Wave (s (continued) the long w's that roll in yonder bay ? Maud I xviii 63
W after w, each mightier than the last, Com. of Arthur 379 and all the w was in a flame : And down the w and in the flame was borne A naked babe, „ 383
And rippled like an ever-fleeting w, Gareth and L. 215 Clash like the coming and retiring w, „ 522
Comes flying over many a windy w To Britain, Marr. of Geraint 337
For the great w that echoes round the world ; „ 420
That keeps the wear and polish of the w. „ 682 blind w feeling round his long sea-hall Merlin and V. 232 watch the curl'd white of the coming w „ 292
Ev'n such a w, but not so pleasurable, „ 294
You seem'd that w about to break upon me „ 302 as a wild w in the wide North-sea, Lancelot and E. 482
Play'd ever back upon the sloping w, Holy Grail 382
The heathen—but that ever-climbing w, Last Tournament 92 as the crest of some slow-arching w, „ 462
Between the steep cliff and the coming w ; Guinevere 280
But after tempest, when the long w broke „ 290 only the wan w Brake in among dead faces, Pass. of Arthur 129
Upon the dappled dimplings of the w, Lover's Tale i 44
Held for a space 'twixt cloud and w, „ 417
Showers slanting light upon the dolorous w. „ 811
All crisped sounds of w and leaf and wind, „ ii 106
Slow-moving as a w against the wind, „ iv 293 a w like the w that is raised by an earthquake grew, The Revenge 115 Backward they reel like the w, like the w Def. of Lucknow 43
And we gazed at the wandering w V. of Maeldune 89 and the roar of w's, The Wreck 4 rougher gust might tumble a stormier w, „ 131
But the blind w cast me ashore, Despair 61
Or if lip were laid to lip on the pillows of the w. The Flight 48 like a rock In the w of a stormy day ; Heavy Brigade 57 Hath still'd the blast and strown the w, Freedom 34
And ask'd the w's that moan about the world Demeter and P. 64 fill the hollows between w and w ; Akbar's Dream 161 and the moan of my w's I whirl, The Dreamer 13
Wave (verb) But who hath seen her w her hand ? L. of Shalott i 24
W's all its lazy lilies, and creeps on, Gardener's D. 42 bottom agates seem to w and float Princess ii 327
Nor w's the cypress in the palace walk ; „ vii 177
And, since the grasses round me w, In Mem. xxi 2
Sat by the river in a cove, and watch'd The high reed w, Lancelot and E. 1390 watching overhead The aërial poplar w, Sisters (E. and E.) 84
He sees me, w's me from him. Happy 19
You need not w me from you. „ 20
Still you w me off—poor roses— „ 101
Thy gay lent-lilies w and put them by, Prog. of Spring 37
Waved caught His bundle, w his hand, and went his way. Enoch Arden 238
And fearing w my arm to warn them off ; Sea Dreams 132
She spoke, and bowing w Dismissal : Princess ii 99
She, ending, w her hands : „ iv 522
She w to me with her hand. Maud I ix 8
The wrist is parted from the hand that w, Merlin and V. 551 yet he glanced not up, nor w his hand, Lancelot and E. 986 Arthur w them back. Alone he rode. Last Tournament 437 woods upon the hill W with a sudden gust Lover's Tale iii 34
w his blade To the gallant three hundred Heavy Brigade 9
Waver As when a sunbeam w's warm Miller's D. 79
While this great bow will w in the sun, Palace of Art 43
The gas-light w's dimmer ; Will Water. 38
W's on her thin stem the snowdrop cold Prog. of Spring 3
A blood-red awning w overhead, St. Telemachus 52 Waver'd The crowds, the temples, w, and the shore ; D. of F. Women 114 for thus at times He w ; Merlin and V. 187
Here, too, my love W at anchor with me, Lover's Tale i 65
W and floated—which was less than Hope, „ 452
foeman surged, and w, and reel'd Up the hill, Heavy Brigade 62
Wavering and, w Lovingly lower, trembled on her waist—Ah, happy shade—and still went w down, Gardener's D. 130
From the high tree the blossom w fell, Princess vi 80
W's of every vane with every wind, To the Queen ii 50

Wavering (continued) Woo her and gain her then : no w, boy ! Sisters (E. and E.) 39
The flame of life went w down ; To Marq. of Dufferin 32 Fled w o'er thy face, and chased away Demeter and P. 15 see I thro' the w flakes Yon blanching apricot Prog. of Spring 29 some thro' w lights and shadows broke, Lotos-Eaters 12
In every w brake an ambuscade. Geraint and E. 51
Waveringly Immingled with Heaven's azure w, Gareth and L. 936
Wave-worn the w-w horns of the echoing bank, Dying Swan 39 Waving and while he stood on deck W, Enoch Arden 244
w to him White hands, and courtesy ; Gareth and L. 1376
Geraint W an angry hand as who should say Geraint and E. 444 Perceived the w of his hands that blest. Guinevere 584
Then w us a sign to seat ourselves, Lover's Tale iv 320
But one—he was w a flag— The Wreck 119
O slender lily w there, Ancient Sage 167
' Thrice-happy he that may caress The ringlet's w balm Talking Oak 178
With woven paces and with w arms, Merlin and V. 207
Of woven paces and of w hands, (repeat) „ 330, 968
Or watch the w pine which here To Ulysses 25
Wavy And the w swell of the soughing reeds, Dying Swan 38 honeysuckle round the porch has wov'n its w bowers, May Queen 29
Wax (s) I will melt this marble into w Princess iii 73
Wax (verb) Thou shalt w and he shall dwindle, Boädicea 40
Speak, as it w'es, of a love that wanes ? Lancelot and E. 1401
Wax'd Then w her anger stronger. The Goose 30
And watch'd them, w in every limb ; In Mem. ciii 30
So w in pride, that I believed myself Unconquerable, Geraint and E. 835
Waxen Baby fingers, w touches, press me from my mother's breast. Locksley Hall 90
And melt the w hearts of men.' In Mem. xxi 8
A bought commission, a w face, Maud I x 30
Waxeth Ever the wonder w more and more, Sonnet to —— 6
Waxing The full-juiced apple, w over-mellow, Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 33
But tho' his eyes are w dim, D. of the O. Year 21
Way (See also Half-way, Milky-way, Waäy, Wood-way) Winning its w with extreme gentleness Isabel 23
A weary, weary w I go, Oriana 89
That will not stay, upon his w, Rosalind 15
And flashes off a thousand w's, „ 23
Nor wander'd into other w's : My life is full 3 one silvery cloud Had lost his w Œnone 93
This w and that, in many a wild festoon Ran riot, „ 100
The blessed music went that w my soul May Queen, Con. 42 Bluster the winds and tides the self-same w, D. of F. Women 38 and the woods and w's Are pleasant, On a Mourner 13
Till all thy life one w incline „ 19
The goose flew this w and flew that, The Goose 35
And God fulfils himself in many w's, M. d'Arthur 241
I am going a long w With these thou seëst— „ 256
all the livelong w With solemn gibe Gardener's D. 167 his w's were harsh ; But Dora bore them meekly. Dora 35 and went her w Across the wheat, „ 71 these unreal w's Seem but the theme of writers, Edwin Morris 47 Bear witness, if I could have found a w St. S. Stylites 55
Yet this w was left, And by this w I 'scaped them. „ 178
And down the w you use to come, Talking Oak 115
The trance gave w To those caresses, Love and Duty 65 Met me walking on yonder w, Edward Gray 2 summer suns, By many pleasant w's, Will Water. 34
And follow'd her all the w. Lady Clare 64
To meet and greet her on her w ; Beggar Maid 6
All the windy w's of men (repeat) Vision of Sin 132, 168 caught His bundle, waved his hand, and went his w. Enoch Arden 238
And wherefore did he go this weary w, „ 296
While yet she went about her household w's, „ 453 winding glades high up like w's to Heaven, „ 573 led the w To where the rivulets of sweet water ran ; „ 641
I chatter over stony w's, The Brook 39
A childly w with children, Aylmer's Field 181 won mysterious w Thro' the seal'd ear „ 695
Is not our own child on the narrow w, „ 743 as a footsore ox in crowded w's „ 819
' That's your light w ; Princess, Pro. 151

Way (continued) She once had past that w ; Princess Pro. i 185
And thus (what other w was left) I came.' „ ii 217 true she errs, But in her own grand w : „ iii 107
I forced a w Thro' solid opposition „ 125 when we sent the Prince your w „ iv 398 done the thing one ought, When fall'n in darker w's.' „ v 68
And I will take her up and go my w, „ 102 for everything Gave w before him : „ 530 or was it chance, She past my w. „ vi 98
And turn'd each face her w : „ 144 to them the doors gave w Groaning, „ vi 349
These were the rough w's of the world till now. „ vii 257 one Not learned, save in gracious household w's, „ 318
The path of duty was the w to glory : (repeat) Ode on Well. 202, 210
The path of duty be the w to glory : „ 224 like a man, too, would have his w : Grandmother 70
Of Lari Maxume, all the w, The Daisy 76
And dead men lay all over the w, The Victim 21
All running on one w to the home of my love, Window, On the Hill 8
And ever met him on his w In Mem. vi 22
And we with singing cheer'd the w, „ xxii 5
Still onward winds the dreary w ; „ xxvi 1
And look thy look, and go thy w, „ xlix 9
Moving about the household w's, „ lx 11
My darken'd w's Shall ring with music „ lxxvii 13
Whatever w my days decline, „ lxxxv 41
That will not yield each other w. „ cii 20
They wept and wail'd, but led the w „ ciii 18 and let the world have its w : Maud I iv 21
Who knows the w's of the world, „ 44
Be mine a philosopher's life in the quiet woodland w's, „ 49
I know the w she went Home „ xii 21 what am I That I dare to look her w ; „ xvi 11 his w's are sweet, And their's are bestial, Com. of Arthur 180
To guard thee on the rough w's of the world.' „ 336 son Beheld his only w to glory lead Gareth and L. 159 the vassal king, Was ev'n upon his w to Camelot ; „ 392 who sliced a red life-bubbling w „ 509
I have miss'd the only w (repeat) „ 787, 792 convey'd them on their w And left them „ 889
I watch'd thee victor in the joust, And seen thy w.' „ 1357
And after went her w across the bridge, Marr. of Geraint 383
I have let men be, and have their w ; „ 466
For old am I, and rough the w's and wild ; „ 750
I charge thee ride before, Ever a good w on before ; Geraint and E. 15
I will not fight my w with gilded arms, „ 21 pain she had To keep them in the wild w's of the wood, „ 187
Them forward by a w which, beaten broad, „ 436
And left him lying in the public w ; „ 478 answering not one word, she led the w. „ 495 and she wept beside the w. „ 519
The long w smoke beneath him in his fear ; „ 532
To shun the wild w's of the lawless tribe. „ 608
' The fire of Heaven is on the dusty w's. Balin and Balan 448 who sought to win my love Thro' evil w's : „ 475
And then she follow'd Merlin all the w, Merlin and V. 203
Then her false voice made w, broken with sobs : „ 857
Glanced first at him, then her, and went his w. Lancelot and E. 95
Full often lost in fancy, lost his w ; „ 164 in the w's below The knights and ladies wept, Holy Grail 352
And thence departed every one his w. „ 360
some ancient king Had built a w, „ 502
For now there is a lion in the w.' „ 645 one was pointing this w, and one that, Because the w was lost. Pelleas and E. 58 tilt against the knights There at Caerleon, but have lost our w ; „ 66
Glanced down upon her, turn'd and went her w. „ 185
Some rough old knight who knew the worldly w, „ 192
These be the w's of ladies,' Pelleas thought, „ 209
With promise of large light on woods and w's. „ 394
But he by wild and w, for half the night, „ 497
With trumpet-blowings ran on all the w's From Camelot Last Tournament 52
loneliest w's are safe from shore to shore. „ 102

Way (continued) So all the w's were safe from shore to shore, Last Tournament 485
Mark's w, my soul!—but eat not thou with Mark, " 532
So, pluck'd one w by hate and one by love, " 539
Mark's w's to steal behind one in the dark— " 618
And cast him as a worm upon the w; Guinevere 35
And then they rode to the divided w, " 124
That did not shun to smite me in worse w, " 435 and the w's Were filled with rapine, " 457
But in His w's with men I find Him not. Pass. of Arthur 11 and wail their w From cloud to cloud, " 39 find or feel a w Thro' this blind haze, " 75
And God fulfils himself in many w's, " 409
I am going a long w With these thou seëst— " 424 that w my wish leads me evermore Still to believe it— Lover's Tale i 274
Each w from verge to verge a Holy Land, " 337 effect weigh'd seas upon my head To come my w! " 661
Was not the land as free thro' all her w's " 662
Could that be more because he came my w? " 666
Why should he not come my w if he would? " 667 why should he come my w Robed in those robes " 670 what gleam on those black w's Where Love " 812 Had died almost to serve them any w, " iv 124
And leave him in the public w to die. " 261
And balanced either w by each, " 269 he patted my hand in his gentle w, First Quarrel 67 and now you may go your w. Rizpah 20
Turning my w, the loveliest face on earth. Sisters (E. and E.) 87
Flower into fortune—our world's w— Columbus 167 sometimes wish I had never led the w. " 186 Shaping their w toward Dyflen again, Batt. of Brunanburh 98 moves unseen among the w's of men. Tiresias 24
Send no such light upon the w's of men " 161 and every w the vales Wind, " 182
By all my w's where'er they ran, Ancient Sage 157
he—some one—this w creeps— The Flight 70 and Suns along their fiery w, Locksley H., Sixty 203 know them, follow him who led the w, " 266
NOT this w will you set your name Epilogue 1
Yon myriad-worlded w— " 53
Well, One w for Miriam. The Ring 73
She turn'd, and in her soft imperial w " 267
I am on the Perfect W, All else is to perdition.' Akbar's Dream 34
Here on this bank in some w live the life " 144
Will you move a little that w? Charity 20
Well if it do not roll our w. Riflemen form! 4
Toward the lowland w's behind me, Silent Voices 5
Wayfaring-tree Black holly, and white-flower'd w-t! Sir J. Oldcastle 130
Wayside Craft, poisonous counsels, w ambushings— Gareth and L. 432
The w blossoms open to the blaze. Balin and Balan 449
Come dashing down on a tall w flower, Guinevere 253
I told your w story to my mother Sisters (E. and E.) 189
Wayward—The vexed eddies of its w brother: Isabel 33
I have been wild and w, but you'll forgive me now; May Queen, N. Y's. E. 33
Or something of a w modern mind Edwin Morris 87
I went thro' many w moods Day-Dm., Pro. 6
No more shall w grief abuse The genial hour In Mem. cv 9
And yet so wild and w that my dream— Akbar's Dream 172
Waywardness At any gentle damsel's w. Gareth and L. 1179 Way-worn Foot-sore, w-w, at length St. Telemachus 34
Weak (adj.) W Truth a-leaning on her crutch, Clear-headed friend 18
Than cry for strength, remaining w, Two Voices 95
'For I go, w from suffering here: " 238
W symbols of the settled bliss, Miller's D. 233
And in my w, lean arms I lift the cross, St. S. Stylites 118
Made w by time and fate, but strong in will Ulysses 69
Pass on, w heart, and leave me where I lie: Come not, when, etc. 11
Half-parted from a w and scolding hinge, The Brook 84
Full of w poison, turnspits for the clown, Princess iv 516
'This fellow would make weakness w, In Mem. xxi 7
Strike dead the whole w race of venomous worms, Maud II i 46
Seeing that ye be grown too w and old Com. of Arthur 511
For see ye not how w and hungerworn I seem— Gareth and L. 443 Weak (adj.) (continued) The sick w beast seeking to help herself Merlin and V. 498
And being w in body said no more; Lancelot and E. 839
Flatter me rather, seeing me so w, Last Tournament 642
Of eyes too w to look upon the light; Lover's Tale i 614
An' Hetty wur w i' the hattics, Village Wife 101 being woman and w, His formal kiss fell The Wreck 31
'That w and watery nature love you? No! The Ring 396
Weak (s) if from Arthur's hall, To help the w. Balin and Balan 473
Weaken'd And all the senses w, save in that, Lover's Tale i 127
'Muriel's health Had w, nursing little Miriam. The Ring 357
Weakening gentle sickness, gradually W the man, Enoch Arden 825 Weaker Words w than your grief would make To J. S. 65
And ever w grows thro' acted crime, Will 12
'I might forget my w lot; Two Voices 367 songs I made As echoes out of w times, In Mem., Con. 22 till he saw Which were the w; Lancelot and E. 462 Weakest Cries to W as to Strongest, Locksley H., Sixty 110
Weakling Poor w ev'n as they are.' Princess vi 310
Of craven, w, and thrice-beaten hound: Pelleas and E. 291
'Rise, w; I am Lancelot; say thy say.' " 582
Weakly This pretty, puny, w little one,— Enoch Arden 195 Weakness my own w fools My judgment, Supp. Confessions 136
Prevailing in w, the coronach stole Dying Swan 26
Deliver not the tasks of might To w, Love thou thy land 14 Regard the w of thy peers: " 24
W to be wroth with w! Locksley Hall 149
So she strove against her w, L. of Burleigh 69
That was your hour of w. Enoch Arden 449
And Enoch bore his w cheerfully. " 827 to spy The w of a people or a house, Aylmer's Field 570
Our w somehow shapes the shadow, Princess iii 330
And hatred of her w, blent with shame. " vii 30 but well-nigh close to death For w: " 120
'This fellow would make w weak, In Mem. xxi 7
my passion hath not swerved To works of w, " lxxxv 50 Forgot his w in thy sight. " cx 4 those Whom w or necessity have cramp'd Tiresias 87
Weal (See also Dogwhip-weals) he for the common w, The fading politics Princess ii 285
A lidless watcher of the public w, " iv 325
So far, so near in woe and w; In Mem. cxxix 2
Be moulded by your wishes for her w; Marr. of Geraint 799 Hours That cancel w with woe, Ancient Sage 96
Weald Fled all night long by glimmering waste and w, And heard the Spirits of the waste and w Guinevere 128
That gray beast, the wolf of the w. Batt. of Brunanburh 110 Wealth (See also World-wealth) Showering thy gleaned w into my open breast Ode to Memory 23
The choicest w of all the earth, Eleänore 19
In glowing health, with boundless w, L. C. V. de Vere 61
'When w no more shall rest in mounded heaps, Golden Year 32
The sole succeeder to their w, their lands, Aylmer's Field 294 heiress, w, Their w, their heiress! w enough was theirs For twenty matches. " 368 May beat a pathway out to w and fame. " 439
Whatever eldest-born of rank or w " 484
I that have wasted here health, w, and time, Princess iv 352
O more than poor men w, Than sick men health— " 459
Abide: thy w is gather'd in, In Mem. lii 15
And so my w resembles thine, " lxxix 17 the w Of words and wit, the double health, " Con. 102 Your father has w well-gotten, Maud I iv 18 joy that blazed itself in woodland w Of leaf, Balin and Balan 82 all his land and w and state were hers. Holy Grail 587
And gave herself and all her w to me. " 597 all the w and all the woe? Guinevere 344
And so much w as God had charged her with— Lover's Tale i 213 when all my w Flash'd from me in a moment " 668 Whatever w I brought from that new world Columbus 101 with the wisdom and w of his own, The Wreck 65
W with his wines and his wedded harlots; Vastness 19 kinsman, dying, summon'd me to Rome—He left me w— The Ring 179 no tear for him, who left you w, " 188
The w of tropic bower and brake; To Ulysses 37

Wealth (continued) Youth and Health, and birth and w, By an Evolution. 8
Wealthier and himself Be wealthy still, ay w. Aylmer's Field 373
Then closed her access to the w farms, „ 503
Then were I w than a leash of kings.' Gareth and L. 51
'Ye will be all the w,' (repeat) Geraint and E. 221, 412
A w life than heretofore with these And Balin, Balin and Balan 92
w—w—hour by hour ! To the Queen ii 23
Jilted for a w ! w ? Locksley H., Sixty 11
To make them w in his readers' eyes ; Poets and their B. 4
Wealthiest Spain then the mightiest, w realm on earth, Columbus 205
Wealthy Revealings deep and clear are thine Of w smiles : Madeline 11
I SEE the w miller yet, Miller's D. 1
Like w men who care not how they give. Tithonus 17
Where the w nobles dwell.' L. of Burleigh 24
And when she show'd the w scabbard, Aylmer's Field 236 and himself Be w still, ay wealthier. „ 373 Days order'd in a w peace, In Mem. xlvi 11
W with wandering lines of mount and mere, Holy Grail 252
Hold her a w bride within thine arms, „ 621
Tho' w enough to have bask'd in the light The Wreck 45 Weapon With thine own w art thou slain, Two Voices 311 wearing neither hunting-dress Nor w, Marr. of Geraint 166
The wielding of w's— Batt. of Brunanburh 90 a valorous w in olden England ! Kapiolani 4
Wear (s) keeps the w and polish of the wave. Marr. of Geraint 682
Wear (verb) W's all day a fainter tone. The Owl ii 7
And King-like, w's the crown : Of old sat Freedom 16 eat wholesome food, And w warm clothes, St. S. Stylites 109
w an undress'd goatskin on my back ; „ 116 shall w Alternate leaf and acorn-ball Talking Oak 286
This mortal armour that I w, Sir Galahad 70
Of those that w the Poet's crown : You might have won 10
'spears That soon should w the garland ; Aylmer's Field 112 his pride Lay deeper than to w it as his ring— „ 122
I think they should not w our rusty gowns, Princess, Pro. 143 than w Those lilies, better blush „ iii 67
And so she w's her error like a crown „ 111 he w's a truer crown Than any wreath Ode on Well. 276 bear the head That sleeps or w's the mask of sleep, In Mem. xviii 10
When first she w's her orange-flower ! „ xl 4
Who w's his manhood hale and green : „ liii 4
The fool that w's a crown of thorns : „ lxix 12
Come, w the forms by which I know „ xci 5
But ill for him that w's a crown, „ cxxvii 9
And Maud will w her jewels, Maud I xx 27
And w's a helmet mounted with a skull, Gareth and L. 639 your fair child shall w your costly gift Marr. of Geraint 819
Were fit to w your slipper for a glove. Geraint and E. 623
Why w ye this crown-royal upon shield ? ' Balin and Balan 338
'Why w ye that crown-royal ? ' „ 348
'What, w ye still that same crown-scandalous ? ' „ 390
this maid Might w as fair a jewel as is on earth, Lancelot and E. 240
That he should w her favour at the tilt. „ 358 will you w My favour at this tourney ? ' „ 361
Well, I will w it : fetch it out to me : „ 371
One rose, a rose, to gather and to w, Pelleas and E. 406
Why ye not w on arm, or neck, or zone Last Tournament 36
Lancelot won, methought, for thee to w.' „ 38
W black and white, and be a nun like you, Guinevere 677
And so w out in almsdeed and in prayer „ 687
Robed in those robes of light I must not w, Lover's Tale i 671 pluck from this true breast the locket that I w, The Flight 33
Envy w's the mask of Love, Locksley H., Sixty 109
I should w my crown entire Helen's Tower 9 you, that w a wreath of sweeter bay, Poets and their B. 7
I myself Am half afraid to w it. The Ring 472 and w's the leper's weed ? Happy 10
Wear'd (spent) I w it o' liquor, I did. North. Cobbler 32
Wearied Is w of the rolling hours. L. C. V. de Vere 60
Smoothing the w mind : Leonine Eleg. 14
And closing eaves of w eyes I sleep till dusk In Mem. lxvii 11
I felt Thy manhood thro' that w lance of thine. Gareth and L. 1266 and Balin's horse Was w to the death, Balin and Balan 561
And w out made for the couch and slept, Merlin and V. 736

Wearied (continued) Wounded and w needs must he be near. Lancelot and E. 538
Rode with his diamond, w of the quest, .. 616
To seek him, and had w of the search. .. 631 all w of the quest Leapt on his horse, .. 703
'Alas,' he said, 'your ride hath w you. „ 831
I am w of our city, son, Ancient Sage 15
And w of Autocrats, Anarchs, and Slaves, The Dreamer 10
Wearier Thro' weary and yet ever w hours, Aylmer's Field 828
Wearieth Gaiety without eclipse, W me, Lilian 21
Weariness all things else have rest from w ? Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 14
As all but empty heart and w Geraint and E. 652 Settles, till one could yield for w : Merlin and V. 372 wan day Went glooming down in wet and w : Last Tournament 215 Toil and ineffable w, faltering hopes of relief, Def. of Lucknow 90 those three sweet Italian words, became a w. The Ring 407
He, all but deaf thro' age and w, St. Telemachus 41
Wearing And w on my swarthy brows The garland Kate 23
W the rose of womanhood. Two Voices 417
W the light yoke of that Lord of love, Aylmer's Field 708
W his wisdom lightly, like the fruit A Dedication 12
w all that weight Of learning lightly In Mem., Con. 39
W the white flower of a blameless life, . Ded. of Idylls 25
w neither hunting-dress Nor weapon, Marr. of Geraint 165 in w mine Needs must be lesser likelihood, Lancelot and E. 366 damsel, w this unsunny face To him who won Pelleas and E. 180
And w but a holly-spray for crest, Last Tournament 172
I, w but the garland of a day, To Dante 6 Weary (adj.) (See also Heart-weary) O w life ! O w death ! Supp. Confessions 188
w with a finger's touch Those writhed limbs Clear-headed friend 22
From brawling storms, From w wind, Ode to Memory 113
SLOW sail'd the w mariners and saw, Sea-Fairies 1
Ever the w wind went on, Dying Swan 9
A w, w way I go, Oriana. Oriana 89
MY life is full of w days, My life is full 1
Which some green Christmas crams with w bones. Wan Sculptor 14
And by the moon the reaper w, L. of Shalott i 33 give me grace To help me of my w load.' Mariana in the S. 30
With w sameness in the rhymes, Miller's D. 70 Breathing like one that hath a w dream. Lotos-Eaters 6 but evermore Most w seem'd the sea, w the oar, W the wandering fields of barren foam. .. 41 Resting w limbs at last on beds of asphodel. .. C. S. 125
While my stiff spine can hold my w head, St. S. Stylites 43
Twice ten long w years to this, „ 90 since I heard him make reply Is many a w hour ; Talking Oak 26
It may be my lord is w, Locksley Hall 53
And wherefore did he go this w way, Enoch Arden 296
But after scaling half the w down, „ 372 and beats out his w life. .. 730 Beating it in upon his w brain, „ 796 all about the fields you caught His w daylong chirping, The Brook 53
Thro' w and yet ever wearier hours, Aylmer's Field 828
For many w moons before we came, Princess iii 319
Panted from w sides 'King, you are free ! „ v 24
When ill and w, alone and cold, The Daisy 96
And o'er a w sultry land, Will 17
That it makes one w to hear.' The Islet 29
With w steps I loiter on, In Mem. xxxviii 1
She is w of dance and play.' Maud I xvii 22
However w, a spark of will Not to be trampled out. „ II ii 56
That has been in a w world my one thing bright ; „ III vi 17 and thy good horse And thou are w ; Gareth and L. 1265
My lord is w with the fight before, Geraint and E. 133
Leave me to-night : I am w to the death.' „ 358
I am w of her.' Merlin and V. 838
Now w of my service and devoir, Lancelot and E. 118 but so w were his limbs, that he, Pelleas and E. 513 at once The w steed of Pelleas floundering „ 574
The white light of the w moon above, Lover's Tale i 640
But many w moons I lived alone— „ ii 2
Over all this w world of ours, Sisters (E. and E.) 12
But at length we began to be w, V. of Maeldune 91
O w was I of the travel, „ 129

Weary (adj.) (continued) There was the Scotsman W of war. Batt. of Brunanburh 36
Old and w, But eager to follow, Merlin and the G. 100 Good, I am never w painting you. Romney's R. 3
O w one, has it begun? The Dreamer 26
Weary (s) And the wicked cease from troubling, and the w are at rest. May Queen, Con. 60
Let the w be comforted, On Jub. Q. Victoria 34 Weary (verb) Nor could I w, heart or limb, In Mem. xxv 9 till the ear Wearies to hear it, Lancelot and E. 898
Wearying And w in a land of sand and thorns. Holy Grail 420 Gone thy tender-natured mother, w to be left alone, Locksley H., Sixty 57
Weasel the thin w there Follows the mouse, Aylmer's Field 852 nail me like a w on a grange For warning: Princess ii 205 deems it carrion of some woodland thing, Or shrew, or w, Gareth and L. 749 Weather (adj.) huge sea-castles heaving upon the w bow. The Revenge 24
Weather (s) Careless both of wind and w, Rosalind 7
All in the blue unclouded w L. of Shalott iii 19
And it was windy w. (repeat) The Goose 4, 40
There must be stormy w; Will Water. 54
His brothers of the w stood Stock-still „ 135
Will bring fair w yet to all of us. Enoch Arden 191 Passing with the w, Window, Spring 6 water began to heave and the w to moan, The Revenge 113 Nasty, casselty w! Church-warden, etc. 2
Weather-beaten Denying not these w-b limbs St. S. Stylites 19
His large gray eyes and w-b face Enoch Arden 70
Weathercock'd Whose blazing wyvern w the spire, Aylmer's Field 17
Weather'd many a rough sea had he w in her! Enoch Arden 135
Weave There she w's by night and day L. of Shalott ii 1
To w the mirror's magic sights, „ 29
Than any wreath that man can w him. Ode on Well. 277
With trembling fingers did we w In Mem. xxx 1
And w their petty cells and die. „ l 12
Again at Christmas did we w „ lxxviii 1
She meant to w me a snare Maud I vi 25
Weaver See Cloud-weaver
Weaveth And so she w steadily, L. of Shalott ii 7
Weaving w over That various wilderness Lover's Tale i 418 Web A magic w with colours gay. L. of Shalott ii 2 in her w she still delights To weave „ 28
She left the w, she left the loom, „ iii 37
Out flew the w and floated wide; „ 42 and takes the flood With swarthy w's. M. d'Arthur 269
Who wove coarse w's to snare her purity, Aylmer's Field 780
A w is wov'n across the sky; In Mem. iii 6
A cloth of roughest w, and cast it down, Gareth and L. 683 Caught in a great old tyrant spider's w, Merlin and V. 259 and takes the flood With swarthy w's. Pass. of Arthur 437
Wed young spirit present When first she is w; Ode to Memory 74
Came two young lovers lately w; L. of Shalott ii 34
And I was young—too young to w: Miller's D. 141 nor w Raw Haste, half-sister to Delay. Love thou thy land 95
he woo'd and w A labourer's daughter, Dora 39
But take it—earnest w with sport, Day-Dm., Ep. 11
They two will w the morrow morn: Lady Clare 7
'To-morrow he w's with me.' „ 16
We two will w to-morrow morn, „ 87
That she wore when she was w.' L. of Burleigh 96
In the dress that she was w in, „ 99
W whom thou wilt, but I am sick of Time, Come not, when, etc. 9
It is long before you w. Vision of Sin 70
So these were w, and merrily rang the bells, (repeat) Enoch Arden 80, 511
To w the man so dear to all of them „ 484
'There is no reason why we should not w.' „ 508
So you will w me, let it be at once.' „ 510
Merrily rang the bells and they were w „ 512 when the days drew nigh that I should w, Princess i 41 certain, would not w. „ 50
we purposed with ourself Never to w. „ ii 61
I w with thee! I bound by precontract „ iv 541
Besides, the woman w is not as we, „ v 462

Wed (continued) She needs must w him for her own good name; Princess vii 74
On the day that follow'd the day she was w, The Islet 4
Thought leapt out to w with Thought Ere Thought could w itself with Speech; In Mem. xxiii 15
But lives to w an equal mind; „ lxii 8
And talk of others that are w, „ Con. 98 Enforced she was to w him in her tears, Com. of Arthur 204 he needs Must w that other, whom no man desired, Gareth and L. 109 break her will, and make her w with him: „ 617 whom he trusts to overthrow, Then w, with glory: but she will not w Save whom she loveth, „ 621
And live to w with her whom first you love: But ere you w with any, bring your bride, Marr. of Geraint 227 when it w's with manhood, makes a man. Geraint and E. 868
'Had I chosen to w, I had been wedded earlier, Lancelot and E. 934 W thou our Lady, and rule over us, Holy Grail 605 but could I w her Loving the other? Sisters (E. and E.) 167 and w's me to my grave. The Flight 20 not Love but Hate that w's a bride against her will; „ 32 W him! I will not w him, „ 55 when Hubert w's in you The heart of Love, The Ring 61
So w thee with my soul, Prog. of Spring 92
W to the melody, Sang thro' the world; Merlin and the G. 97
Wedded (adj. and part.) (See also New-wedded, Proxy-wedded)
So that my vigour, w to thy blood, Œnone 161
Dear is the memory of our w lives, Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 96
Wherever Thought hath w Fact. Love thou thy land 52
there Unclasp'd the w eagles of her belt, Godiva 43 Lucilia, w to Lucretius, found Her master cold; Lucretius 1 but she says (God help her) she was w to a fool; Princess iii 83
I had been w wife, I knew mankind, „ vi 327
So Willy and I were w: I wore a lilac gown; Grandmother 57
Ay is the song of the w spheres, Window, No Answer 7
Was w with a winsome wife, Ygerne: Com. of Arthur 188
And there be w with all ceremony. Marr. of Geraint 608
They twain were w with all ceremony. „ 839
Seeing that ye are w to a man, Geraint and E. 425
I had been w earlier, sweet Elaine: Lancelot and E. 935
And one had w her, and he was dead, Holy Grail 586 until himself had thought He loved her also, w easily, Last Tournament 402
'He has w her,' she said, Not said, but hiss'd it: „ 619
but Lionel and the girl Were w, Lover's Tale iv 14
'get them w' would he say. Sisters (E. and E.) 57 Wealth with his wines and his w harlots; Vastness 19
'I take thee Muriel for my w wife'— The Ring 377
Wedded (verb) and in one month They w her to sixty thousand pounds, Edwin Morris 126
Who w with a nobleman from thence: Princess i 77 who lay Among the ashes and w the King's son.' Gareth and L. 904 Says that Sir Gareth w Lyonors, „ 1428
Sir Valence w with an outland dame: Merlin and V. 714
'Queen, she would not be content Save that I w her, Lancelot and E. 1315
More specially were he, she w, poor, „ 1321
W her? Fought in her father's battles? Last Tournament 591
And all this throve before I w thee, Guinevere 484
Wedged W themselves in between horse and horse, Heavy Brigade 22
Wedlock welded in one love Than pairs of w; Princess vi 254
The boy was born in w, First Quarrel 6 Weeäk (week) But 'e reäds wonn sarmin a w, N. Farmer, O. S. 28 for thou'll be twenty to w. „ N. S. 7
Weed (dress) In words, like w's, I'll wrap me o'er, In Mem. v 9
But stagnates in the w's of sloth: „ xxvii 11
This silken rag, this beggar woman's w; Geraint and E. 680
And wears the leper's w? Happy 10
Weed (plant) (See also Willow-weed) creeping mosses and clambering w's, Dying Swan 36
At least, not rotting like a w, Two Voices 142
Crouch'd fawning in the w. Œnone 201
A spacious garden full of flowering w's, To ——, With Pal. of Art 4
Better to me the meanest w That blows Amphion 93
Athwart the smoke of burning w's. Princess vii 358
The people said, a w. The Flower 4

Weed (plant) (continued) again the people Call it but a w. The Flower 24
Is dim, or will be dim, with w's: In Mem. lxxiii 10 hurl'd it from him Among the forest w's, Balin and Balan 542
'I once was looking for a magic w, Merlin and V. 471
Foregoing all her sweetness, like a w. Holy Grail 623
Half overtrailed with a wanton w, Lover's Tale i 525
Weed (verb) brace Of twins may w her of her folly. Princess v 464
As I will w this land before I go. Geraint and E. 907 as now Men w the white horse on the Berkshire hills „ 936
Weeded W and worn the ancient thatch Mariana 7
Weeding Edyrn has done it, w all his heart Geraint and E. 906
Weedy the wind Still westward, and the w seas— Columbus 72
Week (See also Weeäk) whole w's and months, and early and late, The Sisters 10
For many w's about my loins I wore St. S. Stylites 63
Enoch would hold possession for a w: Enoch Arden 27
There yet were many w's before she sail'd, „ 124
In that same w when Annie buried it, „ 271
the w Before I parted with poor Edmund; The Brook 77
They lost their w's; Princess, Pro. 162 harangue The fresh arrivals of the w before; „ ii 96
she had nursed me there from w to w: „ vii 239
'Here's a leg for a babe of a w!' Grandmother 11
And the parson made it his text that w, „ 29
Willy had not been down to the farm for a w and a day; „ 33
'A w hence, a w hence.' Window, When 9
W after w: the days go by: In Mem. xvii 7
He bears the burthen of the w's „ lxxx 11
Last w came one to the county town, Maud I x 37
He may stay for a year who has gone for a w: „ xvi 6
But in the w's that follow'd, Gareth and L. 526
And all that w was old Caerleon gay, Marr. of Geraint 837 many w's a troop of carrion crows Hung Merlin and V. 598 for many a w Hid from the wide world's rumour Lancelot and E. 521 many among us many a w Fasted and pray'd Holy Grail 131 once, A w beyond, while walking on the walls Pelleas and E. 225 after this, a w beyond, again She call'd them, „ 261 Queen abode For many a w, unknown, Guinevere 147 days will grow to w's, the w's to months, „ 624 adding, with a smile, The first for many w's— Lover's Tale iv 281
'I ha' six w's' work, little wife, First Quarrel 45
I ha' six w's' work in Jersey „ 88 then two w's—no more—she join'd, Sisters (E. and E.) 271 for ten long w's I tried Your table of Pythagoras, To E. Fitzgerald 14 all but yours—A w betwixt— The Ring 249
But after ten slow w's her fix'd intent, „ 345
after a w—no more—A stranger as welcome Charity 25
Weep (See also Blubber'd) Prythee w, May Lilian! (repeat) Lilian 19, 25
W on: beyond his object Love can last: His object lives: more cause to w have I: Wan Sculptor 5
For while the tender service made thee w, The Bridesmaid 10
Who'll w for thy deficiency? Two Voices 39
Thou canst not think, but thou wilt w. „ 51
Nay, nay, you must not w, May Queen, N. Y's. E. 35 in the stream the long-leaved flowers w, Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 10
I will not tell you not to w. To J. S. 36
'W, weeping dulls the inward pain.' „ 40
Let her will Be done—to w or not to w. „ 44
The vapours w their burthen to the ground, Tithonus 2 to the tears that thou wilt w. Locksley Hall 82 at this The little wife would w for company, Enoch Arden 34
Yes, as the dead we w for testify— Aylmer's Field 747 Wiser to w a true occasion lost, Princess iv 68
'She must w or she will die.' „ vi 4
kiss her; take her hand, she w's: „ 225
For this, for all, we w our thanks to thee! Ode Inter. Exhib. 9
I cannot w for Willy, nor can I w for the rest; Grandmother 19
For Willy I cannot w, „ 67
I could not w—my own time seem'd so near. „ 72
But how can I w for Willy, „ 102
Which w a loss for ever new, In Mem. xiii 5
Which w the comrade of my choice, „ 9
And come, whatever loves to w, „ xviii 11
And w the fulness from the mind: „ xx 6
Weep (continued) At night she w's, 'How vain am I! In Mem. lx 15
So mayst thou watch me where I w, „ lxiii 9
He loves her yet, she will not w, „ xcvii 18 not as one that w's I come once more; „ cxix 2
Shall I w if a Poland fall? Maud I iv 46
Till I well could w for a time so sordid and mean, „ v 17
And the white rose w's, 'She is late;' „ xxii 64
There to w, and w, and w My whole soul out „ II iv 97
Yet now I could even w to think of it; „ v 86 a light shall darken, and many shall w „ III vi 43 strong passion in her made her w Marr. of Geraint 110 said to his own heart, 'She w's for me': (repeat) Geraint and E. 587, 590 God's curse, it makes me mad to see you w. „ 616 were I dead who is it would w for me? „ 618
she did not w, But o'er her meek eyes „ 768
When sick at heart, when rather we should w. Balan and Balan 498
If the wolf spare me, w my life away, Merlin and V. 885 burst away To w and wail in secret; Lancelot and E. 1245
'Why w ye?' 'Lord,' she said, Last Tournament 494
'Yet w not thou, lest, if thy mate return, „ 499
Sing, and unbind my heart that I may w.' Guinevere 166
'O pray you, noble lady, w no more; „ 184
they cannot w behind a cloud: „ 207
And w for her who drew him to his doom.' „ 348
What had she done to w? Why should she w? Lover's Tale i 736
She told me all her love: she shall not w. „ 742
When I beheld her w so ruefully; „ 773
I felt myself ready to w For I knew not what, The Wreck 51 and there I began to w, „ 93
For all that laugh, and all that w Ancient Sage 187 let me w my fill once more, and cry myself to rest! The Flight 6 Mother w's At that white funeral of the single life, To Prin. Beatrice 8
Weepest WAN sculptor, w thou to take the cast Wan Sculptor 1
Weeping And w then she made her moan, Mariana in the S. 93
And watch'd by w queens. Palace of Art 108 white-eyed phantasms w tears of blood, „ 239
'Weep, w dulls the inward pain.' To J. S. 40 or fruits and cream Served in the w elm; Gardener's D. 195
w, 'I have loved thee long.' Locksley Hall 30 Bitterly w I turn'd away: (repeat) Edward Gray 6, 34
W, w late and early, L. of Burleigh 89 and departed w for him; Enoch Arden 246
Then Annie w answer'd 'I am bound.' „ 451 later in the night Had come on Psyche w: Princess v 50
With a nation w, and breaking on my rest? Ode on Well. 82
Within was w for thee: G. of Swainston 2
And linger w on the marge, In Mem. xii 12
To hear her w by his grave? „ xxxi 4
A mother w, and I hear her say, Com. of Arthur 334 woman w, 'Nay, my lord, The field was pleasant Gareth and L. 341
W for some gay knight in Arthur's hall.' Marr. of Geraint 118
A woman w for her murder'd mate Geraint and E. 522 suddenly she took To bitter w like a beaten child, A long, long w, not consolable. Merlin and V. 855 one lone woman, w near a cross, Stay'd him. Last Tournament 493 sat There in the holy house at Almesbury W, Guinevere 3
There kiss'd, and parted w: „ 125
she look'd and saw The novice, w, „ 664 beheld the holy nuns All round her, w; „ 667
he was loud in w and in praise Of her, Lover's Tale ii 87
He left us w in the woods; The Flight 37 and w scarce could see; Happy 54
Weigh before the heavy clod W's on me, Supp. Confessions 185 lightly w's With thee unto the love Ode to Memory 90
W heavy on my eyelids: let me die. Œnone 244 flash the lightnings, w the Sun. Locksley Hall 186 w Whether thou wilt not with thy damsel Gareth and L. 880
w your sorrows with our lord the King's, Guinevere 191 Weigh'd Why are we w upon with heaviness, Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 12 heavy mist of tears, that w Upon my brain, Love and Duty 43
But a trouble w upon her, L. of Burleigh 77 why, the causes w, Fatherly fears— Princess v 215
w the necks Of dragons clinging to the crazy walls, Holy Grail 346 while I w thy heart with one Too wholly true Guinevere 540
the effect w seas upon my head Lover's Tale i 660

Weigh'd (continued) The whole land w him down as Ætna does Lover's Tale iv 17
—his loss W on him yet— „ 275 single piece W nigh four thousand Castillanos—so They tell me—w him down into the abysm— Columbus 136
Weighest Thou w heavy on the heart within, Œnone 243
Weighing And w find them less ; Guinevere 192
Weight O happy earth, how canst thou bear my w ? Œnone 237
Make broad thy shoulders to receive my w, M. d'Arthur 164 will have w to drag thee down. Locksley Hall 48
This w and size, this heart and eyes, Sir Galahad 71
Is it the w of that half-crown, Will Water. 155
Appraised his w and fondled father-like, Enoch Arden 154 dead w of the dead leaf bore it down : „ 678
The w of all the hopes of half the world, Princess iv 184
Caryatids, lifted up A w of emblem, „ 202 their heavy hands, The w of destiny : „ 554
When the man wants w, the woman takes it up, „ v 444
This nightmare w of gratitude, „ vi 300
Then us they lifted up, dead w's, „ 348
Once the w and fate of Europe hung. Ode on Well. 240 these solid stars, this w of body and limb, High. Pantheism 5
A w of nerves without a mind, In Mem. xii 7
I loved the w I had to bear, „ xxv 7
And falling with my w of cares „ lv 14
Can hang no w upon my heart „ lxiii 3 wearing all that w Of learning lightly „ Con. 39
By a shuffled step, by a dead w trail'd, Maud I i 14
The lighter by the loss of his w ; „ xvi 2
By the loss of that dead w, „ xix 99
When w is added only grain by grain, Marr. of Geraint 526
Make broad thy shoulders to receive my w, Pass. of Arthur 332
The w as if of age upon my limbs, Lover's Tale i 125 her w Shrank in my grasp, „ ii 202 commission one of w and worth To judge Columbus 124
w of war Rides on those ringing axles ! Tiresias 92 noise of falling w's that never fell, The Ring 410 Less w now for the ladder-of-heaven By an Evolution. 12 and the w that dragg'd at my hand ; Bandit's Death 39
Weighted cognizance on shield W it down, Balin and Balan 225
Weightier his mind Half buried in some w argument, Lucretius 9
Weird With a w bright eye, sweating and trembling, Aylmer's Field 585 Myself too had w seizures, Heaven knows what : Princess i 14
' what, if these w seizures come Upon you „ 82 strange seizure came Upon me, the w vision of our house : „ iii 184 came On a sudden the w seizure and the doubt : „ iv 560
And like a flash the w affection came : „ v 477
Deeper than those w doubts could reach me, „ vii 51
Were Arthur's wars in w devices done, Gareth and L. 225 past The w white gate, and paused without, „ 663
That w yell, Unearthlier than all shriek of bird Balin and Balan 544
Moreover, that w legend of his birth, Last Tournament 669
Then, ere that last w battle in the west, Pass. of Arthur 29
Like this last, dim, w battle of the west. „ 94
And therewithal came on him the w rhyme, „ 444
And something w and wild about it all : Lover's Tale iv 224
W Titan by thy winter weight of years To Victor Hugo 7 since The key to that w casket, which for thee Ancient Sage 254 then laugh'd ' the ring is w.' And w and worn and wizard-like was he. ' Why w ? ' I ask'd him ; The Ring 195
W whispers, bells that rang without a hand, „ 411
Weirdly-sculptured And past beneath the w-s gates Lancelot and E. 844
Welcome (inter. and adj.) Should come most w, seeing men, Œnone 129
Each enter'd like a w guest. Two Voices 411
W, fellow-citizens, Vision of Sin 173
From Mizpeh's tower'd gate with w light, D. of F. Women 199
But she—you will be w—O, come in ! ' The Brook 228
lastly there At Christmas ; ever w at the Hall, Aylmer's Field 114 strangers at my hearth Not w, Lucretius 159
Which brings no more a w guest In Mem. xxix 5
And w Russian flower, a people's pride, W. to Marie Alex. 6
Cried to me climbing, ' W, Percivale ! Holy Grail 425
Cold, but as w as free airs of heaven Sisters (E. and E.) 197 W, w with one voice ! Open. I. and C. Exhib. 1 says to tha ' keeap 'em, an' w ' Church-warden, etc. 36

Welcome (inter. and adj.) (continued) A stranger as w as Satan— Charity 26
Welcome (s) And sweet shall your w be : Sea-Fairies 31
A w mix'd with sighs. Talking Oak 212
Farewell, like endless w, lived and died. Love and Duty 68 with a frolic w took The thunder and the sunshine, Ulysses 47
To greet his hearty w heartily ; Enoch Arden 350
' We give you w : not without redound Princess ii 42 glowing full-faced w, she Began to address us, „ 183
Less w find among us, if you came Among us, „ ii 354
W, farewell, and w for the year To follow : „ Con. 95
O give him w, this is he Worthy Ode on Well. 92 all of us Danes in our w of thee, W. to Alexandra 4
We are each all Dane in our w of thee, „ 33
Yet one lay-hearth would give you w To F. D. Maurice 11
They should speak to me not without a w, Hendecasyllabics 11
Received and gave him w there ; In Mem. lxxxv 24
An iron w when they rise : „ xc 8 means of goodly w, flesh and wine. Marr. of Geraint 387 Embraced her with all w as a friend, „ 834
In the mid-warmth of w and graspt hand, Geraint and E. 280
Sweet-voiced, a song of w, Balin and Balan 86
Witness their flowery w. „ 145
I bid the stranger w. Merlin and V. 270 roar An ocean-sounding w to one knight, Last Tournament 168 and loud leagues of man And w ! To the Queen ii 10 a light Of smiling w round her lips— Lover's Tale iii 46 and a noise of w at the doors— Sisters (E. and E.) 149 made the rhymes, That miss'd his living w, Tiresias 197 and flash'd into frolic of song And w ; Demeter and P. 13 where the loyal bells Clash w— The Ring 483
Many, many w's, February fair-maid, (repeat) Snowdrop 1, 9
Welcome (verb) W her, thunders of fort and of fleet !
W her, thundering cheer of the street ! W her, all things youthful and sweet, W. to Alexandra 6
W her, w her, all that is ours ! „ 13
Roar as the sea when he w's the land, And w her,
w the land's desire, „ 24
And all the gentle court will w me, Lancelot and E. 1060
Up leaps the lark, gone wild to w her, Prog. of Spring 14
Welcomed Not beat him back, but w him Marr. of Geraint 748
Welded Two women faster w in one love Princess vi 253
' Sons, be w each and all, Open. I. and C. Exhib. 36 Welfare How much their w is a passion to us. Princess iii 281
' A w in thine eye reproves Our fear Holy Grail 726
In your w we rejoice, Open. I. and C. Exhib. 2
Well (adj. and adv.) Nor would I now be w, mother, May Queen, Con. 19
A pretty face is w, and this is w, Edwin Morris 45
'Tis w ; 'tis something ; we may stand In Mem. xviii 1
O true and tried, so w and long, „ Con. 1
O father ! O God ! was it w ?— Maud I i 6
Let all be w, be w. „ xviii 85
He rested w content that all was w. Geraint and E. 952
Speak, Lancelot, thou art silent : is it w ? ' Last Tournament 107
Sir Lancelot answer'd, ' It is w : „ 108
Else, for the King has will'd it, it is w.' „ 111
King Turn'd to him saying, ' Is it then so w ? „ 114 Election, Election and Reprobation—it's all very w. Rizpah 73 but I be maäin glad to seeä tha sa 'arty an' w. North. Cobbler 2 an' I knaws, as knaws tha sa w, „ 65
And, Robby, I niver 'a liked tha sa w, Spinster's S's. 29 or I mowt 'a liked tha sa w. „ 42 is it w to wish you joy ? Is it w that while we range with Science, Locksley H., Sixty 216 all's w that ends w, (repeat) The Dreamer 19, 23, 27, 32 Well (s) (See also Castle-well, Dropping-wells) As a Naiad in a w, Looking at the set of day. Adeline 16
Come from the w's where he did lie. Two Voices 9
Fresh as the foam, new-bathed in Paphian w's, Œnone 175 rope that haled the buckets from the w, St. S. Stylites 64 Fairer than Rachel by the palmy w, Aylmer's Field 679 fawn Came flying while you sat beside the w ? Princess ii 271
Or by denial flush her babbling w's „ v 334
Than if with thee the roaring w's In Mem. x 17
Or dive below the w's of Death ? „ cviii 8

Well (s) (continued) why sat ye by the w ?' Balin and Balan 50 Methought that if we sat beside the w, „ 65 bottom of the w, Where Truth is hidden. Merlin and V. 47
And when we halted at that other w, „ 280
Until they vanish'd by the fairy w „ 428 and cry 'Laugh, little w !' „ 431 Blaze by the rushing brook or silent w. Guinevere 400 yet one glittering foot disturb'd The lucid w ; Tiresias 42 each, his urn In his own w, draw solace „ 89 bucket from the w Along the line, To Mary Boyle 39
Well (verb) Ancient founts of inspiration w thro' all my fancy yet. Locksley Hall 188
Well-attemper'd A man of w-a frame. Ode on Well. 74
Well-beloved We leave the w-b place In Mem. cii 1
Well-content Philip rested with her w-c ; Enoch Arden 376
Well-contented Came voices of the w-c doves. Gardener's D. 89
Well-gotten Your father has wealth w-g, Maud I iv 18
Well-heads From old w-h of haunted rills, Eleänore 16
Well-known Not by the w-k stream and rustic spire. The Brook 188 from prime youth W-k well-loved. Lover's Tale ii 176 Well-loved W-l of me, discerning to fulfil Ulysses 35 from prime youth Well-known w-l. Lover's Tale ii 176
Well-moulded quick brunette, w-m, falcon-eyed, Princess ii 106
Well-oil'd I was courteous, every phrase w-o, „ iii 133
Well-pleased pass, W-p, from room to room. Palace of Art 56 and home w-p we went. Princess, Con. 118
Well-practised An eye w-p in nature, Maud I iv 38
Well-stricken crying, 'W-s, kitchen-knave !' Gareth and L. 970
Well-to-do Annie—for I am rich and w-t-d. Enoch Arden 311
I am w-t-d—no kin, no care, „ 418
Well-won Far-famed for w-w enterprise, Kate 22
Well-worn Down which a w-w pathway courted us Gardener's D. 109
Welsh Had he God's word in W He might be kindlier : Sir J. Oldcastle 22
Welshman war-workers who Harried the W, Batt. of Brunanburh 122
Welter Happier are those that w in their sin, Holy Grail 770
Welter'd (See also Far-welter'd) Down w thro' the dark ever and ever. Lover's Tale ii 208
Weltering Warriors over the W waters Batt. of Brunanburh 48
Wench plump-arm'd Ostleress and a stable w Princess i 226
Wheer the poor w drowndid hersen, Spinster's S's. 25
Wending thither w there that night they bode. Lancelot and E. 412 Went (See also Wint) When I w forth in quest of truth, Supp. Confessions 141 Ever the weary wind w on, And took the reed-tops as it w. Dying Swan 9
The bitter arrow w aside, Oriana 37
The false, false arrow w aside, „ 39
Yet in the whirling dances as we w, The form, the form 5 funeral, with plumes and lights And music, w to Camelot : L. of Shalott ii 32
And forth into the fields I w, Two Voices 448 song, That w and came a thousand times. Miller's D. 72
And down I w to fetch my bride : „ 145
When, arm in arm, we w along, „ 163
From my swift blood that w and came Fatima 16
all my heart W forth to embrace him Œnone 63
She died : she w to burning flame : The Sisters 7
For pastime, ere you w to town. L. C. V. de Vere 4
The blessed music w that way my soul May Queen, Con. 42 she w along From Mizpeh's tower'd gate D. of F. Women 198
'And I w mourning, 'No fair Hebrew boy „ 213
One w, who never hath return'd. To J. S. 20 w Sir Bedivere the second time Across the ridge, M. d'Arthur 82
And lightly w the other to the King. „ 147
I and Eustace from the city w Gardener's D. 2
And up we rose, and on the spur we w. „ 32
the day we w To see her. „ 75
And on we w ; but ere an hour had pass'd, „ 107
Ah, happy shade—and still w wavering down, „ 132
So home we w, and all the livelong way „ 167
So home I w, but could not sleep for joy, „ 174
Distilling odours on me as they w „ 187
Love with knit brows w by, „ 245 days w on, and there was born a boy To William ; Dora 48
Then Dora w to Mary. „ 56
Dora took the child, and w her way „ 71

Went (continued) Then Dora w to Mary's house, Dora 110 as years W forward, Mary took another mate ; „ 171 and how The races w, and who would rent the hall : Audley Court 31
And sick of home w overseas for change. Walk. to the Mail 24
I w and came ; Her voice fled always Edwin Morris 66
She w—and in one month They wedded her „ 125 gloomy brewer's soul W by me, like a stork : Talking Oak 56
And on the roof she w, „ 114 from yonder ivied casement, ere I w to rest, Locksley Hall 7
I w thro' many wayward moods Day-Dm., Pro. 6 far across the hills they w In that new world „ Depart. 3
she w With all her bees behind her : Amphion 35 Go, therefore, thou ! thy betters w Will Water. 185
'Who was this that w from thee ?' Lady Clare 14
She w by dale, and she w by down, „ 59
Stately, lightly, w she Norward, The Captain 35
Crashing w the boom, „ 44
And waves of shadow w over the wheat, Poet's Song 4 great and small, W nutting to the hazels. Enoch Arden 64 caught His bundle, waved his hand, and w his way. „ 238 therefore w, Past thro' the solitary room „ 276
For was not Annie with them ? and they w. „ 371
While yet she w about her household ways, „ 453 sunny and rainy seasons came and w „ 623
Down to the pool and narrow wharf he w, „ 690
All down the long and narrow street he w „ 795
For in I w, and call'd old Philip out The Brook 120 lanes Of his wheat-suburb, babbling as he w. „ 123 shook the house, and like a storm he w. Aylmer's Field 216 crashing with long echoes thro' the land, W Leolin ; „ 339
So Leolin w ; and as we task ourselves „ 432
w Hating his own lean heart and miserable. „ 525
But passionately restless came and w, „ 546
Then Averill w and gazed upon his death. „ 599
Whose shame is that, if he w hence with shame ? „ 718
The childless mother w to seek her child ; „ 829 slept, woke, and w the next, The Sabbath, Sea Dreams 18
W further, fool ! and trusted him with all, „ 76 and with God-bless-you w. „ 160 for I had one That altogether w to music ? „ 204
W both to make your dream : „ 254
We w (I kept the book and had my finger in it) Princess, Pro. 52 so that sport W hand in hand with Science ; „ 80 a Voice W with it, 'Follow, follow, „ i 100
As thro' the land at eve we w, „ ii 1
(for still My mother w revolving on the word) „ iii 54
Up w the hush'd amaze of hand and eye. „ 138
Then summon'd to the porch we w. „ 178
This w by As strangely as it came, „ iv 568 three times he w : The first, he blew and blew, „ v 335
With message and defiance, w and came ; „ 370 there w up a great cry, The Prince is slain. „ vi 25 by them w The enamour'd air sighing, „ 78
W sorrowing in a pause I dared not break ; „ vii 249
So I and some w out to these : „ Con. 39
But we w back to the Abbey, „ 106 and home well-pleased we w. „ 118 told us all That England's honest censure w too far ; Third of Feb. 2
I wonder he w so young. Grandmother 14 made me a mocking curtsey and w. „ 46
For Harry w at sixty, „ 86
An' I w wheer munny war : N. Farmer, N. S. 21
To and fro they w Thro' my garden-bower, The Flower 5
The Priest w out by heath and hill ; The Victim 29
And I w down into the quay, In Mem. xiv 3
From April on to April w, „ xxii 7
In which we w thro' summer France. „ lxxi 4
And bats w round in fragrant skies, „ xcv 9 in the house light after light W out, „ 20
On that last night before we w „ ciii 1
Up the side I w, And fell in silence „ 43 they w and came, Remade the blood „ Con. 10
I know the way she w Maud I xii 21
And so that he find what he w to seek, „ xvi 3
And the soul of the rose w into my blood, „ xxii 33

Went (continued) as here and there that war W swaying; Com. of Arthur 107
Gawain w, and breaking into song Sprang out, „ 320
'How he w down,' said Gareth, 'as a false knight Gareth and L. 5
Gareth w, and hovering round her chair „ 33
Before the wakeful mother heard him, w. „ 180
Then those who w with Gareth were amazed, „ 197
W sliding down so easily, and fell, „ 1224
a page Who came and w, and still reported „ 1338
O Prince, I w for Lancelot first, „ 1343
W sweating underneath a sack of corn, Marr. of Geraint 263
And after w her way across the bridge, „ 383 lords and ladies of the high court w „ 662
W Yniol thro' the town, „ 693
Yniol with that hard message w; „ 763
Then she w back some paces of return, Geraint and E. 70
'Yea, my kind lord,' said the glad youth, and w, „ 241
And told them of a chamber, and they w; „ 261 and then W slipping down horrible precipices, „ 379
W Enid with her sullen follower on. „ 440
'Enough,' he said, 'I follow,' and they w. „ 816
But w apart with Edyrn, whom he held „ 881 blameless King w forth and cast his eyes „ 932
he arm'd himself and w, Balin and Balan 22
So Balan warn'd, and w; Balin remain'd: „ 153
Fixt in her will, and so the seasons w. Merlin and V. 188 that old man W back to his old wild, „ 649 two fair babes, and w to distant lands; „ 707
Sir Lancelot w ambassador, at first, „ 774 her hand half-clench'd W faltering sideways downward „ 850
Her eyes and neck glittering w and came; „ 960
King Glanced first at him, then her, and w his way. Lancelot and E. 95
That if I w and if I fought and won it „ 216
So all in wrath he got to horse and w; „ 563 men w down before his spear at a touch, „ 578
So that he w sore wounded from the field: „ 600 and w To all the winds?' „ 657 and carolling as he w A true-love ballad, „ 704 the simple maid W half the night repeating, „ 899
Lancelot, who coldly w, nor bad me one: „ 1057
Oar'd by the dumb, w upward with the flood— „ 1154 slowly w The marshall'd Order of their Table Round, „ 1331 he w, And at the inrunning of a little brook „ 1387 when the dead W wandering o'er Moriah— Holy Grail 50
King arose and w To smoke the scandalous hive „ 213
And up I w and touch'd him, and he, too, „ 418
That smote itself into the bread, and w; „ 467
Then, when the day began to wane, we w. „ 488
all my heart W after her with longing: „ 583
And forth I w, and while I yearn'd and strove „ 785
To those who w upon the Holy Quest, „ 890
'Lead then,' she said; and thro' the woods they w. Pelleas and E. 108 Glanced down upon her, turn'd and w her way. „ 185 they w, And Pelleas overthrew them one by one; „ 229
w on, and found, Here too, all hush'd below „ 423 so w back, and seeing them yet in sleep „ 445 hill and wood W ever streaming by him „ 548 and shower and shorn plume W down it. Last Tournament 156
New loves are sweet as those that w before: „ 280 name W wandering somewhere darkling in his mind. „ 457
hence he w To-day for three days' hunting— „ 529
I sware, Being amazed: but this w by— „ 674 sharply smote his knees, and smiled, and w: Guinevere 47 grim faces came and w Before her, „ 70
W slipping back upon the golden days „ 380
W on in passionate utterance: „ 611 and past his ear W shrilling, 'Hollow, hollow Pass. of Arthur 33
w Sir Bedevere the second time Across the ridge, „ 250
And lightly w the other to the King. „ 315
A woful man (for so the story w) Lover's Tale i 379 those that w with me, And those that held „ iii 15
The fancy stirr'd him so He rose and w, „ iv 52
The light was but a flash, and w again. „ 55
but warming as he w, Glanced at the point of law, „ 275
And years w over till I that was little First Quarrel 27

Went (continued) Harry w over the Solent to see if work First Quarrel 44 an' he turn'd his face an' he w. „ 84 the boat w down that night— (repeat) „ 92
I kiss'd my boy in the prison, before he w out to die. Rizpah 23
she bethought herself and w The Revenge 50 the sun w down, and the stars came out „ 56
the night w down, and the sun smiled „ 70
Revenge herself w down by the island crags „ 118
Far off we w. My God, I would not live Sisters (E. and E.) 228
Not thaw ya w fur to raäke out Hell Village Wife 76 es soon es they w awaäy, Fur, lawks! 'ow I cried when they w, „ 110
So he w. And we past to this ward In the Child. Hosp. 27 and we w to see to the child. „ 68
And round it we w, and thro' it, V. of Maeldune 19
W to his own in his own West-Saxon-land, Batt. of Brunanburh 103
And the storm w roaring above us, The Wreck 106 the storm and the days w by, but I knew no more— „ 111 stars w down across the gleaming pane, The Flight 13
How slowly down the rocks he w, „ 38
w in search of thee Thro' many a palace, Demeter and P. 54
I fetcht 'im a kick an' 'e w. Owd Roä 62
I came, I w, was happier day by day; The Ring 348
I parted from her, and I w alone. „ 437
Voice of the Earth w wailingly past The Dreamer 3
Ralph w down like a fire to the fight The Tourney 3

Wept She w, 'I am aweary, aweary, Mariana 83
One willow over the river w, Dying Swan 14
Crocodiles w tears for thee; A Dirge 22
Love w and spread his sheeny vans for flight; Love and Death 8
A matter to be w with tears of blood! Poland 14
Thine eyes so w that they could hardly see; The Bridesmaid 2
I w 'Tho' I should die, I know Two Voices 58
To perish, w for, honour'd, known, „ 149
In her still place the morning w: „ 275 and took the King, and w. M. d'Arthur 206
She bow'd down And w in secret; Dora 108
But I believe she w. Talking Oak 164
To-day I sat for an hour and w, Edward Gray 11
'Bitterly w I over the stone: „ 33
'A ship of fools,' he sneer'd and w. The Voyage 78
But turn'd her own toward the wall and w. Enoch Arden 283
Annie could have w for pity of him; „ 467
but presently W like a storm: Aylmer's Field 403 While thus he spoke, his hearers w; „ 722 her that o'er her wounded hunter w Lucretius 89 blood Was sprinkled on your kirtle, and you w. Princess ii 274
That was fawn's blood, not brother's, yet you w. „ 275
'My fault' she w 'my fault! „ iii 30
She w her true eyes blind for such a one, „ iv 134
Yet she neither moved nor w. „ vi 12
Down thro' her limbs a drooping languor w: „ 268
I could have w with the best. (repeat) Grandmother 20, 100
I had not w, little Annie, not since I had been a wife; But I w like a child that day, „ 63
But I w like a child for the child that was dead „ 68
Thou comest, much w for: In Mem. xvii 1
And silence follow'd, and we w. „ xxx 20
They w and wail'd, but led the way „ ciii 18
W over her, carved in stone; Maud I viii 4
And while she w, and I strove to be cool, „ II i 15
And w, and wish'd that I were dead; Com. of Arthur 345 all her dress W from her sides as water Gareth and L. 217 Lady Lyonors wrung her hands and w, „ 1395
'was it for him she w In Devon?' Geraint and E. 397 and she w beside the way. „ 519
Then he remember'd her, and how she w; „ 612 braid Slipt and uncoil'd itself, she w afresh, Merlin and V. 889 and for her fault she w Of petulancy; „ 952
W, looking often from his face who read Lancelot and E. 1285
The knights and ladies w, and rich and poor W, Holy Grail 353
But wail'd and w, and hated mine own self, „ 609
To one most holy saint, who w and said, „ 781 he would have w, but felt his eyes Harder Pelleas and E. 506 when first she came, w the sad Queen. Guinevere 182

Wept (continued) her heart was loosed Within her, and she w Guinevere 668 and took the King, and w. Pass. of Arthur 374 when I w, Her smile lit up the rainbow on my tears, Lover's Tale i 253
'He casts me out,' she w, 'and goes' iv 103
Edith spoke no word, She w no tear, Sisters (E. and E.) 216
Who w with me when I return'd in chains, Columbus 231
She knelt—'We worship him'—all but w— Dead Prophet 29 but I w alone, and sigh'd In the winter Happy 69
The spear of ice has w itself away, Prog. of Spring 6
In silence w upon the flowerless earth. Death of Œnone 9
he sobb'd and he w, And cursed himself; Bandit's Death 29
I w, and I kiss'd her hands, Charity 38
Wesh (wash) to my pond to w thessens theere— Churchwarden, etc. 14
Wesh'd (washed) Sally she w foälks' cloäths North. Cobbler 29
An' the babby's faäce wurn't w „ 42
Tommy's faäce be as fresh as a codlin w i' the dew. „ 110
Fur they w their sins i' my pond, Church-warden, etc. 16
West (adj.) Four courts I made, East, W and South and North, Palace of Art 21 wet w wind and the world will go on. (repeat) Window, No Answer 6, 12 Wet w wind how you blow, you blow! „ 14 wet w wind and the world may go on. „ 18
why, you shiver tho' the wind is w The Ring 29
West (s) (See also South-west) sunset linger'd low adown
In the red W: Lotos-Eaters 20
Across a hazy glimmer of the w, Gardener's D. 219
Orion sloping slowly to the W. Locksley Hall 8
The blaze upon the waters to the w; Enoch Arden 596
Here in the woman-markets of the w, Aylmer's Field 348
Till all the sails were darken'd in the w, Sea Dreams 39
Nor stunted squaws of W or East; Princess ii 78 Silver sails all out of the w „ iii 14 and half Far-shadowing from the w, „ Con. 42 and a feast Of wonder, out of W and East, Ode Inter. Exhib. 21
So now thy fuller life is in the w, W. to Marie Alex. 36 voices go To North, South, East, and W; Voice and the P. 14 Flown to the east or the w, Window, Gone 7
And topples round the dreary w, In Mem. xv 19
By that broad water of the w, „ lxvii 3
And East and W, without a breath, „ xcv 62
Rosy is the W, Rosy is the South, (repeat) Maud I xvii 5, 25
Blush it thro' the W; (repeat) „ 16, 24
Blush from W to East, Blush from East to W, Till the W is East, „ 21
Orion's grave low down in the w, „ III vi 8
Will there be dawn in W and eve in East? Gareth and L. 712
All in a rose-red from the w, „ 1087
he saw Fired from the w, far on a hill, Lancelot and E. 168
The flower of all the w and all the world, „ 249 knights of utmost North and W, „ 526
And also one to the w, and counter to it, And blank: Holy Grail 254
Rode Tristram toward Lyonnesse and the w. Last Tournament 362
Far on into the rich heart of the w: Guinevere 244 Far down to that great battle in the w, „ 571 ere that last weird battle in the w, Pass. of Arthur 29
I hear the steps of Modred in the w, „ 59
'Far other is this battle in the w Whereto we move, „ 66
this last, dim, weird battle of the w. „ 94 forego The darkness of that battle in the W, To the Queen ii 65
Mixt with the gorgeous w the lighthouse shone, Lover's Tale i 60
Framing the mighty landscape to the w, „ 406
All the w And ev'n unto the middle south „ 414
Ran amber toward the w, and nigh the sea „ 432 Far from out the w in shadowing showers, Sisters (E. and E.) 7 made W East, and sail'd the Dragon's mouth, Columbus 25 a door for scoundrel scum I open'd to the W, „ 171 till the labourless day dipt under the W; V. of Maeldune 86
we watch'd the sun fade from us thro' the W. The Flight 41
And see the ships from out the W „ 91
And behind him, low in the W, Dead Prophet 20
Here silent in our Minster of the W Epit. on Stratford 3
That young eagle of the W Open. I. and C. Exhib. 28
The golden keys of East and W. To Marq. of Dufferin 4 she lent The sceptres of her W, her East, „ 6 hoary deeps that belt the changeful W, Prog. of Spring 98

West (s) (continued) drowsed in gloom, self-darken'd from the w, Death of Œnone 76
'Is earth On fire to the W? St. Telemachus 19 shape with wings Came sweeping by him, and pointed to the W, „ 25 Western day Was sloping toward his w bower. Mariana 80 baths Of all the w stars, until I die. Ulysses 61
Wind of the w sea, (repeat) Princess iii 2, 4
West-Indian lands at home and abroad in a rich W-I isle; The Wreck 46
West Indies See Indies
West-Saxon-land Went to his own in his own W-S-l, Batt. of Brunanburh 103
West-Saxons We the W-S, „ 37
Westward gloomy-gladed hollow slowly sink To w— Gareth and L. 798
For on their march to w, Bedivere, Pass. of Arthur 6 and the wind Still w, and the weedy seas— Columbus 72
There w—under yon slow-falling star, Akbar's Dream 152
Westward-smiling far-rolling, w-s seas, Last Tournament 587
Westward-wheeling sphere Of w-w stars; St. Telemachus 32
Westward-winding From the w-w flood, Margaret 9
Wet (adj.) (See also Spongy-wet) Thro' crofts and pastures w with dew Two Voices 14
Eyes with idle tears are w. Miller's D. 211
I am w With drenching dews, St. S. Stylites 114
Who sweep the crossings, w or dry, Will Water. 47 so that falling prone he dug His fingers into the w earth, Enoch Arden 780 Made w the crafty crowsfoot round his eye; Sea Dreams 187 my Sire, his rough cheek w with tears, Princess v 23
The leaves were w with women's tears: „ vi 39
I saw his eyes all w, in the sweet moonshine: Grandmother 49
w west wind and the world will go on. (repeat) Window, No Answer 6, 12
W west wind how you blow, you blow! „ 14
w west wind and the world may go on. „ 18 often I caught her with eyes all w, Maud I xix 23 Thick with w woods, and many a beast therein, Com. of Arthur 21 came a forester of Dean, W from the woods, Marr. of Geraint 149 Made answer, either eyelid w with tears: Merlin and V. 379
Brake with a w wind blowing, Lancelot, Last Tournament 137
W with the mists and smitten by the lights, Guinevere 597
he was all w thro' to the skin, First Quarrel 76 hand of the Highlander w with their tears! Def. of Lucknow 102 These w black passes and foam-churning chasms— Sir J. Oldcastle 9 dhry eye thin but was w for the frinds that was gone! Tomorrow 83
Wet (s) The wind and the w, the wind and the w! Window, No Answer 13 Woods where we hid from the w, „ Marr. Morn. 6 day Went glooming down in w and weariness: Last Tournament 215
An' I never said 'off wi' the w,' First Quarrel 77
I soaking here in winter w— To Ulysses 6
Wether Or some black w of St. Satan's fold. Merlin and V. 750
Wet-shod Came w-s alder from the wave, Amphion 41 Wharf Out upon the w's they came, L. of Shalott iv 42 red roofs about a narrow w In cluster; Enoch Arden 3 Down to the pool and narrow w he went, „ 690 famishing populace, wharves forlorn; Vastness 14
Whate (wheat) 'Goin' to cut the Sassenach w' Tomorrow 14
'niver crasst over say to the Sassenach w; „ 48
betther nor cuttin' the Sassenach w' „ 94
What's my thought w m t and when and where and how, Princess, Pro. 190
Whatsoever For w knight against us came Balin and Balan 35
Wheat (See also Whate, Wheät) Storing yearly little dues of w, and wine and oil; Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 122
I will set him in my uncle's eye Among the w; Dora 68 and went her way Across the w, „ 72
And waves of shadow went over the w, Poet's Song 4
Half-lost in belts of hop and breadths of w; Princess, Con. 45
Upon the thousand waves of w, In Mem. xci 11 and go By summer belts of w and vine „ xcviii 4
Thou that singest w and woodland, To Virgil 9 torpid mummy w Of Egypt bore a grain as sweet To Prof. Jebb 5
Rain-rotten died the w, the barley-spears Demeter and P. 112
Wheät sa much es a poppy along wi' the w, Spinster's S's. 78
if the Staäte was a gawin' to let in furriners' w, Owd Roä 45

Wheat-suburb sweet-smelling lanes Of his w-s, The Brook 123
Wheedle And w a world that loves him not, Maud II v 39
Wheedling W and siding with them ! Princess v 158 Wheel (s) (See also Mill-wheel) The dark round of the dripping w, Miller's D. 102 all the w's of Time Spun round in station, Love and Duty 75
And thee returning on thy silver w's. Tithonus 76 men, that in the flying of a w Cry down the past, Godiva 6 power to turn This w within my head, Will Water. 84 land, where under the same w The same old rut Aylmer's Field 33
That stays the rolling Ixionian w, Lucretius 261
The common hate with the revolving w Princess vi 173
And he call'd ' Left w into line ! ' Heavy Brigade 6
Loom and w and enginery, Ode Inter. Exhib. 15
I stay'd the w's at Cogoletto, The Daisy 23
I see the sailor at the w. In Mem. x 4
And all the w's of Being slow. „ l 4
And every kiss of toothed w's, „ cxvii 11
The last w echoes away. Maud I xxii 26
And the roaring of the w's. „ II iv 22
And the w's go over my head, „ v 4 song that Enid sang was one Of Fortune and her w, Marr. of Geraint 346
' Turn, Fortune, turn thy w and lower the proud ; „ 347
Turn thy wild w thro' sunshine, storm, and cloud ; „ 348
Thy w and thee we neither love nor hate. (repeat) „ 349, 358
' Turn, Fortune, turn thy w with smile or frown ; „ 350
With that wild w we go not up or down ; „ 351
' Turn, turn thy w above the staring crowd ; „ 356
Thy w and thou are shadows in the cloud ; „ 357
I heard W's, and a noise of welcome at the doors— Sisters (E. and E.) 149
And lay thine uphill shoulder to the w, Ancient Sage 279 a shatter'd w ? a vicious boy ! Locksley H., Sixty 215 and see no more The Stone, the W, Demeter and P. 150
Or spinning at your w beside the vine— Romney's R. 5
We move, the w must always move, Politics 1
Wheel (verb) Too long you roam and w at will ; Rosalind 36
And w's the circled dance, In Mem. xcviii 30
Unto the thundersong that w's the spheres, Lover's Tale i 476
That w between the poles. Epilogue 21 round her forehead w's the woodland dove, Prog. of Spring 57
Wheel'd (See also Low-wheel'd) clutch'd the sword, And strongly w and threw it. M. d'Arthur 136
Earth follows w in her ellipse ; Golden Year 24
Sometimes the sparhawk, w along, Sir L. and Q. G. 12 Bear had w Thro' a great arc his seven slow suns. Princess iv 212 bats w, and owls whoop'd, „ Con. 110
w on Europe-shadowing wings, Ode on Well. 120
w or lit the filmy shapes That haunt the dusk, In Mem. xcv 10
W round on either heel, Dagonet replied, Last Tournament 244
w and broke Flying, and link'd again, and w and broke Flying, Guinevere 257 clutch'd the sword, And strongly w and threw it. Pass. of Arthur 304 planet at length will be w thro' the silence of space, Despair 83 and they w and obey'd. Heavy Brigade 6 Wheeling (See also Westward-wheeling) with both hands I flung him, w him ; M. d'Arthur 157
w round The central wish, Gardener's D. 224
The myriad shriek of w ocean-fowl, Enoch Arden 583
W with precipitate paces To the melody, Vision of Sin 37 eddied into suns, that w cast The planets : Princess ii 118 with both hands I flung him, w him ; Pass. of Arthur 325 Glance at the w Orb of change, To E. Fitzgerald 3
Whelm or to w All of them in one massacre ? Lucretius 206
And w all this beneath as vast a mound Merlin and V. 656 Whelm'd Roll'd a sea-haze and w the world in gray ; Enoch Arden 672 some were w with missiles of the wall, Princess, Pro. 45
Whelp (See also Lion-whelp) bones for his o'ergrown w to crack ; Maud II v 55
Whelpless glaring with his w eye, Silent ; Princess vi 99
When and where and how what's my thought and when and where and how, „ Pro. 190
Whens Break into ' Thens ' and ' W ' Ancient Sage 104
Wherewithal having w, And in the fallow leisure of my life Audley Court 76
Wherewithal (continued) for the w To give his babes a better bringing-up Enoch Arden 298
Whiff yonder, w ! there comes a sudden heat, Princess, Con. 58
Whig Let W and Tory stir their blood ; Will Water. 53
While we might make it worth his w. Princess i 184
'Twere hardly worth my w to choose In Mem. xxxiv 10
Bide ye here the w.' Merlin and V. 97
Pelleas in brief w Caught his unbroken limbs Pelleas and E. 584
Whim hurt to death, For your wild w : Princess vi 243
Whimper Who love her still, and w, Romney's R. 117
Whimpering then A w of the spirit of the child, Last Tournament 418 Whine (s) colt-like whinny and with hoggish w St. S. Stylites 177
Whine (verb) I that heard her w And snivel, Last Tournament 449 Whined ghost, that shook The curtains, w in lobbies, Walk. to the Mail 37 canker'd boughs without W in the wood ; Balin and Balan 346 and old boughs, W in the wood. „ 386 Whinny colt-like w and with hoggish whine St. S. Stylites 177 her w shrills From tile to scullery, Princess v 452 and stoop'd With a low w toward the pair : Geraint and E. 756 Whinnying At which her palfrey w lifted heel, „ 533 thence The shrilly w's of the team of Hell, Demeter and P. 44 Whip Stopt, and then with a riding w Maud I xiii 18
Struck at her with his w, (repeat) Marr. of Geraint 201, 413
Struck at him with his w, and cut his cheek. „ 207
Up hill ' Too-slow ' will need the w, Politics 11
Whipt And w me into the waste fields far away ; Holy Grail 788
I w him for robbing an orchard once Rizpah 25
Whirl (s) Ran into its giddiest w of sound, Vision of Sin 29 sway and w Of the storm dropt to windless calm, Lover's Tale ii 206 Whirl (verb) My judgment, and my spirit w's, Supp. Confessions 137
There the river eddy w's, L. of Shalott ii 15
I w like leaves in roaring wind. Fatima 7
while Saturn w's, his stedfast shade Palace of Art 15
W's her to me : but will she fling herself, Lucretius 202
And w the ungarner'd sheaf afar, In Mem lxxii 23
w the dust of harlots round and round Pelleas and E. 470 watch the chariot w About the goal again, Tiresias 176
I w, and I follow the Sun.' The Dreamer 14
W, and follow the Sun ! (repeat) „ 20, 24, 28, 32
Whirl'd No sword Of wrath her right arm w, The Poet 54 heavy-plunging foam, W by the wind, D. of F. Women 119 flashing round and round, and w in an arch, M. d'Arthur 138
w her white robe like a blossom'd branch Princess iv 179
She w them on to me, as who should say „ 396 like the smoke in a hurricane w Boädicea 59
The last red leaf is w away, In Mem. xv 3 and w About empyreal heights of thought, „ xcv 37 heart of the poet is w into folly and vice. Maud I iv 39
Pine Lost footing, fell, and so was w away. Gareth and L. 4 flashing round and round, and w in an arch, Pass. of Arthur 306
we w giddily ; the wind Sung ; Lover's Tale ii 201
An open landaulet W by, which, Sisters (E. and E.) 86
W for a million æons thro' the vast Waste dawn De Prof., Two G. 3 full-maned horses w The chariots backward, Achilles over the T. 24
Whirligig As on this w of Time We circle Will Water. 63
Whirling All their planets w round them, Locksley H., Sixty 204
Yet in the w dances as we went, The form, the form 5
Flash in the pools of w Simois. Œnone 206 part were drown'd within the w brook : Princess, Pro. 47
w rout Led by those two rush'd into dance, Lover's Tale iii 54 phantom of the w landaulet For ever past me by : Sisters (E. and E.) 114
W their sabres in circles of light ! Heavy Brigade 34
Whirlwind the echoing dance Of reboant w's, Supp. Confessions 97
And loud the Norland w's blow, Oriana 6
And a w clear'd the larder : The Goose 52
Across the w's heart of peace, The Voyage 87
And bring her in a w : Princess i 65
Like the leaf in a roaring w, Boädicea 59
A moment, ere the onward w shatter it, Lover's Tale i 451 round and round A w caught and bore us ; „ ii 197 a w blow these woods, as never blew before. The Flight 12
Whirr See Dorhawk-whirr
Whirring And the w sail goes round, (repeat) The Owl i 4, 5
Whishper (whisper) (s) laste little w was sweet as the lilt of a bird ! Tomorrow 33

Whishper (verb) the crathur, an' w, an' say Tomorrow 54
Whisker his watery smile And educated w. Edwin Morris 129
Ay, roob thy w's ageän ma, Spinster's S's. 81 Whisky See Crathur'
Whisper (s) (See also Love-whispers, Whishper, World-whisper) She has heard a w say, L. of Shalott ii 3
A little w silver-clear, Two Voices 428
A hint, a w breathing low, „ 434
Such seem'd the w at my side: „ 439
In w's, like the w's of the leaves Gardener's D. 253
And her w throng'd my pulses Locksley Hall 36
w of the south-wind rushing warm, „ 125 a w on her ear, She knew not what; Enoch Arden 515
w of huge trees that branch'd And blossom'd „ 585
Again in deeper inward w's 'lost!' „ 716
A w half reveal'd her to herself. Aylmer's Field 144
But honeying at the w of a lord; Princess, Pro. 115 shook the songs, the w's, and the shrieks „ i 98 o'er the imperial tent W's of war. „ v 10 Would lisp in honey'd w's of this monstrous fraud! Third of Feb. 36 and my prayer Was as the w of an air In Mem. xvii 3
And shape the w of the throne; „ lxiv 12
In w's of the beauteous world. „ lxxix 12
This haunting w makes me faint, „ lxxxi 7
And lightly does the w fall; „ lxxxv 89 world's loud w breaking into storm, Marr. of Geraint 27 all hearts Applauded, and the spiteful w died: Geraint and E. 958
Breathed in a dismal w 'It is truth.' Balin and Balan 527
He spoke in words part heard, in w's part, Merlin and V. 839 whose lightest w moved him more Pelleas and E. 155
A murmuring w thro' the nunnery ran, Guinevere 410
Save for some w of the seething seas, Pass. of Arthur 121 Falling in w's on the sense, Lover's Tale i 720 the surge fell From thunder into w's; „ iii 31
Surely, but for a w, 'Go not yet,' „ iv 20
He knew the meaning of the w now, „ 43
But his friend Replied, in half a w, „ 336
Not to break in on what I say by word Or w, „ 353
There was a w among us, but only a w Def. of Lucknow 50
thro' the roar of the breaker a w, Despair 13
A breath, a w—some divine farewell— Ancient Sage 225
Weird w's, bells that rang without a hand, The Ring 411
A w from his dawn of life? Far—far—away 10
And at his ear he heard a w 'Rome' St. Telemachus 26
Whisper (verb) (See also Whishper) all day long you sit between Joy and woe, and w each. Margaret 64
And at my headstone w low, My life is full 24
Listening, w's 'Tis the fairy Lady of Shalott.' L. of Shalott i 35
While those full chestnuts w by. Miller's D. 168
The trees began to w, and the wind began to roll, May Queen, Con. 27
Not w, any murmur of complaint. St. S. Stylites 22
O w to your glass, and say, Day-Dm., Ep. 3
And w lovely words, and use Her influence Will Water. 11
In her ear he w's gaily, L. of Burleigh 1
Heard the good mother softly w Aylmer's Field 187
W in odorous heights of even. Milton 16
What w's from thy lying lip? In Mem. iii 4
'The stars,' she w's, 'blindly run'; „ 5
And hear thy laurel w sweet „ xxxvii 7
A hundred spirits w 'Peace.' „ lxxxvi 16
One w's, 'Here thy boyhood sung „ cii 9
And w's to the worlds of space, „ cxxvi 11
We w, and hint, and chuckle, Maud I iv 29
And the lily w's, 'I wait.' „ xxii 66
Sweet lord, ye do right well to w this. Balin and Balan 529
Edith pray'd me not to w of it. Sisters (E. and E.) 207
She w's, 'From the South I bring you balm, Prog. of Spring 66
I hear a death-bed Angel w 'Hope.' Romney's R. 148
Whisper'd (adj. and part.) (See also Half-whisper'd) To hear each other's w speech; Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 59 and they suffer—some, 'tis w—down in hell „ 123
Thou shalt hear the 'Never, never,' w by the phantom years, Locksley Hall 83
And w voices at his ear. Day-Dm., Arrival 24
A w jest to some one near him, 'Look, Princess v 32
Whisper'd (adj. and part.) (continued) By a shuffled step, by a dead weight trail'd, by a w fright, Maud I i 14
Love drew in her breath In that close kiss, and drunk her w tales. Lover's Tale i 817
Whisper'd (verb) She w, with a stifled moan Mariana in the S. 57 what he w under Heaven None else could understand; Talking Oak 21
W, 'Listen to my despair: Edward Gray 22
Cyril w; 'Take me with you too.' Princess i 81 no livelier than the dame That w 'Asses' ears,' „ ii 113
'Come,' he w to her 'Lift up your head, „ v 63
What w from her lying lips? In Mem. xxxix 10
'The fault was mine,' he w, 'fly!' Maud II i 30
For I never w a private affair „ v 47 Lifted an arm, and softly w, 'There.' Gareth and L. 1361 sat, heard, watch'd And w: thro' the peaceful court she crept And w: Merlin and V. 139
Or w in the corner? do ye know it?' „ 772 half-awake he w, 'Where? O where? Pelleas and E. 41
For all that ample woodland w 'debt,' The Ring 170
Who w me 'your Ulric loves'— Happy 62
Master w 'Follow the Gleam.' Merlin and the G. 33
I w 'give it to me,' but he would not Bandit's Death 27
Whisperer and the swarm Of female w's: Princess vi 356
Whispering within the cave Behind yon w tuft of oldest pine, Œnone 88 beneath a w rain Night slid down one long stream Gardener's D. 266 Or low morass and w reed, In Mem. c 6 these few lanes of elm And w oak. To Mary Boyle 68
W to each other half in fear, Sea-Fairies 5
Two lovers w by an orchard wall; Circumstance 4
W I knew not what of wild and sweet, Tithonus 61 or, w, play'd A chequer-work of beam In Mem. lxxii 14 turn'd to each other, w, all dismay'd, Heavy Brigade 44
Whistle (s) Scarce answer to my w; Amphion 68
And bustling w of the youth Marr. of Geraint 257 great plover's human w amazed Her heart, Geraint and E. 49 Whistle (verb) W back the parrot's call, Locksley Hall 171
Then would he w rapid as any lark, Gareth and L. 505
But if my neighbour w answers him— Lover's Tale iv 161
Whistled waterflags, That w stiff and dry about the marge. M. d'Arthur 64
redcap w; and the nightingale Sang loud, Gardener's D. 95
Then low and sweet I w thrice; Edwin Morris 113
Sometimes the throstle w strong: Sir L. and Q. G. 11 flour From his tall mill that w on the waste. Enoch Arden 343
And w to the morning star. Sailor Boy 4
And while he w long and loud „ 5
Prison'd, and kept and coax'd and w to— Gareth and L. 14
He w his good warhorse left to graze Last Tournament 490 waterflags, That w stiff and dry about the marge. Pass. of Arthur 232 Whistling W a random bar of Bonny Doon, The Brook 82
But blessed forms in w storms Sir Galahad 59
Half w and half singing a coarse song, Geraint and E. 528
Whit Not a w of thy tuwhoo, The Owl ii 10
And w, w, w, in the bush beside me Grandmother 40 and never a w more wise The fourth, Gareth and L. 635
White (adj.) (See also Cold-white, Death-white, Dusty-white, Lily-white, May-white, Milk-white, Milky-white, Rosy-white, Snow-white, Vermeil-white, Winter-white) And w against the cold-white sky, Dying Swan 12
One after another the w clouds are fleeting; All Things will Die 5
In the w curtain, to and fro, Mariana 51
The w owl in the belfry sits. (repeat) The Owl i 7, 14
Flinging the gloom of yesternight On the w day; Ode to Memory 10
A pillar of w light upon the wall Of purple cliffs, „ 53 thick with w bells the clover-hill swells Sea-Fairies 14
The w chalk-quarry from the hill Miller's D. 115
The lanes, you know, were w with may, „ 130
I'd touch her neck so warm and w. „ 174
All barr'd with long w cloud the scornful crags, Palace of Art 83 her hair Wound with w roses, slept St. Cecily; „ 99 seas draw backward from the land Their moon-led waters w. „ 252 Till Charles's Wain came out above the tall w chimney-tops. May Queen, N. Y's. E. 12

White (adj.) (continued) Two handfuls of w dust, shut in an urn of brass ! Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 68
W surf wind-scatter'd over sails and masts, D. of F. Women 31
' I would the w cold heavy-plunging foam, „ 118
' The light w cloud swam over us. „ 221
We saw the large w stars rise one by one, „ 223
With that sharp sound the w dawn's creeping beams, „ 261
She caught the w goose by the leg, The Goose 9 more the w goose laid It clack'd and cackled louder. „ 23 Clothed in w samite, mystic, wonderful, (repeat) M. d'Arthur 31, 144, 159 for all his face was w And colourless, „ 212
Love's w star Beam'd thro' the thicken'd cedar Gardener's D. 165
As clean and w as privet when it flowers. Walk. to the Mail 56
The meed of saints, the w robe and the palm. St. S. Stylites 20
I lived In the w convent down the valley there, „ 62
As these w robes are soil'd and dark, St. Agnes' Eve 13
In raiment w and clean. „ 24 or following up And flying the w breaker, Enoch Arden 21
Enoch's w horse, and Enoch's ocean-spoil „ 93
And York's w rose as red as Lancaster's, Aylmer's Field 51
Nor ever falls the least w star of snow, Lucretius 107 Morn in the w wake of the morning star Princess iii 17 saw The soft w vapour streak the crowned towers „ 344
There whirl'd her w robe like a blossom'd branch „ iv 179
Her round w shoulder shaken with her sobs, „ 289
Here he reach'd W hands of farewell to my sire, „ v 233 very nape of her w neck Was rosed with indignation : „ vi 343
' Now sleeps the crimson petal, now the w ; „ vii 176
Nor wilt thou snare him in the w ravine, „ 205
A red sail, or a w ; and far beyond, „ Con. 47
Ruddy and w, and strong on his legs, he looks like a man. Grandmother 2
We loved that hall, tho' w and cold, The Daisy 37
All along the valley, stream that flashest w, V. of Cauteretz 1
With blasts that blow the poplar w, In Mem. lxxii 3
The w kine glimmer'd, and the trees (repeat) „ xcv 15, 51
Has a broad-blown comeliness, red and w, Maud I xiii 9
if a hand, as w As ocean-foam in the moon, „ xiv 17
The w lake-blossom fell into the lake „ xxii 47
And the w rose weeps, ' She is late ; ' „ 64
It lightly winds and steals In a cold w robe before me, „ II iv 19
Wearing the w flower of a blameless life, Ded. of Idylls 25
Clothed in w samite, mystic, wonderful. Com. of Arthur 285
' Blow trumpet, for the world is w with May ; „ 482 reverence thine own beard That looks as w as utter truth, Gareth and L. 281
Our one w lie sits like a little ghost „ 297 plant that feels itself Root-bitten by w lichen, „ 454 past The weird w gate, and paused without, „ 663
With w breast-bone, and barren ribs of Death, „ 1382 often with her own w hands Array'd and deck'd her, Marr. of Geraint 16
W from the mason's hand, (repeat) „ 244, 408
Then, as the w and glittering star of morn „ 734
And w sails flying on the yellow sea ; „ 829
Betwixt the cressy islets w in flower ; Geraint and E. 475
she Kiss'd the w star upon his noble front, „ 757 Men weed the w horse on the Berkshire hills „ 936 and paced The long w walk of lilies toward the bower. Balin and Balan 249 as makes The w swan-mother, sitting, „ 353 and dim thro' leaves Blinkt the w morn, „ 385
And mumbled that w hand whose ring'd caress „ 512 whose lightest word Is mere w truth in simple nakedness, „ 518
O Heaven's own w Earth-angel, Merlin and V. 80
As clean as blood of babes, as w as milk : „ 344
Ran down the silken thread to kiss each other On her w neck— „ 456
A maid so smooth, so w, so wonderful, „ 566
Is thy w blamelessness accounted blame ! ' „ 799 bare-grinning skeleton of death ! W was her cheek ; „ 848
Rang by the w mouth of the violent Glem ; Lancelot and E. 288
When the strong neighings of the wild w Horse „ 298

White (adj.) (continued) In the w rock a chapel and a hall On massive columns, Lancelot and E. 405
And innocently extending her w arms, „ 932
Till all the w walls of my cell were dyed Holy Grail 119 ever moved Among us in w armour, Galahad. „ 135 dyed The strong W Horse in his own heathen blood— „ 312
Not to be bound, save by w bonds and warm, Pelleas and E. 353 up a slope of garden, all Of roses w and red, „ 422 in her w arms Received, and after loved it tenderly, Last Tournament 23 down a streetway hung with folds of pure W samite, „ 141
Isolt the w—Sir Tristram of the Woods— „ 177
Our one w day of Innocence hath past, „ 218
The twelve small damosels w as Innocence, „ 291 one of those w slips Handed her cup and piped, „ 295
' Isolt Of the w hands ' they call'd her : „ 398
Who served him well with those w hands of hers, „ 400
Is all as cool and w as any flower.' „ 416
there Belted his body with her w embrace, „ 513
Calling me thy w hind, and saying to me „ 569
The warm w apple of her throat, „ 717
The w mist, like a face-cloth to the face, Guinevere 7
And in the light the w mermaiden swam, „ 245 aghast the maiden rose, W as her veil, „ 363 who leagues With Lords of the W Horse, heathen, „ 574 when the man was no more than a voice In the w winter of his age, Pass. of Arthur 4 Clothed in w samite, mystic, wonderful, (repeat) „ 199, 312, 327
for all his face was w And colourless, „ 380
W as w clouds, floated from sky to sky. Lover's Tale i 5
Or when the w heats of the blinding noons „ 139
A mystic light flash'd ev'n from her w robe „ 370 then came in The w light of the weary moon above, „ 640
But the boy was born i' trouble, an' looks so wan an' so w : First Quarrel 2
I niver ha seed it sa w wi' the Maäy es I see'd it to-year— Village Wife 80
Fur I thowt it wur Charlie's ghoäst i' the derk, fur it looökt sa w. „ 82
Blessing the wholesome w faces of Havelock's good fusileers, Def. of Lucknow 101
And a hundred ranged on the rock like w sea-birds V. of Maeldune 101
And his w hair sank to his heels and his w beard fell to his feet, „ 118
Nor here ! thou w North has thy bones ; Sir J. Franklin 1
The broad w brow of the Isle— The Wreck 135 the hills are w with rime. The Flight 4 all my life was darken'd, as I saw the w sail run, „ 39 an' her hair was as w as the snow an a grave. Tomorrow 60
All in w Italian marble, looking still as if she smiled, Locksley H., Sixty 35 Mother weeps At that w funeral of the single life, Prin. Beatrice 9 dwell For nine w moons of each whole year with me, Demeter and P. 121
Of a Christmas Eäve, an' as cowd as this, an' the midders as w, Owd Roä 31
Flies back in fragrant breezes to display A tunic w as May ! Prog. of Spring 65
And find the w heather wherever you go, Romney's R. 108 my w heather only blooms in heaven „ 110
And on this w midwinter day— To Master of B. 9
But when the w fog vanish'd like a ghost Death of Œnone 67
And now that I am w, and you are gray, Roses on the T. 4

White (s) (See also May-white) Lying, robed in snowy w L. of Shalott iv 19
He thought I was a ghost, mother, for I was all in w, May Queen 17
Gown'd in pure w, that fitted to the shape— Gardener's D. 126
Which charts us all in its coarse blacks or w's, Walk. to the Mail 107
With folded feet, in stoles of w, Sir Galahad 43
No pint of w or red Had ever half the power Will Water. 82
Six hundred maidens clad in purest w, Princess ii 472
But pure as lines of green that streak the w „ v 196
Of twelve sweet hours that past in bridal w, Maud I xviii 65
King That morn was married, while in stainless w, Com. of Arthur 456
Muriel and Miriam, each in w, and like May-blossoms The Ring 254

White (s) (continued) And watch the curl'd w of the coming wave Merlin and V. 292 and she herself in w All but her face, Lancelot and E. 1158 where the crisping w Play'd ever back upon the sloping wave, Holy Grail 381 Where children sat in w with cups of gold, Last Tournament 142 all the purple slopes of mountain flowers Pass under w, „ 230
So dame and damsel cast the simple w, „ 232
Wear black and w, and be a nun like you, Guinevere 677 in front of which Six stately virgins, all in w, Lover's Tale ii 77 Leapt lightly clad in bridal w— „ iii 44 might be borne in w To burial or to burning, Ancient Sage 207
Molly Magee, wid the red o' the rose an' the w o' the May, Tomorrow 31
All his virtues—I forgive them—black in w above his bones. Locksley H., Sixty 44
White-breasted w-b like a star Fronting the dawn Œnone 57
Whited W thought and cleanly life As the priest, Vision of Sin 116
White-eyed w-e phantasms weeping tears of blood, Palace of Art 239
White-faced The w-f halls, the glancing rills, In Mem., Con. 113
White-favour'd And those w-f horses wait ; „ 90
White-flower'd saw The w-f elder-thicket from the field Godiva 63
Black holly, and w-f wayfaring-tree ! Sir J. Oldcastle 130
White-hair'd A w-h shadow roaming like a dream Tithonus 8
White-headed I this old w-h dreamer stoopt Locksley H., Sixty 38
White-hooved Leading a jet-black goat white-horn'd, w-h, Œnone 51
White-horn'd Leading a jet-black goat w-h, white-hooved, „ 51
White-listed tree that shone w-l thro' the gloom. Merlin and V. 939
Whiten Willows w, aspens quiver, L. of Shalott i 10
The ptarmigan that w's ere his hour Last Tournament 697 Whiten'd (adj. and part.) Part black, part w with the bones of men, Holy Grail 500
The meal-sacks on the w floor, Miller's D. 101
Whiten'd (verb) And w all the rolling flood ; The Victim 20
When the lake w and the pinewood roar'd, Merlin and V. 637
Whiteness all but utter w held for sin, Holy Grail 84
Whitening Down thro' the w hazels made a plunge Enoch Arden 379 after the great waters break W for half a league, Last Tournament 465
A rhyme that flower'd betwixt the w sloe To Mary Boyle 25
Whiter Is w even than her pretty hand : Aylmer's Field 363
The flocks are w down the vale, In Mem. cxv 10
To meet and greet a w sun ; „ Con. 78
And w than the mist that all day long Pass. of Arthur 137
White-robed W-r in honour of the stainless child, Last Tournament 147
White Rose W R, Bellerophon, the Jilt, The Brook 161
Whitest With w honey in fairy gardens cull'd— Eleänore 26
The very w lamb in all my fold Loves you : Aylmer's Field 361
A broad earth-sweeping pall of w lawn, Lover's Tale ii 78
White-tail'd Left for the w-t eagle to tear it, Batt. of Brunanburh 107
White-wing'd let the fair w-w peacemaker fly Ode Inter. Exhib. 34
Whither Arthur had vanish'd I knew not w, Merlin and the G. 78
Whitsuntide Arthur on the W before Held court Marr. of Geraint 145
And this was on the last year's W. „ 840
Whizz'd An arrow w to the right, one to the left, Balin and Balan 419
Whoäts (oats) W or tonups or taätes— Village Wife 26
Whole (adj.) (See also 'Ole) Oft lose w years of darker mind. Two Voices 372
So healthy, sound, and clear and w, Miller's D. 15
With one long kiss my w soul thro' My lips, Fatima 20
My w soul waiting silently, „ 36
W weeks and months, and early and late, The Sisters 10
And blessings on his w life long, May Queen, Con. 14
But now the w ROUND TABLE is dissolved M. d'Arthur 234
I, that w day, Saw her no more, Gardener's D. 163
But this w hour your eyes have been intent „ 269 but I die here To-day, and w years long, a life of death. St. S. Stylites 54
If it may be, fast W Lents, and pray. „ 182
I trust That I am w, and clean, and meet for Heaven. „ 213
This w wide earth of light and shade Will Water. 67
At times the w sea burn'd, at times The Voyage 51
To waste his w heart in one kiss Upon her perfect lips. Sir L. and Q. G. 44 our pride Looks only for a moment w and sound ; Aylmer's Field 2 Whole (adj.) (continued) for fear This w foundation ruin, Princess ii 341 sphered W in ourselves and owed to none. „ iv 148 unless you send us back Our son, on the instant, w.' „ 416
but half Without you ; with you, w ; „ 461
My mother, looks as w as some serene „ v 193 and slips in sensual mire, But w and one : „ v 200
Then felt it sound and w from head to foot, „ vi 211 she You talk'd with, w nights long, up in the tower, „ 255 nor seem'd it strange that soon He rose up w, „ vii 65 nor yet Did those twin brothers, risen again and w ; „ 89
And keeps our Britain, w within herself, „ Con. 52
I wish they were a w Atlantic broad.' „ 71
W in himself, a common good, Ode on Well. 26 keep our noble England w, „ 161
And love will last as pure and w In Mem. xliii 13
That so my pleasure may be w ; „ lxxi 8
To which the w creation moves. „ Con. 144
Has our w earth gone nearer to the glow Maud I xviii 78
Strike dead the w weak race of venomous worms, „ „ II i 46 and weep My w soul out to thee. „ iv 98
W, like a crag that tumbles from the cliff, Marr. of Geraint 318
To save her dear lord w from any wound. Geraint and E. 45
And men brought in w hogs and quarter beeves, „ 602
Then, when Geraint was w again, „ 945
The w wood-world is one full peal of praise. Balin and Balan 450 Polluting, and imputing her w self, Merlin and V. 803
the one passionate love Of her w life ; „ 956
' Sir King, mine ancient wound is hardly w, Lancelot and E. 93
Right fain were I to learn this knight were w, „ 772
Whereof he should be quickly w, „ 853
But when Sir Lancelot's deadly hurt was w, „ 904
Yet still thy life is w, and still I live Who love thee ; Pass. of Arthur 150
But now the w Round Table is dissolved „ 402
For so the w round earth is every way „ 422 single glance of them Will govern a w life from birth to death, Lover's Tale i 76
At thought of which my w soul languishes „ 267
The w land weigh'd him down as Ætna does The Giant of Mythology : „ iv 17
Ship after ship, the w night long, (repeat) The Revenge 58, 59, 60
And the w sea plunged and fell on the shot-shatter'd navy of Spain, „ 117
So mock'd, so spurn'd, so baited two w days— Sir J. Oldcastle 163
And the w isle-side flashing down from the peak V. of Maeldune 45
For the w isle shudder'd and shook like a man „ 74
Out of His w World-self and all in all— De Prof., Two G. 49
For he touch'd on the w sad planet of man, Dead Prophet 39 dwell For nine white moons of each w year with me, Demeter and P. 121
When thou shalt dwell the w bright year with me, „ 139
National hatreds of w generations, Vastness 25
Whole (s) All various, each a perfect w From living Nature, Palace of Art 58
Is bodied forth the second w. Love thou thy land 66
That each, who seems a separate w, In Mem. xlvii 1
The wish, that of the living w „ lv 1
Boundless inward, in the atom, boundless outward, in the W. Locksley H., Sixty 212 be welded each and all, Into one imperial w, Open. I. and C. Exhib. 37
Wholeness He that in his Catholic w Locksley H., Sixty 101
Wholesale You need not set your thoughts in rubric thus For w comment.' Princess iii 51 Wholesome You changed a w heart to gall. L. C. V. de Vere 44 eat w food, And wear warm clothes, St. S. Stylites 108
That mock'd the w human heart, The Letters 10
But honest talk and w wine, To F. D. Maurice 18
But better serves a w law, In Mem. xlviii 10 glanced Eyes of pure women, w stars of love ; Gareth and L. 314
None ; or the w boon of gyve and gag.' „ 370
But now the w music of the wood Balin and Balan 436 until the w flower And poisonous grew together, Holy Grail 775
Such as the w mothers tell their boys. Pelleas and E. 197 whom The w realm is purged of otherwhere, Last Tournament 96
O ay—the w madness of an hour— „ 675
Boughs on each side, laden with w shade, Lover's Tale i 230

Wholesome (continued) Whereof to all that draw the w air, Lover's Tale i 500 Blessing the w white faces of Havelock's good fusileers, Def. of Lucknow 101 came back That w heat the blood had lost, To E. Fitzgerald 24 Dust in w old-world dust before the newer world begin. Locksley H., Sixty 150
Wholly Then I cannot be w dumb ; Maud II v 100
Whoop (See also Owl-whoop) Call to each other and w and cry The Merman 26
Whoop'd-Whoopt bats wheel'd, and owls whoop'd, Princess, Con. 110
An owl whoopt : 'Hark the victor pealing there ! ' Gareth and L. 1318 Whooping I drown'd the w's of the owl with sound St. S. Stylites 33
Whoopt See Whoop'd
Whorl With delicate spire and w, Maud II ii 6
Wicked (adj.) 'Chant me now some w stave, Vision of Sin 151 for the w broth Confused the chemic labour of the blood, Lucretius 19
About the good King and his w Queen, Guinevere 209 Makes w lightnings of her eyes, „ 520
'Ye know me then, that w one, „ 669
And so she was w with Harry ; First Quarrel 26
Wicked (s) And the w cease from troubling, May Queen, Con. 60
Wickedness if you think this w in me, Merlin and V. 339
If you—and not so much from w, „ 520
And heal the world of all their w ! Holy Grail 94
Well might I wish to veil her w, Guinevere 211 who hath forgiven My w to him, „ 635
Wicket (See also Wicket-gate) one green w in a privet hedge ; Gardener's D. 110
Wicket (in cricket) clamour bowl'd And stump'd the w ; Princess, Pro. 82
Wicket-gate I reach'd The w-g, and found her standing there. Gardener's D. 213
Wiclif He might have come to learn Our W's learning : Sir J. Oldcastle 65
By this good W mountain down from heaven, „ 132
Wiclif-preacher My frighted W-p whom I crost „ 38
Wide (See also Wild-wide, World-wide) W, wild, and open to the air, Dying Swan 2
Look up thro' night : the world is w. Two Voices 24 and the waste w Of that abyss, or scornful pride ! „ 119
'When, w in soul and bold of tongue, „ 124 mansion, that is built for me, So royal-rich and w.' Palace of Art 20
With cycles of the human tale Of this w world, „ 147
In this great house so royal-rich, and w, „ 191
The stalls are void, the doors are w, Sir Galahad 31
Suddenly set it w to find a sign, Enoch Arden 496 the suns are many, the world is w. Maud I iv 45 shiver of dancing leaves is thrown About its echoing chambers w, „ vi 74 portal of King Pellam's chapel w And inward to the wall ; Balin and Balan 405 my spirit Was of so w a compass Lover's Tale ii 135 coostom ageän draw'd in like a wind fro' far an' w, North. Cobbler 93
Stretch'd w and wild the waste enormous marsh, Ode to Memory 101
Is not so deadly still As that w forest. D. of F. Women 69
The parson taking w and wider sweeps, The Epic 14 looking wistfully with w blue eyes As in a picture. M. d'Arthur 169
One sabbath deep and w— St. Agnes' Eve 34
This whole w earth of light and shade Will Water. 67
Till the fountain spouted, showering w Vision of Sin 21
Thro' one w chasm of time and frost they gave Princess, Pro. 93
'Fling our doors w ! all, all, not one, but all, „ vi 334
In this w hall with earth's invention stored, Open. Inter. Exhib. 2
Calm and deep peace in this w air, In Mem. xi 13
Hid from the w world's rumour by the grove Lancelot and E. 522
W flats, where nothing but coarse grasses grew ; Holy Grail 794
W open were the gates, And no watch kept ; Pelleas and E. 414
The w world laughs at it. Last Tournament 695
Arise, my own true sister, come forth ! the world is w. The Flight 96
Read the w world's annals, you, Locksley H., Sixty 104
Wide-dispread locks not w-d, Isabel 5
Wide-mouth'd The little w-m heads upon the spout Godiva 56
Widen The circle w's till it lip the marge, Pelleas and E. 94
Widen'd And the thoughts of men are w Locksley Hall 138
Widening (See also Ever-widening) And ever w slowly silence all. Merlin and V. 392 Wider and make The bounds of freedom w yet To the Queen 32 a lyre of w range Struck by all passion, D. of F. Women 165
The parson taking wide and w sweeps, The Epic 14
Wide-wing'd w-w sunset of the misty marsh Last Tournament 423 Widow (See also Would-be-widow) his w Miriam Lane, With daily-dwindling profits Enoch Arden 695 affectionate smile That makes the w lean. Sea Dreams 156 but there were w's here, Two w's, Princess i 127
Then came a w crying to the King, Gareth and L. 333 Came yet another w crying to him, „ 350
w with less guile than many a child. Sisters (E. and E.) 182 nor wail of baby-wife, Or Indian w ; Akbar's Dream 197 a w came to my door : Charity 26
Widow-bride made The wife of wives a w-b, Romney's R. 138
Widow'd Laid w of the power in his eye M. d'Arthur 122
To thy w marriage-pillows, to the tears that thou wilt weep. Locksley Hall 82
I cry to vacant chairs and w walls, Aylmer's Field 720
Till all my w race be run ; In Mem. ix 18
Till all my w race be run. „ xvii 20
Could we forget the w hour „ xl 1
My heart, tho' w, may not rest „ lxxxv 113
Laid w of the power in his eye Pass. of Arthur 290
Wilt neither quit the w Crown nor let Prin. Beatrice 15
Widower (adj.) there the w husband and dead wife Lover's Tale iv 372
Widower (s) Tears of the w, when he sees In Mem. xiii 1
Widowhood praise To God, that help'd her in her w. Dora 113
Thro' all the clouded years of w, Death of Œnone 103
Width two remain'd Apart by all the chamber's w, Geraint and E. 265 Wield So the Higher w's the Lower, Locksley H., Sixty 124 my brothers, work, and w The forces of to-day, Mechanophilus 29
Wielded Nor w axe disjoint, Talking Oak 262
Wielder W of the stateliest measure To Virgil 39
Wielding The w of weapons— Batt. of Brunanburh 90 Wife (See also Baby-wife, Missis) In her as Mother, W, and Queen ; To the Queen 28
The queen of marriage, a most perfect w. Isabel 28
'Who took a w, who rear'd his race, Two Voices 328
One walk'd between his w and child, „ 412
Pray, Alice, pray, my darling w, Miller's D. 23
True w, Round my true heart thine arms entwine „ 215 fairest and most loving w in Greece,' Œnone 187
Fairest—why fairest w ? am I not fair ? „ 196
The gardener Adam and his w L. C. V. de Vere 51 cannot tell—I might have been his w ; May Queen, Con. 47 dream of Fatherland, Of child, and w, Lotos-Eaters 40
dear the last embraces of our wives „ C. S. 70
I KNEW an old w lean and poor, The Goose 1
It stirr'd the old w's mettle : „ 26 often thought, 'I'll make them man and w.' Dora 4 take her for your w ; „ 20
Or change a word with her he calls his w, „ 44
I had been a patient w : „ 147 his w upon the tilt, Walk. to the Mail 41
He left his w behind ; for so I heard. „ 47
Sit with their wives by fires, St. S. Stylites 108
Match'd with an aged w, I mete and dole Ulysses 3
As the husband is, the w is : Locksley Hall 47 loved thee more than ever w was loved. „ 64
Godiva, w to that grim Earl, Godiva 12
But break it. In the name of w, Day-Dm., L'Envoi 53
Lord Ronald's, When you are man and w.' Lady Clare 36 Little can I give my w. L. of Burleigh 14 above his book Leering at his neighbour's w. Vision of Sin 118
'This is my house and this my little w.' Enoch Arden 28
The little w would weep for company, „ 34
And say she would be little w to both. „ 36 his w Bore him another son, a sickly one : „ 108 yet the w—When he was gone— „ 131

Wife (continued) With all that seamen needed or their wives— Enoch Arden 139
Pray'd for a blessing on his w and babes „ 188
Cast his strong arms about his drooping w, „ 228
I wish you for my w. „ 410
I believe, if you were fast my w, „ 414 beheld His w his w no more, and saw the babe „ 759
'This miller's w' He said to Miriam „ 804
This fiat somewhat soothed himself and w, His w a faded beauty of the Baths, Aylmer's Field 26
To ailing w or wailing infancy „ 177 the w, who watch'd his face, Paled „ 731 in the narrow gloom By w and child; „ 841
His w, an unknown artist's orphan child— Sea Dreams 2
The gentle-hearted w Sat shuddering „ 29
And silenced by that silence lay the w, „ 46
'Not fearful: fair,' Said the good w, „ 83
'Nay,' said the kindly w to comfort him, „ 140
'Was he so bound, poor soul?' said the good w; „ 169
flock'd at noon His tenants, w and child, Princess, Pro. 4
We fell out, my w and I, „ ii 3 a good mother, a good w, Worth winning; „ v 166 see how you stand Stiff as Lot's w, „ vi 241
I had been wedded w, I knew mankind, „ 327
My bride, My w, my life. „ vii 360
Since English Harold gave its throne a w, W. to Marie Alex. 24
And Willy's w has written: (repeat) Grandmother 3, 105 Never the w for Willy: „ 4 not wept, little Annie, not since I had been a w; „ 63
The sweet little w of the singer said, The Islet 3
'The King is happy In child and w; The Victim 26
Is he your dearest? Or I, the w?' „ 52
'O w, what use to answer now? „ 55
Suddenly from him brake his w, „ 70
Gods have answer'd; We give them the w!' „ 79
Me the w of rich Prasútagús, Boädicea 48
Take my love and be my w. Window, No Answer 24
Thou bring'st the sailor to his w, In Mem. x 5
No casual mistress, but a w, „ lix 2
They would but find in child and w „ xc 7
And of my spirit as of a w. „ xcvii 8
That must be made a w ere noon? „ Con. 26
Now waiting to be made a w, „ 49 filthy by-lane rings to the yell of the trampled w, Maud I i 38 you are all unmeet for a w. „ iv 57
Was wedded with a winsome w, Ygerne: Com. of Arthur 188
Lot's w, the Queen of Orkney, Bellicent, (repeat) „ 190, 245
But she, a stainless w to Gorlois, „ 194 and his w Nursed the young prince, „ 223
A horror on him, lest his gentle w, Marr. of Geraint 29 that if ever yet was w True to her lord, „ 46
I fear that I am no true w.' „ 108
And that she fear'd she was not a true w. „ 114
As I will make her truly my true w.' „ 503
I charge thee, on thy duty as a w, Geraint and E. 16 nor told his gentle w What ail'd him, „ 503
I heard you say, that you were no true w: „ 742
Hath push'd aside his faithful w, Balin and Balan 106
To worship woman as true w beyond Merlin and V. 23
Whose kinsman left him watcher o'er his w „ 706
Some cause had kept him sunder'd from his w: „ 715
'Your love,' she said, 'your love—to be your w.' Lancelot and E. 933
But now there never will be w of mine.' „ 936
'No, no,' she cried, 'I care not to be w, „ 937
Our bond, as not the bond of man and w, „ 1191
Our bond is not the bond of man and w. „ 1206
Delight myself with gossip and old wives, Holy Grail 553 Rough wives, that laugh'd and scream'd Pelleas and E. 89 he could harp his w up out of hell.' Last Tournament 328
as the village w who cries 'I shudder, Guinevere 56 Mine is the shame, for I was w, „ 119 lets the w Whom he knows false, abide and rule „ 514 whereon I lean'd in w and friend Pass. of Arthur 24
w and child with wail Pass to new lords; „ 44
Had thrust his w and child and dash'd Lover's Tale i 380

Wife (continued) 'Take my free gift, my cousin, for your w; Lover's Tale iv 363 widower husband and dead w Rush'd each at each „ 372 when at last he freed himself From w and child, „ 380
he call'd me his own little w; First Quarrel 10
To make a good w for Harry, „ 30
'I ha' six weeks' work, little w, „ 45 been as true to you as ever a man to his w; „ 60 Come, come, little w, let it rest! „ 62 kind of you, Madam, to sit by an old dying w. Rizpah 21 an' I wur chousin' the w, North. Cobbler 83
'We have children, we have wives, The Revenge 92
So far that no caress could win my w Sisters (E. and E.) 258 hignorant village w as 'ud hev to be larn'd her awn plaäce,' Village Wife 106
God help them, our children and wives! Def. of Lucknow 8
'Children and wives—if the tigers leap „ 51
Their wives and children Spanish concubines, Columbus 175
He blesses the w. To Prin. F. of H. 4 maidens, wives, And mothers with their babblers Tiresias 102
I cried, 'for the sin of the w, The Wreck 99
Not from the nurse—nor yet to the w—to her maiden name! „ 144
You have parted the man from the w. Despair 62 and she, the delicate w, With a grief that could only be cured, „ 79
The w, the sons, who love him best Ancient Sage 125 would I were there, the friend, the bride, the w, The Flight 43 an' he's married another w, Tomorrow 49 at yer wake like husban' an' w. „ 82
'A faäithful an' loovin' w!' Spinster's S's. 72 vows 'till death shall part us,' she the would-be-widow w. Locksley H., Sixty 24 kill'd the slave, and slew the w „ 67
His w and his child stood by him in tears, Dead Prophet 57
I envied human wives, and nested birds, Demeter and P. 53
'I take thee Muriel for my wedded w'— The Ring 377 larger woman-world Of wives and mothers. „ 487
'Let us revenge ourselves, your Ulric woos my w'— Happy 63
If man and w be but one flesh, „ 94
if I had been the leper would you have left the w? „ 100 bewail the friend, the w, For ever gone. To Mary Boyle 53
The truest, kindliest, noblest-hearted w Romney's R. 35
That w and children drag an Artist down! „ 38
if such a w as you Should vanish unrecorded. „ 68
'Why left you w and children? „ 129 make The w of wives a widow-bride, „ 138
Sir, I was once a w. Bandit's Death 9
But the new-wedded w was unharm'd, Charity 22
I had cursed her as woman and w, and in w and woman I found „ 31

Wifehood Of perfect w and pure lowlihead. Isabel 12

Wife-hunting W-h, as the rumour ran, Aylmer's Field 212

Wifeless now a lonely man W and heirless, Lancelot and E. 1371

Wifelike W, her hand in one of his, Aylmer's Field 808

Wife-murder adulteries, W-m's,— Romney's R. 134

Wife-worship fair w-w cloaks a secret shame? Balin and Balan 360

Wight (isle) Among the quarried downs of W, To Ulysses 32
(Take it and come) to the Isle of W; To F. D. Maurice 12

Wild (adj.) (See also Raving-wild, Woild) And thro' w March the throstle calls, To the Queen 14
At noon the w bee hummeth Claribel 11
And w winds bound within their cell, Mariana 54
Stretch'd wide and w the waste enormous marsh, Ode to Memory 101
THE plain was grassy, w and bare, Wide, w, and open to the air, Dying Swan 1
Chasing itself at its own w will, „ 17
w swan's death-hymn took the soul Of that waste place „ 21
W words wander here and there: A Dirge 43 who can tell The last w thought of Chatelet, Margaret 37
Her rapid laughters w and shrill, Kate 3
By some w skylark's matin song. Miller's D. 40 in many a w festoon Ran riot, Œnone 100
When I past by, a w and wanton pard, „ 199 ere the stars come forth Talk with the w Cassandra, „ 263 Far as the w swan wings, to where the sky Palace of Art 31 or one deep cry Of great w beasts; „ 283

Wild (adj.) (continued) w marsh-marigold shines like fire in swamps May Queen 31
I have been w and wayward, May Queen N. Y's. E. 33 you must not weep, nor let your grief be w, „ 35
All in the w March-morning I heard the angels call; „ Con. 25 in the w March-morning I heard them call my soul. „ 28
W flowers in the valley for other hands than mine. „ 52
Brimful of those w tales, D. of F. Women 12
And the w kiss, when fresh from war's alarms, „ 149
'Heaven heads the count of crimes With that w oath.' „ 202
Yet waft me from the harbour-mouth, W wind! You ask me, why, etc. 26
w hearts and feeble wings That every sophister Love thou thy land 11
The w wind rang from park and plain, The Goose 45
And the w water lapping on the crag.' M. d'Arthur 71
swan That, fluting a w carol ere her death, „ 267
where the heart on one w leap Hung tranced Gardener's D. 259
My sweet, w, fresh three quarters of a year, Edwin Morris 2
Again with hands of w rejection 'Go!— „ 124
Till that w wind made work Talking Oak 54
And in the chase grew w, „ 126 and the w team Which love thee, Tithonus 39
Whispering I knew not what of w and sweet, „ 61
Make me feel the w pulsation that I felt Locksley Hall 109
Where in w Mahratta-battle fell my father evil-starr'd;— „ 155
Catch the w goat by the hair, „ 170 but I know my words are w, „ 173
As w as aught of fairy lore; Day Dm., L'Envoi 12
But it is w and barren, Amphion 2 Caught each other with w grimaces, Vision of Sin 35
w hawk stood with the down on his beak, Poet's Song 11
If he could know his babes were running w Enoch Arden 304
The helpless life so w that it was tame. „ 557 upjetted in spirts of w sea-smoke, Sea Dreams 52
but if there were A music harmonizing our w cries, „ 255
By this w king to force her to his wish, Princess, Pro. 37
Lilia, w with sport, Half child half woman „ 100 Thro' the w woods that hung about the town; „ i 91 and the shrieks Of the w woods together; „ 99
All w to found an University For maidens, „ 150
Like some w creature newly-caged, „ ii 301
'Who ever saw such w barbarians? „ iii 42
And the w cataract leaps in glory. „ iv 4
Blow, bugle, blow, set the w echoes flying, (repeat) „ 5, 17
Deep as first love, and w with all regret; „ 57 and the w figtree split Their monstrous idols, „ 79
When the w peasant rights himself, „ 385
w birds on the light Dash themselves dead. „ 495
And make a w petition night and day, „ v 97
Rotting on some w shore with ribs of wreck, „ 147
'W natures need wise curbs. „ 173
'for this w wreath of air, „ 318
so belabour'd him on rib and cheek They made him w: „ 342
I mused on that w morning in the woods, „ 471
At the barrier like a w horn in a land Of echoes, „ 486
I trust that there is no one hurt to death, For your w whim: „ vi 243 catch Her hand in w delirium, gripe it hard, „ vii 93 for on one side arose The women up in w revolt, „ 123 let the w Lean-headed Eagles yelp alone, „ 210 something w within her breast, „ 237
Like our w Princess with as wise a dream „ Con. 69
W War, who breaks the converse of the wise; Third of Feb. 8
O the w charge they made! Light Brigade 51
And howsoever this w world may roll, W. to Marie Alex. 48
Yell'd and shriek'd between her daughters o'er a w confederacy. Boädicea 6
Forgive these w and wandering cries, In Mem., Pro. 41
The w pulsation of her wings; „ xii 4
The w unrest that lives in woe „ xv 15
Can calm despair and w unrest „ xvi 2 such as lurks In some w Poet, „ xxiv 7
And those w eyes that watch the wave „ xxvi 15
That had the w oat not been sown, „ liii 6
As wan, as chill, as w as now; „ lxxii 17

Wild (adj.) (continued) Ring out, w bells, to the w sky, In Mem. cvi 1
Ring out, w bells, and let him die. „ 4
But some w Pallas from the brain Of Demons? „ cxiv 12
W Hours that fly with Hope and Fear, „ cxxviii 9
And w voice pealing up to the sunny sky, Maud I v 13
So that w dog, and wolf and boar and bear Com. of Arthur 23
W beasts, and surely would have torn the child „ 217 lords Have foughten like w beasts among themselves, „ 226
'Being a goose and rather tame than w, Gareth and L. 38
As slopes a w brook o'er a little stone, Marr. of Geraint 77
Turn thy w wheel thro' sunshine, „ 348
With that w wheel we go not up or down; „ 351
I know not, but he past to the w land. „ 443
For old am I, and rough the ways and w; „ 750
That skins the w beast after slaying him, Geraint and E. 93
To keep them in the w ways of the wood, „ 187
Or two w men supporters of a shield, „ 267
Enter'd, the w lord of the place, Limours. „ 277
Enid, the loss of whom hath turn'd me w— „ 308
I call mine own self w, „ 311
Then thought she heard the w Earl at the door, „ 381
And in the moment after, w Limours, „ 457
To shun the w ways of the lawless tribe. „ 608
As of a w thing taken in the trap, „ 723
And in the w woods of Broceliande, Merlin and V. 2
Ev'n to the w woods of Broceliande. „ 204
Who meant to eat her up in that w wood „ 260 all thro' this w wood And all this morning „ 285
To chase a creature that was current then In these w woods, „ 409
And all thro' following you to this w wood, „ 440
As some w turn of anger, or a mood „ 521
On some w down above the windy deep, „ 658
O cruel, there was nothing w or strange, „ 860
When the strong neighings of the w white Horse Lancelot and E. 298
Suddenly flash'd on her a w desire, „ 357
Bare, as a w wave in the wide North-sea, „ 482
Then flash'd into w tears, and rose again, „ 613
'Well—if I bide, lo! this w flower for me!' „ 644
Crush'd the w passion out against the floor „ 742
All in a fiery dawning w with wind „ 1020
But the w Queen, who saw not, burst away „ 1244
To smoke the scandalous hive of those w bees Holy Grail 214
'O w and of the woods, Pelleas and E. 99
But thou, thro' ever harrying thy w beasts— Last Tournament 635
Becomes thee well—art grown w beast thyself. „ 637
And with a w sea-light about his feet, Guinevere 242
To guard thee in the w hour coming on, „ 446 like w birds that change Their season in the night Pass. of Arthur 38
And the w water lapping on the crag.' „ 239
swan That, fluting a w carol ere her death, „ 435
I stoop'd, I gather'd the w herbs, Lover's Tale i 342
Like to the w youth of an evil prince, „ 354
w brier had driven Its knotted thorns „ 619 Embathing all with w and woful hues, „ ii 64 like w Bacchanals Fled onward to the steeple „ iii 25
And something weird and w about it all: „ iv 224 an' I flung him the letter that drove me w, First Quarrel 57
he was always so w— Rizpah 26
But he lived with a lot of w mates, „ 29
w earthquake out-tore Clean from our lines of defence Def. of Lucknow 61
Some ears for Christ in this w field of Wales— Sir J. Oldcastle 13 when the w hour and the wine Had set the wits aflame. „ 94 a score of w birds Cried from the topmost summit V. of Maeldune 27 shouting of these w birds ran into the hearts „ 33
For a w witch naked as heaven stood on each „ 100 all the summer long we roam'd in these w woods The Flight 79
'His two w woodland flowers.' „ 80
W flowers blowing side by side in God's free light „ 81
W flowers of the secret woods, „ 82
W woods in which we roved with him, „ 83
W woods in which we rove no more, „ 84
she had never driven me w. Locksley H., Sixty 20
Ages after, while in Asia, he that led the w Moguls, „ 81

Wild (adj.) (continued) Drove it in w disarray, Heavy Brigade 60
w mob's million feet Will kick you from your place, The Fleet 18
Yea, for some w hope was mine That, The Ring 135
Up leaps the lark, gone w to welcome her, Prog. of Sping 14
I am w again! The coals of fire you heap Romney's R. 140 starved the w beast that was linkt with thee By an Evolution. 11
In some fifth Act what this w Drama means. The Play 4
Yes, my w little Poet. The Throstle 4 w heather round me and over me June's high blue, June Bracken, etc. 2 these Are like w brutes new-caged— Akbar's Dream 50
w horse, anger, plunged To fling me, „ 118
And yet so w and wayward that my dream— „ 172
Wild (s) flight from out your bookless w's Princess ii 56
'Peace, you young savage of the Northern w! „ iii 247 thro' those dark gates across the w That no man knows. „ vii 362
The King was hunting in the w; The Victim 30
The King return'd from out the w, „ 41
Till from the garden and the w In Mem. ci 17
My yet young life in the w's of Time, Maud I xvi 21 then he cried again, 'To the w's!' Geraint and E. 28
a meadow gemlike chased In the brown w, „ 199
Who lived alone in a great w on grass; Merlin and V. 621 that old man Went back to his old w, „ 649
But he by w and way, for half the night, Pelleas and E. 497 doth all that haunts the waste and w Mourn, Pass. of Arthur 48
Wildbeast (See also Wild) felt the blind w of force, Princess v 266
Wild-bird (See also Wild) From the groves within The w-b's din. Poet's Mind 21
Nor bruised the w's egg. Lover's Tale ii 21
Wilder And some are w comrades, Pref. Son. 19th Cent. 12 Wilderness As manna on my w, Supp. Confessions 114
And Fancy watches in the w, Caress'd or chidden 12
I murmur under moon and stars In brambly w'es; The Brook 179
That w of single instances, Aylmer's Field 437
The w shall blossom as the rose. „ 649
Hide, hide them, million-myrtled w, Lucretius 204
And vines, and blowing bosks of w, Princess i 111 wolf and wolfkin, from the w, wallow in it, Boädicea 15
w, full of wolves, where he used to lie; Maud II v 54
And so there grew great tracts of w, Com. of Arthur 10
'I will ride forth into the w; Marr. of Geraint 127
And w'es, perilous paths, they rode: Geraint and E. 32
Here in the heart of waste and w. „ 313
What go ye into the w to see?' Holy Grail 287 weaving over That various w a tissue of light Lover's Tale i 419
But God is with me in this w, Sir J. Oldcastle 8
Over a w Gliding, Merlin and the G. 36 then A hiss as from a w of snakes, St. Telemachus 66 Wildest Their w wailings never out of tune Sea Dreams 231 maybe w dreams Are but the needful preludes Princess, Con. 73
Something other than the w modern guess Locksley H., Sixty 232 Wild-eyed My bright-eyed, w-e falcon, Rosalind 6
Fast, fast, my w-e Rosalind, „ 44
Wildfire Be dazzled by the w Love Princess v 441
Wild-flower (adj.) I had lived a w-f life, The Wreck 37
Wild-flower (s) (See also Wild) Plucking the harmless w-f on the hill?— Maud II i 3
Yet trod I not the w in my path, Lover's Tale ii 20
Wild-goose 'Thou art but a w-g to question it.' Gareth and L. 36
Wilding And like a crag was gay with w flowers: Marr. of Geraint 319
Wildness His w, and the chances of the dark.' Princess iv 244 Wild-swan (See also Wild) made the w-s pause in her cloud, Poet's Song 7 leader w in among the stars Would clang it, Princess iv 434
Wildweed-flower The w-f that simply blows? Day-Dm., Moral 6
Wild-wide found the world, Staring w-w; Balin and Balan 596
Wild Will W W, Black Bess, Tantivy, The Brook 160
Wild-wood (See also Wild) sweeter still The w-w hyacinth Balin and Balan 271
Wile w the length from languorous hours, Princess vii 63
Wilful To make her thrice as w as before.' Lancelot and E. 206
'Father, you call me w, and the fault Is yours „ 750
Being so very w you must go.' (repeat) „ 777, 781
'Being so very w you must die.' „ 783
A rosebud set with little w thorns, Princess, Pro. 154
Wiliest of her court The w and the worst; Guinevere 29
Will (s) Broad-based upon her people's w, To the Queen 35
Will (s) (continued) My Lord, if so it be Thy w.' Supp. Confessions 106
The marvel of the everlasting w, The Poet 7
Chasing itself at its own wild w, Dying Swan 17
Then let wise Nature work her w, My life is full 21
'Sick art thou—a divided w Still heaping Two Voices 106 full-grown w, Circled thro' all experiences, Œnone 165 and yet His w be done! May Queen, Con. 10 yet it chafes me that I could not bend One w: D. of F. Women 138
That I subdued me to my father's w; „ 234
Let her w Be done—to weep To J. S. 43
With one wide W that closes thine. On a Mourner 20 power in his eye That bow'd the w. M. d'Arthur 123
Now Dora felt her uncle's w in all, Dora 5
My home is none of yours. My w is law.' „ 45 more from ignorance than w Walk. to the Mail 110 knowing all Life needs for life is possible to w— Love and Duty 86 strong in w To strive, to seek, to find, Ulysses 69 thy strong Hours indignant work'd their w's, Tithonus 18 his eyes, before they had their w, Godiva 69
A virgin heart in work and w. Sir Galahad 24
Against her father's and mother's w: Edward Gray 10
Used all her fiery w, and smote Her life Will Water. 111
Annie fought against his w: Enoch Arden 158
So grieving held his w, and bore it thro'. „ 167
Set her sad w no less to chime with his, „ 248
Prayer from a living source within the w, „ 801
His vast and filthy hands upon my w, Lucretius 220
Dash them anew together at her w „ 247 laid about them at their w's and died; Princess, Pro. 31
But then she had a w; was he to blame? „ i 48
O that iron w, That axelike edge unturnable, „ ii 202 nor pretty babes To be dandled, no, but living w's, „ iv 147
'sdeath! against my father's w.' „ v 298 yet her w Bred w in me to overcome it or fall. „ 350
since my w Seal'd not the bond— „ 398
Her iron w was broken in her mind; „ vi 117
you the Victor of your w. „ 167
Purpose in purpose, w in w, „ vii 305
Make and break, and work their w; Ode on Well. 261 Whose w is lord thro' all this world-domain— W. to Marie Alex. 2
But I wish'd it had been God's w that I, Grandmother 73
O WELL for him whose w is strong! Will 1
Corrupts the strength of heaven-descended W, „ 11
Thither at their w they haled Boädicea 55
Our w's are ours, we know not how; In Mem, Pro. 15
Our w's are ours, to make them thine. „ 16
My w is bondsman to the dark; „ iv 2
With morning wakes the w, and cries, „ 15
That I could wing my w with might „ xli 10
To riper growth the mind and w: „ xlii 8
To pangs of nature, sins of w, „ liv 3
Till all at once beyond the w „ lxx 13
The sense of human w demands „ lxxxv 39 vague desire That spurs an imitative w. „ cx 20
O living w that shalt endure „ cxxxvi 1 whose gentle w has changed my fate, Maud I xviii 23
For shall not Maud have her w? „ xix 84
(If I read her sweet w right) „ xxi 10
Void of the little living w „ II ii 14
However weary, a spark of w Not to be trampled out. „ 56 cannot will my w, nor work my work Wholly, Com. of Arthur 88
And reigning with one w in everything „ 92 thou dost His w, The Maker's, Gareth and L. 10
A knight of Arthur, working out his w, „ 24
Found her son's w unwaveringly one, „ 141
I therefore yield me freely to thy w; „ 168 and so besieges her To break her w, „ 617
I compel all creatures to my w.' (repeat) Geraint and E. 629, 673 and the wine will change your w.' „ 663 use Both grace and w to pick the vicious quitch „ 903 and brake my boast. Thy w?' Balin and Balan 72 eagle-like Stoop at thy w on Lancelot and the Queen.' „ 536
Fixt in her w, and so the seasons went. Merlin and V. 188
Without the w to lift their eyes, „ 836 and the fault Is yours who let me have my w, Lancelot and E. 751

Will (s) (continued) that I make My w of yours, Lancelot and E. 916 then I said, 'Now shall I have my w:' „ 1047 mine now to work my w— „ 1231 men With strength and w to right the wrong'd, Holy Grail 309 her longing and her w Was toward me as of old; „ 590 baseness in him by default Of w and nature, Pelleas and E. 82
A prisoner, and the vassal of thy w; „ 241 and at her w they couch'd their spears, „ 273
He needs no aid who doth his lady's w.' „ 281
As let these caitiffs on thee work their w?' „ 323
Pelleas answer'd, 'O, their w's are hers „ 324
'Slay then,' he shrieked, 'my w is to be slain,' „ 579
this honour after death, Following thy w! Last Tournament 35
I, being simple, thought to work His w, Pass. of Arthur 22 power in his eye That bow'd the w. „ 291
My w is one with thine; Lover's Tale i 463 heir That scarce can wait the reading of the w „ 676
In battle with the glooms of my dark w, „ 744 edict of the w to reassume The semblance „ ii 161
And I will do your w. I may not stay, „ iv 115
And I will do your w, and none shall know.' „ 120 some with gems Moveable and resettable at w, „ 199 all his to work his w.' „ 283
but the creatures had worked their w. Rizpah 50
An' I thowt 'twur the w o' the Lord, Village Wife 11 not yet too old to work his w— Columbus 161 not Love but Hate that weds a bride against her w; The Flight 32 Strong in w and rich in wisdom, Locksley H., Sixty 49 shedding poison in the fountains of the W. „ 274 Perchance from some abuse of W In worlds Epilogue 24 and had yielded her w To the master, Dead Prophet 63
The blackbirds have their w's, (repeat) Early Spring 5, 47 thy w, a power to make This ever-changing world To Duke of Argyll 9
Howe'er blind force and brainless w Freedom 15
But thro' the W of One who knows and rules— The Ring 42
Her firm w, her fix'd purpose. „ 293 thought he could subdue me to his w. Happy 64
Diffuse thyself at w thro' all my blood, Prog. of Spring 24
Be struck from out the clash of warring w's; „ 95 were you hired? or came of your own w Romney's R. 16 no slaves of a four-footed w? The Dawn 18
we will work thy w Who love thee.' Com. of Arthur 259
Hold thine own, and work thy w! Poets and Critics 13

Will (verb) A man may speak the thing he w; You ask me, why, etc. 8 when Enoch comes again Why then he shall repay me—if you w, Enoch Arden 310 yet my father w's not war: Princess v 277 cannot w my will, nor work my work Wholly, Com. of Arthur 88 knight-errantry Who ride abroad, and do but what they w; Gareth and L. 630
Lord am I In mine own land, and what I w I can.' Lancelot and E. 917
'That were against me: what I can I w;' „ 976 not without She w's it: would I, „ 1422
Let visions of the night or of the day Come, as they w; Holy Grail 911
'Why, let my lady bind me if she w, And let my lady beat me if she w: Pelleas and E. 334 and does what he w with his own; Despair 97

Will be was, and is, and w b, are but is; Princess iii 324
Who am, and was, and w b his, his own and only own, Happy 7

Will'd set his hand To do the thing he w, Enoch Arden 295 might not Averill, had he w it so, Aylmer's Field 46
Her words had issue other than she w. Merlin and V. 806 would I, if she w it? nay, Who knows? Lancelot and E. 1422
I would work according as he w. Holy Grail 784
Else, for the King has w it, it is well.' Last Tournament 111
She rose, and set before him all he w; „ 723 had he w I might have stricken a lusty stroke Sir J. Oldcastle 68

Willest if Thou w, let my day be brief, Doubt and Prayer 13

William (See also Willy) at the farm abode W and Dora. W was his son, Dora 2
And yearn'd toward W; but the youth, „ 6
But W answer'd short; 'I cannot marry Dora; „ 22
Consider, W: take a month to think, „ 29
But W answer'd madly; bit his lips, „ 33 days went on, and there was born a boy To W; „ 49
William (continued) till at last a fever seized On W, Dora 55 all thro' me This evil came on W at the first. „ 61
And answer'd softly, 'This is W's child!' „ 90 work for W's child, until he grows Of age „ 126 never came a-begging for myself, Or W, or this child; „ 142 when W died, he died at peace With all men; „ 144 for three hours he sobb'd o'er W's child Thinking of W. „ 167

Willing Thou, w me to stay, Madeline 37
Nor w men should come among us, Princess iii 318
w she should keep Court-favour: „ vii 57
A w ear We lent him. In Mem. lxxxvii 30
Wroth at himself. Not w to be known, Lancelot and E. 160

Willingly 'Yea, w,' replied the youth; Geraint and E. 207
You say that you can do it as w Sisters (E. and E) 70

Willis I niver puts saäme i' my butter, they does it at W's farm, Village Wife 119

Willow One w over the river wept, Dying Swan 14
W's whiten, aspens quiver, L. of Shalott i 10 found a boat Beneath a w left afloat, „ iv 7
Shrank one sick w sere and small. Mariana in the S. 53
There by the humpback'd w; Walk. to the Mail 31 shock-head w's two and two By rivers gallopaded. Amphion 39 measured pulse of racing oars Among the w's; In Mem. lxxxvii 11
Silvery w, Pasture and plowland, Merlin and the G. 53

Willow-branches And the w-b hoar and dank, Dying Swan 37

Willows (See also James, James Willows, Katie, Katie Willows) What surname?' 'W.' 'No!' The Brook 212

Willow-veil'd By the margin, w-v, L. of Shalott i 19

Willow-weed fairy foreland set With w-w and mallow. The Brook 46

Willowy boat-head wound along The w hills and fields among, L. of Shalott iv 25

Willy (See also William) And W, my eldest-born, is gone, you say, Grandmother 1
And W's wife has written: (repeat) „ 3, 105 Never the wife for W: „ 4 and W, you say, is gone. „ 8
W, my beauty, my eldest-born, the flower of the flock; Never a man could fling him: for W stood like a rock. „ 9
I cannot weep for W, nor can I weep for the rest; „ 19
W had not been down to the farm for a week and a day; „ 33
W,—he didn't see me,—and Jenny hung on his arm. „ 42
W stood up like a man, and look'd the thing „ 45
'Marry you, W!' said I, „ 53
So W and I were wedded: I wore a lilac gown; „ 57
For W I cannot weep, I shall see him another morn: „ 67
W, my eldest-born, at nigh threescore and ten; „ 87
So W has gone, my beauty, my eldest-born, my flower; But how can I weep for W, „ 101
And W's wife has written, she never was over-wise. „ 105
W's voice in the wind, 'O mother, Rizpah 2 couldn't be idle—my W—he never could rest. „ 27
My W 'ill rise up whole when the trumpet „ 57
I'm sure to be happy with W, I know not where. „ 76 for my W's voice in the wind— „ 82
W—the moon's in a cloud—Good-night. „ 86

Wilt thou The 'w t' answer'd, and again The 'w t' ask'd, In Mem., Con. 54

Wily At Merlin's feet the w Vivien lay. Merlin and V. 5
The w Vivien stole from Arthur's court. „ 149

Wimple From beneath her gather'd w Lilian 14

Win Woo me, and w me, and marry me, The Mermaid 46 power which ever to its sway Will w the wise at once, Mine be the strength 10
And w all eyes with all accomplishment: The form, the form 4
To w his love I lay in wait: The Sisters 11
Of me you shall not w renown: L. C. V. de Vere 2
The warmth it thence shall w Talking Oak 254
Which did w my heart from me!' L. of Burleigh 84 where two fight The strongest w's, Aylmer's Field 365
How roughly men may woo thee so they w— Lucretius 273
That she but meant to w him back, „ 279 and be you The Prince to w her! Princess, Pro. 226
'Follow, follow, thou shalt w.' „ i 100
And partly that I hoped to w you back, „ iv 304

Win (continued) w's, tho' dash'd with death He reddens Princess v 164
if we fail, we fail, And if we w, we fail: „ 323
And on the 'Follow, follow, thou shalt w:' „ 472
W you the hearts of women; „ vi 171
—verily I think to w.' „ 329
Emperor, Ottoman, which shall w: To F. D. Maurice 32
That out of words a comfort w; In Mem. xx 10 the past will always w A glory from its being far; „ xxiv 13 they could not w An answer from my lips, „ ciii 49
And the titmouse hope to w her Maud I xx 29
Belike he w's it as the better man: Gareth and L. 1346
To dash against mine enemy and to w. „ 1355
For tho' it seems my spurs are yet to w, Marr. of Geraint 128
I know men: nor will ye w him back, Geraint and E. 332 who sought to w my love Thro' evil ways: Balin and Balan 474
Vivien had not done to w his trust Merlin and V. 863
W! by this kiss you will: Lancelot and E. 152
They prove to him his work: w and return.' „ 158
Joust for it, and w, and bring it in an hour, „ 204
W shall I not, but do my best to w: „ 221
And you shall w this diamond,— „ 227
To w his honour and to make his name, „ 1362 while women watch Who w's, who falls; Holy Grail 35 and they would w thee—teem, „ 541 he will fight for me, And w the circlet: Pelleas and E. 119
And w me this fine circlet, Pelleas, „ 128 he cried, 'Ay! wilt thou if I w?' 'Ay, that will I,' „ 131 purest of thy knights May w them Last Tournament 50
For courtesy w's woman all as well As valour may, „ 707
Yet so my path was clear To w the sister. Sisters (E. and E.) 203 no caress could w my wife Back to that passionate answer „ 258
w all praise from all Who past it, Tiresias 83
To w her back before I die— Romney's R. 118
Wince You should have seen him w Walk. to the Mail 71
Wind (s) (See also East-wind, March-wind, Night-wind, North-wind, Sea-wind, South-wind)
When will the w be aweary of blowing Nothing will Die 3
The stream flows, The w blows, „ 10
Shall make the w's blow Round and round, „ 23
So let the w range; „ 32 south w's are blowing Over the sky. All Things will Die 3
The w will cease to blow; „ 10
Nor the w on the hill. „ 26
So let the warm w's range, „ 42
W's creep; dews fall chilly: Leonine Eleg. 7
The w's, as at their hour of birth, The winds, etc. 1
Till cold w's woke the gray-eyed morn Mariana 31
the shrill w's were up and away, „ 50 wild w's bound within their cell, „ 54 sound Which to the wooing w aloof The poplar made, „ 75 palms were ranged Above, unwoo'd of summer w: Arabian Nights 80
The dew-impearled w's of dawn have kiss'd, Ode to Memory 14 flowers which in the rudest w Never grow sere, „ 24
From brawling storms, From weary w, „ 113 w's Blew his own praises in his eyes, A Character 21
the w's which bore Them earthward The Poet 17
Bright as light, and clear as w. Poet's Mind 7 Ever the weary w went on, Dying Swan 9 shook the wave as the w did sigh; „ 15
Above in the w was the swallow, „ 16
W's were blowing, waters flowing, Oriana 14
When Norland w's pipe down the sea, „ 91
Lovest thou the doleful w Adeline 49
Careless both of w and weather, Rosalind 7
Up or down the streaming w? „ 9
The leaping stream, the very w, „ 14
the amorous, odorous w Breathes low Eleänore 123
'Tho' thou wert scatter'd to the w, Two Voices 32
He sows himself on every w. „ 294
And, in the pauses of the w, Miller's D. 122
I whirl like leaves in roaring w. Fatima 7
The w sounds like a silver wire, „ 29
Rests like a shadow, and the w's are dead. Œnone 28
the foam-bow brightens When the w blows the foam, „ 62

Wind (s) (continued) a w arose, And overhead the wandering ivy Œnone 98
The w is blowing in turret and tree. (repeat) The Sisters 3, 33
The w is howling in turret and tree. „ 9
The w is roaring in turret and tree. „ 15
The w is raging in turret and tree. „ 21
The w is raving in turret and tree. „ 27
And hoary to the w. Palace of Art 80 trees began to whisper, and the w began to roll, May Queen, Con. 27 up the valley came a swell of music on the w. „ 32 up the valley came again the music on the w. „ 36
With w's upon the branch, Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 27
All day the w breathes low with mellower tone: „ 102
w and wave and oar; „ 127
Bluster the w's and tides the self-same way, D. of F. Women 38
Whirl'd by the w, had roll'd me deep below, „ 119
And the winter w's are wearily sighing: D. of the O. Year 2
The w, that beats the mountain, blows To J. S. 1
God's ordinance Of Death is blown in every w;' „ 46 waft me from the harbour mouth, Wild w! You ask me, why, etc. 26 voice Came rolling on the w. Of old sat Freedom 8 Make knowledge circle with the w's; Love thou thy land 17
lest the soul Of Discord race the rising w; „ 68
A w to puff your idol-fires, „ 69
The wild w rang from park and plain, The Goose 45 like a w, that shrills All night in a waste land, M. d'Arthur 201
Nor ever w blows loudly; „ 261
Beneath a broad and equal-blowing w, Gardener's D. 77
Night slid down one long stream of sighing w, „ 267
But she was sharper than an eastern w, Audley Court 53 soft w blowing over meadowy holms And alders, Edwin Morris 95 Rain, w, frost, heat, hail, St. S. Stylites 16
Till that wild w made work Talking Oak 54
'I swear, by leaf, and w, and rain, „ 81
'A light w chased her on the wing, „ 125 light as any w that blows So fleetly „ 129 and the w's are laid with sound. Locksley Hall 104
For the mighty w arises, roaring seaward, „ 194
As w's from all the compass shift and blow, Godiva 33
And all the low w hardly breathed for fear. „ 55
And many a merry w was borne, Day-Dm., Depart. 14
And the w did blow; The Captain 34
The happy w's upon her play'd, Sir L. and Q. G. 38
There let the w sweep and the plover cry; Come not, when, etc. 5
A light w blew from the gates of the sun, Poet's Song 3
Then follow'd calms, and then w's variable, Enoch Arden 545 blown by baffling w's, Like the Good Fortune, „ 628 His fancy fled before the lazy w „ 657 the w blew; The rain of heaven, Aylmer's Field 427 o'er those lazy limits down the w With rumour, „ 495
Where never creeps a cloud, or moves a w, Lucretius 106
Like linnets in the pauses of the w: Princess, Pro. 246
And therewithal an answer vague as w: „ i 45
A w arose and rush'd upon the South, „ 97 smile that like a wrinkling w On glassy water „ 115
She rose upon a w of prophecy „ ii 171
W of the western sea, (repeat) „ iii 2, 4 often fretful as the w Pent in a crevice: „ 80
Upon the level in little puffs of w, „ iv 256
Huge women blowzed with health, and w, and rain, „ 279 light w wakes A lisping of the innumerous leaf „ v 13
Until they hate to hear me like a w „ 98
That range above the region of the w, „ Con. 112 four-square to all the w's that blew! Ode on Well. 39 Yell'd as when the w's of winter tear an oak Boädicea 77 w's from off the plain Roll'd the rich vapour Spec. of Iliad 7 moon Look beautiful, when all the w's are laid, „ 12 the w's are up in the morning? (repeat) Window, On the Hill 5, 10, 15, 20 w's and lights and shadows that cannot be still, „ 7 wet west w and the world will go on. (repeat) „ No Answer 6, 12
The w and the wet, the w and the wet! „ 13
Wet west w how you blow, you blow! „ 14 wet west w and the world may go on. „ 18
W's are loud and you are dumb, „ 19
W's are loud and w's will pass! „ 22

Wind (s) (continued) A flower beat with rain and w, In Mem. viii 15
Sleep, gentle w's, as he sleeps now, „ ix 15
To-night the w's begin to rise And roar „ xv 1
Each voice four changes on the w, „ xviii 9
We paused: the w's were in the beech: „ xxx 9
But blame not thou the w's that make „ xlix 10
No wing of w the region swept, „ lxviii 6
All w's that roam the twilight came „ lxix 11
And every pulse of w and wave „ lxxv 73
I hear a w Of memory murmuring the past. „ xcii 7 while the w began to sweep A music „ ciii 53
Nor feed with sighs a passing w: „ cviii 4 the w like a broken worldling wail'd, Maud I i 11 Walk'd in a wintry w by a ghastly glimmer, „ iii 13 shake its threaded tears in the w no more. „ III vi 28 and the war roll down like a w, „ 54
In drifts of smoke before a rolling w, Com. of Arthur 434
When waken'd by the w which with full voice Gareth and L. 176
A censer, either worn with w and storm; „ 222 like a sudden w Among dead leaves, „ 514 but the w hath changed: I scent it twenty-fold.' „ 994
'Hath not the good w, damsel, changed again? „ 1054
the w will never change again.' „ 1140
And scatter'd all they had to all the w's: Marr. of Geraint 635
A storm was coming, but the w's were still, Merlin and V. 1
Among the dead and sown upon the w— „ 45
Drave with a sudden w across the deeps, „ 201
Thro' the dim land against a rushing w, „ 425
An angry gust of w Puff'd out his torch „ 730
Their plumes driv'n backward by the w they made Lancelot and E. 480 and went To all the w's?' „ 658 glooms Of evening, and the moanings of the w. „ 1003
All in a fiery dawning wild with w „ 1020 the sun Shone, and the w blew, thro' her, Holy Grail 99
Such as no w could move: „ 681
And the w fell, and on the seventh night „ 810 strange knights From the four w's came in: Pelleas and E. 148 like a poisonous w I pass to blast „ 569 thro' the tree Rush'd ever a rainy w, and thro' the w Pierced ever a child's cry: Last Tournament 16
Brake with a wet w blowing, Lancelot, „ 137
And ever the w blew, and yellowing leaf „ 154 till the warm hour returns With veer of w, „ 231 and the w among the boughs. „ 489
'Ay, ay, O ay—the w's that bend the brier! „ 731
O ay—the w's that bow the grass! „ 735
O ay—the w's that move the mere.' „ 738
As the sharp w that ruffles all day long Guinevere 50
Till in the cold w that foreruns the morn, „ 132 Stands in a w, ready to break and fly, „ 365 ghost of Gawain blown Along a wandering w, Pass. of Arthur 32
And I am blown along a wandering w, „ 36 down the long w the dream Shrill'd; „ 40
O light upon the w, Thine, Gawain, was the voice— „ 46 came A bitter w, clear from the North, and blew The mist aside, and with that w the tide Rose, „ 124 like a w that shrills All night in a waste land, „ 369
Nor ever w blows loudly; „ 429
Waverings of every vane with every w, To the Queen ii 50 charged the w's With spiced May-sweets Lover's Tale i 317
And shot itself into the singing w's; „ 369 thence one night, when all the w's were loud, „ 378
The w Told a lovetale beside us, „ 542 waters answering lisp'd To kisses of the w, that, „ 545
The w had blown above me, „ 622 hour died Like odour rapt into the winged w „ 801 soft w's, Laden with thistledown and seeds „ ii 12
the w Came wooingly with woodbine smells. „ 35
All crisped sounds of wave and leaf and w, „ 106 silent-creeping w's Laid the long night „ 111 mast bent and the ravin w In her sail roaring. „ 170
we whirl'd giddily: the w Sung; „ 201
Slow-moving as a wave against the w, „ iv 293 like ships i' the Channel a-sailing with w an' tide. First Quarrel 42
An' the w began to rise, „ 89

Wind (s) (continued) wailing, wailing, the w over land and sea— Rizpah 1
Willy's voice in the w, 'O mother, „ 2 and the w and the shower and the snow. „ 68
The w that 'ill wail like a child „ 72 for my Willy's voice in the w— „ 82 coostom ageän draw'd in like a w fro' far an' wide, North. Cobbler 93
When a w from the lands they had ruin'd The Revenge 112 and the w Still westward, and the weedy seas— Columbus 71 the w's were dead for heat; Tiresias 34 warm w's had gently breathed us away from the land— The Wreck 63 orphan wail came borne in the shriek of a growing w, „ 87 some of late would raise a w To sing thee to thy grave, Freedom 35
Among the wail of midnight w's, Demeter and P. 59
w blawin' hard tother waäy, an' the w wasn't like to turn. Owd Roä 104 you shiver tho' the w is west The Ring 29 one silent voice Came on the w, „ 154 changest, breathing it, the sullen w, Prog. of Spring 110 when all but the w's were dead, The Dreamer 1
To the wail of my w's, „ 13
Was it only the w of the Night shrilling „ 15
Wind (verb) W's all the vale in rosy folds, Miller's D. 242
Where yon dark valleys w forlorn, On a Mourner 22
More close and close his footsteps w: Day-Dm., Arrival 25
I w about, and in and out, The Brook 55
w And double in and out the boles, Princess iv 261
Still onward w's the dreary way; In Mem. xxvi 1
And w's their curls about his hand: „ lxvi 12
It lightly w's and steals In a cold white robe Maud II iv 18 and every way the vales W, Tiresias 183
And w the front of youth with flowers, Ancient Sage 97
Wind-driven spray w-d Far thro' the dizzy dark. Lover's Tale ii 198
Winded (See also Long-winded) And w it, and that so musically Pelleas and E. 365
the lilies like the glaciers w down, V. of Maeldune 42 Winder (window) Stan' 'im theer i' the w, North. Cobbler 75 out o' sight o' the w's o' Gigglesby Hinn— Spinster's S's. 35
I claums an' I mashes the w hin, Owd Roä 83 wi' my bairn i' 'is mouth to the w „ 92
I claumb'd up ageän to the w, „ 99
Wind-footed fled W-f to the steeple in the woods, Lover's Tale iii 56
Wind-hover (kestrel) as long As the w-h hangs in balance, Aylmer's Field 321
Winding (See also Westward-winding) From the river w clearly, L. of Shalott i 31
she sees the highway near W down to Camelot: „ ii 14
we paused About the w's of the marge Edwin Morris 94
Low voluptuous music w trembled, Vision of Sin 17
w under woodbine bowers, The Brook 88
We glided w under ranks Of iris, In Mem. ciii 23
The rock rose clear, or w stair. Palace of Art 10 a full-fed river w slow By herds upon an endless plain, „ 73 and many a w vale And meadow, Lotos-Eaters 22
The Lotos blows by every w creek: „ C. S. 101
On open main or w shore! The Voyage 6 the lawns And w glades high up like ways to Heaven, Enoch Arden 573
On w stream or distant sea; In Mem. cxv 12
Far down beneath a w wall of rock Last Tournament 11
She chanted snatches of mysterious hymns Heard on the w waters, Lancelot and E. 1408
Windle (drifted snow) all on 'em bolster'd oop wi' the w that night; Owd Roä 32
Windless Who might'st have heaved a w flame Up the deep East, In Mem. lxxii 13 all the sway and whirl Of the storm dropt to w calm, Lover's Tale ii 207
Windmill an' thy w oop o' the croft, Spinster's S's. 73
Window (adj.) Oh is it the brook, or a pool, or her w pane, Window, On the Hill 4
And never a glimpse of her w pane! „ No Answer 3 on the w ledge, Close underneath his eyes, Lancelot and E. 1239 Window (s) (See also Bay-window, Cabin-window, Parlour-window, Winder) The fourscore w's all alight Arabian Nights 122
Leaving doors and w's wide: Deserted House 3
In the w's is no light; „ 6

Window (s) (continued) Or thro' the w's we shall see The' nakedness Deserted House 10 the deep-set w's, stain'd and traced, Palace of Art 49 forms that pass'd at w's and on roofs D. of F. Women 23 Reveal'd their shining w's : Gardener's D. 220 all Should keep within, door shut, and w barr'd. Godiva 41 Saw from his w's nothing save his own— Aylmer's Field 21 so To the open w moved, remaining there Princess iv 492
The giant w's' blazon'd fires, The Daisy 58
Clasp her w, trail and twine ! Window, At the Window 2 Blaze upon her w, sun, " When 15 were laid On the hasp of the w, Maud I xiv 19
The Lady Lyonors at a w stood, Gareth and L. 1375 glancing on the w, when the gloom Of twilight Balin and Balan 232 Where twelve great w's blazon Arthur's wars, Holy Grail 248 lands in your view From this bay w— Sisters (E. and E.) 52
May leave the w's blinded, Romney's R. 146
Window-bars it came, and close beside the w-b, May Queen, Con. 39
Window-pane Oh is it the brook, or a pool, or her w p, Window, On the Hill 4
I follow them down to the w-p of my dear, " 17
And never a glimpse of her w p ! " No Answer 3
Wind-scatter'd surf w-s over sails and masts, D. of F. Women 31
Windy Beneath the w wall. Palace of Art 72 building rook 'll caw from the w tall elm-tree, May Queen, N. Y's. E. 17
And it was w weather. (repeat) The Goose 4, 40 you hear The w clanging of the minster clock ; Gardener's D. 38 Far on the ringing plains of w Troy. Ulysses 17
Fly o'er waste fens and w fields. Sir Galahad 60
By Ellen's grave, on the w hill. Edward Gray 12
All the w ways of men Are but dust that rises up, (repeat) Vision of Sin 132, 168
And swang besides on many a w sign— Aylmer's Field 19
That climb into the w halls of heaven : Lucretius 136 ere the w jest Had labour'd down within Princess v 272 Fair-hair'd and redder than a w morn ; " Con. 91
Flames, on the w headland flare ! W. to Alexandra 16
Or sheepwalk up the w wold ; In Mem. c 8 Uncared for, gird the w grove, " ci 13 of grain Storm-strengthen'd on a w site, Gareth and L. 692 Comes flying over many a w wave To Britain, Marr. of Geraint 337 Swung from his brand a w buffet out Once, Geraint and E. 90 slide From the long shore-cliff's w walls " 164
And all the w clamour of the daws " 255
On sallows in the w gleams of March : Merlin and V. 225
On some wild down above the w deep, " 658
Wine (See also Adam's wine, Cowslip wine) our friends are all forsaking The w and the merry-making. All Things will Die 19
Across the walnuts and the w— Miller's D. 32 little dues of wheat, and w and oil ; Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 122 think not they are glazed with w. Locksley Hall 51
as moonlight unto sunlight, and as water unto w— " 152
And beaker brimm'd with noble w. Day-Dm., Sleep. P. 36 she comes and dips Her laurel in the w, Will Water. 18
Sipt w from silver, praising God, " 127
By heaps of gourds, and skins of w, Vision of Sin 13
Bring me spices, bring me w ; " 76
W is good for shrivell'd lips, " 79
Let me loose thy tongue with w : " 88
Charier of sleep, and w, and exercise, Aylmer's Field 448
Warm'd with his w's, or taking pride in her, " 554
Sat at his table ; drank his costly w's ; Sea Dreams 74 they talk'd At w, in clubs, of art, of politics ; Princess, Pro. 161 call'd mine host To council, plied him with his richest w's, " i 174 those That lay at w with Lar and Lucumo ; " ii 129 Fruit, blossom, viand, amber w, " iv 35 not a death's-head at the w.' " 87
And had our w and chess beneath the planes, " vi 246
Steel and gold, and corn and w, Ode Inter. Exhib. 17
But honest talk and wholesome w, To F. D. Maurice 18 honey-hearted w And bread from out the houses Spec. of Iliad 5 (And dear to me as sacred w To dying lips In Mem. xxxvii 19
'Twas well, indeed, when warm with w, " xc 9

Wine (continued) fetch the w, Arrange the board and brim the glass ; In Mem. cvii 15
yes !—but a company forges the w. Maud I i 36
I fear, the new strong w of love, " vi 82
Betrothed us over their w, " xix 39
That he left his w and horses and play, " 74 brief night goes In babble and revel and w. " xxii 28 feeble vassals of w and anger and lust, " II i 43 baken meats and good red w Of Southland, Gareth and L. 1190 Go to the town and buy us flesh and w ; Marr. of Geraint 372 means of goodly welcome, flesh and w. " 387
For now the w made summer in his veins, " 398
A creature wholly given to brawls and w, " 441 cried Geraint for w and goodly cheer Geraint and E. 283
And w and food were brought, " 289
When w and free companions kindled him, " 293
So vanish friendships only made in w. " 479 call'd for flesh and w to feed his spears. " 601
(And fill'd a horn with w and held it to her,) " 659
Drink therefore and the w will change your will.' " 663
I will not look at w until I die.' " 667
Nor ever touch'd fierce w, nor tasted flesh, Merlin and V. 627
They sit with knife in meat and w in horn ! " 694
But once in life was fluster'd with new w, " 756 and by fountains running w, Last Tournament 141 did ye mark that fountain yesterday Made to run w ?— " 287
To hand the w to whosoever came— " 290 hurl'd The tables over and the w's, " 475 that I should suck Lies like sweet w's : " 645 meat, W, w—and I will love thee to the death, " 720 these had comforted the blood With meats and w's, " 725 straddling on the butts While the w ran : Guinevere 269 Till, drunk with its own w, Lover's Tale i 271 w's that, Heaven knows when, Had suck'd the fire " iv 193
the w's being of such nobleness— " 222 priceless goblet with a priceless w Arising, " 227 Crazy with laughter and babble and earth's new w, To A. Tennyson 2
For see—this w—the grape from whence Sisters (E. and E.) 61 hev a glass o' cowslip w ! Village Wife 5
Droonk wi' the Quoloty's w, " 77 Taäste another drop o' the w— " 120 the wild hour and the w Had set the wits aflame. Sir J. Oldcastle 94 riotous fits Of w and harlotry— " 101 was the poisonous pleasure of w ; V. of Maeldune 62 of a hand giving bread and w, The Wreck 114
As laughter over w, Ancient Sage 184
' Yet w and laughter friends ! " 195 Nor drown thyself with flies in honied w ; " 268 guest may make True cheer with honest w— Pro. to Gen. Hamley 16 Wealth with his w's and his wedded harlots ; Vastness 19 and choice of women and of w's ? By an Evolution. 8 men may taste Swine-flesh, drink w ; Akbar's Dream 54 one of those Who mix the w's of heresy " 174 brag to his fellow rakes of his conquest over the w ? Charity 18
Wine-flask The w-f lying couch'd in moss, In Mem. lxxxix 44
Wine-heated Moist as they were, w-h from the feast ; Geraint and E. 351 Wing (s) (See also Ankle-wing) What they say betwixt their w's ? Adeline 29
And clip your w's, and make you love : Rosalind 45
Droops both his w's, regarding thee, Eleänore 119
' He dried his w's : like gauze they grew ; Two Voices 13
' Here sits he shaping w's to fly : " 289 fold our w's, And cease from wanderings, Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 19 crested bird That claps his w's at dawn. D. of F. Women 180 hearts and feeble w's That every sophister Love thou thy land 11 lime a summer home of murmurous w's. Gardener's D. 48
O'er the mute city stole with folded w's, Distilling odours " 186
While the prime swallow dips his w, Edwin Morris 145
This dull chrysalis Cracks into shining w's, St. S. Stylites 156
' A light wind chased her on the w, Talking Oak 125
On sleeping w's they sail. Sir Galahad 44
W's flutter, voices hover clear : " 78
Tho' fortune clip my w's, Will Water. 50

Wing (s) (continued) seabird crosses With one waft of the w. The Captain 72
He rode a horse with w's, Vision of Sin 3 hung With w's of brooding shelter o'er her peace, Aylmer's Field 139
So often, that the folly taking w's „ 494
Till the little w's are stronger. Sea Dreams 298
Whereon a woman-statue rose with w's Princess i 210
wheel'd on Europe-shadowing w's, Ode on Well. 120 you have gotten the w's of love, Window, Ay 15 Spread thy full w's, and waft him o'er In Mem. ix 4
The wild pulsation of her w's; „ xii 4
My fancies time to rise on w, „ xiii 17 that dip Their w's in tears, and skim away. „ xlviii 16
Self-balanced on a lightsome w: „ lxv 8
Take w's of fancy, and ascend, „ lxxvi 1
Take w's of foresight; lighten thro' „ 5
No w of wind the region swept, „ lxxviii 6
Or eagle's w, or insect's eye; „ cxxiv 6
The love that rose on stronger w's, „ cxxviii 1
My life has crept so long on a broken w Maud III vi 1 a Shape that fled With broken w's, Gareth and L. 1208 and w's Moved in her ivy, Marr. of Geraint 598 made his feet W's thro' a glimmering gallery, Balin and Balan 404
To catch a loathly plume fall'n from the w Merlin and V. 727
And on the fourth are men with growing w's, Holy Grail 237
And peak'd w's pointed to the Northern Star. „ 240
And both the w's are made of gold, „ 242
Became a living creature clad with w's? „ 519
Half-wrench'd a golden w; „ 733
Great angels, awful shapes, and w's and eyes. „ 848
Follow'd a rush of eagle's w's, Last Tournament 417 swum with balanced w's To some tall mountain: Lover's Tale i 302
Love, rising, shook his w's, and charged the winds „ 317
Love wraps his w's on either side the heart, „ 467 like the waft of an Angel's w; In the Child. Hosp. 38
The moth will singe her w's, Sir J. Oldcastle 189
Sphinx, with w's drawn back, Tiresias 148 rose as it were on the w's of an eagle The Wreck 69 Without their hope of w's!' Ancient Sage 211
w push'd out to the left and a w to the right, Heavy Brigade 15
Russian crowd Folded its w's „ 39
And showing them, souls have w's! Dead Prophet 12 in their turn thy warblers rise on w. Prog. of Spring 108 a shape with w's Came sweeping by him, St. Telemachus 24
The shape with w's. „ 38
Bring me my horse—my horse? my w's Mechanophilus 9
Wing (verb) Stoops at all game that w the skies, Rosalind 4
Far as the wild swan w's, to where the sky Palace of Art 31
That I could w my will with might In Mem. xli 10
Wing-case slide apart Their dusk w-c's, Gareth and L. 687
Wing'd (See also Black-wing'd, Light-wing'd, Strong-wing'd, White-wing'd, Wide-wing'd) arrows of his thoughts were headed And w with flame, The Poet 12 bravely furnish'd all abroad to fling The w shafts of truth, „ 26
That sought to sow themselves like w seeds, Gardener's D. 65
Stood from his walls and w his entry-gates Aylmer's Field 18
From four w horses dark against the stars; Princess i 211 and w Her transit to the throne, „ iv 377
Or keeps his w affections clipt with crime: „ vii 316
Not making his high place the lawless perch Of w ambitions, Ded. of Idylls 23
Tits, wrens, and all w nothings peck him dead! Marr. of Geraint 275
Like odour rapt into the w wind Lover's Tale i 801
Winging What time I watch'd the swallow w Princess iv 89
Wink (s) Till with a w his dream was changed, Com. of Arthur 441
(For in a w the false love turns to hate) Merlin and V. 852 Wink (verb) ere a star can w, beheld her there. Gardener's D. 122 one that nods and w's behind a slowly dying fire. Locksley Hall 136
W at our advent: help my prince to gain Princess iii 160
Nor w's the gold fin in the porphyry font: „ vii 178
But w no more in slothful overtrust. Ode on Well. 170
'Man! is he man at all, who knows and w's? Sees what his fair bride is and does, and w's? Merlin and V. 781
Wink'd last light, that long Had w and threaten'd darkness, M. d'Arthur, Ep. 2
Wink'd (continued) which for bribe had w at wrong, Geraint and E. 939
Mutinies, treacheries—w at, and condoned— Columbus 226
Winking The landscape w thro' the heat: In Mem. lxxxix 16
W his eyes, and twisted all his face. Lancelot and E. 1145
Winner Are w's in this pastime of our King. Last Tournament 199
Winnie Minnie and W Slept in a shell. Minnie and Winnie 1
Winning W its way with extreme gentleness Isabel 23
To all the people, w reverence. M. d'Arthur 108
If such be worth the w now, You might have won 2
w easy grace, No doubt, for slight delay, Princess iv 330 a good mother, a good wife, Worth w; „ v 167
To all the people, w reverence. Pass. of Arthur 276
Winnow enormous polypi W with giant arms The Kraken 10
Winsome Was wedded with a w wife, Ygerne: Com. of Arthur 188
Peept the w face of Edith like a flower Locksley H., Sixty 260
Wint (went) an' thin w into the dark. Tomorrow 22 people 'ud see it that w in to mass— „ 74
Winter (adj.) (See also Midwinter) The mellow'd reflex of a w moon; Isabel 29
From w rains that beat his grave. Two Voices 261
The slow result of w showers: „ 452
Full knee-deep lies the w snow, And the w winds are wearily sighing: D. of the O. Year 1
Among the mountains by the w sea; M. d'Arthur 2
w moon, Brightening the skirts of a long cloud, „ 53
And the long glories of the w moon. „ 192
And like an oaken stock in w woods, Golden Year 62
Made orphan by a w shipwreck, Enoch Arden 15 face, Rough-redden'd with a thousand w gales, „ 95
Mock-Hymen were laid up like w bats, Princess iv 144
Which in our w woodland looks a flower. A Dedication 13
We heard them sweep the w land; In Mem. xxx 10
Glastonbury, where the w thorn Blossoms at Christmas, Holy Grail 52
Among the mountains by the w sea; Pass. of Arthur 171
w moon, Brightening the skirts of a long cloud, „ 221
And the long glories of the w moon. „ 360
The stillness of the dead world's w dawn „ 442
Weird Titan by thy w weight of years To Victor Hugo 7
She spies the summer thro' the w bud, Ancient Sage 74
She that finds a w sunset fairer than a morn of Spring. Locksley H., Sixty 22
Dumb on the w heath he lay. Dead Prophet 13
Sun Burst from a swimming fleece of w gray, Demeter and P. 20 and Ætna kept her w snow. „ 115
That icy w silence—how it froze you Happy 71
I soaking here in w wet— To Ulysses 6
Who love the w woods, to trace On paler heavens „ 14 thro' the sunless w morning-mist In silence wept Death of Œnone 8 Winter (s) (See also Midwinter, Summer-winter) 'Tis the world's w; Nothing will Die 17
A hundred w's snow'd upon his breast, Palace of Art 139 where the moving isles of w shock By night, M. d'Arthur 140 Three w's, that my soul might grow to thee, St. S. Stylites 71 monsters only made to kill Time by the fire in w.' Princess, Pro. 205
'Why not a summer's as a w's tale? „ 209
we should have him back Who told the 'W's tale' „ 238
Those w's of abeyance all worn out, „ iv 440
Whose eighty w's freeze with one rebuke Ode on Well. 186
Your presence will be sun in w, To F. D. Maurice 3
To break the blast of w, stand; „ 22
Yell'd as when the winds of w Boädicea 77
Till growing w's lay me low; In Mem. xl 30
And every w change to spring. „ liv 16
As in the w's left behind, „ lxxviii 9
Merlin, whose vast wit And hundred w's Com. of Arthur 281
A man wellnigh a hundred w's old, Holy Grail 85
And each of these a hundred w's old, „ 88 man was no more than a voice In the white w of his age, Pass. of Arthur 4 seen where the moving isles of w shock By night, „ 308 and his w's were fifteen score, V. of Maeldune 116
His w chills him to the root, Ancient Sage 119
Eighty w's leave the dog too lame to follow Locksley H., Sixty 226
Spring and Summer and Autumn and W, Vastness 29

Winter (s) (continued) a breath that past With all the cold of w. The Ring 33 fingers were so stiffen'd by the frost Of seven and ninety w's, „ 240 sigh'd In the w of the Present for the summer of the Past; Happy 70
My yucca, which no w quells, To Ulysses 21
To wallow in that w of the hills. Romney's R. 15
And all the w's are hidden. The Throstle 16
In a hundred, a thousand w's? The Dawn 24
Winter-black One night when earth was w-b, To E. Fitzgerald 21
Winter-clad Tattoo'd or woaded, w-c in skins, Princess ii 120
Winter'd See Many-winter'd
Winter-field The tented w-f was broken up Aylmer's Field 110
Winterless the sons of a w day. The Wreck 74
Wintertide in w shall star The black earth Ode to Memory 19
Would make the world as blank as W-t. Last Tournament 221
Winter-white by age as w-w As mine is now, Tiresias 19
Wintry So she, and turn'd askance a w eye: Princess vi 329
Who roll'd the psalm to w skies, In Mem. lvi 11
Walk'd in a w wind by a ghastly glimmer, Maud I iii 13
Scarr'd with a hundred w water-courses— Holy Grail 490
Gleam, that had waned to a w glimmer On icy fallow Merlin and the G. 83
Wiped Why 'edn't tha w thy shoes? Spinster's S's. 46
Wire The wind sounds like a silver w, Fatima 29
The parrot in his gilded w's. Day-Dm., Sleep. P. 16
A man with knobs and w's and vials fired A cannon: Princess, Pro. 65
Up thro' gilt w's a crafty loving eye, „ 172 who thrumm'd On such a w as musically Last Tournament 323
Wirer The nightly w of their innocent hare Aylmer's Field 490
Wiry writhed his w arms Around him, Gareth and L. 1150
Wisdom her raiment's hem was traced in flame W, The Poet 46
Could his dark w find it out, Two Voices 308 wisdom-bred And throned of w— Œnone 124 Were w in the scorn of consequence.' „ 150 stay'd the Ausonian king to hear Of w Palace of Art 112
The w of a thousand years Is in them. Of old sat Freedom 18 flower of knowledge changed to fruit Of w. Love and Duty 25 Knowledge comes, but w lingers, (repeat) Locksley Hall 141, 143
Not much their w teaches; Will Water. 174 yet for all your w well know I That I shall look Enoch Arden 211 a tigress with a gossamer, Were w to it.' Princess v 171 bearing and the training of a child Is woman's w.' „ 466
Wearing his w lightly, like the fruit A Dedication 12
And in thy w make me wise. In Mem. Pro. 44
For W dealt with mortal powers, „ xxxvi 5
There must be w with great Death: „ li 11
Whatever w sleep with thee. „ cviii 16
Nor let thy w make me wise. „ cix 24
High w holds my w less, „ cxii 1
Yet how much w sleeps with thee „ cxiii 2 moving side by side With w, „ cxiv 20
But W heavenly of the soul. „ 22 let me think Silence is w: Merlin and V. 253
'And lo, I clothe myself with w, „ 255 till he let his w go For ease of heart, „ 892 Led on the gray-hair'd w of the east; Holy Grail 453 with the w and wealth of his own, The Wreck 65 Strong in will and rich in w, Locksley H., Sixty 49 and take their w for your friend. „ 104 Pillory W in your markets, „ 134 move to such a goal As W hopes to gain, Politics 4
'Thy glory baffles w. Akbar's Dream 28
Wisdom-bred w-b And throned of wisdom— Œnone 123
Wise (adj.) That read his spirit blindly w, Two Voices 287
The slow w smile that, round about Miller's D. 5
No one can be more w than destiny. D. of F. Women 94 with choice paintings of w men I hung The royal dais round. Palace of Art 131 Great Nature is more w than I: To J. S. 35
'Be w: not easily forgiven Are those, Gardener's D. 247
Therefore comes it we are w. Vision of Sin 100
'O Enoch, you are w; And yet for all your wisdom Enoch Arden 210

Wise (adj.) (continued) wholly w To let that handsome fellow Aylmer's Field 268
Should I not call her w, who made me w? Princess ii 396
Lady Psyche, younger, not so w, „ iv 316
Like our wild Princess with as w a dream „ Con. 69 Attain the w indifference of the wise; A Dedication 8
For such a w humility As befits a solemn fane: Ode on Well. 249
And in thy wisdom make me w. In Mem., Pro. 44
If thou wilt have me w and good. „ lix 8
She darkly feels him great and w, „ xcvii 34
They sang of what is w and good „ ciii 10
'Tis held that sorrow makes us w, „ cviii 15
Nor let thy wisdom make me w. „ cix 24
'Tis held that sorrow makes us w; „ cxiii 1
But that blind clamour made me w; „ cxxiv 18
Were it not w if I fled from the place Maud I i 64
How modest, kindly, all-accomplish'd, w, Ded. of Idylls 18
we have heard from our w man at home To Northward, Gareth and L. 201 and never a whit more w The fourth, „ 635
O damsel, be you w To call him shamed, „ 1259
whether very w Or very foolish; Marr. of Geraint 469
'Yea so,' said he, 'do it: be not too w; Geraint and E. 424
And this w world of ours is mainly right. „ 901
And our w Queen, if knowing that I know, Merlin and V. 121
'Who are w in love Love most, say least,' „ 247
Yet you are w who say it; „ 252 surely ye are w, But such a silence is more w than kind.' „ 288
However w, ye hardly know me yet.' „ 355
'I never was less w, however w, „ 357
'Are ye so w? ye were not once so w, Lancelot and E. 103 their w men Were strong in that old magic Holy Grail 665 the heart that was w! The Wreck 56
By which thou wilt abide, if thou be w, Ancient Sage 35 wherefore thou be w, Cleave ever to the sunnier side „ 67
But thou be w in this dream-world of ours, „ 108 years that made the stripling w Undo their work again, „ 111 yet perhaps she was not w; Locksley H., Sixty 11
if dynamite and revolver leave you courage to be w: „ 107
PATRIOT Statesman, be thou w to know To Duke of Argyll 1
Then let w Nature work her will, My life is full 21
Merlin, the w man that ever served King Uther Com. of Arthur 151
Not even thy w father with his signs Guinevere 274
'If I,' said the w little Annie, 'was you, In the Child. Hosp. 48
Achæans—honouring his w mother's word— Achilles over the T. 16
To cast w words among the multitude Tiresias 66 but thou art w enough, Tho' young to love thy wiser, „ 153
w man's word, Here trampled by the populace „ 173
In what they prophesy, our w men, Epilogue 65
Horace, you the w Adviser of the nine-years-ponder'd lay, Poets and their B. 5
VOICE spake out of the skies To a just man and a w— Voice spake, etc. 2
Wise (s) to its sway Will win the w at once, Mine be the strength 10
O silent faces of the Great and W, Palace of Art 195
Not yet the w of heart would cease Love thou thy land 81 her least remark was worth The experience of the w. Edwin Morris 66
Thro' madness, hated by the w, Love and Duty 7
Yearn'd after by the wisest of the w, Lucretius 267
Among the w and the bold. Ode on Well. 52 War, who breaks the converse of the w; Third of Feb. 8 the w who think, the w who reign, Ode Inter. Exhib. 32 God is law, say the w; High. Pantheism 13 Attain the wise indifference of the w; A Dedication 8
With all the circle of the w, In Mem. lxi 3
Thy likeness to the w below, „ lxxiv 7
truthless violence mourn'd by the W, Vastness 5
Wise See Broken-wise, Crescent-wise, Dropwise, Earthly-wise, Elsewise, Heavenly-wise, Madonna-wise, Mocking-wise, Over-wise, Warrior-wise, Worldly-wise Wisely Or w or unwisely, signs of storm, To the Queen ii 49
Wiser That we are w than our sires. Love thou thy land 72
Surely I shall be w in a year: Enoch Arden 433 nor is it W to weep a true occasion lost, Princess iv 68

Wiser (continued) dismiss'd in shame to live No w than their mothers, Princess iv 514
A young man will be w by and by ; Com. of Arthur 404
As children learn, be thou W for falling ! Balin and Balan 76 fierce beast found A w than herself, Tiresias 152 thou art wise enough, Tho' young, to love thy w, „ 154
W there than you, that crowning barren Death Locksley H., Sixty 61
But you have made the w choice, You might have won 5
Let him, the w man who springs Hereafter, In Mem. cxx 9 like a stoic, or like A w epicurean, Maud I iv 21
' Belike for lack of w company ; Last Tournament 245
' Then were swine, goats, asses, geese The w fools, „ 326 Wisest Yearn'd after by the w of the wise, Lucretius 267
' Madam, he the w man Feasted the woman w then, Princess ii 350
Her that talk'd down the fifty w men ; „ v 294
To know myself the w knight of all.' Last Tournament 248
Nor is he the w man who never proved himself a fool. Locksley H., Sixty 244
Doubt no longer that the Highest is the w and the best, Faith 1 Wish (s) phantom of a w that once could move, The form, the form 10 wheeling round The central w, Gardener's D. 225 And let me have an answer to my w ; Dora 30 let him speak his w. St. S. Stylites 144 Old w'es, ghosts of broken plans, Will Water. 29 the noble w To save all earnings to the uttermost, Enoch Arden 85 a w renew'd, When two years after came a boy „ 88 his had been, or yours : that was his w. „ 300
He oft denied his heart his dearest w, „ 336
He laugh'd, and yielded readily to their w, „ 370 son Was silent, tho' he often look'd his w ; „ 482 this wild king to force her to his w, Princess, Pro. 37
As if to close with Cyril's random w : „ iii 101
But led by golden w'es, and a hope „ iv 420
Tell my w to her dewy blue eye : Window, Letter 13
And ever met him on his way With w'es, In Mem. vi 22
The w, that of the living whole „ lv 1
That cries against my w for thee. „ xc 24
The w too strong for words to name ; „ xciii 14 sent her w that I would yield thee thine. Gareth and L. 551 knight art thou To the King's best w. „ 1259
Albeit I give no reason but my w, Marr. of Geraint 761
Be moulded by your w'es for her weal ; „ 799
I know Your w, and would obey ; Geraint and E. 419
Beholding how ye butt against my w, „ 677 at times Would flatter his own w in age for love, Merlin and V. 185
And grant my re-reiterated w, „ 353 Nor own'd a sensual w, „ 628
the w to prove him wholly hers.' „ 865
Love-loyal to the least w of the Queen Lancelot and E. 89
To speak the w most near to your true heart ; „ 914
And Lancelot saw that she withheld her w, „ 920
' Delay no longer, speak your w, „ 924
And there I woke, but still the w remain'd. „ 1048 and sent him to the Queen Bearing his w, „ 1169 that he wellnigh deem'd His w by hers was echo'd ; Pelleas and E. 121 Love-loyal to the least w of the Queen, Guinevere 126 way my w leads me evermore Still to believe it— Lover's Tale i 274
But she spake on, for I did name no w, „ 578
But she spake on, for I did name no w, No w—no hope. „ 583
' It was my w,' he said, ' to pass, to sleep, „ iv 63 such her dying w—Given on the morning The Ring 76
if his young music wakes A w in you To Mary Boyle 64 my strongest w Falls flat before your least unwillingness. Romney's R. 71 Wish (verb) Where she would ever w to dwell, Supp. Confessions 54 they w to charm Pallas and Juno sitting by : A Character 14
I w that somewhere in the ruin'd folds, Œnone 221 only w to live till the snowdrops come again : May Queen, N. Y's. E. 14
I w the snow would melt and the sun come out „ 15
Yet something I did w to say : To J. S. 60
I would w to see My grandchild on my knees Dora 12
Is it well to w thee happy ?— Locksley Hall 43
I cannot help you as I w to do Unless— Enoch Arden 407
I w you for my wife. „ 410

Wish (verb) (continued) do I w—What ?—that the bush were leafless ? Lucretius 205
I w I were Some mighty poetess, Princess, Pro. 131
O I w That I were some great princess, „ 133
I could not help it, did not w : „ ii 332 that w'es at a dance to change The music— „ iv 589
I w it Gentle as freedom '— „ vi 205
I w she had not yielded ! ' „ Con. 5
I w they were a whole Atlantic broad.' „ 71
To talk them o'er, to w them here, In Mem. xc 11
We w them store of happy days „ Con. 84
I w I could hear again The chivalrous battle-song Maud I x 53
And w'es me to approve him, „ xix 71
She did not w to blame him— „ xx 5
I have not fall'n so low as some would w. Marr. of Geraint 129
' Did I w Your warning or your silence ? Geraint and E. 76
Whether ye w me victory or defeat, „ 80
Then said Geraint, ' I w no better fare : „ 232 make me w still more to learn this charm Merlin and V. 329
I well could w a cobweb for the gnat, „ 370
Pure, as you ever w your knights to be. Lancelot and E. 1375
Well—can I w her any huger wrong Last Tournament 596
Well might I w to veil her wickedness, Guinevere 211 an' I w I was dead— First Quarrel 52 died o' your going away, an' I w that I had.' „ 54
I too w that I had—in the pleasant times „ 55 best And oldest friend, your Uncle, w'es it, Sisters (E. and E.) 47 Could sometimes w I had never led the way. Columbus 186
I W I were in the years of old, Tiresias 1
And w the dead, as happier than ourselves Ancient Sage 205
I could w yon moaning sea would rise The Flight 11 is it well to w you joy ? Locksley H., Sixty 216
W me joy ! Father. What need to w when Hubert weds in you The heart of Love, The Ring 60
' He is fled—I w him dead— Forlorn 1
Wish'd She w me happy, but she thought Miller's D. 139
I have w this marriage, night and day, Dora 21
' I w myself the fair young beech Talking Oak 141 and I w for Leonard there, Golden Year 4
' I came to speak to you of what he w, Enoch Arden 291
roll'd his eyes upon her Repeating all he w, „ 905
And how it was the thing his daughter w, The Brook 140
I w my voice A rushing tempest Aylmer's Field 756
They w to marry ; they could rule a house ; Princess ii 465
I stammer'd that I knew him—could have w— „ iii 206
Because he might have w it— „ vi 275
They hated banter, w for something real, „ Con. 18
But I w it had been God's will that I, Grandmother 73
I almost w no more to wake, In Mem. xxviii 14
And wept, and w that I were dead ; Com. of Arthur 345
w The Prince had found her in her ancient home ; Marr. of Geraint 643 W it had been my mother, Lancelot and E. 674 and I w, yet w her not to speak ; Lover's Tale i 577
But I niver not w fur childer, Spinster's S's. 84
Wishing And, tho' in silence, w joy. In Mem., Con. 88 Wisp the gilded ball Danced like a w : Princess, Pro. 64
w that flickers where no foot can tread.' „ iv 358 the w that gleams On Lethe in the eyes of Death. In Mem. xcviii 7 Wistful ' Then I fixt My w eyes on two fair images, Sea Dreams 240 mother's eye Full of the w fear that he would go, Gareth and L. 173
Wit With shrilling shafts of subtle w. Clear-headed friend 13
Alone and warming his five w's, (repeat) The Owl i 6, 13
The fruitful w Cleaving, took root, The Poet 20
With thy shallow w : Poet's Mind 2
O the dalliance and the w, D. of F. Women 147
I grow in worth, and w, and sense, Will Water. 41
The tavern-hours of mighty w's— „ 191
Thro' which a few, by w or fortune led, Aylmer's Field 438 gave To him that fluster'd his poor parish w's „ 521
How might a man not wander from his w's Princess ii 440
the wealth Of words and w, In Mem., Con. 103
Merlin, whose vast w And hundred winters Com. of Arthur 280
An old man's w may wander ere he die. „ 405
Have strength and w, in my good mother's hall Gareth and L. 12 shook his w's they wander in his prime— „ 715

Wit (continued) but, being knave, Hast mazed my w: Gareth and L. 1170 Dreams ruling when w sleeps! Balin and Balan 143
I loved thee first, That warps the w.' Merlin and V. 61
If these unwitty wandering w's of mine, „ 346
I fain had given them greater w's: „ 496 added, of her w, A border fantasy of branch and flower, Lancelot and E. 10 but listen to me, If I must find you w: „ 148 set himself to play upon her With sallying w, „ 647
Sweet father, will you let me lose my w's?' „ 752
'Ye will not lose your w's for dear Lavaine: „ 755
I might have put my w's to some rough use, „ 1306 Beast too, as lacking human w— Pelleas and E. 476 seeing too much w Makes the world rotten, Last Tournament 246
To babble about him, all to show your w— „ 340
The slippery footing of his narrow w, Lover's Tale i 102 wild hour and the wine Had set the w's aflame. Sir J. Oldcastle 95
But her w's wor dead, an' her hair was as white Tomorrow 60
Witch sought and found a w Who brew'd the philtre Lucretius 15
And we past to the Isle of W'es V. of Maeldune 97
For a wild w naked as heaven stood „ 100
Witch-elm W-e's that counterchange the floor In Mem. lxxxix 1
Withdraw 'To pass, when Life her light w's, Two Voices 145 Else I w favour and countenance Aylmer's Field 307
It might be safe our censures to w; Third of Feb. 11 still w themselves Quite into the deep soul, Lover's Tale i 81
if the Nameless should w from all Ancient Sage 50 Withdrawing W by the counter door to that Aylmer's Field 282
Withdrawn (See also Long-withdrawn) Half shown, are broken and w. Two Voices 306 Deep in the garden lake w. Day-Dm., Sleep. P. 12 every morning, far w Beyond the darkness Vision of Sin 48 on the glimmering limit far w „ 223
Far into heaven w, Voice and the P. 38
Death in the living waters, and w, Merlin and V. 148
I knew the veil had been w. Holy Grail 522
Withdrew As she w into the golden cloud, Œnone 191
Where we w from summer heats and state, Princess vi 245
W themselves from me and night, In Mem. xcv 18
Wither W beneath the palate, and the heart Faints, D. of F. Women 287
I w slowly in thine arms, Tithonus 6 lest I w by despair. Locksley Hall 98
And the individual w's, „ 142
Now for me the woods may w, „ 190
Thine own shall w in the vast, In Mem. lxxvi 11 as anger falls aside And w's on the breast Lover's Tale i 10
He w's marrow and mind; Ancient Sage 120 laurel of Cæsar, but mind would not w. Parnassus 4
Wither'd parch'd and w, deaf and blind, Fatima 6
My suit had w, nipt to death by him Edwin Morris 101
Are w in the thorny close, Day-Dm., Arrival 11
The naked Three, were w long ago, Death of Œnone 7
'What drug can make A w palsy cease to shake?' Two Voices 57
'The memory of the w leaf In endless time „ 112 like the w moon Smote by the fresh beam of the springing east; M. d'Arthur 213
The w Misses! how they prose O'er books Amphion 81
Who slowly rode across a w heath, Vision of Sin 61
Ruin'd trunks on w forks, „ 93 to left and right Of w holt or tilth or pasturage. Enoch Arden 675
A w violet is her bliss: In Mem. xxvii 26 as the worm draws in the w leaf And makes it earth, Geraint and E. 633 Danced like a w leaf before the hall. (repeat) Last Tournament 4, 242 like the w moon Smote by the fresh beam of the springing east; Pass. of Arthur 381
And pale and fibrous as a w leaf, Lover's Tale i 422
Withering O Love, Love, Love! O w might! Fatima 1 Withheld Lancelot saw that she w her wish, Lancelot and E. 920
w His older and his mightier from the lists; Pelleas and E. 159 Withhold a prudence to w; Isabel 15
Withholding Apart from place, w time, Arabian Nights 75 Within See Half-within Without See Half-without Withstand caught By that you swore to w? Maud I vi 80 Frail, but of force to w, „ II ii 24
Witness (s) (See also Eye-witness) Bear w, if I could have found a way St. S. Stylites 55 in truth (thou wilt bear w here) „ 129 thine own w that thou bringest Not peace, Sir J. Oldcastle 35
Lord give thou power to thy two w'es! „ 81
Bear w you, that yesterday To Prof. Jebb. 2
'Who was w of the crime? Forlorn 7
There will come a w soon Hard to be confuted, „ 25 when creed and race Shall bear false w, Akbar's Dream 98
Witness (verb) Yes, as your moanings w, Aylmer's Field 749
W their flowery welcome. Balin and Balan 145 Wittier Evelyn is gayer, w, prettier, Sisters (E. and E.) 36
our quick Evelyn—The merrier, prettier, w, „ 286
Witty grew So w that ye play'd at ducks and drakes Last Tournament 344
Wizard (adj.) Some figure like a w pentagram The Brook 103
I hear a w music roll, In Mem. lxx 14
The w lightnings deeply glow, „ cxxii 19
Wizard (s) Lash'd at the w as he spake the word, Com. of Arthur 388
The people call'd him W; Merlin and V. 170
To find a w who might teach the King „ 583 but did they find A w? Tell me, was he like to thee?' „ 613
The gentle w cast a shielding arm. „ 908 pale blood of the w at her touch Took gayer colours, „ 949 Mighty the W Who found me at sunrise Merlin and the G. 11
Wizard-like And weird and worn and w-l was he. The Ring 196 Woä (stop) W—theer's a craw to pluck wi' tha, Sam: N. Farmer, N. S. 5
—w then w—let ma 'ear mysén speäk. „ 8
W then, proputty, wiltha?— „ 39
W then, wiltha? dangtha!— „ 40
Woaded Tattoo'd or w, winter-clad in skins, Princess ii 120
Woe He hath no thought of coming w's; Supp. Confessions 47
My heart is wasted with my w, Oriana 1 silence seems to flow Beside me in my utter w, „ 87
all day long you sit between Joy and w, Margaret 64
The home of w without a tear. Mariana in the S. 20
A little hint to solace w, Two Voices 433
My heart may wander from its deeper w. Œnone 44
Or hearing would not hear me, w is me! „ 171 still sheets of water, divers w's, D. of F. Women 34
That makes my only w. „ 136
Even with a verse your holy w. To J. S. 8
Proclaiming Enoch Arden and his w's; Enoch Arden 868
As fits an universal w, Ode on Well. 14
it cost me a world of w, Grandmother 23
To bear thro' Heaven a tale of w, In Mem. xii 2
And standing, muffled round with w, „ xiv 5
The wild unrest that lives in w „ xv 15
Peace; come away: the song of w „ lvii 1
Likewise the imaginative w, „ lxxxv 53
And I—my harp would prelude w— „ lxxxviii 9
Or, crown'd with attributes of w „ cxviii 18
So far, so near in w and weal; „ cxxix 2 for some dark undercurrent w That seems to draw— Maud I xviii 83 Wrought for his house an irredeemable w; „ II i 22
'O brother' answer'd Balin 'w is me! Balin and Balan 618
'W is me, my knights,' he cried, Holy Grail 275 all the wealth and all the w? Guinevere 344
we came To what our people call 'The Hill of W.' Lover's Tale i 374
Three cypresses, symbols of mortal w, „ 537
A sacred, secret, unapproached w, „ 679 on the depth of an unfathom'd w Reflex of action. „ 746 were worlds of w like our own— Despair 18 scroll written over with lamentation and w. „ 20 had some glimmer, at times, in my gloomiest w, „ 103 Days and Hours That cancel weal with w, Ancient Sage 96 and youth is turn'd to w. The Flight 16 this Earth, a stage so gloom'd with w The Play 1
'W to this island if ever a woman (repeat) Kapiolani 20, 22
Woful (See also Dainty-woeful) A w man (for so the story went) Lover's Tale i 379
when the w sentence hath been past, „ 788
Embathing all with wild and w hues, „ ii 64
Woild (wild) Down i' the w 'enemies afoor I coom'd to the plaäce. N. Farmer, O. S. 34
Woke Till cold winds w the gray-eyed morn Mariana 31

Woke (continued) Ind to Ind, but in far daylight w, Buonaparte 4
And w her with a lay from fairy land. Caress'd or chidden 8
She w: the babble of the stream Fell, Mariana in the S. 51
Until I w, and found him settled down The Epic 17
That with the sound I w, and heard M. d'Arthur, Ep. 30
'O happy kiss, that w thy sleep!' Day-Dm., Depart. 19
In him w, With his first babe's first cry, Enoch Arden 84
Here she w, Resolved, sent for him " 506
He w, he rose, he spread his arms abroad " 912 out a despot dream The father panting w, Aylmer's Field 528 till the comrade of his chambers w, " 583 slept, w, and went the next, The Sabbath, Sea Dreams 18 wail'd and w The mother, " 57
I w, I heard the clash so clearly. " 135
mixt with little Margaret's, and I w, " 246
After a tempest w upon a morn Lucretius 24
Shot out of them, and scorch'd me that I w. " 66
Lilia w with sudden-shrilling mirth Princess, Pro. 216
w Desire in me to infuse my tale of love " v 239
And ere I w it was the point of noon, " 482
Last I w sane, but well-nigh close to death " vii 119 Deep in the night I w: she, near me, " 173
That early w to feed her little ones, " 252
This year I slept and w with pain, In Mem. xxviii 13 songs, that w The darkness of our planet, " lxxvi 9
Enid w and sat beside the couch, Marr. of Geraint 79
W and bethought her of her promise given " 602
Geraint W where he slept in the high hall, " 755
Beat, till she w the sleepers, Geraint and E. 404
Balin first w, and seeing that true face, Balin and Balan 590
W the sick knight, and while he roll'd his eyes Lancelot and E. 819
There bode the night: but w with dawn, " 846 there I w, but still the wish remain'd. " 1048 damsel,' answer'd he, 'I w from dreams; Pelleas and E. 104
He w, and being ware of some one nigh, " 520
And w again in utter dark, and cried, Last Tournament 623
Far cities burnt, and with a cry she w. Guinevere 83
Arthur w and call'd. 'Who spake? Pass. of Arthur 45 and we w To gaze upon each other. Lover's Tale i 265 when I w, Something she ask'd, I know not what, " 705
I dozed; I w. An open landaulet Whirl'd by, Sisters (E. and E.) 85 wail For ever w the unhappy Past again, " 263
I w, and thought—death—I shall die— Columbus 87 and w These eyes, now dull, but then so keen Tiresias 3
Till I w from the trance, The Wreck 115
I w to all of truest in myself, The Ring 182
w me And learn'd me Magic! Merlin and the G. 13 dream Wail'd in her, when she w beneath the stars. Death of Œnone 82
His dream became a deed that w the world, St. Telemachus 70
Wold (See also Sea-wold, Wowd) sheep from wattled folds, Upon the ridged w's, Ode to Memory 67 the long dun w's are ribb'd with snow, Oriana 5
That clothe the w and meet the sky; L. of Shalott i 3
And oft in ramblings on the w, Miller's D. 105
From off the w I came, and lay " 111
To yon old mill across the w's; " 240 from the dry dark w the summer airs blow cool May Queen, N. Y's. E. 27 blows More softly round the open w, To J. S. 2 Calm and deep peace on this high w, In Mem. xi 5
Or sheepwalk up the windy w; " c 8
And kindled all the plain and all the w. Balin and Balan 441
Wolf By shores that darken with the gathering w, Aylmer's Field 767 a w within the fold! A pack of wolves! Princess ii 190
Then came these wolves: they knew her: " iv 321
Kite and kestrel, w and wolfkin, Boädicea 15
A gray old w and a lean. Maud I xiii 28
Not that gray old w, for he came not back From the wilderness, full of wolves, " II v 53 dog, and w and boar and bear Came night and day, Com. of Arthur 23 the w would steal The children and devour, " 26 grew up to wolfhike men, Worse than the wolves. " 33 Stript from the three dead wolves of woman born Geraint and E. 94 drew from those dead wolves Their three gay suits " 180
And waiting to be treated like a w, " 857
And find that it had been the w's indeed: " 864
Wolf (continued) heard them pass like wolves Howling; Balin and Balan 407 let the wolves' black maws ensepulchre " 487
'Leave them to the wolves.' " 588
If the w spare me, weep my life away, Merlin and V. 885
Old milky fables of the w and sheep, Pelleas and E. 196
Let the fox bark, let the w yell. " 472
'Why then let men couple at once with wolves. " 536
Sally she wesh'd foälks' cloäths to keep the w fro' the door, North. Cobbler 29
Meä fur to kick our Sally as kep the w fro' the door, " 59 the howl of all the cassock'd wolves, Sir J. Oldcastle 158
That gray beast, the w of the weald. Batt. of Brunanburh 110
When the wolves are howling. Forlorn 72
Wolfish stern black-bearded kings with w eyes, D. of F. Women 111
Wolfkin Kite and kestrel, wolf and w, Boädicea 15
Wolf-like they grew up to w-l men, Worse than the wolves. Com. of Arthur 32
Wolfskin mighty hands Lay naked on the w, Lancelot and E. 813
Wolf's-milk half the w-m curdled in their veins, Princess vii 130
Wolseley foe was driven, And W overthrew Arâbi, Pro. to Gen. Hamley 30 Woman (See also Beggar-woman, Countrywoman, Gentlewoman, Lay-women, Man-woman And women smile with saint-like glances Supp. Confessions 22 my ancient love With the Greek w. Œnone 261
'The Legend of Good Women' long ago Sung D. of F. Women 2
This w was the cause. " 104
the greatest gift, A w's heart, Gardener's D. 230 for your sake, the w that he chose, Dora 63 Got up betwixt you and the w there. " 96
So the women kiss'd Each other, and set out, " 128
I woo'd a w once, But she was sharper Audley Court 52
A w like a butt, and harsh as crabs. Walk. to the Mail 49
God made the w for the man, (repeat) Edwin Morris 43, 50
'God made the w for the use of man, " 91
w's pleasure, w's pain— Locksley Hall 149 W is the lesser man, " 151
I will take some savage w, " 168
The w of a thousand summers back, Godiva 11
As just and mere a serving-man As any born of w. Will Water. 152 Shaped her heart with w's meekness L. of Burleigh 71
The w cannot be believed. The Letters 32
And women's slander is the worst, " 34
Scarce could the w when he came upon her, Enoch Arden 345 they say that women are so quick— " 408
'W, I have a secret—only swear, " 837
'Dead,' clamour'd the good w, " 840
At which the w gave A half-incredulous, " 852
As the w heard, Fast flow'd the current " 864
'W, disturb me not now at the last, " 874
the shame The w should have borne, Aylmer's Field 356 fell The w shrieking at his feet, " 811 fulminated Against the scarlet w and her creed; Sea Dreams 23
And near the light a giant w sat, " 98 that the w walked upon the brink: " 112
the w honest Work; " 137
That which I ask'd the w in my dream. " 147 Came men and women in dark clusters round, " 226
The w half turn'd round from him she loved, " 286 when the w heard his foot Return from pacings Lucretius 5
'O miracle of women,' said the book, Princess, Pro. 35 Half child half w as she was, " 101
'lives there such a w now?' " 126
'There are thousands now Such women, " 128 the rest follow'd: and the women sang " 244 loved to live alone Among her women; " i 50
The w were an equal to the man. " 131 they must lose the child, assume The w: " 138 these the women sang; " 143 for miles about Was till'd by women; " 192 and the w's state in each, How far from just; " ii 131 respect, however slight was paid To w, " 137 but that which made W and man. " 145
But w ripen'd earlier, and her life Was longer; " 154
Plato, Verulam; even so With w: " 161

Woman (continued) be that for ever which I seem, W', Princess ii 258
These women were too barbarous, would not learn; ,, 298 wisest man Feasted the w wisest then, ,, 351
But when did w ever yet invent?' ,, 391
Men hated learned women: ,, 466
And with that w closeted for hours!' ,, iii 56
She sees herself in every w else, ,, 110 extremes, I told her, well might harm The w's cause. ,, 145
To lift the w's fall'n divinity ,, 223 what every w counts her due, Love, children, ,, 244 for women, up till this Cramp'd under worse ,, 277 and mould The w to the fuller day.' ,, 332 Disorderly the women. ,, iv 170
Huge women blowzed with health, ,, 279
You hold the w is the better man; ,, 410
all women kick against their Lords ,, 412
That many a famous man and w, ,, 445
And you look well too in your w's dress: ,, 529
'Satan take The old women and their shadows! ,, v 34
We left her by the w, ,, 113
Man is the hunter; w is his game: ,, 154 and leaps in Among the women, ,, 163 yet I hold her, king, True w: ,, 180
The w's garment hid the w's heart.' ,, 305 those that iron-cramp'd their women's feet; ,, 376 throats would bawl for civil rights, No w named: ,, 388
the w's Angel guards you, ,, 410
When the man wants weight, the w takes it up, ,, 444
Man for the field, and w for the hearth: ,, 447
Man with the head and w with the heart: ,, 449
Man to command and w to obey; ,, 450
Besides, the w wed is not as we, ,, 462 bearing and the training of a child Is w's wisdom: ,, 466
The leaves were wet with women's tears: ,, vi 39 make Our progress falter to the w's goal.' ,, 127 Win you the hearts of women; ,, 171 you keep One pulse that beats true w, ,, 180
the w is so hard Upon the w. ,, 222 men see Two women faster welded in one love ,, 253
W, whom we thought w even now, ,, 273 amazed They glared upon the women, and aghast
The women stared at these, ,, 361 for on one side arose The women up in wild revolt, ,, vii 123
And left her w, lovelier in her mood ,, 162 that know The w's cause is man's: ,, 259
For w is not undeveloped man, ,, 275
The man be more of w, she of man; ,, 280 what w taught you this?' ,, 310
I loved the w: he, that doth not, lives A drowning life, ,, 313
Thee w thro' the crust of iron moods ,, 342
So pray'd the men, the women: ,, Con. 7
The women—and perhaps they felt their power, ,, 13 kingdom topples over with a shriek Like an old w, ,, 63
But stay with the old w now: Grandmother 108
Phantom wail of women and children, Boädicea 26
And women's love and men's! Window, Spring 10 fiend best knows whether w or man be the worse. Maud I i 75
Rich in the grace all women desire, ,, x 13
Nor fronted man or w, eye to eye— Gareth and L. 112 shyly glanced Eyes of pure women, ,, 314
To whom the w weeping, 'Nay, my lord, ,, 341
The w loves her lord. Peace to thee, w, with thy loves and hates! ,, 372
Than ride abroad redressing women's wrong, ,, 866 massacring Man, w, lad and girl— ,, 1341
And loveliest of all women upon earth. Marr. of Geraint 21
This too the women who attired her head, ,, 62
O never yet had w such a pair Of suitors ,, 439
But while the women thus rejoiced, ,, 754
she cast aside A splendour dear to women, ,, 808
Stript from the three dead wolves of w born Geraint and E. 94
Call for the w of the house,' ,, 263
And answer'd with such craft as women use, ,, 352
A w weeping for her murder'd mate ,, 522
A tribe of women, dress'd in many hues, ,, 598

Woman (continued) women they, Women, or what had been those gracious things, Geraint and E. 635
all the men and women in the hall Rose ,, 731
Were men and women staring and aghast, ,, 804
To worship w as true wife beyond Merlin and V. 23
Save, save me thou—W of women— ,, 78
'Know ye the stranger w?' ,, 129 vice in you which ruin'd man Thro' w the first hour; ,, 363 they never mount As high as w in her selfless mood. ,, 443
'Man dreams of Fame while w wakes to love.' ,, 460 or else A sudden spurt of w's jealousy,— ,, 524
A w and not trusted, ,, 530
And as to w's jealousy, O why not? ,, 537
All fighting for a w on the sea. ,, 562
Were I not w, I could tell a tale. ,, 696
Have all men true and leal, all women pure; ,, 794
But women, worst and best, as Heaven and Hell. ,, 815 w's love, Save one, he not regarded, Lancelot and E. 840
And never w yet, since man's first fall, ,, 859 love Of man and w when they love their best, ,, 869 loved me with a love beyond all love In women, ,, 1294 while women watch Who wins, who falls; Holy Grail 34
'A w,' answer'd Percivale, 'a nun, ,, 68 behold a w at a door Spinning; ,, 391
And kind the w's eyes and innocent, ,, 393 none but phantoms in your quest, No man, no w?' ,, 563
And women were as phantoms. ,, 566 known Scarce any but the women of his isles, Pelleas and E. 88
'Ay,' said Gawain, 'for women be so light.' ,, 362 Men, women, on their sodden faces, Last Tournament 474 one lone w, weeping near a cross, Stay'd him. ,, 493
For courtesy wins w all as well As valour may, ,, 707
'this is all w's grief, That she is w, Guinevere 218 could he find A w in her womanhood as great ,, 299
Yet must I leave thee, w, to thy shame. ,, 511
And beauty such as never w wore, ,, 549
The moaning of the w and the child, Lover's Tale i 520
The man isn't like the w, First Quarrel 63 good w, can prayer set a broken bone?' In the Child. Hosp. 20 Women and children among us, Def. of Lucknow 8
Valour of delicate women who tended ,, 87
Horror of women in travail among the dying ,, 88 women and children come out, ,, 100
What omens may foreshadow fate to man And w, Tiresias 8 is a man to be loved by the women they say. The Wreck 18
I sought for a kindly caress, being w and weak, ,, 31 speaking aloud To women, the flower of the time, ,, 49
'Never the heart among women,' he said, ,, 96
'W'—he grasped at my arm—'stay there'— ,, 120
Danny O'Roon wid his ould w, Molly Magee. Tomorrow 88
She with all the charm of w, Locksley H., Sixty 48
W to her inmost heart, and w to her tender feet, ,, 50
Very w of very w, nurse of ailing body and mind, ,, 51
Saving women and their babes, ,, 64 a w came And caught me from my nurse. The Ring 117 place a hand in his Like an honest w's, Forlorn 20 and choice of women and of wines? By an Evolution. 8 While man and w are still incomplete, I prize that soul where man and w meet, On One who eff. E. M. 1
The w, gliding toward the pyre, To Master of B. 18
the women shrieking "Atheist" flung Filth Akbar's Dream 91
I am dressing the grave of a w with flowers. Charity 2
For a w ruin'd the world, ,, 3 but a w, God bless her, kept me from Hell. ,, 4
I had cursed the w he married, ,, 24
I had cursed her as w and wife, and in wife and w I found ,, 31
Great and greater, and greatest of women, Kapiolani 5 if ever a w should handle or gather the berries ,, 20
if ever a w should climb to the dwelling of Peelè ,, 22
Where is one that, born of w, Making of Man 1
Woman-breasted w-b Sphinx, with wings drawn back, Tiresias 148
Woman-built As of a new-world Babel, w-b, Princess iv 487
Woman-conquer'd w-c there The bearded Victor ,, iii 351
Woman-conqueror many a florid maiden-cheek, The w-c; ,, 351
Woman-grown more and more, the maiden w-g, Aylmer's Field 108

Woman-guard Princess with her monstrous w-g, Princess iv 562
Womanhood Wearing the rose of w. Two Voices 417
O miracle of noble w!' Princess, Pro. 48
A charr'd and wrinkled piece of w, " v 61
All that not harms distinctive w. " vii 274 Came out of her pitying w, Maud I vi 64 and with all grace Of w and queenhood, Marr. of Geraint 176 Could call him (were it not for w) Merlin and V. 786
Beyond mine old belief in w, Lancelot and E. 955
And round her limbs, mature in w; Pelleas and E. 73
A woman in her w as great As he was in his manhood, Guinevere 299
Beyond all dreams of Godlike w, Tiresias 54
Queen, as true to w as Queenhood, On Jub. Q. Victoria 25
Womankind All for the common good of w.' Princess ii 209
I take her for the flower of w, " v 287
The soft and milky rabble of w, " vi 309 faith in w Beats with his blood, " vii 328
Womanlike W, taking revenge too deep Maud I iii 5
Woman-man man-woman is not w-m. On One who eff. E. M. 4
Woman-markets Here in the w-m of the west, Aylmer's Field 348
Woman-post A w-p in flying raiment. Princess iv 376
Woman's-heart Break not, O w-h, but still endure; Ded. of Idylls 44
Woman-slough what was left of faded w-s Princess v 40
Woman-soldier My w-s, gallant Kate, Kate 15
Woman-statue Whereon a w-s rose with wings Princess i 210
Woman-vested but w-v as I was Plunged; " iv 181
Woman-world w-w Of wives and mothers. The Ring 486
Woman-worshipper The w-w? Yea, God's curse, Last Tournament 447 Woman-yell slew Till all the rafters rang with w-y's, " 476 Womb To spirits folded in the w. Day-Dm., Sleep. P. 8
Let her, that is the w and tomb of all, Lucretius 244 can remember Love in the w, Lover's Tale i 159 within her w that had left her ill content; The Revenge 51 Won (See also Hard-won, Well-won) A motion from the river w Ridged the smooth level, Arabian Nights 34 things outward you have w A tearful grace, Margaret 11
'That w his praises night and morn?' Mariana in the S. 34
I w his love, I brought him home. The Sisters 14
You might have w the Poet's name, You might have won 1 but w mysterious way Thro' the seal'd ear Aylmer's Field 695 when your sister came she w the heart Of Ida: Princess iii 87 Imaginations might at all be w. " 274 thus I w Your mother, a good mother, " v 165
w it with a day Blanch'd in our annals, " vi 62
We will be liberal, since our rights are w. " 68
Clash'd with his fiery few and w; Ode on Well. 100 has w His path upward, and prevail'd, " 213 Priest was happy, His victim w: The Victim 62
Faint heart never w— Window, The Answer 9
Who have w her favour! Maud I xii 18 fair, strong, arm'd—But to be w by force— Gareth and L. 105
That save he w the first by force, " 108
So large mirth lived and Gareth w the quest. " 1426
Has ever w it for the lady with him, Marr. of Geraint 490
What I these two years past have w for thee, " 554
'This noble prince who w our earldom back, " 619
For tho' ye w the prize of fairest fair, " 719
Proclaim'd him Victor, and the day was w. Balin and Balan 90
Had Lancelot w the diamond of the year, With purpose to present them to the Queen, When all were w; Lancelot and E. 68
That if I went and if I fought and w it " 216
W by the mellow voice before she look'd, " 243
'Lo, Sire, our knight, thro' whom we w the day, " 529
'Was he not with you? w he not your prize?' " 573
What of the knight with the red sleeve? 'He w.' " 621 Hard-won and hardly w with bruise and blow, " 1165
Take, what I had not w except for you, " 1181 Pelleas for his lady w The golden circlet, Pelleas and E. 13 wearing this unsunny face To him who w thee glory!' " 181
My Queen, he had not w.' " 183 yea and he that w The circlet? " 320 their wills are hers For whom I w the circlet; " 325
Lancelot w methought, for thee to wear.' Last Tournament 38
Won (continued) So Tristram w, and Lancelot gave, the gems, Not speaking other word than 'Hast thou w? Last Tournament 190
And w by Tristram as a tourney-prize, " 746 years of noble deeds, Until they w her; Guinevere 477 attracted, w, Married, made one with, Lover's Tale i 133
We have w great glory, my men! The Revenge 85
Whom I woo'd and w. Sisters (E. and E.) 204 who can tell but the traitors had w? Def. of Lucknow 66 till his Word Had w him a noble name. Dead Prophet 36
'Take comfort you have w the Painter's fame,' Romney's R. 43 sword, That only conquers men to conquer peace, Has w me. Akbar's Dream 16
And less will be lost than w, The Dreamer 22
Won (one) (See also Wonn) I minds when i' Howlaby beck w daäy Church-warden, etc. 27
Wonder (s) Ever the w waxeth more and more, Sonnet to —— 6
What w, if in noble heat Those men thine arms England and Amer. 6
But when he saw the w of the hilt, M. d'Arthur 85
'this w keeps the house.' Gardener's D. 119
this w, dead, become Mere highway dust? Love and Duty 10
The w of the eagle were the less, Golden Year 39 and all the w that would be.—(repeat) Locksley Hall 16, 120
For there are greater w's there.' Day-Dm., Depart. 28
'What w, if he thinks me fair?' What w I was all unwise, " Ep. 4
'It is no w,' said the lords, Beggar Maid 7 and rent The w of the loom thro' warp and woof Princess i 62 a feast Of w, out of West and East, Ode Inter. Exhib. 21
The w's that have come to thee, In Mem. xli 22 skill'd spear, the w of the world— Gareth and L. 1223
w's ye have done; Miracles ye cannot: " 1324
Rapt in the fear and in the w of it; Marr. of Geraint 529
Show'd us a shrine wherein were w's— Balin and Balan 109
My daily w is, I love at all. Merlin and V. 536
What w, being jealous, that he sent " 580
Fire in dry stubble a nine-days' w flared: Lancelot and E. 735 Becomes a w, and we know not why, " 1029
Expectant of the w that would be. Holy Grail 133
With signs and miracles and w's, Guinevere 222
Or what of signs and w's, " 229 the land was full of signs And w's " 233 thy wise father with his signs And w's, " 275
But when he saw the w of the hilt, Pass. of Arthur 253
Your w of the boiling lake; To Ulysses 40
What w! I decreed That even the dog was clean, Akbar's Dream 52
The w's were so wildly new, Mechanophilus 27
Wonder (verb) riving the spirit of man, Making earth w, The Poet 52
And, while now she w's blindly, L. of Burleigh 53 swallows coming out of time Will w why they came: Princess ii 432
I w he went so young. Grandmother 14
You w when my fancies play In Mem. lxvi 2
'But wherefore would ye men should w at you? Gareth and L. 570
But there the fine Gawain will w at me, Lancelot and E. 1054
Heated am I? you—you w— Locksley H., Sixty 151
Wonder'd I w at the bounteous hours, Two Voices 451
I w, while I paced along: " 454
I w at her strength, and ask'd her of it: Sea Dreams 113 what kind of tales did men tell men, She w, Princess, Pro. 197
All the world w: (repeat) Light Brigade 31, 52 with such blows, that all the crowd W, Marr. of Geraint 565
Then came the fine Gawain and w at her, Lancelot and E. 1267 men who met him rounded on their heels And w Pelleas and E. 143
W at some strange light in Julian's eyes Lover's Tale iv 205
Wonderful Clothed in white samite, mystic, w, (repeat) M. d'Arthur 31, 144, 159
W, Prince of peace, the Mighty God, Aylmer's Field 669 Clothed in white samite, mystic, w. Com. of Arthur 285
This work of his is great and w. Geraint and E. 898
A thousand-fold more great and w " 914 felt His work was neither great nor w, " 921
A maid so smooth, so white, so w, Merlin and V. 566
Beyond all knowing of them, w, Holy Grail 104
Clothed in white samite, mystic, w, (repeat) Pass. of Arthur 199, 312, 327
W cures he had done, O yes, In the Child. Hosp. 5

Wonderful (continued) sun of the soul made day in the dark of his w eyes. The Wreck 55
Wondering w, ask'd her 'Are you from the farm?' The Brook 209
And only w wherefore play'd upon: Gareth and L. 1252 lifted up Their eager faces, w at the strength, Merlin and V. 133
I sat, Lonely, but musing on thee, w where, Last Tournament 613
Wonderingly w she gazed on Lancelot So soon return'd, Pelleas and E. 589
Wonder-stricken kiss'd his w-s little ones; Enoch Arden 229 Wondrous From many a w grot and secret cell The Kraken 8 strike Into that w track of dreams again, D. of F. Women 279
O thou w Mother-Age! Locksley Hall 108 yet her cheek Kept colour: w! Aylmer's Field 506
His prowess was too w. Lancelot and E. 542
w one Who passes thro' the vision of the night— " 1405
Wonn (one) (See also Won) But 'e reäds w sarmin a weeäk, N. Farmer, O. S. 28
Wont (s) From childly w and ancient use I call— Lucretius 209
'tis her w from night to night To rail Princess iii 32
So said the small king moved beyond his w. " vi 265
Make one wreath more for Use and W, In Mem. xxix 11
He laugh'd as is his w, and answer'd Com. of Arthur 401 my w hath ever been To catch my thief, Gareth and L. 821
Such is my w, as those, who know me, know.' Lancelot and E. 365 such his w, as we, that know him, know.' " 475
He wore, against his w, upon his helm " 603
Lancelot sad beyond his w, to see The maiden buried, " 1333
Had been, their w, a-maying and return'd, Guinevere 23
Wont (adj.) Where he was w to leap and climb, Supp. Confessions 165 Psyche, w to bind my throbbing brow, Princess ii 250
In which we two were w to meet, In Mem. viii 10
When I was w to meet her In the silent woody places Maud II iv 5 soldiers w to hear His voice in battle, Geraint and E. 174
w to glance and sparkle like a gem Of fifty facets; " 294
Wonted As year by year the labourer tills His w glebe, In Mem. ci 22
To this the courteous Prince Accorded with his w courtesy, Lancelot and E. 638
The sound not w in a place so still " 818
And miss the w number of my knights, Guinevere 498 when he miss'd The w steam of sacrifice, Demeter and P. 119
Woo Thee to w to thy tuwhit, (repeat) The Owl ii 11
They would sue me, and w me, and flatter me, The Mermaid 43
W me, and win me, and marry me, " 46
With what voice the violet w's Adeline 31
And once again to w thee mine— Miller's D. 30
I w thee not with gifts. Œnone 152
There's many a bolder lad 'll w me May Queen 23 gold and beauty, wooing him to w. Aylmer's Field 487
thus I w thee roughly, for thou carest not How roughly men may w thee so they win— Lucretius 272 Fly to her, and pipe and w her, Princess iv 115 these men came to w Your Highness— " vi 328
I w your love; I count it crime In Mem. lxxxv 61
One is come to w her. Maud I xii 28 whitens ere this hour W's his own end; Last Tournament 698
W her and gain her then: Sisters (E. and E.) 39
'Let us revenge ourselves, your Ulric w's my wife'— Happy 63
Wood (trees) (See also Cedar-wood, Palmwood, Pine-wood, Yew-wood) the w's that belt the gray hill-side, Ode to Memory 55
From the evening-lighted w, Margaret 10 field and w Grow green beneath the showery gray, My life is full 16
The pale yellow w's were waning, L. of Shalott iv 2
The w's were fill'd so full with song, Two Voices 455
When after roving in the w's Miller's D. 58 cloisters, branch'd like mighty w's, Palace of Art 26
Lo! in the middle of the w, Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 25
I had wander'd far In an old w: D. of F. Women 54
'Pass freely thro': the w is all thine own, " 83
I have no men to govern in this w: " 135 Thridding the sombre boskage of the w, " 243 and the w's and ways Are pleasant, On a Mourner 13
From the w's Came voices of the well-contented doves. Gardener's D. 88
And like an oaken stock in winter w's, Golden Year 62
The w's decay, the w's decay and fall, Tithonus 1
Now for me the w's may wither, Locksley Hall 190
A summer crisp with shining w's. Day-Dm., Pro. 8

Wood (trees) (continued) and shows At distance like a little w; Day-Dm., Sleep. P. 42
Summer w's, about them blowing, L. of Burleigh 19
And hills and scarlet-mingled w's The Voyage 47 where the prone edge of the w began (repeat) Enoch Arden 67, 373 Crept down into the hollows of the w; " 76
To go with others, nutting to the w, " 363 calling, here and there, about the w. " 383 remember'd one dark hour Here in this w, " 386
How merry they are down yonder in the w. " 389 sent his voice beneath him thro' the w. " 444 all the w stands in a mist of green, The Brook 14
Autumn's mock sunshine of the faded w's Aylmer's Field 610
I rose and past Thro' the wild w's Princess i 91 and the shrieks Of the wild w's together; " 99 O'er it shook the w's, And danced the colour, " iii 292 when all the w's are green? " iv 107
'O Swallow, flying from the golden w's, " 114 Across the w's, and less from Indian craft " 198
With Ida, Ida, Ida, rang the w's; " 433 mused on that wild morning in the w's, " v 471 strikes On a w, and takes, and breaks, " 527 half-open'd bell of the w's! " vi 193
Nightingales sang in his w's: G. of Swainston 6
And a worm is there in the lonely w, The Islet 34
And cattle died, and deer in w, The Victim 18
And w's are sear, And fires burn clear, Window, Winter 3
The w's are all the searer, " 14
Oh, the w's and the meadows, W's where we hid from the wet, " Marr. Morn. 5
By meadow and stile and w, " 14
That never knew the summer w's: In Mem. xxvii 4
And bask'd and batten'd in the w's. " xxxv 24
I found a w with thorny boughs: " lxix 6 hill and w and field did print The same sweet forms " lxxix 7 noise of rooks, That gather in the waning w's, " lxxxv 72 Thro' all the dewy-tassell'd w, " lxxxvi 6
With banquet in the distant w's; " lxxxix 32
Of rising worlds by yonder w. " cv 25 Above the w which grides and clangs " cvii 11
To range the w's, to roam the park, " Con. 96
I HATE the dreadful hollow behind the little w, Maud I i 1 little w where I sit is a world of plunder " iv 24 the budded peaks of the w are bow'd " vi 4 Here half-hid in the gleaming w, " 69
Where was Maud? in our w; " xii 5 Birds in our w sang " 9
Running down to my own dark w; " xiv 30
From the lake to the meadow and on to the w, " xxii 37
Our w, that is dearer than all; " 38
From the red-ribb'd hollow behind the w, " II i 25
Then glided out of the joyous w " 31
Thick with wet w's, and many a beast therein, Com. of Arthur 21 gazing over plain and w; Gareth and L. 668 Down the long avenues of a boundless w, " 785
Where Arthur's men are set along the w; The w is nigh as full of thieves as leaves: " 788 Flying from out of the black w, " 802 somewhat as the cleanser of this w. " 828
So she spake. A league beyond the w, " 845 damsel's headlong error thro' the w— " 1215 a forester of Dean, Wet from the w's, Marr. of Geraint 149 Took horse, and forded Usk, and gain'd the w; " 161
At last they issued from the world of w, " 238
In the first shallow shade of a deep w, Geraint and E. 119
'There lurk three villains yonder in the w, " 142
'And if there were an hundred in the w, " 147
and she drove them thro' the w. " 185 keep them in the wild ways of the w, " 187 thro' the green gloom of the w they past, " 195 Which sees the trapper coming thro' the w. " 724 in those deep w's we found A knight Balin and Balan 120 Reported of some demon in the w's Was once a man, " 124 who will hunt for me This demon of the w's?' " 137 and rode The skyless w's, but under open blue " 293

Wood (trees) (continued) thou couldst lay the Devil of these w's Balin and Balan 298 and pass And vanish in the w's; " 327 the canker'd boughs without Whined in the w; " 346 and old boughs Whined in the w. " 386 and turn'd aside into the w's, " 433
the wholesome music of the w Was dumb'd " 436 Before another w, the royal crown Sparkled, " 462 yonder lies one dead within the w. " 468
I dwell Savage among the savage w's, " 486 she smiled 'And even in this lone w, Sweet lord, " 528 W's have tongues, As walls have ears: " 530 shriek of bird or beast, Thrill'd thro' the w's; " 546
'She dwells among the w's' he said " 614
the wild w's of Broceliande, (repeat) Merlin and V. 2, 204 Who meant to eat her up in that wild w " 260 and all thro' this wild w And all this morning " 285 chase a creature that was current then In these wild w's, " 409
And all thro' following you to this wild w, " 440
the dark w grew darker toward the storm " 890 dwelt among the w's By the great river Lancelot and E. 277
As happy as when we dwelt among the w's, " 1036
And laughter at the limit of the w, Pelleas and E. 49
Again she said, 'O wild and of the w's, " 99
'Lead then,' she said; and thro' the w's they went. " 108
Other than when I found her in the w's; " 328 Rang out like hollow w's at hunting-tide. " 367
With promise of large light on w's and ways. " 394 hill and w Went ever streaming by him " 547
At Camelot, high above the yellowing w's, Last Tournament 3
Sir Tristram of the W's—Whom Lancelot knew, " 177
The w's are hush'd, their music is no more: " 276
I made it in the w's. And heard it ring " 283 avenues And solitary passes of the w " 361 as a rustle or twitter in the w Made dull his inner, " 365 and when thou passest any w Close vizor, " 534 vows—I am a woodman of the w's, " 699
Next morning, while he past the dim-lit w's, Guinevere 251 over all the great w rioting And climbing, Lover's Tale i 403 and from the w's That belt it rise three dark, " 535 three cypress-cones That spired above the w; " ii 39
From out the yellow w's upon the hill " 80
The cloud-pavilion'd element, the w, " 108 foliage from the dark and dripping w's " iii 6 Fled onward to the steeple in the w's: " 26 the w's upon the hill Waved with a sudden gust " 33 fled Wind-footed to the steeple in the w's, " 56
What matter? there are others in the w. " iv 162
From column on to column, as in a w, " 189 rattled down upo' poor owd Squire i' the w, Village Wife 95 a whirlwind blow these w's, as never blew The Flight 12
These ancient w's, this Hall at last will go— " 27
He left us weeping in the w's; " 37 all the summer long we roam'd in these wild w's " 79 Wild flowers of the secret w's, " 82
Wild w's in which we roved with him, " 83 Wild w's in which we rove no more, " 84 foälk be sa scared at, i' Gigglesby w, Spinsters S's. 24 stars are from their hands Flung thro' the w's, Early Spring 18
The w's with living airs How softly fann'd, " 19 Mount and mine, and primal w; Open. I. and C. Exhib. 6 thridded the black heart of all the w's, Demeter and P. 69 you used to call me once The lonely maiden-Princess of the w, The Ring 65
Who love the winter w's, to trace To Ulysses 14
She comes on waste and w, On farm and field: Prog. of Spring 22
w's Plunged gulf on gulf thro' all their vales below. " 72 found Paris, a naked babe, among the w's Of Ida, Death of Œnone 54 on man in the tropical w, The Dawn 3

Wood (substance) (See also, Pinewood, Satin-wood) Hard w I am, and wrinkled rind, Talking Oak 171 a noiseless riot underneath Strikes thro' the w, Lucretius 186
'Ye are green w, see ye warp not. Princess ii 75 draw water, or hew w, Or grosser tasks; Gareth and L. 486

Wood (substance) (continued) Had carved himself a knightly shield of w, Merlin and V. 473 javelining With darted spikes and splinters of the w " 937 To thee, dead w, I bow not head nor knees. Sir J. Oldcastle 128 fell'd the foes before you as the woodman fells the w, Happy 42

Woodbine (adj.) rent The w wreaths that bind her, Amphion 34
And the w spices are wafted abroad, Maud I xxii 5 wind Came wooingly with w smells, Lover's Tale ii 36
And hour by hour unfolding w leaves Prog. of Spring 7

Woodbine (s) w and eglatere Drip sweeter dews A Dirge 23
And tell me if the w's blow. My life is full 25
as sweet As w's fragile hold, Talking Oak 146 Thorns, ivies, w, mistletoes, Day-Dm., Sleep. P. 43
There in due time the w blows, In Mem. cv 7 my oän door-poorch wi' the w an' jessmine Spinster's S's. 105

Woodcraft Look to thy w,' and so leaving him, Balin and Balan 308

Wood-devil scream of that W-d I came to quell!' " 548

Wood-dove Deeply the w-d coos; Leonine Eleg. 6

Wooded (See also Deep-wooded) The mountain w to the peak, Enoch Arden 572
And hollow lined and w to the lips, Lover's Tale i 398 the wave again Is vocal in its w walls; In Mem. xix 14
Beside the river's w reach, " lxxi 13

Wooden When from her w walls,—lit by sure hands,— Buonaparte 5

Woodland (adj.) Be mine a philosopher's life in the quiet w ways, Maud I iv 49 Gathering w lilies, Myriads blow together. " xii 7
And the w echo rings; " II iv 38
And deem it carrion of some w thing, Gareth and L. 748
With joy that blazed itself in w wealth Balin and Balan 82
A damsel-errant, warbling, as she rode The w alleys, " 439
Now talking of their w paradise, Last Tournament 726
My Edwin loved to call us then 'His two wild w flowers.' The Flight 80
While round her brows a w culver flits, Prog. of Spring 18
Still round her forehead wheels the w dove, " 57 Hear thy myriad laureates hail thee monarch in their w rhyme. Akbar's D., Hymn 6

Woodland (s) filter'd tribute of the rough w, Ode to Memory 63
In firry w's making moan; Miller's D. 42 Slides the bird o'er lustrous w, Locksley Hall 162
That grows within the w. Amphion 8
When the rotten w drips, Vision of Sin 81 ILLYRIAN w's, echoing falls Of water, To E. L. 1 the broad w parcell'd into farms; Aylmer's Field 847 forefoot plies His function of the w: Lucretius 46 as the golden Autumn w reels Athwart the smoke Princess vii 357 Which in our winter w looks a flower. A Dedication 13
'Fear not, isle of blowing w, Boädicea 38
Made the noise of frosty w's, " 75
And w's holy to the dead; In Mem. xxix 8
Now rings the w loud and long, " cxv 5 flying gold of the ruin'd w's drove thro' the air. Maud I i 12 a flame That rages in the w far below, Balin and Balan 234 left the ravaged w yet once more To peace; Merlin and V. 963 Over all the w's flooded bowers, Sisters (E. and E.) 20
Thou that singest wheat and w, To Virgil 9
For all that ample w whisper'd 'debt,' The Ring 170 and glancing at Elf of the w, Merlin and the G. 38

Wood-louse blue w-l, and the plump dormouse, Window, Winter 9

Woodman see the w lift His axe to slay my kin. Talking Oak 235 they came, The woodmen with their axes: Princess vi 44 a w there Reported of some demon in the woods Balin and Balan 123
This w show'd the cave From which he sallies, " 131 Came on the hoarhead w at a bough " 294
To whom the w utter'd wonderingly " 297 vows—I am w of the woods, Last Tournament 699 fell'd the foes before you as the w fells the wood, Happy 42

Wood-nymph a foot-fall, ere he saw The w-n, Palace of Art 111

Woodpecker As laughters of the w Kate 4
An echo like a ghostly w, Princess, Pro. 217
Before her skims the jubilant w, Prog. of Spring 16

Wood-walk dark w-w's drench'd in dew, D. of F. Women 75

Wood-way green w-w's, and eyes among the leaves; Pelleas and E. 139

Woodwork Fled ever thro' the w, till they found Lancelot and E. 440

Wood-world w-w is one full peal of praise. Balin and Balan 450

Woody To the w hollows in which we meet Maud I xxii 43
In the silent w places By the home that gave me birth, „ II iv 6 Woo'd folded leaf is w from out the bud Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 26 he w and wed A labourer's daughter, Dora 39 who would love? I w a woman once, Audley Court 52 Drunk even when he w; Marr. of Geraint 442 how he w The waters, and the waters answering Lover's Tale i 543
I w her then, nor unsuccessfully, Sisters (E. and E.) 125
Whom I w and won. „ 204
But the Bandit had w me in vain, Bandit's Death 10
Wooest W not, nor vainly wranglest; Madeline 38
Woof Hues of the silken sheeny w „ 22 thro' warp and w From skirt to skirt; Princess i 62 Wooing his long w her, Her slow consent, Enoch Arden 707
baits Of gold and beauty, w him to woo. Aylmer's Field 487
All my w is done. Window, Marr. Morn. 4
Edith had welcomed my brief w of her, Sisters (E. and E.) 254 sound Which to the w wind aloof The poplar made, Mariana 75 Wool Like footsteps upon w. Œnone 250 needs it we should cram our ears with w Princess iv 65
w of a thistle a-flyin' an' seeädin' Spinster's S's. 79 but w's looking oop ony how. Church-warden, etc. 6
Woolly And w breasts and beaded eyes; In Mem. xcv 12
Woorse (worse) W nor a far-welter'd yowe: N. Farmer, N. S. 32
Woost (worst) And i' the w o' toimes „ O. S. 16
Word (See also Watch-word) Shot thro' and thro' with cunning w's. Clear-headed friend 17
Her w's did gather thunder as they ran, The Poet 49
So was their meaning to her w's. „ 53 and with his w She shook the world. „ 55 kiss sweet kisses, and speak sweet w's: Sea-Fairies 34
Wild w's wander here and there: A Dirge 43
And your w's are seeming-bitter Rosalind 30
And kiss away the bitter w's „ 50
How may measur'd w's adore The full-flowing harmony Eleänore 45
'These w's,' I said, 'are like the rest; Two Voices 334
The thesis which thy w's intend— „ 338
if I waste w's now, in truth You must blame Love. Miller's D. 191
With blessings which no w's can find. „ 238
Indeed I heard one bitter w L. C. V. de Vere 37
Tho' I cannot speak a w, I shall harken May Queen, N. Y's. E. 39 the clergyman, has told me w's of peace. „ Con. 12 say to Robin a kind w, and tell him not to fret; „ 45 little meaning tho' the w's are strong; Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 119
Her slow full w's sank thro' the silence drear, D. of F. Women 121
My w's leapt forth: 'Heaven heads the count of crimes „ 201
Because all w's, tho' cull'd with choicest art, „ 285
I had not dared to flow In these w's toward you, To J. S. 7
W's weaker than your grief would make „ 65
But gentle w's are always gain: Love thou thy land 23
Would serve his kind in deed and w, „ 86
He utter'd w's of scorning; The Goose 42
Watch what thou seëst, and lightly bring me w.' M. d'Arthur 38
Watch what I see, and lightly bring thee w.' „ 44
I bad thee, watch, and lightly bring me w.' „ 81
would have spoken, but he found not w's, „ 172
(My w's were half in earnest, half in jest,) Gardener's D. 23
A w could bring the colour to my cheek; „ 196
And in the compass of three little w's, „ 232
Here, then, my w's have end. „ 250
he and I Had once hard w's, and parted, Dora 18
But in my time a father's w was law, „ 27
Or change a w with her he calls his wife, „ 44
You knew my w was law, and yet you dared „ 98
I set the w's, and added names I knew. Audley Court 61
Caught in flagrante—what's the Latin w?— Walk. to the Mail 34
And well his w's became him: Edwin Morris 25
Were not his w's delicious, „ 71
That, trust me on my w, Talking Oak 170 w's That make a man feel strong in speaking truth; Love and Duty 69 These measured w's, my work of yestermorn. Golden Year 21 but I know my w's are wild, Locksley Hall 173
And order'd w's asunder fly. Day-Dm., Pro. 20
With w's of promise in his walk, „ Arrival 23

Word (continued) The barons swore, with many w's, Day-Dm., Revival 23
In courteous w's return'd reply: „ 30
'Cruel, cruel the w's I said! Edward Gray 17
And whisper lovely w's, and use Will Water. 11
Hours, when the Poet's w's and looks „ 193
For I am yours in w and in deed. Lady Clare 74
Down they dropt—no w was spoken— The Captain 51
She was more fair than w's can say: Beggar Maid 2
But in my w's were seeds of fire. The Letters 28
Light on a broken w to thank him with. Enoch Arden 347 for she did not speak a w. „ 390
Ev'n as she dwelt upon his latest w's, „ 454
Enoch spoke no w to any one, „ 667 for Enoch hung A moment on her w's, „ 873 Poor Philip, of all his lavish waste of w's The Brook 191 were w's, As meted by his measure of himself, Aylmer's Field 315 Never one kindly smile, one kindly w: „ 564 how the w's Have twisted back upon themselves, „ 754 his one w was 'desolate;' „ 836 but not a w; she shook her head. Sea Dreams 116
To spread the W by which himself had thriven.' „ 197
Of Heliconian honey in living w's, Lucretius 224
'Doubt my w again!' he said. Princess, Pro. 176
At those high w's, we conscious of ourselves, „ ii 67 at these w's the snake, My secret, „ iii 43
(for still My mother went revolving on the w) „ 54
Then came these dreadful w's out one by one, „ 57
The truth at once, but with no w from me; „ 61
She struck such warbling fury thro' the w's; „ iv 586
(our royal w upon it, He comes back safe) „ v 224
Arac's w is thrice As ours with Ida: „ 226 roll'd himself Thrice in the saddle, then burst out in w's. „ 275
And you shall have her answer by the w.' „ 327 and rolling w's Oration-like. „ 372 at the happy w 'he lives' My father stoop'd, „ vi 128
Say one soft w and let me part forgiven.' „ 219
Not one w? not one? „ 231
Not one w; No! tho' your father sues: „ 239
A w, but one, one little kindly w, „ 258 king her father charm'd Her wounded soul with w's: „ 346 Like perfect music unto noble w's; „ vii 286
It seems you love to cheat yourself with w's: „ 334
The w's are mostly mine: „ Con. 3
Who spoke few w's and pithy, such as closed Welcome, „ 94
To fling whate'er we felt, not fearing, into w's. Third of Feb. 6
we will not spare the tyrant one hard w. „ 42
Taäke my w for it, Sammy, N. Farmer, N. S. 48
To put in w's the grief I feel; For w's, like Nature, half reveal In Mem. v 2
In w's, like weeds, I'll wrap me o'er, „ 9
What w's are these have fall'n from me? „ xvi 1
The w's that are not heard again. „ xviii 20
That out of w's a comfort win; „ xx 10
Where truth in closest w's shall fail, „ xxxvi 6
And so the W had breath, and wrought „ 9
And hence, indeed, she sports with w's, „ xlviii 9
My w's are only w's, and moved „ lii 3
In those sad w's I took farewell: „ lviii 1
The w's were hard to understand. „ lxix 20
In fitting aptest w's to things, „ lxxv 6
O true in w, and tried in deed, „ lxxxv 5
Your w's have virtue such as draws „ 13
But in dear w's of human speech „ 83
The wish too strong for w's to name; „ xciii 14
strangely on the silence broke The silent-speaking w's, „ xcv 26
So w by w, and line by line, „ 33
Vague w's! but ah, how hard to frame „ 45
And if the w's were sweet and strong „ cxxv 11
To change the bearing of a w, „ cxxviii 16 living w's of life Breathed in her ear. „ Con. 52
the wealth Of w's and wit, the double health, „ 103 faith in a tradesman's ware or his w? Maud I i 26 Dare I bid her abide by her w? „ xvi 25
Had given her w to a thing so low? „ 27
Can break her w were it even for me? „ 29

Word (continued) For she, sweet soul, had hardly spoken a w, Maud II i 11
'Man's w is God in man: Com. of Arthur 133
For bold in heart and act and w was he, " 176
And simple w's of great authority, " 261
With large, divine, and comfortable w's, " 268 spake sweet w's, and comforted my heart, " 349 Lash'd at the wizard as he spake the w, " 388
God hath told the King a secret w. " 489
Repentant of the w she made him swear, Gareth and L. 527
Fair w's were best for him who fights for thee; " 946
And seeing now thy w's are fair, " 1181 Instant were his w's. " 1353 and then paused, and spake no w. " 1385
he spake no w; Which set the horror higher: " 1393
He heard but fragments of her later w's, Marr. of Geraint 113
refrain'd From ev'n a w, and so returning said: " 214
But none spake w except the hoary Earl: " 369
Nor did she lift an eye nor speak a w, " 528
In w's whose echo lasts, they were so sweet, " 782 that at a w (No reason given her) " 806 not to speak to me, No, not a w!' Geraint and E. 18
And loosed in w's of sudden fire the wrath " 106 took the w and play'd upon it, " 291 speak the w: my followers ring him round: " 336 speak but the w: Or speak it not; " 342
Low-spoken, and of so few w's, " 395 Because she kept the letter of his w, " 455 answering not one w, she led the way. " 495 Prince, without a w, from his horse fell. " 508 none spake w, but all sat down at once, " 604
And Enid could not say one tender w, " 746
Tho' pale, yet happy, ask'd her not a w, " 880
Man's w is God in man.' Balin and Balan 8
And spake no w until the shadow turn'd; " 45 transitory w Make knight or churl or child " 161 lad, whose lightest w Is mere white truth " 517 Sir Balin spake not w, But snatch'd " 553 eat her up in that wild wood Without one w. Merlin and V. 261 knew no more, nor gave me one poor w; " 277
Then answer'd Merlin careless of her w's: " 700
He rose without a w and parted from her: " 742
But have ye no one w of loyal praise For Arthur, " 778
Her w's had issue other than she will'd. " 806
He spoke in w's part heard, in whispers part, " 839 Kill'd with a w worse than a life of blows! " 870 half her realm, had never spoken w. Lancelot and E. 72
He never spake w of reproach to me, " 124 therefore hear my w's: go to the jousts: " 136
Before a King who honours his own w, " 143 Nor often loyal to his w, and now Wroth " 559 without a w, Linger'd that other, " 720
Her father's latest w humm'd in her ear, " 780
And I must die for want of one bold w.' " 927
As when we dwell upon a w we know, Repeating, till the w we know so well Becomes a wonder, " 1027 as she devised A letter, w for w; " 1104 these are w's: Your beauty is your beauty, " 1185
O grant my worship of it W's, " 1188
Such sin in w's, Perchance, we both can pardon: " 1188
Then every evil w I had spoken once, Holy Grail 371
I remember'd Arthur's warning w, " 598 Told him he follow'd—almost Arthur's w's— " 669 since the living w's Of so great men " 712
I need not tell thee foolish w's,— " 855 and the great King, Lighted on w's: Pelleas and E. 253
For so the w's were flash'd into his heart " 503
And Percivale made answer not a w. " 534
The w's of Arthur flying shriek'd, arose, Last Tournament 139
Not speaking other w than 'Hast thou won? " 191
Tristram, spake not any w, But bode his hour, " 385 Arthur deign'd not use of w or sword, " 458 fault and doubt—no w of that fond tale— " 578
But let my w's, the w's of one so small, Guinevere 185
To honour his own w as if his God's, " 473

Word (continued) teach high thought, and amiable w's Guinevere 481 Watch what thou seëst, and lightly bring me w.' Pass. of Arthur 206
Watch what I see, and lightly bring thee w,' " 212
I bad thee, watch, and lightly bring me w.' " 249
would have spoken, but he found not w's; " 340
Be cabin'd up in w's and syllables, Lover's Tale i 480 her w's stole with most prevailing sweetness " 553 Her w's did of their meaning borrow sound, Her cheek did catch the colour of her w's. " 568 While her w's, syllable by syllable, " 575 for henceforth what use were w's to me! " 609 deals comfortable w's To hearts wounded " 717
To all their queries answer'd not a w, " iv 333
Not to break in on what I say by w Or whisper, " 352
you never have spoken a w. Rizpah 14
As yet I had not bound myself by w's, Sister's (E. and E.) 137
The golden gates would open at a w. " 145
Not by the sounded letter of the w, " 162 Cold w's from one I had hoped to warm so far " 194 when we parted, Edith spoke no w, " 215 Had he God's w in Welsh He might be kindlier: Sir J. Oldcastle 22 for in thee the w was born again. " 27 Heaven-sweet Evangel, ever-living w, " 28 and that was clean Against God's w: Columbus 55
You will not. One last w. " 221 with human voices and w's; V. of Maeldune 28
Remember the w's of the Lord " 120
The Achæans—honouring his wise mother's w— Achilles over the T. 16
To cast wise w's among the multitude Tiresias 66
—the wise man's w, Here trampled by the populace " 173
The w of the Poet by whom the deeps The Wreck 23 language beneath and beyond the w! " 24
A madman to vex you with wretched w's, Despair 108
The reels not in the storm of warring w's, Ancient Sage 70
My w's are like the babblings in a dream " 106
But louder than thy rhyme the silent W " 212 revolving in myself The w that is the symbol " 231 unshadowable in w's, Themselves but shadows " 238
but w's are only w's! The Flight 59
We never changed a bitter w, " 86 heart batin' to music wid ivery w! Tomorrow 34
I couldn't a' stuck by my w. Spinster's S's. 96 when they 'evn't a w to saäy. " 102 lines I read Nor utter'd w of blame, Pro. to Gen. Hamley 18 were the w's Mutter'd in our dismay; Heavy Brigade 46 Muses often flowering in a lonely w; To Virgil 12 till his W Had won him a noble name. Dead Prophet 35 Ring little bells of change From w to w. Early Spring 42
And sacred is the latest w; To Marq. of Dufferin 37 them w's be i' Scriptur— Owd Roä 15 his The w's, and mine the setting. 'Air and W's,' Said Hubert, The Ring 24
you—you loved me, kept your w. " 290 those three sweet Italian w's, became a weariness. " 407
Blister'd every w with tears, Forlorn 81 Foul! foul! the w was yours not mine, Happy 41 parted for the Holy War without a w to me, " 77
Be needle to the magnet of your w, To Mary Boyle 7 hear their w's On pathway'd plains; Prog. of Spring 82
Why should I so disrelish that short w? Romney's R. 11 Vexing you with w's! W's only, " 29
—w's, Wild babble. " 31 for my sake, According to my w?' " 130 those three w's would haunt him when a boy, Far—far—away 8
What charm in w's, a charm no w's could give? " 16
O dying w's, can Music make you live " 17
Two w's, 'My rose' set all your face aglow, Roses on the T. 3
A man who never changed a w with men, St. Telemachus 10 his dying w's, Which would not die, " 75

Worded See Iron-worded

Wordily As here to-day, but not so w— Lover's Tale iv 355

Wordless And Lancelot marvell'd at the w man; Lancelot and E. 172
Suddenly speaking of the w man, " 271
The little senseless, worthless, w babe, The Ring 304

Wordless (continued) And w broodings on the wasted cheek— Princess vii 112
Wordy but when the w storm Had ended, Sea Dreams 31
And keen thro' w snares to track Suggestion In Mem. xcv 31
And w trucklings to the transient hour, To the Queen ii 51
Wore (See also Ware, Weär'd) For many weeks about my loins I w St. S. Stylites 63
That she w when she was wed.' L. of Burleigh 96
A gown of grass-green silk she w, Sir L. and Q. G. 24
She w the colours I approved. The Letters 16 crime Of sense avenged by sense that w with time.' Vision of Sin 214 another w A close-set robe of jasmine Aylmer's Field 157
And still I w her picture by my heart, Princess i 38
I w a lilac gown; Grandmother 57 it grew so tall It w a crown of light, The Flower 10 Never morning w To evening, In Mem. vi 7
I w them like a civic crown: „ lxix 8
In which of old I w the gown; „ lxxxvii 2 since he neither w on helm or shield Com. of Arthur 49 three gay suits of armour which they w, Geraint and E. 95 his the prize, who w the sleeve Of scarlet, Lancelot and E. 501
He w, against his wont, upon his helm „ 603
he w your sleeve: Would he break faith „ 684 but I lighted on the maid Whose sleeve he w; „ 711
With knees of adoration w the stone, Holy Grail 71 all she w Torn as a sail that leaves the rope „ 211
And beauty such as never woman w, Guinevere 549
She deem'd I w a brother's mind: Lover's Tale i 741 he learnt that I hated the ring I w, The Wreck 57
w it till her death, Shrined him within the temple The Ring 218
Muriel clench'd The hand that w it, „ 262
That ever w a Christian marriage-ring. Romney's R. 36
Work (s) (See also Branch-work, Chequer-work, Damask-work, Frame-work, Handmaid-work, Jacinth-work, Mat-work, Trellis-work, Works and Days) At his w you may hear him sob and sigh A spirit haunts 5
Now is done thy long day's w; A Dirge 1
Grave mother of majestic w's, Of old sat Freedom 13
Thy w is thine—The single note England and Amer. 18 we loved the man, and prized his w; M. d'Arthur, Ep. 8
'Tis not your w, but Love's. Gardener's D. 24 and he left his men at w, And came and said: Dora 86
Till that wild wind made w Talking Oak 54
To that man My w shall answer, Love and Duty 29
These measured words, my w of yestermorn. Golden Year 21
He works his w, I mine. Ulysses 43
Some w of noble note, may yet be done, „ 52
A virgin heart in w and will. Sir Galahad 24
'Thou shalt not be saved by w's: Vision of Sin 91
Nor of what race, the w; Aylmer's Field 224 Small were his gains, and hard his w; Sea Dreams 8
the woman honest W; „ 137
Which things appear the w of mighty Gods. Lucretius 102 and if I go my w is left Unfinish'd—if I go. „ 103 when we set our hand To this great w, Princess ii 60
Your own w marr'd: „ 230 and silver litanies, The w of Ida, „ 478 how vast a w To assail this gray preëminence „ iii 233
That we might see our own w out, „ 270 as the workman and his w, That practice betters?' „ 298
Which touches on the workman and his w. „ 322 and known at last (my w) „ iv 347 understanding all the foolish w Of Fancy, „ vi 116
The treble w's, the vast designs Ode on Well. 104
Whose life was w, whose language rife „ 183
Such was he: his w is done. „ 218
There must be other nobler w to do „ 256
The w's of peace with w's of war. Ode Inter. Exhib. 28 Fur w mun 'a gone to the gittin' N. Farmer, N. S. 50 burn the palaces, break the w's of the statuary, Boädicea 64 Man, her last w, who seem'd so fair, In Mem. lvi 9
I shall pass; my w will fail. „ lvii 8
my passion hath not swerved To w's of weakness, „ lxxxv 50
Let her w prevail. „ cxiv 4
O days and hours, your w is this „ cxvii 1
Work (s) (continued) Contemplate all this w of Time, In Mem. cxviii 1
If so he type this w of time Within himself, „ 16
By thee the world's great w is heard Beginning, „ cxxi 10
the w's of the men of mind, Maud I i 25
Awe-stricken breaths at a w divine, „ x 7
Frail, but a w divine, „ II ii 4
Small, but a w divine, „ 23
There is none that does his w, not one; „ v 26 cannot will my will, nor work my w Wholly, Com. of Arthur 88 Man am I grown, a man's w must I do. Gareth and L. 116 rich in emblem and the w Of ancient kings „ 304 Thralls to your w again, „ 710 with back turn'd, and bow'd above his w, Marr. of Geraint 267
And there is scantly time for half the w. „ 288
He spoke and fell to w again. „ 292
the w To both appear'd so costly, „ 637
This w of his is great and wonderful. Geraint and E. 898
This w of Edyrn wrought upon himself „ 912 felt His w was neither great nor wonderful, „ 921
Yet needs must work my w. Merlin and V. 505
They prove to him his w: Lancelot and E. 158
Yet with all ease, so tender was the w: „ 442
Her own poor w, her empty labour, left. „ 991
Before his w be done; Holy Grail 909
I will be leal to thee and work thy w, Pelleas and E. 343
This evil w of Lancelot and the Queen? Guinevere 307 and with my w thus Crown'd her clear forehead. Lover's Tale i 344
But w was scant in the Isle, First Quarrel 43 to see if w could be found; „ 44
'I ha' six weeks' w, little wife, „ 45
'You promised to find me w near you, „ 52
'I've gotten my w to do; „ 85
I ha' six weeks' w in Jersey „ 88 couldn't do naw w an' all, North. Cobbler 77 where the w's of the Lord are reveal'd In the Child. Hosp. 35 Frail were the w's that defended the hold Def. of Lucknow 7
Beyond all w of those who carve the stone, Tiresias 53 beyond All w of man, yet, like all w of man, Ancient Sage 85 Undo their w again, And leave him, „ 112 aisier w av they lived be an Irish bog. Tomorrow 72 but 'a left me the w to do, Spinster's S's. 55 of the chasm between W and Ideal? Romney's R. 64 now thy long day's w hath ceased, Epit. on Stratford 2
W's of subtle brain and hand, Open I. and C. Exhib. 7 Whose Faith and W's were bells of full accord, In Mem., W. G. Ward 2 loosen, stone from stone, All my fair w; Akbar's Dream 189
Work (literary production) Botanic Treatises, And W's on Gardening Amphion 78
My golden w in which I told a truth Lucretius 260
Work (verb) Then let wise Nature w her will, My life is full 21
Hath time and space to w and spread. You ask me, why, etc. 16
And w, a joint of state, that plies Its office, Love thou thy land 47 but w in hues to dim The Titianic Flora. Gardener's D. 170
And hired himself to w within the fields; Dora 38
Mary, let me live and w with you: „ 115
w for William's child, until he grows Of age, „ 126
Can I w miracles and not be saved? St. S. Stylites 150
I will w in prose and rhyme, Talking Oak 289
w itself Thro' madness, hated by the wise, Love and Duty 6
That unto him who w's, and feels he w's, Golden Year 73
He w's his work, I mine. Ulysses 43
For love in sequel w's with fate, Day-Dm., Arrival 3
I must w thro' months of toil, Amphion 97
All parties w together. Will Water. 56
Who needs would w for Annie to the last, Enoch Arden 180
Scorning an alms, to w whereby to live. „ 812 but labour for himself, W without hope, „ 820 all things w together for the good Of those'— Sea Dreams 158 Embrace our aims: w out your freedom. Princess ii 89 nor would we w for fame; „ iii 261
But in the shadow will we w, „ 331 but w no more alone! Our place is much: „ vii 266
Make and break, and w their will; Ode on Well. 261
And all men w in noble brotherhood, Ode Inter. Exhib. 38 w's Without a conscience or an aim. In Mem. xxxiv 7

Work (verb) (continued) To one that with us w's, and trust, In Mem. cxxxi 8 spirit of murder w's in the very means of life, Maud I i 40 cannot will my will, nor w my work Wholly, Com. of Arthur 88 and we will w thy will Who love thee.' „ 259 but an he w, Like any pigeon will I cram Gareth and L. 458 Myself would w eye dim, and finger lame, Marr. of Geraint 628 ruth began to w Against his anger in him, Geraint and E. 101
Vivien ever sought to w the charm Merlin and V. 215
But w as vassal to the larger love, „ 491
You needs must w my work. „ 505
To all the foulness that they w. „ 785
Thanks, but you w against your own desire; Lancelot and E. 1096
Or hers or mine, mine now to w my will— „ 1231 to whom I vow'd That I would w Holy Grail 784
As let these caitiffs on thee w their will?' Pelleas and E. 323
I will be leal to thee and w thy work, „ 343
I, being simple, thought to w His will, Pass. of Arthur 22
And life and limbs, all his to w his will.' Lover's Tale iv 283 an' I w an' I wait to the end. First Quarrel 7 gave All but free leave for all to w the mines, Columbus 133
I am not yet too old to w his will— „ 161 hourly w their brother insect wrong, Locksley H., Sixty 202
To w old laws of Love to fresh results, Prog. of Spring 85 art thou the Prophet? canst thou w Miracles?' Akbar's Dream 117
Meanwhile, my brothers, w, and wield Mechanophilus 29
Hold thine own, and w thy will! Poets and Critics 13

Work'd-Workt But my full heart, that work'd below, Two Voices 44
And they say then that I work'd miracles, St. S. Stylites 80 thy strong Hours indignant work'd their wills, Tithonus 18
But oft he work'd among the rest and shook Enoch Arden 651
Rose from the clay it work'd in as she past, Aylmer's Field 170 seeing who had work'd Lustier than any, Gareth and L. 695
I ha' work'd for him fifteen years, First Quarrel 7
He workt me the daisy chain— „ 13 a girl, a hussy, that workt with him up at the farm, „ 24 but the creatures had worked their will. Rizpah 50
Because the simple mother work'd upon By Edith Sisters (E. and E.) 206
This power hath work'd no good to aught that lives, Tiresias 77

Worker (See also Fellow-worker, War-worker) Men, my brothers, men the w's, Locksley Hall 117

Working (See also Still-working) A labour w to an end. Two Voices 297
Life, that, w strongly, binds— Love thou thy land 34
Him, like the w bee in blossom-dust, Enoch Arden 366
'It came,' she said, 'by w in the mines:' Sea Dreams 114
The jest and earnest w side by side, Princess iv 563
Or been in narrowest w shut, In Mem. xxxv 20
His being w in mine own, „ lxxxv 43
Move upward, w out the beast, „ cxviii 27
A knight of Arthur, w out his will, Gareth and L. 24
(Sea was her wrath, yet w after storm) Lancelot and E. 1309
Queen, W a tapestry, lifted up her head, Last Tournament 129
Demos end in w its own doom. Locksley H., Sixty 114

Workman Which wrought us, as the w and his work, Princess iii 298
Which touches on the w and his work. „ 322
Workmen up at the Hall!— Maud I i 65

Workmanship I admire Joints of cunning w. Vision of Sin 186
'Look what a lovely piece of w!' Aylmer's Field 237

Works and Days more than he that sang the W a D, To Virgil 6

Workt See Work'd

Wo'ld (world) Tha mun tackle the sins o' the W, Church-warden, etc. 46

World (See also Dream-world, Half-world, New-world, Old-world, Shadow-world, She-world, Sister-world, Water-world, Wo'ld, Woman-world, Wood-world) 'Tis the w's winter; Nothing will Die 17
The w was never made; „ 30 a w of peace And confidence, day after day; Supp. Confessions 29
w hath not another (Tho' all her fairest forms Isabel 38 which possess'd The darkness of the w, Arabian Nights 72
the w Like one great garden show'd, The Poet 33 and with his word She shook the w. „ 56
All the w o'er, (repeat) Sea-Fairies 41
Roof'd the w with doubt and fear, Eleänore 99
Kate saith 'the w is void of might.' Kate 17

World (continued) All the inner, all the outer w of pain If I were loved 5
Shadows of the w appear. L. of Shalott ii 12
I said 'When first the w began, Two Voices 16
Look up thro' night: the w is wide. „ 24
Is cancell'd in the w of sense?' „ 42 to present The w with some development. „ 75
And full of dealings with the w? Miller's D. 8
There's somewhat in this w amiss „ 19
'while the w runs round and round,' Palace of Art 13 cycles of the human tale Of this wide w, „ 147
And let the w have peace or wars, „ 182
'No voice breaks thro' the stillness of this w: „ 259 and all the w is still. May Queen, N. Y's. E. 24 girdled with the gleaming w: Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 113 gently comes the w to those That are cast To J. S. 3 harmonies of law The growing w assume, England and Amer. 17 general decay of faith Right thro' the w, The Epic 19 famous knights Whereof this w holds record. M. d'Arthur 16
Or hath come, since the making of the w. „ 203
Which was an image of the mighty w; „ 235
Lest one good custom should corrupt the w. „ 242
More things are wrought by prayer Than this w dreams of. „ 248
Not wholly in the busy w, nor quite Beyond it, Gardener's D. 33
And Beauty such a mistress of the w. „ 58 nor from her tendance turn'd Into the w without; „ 145 to hold From thence thro' all the w's: „ 210
That veil'd the w with jaundice, Walk. to the Mail 20
That these two parties still divide the w— „ 77
As never sow was higher in this w— „ 96
we should mimic this raw fool the w, „ 106 for the good and increase of the w.' (repeat) Edwin Morris 51, 92
Among the powers and princes of this w, St. S. Stylites 187
O this w's curse,—beloved but hated— Love and Duty 47
If all the w were falcons, what of that? Golden Year 38 like the second w to us that live; „ 56 arch wherethro' Gleams that untravell'd w, Ulysses 20
'Tis not too late to seek a newer w. „ 57
Here at the quiet limit of the w, Tithonus 7 comes A glimpse of that dark w where I was born. „ 33 Saw the Vision of the w, (repeat) Locksley Hall 16, 120 the Federation of the w. „ 128 and the w is more and more. „ 142
Let the great w spin for ever „ 182
Like hints and echoes of the w Day-Dm., Sleep. P. 7
In that new w which is the old: „ Depart. 4
Thro' all the w she follow'd him. „ 32
And learn the w, and sleep again; „ L'Envoi 8
The prelude to some brighter w. „ 40
And all the w go by them. Will Water. 48
Ah yet, tho' all the w forsake, „ 49
We knew the merry w was round, The Voyage 7
We lov'd the glories of the w, „ 83
We know the merry w is round, „ 95
Ring'd with the azure w, he stands. The Eagle 3
And my mockeries of the w. Vision of Sin 202 he sings of what the w will be When the years Poet's Song 15 not to see the w—For pleasure?— Enoch Arden 297
She slipt across the summer of the w, „ 531
She passing thro' the summer w again, „ 534
And glories of the broad belt of the w, „ 579
Roll'd a sea-haze and whelm'd the w in gray; „ 672
And beating up thro' all the bitter w, „ 802
One whom the strong sons of the w despise; The Brook 3
Too fresh and fair in our sad w's best bloom, „ 218
With half-allowing smiles for all the w, Aylmer's Field 120 the w should ring of him To shame these „ 395
And fain had haled him out into the w, „ 467
Against the desolations of the w. „ 634
Eight that were left to make a purer w— „ 638
To blow these sacrifices thro' the w— „ 758
Doubtless our narrow w must canvass it: „ 774
And left their memories a w's curse— „ 796 wife Sat shuddering at the ruin of a w; Sea Dreams 30
'What a w,' I thought, 'To live in!' „ 94 think that in our often-ransack'd w „ 129

World (continued) The lucid interspace of w and w, Lucretius 105
I seem'd to move among a w of ghosts, Princess i 17
One rose in all the w, your Highness that, ,, ii 51
'This w was once a fluid haze of light, ,, 116
Two in the tangled business of the w, ,, 174
Poets, whose thoughts enrich the blood of the w.' ,, 181 secular emancipation turns Of half this w, ,, 290
A blessing on her labours for the w. ,, 479 whence after-hands May move the w, ,, iii 264 weight of all the hopes of half the w, ,, iv 184 women kick against their Lords Thro' all the w, ,, 413 dam Ready to burst and flood the w with foam: ,, 474 tho' all the gold That veins the w were pack'd ,, 543
I seem'd to move among a w of ghosts; ,, 561
The wrath I nursed against the w: ,, v 437 Shall move the stony bases of the w, ,, vi 58 when a w Of traitorous friend and broken system ,, 194 and tarn by tarn Expunge the w: ,, vii 41
So blacken'd all her w in secret, ,, 42
I believed that in the living w My spirit closed ,, 157 notice of a change in the dark w Was lispt ,, 250
These were the rough ways of the w till now. ,, 257
Nor lose the wrestling thews that throw the w; ,, 282
Then reign the w's great bridals, ,, 294
Immersed in rich foreshadowings of the w, ,, 312
O we will walk this w, Yoked in all exercise ,, 360 and down rolls the w In mock heroics ,, Con. 63
This fine old w of ours is but a child ,, 77
Thro' all the silent spaces of the w's, ,, 114
The greatest sailor since our w began. Ode on Well. 86
And drill the raw w for the march of mind, ,, 168
Thro' either babbling w of high and low; ,, 182
Tho' w on w in myriad myriads roll Round us, ,, 262 hold against the w this honour of the land. Third of Feb. 48
All the w wonder'd: (repeat) Light Brigade 31, 52 diviner air Breathe thro' the w and change W. to Marie Alex. 44
And howsoever this wild w may roll, ,, 48
it cost me a w of woe, Grandmother 23
For him nor moves the cloud w's random mock, Will 4
Dark is the w to thee: High. Pantheism 7
As one who feels the immeasurable w, A Dedication 7 wet west wind and the w will go on. (repeat) Window, No Answer 6, 12 wet west wind and the w may go on. ,, 18
Over the w to the end of it ,, Marr. Morn. 23
Help thy vain w's to bear thy light. In Mem., Pro. 32
The sunbeam strikes along the w: ,, xv 8
Science reaches forth her arms To feel from w to w, ,, xxi 19
Thou fail not in a w of sin, ,, xxxiii 15
The total w since life began; ,, xliii 12
Upon the great w's altar-stairs ,, lv 15 breathes a novel w, the while His other passion ,, lxii 9
The centre of a w's desire; ,, lxiv 16
So many w's, so much to do, ,, lxxiii 1
The w which credits what is done Is cold to all ,, lxxv 15
In whispers of the beauteous w. ,, lxxix 12
The deep pulsations of the w, ,, xcv 40
Of rising w's by yonder wood. ,, cv 25
I would the great w grew like thee, ,, cxiv 25
In that which made the w so fair. ,, cxvi 8
the w's great work is heard Beginning, ,, cxxi 10
I found Him not in w or sun, ,, cxxiv 5
And whispers to the w's of space, ,, cxxvi 11
And mingle all the w with thee. ,, cxxix 12 and let the w have its way: Maud I iv 21 wood where I sit is a w of plunder and prey. ,, 24
Who knows the ways of the w, ,, 44
the suns are many, the w is wide. ,, 45
I have not made the w, ,, 48
From the long-neck'd geese of the w ,, 52
If I find the w so bitter ,, vi 33
Then the w were not so bitter (repeat) ,, 38, 94
a w in which I have hardly mixt, ,, 76
More life to Love than is or ever was In our low w, ,, xviii 48
A w of trouble within! ,, xix 25 makes us loud in the w of the dead; ,, II v 25

World (continued) a w that loves him not, For it is but a w of the dead. Maud II v 39
She comes from another stiller w of the dead, ,, 70
Fairer than aught in the w beside, ,, 73 spoke of a hope for the w in the coming wars— ,, III vi 11 in a weary w my one thing bright; ,, 17
His loss drew like eclipse, Darkening the w. Ded. of Idylls 15
I seem as nothing in the mighty w, Com. of Arthur 87
And power on this dead w to make it live.' ,, 94
the w Was all so clear about him, ,, 97
the Powers who walk the w Made lightnings ,, 107 deems himself alone And all the w asleep, ,, 119 whatsoever storms May shake the w, ,, 293
Graven in the oldest tongue of all this w, ,, 302
To guard thee on the rough ways of the w.' ,, 336
And hated this fair w and all therein, ,, 344 live and love, and make the w Other, ,, 472
'Blow trumpet, for the w is white with May; ,, 482
Blow thro' the living w— ,, 484
The slowly-fading mistress of the w, ,, 505 working out his will, To cleanse the w. Gareth and L. 25 or half the w Had ventured— ,, 64 that skill'd spear, the wonder of the w— ,, 1223
if the w were one Of utter peace, and love, ,, 1288
And stay the w from Lady Lyonors. ,, 1412
The w's loud whisper breaking into storm, Marr. of Geraint 27
At caitiffs and at wrongers of the w. ,, 96
At last they issued from the w of wood, ,, 238 cackle of your bourg The murmur of the w! ,, 277
the great wave that echoes round the w; ,, 420 Made a low splendour in the w, ,, 598 thro' the feeble twilight of this w Groping, Geraint and E. 5
The being he loved best in all the w, ,, 103
As the gray dawn stole o'er the dewy w, ,, 385
Henceforth in all the w at anything, ,, 649
The w will not believe a man repents: And this wise w of ours is mainly right. ,, 900
I have quite foregone All matters of this w: Balin and Balan 117 the Queen, and all the w Made music, ,, 210 Old monk and nun, ye scorn the w's desire, ,, 445 all at once they found the w, Staring wild-wide; ,, 595 as Arthur in the highest Leaven'd the w, Merlin and V. 141
Dear feet, that I have follow'd thro' the w, ,, 227
And sweep me from my hold upon the w, ,, 303
Who have to learn themselves and all the w, ,, 365 noble deeds, the flower of all the w. ,, 413
I well believe that all about this w ,, 541
sunn'd The w to peace again: ,, 639
The brute w howling forced them into bonds, ,, 744
And touching other w's. ,, 838 the place which now Is this w's hugest, Lancelot and E. 76 flower of all the west and all the w, ,, 249 Hid from the wide w's rumour by the grove Of poplars ,, 522 this and that other w Another w for the sick man; ,, 873
To serve you, and to follow you thro' the w.' ,, 939
'Nay, the w, the w, All ear and eye, ,, 940
'For Lancelot and the Queen and all the w, ,, 1107
Then might she follow me thro' the w, ,, 1316
For never have I known the w without, Holy Grail 20
And heal the w of all their wickedness! ,, 94 and all the w be heal'd.' ,, 128
Then flash'd a yellow gleam across the w, ,, 402
And seem'd to me the Lord of all the w, ,, 414
Rejoice, small man, in this small w of mine, ,, 559
the sea rolls, and all the w is warm'd?' ,, 672
'O happy w,' thought Pelleas, 'all, meseems, Pelleas and E. 136
Than all the ranged reasons of the w. ,, 156
That follows on the turning of the w, ,, 549 brother, thou nor I have made the w; Last Tournament 203 Would make the w as blank as Winter-tide. ,, 221 seeing too much wit Makes the w rotten, ,, 247
the w Is flesh and shadow— ,, 315
Who fain had clipt free manhood from the w— ,, 446
The wide w laughs at it. And worldling of the w am I, and know The ptarmigan ,, 695

World (continued) There hold thee with my life against the w.' Guinevere 115 twain together well might change the w. ,, 301
The most disloyal friend in all the w.' ,, 340
What knowest thou of the w, ,, 343
To serve as model for the mighty w, ,, 465 in that w where all are pure We two may meet ,, 563
Let the w be; that is but of the w What else? ,, 629
What might I not have made of thy fair w, ,, 655
As if some lesser god had made the w, Pass. of Arthur 14
Or else as if the w were wholly fair, ,, 18
Hath folded in the passes of the w.' ,, 78
'Hearest thou this great voice that shakes the w, ,, 139 famous knights Whereof this w holds record. ,, 184
Or hath come, since the making of the w. ,, 371
Which was an image of the mighty w, ,, 403
More things are wrought by prayer Than this w dreams of. ,, 416 stillness of the dead w's winter dawn Amazed him, ,, 442
As from beyond the limit of the w, ,, 458 goal of this great w Lies beyond sight: To the Queen ii 59
Like to a quiet mind in a loud w, Lover's Tale i 7
And, like all other friends i' the w, ,, 108
And mellow'd echoes of the outer w— ,, 208
In giving so much beauty to the w, ,, 212
Gray relics of the nurseries of the w, ,, 290
She said, 'The evil flourish in the w.' ,, 348 having always prosper'd in the w, ,, 716 (Huge blocks, which some old trembling of the w ,, ii 45
A flat malarian w of reed and rush! ,, iv 142
hungering for the gilt and jewell'd w About him, ,, 313
I am all alone in the w, First Quarrel 8 all the ships of the w could stare at him, Rizpah 38 ever a battle like this in the w before? The Revenge 62
Over all this weary w of ours, Sister's (E. and E.) 12
Over all this ruin'd w of ours, ,, 22
One bright May morning in a w of song, ,, 82
I think this gross hard-seeming w Is our mis-shaping vision of the Powers Behind the w, ,, 229 if the hope of the w were a lie? In the Child. Hosp. 24 Must learn to use the tongues of all the w. Sir J. Oldcastle 34
More worth than all the kingdoms of this w, ,, 77
Who took the w so easily heretofore, ,, 89
To course and range thro' all the w, ,, 120
God pardon all—Me, them, and all the w— ,, 169
And came upon the Mountain of the W, Columbus 26
Whatever wealth I brought from that new w ,, 101
I who have deceived thee or the w ? ,, 151
Flower into fortune—our w's way— ,, 167
Which he unchain'd for all the w to come.' ,, 215 his voice was low as from other w's, V. of Maeldune 117
Thro' all this changing w of changeless law, De Prof., Two G. 6
From that great deep, before our w begins, ,, 27
From that true w within the w we see, Whereof our w is but the bounding shore— ,, 30
For in the w, which is not ours, ,, 35 pain Of this divisible-indivisible w ,, 43
With power on thine own act and on the w. ,, 56
Son, in the hidden w of sight, Tiresias 51
I am flung from the rushing tide of the w The Wreck 6 word of the Poet by whom the deeps of the w are stirr'd, ,, 23
By the low foot-lights of the w— ,, 40
Over the range and change of the w ,, 70 dark little w's running round them were w's of woe like our own— Despair 18
Of a worm as it writhes in a w ,, 31
Of a dying worm in a w, ,, 32
Never a cry so desolate, not since the w began, ,, 59
In a w of arrogant opulence, ,, 78 thy w Might vanish like thy shadow in the dark. Ancient Sage 51
Nor canst thou prove the w thou movest in, ,, 58
This double seeming of the single w!— ,, 105 the w is dark with griefs and graves, ,, 171 splendours and the voices of the w! ,, 177 show us that the w is wholly fair. ,, 182

World (continued) I touch thy w again—No ill no good! Ancient Sage 249 in the fatal sequence of this w An evil thought ,, 274 know the love that makes the w a w to me! The Flight 76 my own true sister, come forth! the w is wide. ,, 96 they tell me that the w is hard, and harsh of mind, ,, 101 stood up strait as the Queen of the w— Tomorrow 79 old-world dust before the newer w begin. Locksley H., Sixty 150 Earth at last a warless w, ,, 165 outworn earth be dead as yon dead w the moon? ,, 174 perhaps a w of never fading flowers. ,, 184
All the w is ghost to me, ,, 253
In w's before the man Involving ours— Epilogue 25 like a flame From zone to zone of the w, Dead Prophet 35
This ever-changing w of circumstance, To Duke of Argyll 10 And warms the child's awakening w— To Prin. Beatrice 5 ask'd the waves that moan about the w Demeter and P. 64 from all the w the voices came 'We know not, ,, 66
And saw the w fly by me like a dream, The Ring 180
From out the fleshless w of spirits, ,, 228
In all the w my dear one sees but you— ,, 364
All the w will hear a voice Scream Forlorn 27
Wed to the melody, Sang thro' the w; Merlin and the G. 98
And yet The w would lose, Romney's R. 68 in the loud w's bastard judgment-day, ,, 119
Other songs for other w's! Parnassus 19
His dream became a deed that woke the w, St. Telemachus 70
Thro' all the warring w of Hindustan Akbar's Dream 26 the living pulse of Alla beats Thro' all His w. ,, 42 gaze on this great miracle, the W, ,, 122
For a woman ruin'd the w, Charity 3 see not her like anywhere in this pitiless w of ours! ,, 43 can escape From the lower w within him, Making of Man 2
And loves the w from end to end, The Wanderer 7
'The w and all within it (repeat) Voice spake, etc. 3, 9
Nor the myriad w, His shadow, God and the Univ. 6
Eternal Harmony Whereto the w's beat time, D. of the Duke of C. 16

World-compelling The w-c plan was thine,— Ode Inter. Exhib. 10

World-domain Whose will is lord thro' all his w-d— W. to Marie Alex. 2

World-earthquake In that w-e, Waterloo! Ode on Well. 133

Worlded See Myriad-worlded

World-isle W-i's in lonely skies, Epilogue 55

Worldless From where his w heart had kept it warm, Aylmer's Field 471

Worldling the wind like a broken w wail'd, Maud I i 11
And w of the world am I, Last Tournament 696
But your Judith—but your w— Locksley H., Sixty 20
She the w born of w's— ,, 25

Worldly And all his w worth for this, Sir L. and Q. G. 43 he vext her and perplext her With his w talk and folly: Maud I xx 7
Some rough old knight who knew the w way, Pelleas and E. 192
w Priests Who fear the king's hard common-sense Sir J. Oldcastle 65
Like w beauties in the Cell, not shown The Ring 143

Worldly-wise w-w begetters, plagued themselves Aylmer's Field 482

World-old as they sat Beneath a w-o yew-tree, Holy Grail 13

World-prophet that w-p in the heart of man. Ancient Sage 213

World-self His whole W-s and all in all— De Prof., Two G. 49

World-to-be Who will embrace me in the w-t-b Enoch Arden 893

World-victor great W-v's victor will be seen no more. Ode on Well. 42

World-war W-w of dying flesh against the life, Merlin and V. 193

World-wealth venom of w-w Into the church, Sir J. Oldcastle 166

World-whisper vague w-w, mystic pain or joy, Far—far—away 7

World-wide w-w whisper of the south-wind rushing warm, Locksley Hall 125
w-w fluctuation sway'd In vassal tides In Mem. cxii 15 Mourn! That a w-w Empire mourns with you, D. of the Duke of C. 5

World-worn the w-w Dante grasp'd his song, Palace of Art 135

Worm (See also Brother-worm, Glow-worm, Scorpion-worm, Slow-worm) fret Of that sharp-headed w begins Supp. Confessions 186 Nothing but the small cold w A Dirge 9 every w beneath the moon Draws different threads, Two Voices 178 with a w I balk'd his fame. D. of F. Women 155
As ruthless as a baby with a w, Walk. to the Mail 108
Below were men and horses pierced with w's, Vision of Sin 209
Crown thyself, w, and worship thine own lusts!— Aylmer's Field 650
And a w is there in the lonely wood, The Islet 34

Worm (continued) for the life of the w and the fly? Wages 7
No will push me down to the w, Window, No Answer 10
That not a w is cloven in vain; In Mem. liv 9 Strike dead the whole weak race of venomous w's, Maud II i 46 many rings (For he had many, poor w) „ ii 69 Wroth to be wroth at such a w, Marr. of Geraint 213 as the w draws in the wither'd leaf Geraint and E. 633
And the high purpose broken by the w. Merlin and V. 196
'A w within the rose.' Pelleas and E. 399
He dies who loves it,—if the w be there.' „ 409
And cast him as a w upon the way; Guinevere 35
The guess of a w in the dust Despair 30
Of a w as it writhes in a world „ 31
Of a dying w in a world, „ 32
When the w shall have writhed its last, „ 85
'O w's and maggots of to-day Ancient Sage 210
a w which writhes all day, and at night Stirs up Vastness 17
You that would not tread on a w Forlorn 45 flesh at last is filth on which the w will feast; Happy 30 point and jeer, And gibber at the w, Romney's R. 137 Worm-canker'd Distill'd from some w-c homily; To J. M. K. 6
Worm-eaten So propt, w-e, ruinously old, Enoch Arden 693
Wormwood banquet, where the meats became As w, Lancelot and E. 744
Wormwood-bitter were w-b to me. Balin and Balan 64 Worn (See also Fever-worn, Storm-worn, Wave-worn, Way-worn, Well-worn, World-worn) Weeded and w the ancient thatch Mariana 7 both Brake into hall together, w and pale. Pelleas and E. 587 where the tide Plash'd, sapping its w ribs; Lover's Tale i 56 plaited ivy-tress had wound Round my w limbs, „ 619
And weird and w and wizard-like was he. The Ring 196 hearts w out by many wars And eyes grown dim Lotos-Eater's, C. S. 86 took it, and have w it, like a king: M. d'Arthur 33
theme of writers, and indeed W threadbare. Edwin Morris 49
Or while the patch was w; Talking Oak 64
Till now the dark was w, Love and Duty 71
he died at Florence, quite w out, The Brook 35
Those winters of abeyance all w out, Princess iv 440
Which he has w so pure of blame, Ode on Well. 72
Till slowly w her earthly robe, In Mem. lxxxiv 33
A censer, either w with wind and storm; Gareth and L. 222
W by the feet that now were silent, Marr. of Geraint 321
It never yet was w, I trow: „ 683
I myself unwillingly have w My faded suit, „ 705 and the mask of pure W by this court, Merlin and V. 36 King Had on his cuirass w our Lady's Head, Lancelot and E. 294
w Favour of any lady in the lists. (repeat) „ 363, 473
When these have w their tokens: „ 769 Wasted and w, and but a tithe of them, Holy Grail 723 took it, and have w it, like a king; Pass. of Arthur 201 richly garb'd, but w From wasteful living, Ancient Sage 4 Never w by a worthier, On Jub. Q. Victoria 8 had stolen, w the ring—Then torn it from her finger, The Ring 455
I have w them year by year— Happy 102
Worn-out while the w-o clerk Brow-beats his desk To J. M. K. 11
This w-o Reason dying in her house Romney's R. 145
Worried W his passive ear with petty wrongs Enoch Arden 352 Worry (See also Tew, Tued) a dog am I, To w, and not to flee— Gareth and L. 1015
Worse (See also Woorse, Wuss) Is boundless better, boundless w. Two Voices 27
I fear to slide from bad to w. „ 231
And ever w with growing time, Palace of Art 270
There is confusion w than death, Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 83 laughingly Would hint at w in either. Enoch Arden 481 if griefs Like his have w or better, „ 741 the song Might have been w and sinn'd Princess iv 251 some cold reverence w than were she dead. „ v 92
Or pines in sad experience w than death, „ vii 315
Far w than any death to me.' Sailor Boy 24
Hexameters no w than daring Germany gave us, Trans. of Homer 5 would make Confusion w than death, In Mem. xc 19 better or w Than the heart of the citizen Maud I i 23 fiend best knows whether woman or man be the w. „ 75 Worse (continued) Sick once, with a fear of w, Maud I xix 73 grew up to wolflike men, W than the wolves. Com. of Arthur 33
A w were better; yet no w would I. Gareth and L. 17 for w than being fool'd Of others, „ 1274
Shall I not rather prove the w for these? Balin and Balan 228
Kill'd with a word w than a life of blows! Merlin and V. 870
To make men w by making my sin known? Lancelot and E. 1417
That did not shun to smite me in w way, Guinevere 435 and expectancy of w Upon the morrow, Lover's Tale ii 151
The w for her, for me! was I content? Sisters (E. and E.) 126
I am handled w than had I been a Moor, Columbus 107 which was crueller? which was w? Locksley H., Sixty 88 War for War's own sake Is fool, or crazed, or w; Epilogue 31 cuckoo of a w July Is calling thro' the dark: Pref. Poem Broth. Son. 11 and paced his land In fear of w, To Mary Boyle 30 of the mind Mine; w, cold, calculated. Romney's R. 152
Worse-confounded Babel, woman-built, And w-c: Princess iv 488
Worship (s) (See also Sun-worship, Wife-worship) deck'd her out For w without end; „ vii 169 compass'd her with sweet observances And w, Marr. of Geraint 49
But this w of the Queen, Balin and Balan 179
'Old priest, who mumble w in your quire— „ 444
And I will pay you w; Merlin and V. 228
To seat you sole upon my pedestal Of w— „ 879 now my loyal w is allow'd Of all men: Lancelot and E. 110
yet O grant my w of it Words, „ 1187
It will be to thy w, as my knight, „ 1327
Dame, damsel, each thro' w of their Queen Last Tournament 146
There crown'd with w— Tiresias 175
Of saner w sanely proud; Freedom 30 that w which is Fear, Henceforth, Demeter and P. 143 harvest hymns of Earth The w which is Love, „ 149 in all Man-modes of w; Akbar's Dream 47 Worship (verb) That here come those that w me? St. S. Stylites 125
When you may w me without reproach; „ 193
Crown thyself, worm, and w thine own lusts!— Aylmer's Field 650
He w's your ideal:' she replied: Princess ii 52
hive of Roman liars w an emperor-idiot. Boädicea 19
To wage my wars, and w me their King; Com. of Arthur 508
'Fair damsel, you should w me the more, Gareth and L. 1022
Her likewise would I w an I might. Balin and Balan 185
The Queen we w, Lancelot, I, and all, „ 349
To w woman as true wife beyond Merlin and V. 23
And beasts themselves would w; „ 575
For Lancelot's kith and kin so w him Holy Grail 651
'Fair damsels, each to him who w's each Last Tournament 207
And w her by years of noble deeds, Guinevere 476
There also will I w thee as King. Pass. of Arthur 149
I anger'd Arundel asking me To w Holy Cross! Sir J. Oldcastle 136
She knelt—'We w him'— Dead Prophet 29
I w that right hand Which fell'd the foes Happy 41 both, to w Alla, but the prayers, Akbar's Dream 9
I let men w as they will, „ 66
a people have fashion'd and w a Spirit Kapiolani 1 Worshipfully Sir Lavaine did well and w; Lancelot and E. 491 would I reward thee w. Gareth and L. 829 Worshipp'd-Worshipt And worshipt their own darkness in the Highest? Aylmer's Field 643
Sir Lancelot worshipt no unmarried girl Merlin and V. 12 and him his new-made knight Worshipt, Pelleas and E. 155
Thy name is ever worshipp'd among hours! Lover's Tale i 493 Truth, for Truth is Truth, he worshipt, Locksley H., Sixty 59 once I worshipt all too well this creature Happy 45
Worshipper (See also Woman-worshipper) outlast thy Deity? Deity? nay, thy w's. Lucretius 73
Worst (See also Earthly-worst, Woost) 'Never, dearest, never: here I brave the w:' Edwin Morris 118
And women's slander is the w, The Letters 34
His w he kept, his best he gave. You might have won 26
'His deeds yet live, the w is yet to come. Sea Dreams 314 of her court The wiliest and the w; Guinevere 29
I hold that man the w of public foes „ 512
W of the w were that man he that reigns! „ 523
An' she wasn't one o' the w.' First Quarrel 61 never put on the black cap except for the w of the w, Rizpah 65

Worst (continued) She sees the Best that glimmers thro' the W, Ancient Sage 72
Do your best to charm the w, Locksley H., Sixty 147
Earth would never touch her w, „ 270
The best in me that sees the w in me, Romney's R. 44
For with thy w self sacrifice thyself, Aylmer's Field 646
And wretched age—and w disease of all, Lucretius 155 put on thy w and meanest dress And ride with me.' Marr. of Geraint 130
Put on your w and meanest dress,' „ 848
But women, w and best, as Heaven and Hell. Merlin and V. 815

Worth (adj.) (See also Little-worth, Nothing-worth) Is w a hundred coats-of-arms. L. C. V. de Vere 16 her least remark was w The experience of the wise. Edwin Morris 65
Is three times w them all; Talking Oak 72
'No doubt that we might make it w his while. Princess i 184
we should find the land W seeing; „ iii 172 beauty in detail Made them w knowing; „ iv 449 a good mother, a good wife, W winning; „ v 167 is not Ida right? They w it? „ 189 Warnt w nowt a häacre, N. Farmer, O. S. 39 hardly w my while to choose Of things all mortal, In Mem. xxxiv 10 Whose life, whose thoughts were little w, „ lxxxv 30
A goodly youth and w a goodlier boon! Gareth and L. 449
'It is not w the keeping: let it go: Merlin and V. 396 gross heart Would reckon w the taking? „ 917 snare her royal fancy with a boon W half her realm, Lancelot and E. 72
mebbe w their weight i' gowd.' Village Wife 70
What life, so maim'd by night, were w Our living out? Tiresias 208
Were never w the while'— Ancient Sage 128 thou'd not 'a been w thy milk, Spinster's S's. 54 fuller franchise—what would that be w— The Fleet 8 change of the tide—what is all of it w? Vastness 30
Is it w his while to eat, Voice spake, etc. 7

Worth (s) If aught of ancient w be there; To the Queen 12
Old letters, breathing of her w, Mariana in the S. 62
To make him trust his modest w, L. C. V. de Vere 46 his mute dust I honour and his living w: To J. S. 30 And draws the veil from hidden w. Day-Dm., Arrival 4
I grow in w, and wit, and sense, Will Water. 41 most, of sterling w, is what Our own experience „ 175
couldst thou last, At half thy real w? „ 204
He loves me for my own true w, Lady Clare 11
'O Lady Clare, you shame your w! „ 66
And all his worldly w for this, Sir L. and Q. G. 43
A song that pleased us from its w; You might have won 22 they might be proud; its w Was being Edith's. Aylmer's Field 378 two dear things are one of double w, Princess ii 419
Till all men grew to rate us at our w, „ iv 145
What seem'd my w since I began; In Mem., Pro. 34
I know transplanted human w „ lxxxii 11 defying change To test his w; „ xcv 28
the w of half a town, A warhorse of the best, Gareth and L. 677
I scarce have spent the w of one!' Geraint and E. 411 they had been thrice their w Being your gift, Lancelot and E. 1212 did he know her w, Her beauty even? Lover's Tale iv 150 commission one of weight and w To judge Columbus 124 and was noble in birth as in w, V. of Maeldune 3

Worthier many a w than I, would make him happy yet. May Queen, Con. 46
I find him w to be loved. In Mem., Pro. 40
Modred for want of w was the judge. Gareth and L. 28
'Forbear: there is a w,' Marr. of Geraint 556 ten-times w to be thine Than twenty Balins, Balin and Balan 68
But thine are w, seeing they profess Last Tournament 82 Never worn by a w, On Jub. Q. Victoria 8
W soul was he than I am, sound and honest, rustic Squire, Locksley H., Sixty 239

Worthiest and of those halves You w; Princess iv 462
To follow up the w till he die: „ 466

Worthless The little senseless, w, wordless babe, The Ring 304

Worthy w of the golden prime (repeat) Arabian Nights 98, 142
W a Roman spouse.' D. of F. Women 164
Surely a precious thing, one w note, M. d'Arthur 89
it will be w of the two. Locksley Hall 92
Him too you loved, for he was w love. Aylmer's Field 712

Worthy (continued) 'w reasons why she should Bide by this issue: Princess v 325 Call'd him w to be loved, „ vi 6 this is he W of our gorgeous rites, And w to be laid by thee; Ode on Well. 93
'I am not w ev'n to speak In Mem. xxxvii 11
And thou art w; full of power; „ Con. 37
We are not w to live, Maud II i 48 loved with that full love I feel for thee, nor w such a love: Gareth and L. 84
And pardonable, w to be knight— „ 654
Strike, thou art w of the Table Round— „ 1138
'Thou art not w ev'n to speak of him;' Marr. of Geraint 199 not w to be knight; A churl, a clown!' Balin and Balan 285
I, feeling that you felt me w trust, Merlin and V. 334
the quest Assign'd to her not w of it, Lancelot and E. 825 Toward one more w of her— „ 1320
if what is w love Could bind him, „ 1378
'I am not w of the Quest;' Holy Grail 386
I had liefer ye were w of my love, Pelleas and E. 301
Surely a precious thing, one w note, Pass. of Arthur 257 that I know you w everyway To be my son, Sisters (E. and E.) 48
An old and w name! „ 74

Would-be You w-b quenchers of the light to be, Princess iv 536

Would-be-widow While she vows 'till death shall part us,' she the w-b-w wife. Locksley H., Sixty 24

Wound (s) then, because his w was deep, M. d'Arthur 5
I fear My w hath taken cold, „ 166
Where I will heal me of my grievous w.' „ 264
Like flies that haunt a w, or deer, or men, Aylmer's Field 571
My father stoop'd, re-father'd o'er my w's. Princess vi 129
Lifting his grim head from my w's. „ 272
To save her dear lord whole from any w. Geraint and E. 45 till she had lighted on his w, „ 513
'Sir King, mine ancient w is hardly whole, Lancelot and E. 93 and bare him in, There stanch'd his w; „ 520 Lancelot who hath come Despite the w he spake of, „ 566 added w to w And ridd'n away to die?' „ 567
Had made the pretext of a hindering w, „ 582
tho' he call'd his w a little hurt „ 852
Then fared it with Sir Pelleas as with one Who gets a w in battle, and the sword that made it plunges thro' the w again, Pelleas and E. 529
Then, because his w was deep, Pass. of Arthur 174
I fear My w hath taken cold, „ 334
Where I will heal me of my grievous w.' „ 432
after healing of his grievous w He comes again; „ 450
With a grisly w to be drest he had left the deck, The Revenge 66 told them of his wars, and of his w. Sisters (E. and E.) 60 Death to the dying, and w's to the wounded, Def. of Lucknow 17
the w that would not be heal'd, „ 84

Wound (to wind) as the boat-head w along The willowy hills L. of Shalott iv 24
Where Past and Present, w in one, Miller's D. 197 that my arms Were w about thee, Œnone 203 her hair W with white roses, slept St. Cecily; Palace of Art 99 and turning, w Her looser hair in braid, Gardener's D. 157 w A scarf of orange round the stony helm, Princess, Pro. 101
we w About the cliffs, the copses, out and in, „ iii 359
Thro' open field into the lists they w Timorously; „ vi 84
And mine in this was w, In Mem. xcv 37
w Bare to the sun, and monstrous ivy-stems Marr. of Geraint 321 Thro' the rocks we w: Lover's Tale i 324 plaited ivy-tress had w Round my worn limbs, „ 618
I w my arms About her: „ ii 200

Wound (to wound) creaking cords which w and eat Supp. Confessions 36
Tho' men may w him that he will not die, Com. of Arthur 421

Wounded (adj. and part.) (See also Arrow-wounded, Deeply-wounded) Till himself was deadly w The Captain 63
With w peace which each had prick'd to death. Aylmer's Field 52
Is w to the death that cannot die; „ 662
And see my dear lord w in the strife, Marr. of Geraint 103
For those that might be w; Geraint and E. 568
And were himself nigh w to the death.' „ 919 man in life Was w by blind tongues he saw not Balin and Balan 130

Wounded (adj. and part.) (continued) Hath gone sore
w, and hath left his prize Lancelot and E. 530
W and wearied needs must he be near. „ 538
So that he went sore w from the field: „ 600 deals comfortable words To hearts w for ever; Lover's Tale i 718 he was w again in the side and the head, The Revenge 68
I have only w his pride— The Wreck 14
A little thing may harm a w man. M. d'Arthur 42
So strode he back slow to the w King. „ 65
And so strode back slow to the w King. „ 112 like a w life Crept down into the hollows of the wood; Enoch Arden 75 when like a w life He crept into the shadow: „ 386
Nor her that o'er her w hunter wept Lucretius 89 lordly creature floated on To where her w brethren lay; Princess vi 90 king her father charm'd Her w soul with words: „ 346 shining in upon the w man With blush and smile, „ vii 61
A w thing with a rancorous cry, Maud I x 34
Kay near him groaning like a w bull— Gareth and L. 648
A little thing may harm a w man; Pass. of Arthur 210
So strode he back slow to the w King. „ 233
And so strode back slow to the w King. „ 280
Fought in her father's battles? w there? Last Tournament 592
The w warrior climbs from Troy to thee. Death of Œnone 39

Wounded (s) Death to the dying, and wounds to the w, Def. of Lucknow 17 and we sail'd with our w away. V. of Maeldune 36

Wounded (verb) brought Her own claw back, and w her own heart. Merlin and V. 500

Wounding The w cords that bind and strain Clear-headed friend 4

Wove Who w coarse webs to snare her purity, Aylmer's Field 780 beneath her marriage ring, W and unwove it, Geraint and E. 260
w with silver thread And crimson in the belt Holy Grail 153
So I w Ev'n the dull-blooded poppy-stem, Lover's Tale i 351

Wov'n honeysuckle round the porch has w its wavy bowers, May Queen 29 music winding trembled, W in circles: Vision of Sin 18
A web is w across the sky; In Mem. iii 6
The kiss, The w arms, seem but to be Weak symbols Miller's D. 232
Up-clomb the shadowy pine above the w copse. Lotos-Eaters 18
Thro' many a w acanthus-wreath divine! „ C. S. 97
With w paces and with waving arms, Merlin and V. 207
Of w paces and of waving hands, (repeat) „ 330, 968 cobweb w across the cannon's throat Maud III vi 27
Burst from the garland I had w, Lover's Tale i 366

Wowd (wold) tha'll light of a livin' somewheers i'
the W or the Fen, Church-warden, etc. 47

Wrack lest the realm should go to w. Com. of Arthur 208
So that the realm has gone to w: „ 227

Wraith O hollow w of dying fame, In Mem. lxxiii 13
The ghastly W of one that I know; Maud II i 32
And w's of the mountain, Merlin and the G. 43
Rose, like the w of his dead self, Death of Œnone 28

Wrangle three gray linnets w for the seed: Guinevere 255

Wrangled And still they strove and w: Sea Dreams 229 and jangled and w in vain, V. of Maeldune 109

Wranglest Woosest not, nor vainly w; Madeline 38

Wrangling And haunted by the w daw; In Mem. c 12

Wrap When a blanket w's the day, Vision of Sin 80
In words, like weeds, I'll w me o'er, In Mem. v 9
Love w's his wings on either side the heart, Lover's Tale i 467
Now w's her close, now arching leaves her bare Prog. of Spring 12

Wrapp'd-Wrapt (See also Happt) Wrapt in dense cloud from base to cope. Two Voices 186
'These things are wapt in doubt and dread, „ 266
I wrapt his body in the sheet, The Sisters 34
Pitiful sight, wrapp'd in a soldier's cloak, Princess v 56
The roots are wrapt about the bones. In Mem. ii 4
And wrapt thee formless in the fold, „ xxii 15
Wrapt in a cloak, as I saw him, Maud I i 59
Wrapt in drifts of lurid smoke „ II iv 66
'Not naked, only wrapt in barden'd skins Gareth and L. 1093
Then brought a mantle down and wrapt her in it, Marr. of Geraint 824 wrapt In unremorseful folds of rolling fire. Holy Grail 260
Wrapt in her grief, for housel or for shrift, Guinevere 149

Wrapping w her all over with the cloak He came in, Lover's Tale iv 86

Wrapt See Wrapp'd

Wrath No sword Of w her right arm whirl'd, The Poet 54

Wrath (continued) To whom replied King Arthur, much in w: M. d'Arthur 118
Secret w like smother'd fuel The Captain 15
Shame and w his heart confounded, „ 61
And then we met in w and wrong, The Letters 11 eyes All flooded with the helpless w of tears, Enoch Arden 32
How sweetly would she glide between your w's, Aylmer's Field 706
A rushing tempest of the w of God „ 757
'Let not the sun go down upon your w,' Sea Dreams 44 Except his w were wreak'd on wretched man, Lucretius 128 troubled like a rising moon, Inflamed with w: Princess i 60 then he chew'd The thrice-turn'd cud of w, „ 66
And heated thro' and thro' with w and love, „ iv 163
The w I nursed against the world: „ v 437
The w that garners in my heart; In Mem. lxxxii 14
And like a man in w the heart „ cxxiv 15
God's just w shall be wreak'd on a giant liar; Maud III vi 45
Then Uther in his w and heat besieged Com. of Arthur 198 so those great lords Drew back in w, „ 514 on the damsel's forehead shame, pride, w Slew the May-white: Gareth and L. 656 by this entry fled The damsel in her w, „ 675 loosed in words of sudden fire the w Geraint and E. 106
Another, flying from the w of Doorm „ 530 thy just w Sent me a three-years' exile Balin and Balan 58 after some quick burst of sudden w, „ 216
My father hath begotten me in his w. „ 283
And Vivien answer'd smiling as in w: Merlin and V. 526
And Vivien answer'd frowning yet in w: „ 768
So all in w he got to horse and went; Lancelot and E. 563 (Sea was her w, yet working after storm) „ 1309 this persistence turn'd her scorn to w. Pelleas and E. 218 Thereon her w became a hate; „ 224
'I am w and shame and hate and evil fame, „ 568
Until he groan'd for w— Last Tournament 183
The w which forced my thoughts on that fierce law, Guinevere 537
To whom replied King Arthur, much in w: Pass. of Arthur 286
When he rose in his w, Dead Prophet 63
She in w Return'd it on her birthday, The Ring 211

Wrathful but w, petulant, Dreaming some rival, Lucretius 14
While Enoch was abroad on w seas, Enoch Arden 91 cheek and blossom brake the w bloom Princess iv 383
I thought on all the w king had said, „ v 473
Now set a w Dian's moon on flame, „ vi 368
He made a w answer: 'Did I wish Your warning Geraint and E. 76
To which he flung a w answer back: „ 146
he but gave a w groan, Saying, „ 398
That makes me passing w; Merlin and V. 341
'Nay, Master, be not w with your maid; „ 380 Strong men, and w that a stranger knight Lancelot and E. 468 a sudden flush of w heat Fired all the pale face Guinevere 356
w thunder of God peal'd over us all the day, V. of Maeldune 113
The w sunset glared against a cross St. Telemachus 5

Wreak I remain on whom to w your rage, Princess iv 350
I w The wrath that garners In Mem. lxxxii 13
Kill the foul thief, and w me for my son.' Gareth and L. 363

Wreak'd Except his wrath were w on wretched man, Lucretius 128 God's just wrath shall be w on a giant liar; Maud III vi 45 these caitiff rogues Had w themselves on me; Gareth and L. 820 thou hast w his justice on his foes, „

Wreath (See also Acanthus-wreath, Ivy-wreath) thro' the w's of floating dark upcurl'd, The Poet 35 Lit light in w's and anadems, Palace of Art 186 made a little w of all the flowers Dora 82
The w of flowers fell At Dora's feet. „ 102
In w about her hair. Talking Oak 288 and rent The woodbine w's that bind her, Amphion 34
In her right a civic w, Vision of Sin 137 lapt in w's of glowworm light The mellow breaker Princess iv 435
'for this wild w of air, This flake of rainbow „ v 318 thousand w's of dangling water-smoke, „ vii 213 any w that man can weave him. Ode on Well. 277
But when the w of March has blossom'd, To F. D. Maurice 43
Make one w more for Use and Wont, In Mem. xxix 11
The head hath miss'd an earthly w: „ lxxiii 6

Wreath (continued) thine The w of beauty, thine the crown of power, Merlin and V. 79
A w of airy dancers hand-in-hand Guinevere 261 —its w's of dripping green— Lover's Tale i 39
Darkening the w's of all that would advance, To Victor Hugo 5
This w, above his honour'd head, Tiresias 213
I caught the w that was flung. The Wreck 40
Or Love with w's of flowers. Epilogue 17
And you, that wear a w of sweeter bay, Poets and their B. 7
Wreath'd (See also New-wreathed) Love's arms were w about the neck of Hope, Lover's Tale i 815
Beneath the bower of w eglantines: „ ii 43
W round the bier with garlands: „ 79 the belted hunter blew His w bugle-horn. Palace of Art 64 around his head The glorious goddess w a golden cloud, Achilles over the T. 5
Wreathe Now w thy cap with doleful crape, My life is full 14
The fancy's tenderest eddy w, In Mem. xlix 6
To w a crown not only for the king Akbar's Dream 23
Wreathen (See also Mist-wreathen) the sculptured ornament That w round it Merlin and V. 735 Wreck (s) Hurt in that night of sudden ruin and w, Enoch Arden 564 sure no gladlier does the stranded w „ 828 his voyage, His w, his lonely life, „ 862 battle, bold adventure, dungeon, w, Aylmer's Field 98 the father suddenly cried, 'A w, a w!' Sea Dreams 59
Rotting on some wild shore with ribs of w, Princess v 147
My father raves of death and w, Sailor Boy 19
Tho' his vessel was all but a w; The Revenge 64 pranced on the w's in the sand below, V. of Maeldune 102
My brain is full of the crash of w's, The Wreck 4
My life itself is a w, „ 5 the one man left on the w— „ 119 they had saved many hundreds from w— Despair 10 about the shuddering w the death-white sea The Flight 47 children in a sunbeam sitting on the ribs of w. Locksley H., Sixty 14
I was left within the shadow sitting on the w alone. „ 16 and sinking with the sinking w, „ 64
Like some old w on some indrawing sea, St. Telemachus 44 bodies and souls go down in a common w, The Dawn 13
Wreck (verb) sought'st to w my mortal ark, Two Voices 389
May w itself without the pilot's guilt, Aylmer's Field 716 my craven seeks To w thee villainously: Last Tournament 549 love is wreck'd—if Love can w— Lover's Tale i 804 passive sailor w's at last In ever-silent seas; Ancient Sage 136 Wreck'd W on a reef of visionary gold.' Sea Dreams 139 when their love is w—if Love can wreck— Lover's Tale i 804 we are all of us w at last— Despair 12
W—your train—or all but w? Locksley H., Sixty 215 Saved when your life was w! The Ring 305
Wren 'Shall eagles not be eagles? w's be w's? Golden Year 37
And you my w with a crown of gold, You my queen of the w's! You the queen of the w's— Window, Spring 11
I'll be the King of the Queen of the w's, „ 15
The fire-crown'd king of the w's, „ Ay 8 flit like the king of the w's with a crown of fire. „ 16
Tits, w's, and all wing'd nothings Marr. of Geraint 275
Wrench'd (See also Half-wrench'd) Who w their rights from thee! England and Amer. 5 and w with pains Gain'd in the service Columbus 235 dearer ghost had— Father. —w it away. The Ring 468 Wrenching W it backward into his; Lucretius 221
Wrestle strive and w with thee till I die: St. S. Stylites 119
Had ever seem'd to w with burlesque, Princess, Con. 16
Wrestled W with wandering Israel, Clear-headed friend 26
Wrestling Nor lose the w thews that throw the world; Princess vii 282
Wretch Poor w—no friend!— Merlin and V. 75
W you must abide it . . . Forlorn 52 then he yawn'd, for the w could sleep,— Bandit's Death 30
Wretched Except his wrath were wreak'd on w man, Lucretius 128
And w age—and worst disease of all, „ 155
'W boy, How saw you not the inscription on the gate, Princess ii 193
On a horror of shatter'd limbs and a w swindler's lie? Maud I i 56
A w vote may be gain'd. „ vi 56
At war with myself and a w race, „ x 35
Wretched (continued) Yea ev'n of w meat and drink, Maud I xv 8
May God make me more w Than ever I have been yet! „ xix 94
O w set of sparrows, one and all, Marr. of Geraint 278 and your w dress, A w insult on you, Geraint and E. 327 pains Of the hellish heat of a w life Despair 68
A madman to vex you with w words, „ 108
Wretchedest W age, since Time began, Maud II v 21
Wretchedness But bode his hour, devising w. Last Tournament 386 Wrigglesby beck Loook thou theer wheer W b cooms out by the 'll! N. Farmer, N. S. 53
Wring take the goose, and w her throat, The Goose 31
Wrinkle Whose w's gather'd on his face, Two Voices 329
The busy w's round his eyes? Miller's D. 4
A million w's carved his skin; Palace of Art 138
Sown in a w of the monstrous hill, Will 19
Wrinkled (See also Myriad-wrinkled) Hard wood I am, and w rind, Talking Oak 171 cold my w feet Upon thy glimmering thresholds, Tithonus 67 and there The w steward at his task, Day-Dm., Sleep. P. 27
The w sea beneath him crawls; The Eagle 4
'W ostler, grim and thin! Vision of Sin 63
w benchers often talk'd of him Approvingly, Aylmer's Field 473 Down from the lean and w precipices, Princess iv 22
A charr'd and w piece of womanhood, „ v 61
When have I bow'd to her father, the w head of the race? Maud I iv 13
God help the w children that are Christ's Sisters (E. and E.) 183
Wrinkling But bland the smile that like a w wind Princess i 115
Wrist I sigh'd: a touch Came round my w, „ vii 138
The w is parted from the hand that waved, Merlin and V. 551
But I will slice him handless by the w, Pelleas and E. 338 Writ (s) saith not Holy W the same?'— Merlin and V. 52
Perhaps, like him of Cana in Holy W, Holy Grail 762 Writ (verb) W in a language that has long gone by. Merlin and V. 674 wrote The letter she devised; which being w And folded, Lancelot and E. 1109 old writers Have w of in histories— Batt. of Brunanburh 115 Write (See also Wrote) To make me w my random rhymes, Will Water. 13 you shall w, and not to her, but me: Aylmer's Field 310
'W to me! They loved me, „ 422
Shall I w to her? shall I go? Window, Letter 5
One w's, that 'Other friends remain,' In Mem. vi 1
Besought Lavaine to w as she devised A letter, Lancelot and E. 1103 Old Virgil who would w ten lines, Poets and their B. 2
Writer Seem but the theme of w's, Edwin Morris 48
Old w's push'd the happy season back,— Golden Year 66 old w's Have writ of in histories— Batt. of Brunanburh 114 Writhe a worm which w's all day, Vastness 17
Writhed (adj. and part.) Those w limbs of lightning speed; Clear-headed friend 23
When the worm shall have w its last, Despair 85
Writhed (verb) w his wiry arms Around him, till he felt, Gareth and L. 1150
W toward him, slided up his knee and sat, Merlin and V. 239 down his robe the dragon w in gold, Lancelot and E. 435 Down on the great King's couch, and w upon it, „ 610
She roused a snake that hissing w away; Death of Œnone 88
Writhen See Battle-writhen
Writhing read W a letter from his child, Aylmer's Field 517
w barbarous lineäments, Boädicea 74
Sweat, w's, anguish, labouring of the lungs Pass. of Arthur 115
Writin' atween 'is reädin' an' w 'e snifft Village Wife 40
Writing (See also Writin') crazed myself over their horrible infidel w's? Despair 87 Written (See also Wrote) it is w that my race Hew'd Ammon, D. of F. Women 237
w as she found Or made occasion, Aylmer's Field 477
And Willy's wife has w: (repeat) Grandmother 3, 105
And something w, something thought; In Mem. vi 20
And w in the speech ye speak yourself, Com. of Arthur 304
'Ye have the book: the charm is w in it; Merlin and V. 652
oft I seem as he Of whom was w, Last Tournament 116 Glorious poet who never hast w a line, To A. Tennyson 5
I am w in the Lamb's own Book of Life Columbus 88 scroll w over with lamentation and woe. Despair 20 Wrote (write) summun I reckons 'ull 'a to w, N. Farmer, O. S. 57
Wrong (adj.) he was w to cross his father thus: Dora 148

Wrong (adj.) (continued) His nerves were w. Walk. to the Mail 105 am I right, or am I w, (repeat) Day-Dm., L'Envoi 29, 33
What! I am not all as w As a bitter jest Vision of Sin 197
I was w, I am always bound to you, Enoch Arden 449
'Would I—was it w?' The Brook 111
And so I often told her, right or w, Princess v 288
And, right or w, I care not: this is all, „ 290
Death for the right cause, death for the w cause, Vastness 8
She offens 'ud spy summut w Owd Roä 70
W there! The painter's fame? Romney's R. 48 Wrong (s) There seem'd no room for sense of w; Two Voices 456 lamentation and an ancient tale of w, Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 118
I heard sounds of insult, shame, and w, D. of F. Women 19
'I have hid my feelings, fearing they should do me w;' Locksley Hall 29
we, that prate Of rights and w's, Godiva 8
He that only rules by terror Doeth grievous w. The Captain 2
Hush'd all the groves from fear of w: Sir L. and Q. G. 13
And then we met in wrath and w, The Letters 11
Worried his passive ear with petty w's Or pleasures, Enoch Arden 352 Began to chafe as at a personal w. „ 474
if he did that w you charge him with, Sea Dreams 279
He can do no more w: forgive him, „ 311
(A little sense of w had touch'd her face Princess, Pro. 219
Bow'd on her palms and folded up from w, „ iv 288
Came all in haste to hinder w, „ 401
Tho' man, yet human, whatsoe'er your w's, „ 425 Torn from the lintel—all the common w— „ v 129 chance Were caught within the record of her w's, „ 143
I thought her half-right talking of her w's; „ 285 brawl Their rights or w's like potherbs in the street. „ 459
'ourselves are full Of social w; „ Con. 73
Till public w be crumbled into dust, Ode on Well. 167
He suffers, but he cannot suffer w: Will 3
My name in song has done him much w, Spiteful Letter 3 to fight, to struggle, to right the w— Wages 3
Nor human frailty do me w. In Mem. lii 8
we do him w To sing so wildly: „ lvii 3
Drug down the blindfold sense of w „ lxxi 7
Thou doest expectant nature w; „ lxxiii 3
Bewail'd their lot; I did them w: „ civ 46 taking revenge too deep for a transient w Maud I iii 5
She would not do herself this great w, „ x 57 teach true life to fight with mortal w's. „ xviii 54
Or to say 'Forgive the w,' „ II iv 86 peace that was full of w's and shames, „ III vi 40 Whose glory was, redressing human w; Ded. of Idylls 9 speak true, right w, follow the King— Gareth and L. 118 from the w's his father did Would shape himself „ 347
Give me to right her w, and slay the man.' „ 366
Than ride abroad redressing women's w, „ 866
For this were shame to do him further w „ 954
To noble hearts who see but acts of w: Marr. of Geraint 438
That each had suffer'd some exceeding w. Geraint and E. 36 smoulder'd w that burnt him all within; „ 107 worse than that dead man; Done you more w: „ 736
As one that let foul w stagnate and be, „ 891 which for bribe had wink'd at w, „ 939
Once for w done you by confusion, Merlin and V. 307
And see, yourself have own'd ye did me w. „ 316
They ride abroad redressing human w's! „ 693 many a year have done despite and w Lancelot and E. 1209 leaving human w's to right themselves, Holy Grail 898
Well—can I wish her any huger w Last Tournament 596 deed Of prowess done redress'd a random w. Guinevere 459
To ride abroad redressing human w's, „ 471
Yet who had done, or who had suffer'd w? Lover's Tale i 726
No, no, you are doing me w! First Quarrel 4
Loving the other? do her that great w? Sisters (E. and E.) 168 than have done one another a w. V. of Maeldune 6 or flamed at a public w, The Wreck 68 that hourly work their brother insect w, Locksley H., Sixty 202 tho' that realm were in the w Epilogue 34
I wrought thee bitter w, but thou forgive, Death of Œnone 43 wind of the Night shrilling out Desolation and w The Dreamer 15

Wrong (verb) he that w's his friend W's himself Sea Dreams 172
'you w him more than I That struck him: Princess iv 245
She w's herself, her sex, and me, „ v 117
You w yourselves—the woman is so hard „ vi 222
I w the grave with fears untrue: In Mem. li 9
O child, you w your beauty, believe it, Maud I iv 17 dream That any of these would w thee, w's thyself. Balin and Balan 144
—nay, but I w him, Lover's Tale iv 73
You w me, passionate little friend. Epilogue 10
I can w thee now no more, Œnone, Death of Œnone 80
Wrong'd (part.) I knew thee w. I brake upon thy rest, Balin and Balan 499
How had I w you? surely ye are wise, Merlin and V. 288
A virtuous gentlewoman deeply w, „ 911
'Can he be w who is not ev'n his own, Last Tournament 524 May'st thou never be w by the name To A. Tennyson 7
I never have w his heart, The Wreck 14
Wrong'd (s) to help the w Thro' all our realm. Gareth and L. 371
Then Gareth, 'Bound am I to right the w, „ 804
With strength and will to right the w, Holy Grail 309
Wrong'd (verb) w and lied and thwarted us— Princess iv 540 judge their cause from her That w it, „ vii 236
he never w his bride. I know the tale. Merlin and V. 729 Hears he now the Voice that w him? Locksley H., Sixty 269
Wronger this Order lives to crush All w's of the Realm. Gareth and L. 626
At caitiffs and at w's of the world. Marr. of Geraint 96
Brutes, the brutes are not your w's— Locksley H., Sixty 97
Wrote round about the prow she w L. of Shalott iv 8
W, 'Mene, mene,' and divided quite Palace of Art 227 and a tear Dropt on the letters as I w. To J. S. 56
I w I know not what. In truth, „ 57 you shall have that song which Leonard w: Golden Year 1
'Then I took a pencil, and w On the mossy stone, Edward Gray 25 tho' Averill w And bad him with good heart Aylmer's Field 543 Who first w satire, with no pity in it. Sea Dreams 202 then, Sir, awful odes she w, Too awful, Princess i 138 and I sat down and w, In such a hand „ 235 take this and pray that he Who w it, A Dedication 5 and sat him down, and w All things Com. of Arthur 156
Then he w The letter she devised; Lancelot and E. 1108
An' he w 'I ha' six weeks' work, First Quarrel 45 an' sorry for what she w, „ 87
Edith w: 'My mother bids me ask' Sisters (E. and E.) 180 and besides, The great Augustine w Columbus 52
I w to the nurse Who had borne my flower The Wreck 142
He knows not ev'n the book he w, Ancient Sage 148 he w 'Their kindness,' and he w no more; To Marq. of Dufferin 35
w Name, surname, all as clear as noon, The Ring 236
Up she got, and w him all, Forlorn 79
Wrote (written) An' 'e'd w an owd book, his awn sen, Village Wife 46
Wroth (See also Half-wroth) Then the old man Was w, Dora 25
Weakness to be w with weakness! Locksley Hall 149 Sullen, defiant, pitying, w, Aylmer's Field 492 perforce He yielded, w and red, with fierce demur: Princess v 358
A third is w: 'Is this an hour For private sorrow's In Mem. xxi 13
W to be w at such a worm, Marr. of Geraint 213 my new mother, be not w or grieved At thy new son, „ 779
For, be he w even to slaying me, Geraint and E. 67 it made him w the more That she could speak „ 112 neither dame nor damsel then W at a lover's loss? Merlin and V. 607
W at himself. Not willing to be known, Lancelot and E. 160
W that the King's command to sally forth „ 560
W, but all in awe, For twenty strokes „ 719
Fret not yourself, dear brother, nor be w, „ 1074
And w at Tristram and the lawless jousts, Last Tournament 237 is the Demon-god W at his fall?' St. Telemachus 20 Wrought 'She w her people lasting good;' To the Queen 24
And all so variously w, Two Voices 457
With royal frame-work of w gold; Ode to Memory 82 who w Two spirits to one equal mind— Miller's D. 235 times of every land So w, they will not fail. Palace of Art 148
she turn'd her sight The airy hand confusion w, „ 226
But by degrees to fulness w You ask me, why, etc. 14
W by the lonely maiden of the Lake. M. d'Arthur 104
Nine years she w it, sitting in the deeps „ 105

Wrought (continued) More things are w by prayer Than this world dreams of. M. d'Arthur 247 damask napkin w with horse and hound, Audley Court 21
It may be I have w some miracles, St. S. Stylites 136 Souls that have toil'd, and w, and thought with me— Ulysses 46 and w To make the boatmen fishing-nets, Enoch Arden 814 her counsel all had w About them: Aylmer's Field 151
w Such waste and havock as the idolatries, „ 639
'Dare we dream of that,' I ask'd, 'Which w us Princess iii 298 our device; w to the life; „ 303 raised A tent of satin, elaborately w „ 348 with whom the bell-mouth'd glass had w, „ iv 155
So much a kind of shame within me w, „ 194 wherein were w Two grand designs; „ vii 121
Let the sound of those he w for, Ode on Well. 10
When he with those deep voices w, „ 67
Ye know no more than I who w In Mem. vi 17 and w With human hands the creed of creeds „ xxxvi 9
Till out of painful phases w There flutters „ lxv 6
Cloud-towers by ghostly masons w, „ lxx 5
Is w with tumult of acclaim. „ lxxv 20
The grief my loss in him had w, „ lxxx 6
For changes w on form and face; „ lxxxii 2
Her lavish mission richly w, „ lxxxiv 34
Whatever change the years have w, „ xc 22
For what was it else within me w Maud I vi 81
W, till he crept from a gutted mine „ x 9
W for his house an irredeemable woe; „ II i 22 and w All kind of service with a noble ease Gareth and L. 488
So for a month he w among the thralls; „ 525 hath w on Lancelot now To lend thee horse and shield: „ 1323 Themselves had w on many an innocent. Geraint and E. 178
I schemed and w Until I overturn'd him; „ 829
And w too long with delegated hands, „ 893 work of Edyrn w upon himself After a life of violence, „ 912
Had often w some fury on myself, Balin and Balan 62
This fellow hath w some foulness with his Queen: „ 565
What evil have ye w? Rise!' Merlin and V. 67
'None w, but suffer'd much, an orphan maid! „ 71
Would fain have w upon his cloudy mood „ 156 which if any w on anyone With woven paces „ 206 man so w on ever seem'd to lie „ 208 could he see but him who w the charm Coming and going, „ 212 those who w it first, The wrist is parted „ 550
Some charm, which being w upon the Queen „ 584
Nor saw she save the King, who w the charm, „ 643
And of the horrid foulness that he w, „ 748
w upon his mood and hugg'd him close. „ 948
In letters gold and azure!' which was w Thereafter; Lancelot and E. 1345
w into his heart A way by love that waken'd love Holy Grail 10
In horror lest the work by Merlin w, „ 259 grace and power, W as a charm upon them, Guinevere 144
Hath w confusion in the Table Round „ 220
My love thro' flesh hath w into my life So far, „ 558
Which w the ruin of my lord the King.' „ 689
W by the lonely maiden of the Lake. Nine years she w it, sitting in the deeps Pass. of Arthur 272
More things are w by prayer Than this world dreams of. „ 415
Were w into the tissue of my dream: Lover's Tale ii 113 she w us harm, Poor soul, not knowing) Sisters (E. and E.) 184 who w Not Matter, nor the finite-infinite, De Prof., Two G. 53 w To mould the dream; To E. Fitzgerald 29 and whatsoe'er He w of good or brave Epilogue 76
He that w my ruin— Forlorn 2
I w thee bitter wrong, but thou forgive, Death of Œnone 43
Wrung Caught at his hand, and w it passionately, Enoch Arden 328
Daintily she shriek'd And w it. Princess, Pro. 176
From our first Charles by force we w our claims. Third of Feb. 26
Lady Lyonors w her hands and wept, Gareth and L. 1395
The griefs by which he once was w Ancient Sage 127
Wud (mad) an' screeäd like a Howl gone w— Owd Roä 76
Wuss (worse) Ye be w nor the men-tommies, you. Spinster's S's. 93 a-tuggin' an' teärin' me w nor afoor, Owd Roä 66
Wye And hushes half the babbling W, In Mem. xix 7
Wye (continued) The W is hush'd nor moved along, In Mem. xix 9
Wyvern Whose blazing w weathercock'd the spire, Aylmer's Field 17 Burst his own w on the seal, „ 516 men and boys astride On w, lion, dragon, Holy Grail 350

X

Xanthus between the ships and stream Of X Spec. of Iliad 18

Y

Yabbok brook Past Y b the livelong night, Clear-headed friend 27
Yaffingale hear the garnet-headed y Mock them: Last Tournament 700 Yard (See also Chapel-yard, Olive-yard) and his hair A y behind. Godiva 19
Only a y beneath the street, Maud II v 7 by two y's in casting bar or stone Was counted best; Gareth and L. 518
Sa I runs to the y fur a lether, Owd Roä 82
Yardwand but with his cheating y, home.— Maud I i 52
Yaupin' (yelping) a-yowlin' an' y' like mad; Owd Roä 88
Yawl'd Then yelp'd the cur, and y the cat; The Goose 33
Yawn (s) and toss them away with a y, The Wreck 21
Yawn (verb) 'Heaven opens inward, chasms y, Two Voices 304 black earth y's: the mortal disappears; Ode on Well. 269 on his right a cavern-chasm Y over darkness, Balin and Balan 313 to sigh, and to stretch and y, V. of Maeldune 91 Fiend would yell, the grave would y, The Flight 51 naked glebe Should y once more into the gulf, Demeter and P. 43 Yawn'd y, and rubb'd his face, and spoke, Day-Dm., Revival 19 then he y, for the wretch could sleep, Bandit's Death 30 Yawning (adj. and part.) Hither came Cyril, and y Princess iii 124
And crowds that stream from y doors, In Mem. lxx 9
Not all mismated with a y clown, Geraint and E. 426
But saw the postern portal also wide Y; Pelleas and E. 421 earth beneath me y cloven With such a sound Lover's Tale i 602 up-shadowing high above us with her y tiers of guns, The Revenge 41
While the grave is y. Forlorn 60
Yawning (s) The y of an earthquake-cloven chasm. Lover's Tale i 377
Year (See also After-years, A-year, Cycle-year, New-year, Nine-years-fought-for, Nine-years-ponder'd, Old-year, Ta-year, Three-years', To-year) and clear Delight, the infant's dawning y. Supp. Confessions 67
The lamb rejoiceth in the y, „ 157
Because they are the earliest of the y). Ode to Memory 27 music flowing from The illimitable y's. „ 42
A SPIRIT haunts the y's last hours A Spirit haunts 1
And the y's last rose. „ 20
And if you kiss'd her feet a thousand y's, The form, the form 13 mirror clear That hangs before her all the y, L. of Shalott ii 11
I said, 'The y's with change advance: Two Voices 52
I said that 'all the y's invent; „ 73
'I found him when my y's were few; „ 271
For is not our first y forgot? „ 368
Oft lose whole y's of darker mind. „ 372
Many a chance the y's beget. Miller's D. 206
Untouch'd with any shade of y's, „ 219
so three y's She prosper'd: Palace of Art 217
So when four y's were wholly finished, „ 289
To-morrow 'ill be of all the y the maddest merriest day, May Queen 43
The good old y, the dear old time, May Queen, N. Y's. E. 6
How sadly, I remember, rose the morning of the y! „ Con. 3
Which men call'd Aulis in those iron y's: D. of F. Women 106
And the old y is dead. „ 248
Desiring what is mingled with past y's, „ 282
For the old y lies a-dying. D. of the O. Year 5
Old y, you must not die; „ 6
Old y, you shall not die. (repeat) „ 9, 24
Old y, you must not go; „ 15
Old y, you shall not go. „ 18

Year (continued) A jollier y we shall not see. D. of the O. Year 20
Old y, if you must die. „ 27
Old y, we'll dearly rue for you: „ 43
Two y's his chair is seen Empty before us. To J. S. 22 wisdom of a thousand y's Is in them. Of old sat Freedom 18
Watch what main-currents draw the y's: Love thou thy land 21
The Spirit of the y's to come „ 55
Nine y's she wrought it, sitting in the deeps M. d'Arthur 105
the days darken round me, and the y's, „ 237 at that time of y The lusty bird takes every hour „ Ep. 10 Call'd to me from the y's to come, Gardener's D. 180 and with each The y increased. „ 199
The daughters of the y, One after one, „ 200 wish'd this marriage, night and day, For many y's.' Dora 22 not been for these five y's So full a harvest: „ 65 as y's Went forward, Mary took another mate; „ 170 ten y's back—'Tis now at least ten y's— Walk. to the Mail 50
My sweet, wild, fresh three quarters of a y, Edwin Morris 2
This not be all in vain, that thrice ten y's, St. S. Stylites 10 die here To-day, and whole y's long, „ 54
Three y's I lived upon a pillar, high Six cubits, and three y's on one of twelve; And twice three y's „ 86
I grew Twice ten long weary weary y's „ 90 good old Summers, y by y Made ripe in Sumner-chace: Talking Oak 39
I circle in the grain Five hundred rings of y's— „ 84
That show the y is turn'd. „ 176 or y by y alone Sit brooding in the ruins of a life, Love and Duty 11 Art more thro' Love, and greater than thy y's, „ 21 onward, leading up the golden y. (repeat) Golden Year 26, 41
And slow and sure comes up the golden y. „ 31
Thro' all the season of the golden y. „ 36
Enrich the markets of the golden y. „ 46
Thro' all the circle of the golden y?' „ 51
As on this vision of the golden y.' „ 58
This same grand y is ever at the doors.' „ 74 mortal summers to such length of y's should come Locksley Hall 67
'Never, never,' whisper'd by the phantom y's, „ 83 excitement that the coming y's would yield, „ 111 Better fifty y's of Europe than a cycle of Cathay. „ 184
The fatal byword of all y's to come, Godiva 67
The varying y with blade and sheaf Day-Dm., Sleep. P. 1
Y after y unto her feet, „ Sleep. B. 1
'I'd sleep another hundred y's, „ Depart. 9
every hundred y's to rise And learn the world, „ L'Envoi 7
And all that else the y's will show, „ 13
And y's of cultivation, Amphion 98
Or this first snowdrop of the y St. Agnes' Eve 11
So fares it since the y's began, Will Water. 169
So many y's from his due.' Lady Clare 32
Y's have wander'd by, The Captain 66
Then, in the boyhood of the y, Sir L. and Q. G. 19 Came floating on for many a month and y, Vision of Sin 54
'Change, reverting to the y's, „ 159
When the y's have died away.' Poet's Song 16
Here on this beach a hundred y's ago, Enoch Arden 10
he served a y On board a merchantman, „ 52
And merrily ran the y's, seven happy y's, Seven happy y's of health and competence, „ 81 two y's after came a boy to be The rosy idol „ 89
so ten y's, Since Enoch left his hearth „ 359
That he who left you ten long y's ago „ 404
That after all these sad uncertain y's, „ 415
Yet wait a y, a y is not so long: Surely I shall be wiser in a y: „ 432 you have my promise—in a y: Will you not bide your y as I bide mine?' And Philip answer'd 'I will bide my y.' „ 437
'Is it a y?' she ask'd. „ 458
Till half-another y had slipt away. „ 471 sunny and rainy seasons came and went Y after y. „ 624
In those far-off seven happy y's were born; „ 686 as the y Roll'd itself round again to meet the day „ 821
And I have borne it with me all these y's. „ 895
For here I came, twenty y's back— The Brook 77 name About these meadows, twenty y's ago.' „ 220

Year (continued) The same old rut would deepen y by y; Aylmer's Field 34 a y or two before Call'd to the bar, „ 58
Leolin's first nurse was, five y's after, hers: „ 79
I lived for y's a stunted sunless life; „ 357
These partridge-breeders of a thousand y's, „ 382
So old, that twenty y's before, „ 508
the y's which are not Time's Had blasted him— „ 601
Seam'd with the shallow cares of fifty y's: „ 814
Dead for two y's before his death was he; „ 837
One babe was theirs, a Margaret, three y's old: Sea Dreams 3 scrapings from a dozen y's Of dust and deskwork: „ 77 with a bootless calf At eight y's old; Princess i 35
I think the y in which our olives fail'd. „ 125 lies the child We lost in other y's, „ ii 11
Not for three y's to correspond with home; Not for three y's to cross the liberties; Not for three y's to speak with any men; „ 70
May beat admission in a thousand y's, „ iii 155 a race Of giants living, each, a thousand y's, „ 269 that great y of equal mights and rights, „ iv 74
Six thousand y's of fear have made you „ 507
The desecrated shrine, the trampled y, „ v 127
Rose a nurse of ninety y's, „ vi 13 dames and heroines of the golden y Shall strip „ 64
Yet in the long y's liker must they grow; „ vii 279 farewell, and welcome for the y To follow: „ Con. 95
Give up their parks some dozen times a y „ 103
Seventy y's ago, my darling, seventy y's ago. (repeat) Grandmother 24, 56 in a hundred y's it 'll all be the same, „ 47
Never jealous—not he: we had many a happy y; „ 71
And that was ten y's back, or more, „ 75
I've 'ed my quart ivry market-noight for foorty y. N. Farmer, O. S. 8
I 'a managed for Squoire coom Michaelmas thutty y. „ 48
Many and many a happy y. To F. D. Maurice 48
I walk'd with one I loved two and thirty y's ago. V. of Cauteretz 4 two and thirty y's were a mist that rolls away; „ 6
Here, it is here the close of the y, Spiteful Letter 1
His beauty still with his y's increased, The Victim 34 Gone, till the end of the y, Window, Gone 2 has bitten the heel of the going y. „ Winter 6
Ay is life for a hundred y's, „ No Answer 9
'A y hence, a y hence.' „ When 5
But who shall so forecast the y's In Mem. i 5
To touch thy thousand y's of gloom: „ ii 12
Some pleasure from thine early y's. „ iv 10
Come Time, and teach me, many y's, „ xiii 13
Thro' four sweet y's arose and fell, „ xxii 3
This y I slept and woke with pain, „ xxviii 13
And in the long harmonious y's „ xliv 9
And those five y's its richest field. „ xlvi 12
What record? not the sinless y's „ lii 11
With so much hope for y's to come, „ liv 14
And o'er the number of thy y's. „ lxvii 8
'More y's had made me love thee more. „ lxxxi 8
The all-assuming months and y's „ lxxxv 67
A friendship for the y's to come. „ 80
The primrose of the later y, „ 119
Whatever change the y's have wrought, „ xc 22
The hope of unaccomplish'd y's „ xci 7
A fact within the coming y; „ xcii 10
I read Of that glad y which once had been, „ xcv 22
She keeps the gift of y's before, „ xcvii 25
And y by y the landscape grow „ ci 19
As y by y the labourer tills His wonted glebe, „ 21
And y by y our memory fades „ 23
The y is dying in the night; „ cvi 3
The y is going, let him go; „ 7
Ring in the thousand y's of peace. „ 28
Thro' all the y's of April blood; „ cix 12
The men of rathe and riper y's: „ cx 2
meets the y, and gives and takes The colours „ cxvi 3
A cry above the conquer'd y's „ cxxxi 7
I since then have number'd o'er Some thrice three y's: „ Con. 10

Year (continued) New as his title, built last y, Maud I x 19
Last y, I caught a glimpse of his face, „ xiii 27
He may stay for a y who has gone for a week : „ xvi 6
To me, her friend of the y's before ; „ xix 64
but of force to withstand, Y upon y, „ II ii 25
For y's, a measureless ill, For y's, for ever, „ 49
My mood is changed, for it fell at a time of y „ III vi 4 thro' all this tract of y's Wearing Ded. of Idylls 24 that same night, the night of the new y, Com. of Arthur 209
This y, when Merlin (for his hour had come) „ 228 grace Thy climbing life, and cherish my prone y, Gareth and L. 95 gold for Uther's use thereof, According to the y's. „ 345
What I these two y's past have won Marr. of Geraint 554 three sad y's ago, That night of fire, „ 633
Her suitor in old y's before Geraint, Geraint and E. 276
' Earl, if you love me as in former y's, „ 355
and my purpose three y's old, „ 849 Arthur call'd His treasurer, one of many y's, Balin and Balan 5 those three kingless y's Have past— „ 63 from the presence into y's Of exile— „ 156
A y ago—nay, then I love thee not— „ 504
Was one y gone, and on returning found Merlin and V. 708 this cut is fresh ; That ten y's back ; Lancelot and E. 22
Once every y, a joust for one of these : „ 61
by nine y's' proof we needs must learn „ 62 eight y's past, eight jousts had been, and still Had Lancelot won the diamond of the y, „ 67
However marr'd, of more than twice her y's, „ 257 Heard from the Baron that, ten y's before, „ 272 now for forty y's A hermit, who had pray'd, „ 402
This many a y have done despite and wrong „ 1209 not to love again ; Not at my y's, „ 1296
Spring after spring, for half a hundred y's : Holy Grail 19
' Then came a y of miracle : „ 166
Yea, rotten with a hundred y's of death, „ 496
Hath lain for y's at rest— Last Tournament 94
The snowdrop only, flowering thro' the y, „ 220
Made answer, ' I had liefer twenty y's „ 257 memories Of Tristram in that y he was away.' „ 580
Table Round Which good King Arthur founded, y's ago, Guinevere 221
And worship her by y's of noble deeds, „ 476 months will add themselves and make the y's, The y's will roll into the centuries, „ 625
there, an Abbess, lived For three brief y's, „ 697 Burn'd at his lowest in the rolling y. Pass. of Arthur 91
Nine y's she wrought it, sitting in the deeps „ 273 days darken round me, and the y's, „ 405
And the new sun rose bringing the new y. „ 469 y's Have hollow'd out a deep and stormy strait Lover's Tale i 23 many y's, (For they seem many and my most of life, „ 184
As Love and I do number equal y's, „ 195 careful burthen of our tender y's Trembled „ 222
Sweet thro' strange y's to know „ 244
Pass we then A term of eighteen y's. „ 287
Thou art blessed in the y's, divinest day ! „ 486
Had drawn herself from many thousand y's, „ 550
As the tall ship, that many a dreary y „ 808
And kept it thro' a hundred y's of gloom, „ iv 195 picture of his lady, taken Some y's before, „ 217
I knew a man, nor many y's ago ; „ 255
Now that the flower of a y and a half is thine, To A. Tennyson 3
I ha' work'd for him fifteen y's, First Quarrel 7
Harry was bound to the Dorsetshire farm for y's an' for y's ; „ 19 y's went over till I that was little „ 27 till he told me that so many y's had gone by, „ 36
he call'd in the dark to me y after y— Rizpah 47
Y after y in the mist and the wind „ 68 back-end o' June, Ten y sin', North. Cobbler 12 our house has held Three hundred y's— Sisters (E. and E.) 53
On a sudden after two Italian y's „ 150 and in the second y was born A second— „ 269 thaw nigh upo' seventy y. Village Wife 27 sarved 'em wi' butter an' heggs fur huppuds o' twenty y. „ 114 gratefullest heart I have found in a child of her y's— In the Child. Hosp. 32

Year (continued) Eighteen long y's of waste, Columbus 36
Along the y's of haste and random youth De Prof., Two G. 21
Of Turkish Islam for five hundred y's, Montenegro 11
Titan by thy winter weight of y's As yet unbroken, To Victor Hugo 7
King, that hast reign'd six hundred y's, To Dante 1
And dating many a y ago, Has hit on this, To E. Fitzgerald 49
I wish I were in the y's of old, Tiresias 1 five-fold thy term Of y's, I lay ; „ 34 their examples reach a hand Far thro' all y's, „ 127
To spend my one last y among the hills. Ancient Sage 16
' What Power but the Y's that make „ 91
The y's that made the stripling wise „ 111
The y's that when my Youth began „ 155
But vain the tears for darken'd y's „ 183
Whin, yer Honour ? last y— Tomorrow 1
Danny was there, yer Honour, for forty y. „ 30 as ye used to do twelve y sin' ! Spinster's S's. 59 Dead—and sixty y's ago, Locksley H., Sixty 37 floods and earthquakes of the planet's dawning y's. „ 40 Gone with whom for forty y's my life „ 47 till ten thousand y's have gone. „ 78
Here we met, our latest meeting—Amy—sixty y's ago— „ 177 far and far from here is all the hope of eighty y's. „ 254 Strove for sixty widow'd y's to help „ 267 in the vanish'd y, You saw the league-long rampart-fire Pro. to Gen. Hamley 26 glorying in the blissful y's again to be, To Virgil 18 a name may last for a thousand y's, Dead Prophet 59 midnight breaks the sun Of sixty y's away, Pref. Poem Broth. Son. 22 Tenderest of Roman poets nineteen-hundred y's ago, Frater Ave, etc. 6 and the y Against the day ; To Duke of Argyll 6 through twice a hundred y's, on thee. To W. C. Macready 14
And on thro' many a brightening y, To Marq. of Dufferin 26
Crowning y of her Jubilee. On Jub. Q. Victoria 11
Ceremonial Of this y of her Jubilee. „ 24
And this y of her Jubilee. (repeat) „ 38, 51
Henry's fifty y's are all in shadow, „ 39
Fifty y's of ever-broadening Commerce ! Fifty y's of ever-brightening Science ! Fifty y's of ever-widening Empire ! „ 52
' Hail to the glorious Golden y of her Jubilee ! ' „ 65 nine white moons of each whole y with me, Demeter and P. 121
When thou shalt dwell the whole bright y with me, „ 139
Ten y sin—Naäy—naäy ! Owd Roä 20
'ud coom at the fall o' the y, „ 23 hall hower—an' ten y sin ; „ 116
Twelve times in the y Bring me bliss, The Ring 5
For ten thousand y's Old and new ? „ 19
Then I and she were married for a y, One y without a storm, „ 283
And you my Miriam born within the y ; And she my Miriam dead within the y. „ 285 for twenty y's Bound by the golden cord „ 428
I have worn them y by y— Happy 102
Till earth has roll'd her latest y— To Ulysses 28
And more than half a hundred y's ago, To Mary Boyle 27 silver y should cease to mourn and sigh— „ 57 Lodge with me all the y ! Prog. of Spring 26 mark The coming y's great good and varied ills, „ 93 wild beast that was linkt with thee eighty y's back. By an Evolution. 11
Rose, on this terrace fifty y's ago, Roses on the T. 1
That blush of fifty y's ago, my dear, „ 5
Sing the new y in under the blue. Last y you sang it as gladly. The Throstle 5
' Here again, here, here, here, happy y ' ! „ 13
Thro' all the clouded y's of widowhood, Death of Œnone 103
I beän chuch-warden mysen i' the parish fur fifteen y. Church-warden, etc. 8
Y will graze the heel of y, Poets and Critics 14

Yearlong ' From y poring on thy pictured eyes, Princess vii 340

Yearly Why should they miss their y due In Mem. xxix 15

Yearn ' Not less swift souls that y for light, Two Voices 67
I y to breathe the airs of heaven Sir Galahad 63 and y to hurry precipitously Boädicea 58

Yearn (continued) A part of stillness, y's to speak : In Mem. lxxxv 78 but made me y For larger glimpses Tiresias 20 and the miser would y for his gold, Despair 100
Y, and clasp the hands and murmur, Locksley H., Sixty 192
y to lay my loving head upon your leprous breast. Happy 26
Yearn'd While still I y for human praise. Two Voices 123
And y toward William ; but the youth, Dora 6
But Enoch y to see her face again ; Enoch Arden 717
While in her heart she y incessantly " 866
Y after by the wisest of the wise, Lucretius 267
y To hear her weeping by his grave ? In Mem. xxxi 3
And y to burst the folded gloom, " cxxii 3 he y to make complete The tale of diamonds Lancelot and E. 90 Sprang into fire and vanish'd, tho' I y To follow ; Holy Grail 506
I y and strove To tear the twain asunder " 785 now y to shake The burthen off his heart Last Tournament 179
I y for warmth and colour which I found In Lancelot Guinevere 647
I y For his voice again, The Wreck 103
To lure those eyes that only y to see, St. Telemachus 36
Yearning (See also Heart-yearning) A nobler y never broke her rest The form, the form 2
Some y toward the lamps of night ; Two Voices 363
In y's that can never be express'd By signs D. of F. Women 283
Y to mix himself with Life. Love thou thy land 56 Gave utterance by the y of an eye, Love and Duty 62 gray spirit y in desire To follow knowledge Ulysses 30 team Which love thee, y for thy yoke, Tithonus 40
Y for the large excitement Locksley Hall 111 profit lies in barren faith, And vacant y, In Mem. cviii 6 Less y for the friendship fled, " cxvi 15
The leaf is dead, the y past away : Last Tournament 277 y's ?—ay ! for, hour by hour, " 583 Deeper than any y's after thee " 586
The boundless y of the Prophet's heart— Tiresias 81
Yearningly moving again to a melody Y tender, Merlin and the G. 91
Yeasty ' The sands and y surges mix Sailor Boy 9
Yell (s) (See also Counter-yell, Woman-yell) rings to the y of the trampled wife, Maud I i 38
I was near him when the savage y's Com. of Arthur 256
He ground his teeth together, sprang with a y, Balin and Balan 538 weird y, Unearthlier than all shriek of bird " 544 echoing y with y, they fired the tower, Last Tournament 478 volley on volley, and y upon y— Def. of Lucknow 34 Thro' all the y's and counter-yells To Duke of Argyll 8 dog : it was chain'd, but its horrible y Bandit's Death 35
Yell (verb) Let the fox bark, let the wolf y. Pelleas and E. 472
Who y's Here in the still sweet summer night, " 472
Fiend would y, the grave would yawn, The Flight 51
Yell'd score of pugs And poodles y within, Edwin Morris 120
y and round me drove In narrowing circles till I y again Lucretius 56 they made a halt ; The horses y ; Princess v 250
Y and shriek'd between her daughters (repeat) Boädicea 6, 72
Y as when the winds of winter tear an oak " 77
' Fight therefore,' y the youth, Pelleas and E. 572 caged beast Y, as he y of yore for Christian blood. St. Telemachus 46
Y ' hast thou brought us down a new Korân Akbar's Dream 116 Yelling and fled Y as from a spectre, Geraint and E. 733 and, y with the y street, Locksley H., Sixty 135
Yellow (adj.) (See also Dim-yellow) That sparkled on the y field, L. of Shalott iii 8
The pale y woods were waning, " iv 2 and the y down Border'd with palm, Lotos-Eaters 21
They sat them down upon the y sand, " 37 turning y Falls, and floats adown the air. " C. S. 30 Round and round the spicy downs the y Lotos-dust is blown. " 104
And in the chasm are foam and y sands ; Enoch Arden 2
And here upon a y eyelid fall'n Lucretius 141
With lengths of y ringlet, like a girl, Princess i 3
Yet the y leaf hates the greener leaf, Spiteful Letter 15
y vapours choke The great city sounding wide ; Maud II iv 63
And white sails flying on the y sea ; But not to goodly hill or y sea Marr. of Geraint 82
Then flash'd a y gleam across the world, Holy Grail 402 little lake, that, flooding, leaves Low banks of y sand ; Lover's Tale i 535
Yellow (adj.) (continued) From out the y woods upon the hill Lover's Tale ii 80
Yellow (s) Shot over with purple, and green, and y. Dying Swan 20
Yellow-banded Or the y-b bees, Eleänore 22
Yellowing Dwelling amid these y bowers : A spirit haunts 2
In curves the y river ran, Sir L. and Q. G. 15
At Camelot, high above the y woods, Last Tournament 3 and y leaf And gloom and gleam, " 154
High over all the y Autumn-tide, " 241
Our birches y and from each The light leaf falling fast, Pro. to Gen. Hamley 1
Yellow-ringleted Thither at their will they haled the y-r Britoness— Boädicea 55
Yellow-throated And y-t nestling in the nest. Lancelot and E. 12
Yelp (s) With inward y and restless forefoot Lucretius 45
But I hear no y of the beast, By an Evolution. 19
Yelp (verb) Lean-headed Eagles y alone, Princess vii 211 felt the goodly hounds Y at his heart, Last Tournament 504 Yelp'd-Yelpt Then yelp'd the cur, and yawl'd the cat ; The Goose 33 that chain'd rage, which ever yelpt within, Balin and Balan 319 Yelping See Yaupin'
Yeoman And let the foolish y go. L. C. V. de Vere 72
A mockery to the yoemen over ale, Aylmer's Field 497
Yerl (earl) Then 'e married a great Y's darter, Church-warden, etc. 20
Yes (See also Yis) keen shriek ' Y love, y, Edith, y,' Aylmer's Field 582
When the happy Y Falters from her lips, Maud I xvii 9 brightens at the clash of ' Y ' and ' No,' Ancient Sage 71 Yester —and y afternoon I dream'd,— Akbar's Dream 169 Yesterday (See also Yisther-day) for y, When I past by, a wild and wanton pard, Œnone 198 sharp look, mother, I gave him y, May Queen 15
And now, As tho' 'twere y, Gardener's D. 82
' Where were you y ? Whose child is that ? Dora 87
' O y, you know, the fair Was holden at the town ; Talking Oak 101
' y I met him suddenly in the street, Sea Dreams 145
I curse the tongue that all thro' y Reviled thee, Gareth and L. 1322
But y you never open'd lip, Merlin and V. 271 the prize Of Tristram in the jousts of y, Last Tournament 8
' Friend, did ye mark that fountain y " 286
A portion of the pleasant y, Lover's Tale i 122
To-day ? but what of y ? Ancient Sage 216 that y From out the Ghost of Pindar To Prof. Jebb 2
I climb'd the hill with Hubert y, The Ring 152
O the grief when y They bore the Cross Happy 47
Found y—forgotten mine own rhyme To Mary Boyle 21
Yester-eve But light-foot Iris brought it y-e, Œnone 83
Where all but y-e was dusky-dry. Lucretius 32 and y-e, While ye were talking sweetly Marr. of Geraint 697
And y-e I would not tell you of it, " 702
Yester-even Lastly yonder y-e, Boädicea 29
I saw the flash of him but y. Balin and Balan 303
Yestermorn These measured words, my work of y. Golden Year 21
Too harsh to your companion y ; Princess iii 199
Long-closeted with her the y, " iv 322
What if he had to'd her y Maud I vi 50 saw him ride More near by many a rood than y, Geraint and E. 442 tho' mine own ears heard you y— " 740
Had I not dream'd I loved her y ? Sisters (E. and E.) 169
Who breaking in upon us y, Akbar's Dream 114
Yesternight Thy tuwhoos of y, The Owl ii 2
Flinging the gloom of y On the white day ; Ode to Memory 9
I beheld her, when she rose The y, Princess v 176
' Sweet brothers, y I seem'd a curious little maid Lancelot and E. 1034 for, y, To me, the great God Arês, Tiresias 110
Yet-loved the y-l sire would make Confusion In Mem. xc 18
Yet-unblazon'd Returning brought the y-u shield, Lancelot and E. 379
Yet-unbroken count The y-u strength of all his knights, Holy Grail 326
Yet-warm and now lies there A y-w corpse, Gareth and L. 80
Yew Death, walking all alone beneath a y, Love and Death 5
And darkness in the village y. Two Voices 273
Came y's, a dismal coterie ; Amphion 42
A black y gloom'd the stagnant air, The Letters 2 and stole Up by the wall, behind the y ; Enoch Arden 739 Sick for the hollies and the y's of home— Princess, Pro. 187
Old Y, which graspest at the stones In Mem. ii 1
Dark y, that graspest at the stones " xxxix 4

Yew (continued) Before the mouldering of a y; In Mem. lxxvi 8
And oft they met among the garden y's, Lancelot and E. 645
He found her in among the garden y's, „ 923 to whom thro' those black walls of y „ 969 Break thro' the y's and cypress of thy grave, Ded. Poem Prin. Alice 12
I seem to see a new-dug grave up yonder by the y! The Flight 98
Yew-tree (See also Peacock-yewtree) Up higher with the y-t by it, Walk. to the Mail 13 in it throve an ancient evergreen, A y, Enoch Arden 736 and as they sat Beneath a world-old y-t, Holy Grail 13
'O brother, I have seen this y-t smoke, „ 18
Yew-wood In the y-w black as night, Oriana 19
Ygerne Was wedded with a winsome wife, Y: Com. of Arthur 188
Uther in his wrath and heat besieged Y within Tintagil, „ 199
'Daughter of Gorloïs and Y am I;' „ 316
Yield y you time To make demand of modern rhyme To the Queen 10
To y consent to my desire: Miller's D. 138
But y not me the praise: St. S. Stylites 185
To strive, to seek, to find, and not to y. Ulysses 70 excitement that the coming years would y, Locksley Hall 111
No branchy thicket shelter y's; Sir Galahad 58 a little will I y. Princess ii 291
To y us farther furlough:' and he went. „ iii 74 rods of steel and fire; She y's, or war.' „ v 119
No more, dear love, for at a touch I y; „ vii 14
She still were loth to y herself to one „ 232
I love thee: come, Y thyself up: „ 364
We y all blessing to the name In Mem. xxxvi 3 nature rarely y's To that vague fear „ xli 13
And will not y them for a day. „ xc 16
That will not y each other way. „ cii 20 Go not, happy day, Till the maiden y's. Maud I xvii 4 brands That hack'd among the flyers, 'Ho! they y!' Com. of Arthur 121 Heaven y her for it, but in me put force Gareth and L. 18
'Not an hour, So that ye y me— „ 133
I therefore y me freely to thy will; „ 168
Would y him this large honour all the more; „ 397 sent her wish that I would y thee thine. „ 551
But wilt thou y this damsel harbourage?' „ 834
But an this lord will y us harbourage, „ 844
'Take not my life: I y.' „ 973
Would handle scorn, or y you, asking, „ 1173 crying, 'Y, y him this again: 'tis he must fight: „ 1321
O y me shelter for mine innocency Merlin and V. 83
Y my boon, Till which I scarce can y you all I am; „ 351 till one could y for weariness: „ 372
But since I will not y to give you power „ 373
And since the pirate would not y her up, „ 568
And y it to this maiden, if ye will.' Lancelot and E. 229
when you y your flower of life To one „ 952
Pray for my soul, and y me burial. „ 1280 wilt at length Y me thy love and know me for thy knight.' Pelleas and E. 249
Only to y my Queen her own again? Last Tournament 106
Pale-blooded, she will y herself to God.' „ 608 to y thee grace beyond thy peers.' „ 743 y me sanctuary, nor ask Her name to whom ye y it, Guinevere 141 promise, if we y, to let us go; The Revenge 94
Our title, which we never mean to y, Columbus 32 daughter y her life, heart, soul to one— The Flight 28 shall we fight her? shall we y? Locksley H., Sixty 115
Not less would y full thanks to you To Ulysses 33
Who heats our earth to y us grain and fruit, Akbar's Dream 105
Yielded He laugh'd, and y readily to their wish, Enoch Arden 370
At once the costly Sahib y to her. Aylmer's Field 233 perforce He y, wroth and red, with fierce demur: Princess v 358
Nor tho' she liked him, y she, „ vii 76
'I wish she had not y!' „ Con. 5 was but a dream, yet it y a dear delight Maud III vi 15 the field was pleasant in our eyes, We y not; Gareth and L. 338 Loving his lusty youthhood y to him. „ 580
He might have y to me one of those „ 739 being all bone-batter'd on the rock, Y; „ 1051 Yielded (continued) at last—The huge pavilion slowly y up, Gareth and L. 1379
Had y, told her all the charm, Merlin and V. 966 y; and a heart Love-loyal to the least wish Lancelot and E. 88
the great Queen Have y him her love.' Last Tournament 565
But counterpressures of the y hand Sisters (E. and E.) 163 and they y to the foe. The Revenge 96 and had y her will To the master, Dead Prophet 63
Yielding old order changeth, y place to new, M. d'Arthur 240
In silk-soft folds, upon y down, Eleänore 28
This, y, gave into a grassy walk Gardener's D. 111 old order changeth, y place to new; Com. of Arthur 509 shame the King for only y me My champion Gareth and L. 898
And y to his kindlier moods, Merlin and V. 174
Yis (yes) an' wur niver sa nigh saäyin' Y. Spinster's S's. 32
Yisther-day (yesterday) like a bit of y-d in a dhrame— Tomorrow 8
'Ymn (hymn) arter, we sing'd the 'y togither North. Cobbler 54 Yniol Had married Enid, Y's only child, Marr. of Geraint 4 save, It may be, at Earl Y's, o'er the bridge „ 291 voice of Enid, Y's daughter, rang Clear „ 327 by the bird's song ye may learn the nest,' Said Y; „ 360
Y caught His purple scarf, and held, „ 376 cried Earl Y, 'Art thou he indeed, Geraint, „ 426
Y's heart Danced in his bosom, „ 504
And waited there for Y and Geraint. „ 538
Y's rusted arms Were on his princely person, „ 543
Then Y's nephew, after trumpet blown, „ 551
But either's force was match'd till Y's cry, „ 570
Went Y thro' the town, and everywhere „ 693
And howsoever patient, Y his. „ 707
But Y goes, and I full oft shall dream „ 751
Y made report Of that good mother making Enid gay „ 756
Y with that hard message went; „ 763 being repulsed By Y and yourself, Geraint and E. 829 Yoke (s) Which love thee, yearning for thy y, Tithonus 40 she walk'd Wearing the light y of that Lord of love, Aylmer's Field 708
And, if thou needs must bear the y, Princess vi 205 loosed their sweating horses from the y, Spec. of Iliad 2
The sooty y of kitchen-vassalage; Gareth and L. 479 bring on both the y Of stronger states, Tiresias 69
Yoke (verb) the care That y's with empire, To the Queen 10
Yoked Whose name is y with children's, Princess v 418
Y in all exercise of noble end, „ vii 361
Yolk (See also Half-yolk) with golden y's Imbedded and injellied: Audley Court 25 this earth-narrow life Be yet but y, Ancient Sage 130
Yon To y old mill across the wolds; Miller's D. 240 Behind y whispering tuft of oldest pine, Œnone 88
While y sun prospers in the blue, The Blackbird 22
Where y dark valleys wind forlorn, On a Mourner 22
Is y plantation where this byway joins Walk. to the Mail 4
Thro' all y starlight keen, St. Agnes' Eve 22
Y orange sunset waning slow: Move eastward 2 what is it? there? y arbutus Totters; Lucretius 184
O love, they die in y rich sky, Princess iv 13
Where y broad water sweetly slowly glides. Requiescat 2
Calm and still light on y great plain In Mem. xi 9
On y swoll'n brook that bubbles fast „ xcix 6
To y hard crescent, as she hangs „ cvii 10
And y four fools have suck'd their allegory Gareth and L. 1199
Else y black felon had not let me pass, „ 1293
May y just heaven, that darkens o'er me, Merlin and V. 931
As y proud Prince who left the quest to me. Lancelot and E. 762
O me, be y dark Queens in y black boat, Pass. of Arthur 452 y big black bottle o' gin. North. Cobbler 70
y laädy a-steppin' along the streeät, „ 107
You see y Lombard poplar on the plain. Sisters (E. and E.) 79
Down y dark sea, thou comest, darling boy. De Prof., Two G. 34
No stone is fitted in y marble girth Tiresias 135 but seem to draw From y dark cave, Ancient Sage 10 but night enough is there In y dark city: „ 253
But I could wish y moaning sea would rise The Flight 11 till this outworn earth be dead as y dead world the moon? Locksley H., Sixty 174

Yon (continued) Y myriad-worlded way— Epilogue 53
Young and old, Like y oak, The Oak 3
There westward—under y slow-falling star, Akbar's Dream 152
'Spirit, nearing y dark portal God and the Univ. 4
Yonder In y hundred million spheres?' Two Voices 30
In y chair I see him sit, Miller's D. 9 as y walls Rose slowly to a music Œnone 40 droves of swine That range on y plain. Palace of Art 200
To dream and dream, like y amber light, Lotos-Eaters, C. S. 57
So great a miracle as y hilt. M. d'Arthur 156
I lived up there on y mountain side. St. S. Stylites 72 with what delighted eyes I turn to y oak. Talking Oak 8
To y oak within the field 13
Many a night from y ivied casement, Locksley Hall 7
Deep in y shining Orient, " 154
To y shining ground; St. Agnes' Eve 14
To y argent round; " 16
Met me walking on y way, Edward Gray 2
It is but y empty glass Will Water. 207
'Come down, O maid, from y mountain height: Princess vii 192
Like y morning on the blind half-world; " 352
Lastly y yester-even, Boädicea 29
And roar from y dropping day: In Mem. xv 2
Would dote and pore on y cloud " 16
To where in y orient star " lxxvi 15
For 'ground in y social mill " lxxix 39
And drown'd in y living blue " cxv 7 or dives In y greening gleam, " 14
And rise, O moon, from y down, " Con. 109
Of the long waves that roll in y bay? Maud I xviii 63
'I will not eat Till y man upon the bier arise, Geraint and E. 657
Take warning: y man is surely dead; " 672
Saint who stands with lily in hand In y shrine. Balin and Balan 262
So great a miracle as y hilt. Pass. of Arthur 324 springs Of Dircê laving y battle-plain, Tiresias 139
How summer-bright are y skies, Ancient Sage 23
But some in y city hold, my son, " 82
O yes, if y hill be level with the flat. Locksley H., Sixty 111
A gleam from y vale, Early Spring 33
Falteringly, 'Who lies on y pyre?' Death of Œnone 95
Strow y mountain flat, Mechanophilus 6
Yore Strode in, and claim'd their tribute as of y. Com. of Arthur 506 York lands in Kent and messuages in Y, Edwin Morris 127
Y's white rose as red as Lancaster's. Aylmer's Field 51
Young And I was y—too y to wed: Miller's D. 141 made thee famous once, when y: The Blackbird 16
She stood, a sight to make an old man y. Gardener's D. 141
What is loathsome to the y Savours well Vision of Sin 157
Have all his pretty y ones educated, Enoch Arden 146
I wonder he went so y. Grandmother 14
'O boy, tho' thou art y and proud, Sailor Boy 7
'Old friend, too old to be so y, depart, Balin and Balan 17 devil's leaps, and poisons half the y. Guinevere 522
'Love again, song again, nest again, y again,' The Throstle 9
Y and old, Like yon oak, The Oak 2
As a y lamb, who cannot dream, Supp. Confessions 170
To the y spirit present Ode to Memory 73
My gay y hawk, my Rosalind: Rosalind 34
Came two y lovers lately wed; L. of Shalott ii 34
Y Nature thro' five cycles ran, Two Voices 17
Since I beheld y Laurence dead. L. C. V. de Vere 28 sweeter is the y lamb's voice to me May Queen, Con. 6
I wish'd myself the fair y beech Talking Oak 141
In the Spring a y man's fancy Locksley Hall 20 her cheek was pale and thinner than should be for one so y, " 21
Y ashes pirouetted down Coquetting with y beeches; Amphion 27
So these y hearts not knowing that they loved, Aylmer's Field 133
'Peace, you y savage of the Northern wild! Princess iii 247 remain'd among us In our y nursery still unknown, " iv 332 fresh y captains flash'd their glittering teeth, " v 20 Stays all the fair y planet in her hands— " vii 264
As thou with thy y lover hand in hand W. to Marie Alex. 34
How y Columbus seem'd to rove, The Daisy 17
Or a mowt 'a taäen y Robins— N. Farmer, O. S. 50

Young (continued) My yet y life in the wilds of Time, Maud I xvi 21
O y lord-lover, what sighs are those, " xxii 29 and his wife Nursed the y prince, Com. of Arthur 224
With Gawain and y Modred, her two sons, " 244
A y man will be wiser by and by; " 404
But felt his y heart hammering in his ears, Gareth and L. 322
Some y lad's mystery— " 466 Ate with y lads his portion by the door, " 480 being y, he changed and came to loathe Marr. of Geraint 593 all thro' that y traitor, cruel need " 715 and yet—God guide them—y.' Merlin and V. 29
And found a fair y squire who sat alone, " 472 said y Lavaine, 'For nothing. Lancelot and E. 208
Y as I am, yet would I do my best.' " 222
Dearer to true y hearts than their own praise, " 419
Then Lancelot answer'd y Lavaine and said, " 445
With y Lavaine into the poplar grove. " 509
In so y youth, was ever made a knight Holy Grail 138
All the y beauty of his own soul to hers, Pelleas and E. 83
For Arthur, loving his y knight, " 159
'O y knight, Hath the great heart of knighthood " 595 till that y life Being smitten in mid heaven Last Tournament 26
For y Life knows not when y Life was born, Lover's Tale i 156
To greet us, her y hero in her arms! " iv 171
O y life Breaking with laughter from the dark; De Prof., Two G. 17
Five y kings put asleep by the sword-stroke, Batt. of Brunanburh 52
Or the y green leaf rejoice in the frost The Wreck 20
y man Danny O'Roon wid his ould woman, Tomorrow 88 for is not Earth as yet so y?— Locksley H., Sixty 166 Yonder lies our y sea-village— " 245
o'er the mountain-walls Y angels pass. Early Spring 12
That y eagle of the West Open. I. and C. Exhib. 28
I loved you first when y and fair, Happy 29
To you, yet y, who breathe the balm To Ulysses 10
if his y music wakes A wish in you To Mary Boyle 63
O Y Mariner, You from the haven Merlin and the G. 1
O y Mariner, Down to the haven, " 123
Younger Wherein the y Charles abode Talking Oak 297
Thro' the shadow of the globe we sweep into the y day: Locksley Hall 183
The y people making holiday, Enoch Arden 62
While all the y ones with jubilant cries " 377
To Lady Psyche, y, not so wise, Princess iv 316
With wisdom, like the y child: In Mem. cxiv 20
For both thy y brethren have gone down Gareth and L. 1102
Not many a moon his y, 'My fair child, " 1415
Allow him! but Lavaine, my y here, Lancelot and E. 202
And let the y and unskill'd go by " 1361
Five knights at once, and every y knight, Holy Grail 303
My y knights, new-made, in whom your flower Last Tournament 99
The leading of his y knights to me. " 110
He spoke, and taking all his y knights, " 126
The y Julian, who himself was crown'd Lover's Tale iv 296
The y sister, Evelyn, enter'd—there, Sisters (E. and E.) 152 we past to this ward where the y children are laid: In the Child. Hosp. 27
To y England in the boy my son. To Victor Hugo 14
When, in our y London days, To E. Fitzgerald 54
But y kindlier Gods to bear us down, Demeter and P. 131
Some y hand must have engraven the ring— The Ring 238
You, loved by all the y gown There at Balliol, To Master of B. 2
Youngest Y Autumn, in a bower Grape-thicken'd Eleänore 35
For one, the y, hardly more than boy, Enoch Arden 563
And while we waited, one, the y of us, Merlin and V. 415
Youngster Mangled to morsels, A y in war! Batt. of Brunanburh 75
Younker there he caught the y tickling trout— Walk. to the Mail 33 Youth (adolescence) 'Yet,' said I, in my morn of y, Supp. Confessions 139 the breathing spring Of Hope and Y. The Poet 28
His early rage Had force to make me rhyme in y, Miller's D. 193
'My y,' she said, 'was blasted with a curse: D. of F. Women 103
Who miss the brother of your y? To J. S. 59
May perpetual y Keep dry their light from tears; Of old sat Freedom 19
Drive men in manhood, as in y, Love thou thy land 74
At such a distance from his y in grief, Gardener's D. 54

Youth (adolescence) (continued) Holding the folded annals of my y; Gardener's D. 244
My first, last love; the idol of my y, „ 277
Nightmare of y, the spectre of himself? Love and Duty 13
To dwell in presence of immortal y, Tithonus 21 Immortal age beside immortal y, „ 22 nourishing a y sublime With the fairy tales of science, Locksley Hall 11 social wants that sin against the strength of y! „ 59
That my y was half divine. Vision of Sin 78 his full tide of y Broke with a phosphorescence Aylmer's Field 115
We remember love ourselves In our sweet y: Princess i 123
She had the care of Lady Ida's y, „ iii 85
'We remember love ourself In our sweet y; „ v 208
Confusions of a wasted y; In Mem., Pro. 42
And in the places of his y. „ xviii 8
Whose y was full of foolish noise, „ liii 3
For life outliving heats of y, „ 10
It is the trouble of my y That foolish sleep „ lxviii 15
The giant labouring in his y; „ cxviii 2
Yet Hope had never lost her y; „ cxxv 5
Maud in the light of her y and her grace. Maud I v 15
For my dark-dawning y, „ xix 7
When I was frequent with him in my y, Gareth and L. 124
In his own blood, his princedom, y and hopes, „ 210
Some old head-blow not heeded in his y „ 714
In so young y, was ever made a knight Till Galahad; Holy Grail 138 light-wing'd spirit of his y return'd On Arthur's heart; Balin and Balan 21 lists of such a beard as y gone out Had left in ashes: Merlin and V. 245 Full many a love in loving y was mine; I needed then no charm to keep them mine But y and love; „ 546
By all the sweet and sudden passion of y Lancelot and E. 282
This is not love: but love's first flash in y, „ 949
Not at my years, however it hold in y. „ 1296
I told her that her love Was but the flash of y, „ 1318
And this was call'd 'The Tournament of Y:' Pelleas and E. 158
Whereto we move, than when we strove in y, Pass. of Arthur 67
And some had visions out of golden y, „ 102 opposite The flush and dawn of y, Lover's Tale i 189 Like to the wild y of an evil prince, „ 354 from prime y Well-known well-loved. „ ii 175 till the things familiar to her y „ iv 95
Which yet retains a memory of its y, Sisters (E. and E.) 66
One bloom of y, health, beauty, „ 120 years of haste and random y Unshatter'd; De Prof., Two G. 21
And wind the front of y with flowers, Ancient Sage 97 years that when my Y began Had set the lily and rose „ 155 and y is turn'd to woe. The Flight 16 Gone the fires of y, the follies, furies, Locksley H., Sixty 39 Gone the tyrant c· my y, „ 43 millions one at length with all the visions of my y? „ 162 cry your 'forward,' yours are hope and y, but I „ 225
But a sun coming up in his y! Dead Prophet 42
A soul that, watch'd from earliest y, To Marq. of Dufferin 25
Y and Health, and birth and wealth, By an Evolution. 8
Her husband in the flush of y and dawn, Death of Œnone 17
'I am losing the light of my Y The Dreamer 4

Youth (young man) And yearn'd towards William; but the y, Dora 6
A y came riding toward a palace-gate. Vision of Sin 2
And of her brethren, y's of puissance; Princess i 37
From y and babe and hoary hairs: In Mem. lxix 10 ever haunting round the palm A lusty y, Gareth and L. 48
'A goodly y and worth a goodlier boon! „ 449 younger brethren have gone down Before this y; „ 1103 whistle of the y who scour'd His master's armour; Marr. of Geraint 257

Youth (young man) (continued) A y, that following with a costrel Marr. of Geraint 386
There came a fair-hair'd y, that in his hand Geraint and E. 201 when the fair-hair'd y came by him, „ 205
'Yea, willingly,' replied the y; 'and thou, „ 207
'Yea, my kind lord,' said the glad y, „ 241 some few—ay, truly—y's that hold Merlin and V. 21 successful war On all the y, they sicken'd; „ 572
The saintly y, the spotless lamb of Christ, „ 749 passing gayer y For one so old, „ 927 but there is many a y Now crescent, Lancelot and E. 447 doors Were softly sunder'd, and thro' these a y, Pelleas, Pelleas and E. 4
Y, we are damsels-errant, and we ride, „ 64
'Fight therefore,' yell'd the y, „ 572
'Lo, there,' said one of Arthur's y, Last Tournament 429

Youthful With y fancy re-inspired, Ode to Memory 114 to him that reaps not harvest of his y joys, Locksley Hall 139
So y and so flexile then, Amphion 59
'Y hopes, by scores, to all, Vision of Sin 199 Welcome her, all things y and sweet, W. to Alexandra 8 a band Of y friends, on mind and art, In Mem. lxxxvii 22 knight Had vizor up, and show'd a y face, Marr. of Geraint 189 let thine own hand strike Thy y pulses Tiresias 157
y jealousy is a liar. Locksley H., Sixty 240 bare dome had not begun to gleam Thro' y curls, To Mary Boyle 42

Youthhood Loving his lusty y yielded to him. Gareth and L. 580

Yow (ewe) Fourscoor y's upon it an' some on it N. Farmer, O. S. 40
Yowe (ewe) Woorse nor a far-welter'd y: „ N. S. 32
Yowling See A-yowlin'
Yucca My y, which no winter quells, To Ulysses 21

Yule The merry merry bells of Y. In Mem. xxviii 20
Glow'd like the heart of a great fire at Y, Marr. of Geraint 559
'Poor men, when y is cold, Holy Grail 613

Yule-block faäce wur as red as the Y-b theer i' the graäte. Owd Roä 56
Yule-clog The y-c sparkled keen with frost, In Mem. lxxviii 5

Z

Zealous z it should be All that it might be: Princess iv 423
Zenith that branch'd And blossom'd in the z, Enoch Arden 586 holdeth his undimned forehead far Into a clearer z, Lover's Tale i 514 Faith at her z, or all but lost in the gloom Vastness 11
And stand with my head in the z, Parnassus 6
Zeus Then rose Achilles dear to Z; Achilles over the T. 2
Zig-zag By z-z paths, and juts of pointed rock, M. d'Arthur 50
By z paths, and juts of pointed rock, Pass. of Arthur 218
Zolaism wallowing in the troughs of Z,— Locksley H., Sixty 145 Zone Flowing beneath her rose-hued z; Arabian Nights 140 but that my z Unmann'd me: Princess ii 420
Like those three stars of the airy Giant's z, „ v 260
And on thro' z's of light and shadow To F. D. Maurice 27
And four great z's of sculpture, Holy Grail 232
Why ye not wear on arm, or neck, or z Last Tournament 36 none could breathe Within the z of heat; Columbus 53 like a flame From z to z of the world, Dead Prophet 35 Gifts from every British z; Open I. and C. Exhib. 9
On broader z's beyond the foam, To Ulysses 30
Mix me this Z with that! Mechanophilus 8
Zoned a silken hood to each, And z with gold; Princess ii 18
Watch'd my fair meadow z with airy morn; Prog. of Spring 69
Zoning And when the z eve has died On a Mourner 21
Zoroastrian they rail At me the Z. Akbar's Dream 104

A CONCORDANCE TO THE DRAMATIC WORKS

OF

ALFRED, LORD TENNYSON.

A

A that all the louts to whom Their A B C is darkness, Queen Mary III iv 35

Ale (ale) They ha' broached a barrel of a i' the long barn, Prom. of May I 426

Abbacy From all the vacant sees and abbacies, Becket I iii 652

Abbess I think our A knew it and allow'd it. „ V ii 95

Abbey The kingliest A in all Christian lands, Harold III i 204
He shelter'd in the A of Pontigny. Becket II i 84
Hard as the stones of his a. Foresters I ii 270

Abbeyland new Lords Are quieted with their sop of A's, Queen Mary III i 142

Abbot there were A's—but they did not bring their women; Becket III iii 135 sits and eats his heart for want of money to pay the A. Foresters I i 5 he borrowed the monies from the A of York, the Sheriff's brother. And if they be not paid back at the end of the year, the land goes to the A. „ II i 68
Those two thousand marks lent me by the A „ I i 264
I believed this A of the party of King Richard, „ I i 266
Or I forfeit my land to the A. „ I ii 152
You shall wait for mine till Sir Richard has paid the A. „ I ii 232
I fear this A is a heart of flint, „ I ii 268
I ran into my debt to the A, Two thousand marks in gold. „ II i 463
We spoil'd the prior, friar, a, monk, „ III 167
Then that bond he hath Of the A— „ IV 85
I have sent to the A and justiciary „ IV 87
The A of York and his justiciary. „ IV 334 it was agreed when you borrowed these monies from the A „ IV 467 these monies should be paid in to the A at York, „ IV 507
Save for this maiden and thy brother A, „ IV 633
You, my lord A, you Justiciary, I made you A, you Justiciary: „ IV 841
Our rebel A then shall join your hands, „ IV 933
Here A, Sheriff—no—no, Robin Hood. „ IV 989

Abeär (bear) I can't a to think on 'er now, Prom. of May II 32
I can't a to see her. „ III 758

Abel light darkness, A Cain, The soul the body, Becket I iii 715

Abetting They say, his wife was knowing and a. Harold II ii 307

Abhor all of us a The venomous, bestial, devilish revolt Queen Mary II ii 286 and refuse, Reject him, and a him. „ IV iii 279
—the whole world A you; Becket V iii 184

Abide You must a my judgment, and my father's, Queen Mary V i 145 and on thee, Edith, if thou a it,— Harold III i 317 King will not a thee with thy cross. Becket I iii 488 then he called me a rude naäme, and I can't a 'im. Prom. of May II 159 but he wur so rough wi' ma, I couldn't a 'im. „ III 104 as the good Sally says, 'I can't a him'— „ III 174
If it be her ghoäst, we mun a it. „ III 460 but a with me who love thee. Foresters II i 602

Ability Hath he the large a of the Emperor? Queen Mary I v 323
Hath he the large a of his father? „ I v 438

Able The man is a enough—no lack of wit, Foresters I ii 103

Abler while in Normanland God speaks thro' a voices, Harold I i 167

Abolish to cancel and a all bonds of human allegiance, Queen Mary V iv 49

Abroach Not set myself a And run my mind out The Cup I ii 106

Abrogation Towards the a and repeal Of all such laws Queen Mary III iii 141

Absalom Deal gently with the young man A. Becket I iii 757

Absence Which in his a had been all my wealth. Queen Mary I v 361
But since mine a will not be for long, „ III vi 216 Thine a well may seem a want of care. Harold I i 322 and you look thin and pale. Is it for his a? Prom. of May I 782 this world Is brighter for his a as that other Is darker for his presence. „ II 458 but can he trace me Thro' five years' a, „ II 615

Absolution Pole, to give us all that holy a which—— First Citizen. Old Bourne to the life! Second Citizen. Holy a! Queen Mary I iii 28
Legate's coming To bring us a from the Pope. „ III i 432
To take this a from your lips, „ III ii 116
Thro' this most reverend Father, a, „ III iii 148
Stigand shall give me a for it— Harold II ii 798
Hast thou had a for thine oath? „ III i 212
Stigand hath given me a for it. „ III i 213
Not I, the Pope. Ask him for a. Becket V ii 379

Absolve commission from the Pope To a thee Queen Mary III ii 53
He by His mercy a you! „ III iii 209
Do here a you and deliver you And every one of you, „ III iii 214
Cannot the Pope a thee if thou sign? Becket I iii 230
A the left-hand thief and damn the right? „ II ii 392
Forgive me and a me, holy father. „ II ii 441
Son, I a thee in the name of God. „ II ii 442
He shall a you . . . you shall have redress. „ V i 86
Our Becket, who will not a the Bishops. „ V i 223
he shall a The bishops—they but did my will— „ V i 253
Oh, if you have, a him! „ V ii 131 to a the bishops Whom you have excommunicated. „ V ii 376
Save that you will a the bishops. „ V iii 120

Absolved Tut, tut, I have a thee: Harold III i 104

A-burnin' Queen Mary gwoes on a-b and a-b, Queen Mary IV iii 523
A-b, and a-b, and a-makin' „ IV iii 531

Abused Her name is much a among these traitors. „ II ii 110
Modest maiden lily a, Foresters II ii 158

A-bussin' (kissing) thou and me a-b o' one another t'other side o' the haäycock, Prom. of May II 231

Abysm Steam'd upward from the undescendible A. Harold I i 16

Abyss rough road That breaks off short into the a'es— Prom. of May I 230

A-callin' they ha' ta'en the body up inter your chaumber, and they be all a-c for ye. „ II 571

Accept France would not a her for a bride Queen Mary I ii 67 beseech Your Highness to a our lowliest thanks „ II ii 131 tell him That I a the diadem of Galatia— The Cup II 158
So I would, Robin, if any man would a her. Foresters III 74
A this horn! if e'er thou be assail'd „ IV 423

Acceptable more the love, the more a The sacrifice Harold III i 348 nobler The victim was, the more a Might be the sacrifice. The Falcon 880

Accepting For that would seem a of your love. „ 739

Accepting (continued) Have I done wisely, then, in a him? Prom. of May III 184
Access A stranger monk desires a to you. Becket V ii 65
Mine enemies barr'd all a to the boy. „ V ii 451
Accomplish'd to see my solemn vow A. Harold III i 308
The purpose of my being is a, The Falcon 926
To-day he hath a his thirtieth birthday, Foresters I i 298 Account There's half an angel wrong'd in your a; Queen Mary V iii 2
King Demands a strict a of all those revenues Becket I iii 650 dead; gone to his a—dead and buried. Prom. of May III 145
Then by thine own a thou shouldst be mine. Foresters IV 1038
Accruing Judgment, and pain a thereupon; Queen Mary III iii 219
Accursed my men Hold that the shipwreckt are a of God;— Harold II i 100 for the two were fellow-prisoners So many years in yon a Tower— Queen Mary I iv 200
With that vile Cranmer in the a lie Of good Queen Catharine's divorce— „ III iv 231
'We pray continually for the death Of our a Queen and Cardinal Pole.' „ V ii 181
Nay, ev'n the a heathen Saladeen—— Strike! Becket IV ii 251
Accuse Lest men a you of indifference To all faiths, Queen Mary III iv 223 Shall these a him to a foreign prince? „ IV i 24 must A himself, excuse himself; The Cup II 115 Accused 'If any cleric be a of felony, the Church shall not protect him; Becket I iii 87
Accuser appear before the Pope, And answer thine a's . . . „ I iii 603
Achage his a, and his breakage, if that were all: Queen Mary I i 128
Ache full of a's and broken before his day. „ I i 124
Against the moral excess No physical a, Becket I i 382
Acies A, A Prona sternatur! Harold V i 581
Acknowledge and a The primacy of the Pope? Queen Mary III iii 107 Acknowledged Mary hath a you her heir. „ V iii 30
She knew me, and a me her heir, „ V v 255
A-coomin' (coming) I seed that one cow o' thine i' the pinfold ageän as I wur a-c 'ere. Prom. of May I 191
Acorn On nuts and a's, ha! Or the King's deer? Foresters IV 882 Acre (seaport) like the woman at A when the Turk shot her „ II i 307 Acre (land) (See also Haäcre, Ten-aäcre) her advowsons, granges, farms, And goodly a's— Becket I i 163
I took it For some three thousand a's. Prom. of May III 614
Acrid Ah, what an a wine has Luther brew'd! Queen Mary IV iii 545
Acrisius Danaë has escaped again Her tower, and her A— Becket I i 396
A-crying and they was all a-c out at the bad times, Prom. of May I 138
Act (s) he begs you to forget it As scarce his a:— The Cup II 53 Act (verb) (See also Re-act) that these may a On Harold when they meet. Harold II ii 91
King would a servitor and hand a dish to his son; Becket III iii 139
Veiling one sin to a another. Prom. of May III 773
Actable Is naked truth a in true life? Harold III i 109 Acted why should not the parable of our blessed Lord be a again? Becket I iv 77
Who made the second mitre play the first, And a me? „ III iii 213 Well a, was it? A comedy meant to seem a tragedy— „ IV ii 321 and a on would yield A nobler breed The Falcon 753
Acting tear it all to pieces, never dream'd Of a on it. The Cup I ii 248
No! a, playing on me, both of them. Prom. of May III 693 Action (See also Re-action) A and re-action, The miserable see-saw of our child-world, Queen Mary IV iii 384 Act of Parliament they be both bastards by A o P and Council. „ I i 24
Corroborate by your a's o P: „ II ii 173
Actor Should play the second a in this pageant „ III iii 13
A-cum (come) there wur an owld lord a-c to dine wi' un, „ IV iii 504
Adage there's An old world English a to the point. „ IV i 175
Adam-clay Cleaving to your original A-c, „ IV iii 418
Add Leave it with him and a a gold mark thereto. Foresters III 210
Added the clauses a To that same treaty Queen Mary III iii 68
Adder To the deaf a thee, that wilt not dance Harold I i 385 the Norman a Hath bitten us; we are poison'd: „ III i 38
he that lookt a fangless one, Issues a venomous a. Becket I iii 453 Addled Eggs? Filippo. One, but a. The Falcon 129
Address (s) All hangs on her a, And upon you, Lord Mayor. Queen Mary II ii 55 he gave me no a, and there was no word of marriage; Prom. of May III 332
Address (verb) She will a your guilds and companies. Queen Mary II ii 15
Adieu Both be happy, and a for ever and for evermore
—a. Foresters II ii 196
Adit Here His turtle builds; his exit is our a: Becket III ii 7
Adjudge at this time A him to the death. Queen Mary IV iii 38
Admiral Her freaks and frolics with the late Lord A? „ I iv 20
Admiration begets An a and an indignation, „ III iv 170 Admired But having now a it long enough, Becket IV ii 262
'To the a Camma, wife of Sinnatus, the Tetrarch, The Cup I i 36
'To the a Camma,—beheld you afar off— „ I ii 70 Admit Ay, gentle friend, a them. I will go. Queen Mary I ii 110
A-doing What be he a-d here ten mile an' moor fro' a raäil? Prom. of May I 209
Adore and a This Vicar of their Vicar. Queen Mary III iii 243
Adorer an a of our great goddess, Artemis, The Cup I i 38
Adulterous A to the very heart of Hell. Queen Mary V v 163
A dog! (repeat) The Cup I iii 108, 122
Adultery She seethed with such adulteries, Queen Mary III iv 189 Advance A our Standard of the Warrior, Harold IV i 248 told me he would a me to the service of a great lady, Becket III i 123
He has a friend there will a the monies, Foresters II i 628
There was no room to a or to retire. „ IV 534
A, a! (repeat) „ IV 735, 761
Advanced A thee at his instance by the Jews, Becket I iii 643 Advantage To be of rich a to our realm, Queen Mary II ii 235
I, that taking The Fiend's a of a throne, Becket II i 152
We have him at last; we have him at a. Foresters II i 415
O no, we took A of the letter— „ IV 621
Advent To celebrate this a of our King! „ IV 1048 Advice With our a and in our company, Queen Mary I iii 150 and your Grace, So you will take a of mine, „ V i 301 and by the a of his Government.' Becket I iii 112 Advise I would a That we should thoroughly Queen Mary III iv 194
A him: speak him sweetly, he will hear thee. Harold I i 116 could do No other than this way a the king „ V i 281 Advised The Queen is ill a: Queen Mary I iv 5
He cannot dream that I a the war; „ V ii 57
But you a the Pope. Becket V ii 380
Advising On any man's a but your own. „ V ii 551
Advowson have graspt Her livings, her a's, „ I i 161
'All causes of a's and presentations, „ I iii 79
A-dying I ha' three sisters a-d at home o' the sweating sickness. „ I iv 246
Æsop Inverted Æ—mountain out of mouse. Queen Mary II i 67
Afear'd (afraid) I was a it was the ghost, your worship. Foresters II i 225
I am mortally a o' thee, thou big man, „ IV 316
Affable you were bland And a to men of all estates, Queen Mary III vi 81
Affair His Highness is so vex'd with strange a's— Mary. That his own wife is no a of his. „ V ii 560
Has let his farm, all his a's, I fear, Prom. of May II 420 for I must hence upon The King's a. Foresters IV 342 Affect Her Majesty Hears you a the Prince— Queen Mary I iv 82 what shall I call it, a her thine own self. Becket, Pro. 513
Your lordship a's the unwavering perpendicular; „ II ii 325 Affection old a master'd you, You falter'd into tears. „ V ii 143 from you except Return of his a— The Falcon 717 and her a's Will flower toward the light Prom. of May I 484 Affinity the man, the woman, Following their best affinities, „ I 523
Affirm and a's The Queen has forfeited her right Queen Mary V i 289
Affright yet the word A's me somewhat: „ I iv 9
Doth this a thee? Harold I i 23
Affrighted scurrying of a rat A me, Queen Mary III v 144
A-fobbing (to put of) hallus a-f ma off, tho' ye knaws
I love ye. Prom. of May I 108
A-follering (following) then back ageän, a-f my oän shadder— „ I 371
Afraid (See also Afear'd, Half-afraid) I was a of her,
and I hid myself. „ I 551
I am half a to pass. „ II 328
Be not a of me, For these are no conventional flourishes. „ II 561
After And that this noble realm thro' a years May in this unity Queen Mary III iii 156 and all thy flock should catch An a ague-fit of trembling. Becket III iii 33
After-dinner Not now, not now—with a-d grace. Foresters IV 937

After-life man perceives that The lost gleam of an a-l Prom. of May I 503 greater nearness to the birthday Of the a-l, Foresters II i 45
After-marriage link rusts with the breath of the first a-m kiss, Becket, Pro. 362
Afternoon (See also Arternoon) The clamour'd darling of their a ! The Cup II 125
You had better attend to your hayfield. Good a. Prom. of May II 123
Good a, my friends. „ III 20
Agatha ask his forgiveness before he dies.—SISTER A.' Sister A is right. „ III 402
A-gawin' (going) Be thou a-g to the long barn? „ I 1
Age (See also Lisping-age) tho' by your a, And by your looks you are not worth the having, Queen Mary I iv 12
Song flies you know For a's. „ II i 82 it is an a Of brief life, and brief purpose, „ III iv 412
' what am I, Cranmer, against whole a's? ' „ IV ii 104 gray dawn Of an old a that never will be mine „ V ii 235
From child to child, from Pope to Pope, from a to a, Harold V i 330 he would be mine a Had he lived now; Becket I iii 249
A, orphans, and babe-breasting mothers— „ II i 72
Will enter on the larger golden a ; Prom. of May I 590 may not those, who march Before their a, „ II 633
I could make his a A comfort to him— „ II 661 your Father must be now in extreme old a. „ III 400 poor Steer looks The very type of A in a picture, „ III 514
Some hollow-hearted from exceeding a— Foresters III 97
Aged How doubly a this Queen of ours hath grown Queen Mary V i 227
A-getting he makes moan that all be a-g cold. Becket I iv 61 when I was a-g o' bluebells for your ladyship's nose to smell on— „ III i 161
A-gittin' and my missus a-g ower 'er lyin'-in. Prom. of May III 74
A-glorifying our master been a-g and a-velveting and a-silking himself, The Falcon 98
A-going We be a-g home after our supper in all humbleness, Becket I iv 206 Agony Fire—inch by inch to die in a ! Queen Mary IV ii 223 in her a The mother came upon her— „ V iv 19 star That dances in it as mad with a ! Harold I i 9 all promises Made in our a for help from heaven? „ III i 288
Only this morning in his a Foresters IV 453
Agree (See also 'Grees) A with him quickly again, even for the sake of the Church. Becket II ii 376 Agreed are well a That those old statutes touching Lollardism Queen Mary III iv 6 it was a when you borrowed these monies from the Abbot Foresters IV 465
A-groänin' He's been a-moänin' and a-g in 'is sleep, Prom. of May III 411
Ague Harvestless autumns, horrible a's, plague Queen Mary V i 98
Wet, famine, a, fever, storm, wreck, wrath,— „ V v 108
Ague-fit thy flock should catch An after a-f of trembling. Becket III iii 33
A-harrowin' Hodge 'ud ha' been a-h o' white peasen i' the outfield Queen Mary IV iii 492
A-hawking A-h, a-h ! If I sit, I grow fat. Becket, Pro. 413 ride a-h with the help of the men. Foresters I i 213
A-hell-fire and sets the church-tower over there all a-h-f as it were? Becket III iii 51
A-hunting King's verdurer caught him a-h in the forest, „ I iv 95
Aid (s) But with Cecil's a And others, Queen Mary V v 279
Aid (verb) as I love The people ! whom God a ! „ V iii 36
Believing I should ever a the Church— Becket, Pro. 417
Ail What a's you? Harold. Speak. Prom. of May III 661
Ailmer (John, Bishop of London) A and Bullingham, and hundreds more; Queen Mary I ii 11
Aim stateliest deer in all the herd—Beyond his a— „ V ii 427
I am not Beyond his a, or was not. „ V ii 450 man that hath to foil a murderous a May, surely, play with words. Harold II ii 417
Their a is ever at that which flies highest— Foresters I i 261
Mine eye most true to one hair's-breadth of a. „ IV 695
Aim'd spoil and sackage a at by these rebels, Queen Mary II ii 248 but failure it may be Of all we a at. Becket I i 383
The point you a at, and pray God she prove „ II ii 77
Aiming in a at your love, It may be sometimes „ V i 35
Air (atmosphere) Like universal a and sunshine ! Queen Mary III ii 182
A and sunshine. I would we had you, „ V ii 605
Free a ! free field ! Harold II ii 230
Air (atmosphere) (continued) he flings His brand in a and catches it again, Harold V i 494 and fling them out to the free a. Becket I i 288 Blurt thy free mind to the a? „ I iii 239 when I flee from this For a gasp of freer a, „ II i 29
Let all the a reel into a mist of odour, The Cup II 185 give him limbs, then a, and send him forth „ II 261 come as freely as heaven's a and mother's milk? Foresters I i 210
We should be free as a in the wild wood— „ I iii 124
I breathe Heaven's a, and Heaven looks down on me, „ IV 725
if ye cannot breathe but woodland a, „ IV 953
'Air (hair) I ha' heärd 'im a-gawin' on 'ud make your 'a—God bless it !—stan' on end. Prom. of May I 135
Air (strain of music) Play the a, Little John. Foresters III 418
A and word, my lady, are maid and man. „ III 419
Aisle (See also Minster-aisle) The nave and a's all empty as a fool's jest ! Queen Mary IV iii 286
Did not a man's voice ring along the a, Becket V ii 151
Alarm my master hears with much a, Queen Mary I v 250
Have you had any a? no stranger? Becket III i 28
Alarum clang and clash a as we pass, Queen Mary II i 230
A-laughin' I'd like to leather 'im black and blue, and she to be a-l at it. Prom. of May II 596
Alberighi (Federigo degli) See Federigo degli Alberighi
Alchemic and jealousy Hath in it an a force to fuse Queen Mary III vi 181
Alchemy backward-working a Should change this gold to silver, Foresters IV 39
Alder We parted like the brook yonder about the a island, Prom. of May I 773
Alder-island Close by that a-i in your brook, „ II 535
Aldred (Archbishop of York) take, sign it, Stigand, A ! Sign it, Harold III i 198
Ask it of A. „ III i 226
Come, A, join our hands before the hosts, „ IV i 241
Aldwyth (daughter of Alfgar and widow of Griffyth, King of Wales) The Lady A Was here to-day, „ I ii 34 not like A . . . For which I strangely love him. Should not England Love A, „ I ii 175 Courage, noble A ! „ I ii 183
They say thou art to wed the Lady A. „ III ii 108
A ! A ! (repeat) „ IV i 19, 25
A, Harold, A ! „ IV i 132
His conqueror conquer'd A. „ IV i 218
A, A, Canst thou love me, „ IV i 225
Harold, Harold and A ! „ IV i 244
Hail ! Harold ! A ! hail, bridegroom and bride „ IV iii 1
Hail, Harold, A ! Bridegroom and bride ! „ IV iii 42
Leave thèm ! and thee too, A, „ IV iii 227 Ale (See also Aäle) Brain-dizzied with a draught of morning a. Queen Mary II i 72 and she brew'd the best a in all Glo'ster, Becket III i 197
I am misty with my thimbleful of a. Foresters IV 278
The king's good health in a and Malvoisie. „ IV 968
Ale-house spent all your last Saturday's wages at the a-h ; Prom. of May III 79
Alençon hast thou never heard His savagery at A,— Harold II ii 382
Alfgar (Earl of Mercia) (See also Half-Alfgar) light enough for A's house To strike thee down „ I i 307
It means the lifting of the house of A. „ I i 473 feuds that part The sons of Godwin from the sons of A „ I ii 181
Godwin still at feud with A, And A hates King Harold. „ IV i 124
Alfred (the Great, King of the West Saxons) They blinded my young kinsman, A— „ II ii 511
And that my wife descends from A ? „ II ii 594 tell me tales Of A and of Athelstan the Great „ IV i 74 Less than a star among the goldenest hours Of A, „ IV iii 52
A Was England. Ethelred was nothing. „ V i 373
Alfwig Abbot A, Leofric, and all the monks „ V i 445 sure this body Is A, the king's uncle. „ V ii 68
Alice (a Lady in Waiting to Queen Mary) Shall A sing you One of her pleasant songs? A, my child, Bring us your lute. Queen Mary V ii 354 Alien Philip's no sudden a—the Queen's husband, „ III iii 42 forfeited her right to reign By marriage with an a— „ V i 291
So strange among them—such an a there, The Cup II 143

Alight (lighted) Last night, I dream'd the faggots were a, Queen Mary IV ii 2
Alighted See Lighted
A-limpin' I seed tha a-l up just now wi' the roomatics i' the knee. Prom. of May I 384
Alington Ah, gray old castle of A, Queen Mary II i 243 Alive (See also Half-alive) become Hideously a again from head to heel, „ IV iii 447 while famished rats Eat them a. „ V ii 198 Dead or a you cannot make him happy. „ V v 71
And flay me all a. Harold IV i 191
All (See also All-but-nothing, All-in-all, Hall) Long live Queen Mary! down with a traitors! Queen Mary I i 66
but a things here At court are known; „ I iv 56 but God hath sent me here To take such order with a heretics „ I v 34 now that a traitors Against our royal state have lost the heads „ III iv 2
The devil take a boots were ever made Since man went barefoot. „ III v 197
But held from you a papers sent by Rome, „ V ii 45
That a day long hath wrought his father's work, „ V ii 118
Methinks I am a angel, that I bear it Without more ruffling. „ V iii 3
But by a Saints— Leofwin. Barring the Norman! Harold V i 224 and a left-handedness and under-handedness. Becket, Pro. 340
Father, I am so tender to a hardness! „ I i 316
Mine enemies barr'd a access to the boy. „ V ii 451
Lady, I say it with a gentleness, The Cup I iii 99
And fill a hearts with fatness and the lust Of plenty— „ II 272
Richer than a the wide world-wealth of May, The Falcon 466
A Quietist taking a things easily—why— Prom. of May I 290
I've hed the long barn cleared out of a the machines, „ I 451
Who leaves me a his land at Littlechester, „ I 511 drest like a gentleman, too. Damn a gentlemen, says I! „ II 579 and they both love me—I am a in a to both; „ III 213 a in a to one another from the time when we first peeped „ III 273 Push'd from a doors as if we bore the plague, „ III 804 but go about to come at their love with a manner of homages, Foresters I i 102 Sleep, happy soul! a life will sleep at last. „ I iii 48 in the name of a our woodmen, present her with this oaken chaplet as Queen of the wood, „ III 57
Out upon a hard-hearted maidenhood! „ IV 50
And a I love, Robin, and a his men, „ IV 722
Are a our guests here? „ IV 993
All-but-nothing if a-b-n be anything, and one plate of dried prunes be a-b-n, The Falcon 134 Allegiance promise full A and obedience to the death. Queen Mary II ii 169 to cancel and abolish all bonds of human a, „ V iv 50 Lay hands of full a in thy Lord's And crave his mercy, Harold V i 11 thou hast sworn a voluntary a to him? Becket Pro. 439
Allen (a farm labourer) so, A, I may as well begin with you. Prom. of May III 29
I spoke of your names, A, „ III 35
But, A, tho' you can't read, „ III 42
What is all this, A? „ III 123
Allen (Sally) See Sally Allen
Allendale The warrior Earl of A, Foresters I i 6
Alley so many a's, crossings, Paths, avenues— Becket V ii 6
Alliance Have you a's? Bithynia, Pontus, Paphlagonia? The Cup I ii 99
Break thine a with this faithless John, Foresters IV 323 Allied Art thou for Richard, or a to John? Richard. I am a to John. „ IV 135 for how canst thou be thus a With John, „ IV 350
All-in-all (See also All) Their Flemish go-between And a-i-a. Queen Mary III vi 5
Allow your Highness will a Some spice of wisdom „ II iv 133
His Highness and myself (so you a us) „ III iv 324 rage of one who hates a truth He cannot but a. „ III vi 145
A me the same answer as before— „ V i 237 world a's I fall no inch Behind this Becket, Becket V i 39
A me, sir, to pass you. Prom. of May II 354
A me to go with you to the farm. „ II 574
Allowance I can make a for thee, Queen Mary I v 326
Make no a for the naked truth. „ I v 328
To make a for their rougher fashions, Harold II ii 8 easier then for you to make A for a mother— The Falcon 826 ready To make a's, and mighty slow To feel offences. Prom. of May III 629
Allow'd tho' a stranger fain would be a To join the hunt. The Cup I i 196
I think our Abbess knew it and a it. Becket V ii 95
All-prepared The best of all not a-p to die. „ V ii 564
All-royal Look rather thou a-r as when first I met thee. „ II i 46
Almighty floated downward from the throne Of God A. Harold I i 19
Harold and God A! „ V i 526
Almoner This A hath tasted Henry's gold. Becket I iii 294
Almost See Ommost
Alms his wealth A fountain of perennial a— Queen Mary II ii 385 she holds it in Free and perpetual a, Becket I iii 680 boldness of this hand hath won it Love's a, „ II i 184 pale beggar-woman seeking a For her sick son, The Falcon 853 sweet saints bless your worship for your a to the old woman! Foresters II i 364
O your honour, I pray you too to give me an a. „ II i 390
Almshouses Part shall go to the a at Nottingham, „ III 206
Aloän (alone) Let ma a afoor foälk, wilt tha? Prom. of May II 213
I tell'd tha to let ma a! „ II 229
I can't let tha a if I would, Sally. „ II 233
A-lodgin' What dost a knaw o' this Mr Hedgar as be a-l' wi' ye? „ I 200
A-lolluping (hanging down) tongue on un cum a-l out o' 'is mouth as black as a rat. Queen Mary IV iii 519 Alone (See also Aloän) And think not we shall be a— „ II i 191 and not a from this, Likewise from any other, „ II ii 236
Harold Hear the king's music, all a with him, Harold I ii 194
I leave thee to thy talk with him a; „ II ii 324
And Wulfnoth is a in Normandy. „ III i 81
The Church a hath eyes—and now I see That I was blind— Becket II ii 436
So many happy hours a together, „ III iii 39
That I would speak with you once more a. „ III iii 41
Can I speak with you A, my father? „ V ii 70 will you have it a, Or with these listeners near you? „ V ii 304
We are all a with him. „ V ii 312
A I do it. „ V ii 459
Too early to be here a with thee; The Cup I iii 82
Can I not speak with you once more a? The Falcon 689
Ay, the dear nurse will leave you a; „ 703
Let him a! A worthy messenger! Foresters I iii 84
Thou art a in the silence of the forest „ IV 630
Let him a a while. He loves the chivalry of his single arm. „ IV 784
A-lookin' then a-scrattin upon a bit o' paäper, then a-l ageän; Prom. of May I 203
I'd like to drag 'im thruff the herse-pond, and she to be a-l at it. „ II 594
Alphabetical (See also Halfabitical) but he sent me an a list of those that remain, „ III 28
Alphege (Archbishop of Canterbury) St. Denis of France and St. A of England, Becket V iii 165 Altar (See also Haltar) Our a is a mound of dead men's clay, Queen Mary V ii 161 a dead man Rose from behind the a, Harold I ii 79 let our high a Stand where their standard fell . . . „ V ii 139 look how the table steams, like a heathen a; nay, like the a at Jerusalem. Becket I iv 69
he hath made his bed between the a's, „ I iv 264
You on this side the a. You on that. The Cup I. 254
Altar-flame Rouse the dead a-f, fling in the spices, „ II 182
Alter every tongue A's it passing, Queen Mary III v 36
Altered He is much a; but I trust that your return— Prom. of May III 420
Alva (Duke) The Duke Of A, an iron soldier. Queen Mary III i 194 for their heresies, A, they will fight; „ III ii 204
Duke A will but touch him on the horns, „ V i 155
For A is true son of the true church— „ V i 159
Always See Hallus
A-makin' and a-m' o' volk madder and madder; „ IV iii 532
Amaze one step in the dark beyond Our expectation, that a's us. The Cup I i 213

Amazed (See also Maäzed) Madam, I am a: Queen Mary I v 308 brake into woman-tears, Ev'n Gardiner, all a, „ I v 566 were much a To find as fair a sun „ III ii 21
Why lookest thou so a? Foresters I i 130
Ambassador King of France, Noailles the A, Queen Mary I iv 110
The A from France, your Grace. „ I v 239
Who waits? Usher. The A of Spain, „ I v 342
Ambition The proud a's of Elizabeth, „ III ii 169
For hath not thine a set the Church This day Becket I iii 584 that a Is like the sea wave, The Cup I iii 137 a, pride So bloat and redden his face— „ II 169
Ambush Where have you lain in a all the morning? Prom. of May I 544
Amen Serve God and both your Majesties.
Voices. A. Queen Mary III iii 160
They groan a; they swarm into the fire „ V ii 110
A. Come on. „ V iv 9
A to all Your wish, and further. „ V iv 28 Deserts! A to what? Whose deserts? „ V iv 30
Amenable Like other lords a to law. Becket, Pro. 25
Amends They make a for the tails. Queen Mary III i 227
I make thee full a. Becket III iii 219
To make a I come this day to break my fast The Falcon 275
I cannot find the word—forgive it—A. Prom. of May III 791
Amiss I know I have done a, have been a fool. Foresters II ii 51
Amity Are now once more at perfect a. Becket III iii 229
Amnesty more of olive-branch and a For foes at home— „ V ii 15
A-moänin' He's been a-m and a-groänin' in 'is sleep, Prom. of May III 411
Amomum Nard, Cinnamon, a, benzoin. The Cup II 184 Amorous If I tried her and la—she's a. Queen Mary I iv 17 nor yet so a That I must needs be husbanded; „ II ii 215 a Of good old red sound liberal Gascon wine: Becket, Pro. 99 Amount How much might that a to, my lord Leicester? „ I iii 655
Amour Thomas, lord Not only of your vassals but a's, „ V i 205
Amourist he, your rustic a, The polish'd Damon Prom. of May III 561
Amphisbæna Two vipers of one breed—an a, Each end a sting: Queen Mary III iv 39
Ampler Farewell, Madam, God grant you a mercy at your call „ IV i 189
Amplier A than any field on our poor earth „ III iii 197
Amulet that are a's against all The kisses of all kind Harold I ii 112
Mine a . . . This last . . . „ I ii 124
Anabaptist world-hating beast, A haggard A. Queen Mary II ii 92
Anathema He is pronounced a. „ IV i 187
The Pope's A—the Holy Rood That bow'd to me Harold V i 382 and let them be a, And all that speak for them a. Becket I i 170
I charge thee, upon pain of mine a, „ I iii 719 Go, lest I blast thee with a, „ IV ii 287 gone to the King And taken our a with him. „ V ii 8 Anathematise (See also De-Anathematise) I would a him.
I will not seal. „ I iii 314
Anathematised Cursed and a us right and left, „ V i 4
Anatomized a The flowers for her— Prom. of May II 302
Ancestor bowl my a Fetch'd from the farthest east— The Falcon 484
Ancestral lest the crown should be Shorn of a splendour. Becket I iii 157
Anchor such a one Was without rudder, a, compass— Prom. of May III 534 Ancient Who now recalls her to His a fold. Queen Mary III iii 167
Which frights you back into the a faith; „ IV ii 143
he stood More like an a father of the Church, „ IV iii 598
And for these Royal customs, These a Royal customs—they are Royal, Becket I i 167
These a laws and customs of the realm. (repeat) „ I iii 7, 18
For I was musing on an a saw, „ V ii 538
It is our a custom in Galatia The Cup II 358
Andrew, St. See St. Andrew
Andrew's Laughs at the last red leaf, and A Day. Queen Mary III iii 87
Anew Why, tha looks haäle a to last to a hoonderd. Prom. of May I 354
Angel Let the great a of the church come with him; Queen Mary I v 377
As an a among a's. „ I v 449
His friends—as A's I received 'em, „ I v 625 flocks of swans, As fair and white as a's; „ III ii 16 True, and I am the A of the Pope. „ III ii 144 how the blessed a's who rejoice Over one saved „ III iii 180
There's half an a wrong'd in your account; Methinks
I am all a, „ V iii 1
May the great a's join their wings, „ V iv 6

Angel (continued) Then a great A past along the highest Harold III i 134 great A rose And past again along „ III i 153
Are those the blessed a's quiring, father? „ V i 472 Whisper! God's a's only know it. Ha! „ V ii 31 will be reflected in the spiritual body among the a's. Becket, Pro. 398
So now he bears the standard of the a's. „ I iii 497 till it break Into young a's. „ V ii 257 face of an a and the heart of a—that's too positive! The Falcon 86 Seem my good a who may help me from it. Prom. of May II 388
God's good A Help him back hither, Foresters I ii 10
Thou comest a very a out of heaven. „ II i 105
I am but an a by reflected light. „ II i 108
Your heaven is vacant of your a. „ II i 109
Anger (s) no more rein upon thine a Than any child! Queen Mary III iv 303
The King is quick to a; if thou anger him, Becket I iii 165 betwixt thine Appeal, and Henry's a, yield. „ I iii 623
Our brother's a puts him, Poor man, „ II ii 234
When I was in mine a with King Louis, „ III iii 257
A noble a! but Antonius To-morrow The Cup I ii 95
My five-years' a cannot die at once, Prom. of May II 462
Anger (verb) The King is quick to anger; if thou a him, Becket I iii 165
Nay—go. What! will you a me? „ III i 209
King plucks out their eyes Who a him, „ IV ii 407 talk not of cows. You a the spirit. Foresters II i 330
A the scritch-owl. „ II i 331
A brave old fellow but he a's me. „ II i 471
Away, away, wife, wilt thou a him? „ III 255
Anger'd And if her people, a thereupon, Queen Mary I iii 90
That had a me Had I been William. Harold II ii 386
How he flamed When Tostig's a earldom flung him, „ III i 54
Tostig, poor brother, Art thou so a? „ V i 274
I deny not That I was somewhat a. Becket IV ii 351 and yet You know me easily a. „ V i 84
But a at their flaunting of our flag, The Falcon 628
I have a your good nurse; „ 706
he kneels! he has a the foul witch, Foresters II i 670
Angerest Thou a me, man: I do not jest. Becket, Pro. 299 Angle A, Jute, Dane, Saxon, Norman, Harold II ii 762 yet he held that Dane, Jute, A, Saxon, „ IV i 77
As once he bore the standard of the A's, Becket I iii 495 Angler's Home Close by that alder-island in your brook 'The A H.' Prom. of May II 536
Anglia Pereant, pereant, A precatur. Harold V i 534
Angliae Hostis per A Plagas bacchatur; „ V i 510
Angliam Hostis in A Ruit prædator, „ V i 506 Angry Thro' all her a chronicles hereafter By loss of Calais. Queen Mary V ii 304
Animal What, is not man a hunting a? Foresters IV 224 Anjou (French province) When I am out in Normandy or A. Becket, Pro. 144
We take her from her secret bower in A „ Pro. 182
A hundred, too, from Normandy and A: „ II ii 174
My A bower was scarce as beautiful. „ III i 52
Glancing at the days when his father was only Earl of A, „ III iii 150
Anne (Christian name) He loved the Lady A; Foresters I i 7
Anne (Queen) Queen A loved him. All the women loved him. Queen Mary II i 33
Anne (Wharton) (See also Anne Wharton) and the Lady A Bow'd to the Pyx; „ I v 41
wherefore bow ye not, says Lady A, „ I v 46
Anne Wharton (See also Anne) with her Lady A W, and the Lady Anne „ I v 41
Annex'd and the legateship A to Canterbury— „ V ii 37
Another —a recantation Of Cranmer at the stake. „ IV iii 299
There! there! a paper! „ V ii 329 revolt? A new Northumberland, a Wyatt? „ V v 188 for what right had he to get himself wrecked on a man's land? Harold II i 60 a hill Or fort, or city, took it, „ IV i 49
With whom I fought a fight than this Of Stamford-bridge. „ IV iii 23 And then a wood, and in the midst A garden and my Rosamund. Becket, Pro. 168
You bad me take revenge a way— „ IV ii 153
There is yet a old woman. Foresters II i 244

Another (continued) Your worship may find a rhyme if you care to drag your brains for such a minnow. Foresters II i 322
Doubtless, like judges of a bench, „ III 153
Anselm (Archbishop of Canterbury) And I'll have no more A's. Becket, Pro. 276
Thou art the man—be thou A mightier A. „ I i 134
But A crown'd this Henry o'er again. „ III iii 203
Answer (s) Is it England, or a party? Now, your a. Queen Mary I v 143
My a is, I wear beneath my dress A shirt of mail: „ I v 144
I would your a had been other, Madam, „ I v 274
It craves an instant a, Ay or No. „ I v 589
And by their a's to the question ask'd, „ II ii 153
Is that your a? „ v i 68
Allow me the same a as before— „ v i 237
And my a to it—See here— Harold I ii 56
Be careful of thine a, my good friend. „ II ii 605
How ran that a which King Harold gave „ IV iii 108 Take thou mine a in bare commonplace— Becket, Pro. 282
My heart is full of tears—I have no a. „ Pro. 407 cannot yield thee an a altogether to thy satisfaction. „ I iv 21
That is not altogether an a, my lord. „ I iv 27
With Cain's a my lord. Am I his keeper? „ I iv 186
Your a, beauty! „ IV ii 52
Vouchsafe a gracious a to your Queen? „ IV ii 359 had she but given Plain a to plain query? „ IV ii 386
You had my a to that cry before. „ V iii 124
Answer not; but strike. De Tracy. There is my a then. „ V iii 187
He waits your a. The Cup II 138
Weänt ye gi'e me a kind a at last? Prom. of May II 64 her a—I think I have it about me—yes, there it is! „ III 394
Answer (verb) A thou for him, then! Queen Mary I i 40
We a him with ours, and there are messengers „ I iii 136
And a them in song. „ II i 53
And cannot a sanely . . What it means? Harold I i 88 but thou must not this way a him. „ II ii 372
To which the lover a's lovingly 'I am beside thee.' „ III ii 13
Full hope have I that love will a love. „ IV i 238
A them thou! Is this our marriage-banquet? „ IV iii 3
A then! „ IV iii 44
Our javelins A their arrows. „ V i 522 let me go. Henry. A me first. Becket, Pro. 280 he shall a to the summons of the King's court „ I iii 88 appear before the Pope, And a thine accusers . . . „ I iii 603 lustiest and lousiest of this Cain's brotherhood, a. „ I iv 185
Thou wast too shamed to a. „ II i 66
I cannot a it Till better times, „ III i 2
I challenge thee to meet me before God. A me there. „ IV ii 255
Madam, I will not a you one word. „ IV ii 363 calls you oversea To a for it in his Norman courts. „ V ii 355
A not, but strike. De Tracy. There is my answer then. „ V iii 186
Come once more to me Before the crowning,—I will a you. The Cup II 79
No chord in me that would not a you In music. The Falcon 456
And ask'd me what I could not a. Prom. of May I 555
I cannot Well a for my father; „ II 519 he would a nothing, I could make nothing of him; „ III 495 and it a's, I am thine to the very heart of the earth— Foresters I i 336 and if her beauties a their report. „ I ii 28
Yes, my lord, fear not. I will a for you. „ I ii 33
My Lady, will you a me a question? „ I ii 136
I will not a it, my lord, „ I ii 140
I cannot a thee till Richard come. „ I ii 220
And a it in flowers. „ III 353
Answer'd Or a them in smiling negatives; Queen Mary IV iii 603
And the Lord a me, 'Thou art the man, (repeat) Becket I i 82, 98 he a me, As if he wore the crown already— „ II ii 5
I a for myself that I never spoke more „ III i 121
Rosamund hath not a you one word; „ IV ii 361
Methought I a moderately enough. „ V ii 546
Thou hast a for me, but I know not Foresters I i 310
Ant Tut, your sonnet's a flying a, Queen Mary II i 84
Anthem Their a's of no church, how sweet they are! Harold III ii 91
Antichrist terms Of Satan, liars, blasphemy, A, Queen Mary I ii 95
Antichrist As for the Pope I count him A, Queen Mary IV iii 277
Anti-marrying black, bell-silencing, a-m, burial-hindering interdict Becket III iii 55
Antioch And felt the sun of A scald our mail, „ II ii 93 Arab soldan, who, When I was there in A, „ IV ii 301 central diamond, worth, I think, Half of the A „ V i 166 Anti-papal so much of the a-p leaven Works in him yet, Queen Mary IV i 15 Antipope Who had my pallium from an A! Harold I i 82 prest upon By the fierce Emperor and his A. Becket I iii 203
And then thy King might join the A, „ I iii 211 between The Pope and A— „ II ii 70
Anti-Roman Our a-R faction? The Cup I ii 196
I have enough—their a-R faction. „ I ii 200
Antonius (a Roman General) 'A leader of the Roman Legion.' „ I i 167 shrine Of our great Goddess, in some city where A past. „ I ii 58
Most like the city rose against A. „ I ii 63
A To-morrow will demand your tribute— „ I ii 95 Returns with this A. „ I ii 179 paper sign'd A—will you take it, read it? „ I ii 226
All that Lies with A. „ I ii 293
A, So gracious toward women, „ I ii 298
wrong'd Without there, knew thee with A. „ I ii 320
Where is A? (repeat) The Cup I iii 48, 79, 87, 97
To find A here. The Cup I iii 55 walk with me we needs must meet A coming, „ I iii 93
A would not suffer me to break Into the sanctuary. „ I iii 120
Our A, Our faithful friend of Rome, „ II 243
Welcome, my lord A, to our Temple. „ II 252
A, Much graced are we that our Queen „ II 333
A, Where wast thou on that morning „ II 389
A—'Camma!' who spake? „ II 400
A, If you had found him plotting against Rome, „ II 405
A, tell the Senate I have been most true to Rome— „ II 481
A, is he there? „ II 496
Antony (an adherent of Wyatt) (See also Antony Knyvett, Knyvett) Come, you bluster, A! Queen Mary II i 119
Antony Knyvett Here's A K. „ II i 73
Antwerp To Strasburg, A, Frankfort, Zurich, „ I ii 1
There is A and the Jews. „ V i 182
Anvil A on hammer bang— Harold IV iii 161
Hammer on a, hammer on a. „ IV iii 162 set the Church This day between the hammer and the a— Becket I iii 586
Any (See also Ony) Nay, if by chance you hear of a such, Queen Mary I iv 175
Good Prince, art thou in need of a gold? Foresters I ii 163
Anyhow See Onyhow
Anything (See also Onythink, Owt) or whether They should believe in a; Queen Mary IV iii 407
A or nothing? Filippo. Well, my lord, if all-but-nothing be a, The Falcon 133 then there is a in your lordship's larder at your lordship's service, „ 137 tell me a of our sweet Eva When in her brighter girlhood, Prom. of May II 520
Apart Remain within the chamber, but a. Queen Mary V iii 12
A-parting saw your ladyship a-p wi' him even now i' the coppice, Becket III i 160
A-passing Who's a-p? King Edward or King Richard? Queen Mary I i 31
The blessed Mary's a-p! „ I i 36
Apathy And, lest we freeze in mortal a, The Cup I iii 130 numb'd me into a Against the unpleasant jolts Prom. of May I 227 Ape A Parliament of imitative a's! Queen Mary III iii 235 a feeder Of dogs and hawks, and a's, Becket I i 80
A-peacocking (showing off) a-p and a-spreading to catch her eye for a dozen year, The Falcon 99
Apicius that Lucullus or A might have sniffed it Becket III iii 117
A-plaäyin' (playing) a-p the saäme gaäme wi' my Dora— Prom. of May II 591
Apoplexy O would it were His third last a! The Cup II 172
Apostate The a monk that was with Randulf here. Becket V ii 574 Apostle His prophets, and a's, in the Testaments, Queen Mary IV iii 232 we be liker the blessed A's; they were fishers of men, Harold II i 34 spirit of the twelve A's enter'd Into thy making. Becket I i 50

Apostolic And from the A see of Rome; Queen Mary III iii 127 by your intercession May from the A see obtain, „ III iii 147
And we by that authority A Given unto us, his Legate, „ III iii 210
Appall'd And yet I seem a—on such a sudden Becket I i 137 Appeal for their sake who stagger betwixt thine A, „ I iii 623 make a To all the archbishops, bishops, „ V ii 403
Appeal'd You were sent for, You were a to, Queen Mary III iv 256
I a to the Sister again, her answer— Prom. of May III 394
Appear doth a this marriage is the least Of all their quarrel. Queen Mary II ii 154
And cite thee to a before the Pope, Becket I iii 602 Appearance for a sake, stay with the Queen. Queen Mary II i 137
'Appen (happen) To be true to each other, let 'a what maäy, (repeat) Prom. of May II 206, 236, 257
Appertaining myself Half beast and fool as a to it; Queen Mary IV iii 415
Applaud I say Ye would a that Norman Harold II ii 539
Apple (adj.) No, not that way—here, under the a tree. Prom. of May I 83
Apple (s) cut out the rotten from your a, Your a eats Queen Mary II ii 6
That bears not its own a's. „ III i 23
if I had been Eve i' the garden I shouldn't ha' minded the a, for what's an a, Becket III i 140 you have robb'd poor father Of ten good a's. Prom. of May I 616
Appoint Or he the bridegroom may a? Becket I iii 687 Appointed He, whom the Father had a Head Of all his church, Queen Mary III iii 206 the King, till another be a, shall receive the revenues thereof,' Becket I iii 101
Appreciation commend them to your ladyship's most peculiar a. The Falcon 568 Apprehend 'Whosoever will a the traitor Thomas Wyatt Queen Mary II iii 59
Approve I am happy you a it. „ V iii 63
Which you would scarce a of: Prom. of May III 624 Approved the Emperor A you, and when last he wrote, Queen Mary III vi 77
When I was made Archbishop, he a me. „ V ii 86
Appurtenance so descend again with some of her ladyship's own a's? The Falcon 417
'Appy (happy) They can't be many, my dear, but I
'oäpes they'll be 'a. Prom. of May I 353
Apricot walnut, a, Vine, cypress, poplar, myrtle, The Cup I i 2
April (adj.) Like A sap to the topmost tree, Foresters I iii 24
April (s) I was but fourteen and an A then. Becket I i 279
Apt And a at arms and shrewd in policy. Foresters I ii 104
Aquitaine (a French province) but our sun in A lasts longer. I would I were in A again— Becket, Pro. 328
'Eleanor of A, Eleanor of England! „ IV ii 241
To take my life might lose him A. „ IV ii 396
Of England? Say of A. I am no Queen of England. „ V i 100
I will go live and die in A. (repeat) „ V i 109, 143
Ha, you of A! O you of A! You were but A to Louis—no wife; You are only A to me— „ V i 114
I be wife to one That only wedded me for A? „ V i 121
And what would my own A say to that? „ V i 182
Arab I had it from an A soldan, who, „ IV ii 300
Araby free wing The world were all one A. Queen Mary III v 210
Aragon (a Spanish province) The voices of Castille and A, „ V i 43
O Saint of A, with that sweet worn smile „ V v 198
Arbour See Harbour
Archbishop (See also Chancellor-Archbishop, Dis-Archbishop) The false a fawning on him, „ I v 30
That when I was a held with me. „ IV ii 160
Chief prelate of our Church, a, „ IV iii 70 burnin' o' the owld a 'll burn the Pwoap „ IV iii 535
When I was made A, he approved me. „ V ii 85
Did ye not outlaw your a Robert, Harold I i 56
Ask our A. Stigand should know the purposes of Heaven. „ I i 63
A Robert! Robert the A! „ II ii 528
No, nor a, nor my confessor yet. Becket, Pro. 84
Why—look—is this a sleeve For an a? „ Pro. 251
A more awful one. Make me a! „ Pro. 289 Me A! God's favour and king's favour „ Pro. 293

Archbishop (continued) My liege, the good A is no more. Becket, Pro. 392
And this plebeian like to be A! „ Pro. 459
A? I can see further into a man „ Pro. 462 but the Chancellor's and the A's Together „ I i 23
Make an A of a soldier? „ I i 41
'My young A—thou wouldst make A stately A!' „ I i 65
And how been made A hadst thou told him, „ I i 121
The A! Becket. Ay! what wouldst thou, „ I i 185 Come, come, my lord A; „ I i 201 can I be under him As Chancellor? as A over him? „ I i 349 my Lord A, 'Tis known you are midwinter to all women, „ I ii 26
first a fled, And York lay barren for a hundred years. „ I iii 53
Is it thy will, My lord A, „ I iii 272
Loyally and with good faith, my lord A? „ I iii 279
My lord A, thou hast yet to seal. „ I iii 306
Say that a cleric murder'd an a, „ I iii 399
Hoped, were he chosen a, „ I iii 442
Now as A goest against the King; „ I iii 530 and no forsworn A Shall helm the Church. „ I iii 597
To see the proud A mutilated. „ I iii 614
Know that when made A I was freed, „ I iii 707
That none should wrong or injure your A. „ I iii 755
My lord A, wilt thou permit us— „ I iv 5
My lord A, may I come in with my poor friend, my dog? „ I iv 93
Is the A a thief who gives thee thy supper? „ I iv 115 if the barons and bishops hadn't been a-sitting on the A. „ I iv 128
Where is my lord A? „ I iv 184 for the A loves humbleness, my lord; „ I iv 208 the A washed my feet o' Tuesday. „ I iv 234 for the A likes the smell on it, „ I iv 240
I bring the taint on it along wi' me, for the A likes it, „ I iv 253 for to-night ye have saved our A! „ I iv 257
My friends, the A bids you good night. „ I iv 261 then to be made A and go against the King „ II i 237 nor our A Stagger on the slope decks „ II ii 105
Blessed be the Lord A, who hath withstood „ II ii 275
My dear Lord A, I learn but now „ II ii 426
God bless the great A! „ II ii 452 you had safelier have slain an a than a she-goat: „ III iii 68
What more, my lord A? What more, Thomas? „ III iii 217
But kinglike fought the proud a,— „ IV ii 438
Down with King Henry! up with the A! „ V i 261
I told him I was bound to see the A; „ V ii 100
she had seen the A once, So mild, so kind. „ V ii 119
No, daughter, you mistake our good A; „ V ii 138
How the good A reddens! „ V ii 298
To all the a's, bishops, prelates, barons, „ V ii 404
My vassals—and yet threaten your A In his own house. „ V ii 505
Here is the great A! He lives! he lives! „ V iii 29 my lord A, A score of knights all arm'd „ V iii 70
Where is the A, Thomas Becket? „ V iii 109 Strike our A in his own cathedral! „ V iii 180 the great A! Does he breathe? No? „ V iii 202 they plunder—yea, ev'n bishops, Yea, ev'n a's— Foresters IV 911
Archbishoprick as his successor in the a. Becket, Pro. 402
From out his grave to this a. „ Pro. 420 and chosen me For this thy great a, „ I i 91
Save from the throne of thine a? „ I i 119
I care not for thy new a. „ I i 217
Shall I forget my new a „ I i 220
It well befits thy new a To take the vagabond woman „ I i 225
Found two a's, London and York? „ I iii 50
King Would throne me in the great A: „ I iii 694 Archdeacon The Pope and that A Hildebrand His master, Harold III ii 144
Archiepiscopari but Nolo A, my good friend, Becket, Pro. 286
Archiepiscopally As magnificently and a as our Thomas would have done: „ III iii 87
A-reädin' arter she'd been a-r me the letter wi' 'er voice a-shaäkin', Prom. of May II 128 Argue and I can't a upon it; Queen Mary I i 55

Argued While this same marriage question was being a, Queen Mary II ii 38
Argument And thousand-times recurring a „ IV ii 93
Arise A against her and dethrone the Queen— „ I iii 91
And over thee the suns a and set, Harold II ii 433
A, Scatter thy people home, descend the hill, „ V i 9 and a again Disjointed : „ V i 297 a, And dash thyself against me that I may slay thee ! Becket IV ii 194
The traitor's dead, and will a no more. „ V iii 200
Ark over His gilded a of mummy-saints, Harold V i 304
Arm (s) her babe in a's Had felt the faltering Queen Mary II ii 81
Into the wide-spread a's of fealty, „ II ii 264 he was deliver'd To the secular a to burn ; „ IV ii 214 and you know me strong of a ; „ V ii 470
I felt his a's about me, and his lips— „ V v 99
I will see none except the priest. Your a. „ V v 197
Thou art my nun, thy cloister in mine a's. Harold I ii 63
I touch mine a's, My limbs— „ II ii 794 heads And a's are sliver'd off and splinter'd „ V i 540 Must I hack her a's off ? How shall I part them ? „ V ii 147 the a within Is Becket's, who hath beaten down Becket, Pro. 252
A soldier's, not a spiritual a. „ Pro. 256
To take the vagabond woman of the street Into thine a's ! „ I i 229
He fast ! is that an a of fast ? „ I iii 520
I ha' carried him ever so many miles in my a's, „ I iv 99
To the fond a's of her first love, Fitzurse, „ IV ii 334 Mine a is sever'd. I can no more— „ V iii 188 and open a's To him who gave it ; The Cup I i 84
Your a—a moment—It will pass. „ II 448
Give me your a. Lead me back again. Prom. of May III 473
What a shape ! what lovely a's ! Foresters I i 109 Take thou mine a. Who art thou, gallant knight ? „ II i 439 with this skill of fence ! let go mine a. „ II ii 39
Nor care to leap into each other's a's, „ III 7 and thine a's, and thy legs, and thy heart, and thy liver, „ IV 203
He loves the chivalry of his single a. „ IV 786
Arm (verb) And a and strike as with one hand, Queen Mary II ii 292
Good ! let them a. Becket V ii 571
Arm'd a thousand of them—more—All a, Queen Mary II i 108
And see the citizens a. Good day ; „ II ii 378
And a men Ever keep watch beside my chamber door, Harold II ii 244
There is an a man ever glides behind ! „ II ii 247 tell him we stand a on Senlac Hill, „ V i 59
Herbert, take out a score of a men To guard this bird of passage to her cage ; Becket I i 328
Why dost thou presume, A with thy cross, „ I iii 509
He rides abroad with a followers, „ V i 2
My lord, the city if full of a men. „ V ii 188
she told us of a men Here in the city. „ V ii 227
But these a men—will you not hide yourself ? „ V ii 247
Ay—but these a men—will you drown yourself? „ V ii 276
These a men in the city, these fierce faces— „ V iii 3
Those a men in the cloister. „ V iii 49 score of knights all a with swords and axes— „ V iii 71
Armful for who could embrace such an a of joy ? Foresters I ii 71
Arming the knights are a in the garden Beneath the sycamore. Becket V ii 569
Armour fair a likeness As your great King in a Queen Mary V v 29
Not heavier than thine a at Thoulouse ? Becket I i 26
He had been hurt, And bled beneath his a. Foresters II ii 5
Beetle's jewel a crack'd, „ II ii 160
I left mine horse and a with a Squire, „ IV 414
Armour'd Haled thy shore-swallow'd, a Normans up Harold II ii 57
Arms Ay, all in a. Queen Mary II ii 3
And I would have my warrior all in a. „ V v 34
Thou art in a against us. Harold IV ii 8
Our Church in a—the lamb the lion— „ V i 440
To a ! Becket. De Morville, I had thought so well of you ; Becket V ii 518
And apt at a and shrewd in policy. Foresters I ii 104 by force and a hath trespassed against the king „ I iii 62
Army Hold office in the household, fleet, forts, a ; Queen Mary III iii 73
I am foraging For Norway's a. Harold IV ii 6 in a city thro' which he past with the Roman a : The Cup I i 43
'Arold (Harold) 'A ! 'A ! 'A ! so they be. Prom. of May II 724
'A ! The feller's cleän daäzed, „ II 728
Mr. A, Miss. Dora. Below ? „ III 478
Pleäse, Mister 'A. „ III 700
Arouse Thou didst a the fierce Northumbrians ! Harold V i 347
Arraign Who dares a us, king, of such a plot ? „ IV i 168
Arrange A my dress—the gorgeous Indian shawl Queen Mary V ii 538
Arranged they are a here according to their first letters. Prom. of May III 36
Arrant Convicted by their conscience, a cowards, Queen Mary II ii 9
I know them a knaves in Nottingham. Foresters III 301 Arrogance I always hated boundless a. Becket V i 13 our John By his Norman a and dissoluteness, Foresters II i 85
Arrogant What, daunted by a garrulous, a girl ! „ IV 736
Arrow (See also Vane-arrow) see there the a's flying. Queen Mary II iv 51
Sanguelac ! Sanguelac ! the a ! the a ! Harold III i 402
It is the a of death in his own heart— „ III i 404
Sanguelac ! Sanguelac ! The a ! the a ! (repeat) „ V i 262, 672
The king's last word—' the a ! ' „ V i 266
What is that whirring sound ? Stigand. The Norman a ! „ V i 483
Our javelins Answer their a's. „ V i 522
The Norman sends his a's up to Heaven, „ V i 666 a which the Saints Sharpen'd and sent against him— „ V ii 167 Give him a bow and a's—follow—follow. The Cup I i 208 my good fellow, My a struck the stag. „ I ii 28
besides the wind Went with my a. „ I ii 32
Why so I said, my a. Well, to sleep. „ I ii 385
Whose a is the plague—whose quick flash „ II 291
A's whistle all about. Foresters II ii 165
Take thou my bow and a and compel them to pay toll. „ III 263
How much ? how much ? Speak, or the a flies. „ III 278
By a and gray goosewing, „ III 427
By a and by bowstring, „ III 442 like a deer that hath escaped thine a ! „ IV 61
What deer when I have mark'd him ever yet Escaped mine a ? „ IV 64
Give me my bow and a's. „ IV 603
Each of us has an a on the cord ; „ IV 607
I am here, my a on the cord. „ IV 732
Will hear our a's whizzing overhead, „ IV 1090
Arrow-points Prick 'em in the calves with the a-p— „ IV 561
Art illogically, out of passion, without a— Becket, Pro. 337 with some sense of a, to live By brush and pencil. Prom. of May I 497
Follow my a among these quiet fields, „ I 743
Artemis (a goddess) himself an adorer of our great goddess, A, . The Cup I i 39 take this holy cup To lodge it in the shrine of A. „ I ii 435
To lodge this cup Within the holy shrine of A, „ I iii 53
A, A, hear us, O Mother, hear us, and bless us ! „ II 1
A, thou that art life to the wind, „ II 3 this oracle of great A Has no more power „ II 33 Great A ! O Camma, can it be well, „ II 80
A, A, hear him, Ionian A ! „ II 276
A, A, hear her, Ephesian A ! „ II 310
A, A, hear me, Galatian A ! „ II 312
A, A, hear her, Galatian A ! „ II 316
These are strange words to speak to A. „ II 327 many-breasted mother A Emboss'd upon it. „ II 340
Our A Has vanquish'd their Diana. „ II 456
Arternoon (afternoon) holler läne be hallus sa dark i' the a, Prom. of May III 93
Arthur (King) The veriest Galahad of old A's hall. Becket, Pro. 129
Article Philip by these a's is bound From stirring hand or foot Queen Mary III iii 59
In every a of the Catholic faith, „ IV iii 230
Artillery See Real Hard Tillery
Artist (See also Hartist) Eva told me that he was taking her likeness. He's an a. Prom. of May I 128
Asaph (the Levite, musician to King David) sing, A ! clash The cymbal, Heman ! Harold III i 187
Ascended He is not yet a to the Father. Becket V iii 150
A-scrattin (scratching) then a-s upon a bit o' paäper, then a-lookin' agean ; Prom. of May I 202

Ash (cinder) (See also Ashes) fain had calcined all Northumbria To one black a, Harold III i 57
Ash (tree) (See also Ashtree) And wattled thick with a and willow-wands ; „ v i 190
This is the hottest of it : hold, a ! hold, willow ! „ v i 628
I remember, Scarlet hacking down A hollow a, Foresters II ii 96
A-shaäkin' (shaking) arter she'd been a-reädin' me the letter wi' 'er voice a-s, Prom. of May II 129
Ashamed (See also Shaämed) I am a that I am Bagenhall, English. Queen Mary III iii 248
Thou mak'st me much a That I was for a moment wroth at thee. „ III iv 305
Till I myself was half a for him. „ IV ii 171
I am a to lift my eyes to heaven, „ IV iii 127 you yourself are a of me, and I do not wonder at it. Prom. of May III 269
I fall before thee, clasp Thy knees. I am a. Foresters II i 600 Ashes (See also Ash) those a Which all must be. The Cup I iii 134 to such a heat As burns a wrong to a, Foresters II i 700
Ashridge means to counsel your withdrawing to A, Queen Mary I iv 226 Permission of her Highness to retire To A, „ I iv 237
Ashtree (See also Ash, Eshtree) always told Father that the huge old a there would cause an accident some day ; Prom. of May III 244
A-silking (dressing in silk) master been a-glorifying and a-velveting and a-s himself, The Falcon 99
A-sitting if the barons and bishops hadn't been a-s on the Archbishop. Becket I iv 128
Didn't I spy 'em a-s i' the woodbine harbour togither? Prom. of May I 124
Ask (See also Ax) Why do you a? you know it. Queen Mary I iv 34
A thou Lord Leofwin what he thinks of this ! Harold I i 40
A it of King Edward ! „ I i 78
a of me Who had my pallium from an Antipope ! „ I i 81
A our broad Earl. „ I i 90
I a thee, wilt thou help me to the crown ? „ II ii 627
A me for this at thy most need, son Harold, „ III i 14
A it of Aldred. „ III i 225
A me not, Lest I should yield it, „ III ii 46
I a again When had the Lateran and the Holy Father „ V i 16
I have a power—would Harold a me for it— „ V i 451
I a no more. Heaven bless thee ! hence ! Becket I i 320
That which you a me Till better times. „ III i 6
What did you a her ? „ III i 79
Not I, the Pope. A him for absolution. „ V ii 379
I a no leave of king, or mortal man, „ V ii 458
You will not easily make me credit that. Phœbe. A her. The Cup II 26
His falcon, and I come to a for his falcon, The Falcon 220
How can I a for his falcon ? „ 234
Yet if I a, He loves me, and he knows I know „ 244
How can I, dare I, a him for his falcon ? „ 264
Yet I come To a a gift. „ 299 for the gift I a for, to my mind „ 778 love for my dying boy, Moves me to a it of you. „ 788
Will pardon me for asking what I a. „ 805 Might I a your name ? Harold. Harold. Prom. of May II 393
Go back to him and a his forgiveness before he dies.— „ III 401
I a you all, did none of you love young Walter Lea ? Foresters I i 54 will you answer me a question ? Marian. Any that you may a. „ I ii 137
A question that every true man a's of a woman once in his life. „ I ii 139 we be beggars, we come to a o' you. We ha' nothing. „ III 190 bond he hath Of the Abbot—wilt thou a him for it ? „ IV 85
I fear to a who left us even now. „ IV 808
Ask'd (See also Axed, Haxed) And by their answers to the question a, Queen Mary II ii 153 a him, childlike : 'Will you take it off „ III i 401 they clapt their hands Upon their swords when a ; „ V i 174
when he a for England ? Harold IV iii 110
Was there not someone a me for forgiveness ? „ V ii 82
I a the way. Rosamund. I think so. Becket II i 62
I but a her One question, and she primm'd her mouth „ III i 73 a our mother if I could keep a quiet tongue i' my head, „ III i 118
I a A ribbon from her hair to bind it with ; The Falcon 358 you a to eat with me. „ 868
Ask'd (continued) And a me what I could not answer. Prom. of May I 555 and I a her once more to help me, „ III 387
I would ha' given my whole body to the King had he a for it, Foresters II i 306
criedst 'I yield' almost before the thing was a, „ II i 567
Asking Have for thine a aught that I can give, Queen Mary II iii 7
Will pardon me for a what I ask. The Falcon 805 a his consent—you wish'd me— Prom. of May III 493 Asleep wholesome medicine here Puts that belief a. Becket IV ii 52 Shall I find you a when I come back ? „ IV ii 64 with as little pain As it is to fall a. Prom. of May II 342
The sick lady here might have been a. „ III 344
Some hunter in day-dreams or half a Foresters IV 1088
A-spitting you'll set the Divil's Tower a-s, Queen Mary II iii 103
A-spreading and a-s to catch her eye for a dozen year, The Falcon 100
Ass with an a's, not a horse's head, Queen Mary I iii 169
Sir Thomas Stafford, a bull-headed a, „ V i 284
Assail And might a you passing through the street, „ IV ii 34
To a our Holy Mother lest she brood Too long Becket V ii 251
Assail'd if e'er thou be a In any of our forests, Foresters IV 423 woman's fealty when A by Craft and Love. The Cup I i 177
Assassin even now You seem the least a of the four. Becket V ii 522
Assaulted my house hath been a, Queen Mary I v 147
Assembled And Commons here in Parliament a, „ III iii 114
Assembly But there the great A choose their king, Harold II ii 126 Assent This marriage had the a of those Queen Mary II ii 206
Thine is a half voice and a lean a. „ III i 311
That were but as the shadow of an a. Becket I iii 195 Assertion See Self-assertion Assessor But his a in the throne, Queen Mary I v 501 Assize See 'Size
Assure I do a you, that it must be look'd to : „ V i 2
I do most earnestly a you that Your likeness— Prom. of May II 563 Assured Art thou a By this, that Harold loves but Edith ? Harold I ii 209
A-steälin' cotched 'im once a-s coäls an' I sent fur 'im, Prom. of May I 412
Astride with the Holy Father a of it down upon his own head. Becket III iii 77
Asunder here I gash myself a from the King, „ I i 175
A-supping be we not a-s with the head of the family ? „ I iv 178
They be dead while I be a-s. „ I iv 247
A-sweäring I be afeard I shall set him a-s like onything. Prom. of May III 359
At (hat) we fun' 'im out a-walkin' i' West Field wi' a white 'a, „ III 135
A-talkin' What feller wur it as 'a' been a-t fur haäfe an hour wi' my Dora ? „ II 576
A-telling Robin the Earl, is always a-t us that every man, Foresters I i 95
Atheling (a Saxon prince) The A is nearest to the throne. Harold II ii 569
So that ye will not crown the A ? „ II ii 598
Who inherits ? Edgar the A ? „ III i 240
Athelstan (King of the English) and tell me tales Of Alfred and of A the Great „ IV i 74
Or A, or English Ironside Who fought with Knut, „ IV iii 53
A-top and your worship a-t of it. Queen Mary II i 66
A-tryin' if she weänt listen to me when I be a-t to säave 'er— Prom. of May II 694
Attainder Ye have reversed the a laid on us Queen Mary III iii 194
Attainted Thou hast disgraced me and a me, „ III ii 54
Thou, Robin Hood Earl of Huntingdon, art a Foresters I iii 57
Attend so you well a to the king's moves, Queen Mary I iii 152
I a the Queen To crave most humble pardon— „ III iv 431
You should a the office, give them heart. Becket V ii 598
He said, 'A the office.' Becket. A the office ? „ V ii 607
You had better a to your hayfield. Prom. of May II 122
I am sorry Mr. Steer still continues too unwell to a to you, „ III 22
'I am sorry that we could not a your Grace's party on the 10th !' „ III 313
Attendance must we dance a all the day ? Foresters IV 551
Attending I've been a on his deathbed and his burial. Prom. of May II 4
Attraction fine a's and repulses, the delicacies, Becket, Pro. 499 Audience Your a is concluded, sir. Queen Mary I v 337
Aught (See also Ought, Owt) Have you a else to tell me ? „ V iii 100
Augustine See Austin
Aureole Sees ever such an a round the Queen, „ V ii 413

Austin (Augustine, first Archbishop of Canterbury) Gregory bid St. A here Found two archbishopricks, Becket I iii 48 bravest in our roll of Primates down From A— „ V ii 59
Author This a, with his charm of simple style Prom. of May I 223 Authority Under and with your Majesties' authorities, Queen Mary III iii 138 we by that a Apostolic Given unto us, „ III iii 210
And under his a—I depart. Becket I iii 728
Not punish of your own a? „ V ii 450
I would stand Clothed with the full a of Rome, „ V ii 493
Automatic all but proving man An a series of sensations, Prom. of May I 226
Autumn (adj.) Sick as an a swallow for a voyage, Harold I i 101
Autumn (s) Harvestless a's, horrible agues, plague— Queen Mary V i 98
Avarice shakes at mortal kings—her vacillation, A, craft— Becket II ii 407
A-velveting (dressing in velvet) master been a-glorifying and a-v and a-silking himself, The Falcon 98
Avenge Who will a me of mine enemies— Queen Mary III ii 166
Avenged that blighted vow Which God a to-day. Harold V ii 157 Avenue —so many alleys, crossings, Paths, a's— Becket IV ii 7
A-vire (on fire) and a set un all a-v, so 'z the tongue Queen Mary IV iii 518
Avoid I may as well a him. Prom. of May II 619
Avouch I dare a you'd stand up for yourself, Queen Mary II ii 360 Await My lord! the Duke a's thee at the banquet. Harold II ii 805 Awaked (See also Half-waked) He hath a! he hath a! Queen Mary III ii 156
Awaken Love will hover round the flowers when they first a; „ V ii 371
Awaken'd It seems her Highness hath a. „ V ii 522
Awakening See New-wakening
A-walkin' we fun' 'im out a-w i' West Field wi' a white 'at, Prom. of May III 134
Award Thou shalt receive the penitent thief's a, Queen Mary IV iii 87
Awe —they cannot speak—for a; Harold I i 33
Awful A more a one. Make me archbishop! Becket, Pro. 288
Awry Nothing; but 'come, come, come,' and all a, Queen Mary V v 16
Ax (ask) Shall I foller 'er and a 'er to maäke it up? Prom. of May II 131
Axe (See also Battle-axe, War-axe) there is a and cord. Queen Mary III iv 47
How oft the falling a, that never fell, „ III v 134
I have a mind to brain thee with mine a. Harold II i 74
Our a's lighten with a single flash „ V i 537 Against the shifting blaze of Harold's a! „ V i 587 score of knights all arm'd with swords and a's— Becket V iii 72 Axed (asked) when I a 'im why, he telled me 'at sweet'arts Prom. of May II 155 an' a ma to be 'is little sweet'art, „ III 120 Axle rear and run And break both neck and a. Harold I i 374

B

Baaby (baby) to get her b born; Queen Mary IV iii 524
Baaed black sheep b to the miller's ewe-lamb, Becket I iv 162
Baäker (baker) and B, thaw I sticks to hoäm-maäde— Prom. of May I 448
Baal The priests of B tread her underfoot— Becket III iii 179
Babble (See also Bird-babble) B in bower Under the rose! „ III i 96
Thou art cold thyself To b of their coldness. Queen Mary V ii 292
And doth so bound and b all the way „ V v 86 convene This conference but to b of our wives? Becket II ii 90
Not while the rivulet b's by the door, Foresters I ii 321
Babbled I follow'd You and the child: he b all the way. Becket IV ii 140
Babe but your king stole her a b from Scotland Queen Mary I v 291 her b in arms Had felt the faltering „ II ii 80
The Queen hath felt the motion of her b! „ III ii 214 baptized in fire, the b Might be in fire for ever. „ V iv 23
The b enwomb'd and at the breast is cursed, Harold V i 65
B's, orphans, mothers! is that royal, Sire? Becket II i 80
Out of the mouths of b's and sucklings, praise! „ II ii 278
Will greet us as our b's in Paradise. „ V ii 225
I had once A boy who died a b; The Cup I ii 149 be curious About the welfare of their b's, „ I ii 362
O Thou that slayest the b within the womb „ II 279
Babe-breasting Age, orphans, and b-b mothers— Becket II i 72 Baby (adj.) some waxen doll Thy b eyes have rested on, belike; Queen Mary I v 9 whose b eye Saw them sufficient. Harold III ii 65
Baby (s) (See also Baaby) strike Their hearts, and hold their babies up to it. „ I i 35
That's all nonsense, you know, such a b as you are. Prom. of May I 785
King, thy god-father, gave it thee when a b. Foresters I i 286
Babyhood Was she not betroth'd in her b to the Great Emperor Queen Mary I i 118
Baby-king Stirring her b-k against me? ha! Becket V i 106
Bacchatur Hostis per Angliae Plagas b; Harold V i 511 Bachelor See Batchelor
Back bald o' the b, and bursten at the toes, Queen Mary I i 52 show'd his b Before I read his face. „ II i 132 scorn'd the man, Or lash'd his rascal b, Harold II ii 507
but the b methought was Rosamund— Becket, Pro. 470 be bound Behind the b like laymen-criminals? „ I iii 96 so dusted his b with the meal in his sack, „ I iv 174 wi' bare b's, but the b's 'ud ha' countenanced one another, „ III i 147 Can't you hear that you are saying behind his b The Falcon 107 nor behind your lordship's b, „ 113
When I vaulted on his b, Foresters II ii 150 which longs to break itself across their b's. „ IV 918 Backbone Stiff as the very b of heresy. Queen Mary I v 44
Back'd B by the power of France, and landing here, „ III i 447
Back'd See Broken-back'd
Backward courtesy which hath less loyalty in it than the b scrape of the clown's heel— Becket III iii 143
my child is so young, So b too; „ IV ii 85
Backwardness Hath rated for some b Queen Mary IV iii 307
Backward-working if his b-w alchemy Should change Foresters IV 38
Bad (adj.) I will take Such order with all b, heretical books Queen Mary IV i 95
Eh, my rheumatizy be that b howiver be I to win to the burnin'. „ IV iii 474
Eh, but I do know ez Pwoaps and vires be b things; „ IV iii 501
And love to hear b tales of Philip. „ V ii 429 for the people do say that his is b beyond all reckoning, Becket III i 175
There are good fairies and b fairies, and sometimes she cries, and can't sleep sound o' nights because of the b fairies. „ IV i 29
Very b. Somebody struck him. „ IV i 50 and they was all a-crying out at the b times, Prom. of May I 139
But I taäkes 'im fur a b lot and a burn fool, „ I 153
Thruf slush an' squad When roäds was b, „ II 310
And what harm will that do you, so that you do not copy his b manners? „ III 361
It be one o' my b daäys. „ III 465
You heard him say it was one of his b days. „ III 469
It is almost the last of my b days, I think. „ III 471
We be fairies of the wood, We be neither b nor good. Foresters II ii 119
Robin, I do, but I have a b wife. „ III 70 they put it upon me because I have a b wife. „ III 437 Bad-bade (verb) Bad you so softly with your heretics here, Queen Mary I v 392
Bad me to tell you that she counts on you „ II ii 104
Cranmer. Fly would he not, when all men bad him fly. „ III i 171
I bad my chaplain, Castro, preach Against these burnings. „ III vi 73
And bad me have good courage; „ IV ii 8 bad the king Who doted on him, Harold IV i 101
Edward bad me spare thee. „ IV ii 11
And bad me seal against the rights of the Church, Becket I iii 312
I bad them clear A royal pleasaunce for thee, „ II i 127
Thy true King bad thee be A fisher of men; „ II ii 285 bad me whatever I saw not to speak one word, „ III i 132
You bad me take revenge another way— „ IV ii 152 life which Henry bad me Guard from the stroke „ IV ii 269
He bad me put her into a nunnery— „ V i 214
Bade me beware Of John: Foresters I ii 255
Badger highback'd polecat, the wild boar, The burrowing b— „ I iii 121
Baffle We'll b them, I warrant. Becket I i 299
Bag We'll dust him from a b of Spanish gold. Queen Mary I v 421
Bagenhall (See also Ralph, Ralph Bagenhall) B, I see The Tudor green and white. „ III i 179

Bagenhall (continued) Worth seeing, B! Queen Mary III iii 188
I am ashamed that I am B, English. „ III i 248
For freeing my friend B from the Tower; „ III vi 7
Baited summon'd hither But to be mock'd and b. „ III iv 270
Bake To sing, love, marry, churn, brew, b, and die, „ III v 111
I can b and I can brew, Foresters I i 214
Baker (See also Bäaker) ah! she said, The b made him. Queen Mary I v 56
Balance But—if let be—b and compromise; „ V v 223
Bald (See also Egg-bald) b o' the back, and bursten at the toes, „ I i 52
And this b priest, and she that hates me, „ I iv 282 it seems that we shall fly These b, blank fields, „ III v 252
Baldness fierce old Gardiner—his big b, „ I iv 264
Bale (Bishop of Ossory) Poinet, Barlow, B, Scory, Coverdale; „ I ii 7
Baleful My star! a b one. „ I v 412
Balk come to London Bridge; But how to cross it b's me. „ II iii 10 power to b Thy puissance in this fight Harold V i 118 Take it not that way—b not the Pope's will. Becket I iii 242
Balk'd The jealous fool b of her will— „ IV ii 423 Ball I have lost the boy who play'd at b with me, Harold IV iii 22 same head they would have play'd at b with The Cup II 127
Is but a b chuck'd between France and Spain, Queen Mary III i 110
Here is a b, my boy, thy world, Becket II i 244
Geoffrey have not tost His b into the brook! „ II i 321
I saw the b you lost in the fork of the great willow over the brook. „ IV ii 57
you bid me go, and I'll have my b anyhow. „ IV ii 63
Ballad But there I am sure the b is at fault. Foresters I i 122
Balm and science now could drug and b us Prom. of May II 340
We know all b's and simples of the field Foresters II ii 11
Balmy Thou whose breath Is b wind to robe our hills with grass, The Cup II 265
Or in the b breathings of the night, Foresters IV 1068
Balsam Heart-comfort and a b to thy blood? Becket I i 14
Ban hurl the dread b of the Church on those „ III iii 210 Band (See also Swaddling-band) who went with your train b's To fight with Wyatt, Queen Mary II ii 27 who be those three yonder with bows?—not of my b— Foresters II i 172 can I trust myself With your brave b? „ II i 704
She is my queen and thine, The mistress of the b. „ II ii 42
You caught a lonely woodman of our b, „ III 360
To break our b and scatter us to the winds. „ III 453
For those of thine own b who would betray thee? „ IV 832
I never found one traitor in my b. „ IV 836
Bandit Before these b's brake into your presence. Becket V ii 556
I thank you, noble sir, the very blossom Of b's. Foresters III 248 they that suffer by him call the blossom Of b's. „ IV 373
Bandy B their own rude jests with them, The Cup I ii 360
Bang Anvil on hammer b— Harold IV iii 161
Banish'd b us to Woodstock, and the fields. Queen Mary III v 3
From lack of Tostig—thou hast b him. Harold III i 168
That brother whom I love beyond the rest, My b Tostig. „ III i 296
For when your people b Tostig hence, „ IV i 97
Robin Hood Earl of Huntingdon is outlawed and b. Foresters I iii 68
Art thou that b lord of Huntingdon, „ V 139
Banishment In quiet—home your b countryman. Queen Mary III ii 31
Thus, after twenty years of b, „ III ii 46
After my twenty years of b, „ V ii 69
Our sister hates us for his b; Harold III i 78 sanction your decree Of Tostig's b, „ IV i 104
So thou be chasten'd by thy b, „ IV ii 50 on a Tuesday pass'd From England into bitter b; Becket V ii 289 Bank parch'd b's rolling incense, as of old, Queen Mary I v 91
My b Of wild-flowers. At thy feet! Becket II i 125
Past the b Of foxglove, then to left by that one yew. Foresters IV 973
Bank'd-up like A b-u fire that flashes out again The Cup I ii 166
Banner b, Blaze like a night of fatal stars Harold IV i 250
The king of England stands between his b's. „ V i 487
He stands between the b's with the dead „ V i 656
And join'd my b in the Holy Land, Foresters IV 1000
Banns When shall your parish-parson bawl our b Prom. of May I 686

Banquet (See also Marriage-banquet) murmurs of their b clank The shackles Harold II ii 408
My lord! the Duke awaits thee at the b. „ II ii 806
If there be those At b in this hall, „ IV iii 93 Break the b up . . . Ye four! „ IV iii 231 who never saw nor dreamed of such a b: Becket I iv 84
I must leave you to your b. „ I iv 151
we came on to the b, from whence there puffed „ III iii 114 prays your ladyship and your ladyship's father to be present at his b to-night. Foresters I i 300
let us be merry to-night at the b. „ I i 344
Banquet-board To chain the free guest to the b-b; Harold II ii 193 Baptized being but b in fire, the babe Might be in fire Queen Mary V iv 23 that thus b in blood Grew ever high and higher, Harold III i 146 and on a Tuesday B; Becket V ii 286 Bar (s) when he springs And maims himself against the b's, Queen Mary V v 67 feud between our houses is the b I cannot cross; The Falcon 254 Bar (verb) leagued together To b me from my Philip. Queen Mary I iv 140 jail you from free life, b you from death. „ III v 172
B the bird From following the fled summer— Becket I i 257 wouldst b me fro' the milk o' my cow, Foresters II i 355
Barabbas Still choose B rather than the Christ, Becket II ii 390
Barbarism Deigns to look in upon our b's. The Cup II 337
Barbarossa (Surname of Frederick I., Emperor) This B butts him from his chair, Becket, Pro. 217
Crow over B—at last tongue-free. „ II ii 50
Barbarous See Semi-barbarous
Barber The common b clipt your hair, Queen Mary IV ii 131 Bare (adj.) Nay, for b shame of inconsistency, „ I ii 39 and flying to our side Left his all b, „ II iii 5 Take thou mine answer in b commonplace— Becket, Pro. 282 wi' b backs, but the backs 'ud ha' countenanced one another, „ III i 146 how b and spare I be on the rib: Foresters I i 50
A thousand winters Will strip you b as death, „ IV 1056
Bare (verb) he hath risen again—he b's his face— Harold V i 557
He bows, he b's his head, he is coming hither. Becket III iii 34
Barefoot all boots were ever made Since man went b. Queen Mary III v 198 crawl over knife-edge flint B, Becket II i 273 Barely Where there is b room to shift thy side, Harold II ii 441
Barer throat of mine, B than I should wish a man to see it,— Queen Mary V ii 462 Bargain mine hour! I b for mine hour. Becket II i 212
Bargainer Lady, I find you a shrewd b. The Falcon 757
But you will find me a shrewd b still. „ 774
Barge all lost, all yielded! A b, a b! Queen Mary II iv 72
We had your royal b, and that same chair, „ III ii 6
Bark (of a tree) What breadth, height, strength—torrents of eddying b! Foresters III 95
Bark (verb) And when to b and how. The Cup I ii 114
Bark (vessel) winds than that which crack'd Thy b at Ponthieu,— Harold II ii 200
Bark'd I have but b my hands. „ II i 5
B out at me such monstrous charges, Becket IV ii 342
Barlow (Bishop) Poinet, B, Bale, Scory, Coverdale; Queen Mary I ii 6
Barn broken down our b's, Wasted our diocese, Becket V ii 430
To the bleak church doors, like kites upon a b. Harold IV iii 38
Be thou a-gawin' to the long b? Prom. of May I 2 and 'e telled all on us to be i' the long b by one o'clock, „ I 8
Why coom awaäy, then, to the long b. „ I 36
the farming men 'ull hev their dinner i' the long b, „ I 167
They ha' broached a barrel of aäle i' the long b, „ I 427 look for 'im, Eva, and bring 'im to the b. „ I 438
I've hed the long b cleared out of all the machines, „ I 451 and make them happy in the long b, „ I 792 Baron But that my b's might believe thy word, Harold II ii 725 widow And orphan child, whom one of thy wild b's— Becket, Pro. 189
How should a b love a beggar on horseback, „ Pro. 443
Laics and b's, thro' The random gifts of careless kings, „ I i 157
And many a b holds along with me— „ I ii 52
Where I shall meet the B's and my King. „ I ii 84
Save the King's honour here before his b's. „ I iii 188
B's and bishops of our realm of England, „ I iii 336
When every b ground his blade in blood; „ I iii 349

Baron (continued) Yea, heard the churl against the b— Becket I iii 365
Did not your b's draw their swords against me? „ I iii 501
The King and all his b's—— Becket. Judgment! B's! „ I iii 683 B's of England and of Normandy, „ I iii 741 Ay, my lord, and divers other earls and b's. „ I iv 59 these earls and b's, that clung to me, „ I iv 66
They shall henceforward be my earls and b's— „ I iv 87
if the b's and bishops hadn't been a-sitting on the Archbishop. „ I iv 127 Summon your b's; take their counsel: „ V i 74 for he did his best To break the b's, „ V i 235
To all the archbishops, bishops, prelates, b's, „ V ii 405
So that our B's bring his baseness under. Foresters I ii 117 horn, that scares The B at the torture of his churls, „ III 106 these proud priests, and these B's, Devils, „ III 126
Baronage confirm it now Before our gather'd Norman b, Harold II ii 695
A bulwark against Throne and B. Becket I i 17
Baron-brute These be those b-b's That havock'd all the land „ I i 240
Baronial Among my thralls in my b hall Foresters II i 61
Barony The Church should hold her baronies of me, Becket Pro. 24
In fee and b of the King, „ I iii 675
I hold Nothing in fee and b of the King. „ I iii 678
Barr'd Mine enemies b all access to the boy. „ V ii 451
Not if I b thee up in thy chamber, Foresters I i 314
Barrel They ha' broached a b of aäle i' the long barn, Prom. of May 426
Barren 'The King hath wearied of his b bride.' Queen Mary III vi 140
Is God's best dew upon the b field. „ V i 102
Then for thy b jest Take thou mine answer in bare common-place— Becket, Pro. 281
And York lay b for a hundred years. „ I iii 54 like a b shore That grew salt weeds, The Cup II 231
Barricade Their horse are thronging to the b's; Harold V i 547
They thunder again upon the b's. „ V i 626
Barrin' and b the wet, Hodge 'ud ha' been a-harrowin' Queen Mary IV iii 491
b the wind, Dumble wur blow'd wi' the wind, „ IV iii 493
Barring (See also Barrin') But by all Saints— Leofwin. B the Norman! Harold V i 225 Barton, Elizabeth See Joan of Kent
Base were all as b as—who shall I say—Fitzurse and his following— Becket III iii 307
His own true people cast him from their doors Like a b coin. The Cup I ii 353
Baseness and great b loathed as an exception: Becket III iii 304
Would bow to such a b as would make me „ IV ii 234
So that our Barons bring his b under. Foresters I ii 117 hands Of these same Moors thro' nature's b, „ II i 564
That b which for fear or monies, „ II i 706
Baser lower and b Than even I can well believe you. Prom. of May III 814
Bashful eyes So b that you look'd no higher? Queen Mary III i 65
Our b Legate, saw'st not how he flush'd? „ III iv 350
Was yet too b to return for it? The Falcon 540
Basket See Lobster-basket
Basle Zurich, Worms, Geneva, B— Queen Mary I ii 3
Bass This burst and b of loyal harmony, „ II ii 285
Bastard (adj.) then the b sprout, My sister, is far fairer than myself. Queen Mary I v 71
A b hate born of a former love. Becket II i 174
Bastard (s) It means a b. Queen Mary I i 13
Why, didn't the Parliament make her a b? „ I i 16
Then which is the b? „ I i 22
they be both b's by Act of Parliament and Council. „ I i 24 Parliament can make every true-born man of us a b. Old Nokes, can't it make thee a b? „ I i 28 and so they can't make me a b. „ I i 47
But if Parliament can make the Queen a b, „ I i 49
Juggler and b—b—he hates that most—William the tanner's b! Harold II ii 773
And given thy realm of England to the b. „ III ii 155
Then for the b Six feet and nothing more! „ IV iii 115
The tanner's b! „ IV iii 173 hath borne at times A b false as William. „ V i 176
Ay, my girl, no tricks in him—No b he! „ V i 403
We can't all of us be as pretty as thou art—little b Becket IV i 39
thereupon he call'd my children b's. „ IV ii 45
Bastard (s) (continued) Then is thy pretty boy a b? Becket IV ii 113
This in thy bosom, fool, And after in thy b's! „ IV ii 258
Bastardise And done your best to b our Queen, Queen Mary III iv 238
Bastard-making that was afore b-m began. „ I i 44
Bastardy What are you cackling of b under „ I i 59
Bat What's here? a dead b in the fairy ring— Foresters II ii 93 a b flew out at him In the clear noon, „ II ii 96
Crush'd my b whereon I flew! „ II ii 146
Batchelor And out upon all simple b's! „ IV 52
Bathe To b this sacred pavement with my blood. Becket V iii 131
Battel we should have better b's at home. Foresters I i 58
Batter Began to b at your English Church, Queen Mary III iv 186
Battering B the doors, and breaking thro' the walls? Becket V ii 626 Battle (See also Mid-battle) or wave And wind at their old b: Queen Mary I v 357
Hark, there is b at the palace gates, „ II iv 47
I myself Will down into the b and there bide „ II iv 85 and hurl'd our b's Into the heart of Spain; „ III i 108 many English in your ranks To help your b. „ V i 112
I had heard of him in b over seas, „ V v 33
For thou hast done the b in my cause; Harold II ii 555
To do the b for me here in England, „ IV ii 70 than his league With Norway, and this b. „ IV iii 89 and had my constant 'No' For all but instant b. „ V i 7
After the b—after the b. Go. „ V i 362
Whose life was all one b, incarnate war, „ V i 397
Waste not thy might before the b! „ V i 416
I will bear thy blessing into the b „ V i 435 until I find Which way the b balance. „ V i 461
O God of b's, make their wall of shields „ V i 478
Look out upon the b—is he safe? (repeat) „ V i 484, 654
O God of b's, make his battle-axe keen „ V i 562
O God of b's, they are three to one, „ V i 575
Look out upon the b! „ V i 624 build a church to God Here on the hill of b; „ V ii 138
Since I knew b, And that was from my boyhood, „ V ii 174
Lest there be b between Heaven and Earth, Becket I iii 226
The glory and grief of b won or lost The Cup I ii 161 a rumour then That you were kill'd in b. The Falcon 382 having his right hand Lamed in the b, „ 445
The story of your b and your wound. „ 594 in this same b We had been beaten— „ 602
I tear away The leaves were darken'd by the b— „ 913
if he had not gone to fight the king's b's, Foresters I i 57
I saved his life once in b. „ I i 273
Battle-axe they With their good b's will do you right Queen Mary II iv 66
And strike among them with thy b-a— Harold I ii 89
b-a Was out of place; it should have been the bow.— „ I ii 105
With nothing but my b-a and him To spatter his brains! „ II ii 779 were man's to have held The b-a by thee! „ IV iii 13 and our b-a's broken The Raven's wing, „ IV iii 64
we must use our b-a to-day. „ V i 205
My b-a against your voices. „ V i 265
And Loathing wield a Saxon b-a— „ V i 414
Cowl, helm; and crozier, b-a. „ V i 444 make his b-a keen As thine own sharp-dividing justice, „ V i 563 Battled I would have b for it to the death. Foresters II i 664 Battle-field and seen the red of the b-f, The Falcon 549
Battle-hymns ghostly horn Blowing continually, and faint b-h, Harold III i 373
Battlement flung them streaming over the b's „ II ii 391
Bawl When shall your parish-parson b our banns Prom. of May I 685
Bay (arm of the sea) b's And havens filling with a blissful sea. The Cup II 235
And over this Robin Hood's b! Foresters II ii 177 Bay (verb) Tho' all the world should b like winter wolves. Queen Mary II ii 361 how those Roman wolfdogs howl and b him! „ IV iii 355 Bayeux I saw him coming with his brother Odo The B bishop, Harold II ii 348 from Guy To mine own hearth at B, „ II ii 43 Beach drave and crack'd His boat on Ponthieu b; „ II ii 36
They stood on Dover b to murder me, Becket V ii 436
A child's sand-castle on the b The Cup I ii 254
And the great breaker beats upon the b! Foresters I ii 324

Bead Counts his old b's, and hath forgotten thee. Harold II ii 447 they are but blue b's—my Piero, The Falcon 48
Beak His buzzard b and deep-incavern'd eyes Queen Mary I iv 266
Beam (See also Side-beam) so the b's of both may shine upon us, „ III iv 20
My grayhounds fleeting like a b of light, Harold I ii 129
That b of dawn upon the opening flower, Foresters IV 3
Beaming his fine-cut face bowing and b with all that courtesy Becket III iii 141
Her bright face b starlike down upon me Prom. of May II 248
Bear (s) Like the rough b beneath the tree, Harold I i 327
No, my b, thou hast not. Becket, Pro. 497
O drunken ribaldry! Out, beast! out, b! „ I i 231
Dares the b slouch into the lion's den? „ IV ii 282
Bear (verb) (See also Abear) You needs must b it hardly. Queen Mary I iv 36
B witness, Renard, that I live and die „ II iv 41
The tree that only b's dead fruit is gone. „ III i 19
That b's not its own apples. „ III i 23
How should he b a bridegroom out of Spain? „ III iii 25
How should he b the headship of the Pope? „ III iii 29
I think the Queen may never b a child; „ III v 231
Lose the sweet hope that I may b a prince. „ III vi 201
I could mould myself To b your going better; „ III vi 236 yet what hatred Christian men B to each other, „ IV iii 184 that I b it Without more ruffling. „ V iii 3
And Tostig is not stout enough to b it. Harold I i 402
And thy love? Aldwyth. As much as thou canst b. „ I i 484
I can b all, And not be giddy. „ I i 485
Let all men b witness of our bond! „ II ii 698
That mortal men should b their earthly heats „ V i 283
I will b thy blessing into the battle „ V i 434
B me true witness—only for this once— „ V ii 115
My punishment is more than I can b. „ V ii 202
Together more than mortal man can b. Becket I i 24
Permit me, my good lord, to b it for thee, „ I iii 490
So now he b's the standard of the angels. „ I iii 496
I am the Dean of the province: let me b it. „ I iii 499
Wherefore dost thou presume to b thy cross, „ I iii 504
Let York b his to mate with Canterbury. „ I iii 512
But b with Walter Map, „ II ii 307
—The Cross!—who b's my Cross before me? „ V ii 610
Would that I could b thy cross indeed! „ V ii 614
It b's an evil savour among women. The Cup I iii 86 body of that dead traitor Sinnatus. B him away. „ I iii 181 the love I b to thee Glow thro' thy veins? „ II 426
The love I b to thee Glows thro' my veins „ II 428
I b with him no longer. The Falcon 884
And he will have to b with it as he may. „ 887
But if it be so we must b with John. Foresters I ii 102
Risk not the love I b thee for a girl. „ IV 742
It is the King Who b's all down. „ IV 784
Beard (s) tell me, did you ever Sigh for a b? Queen Mary I v 609 Dare-devils, that would eat fire and spit it out At Philip's b: „ III i 158
but he hath a yellow b. „ III i 216
A fine b, Bonner, a very full fine b. „ III iv 338
His long white b, which he had never shaven „ IV iii 592
Your Philip hath gold hair and golden b; „ V iii 57
The rosy face, and long down-silvering b, Harold III i 47
The rosy face and long down-silvering b— „ IV i 262
The tan of southern summers and the b? Prom. of May II 618 thy father will not grace our feast With his white b to-day. Foresters IV 81
Beard (verb) A bold heart yours to b that raging mob! Queen Mary I iii 96
Bearer The King may rend the b limb from limb. Becket I i 378
He all but pluck'd the b's eyes away. „ I iii 11 Bearing (adj. and part.) I, b this great ensign, make it clear „ I iii 544 wherewithal he cleft the tree From off the b trunk, Harold III i 138
—the stream is b us all down, Foresters I i 239
Bearing (bringing forth) To go twelve months in b of a child? Queen Mary III vi 91
Her fierce desire of b him a child, „ IV iii 429
Since she lost hope of b us a child? „ V i 229
Bearing (mien) Philip shows Some of the b of your blue blood— Queen Mary I v 434
His b is so courtly-delicate; „ III iv 397 Beast (See also Beast-body, Wild-beast) pounce like a wild b out of his cage to worry Cranmer. „ I i 88 world-hating b, A haggard Anabaptist. „ II ii 91 but I thought he was a b. „ III i 221
Bonner cannot out-Bonner his own self—B!— „ III vi 28
Because these islanders are brutal b's? „ III vi 153 and in itself a b. „ IV i 33 creep down into some dark hole Like a hurt b, „ IV i 142 Stand watching a sick b before he dies? „ IV iii 7 the b might roar his claim To being in God's image, „ IV iii 367
I conclude the King a b; Verily a lion if you will—the world A most obedient b and fool—myself Half b and fool as appertaining to it; „ IV iii 412
Thou's thy way wi' man and b, Tib. „ IV iii 499 like a timorous b of prey Out of the bush Harold I ii 212
The wolf! the b! „ II ii 301
O drunken ribaldry! Out, b! out, bear! Becket I i 231
Poor b, poor b! set him down. „ I iv 105
Like the wild b—if you can call it love. „ IV ii 121
The world God made—even the b—the bird! „ V ii 243
Ay, still a lover of the b and bird? „ V ii 246
How should you guess What manner of b it is? The Cup I ii 371 leaves him A b of prey in the dark, Prom. of May I 505 Beast-body this b-b That God has plunged my soul in— Becket II i 149
Beastly These b swine make such a grunting here, Queen Mary I iii 12
Beat I can play well, and I shall b you there. „ I iii 129
Make all tongues praise and all hearts b for you. „ I v 118 which every now and then B's me half dead: „ I v 525 whether It b's hard at this marriage. „ III i 39 for to-day My heart b's twenty, „ III ii 59
Your father had a will that b men down; Your father had a brain that b men down— „ IV i 108
God will b down the fury of the flame, „ IV iii 98
I wonder at tha', it b's me! „ IV iii 499
You b upon the rock. „ V i 210
How Harold used to b him! Harold I i 432
Leofwin would often fight me, and I b him. „ I i 434 only pulsed for Griffyth, b For his pursuer. „ I ii 151 or the sword that b's them down. „ II ii 136
There somewhere b's an English pulse in thee! „ II ii 266 let him flap The wings that b down Wales! „ IV i 247
I should b Thy kingship as my bishop Becket, Pro. 90
Yet my fingers itch to b him into nothing. „ I iv 229 best heart that ever B for one woman. The Falcon 668
No other heart Of such magnificence in courtesy B's—out of heaven. „ 724 would you b a man for his brother's fault? Prom. of May III 154 broke the heart That only b for you; „ III 763 the great breaker b's upon the beach! Foresters I ii 323
That thou mightst b him down at quarterstaff! „ IV 517
Will chill the hearts that b for Robin Hood! „ IV 1064 Beaten You are b. Becket, Pro. 45
I loathe being b; had I fixt my fancy Upon the game I should have b thee, „ Pro. 49 beat Thy kingship as my bishop hath b it. „ Pro. 91 who hath b down my foes. „ Pro. 253 Becket hath b thee again— „ Pro. 314 in this same battle We had been b— The Falcon 603
Our Robin b, pleading for his life! Foresters II i 674
Lusty bracken b flat, „ II ii 154
Sit here by me, where the most b track Runs thro' the forest, „ III 89
Or else be bound and b. (repeat) „ III 370, 390
Beating the rain b in my face all the way, Prom. of May III 367
Beautiful I left her lying still and b, More b Queen Mary V v 261
O b! May I have it as mine, Becket II i 297
My Anjou bower was scarce as b. „ III i 52
The Lady Camma, Wise I am sure as she is b, The Cup I ii 139
She b: sleek as a miller's mouse! Meal enough, meat enough, well fed; but b—bah! The Falcon 164 you look as b this morning as the very Madonna „ 198
A lady that was b as day Sat by me „ 349

Beautiful (continued) And she was the most b of all; Then but fifteen, and still as b. The Falcon 353
Come, give me your hand and kiss me This b May-morning. Prom. of May I 565
The most b May we have had for many years! „ I 566
And here Is the most b morning of this May. „ I 569
You, the most b blossom of the May, „ I 574
all the world is b If we were happy, „ I 577
How b His manners are, and how unlike the farmer's! „ II 530
no maids like English maids So b as they be. Foresters II i 20
And love is joyful, innocent, b, „ II ii 64
Beauty a head So full of grace and b! Queen Mary I v 64
B passes like a breath and love is lost in loathing: „ V ii 365
She hath won upon our people thro' her b, Harold IV i 23 cowling and clouding up That fatal star, thy B, Becket I i 312
Your answer, b! „ IV ii 53
She calls you b, but I don't like her looks. „ IV ii 61 my sleeping-draught May bloat thy b out of shape, „ IV ii 170
By thy leave, b. Ay, the same! „ IV ii 203 marvell'd at Our unfamiliar beauties of the west; „ IV ii 303
You have b,—O great b,—and Antonius, The Cup I ii 297 for her b, stateliness, and power, Was chosen Priestess „ II 16
To-day, my b, thou must dash us down The Falcon 152
With other beauties on a mountain meadow, „ 351
I whisper'd, Let me crown you Queen of B, „ 361 crown you Again with the same crown my Queen of B. „ 916 like the Moslem beauties waiting To clasp their lovers Prom. of May I 246 —her main law Whereby she grows in b— „ I 283 prize The pearl of B, even if I found it „ III 601 and if her beauties answer their report. Forsters I ii 27
Becamest when thou b Man in the Flesh, Queen Mary IV iii 140
Beck (brook) leästwaäys they niver cooms 'ere but fur the trout i' our b, Prom. of May I 213
Becket (Chancellor of England, 1154-1162 Archbishop of Canterbury, 1162-1170) (See also Dare - Becket, Godstow - Becket, Thomas, Thomas Becket, Thomas of Canterbury)
As proud as B. Queen Mary III i 332
You would not have him murder'd as B was? „ III i 334
the arm within Is B's, who hath beaten down my foes. Becket, Pro. 253
The chart is not mine, but B's: take it, Thomas. „ Pro. 311
B! O—ay—and these chessmen on the floor— „ Pro. 312
B hath beaten thee again— „ Pro. 314
Ha, B! thou rememberest our talk! „ Pro. 404 this B, her father's friend, like enough staved us „ Pro. 517
B, I am the oldest of the Templars; „ I iii 247
Behold thy father kneeling to thee, B. „ I iii 253
And B had my bosom on all this; „ I iii 433
Our Lord B's our great sitting-hen cock, „ I iv 125
B, beware of the knife! „ I iv 133
B shall be king, and the Holy Father shall be king, „ I iv 269
With B? I have but one hour with thee— „ II i 23
Why thou, my bird, thou pipest B, B— „ II i 32
Must be the nightmare breaking on my peace with 'B.' „ II i 38
We have but one bond, her hate of B. „ II i 166
Nay! nay! what art thou muttering? I hate B? „ II i 168
'Tis true what B told me, that the mother „ II ii 9 and B—B should crown him were he crown'd at all: „ II ii 16
Brother of France, what shall be done with B? „ II ii 65 Master B, you That owe to me your power over me— „ II ii 151 sure to wake As great a wrath in B—— Rosamund.
Always B! „ III i 88
Henry—B tells him this—To take my life „ IV ii 394
But B ever moves against a king. „ V i 25 world allows I fall no inch Behind this B, „ V i 40
B hath trodden on us like worms, „ V i 60 scarcely dare to bless the good we eat Because of B. „ V i 72
I know—could swear—as long as B breathes, „ V i 76
The brideless B is thy king and mine: „ V i 107
B is like enough to make all his. „ V i 134
Methought I had recover'd of the B, „ V i 137
Why do you thrust this B on me again? „ V i 155
Lest B thrust you even from your throne. „ V i 159
Your B knew the secret of your bower. „ V i 177
Becket (continued) Our B, who will not absolve the Bishops. Becket V i 222
I think ye four have cause to love this B. „ V i 225
You are no King's men—you—you—you are B's men. „ V i 259
What say ye there of B? „ V ii 56
B, it is too late. „ V ii 526
Where is the traitor B? „ V iii 103
Becket (Gilbert) See Gilbert Becket
Beckon the right hand still B's me hence. Queen Mary V v 138
Becomes nay, it well b him. „ I v 436
Bed (See also Down, Flower-bed) As tho' the nightmare never left her b. „ I v 606
Spain in our ships, in our forts, in our houses, in our b's? „ II i 180
No Spain in our b's— „ II i 182 and the b's I know. I hate Spain. „ II i 184 on a soft b, in a closed room, with light, „ V iv 36 gather'd one From out a b of thick forget-me-nots, „ V v 94
It lies beside thee, king, upon thy b. Harold III i 196 get thee to thine own b. Becket I i 8
he hath made his b between the altars, „ I iv 264
My b, where ev'n the slave is private— „ V i 251
I measured his foot wi' the mark i' the b, but it wouldn't fit Prom. of May I 414 seen us that wild morning when we found Her b unslept in, „ II 471 Strike up a song, my friends, and then to b. Foresters I iii 31
Bedingfield (Sir Henry) See Henry, Henry Bedingfield
Bedroom We found a letter in your b torn into bits. Prom. of May III 323
Bee As the first flower no b has ever tried: Queen Mary I iv 63
Are you the b to try me? „ I iv 64 b's, If any creeping life invade their hive „ III iii 53 your wise b's had stung him first to death. „ III iii 64
The people are as thick as b's below, They hum like b's,— Harold I i 31
B mustn't buzz, Whoop—but he knows. (repeat) Becket III i 98, 239
So rare the household honeymaking b, „ V ii 218
As happy as the b's there at their honey Prom. of May I 606
Swarm to thy voice like b's to the brass pan. Foresters I iii 108
B's rather, flying to the flower for honey. „ IV 12
The b buzz'd up in the heat. „ IV 14
And the b buzz'd down from the heat. „ IV 20
And the b buzz'd up in the cold „ IV 21
And the b buzz'd off in the cold. „ IV 27
And yet in tune with Nature and the b's. „ IV 33
Thy b should buzz about the Court of John. „ IV 44
Beech Pine, b and plane, oak, walnut, The Cup I i 1
Beef and there is a piece of b like a house-side, Prom. of May I 793
Beelzebub By Mahound I could dine with B! Foresters IV 971
Beer Owd Steer gi'es nubbut cowd tea to 'is men, and owd Dobson gi'es b. Prom. of May II 225
But I'd like owd Steer's cowd tea better nor Dobson's b. „ II 227
That b be as good fur 'erses as men. „ II 315
The b's gotten oop into my 'eäd. „ II 320 worked at all the worse upon the cold tea than you would have done upon the b? „ III 57
but we'd ha' worked better upo' the b. „ III 60
Beeswax By bonds of b, like your creeping thing; Queen Mary III iii 62
Beetle B's jewel armour crack'd, Foresters II ii 160 Befall No ill b on him or thee when I Am gone. Becket II i 260 get you hence in haste Lest worse b you. „ IV ii 28
Befit It well b's thy new archbishoprick „ I i 225
Befitting But ill b such a festal day Foresters I iii 37 Beg You are to b the people to pray for you; Queen Mary IV ii 76
—there to b, starve, die— Becket II i 74
I will b my bread along the world „ IV ii 103
he b's you to forget it As scarce his act:— The Cup II 51
Dare b him to receive his diamonds back.— The Falcon 262 Beget sire b's Not half his likeness in the son. Queen Mary II i 54 b's An admiration and an indignation, „ III iv 169 Beggar (s) How should a baron love a b on horseback, Becket, Pro. 444 half-rag, half-sore,—b's, poor rogues „ I iv 82
If the King hold his purpose, I am myself a b. „ I iv 90
—like some loud b at thy gate— „ II i 180 mastiff, That all but kill'd the b, Prom. of May I 559

Beggar (s) (continued) but if he do not I and thou are but b's. Foresters I i 200
Canst thou endure to be a b whose whole life „ I i 205
Here come three b's. „ III 187
we be b's, we come to ask o' you. We ha' nothing. „ III 189
B's, you are sturdy rogues that should be set to work. „ III 196
How much for a b? „ III 216 will you not hear one of these b's' catches? „ III 405 by St. Mary these b's and these friars shall join you. „ III 417
Beggar (verb) Down to the devil with this bond that b's me! „ I i 340
Beggared She has b him. The Falcon 157
He hath become so b, that his falcon „ 229
We will be b then and be true to the King. Foresters I i 201
Beggarly This b life, This poor, flat, hedged-in field— Prom. of May II 343
Beggar-woman rags Of some pale b-w seeking alms The Falcon 852 Begin old Gospeller, sour as midwinter, B with him. Queen Mary I iii 41
But he b's to flutter. Harold II ii 3
He b's at top with me: Becket I iii 617 so, Allen, I may as well b with you. Prom. of May III 30
Beginning In your old place? and vespers are b. Becket V ii 597
Begone Do, and b! „ I i 233
Begun hath b to re-edify the true temple— Queen Mary I iii 58
Your people have b to learn your worth. „ I v 109
she hath b Her life-long prayer for thee. Harold III i 323 Behalf Stood out against the King in your b, Queen Mary IV i 126
Behaviour I promise you that if you forget yourself in your b to this gentleman, Prom. of May I 162
Behold B him— People. Oh, unhappy sight! Queen Mary IV iii 1
B him, brethren: he hath cause to weep!— „ IV iii 13
Beholden Thanks, Sir Thomas, we be b to you, „ II iii 121
Thou art much b to this foot of mine, „ III ii 49
But I am much b to your King. „ V iii 99
I am much b to the King, your master. „ V iii 111
We should be all the more b to him. Foresters IV 292
Being From the dim dawn of B— Prom. of May I 281
Belated I and my friend, this monk, were here b, Foresters I ii 193 Belief wholesome medicine here Puts that b asleep. Becket IV ii 52 Believe He did b the bond incestuous. Queen Mary I ii 77
I do b she'd yield. „ I iv 22
I b you mine; And so you may continue mine, „ I iv 136
I myself B it will be better for your welfare. „ I iv 254
I do b he holp Northumberland Against me. „ I v 278
I do b, I have dusted some already, „ I v 423 some b that he will go beyond him. „ I v 440 his fault So thoroughly to b in his own self. „ II ii 386
Yet thoroughly to b in one's own self, „ II ii 387
I b Sir Thomas Stafford? „ III i 31
And I, by God, b myself a man. „ III i 168
I b so, cousin. „ III ii 72 who not B's the Pope, nor any of them b— „ III iii 238
I do b in God, Father of all; „ IV iii 228 men Have hardly known what to b, or whether They should b in anything; „ IV iii 405
I hear unhappy rumours—nay, I say not, I b. „ V i 36
And I b, Spite of your melancholy Sir Nicholas, „ V ii 326
I do b I lamed his Majesty's For a day or two, „ V ii 471
He had his gracious moment, Altho' you'll not b me. „ V v 39
Lord Leofwin, dost thou b, that these Three rods Harold I i 43 an honest world Will not b them. „ I i 348
And makes b that he b's my word— „ II ii 668
For they will not b thee—as I b. „ II ii 696
But that my barons might b thy word, „ II ii 725
I do b My old crook'd spine would bud „ III i 23
b that lying And ruling men are fatal twins „ III i 126 prayers go up as fast as my tears fall, I well b, „ III i 167
Let not our great king B us sullen— „ IV i 7 b thee The veriest Galahad of old Arthur's hall. Becket, Pro. 128
I do b thee, then. I am the man. „ I i 135
Do you b that you are married to him? (repeat) „ IV ii 46,54
I should b it. Eleanor. You must not b it, „ IV ii 48
Do you b it? I pray you then to take my sleeping-draught; „ IV ii 68
Do you hear me? B or no, I care not. „ IV ii 353
I b him The bravest in our roll of Primates „ V ii 57
But she would not b me, and she wish'd „ V ii 116 Believe (continued) You will b Now that he never struck the stag— The Cup I ii 429 he prays you to b him. Camma. I pray him to b— that I b him. „ II 55
I scarce b it! Elisabetta. Shame upon her then! The Falcon 517
I doänt b he's iver a 'eart under his waistcoat. Prom. of May I 130 they that love do not b that death Will part them. „ I 662
My father's death, Let her b it mine; „ II 454
I do b I lost my heart to him the very first time we met, „ III 283
I do b I could forgive—well, almost anything— „ III 630 lower and baser Than even I can well b you. „ III 815 but I b there lives No man who truly loves Foresters II i 74
I b She came with me into the forest here. „ II i 484
I b thou fell'st into the hands Of these same Moors „ II i 562
b There came some evil fairy at my birth And cursed me, „ II ii 107
I b thee, thou art a good fellow, though a friar. „ III 341
O my good liege, we did b you dead. „ IV 846
Believed His friends would praise him, I b 'em, Queen Mary I v 623 Stigand b he knew not what he spake. Harold III ii 61
—some b she was his paramour. „ V ii 102
b that Rome Made war upon the peoples not the Gods. The Cup I ii 58
I b thee to be too solemn and formal to be a ruffler. Foresters I i 168
I b this Abbot of the party of King Richard, „ I i 266
Believer as I am a true b in true love myself, „ I i 162
Believing B I should ever aid the Church— Becket, Pro. 417
b That I should go against the Church with him, „ I i 91
b that our brother Had wrong'd you; „ II ii 237 Theer ye goäs ageän, Miss niver b owt I says to ye— Prom. of May I 107
Bell (See also Minster-bell) The b's are ringing at Maidstone. Queen Mary II i 18
The b's must ring; Te Deums must be sung; „ III ii 211 Toll of a b, Stroke of a clock, „ III v 142 clash'd their b's, Shot off their lying cannon, „ III vi 96
A passing b toll'd in a dying ear— „ V ii 41
And hear my peregrine and her b's in heaven; And other b's on earth, Harold I ii 131
Our scouts have heard the tinkle of their b's. „ V i 221 like the gravedigger's child I have heard of, trying to ring the b, Becket III iii 74
—the b's rang out even to deafening, „ V ii 363
Bell-silencing black, b-s, anti-marrying, burial-hindering interdict „ III iii 54
Belly since the Sheriff left me naught but an empty b, Foresters II i 279 Belonging His kin, all his b's, overseas; Becket II i 71
Of and b to the King of England, „ IV ii 23
I am mine own self Of and b to the King. „ IV ii 30
King Hath divers ofs and ons, ofs and b's, „ IV ii 32
It is the cup b our own Temple. The Cup II 345
B's, paramours, whom it pleases him Becket IV ii 35
Beloved See Well-beloved
Bench There is a b. Come, wilt thou sit? Becket II i 124
Help me to move this b for him into the sun. Prom. of May I 81
Doubtless, like judges of another b, Foresters III 153
Bend seeks To b the laws to his own will, Queen Mary II ii 184
Bended and we'll pray for you all on our b knees. „ II iii 109 and we'll pray for you on our b knees till our lives' end. „ II iii 122
Benedict O blessed saint, O glorious B,— Becket V iii 2
Benedicta Ave Maria, gratia plena, B tu in mulieribus. Queen Mary III ii 1
Benedictus Sit b fructus ventris tui!' „ III ii 83
Bent (See also Bow-bent) b to his saddle-bow, As if to win the man „ II ii 310
Benzoin Nard, Cinnamon, amomum, b. The Cup II 184
Bequeath Edward might b the crown Of England, Queen Mary I ii 26
Berkeley (Sir Maurice) See Maurice Berkeley
Berkhamstead Due from his castles of B and Eye Becket I iii 628
Beset O Renard, I am much b, Queen Mary I v 385
I should be hard b with thy fourscore. Foresters IV 179
Beside lost and found together, None b them. Harold III ii 8
'I am b thee.' „ III ii 14
Besotted One half b in religious rites. The Cup I i 74

Best (adj.) Dumble's the b milcher in Islip. (repeat) Queen Mary IV iii 478, 497
The blood and sweat of heretics at the stake Is God's b dew upon the barren field. „ V i 102
You had b go home. What are you? „ V iv 43
Noble Gurth! B son of Godwin! Harold V i 135
Serve my b friend and make him my worst foe; Becket I iii 567
Only my b bower-maiden died of late, „ III i 67
Stain'd with the blood of the b heart that ever Beat for one woman. The Falcon 667 yet that might be The b way out of it, Prom. of May I 476
Then the man, the woman, Following their b affinities, „ I 523 this is a true woodman's bow of the b yew-wood to slay the deer. Foresters II i 393
Heaven looks down on me, And smiles at my b meanings, „ IV 727

Best (s) I do my most and b. Queen Mary II ii 24 it is a day to test your health Ev'n at the b: „ IV ii 118
You have done your b. Pole. Have done my b, „ V ii 115
But thou canst hear the b and wisest of us. Harold I i 300
I have done my b. I am not learn'd. Becket III i 24
it's all for the b, come when they will— The Falcon 201
I and Filippo here had done our b, „ 607

Bested See Ill-bested

Bestial all of us abhor The venomous, b, devilish revolt Of Thomas Wyatt. Queen Mary II ii 287
Did ye not cast with b violence Our holy Norman bishops down Harold I i 49
O b! O how unlike our goodly Sinnatus. The Cup II 172

Bethink And now, I do b me, thou wast by Foresters II i 540

Betray Before he would b it. Becket II i 268
And if you should b me to your husband— The Cup I ii 242
Will you b him by this order? „ I ii 244
And I will not b you. „ I iii 316 for fear or monies, might B me to the wild Prince. Foresters II i 708
For those of thine own band who would b thee? „ IV 833

Betray'd Cast off, b, defamed, Queen Mary I v 26
They have b the treason of their hearts: „ II ii 156
Thou hast b us on these rocks of thine! Harold II i 23
O Wulfnoth, Wulfnoth, brother, thou hast b me! „ II ii 802
Herbert, Herbert, have I b the Church? Becket I iii 284
But thou the shepherd hast b the sheep, „ I iii 524 hast b Thy father to the losing of his land. Foresters II i 569

Betroth In order to b her to your Dauphin. Queen Mary I v 293

Betrothal (adj.) it was her own B ring. Foresters II i 295
Thou hast robb'd my girl of her b ring. „ II i 586

Betrothal (s) Of her b to the Emperor Charles, Queen Mary V v 233

Betroth'd Was she not b in her babyhood to the Great Emperor „ I i 118 and presently That I and Harold are b— Harold I ii 223

Betrothing Hapless doom of woman happy in b! Queen Mary V ii 364

Better and I myself Believe it will be b for your welfare. „ I iv 254
He must deserve his surname b. „ III ii 197
A b and a worse—the worse is here To persecute, „ III iv 114
I could mould myself To bear your going b; „ III vi 236
The b for him. He burns in Purgatory, not in Hell. „ IV i 55
There is no hope of b left for him, „ IV iii 79
Our Daisy's cheeses be b. „ IV iii 484
I thought you knew me b. „ V ii 186
I am not well, but it will b me, „ V ii 554
I wish her Highness b. „ V ii 615
Nay! B die than lie! Harold I i 158
Because I love the Norman b—no, „ I i 171 and left me time And peace for prayer to gain a b one. „ I i 220
B die than lie! „ II ii 281
Is it not b still to speak the truth? „ II ii 373
B methinks have slain the man at once! „ II ii 498
Who hath a b claim then to the crown „ II ii 596
b die Than credit this, for death is death, „ III ii 77 Hadst thou been braver, I had b braved All— „ III ii 178 the king like his own man, No b; „ IV iii 59
I could pity this poor world myself that it is no b ordered. Becket, Pro. 366
Friend, am I so much b than thyself „ I i 3
You have had the b of us In secular matters. „ II ii 80
B have been A fisherman at Bosham, my good Herbert, „ II ii 290

Better (continued) I cannot answer it Till b times, Becket III i 3
That which you ask me Till b times. „ III i 7
And I thought if it were the King's brother he had a b bride than the King, „ III i 173
b Than raised to take a life which Henry bad me „ IV ii 267
Why then B perhaps to speak with them apart. „ V ii 310 to submit at once Is b than a wholly-hopeless war, The Cup I ii 141
I meant thee to have follow'd—b thus. „ II 498 that's positive again—that's b! The Falcon 95 and b late than never—but come when they will— „ 199
'B a man without riches, than riches without a man.' „ 751
Hath served me b than her living— „ 901
Betting b, Mr. Dobson. Prom. of May I 69
B step out of his road, then, for he's walking to us, „ I 218
I'm sorry for it, for, tho' he never comes to church, I thought b of him. „ I 261
Niver man 'ed b friends, and I will sääy niver master 'ed b men: „ I 322 thaw I says it mysen, niver men 'ed a b master— „ I 327
So much the b, so much the b. „ I 435
B and higher than Nature, we might be As happy as the bees „ I 604
Noä; I knaws a deäl b now. „ II 26
You had b attend to your hayfield. „ II 122 knaw'd b nor to cast her sister's misfortin inter 'er teeth „ II 127
But I'd like owd Steer's cowd tea b nor Dobson's beer. „ II 227
b death With our first wail than life— „ II 289
Why, you look b. Eva. And I feel so much b, „ III 220 it might have been b for her, for him, and for you. „ III 251
B for me! That's good. How b for me? „ III 253
B not. Has he offered you marriage, this gentleman? „ III 289 but you seem somewhat b to-day. „ III 322 if you cram me crop-full I be little b than Famine in the picture, Foresters I i 47
we should have b battels at home. „ I i 58
Till b times. Robin. But if the b times should never come? „ I ii 286
Why then I will be b than the time. „ I ii 291
Would it be b for thee in the wood? „ I iii 140 Am I worse or b? I am outlaw'd. „ II i 49 and all the b For this free forest-life, „ II i 59
B than heart-sick, friar. „ IV 674

Bevell'd That all was planed and b smooth again, Becket V i 138

Beware B, Lord Legate, of a heavier crime Than heresy is itself; b, I say, Lest men accuse you of indifference Queen Mary III iv 221
Ay, ay, b of France. „ IV iii 434

Bewitch'd And thought thou wert b. Foresters II i 684

Bible I'll have their b's burnt. The b is the priest's. Queen Mary III i 284
Look to your B, Paget! we are fallen. „ III iv 80
And may not read your B, „ III iv 83 never merry world In England, since the B came among us. „ V v 241 Till all men have their B, rich and poor. „ V v 248

Bid the Lord Chancellor. Mary. B him come in. „ I v 97
B him come in. Good morning, Sir de Noailles. „ I v 241
Gregory b St. Austin here Found two archbishopricks, Becket I iii 48
And b him re-create me, Gilbert Foliot. „ I iii 126
My friends, the Archbishop b's you good night. „ I iv 261
he sends me to b you this night pray for him „ I iv 265
you b me go, and I'll have my ball anyhow. „ IV ii 63
B their old bond farewell with smiles, not tears; Prom. of May I 524
Do not till I b you. Eva. No, Philip, no. „ I 732
Will b you welcome, and will listen to you. „ II 522
I Titania b you flit, Foresters II ii 126

Bidd'n and b him Charge one against a thousand, Queen Mary IV iii 308
Was not my lord of Leicester b to our supper? Becket, I iv 56

Bide and there b The upshot of my quarrel, Queen Mary II iv 85 and a wur so owld a couldn't b vor his dinner, but a had to b howsomiver, „ IV iii 505
But now I cannot b. „ V i 93
Ay, so your Grace would b a moment yet. „ V ii 547
And b the doom of God. Harold V i 61 tho' I can drink wine I cannot b water, Becket I iv 220

Bide (continued) in Nottingham they say There b's a foul witch Foresters II i 203
But how then if I will not b to be search'd? „ IV 168
Bided so they b on and on till vour o' the clock, Queen Mary IV iii 509
Biding So sick am I with b for this child. „ III vi 89
Big his b baldness, That irritable forelock which he rubs, „ I iv 264
Is that it? That's a b lot of money. „ II iii 62
Map, tho' you make your butt too b, you overshoot it. Becket III iii 122 be i' the long barn by one o'clock, fur he'll gie us a b dinner, Prom. of May I 9 and a plum-pudding as b as the round haystack. „ I 794 and I wur hallus scäared by a b word; „ III 33 and wheere the b eshtree cuts athurt it, „ III 94
I am mortally afear'd o' thee, thou b man, Foresters IV 317
Bigger B in our small world than thou art. Becket V i 128
Not yet, but here comes one of b mould. Foresters IV 115
Bigot To be nor mad, nor b—have a mind— Queen Mary V v 216
Bill (beak) gaping b's in the home-nest Piping for bread— Becket II ii 300
No bird? Filippo. Half a tit and a hern's b. The Falcon 131
Bill (document) In several b's and declarations, Queen Mary IV i 48
ay; if Bonner have not forged the b's. „ IV i 51
Billing nor priestly king to cross Their b's ere they nest. Harold III ii 95
Bind To b me first by oaths I could not keep, Queen Mary I v 557
And b him in from harming of their combs. „ III iii 57
Which b's us friendship-fast for ever! Harold II ii 162
The shackles that will b me to the wall. „ II ii 410
And I would b thee more, „ II ii 559
b a score All in one faggot, snap it over knee, „ IV i 57 bound To that necessity which b's us down; „ V i 108
Tho' she that b's the bond, herself should see Becket I ii 76
I will b up his wounds with my napkin. „ I iv 106 striving still to break or b The spiritual giant „ IV ii 443
I ask'd A ribbon from her hair to b it with; The Falcon 359
if you will b love to one for ever, Prom. of May I 644
Thou hast risk'd thy life for mine: b these two men. Foresters IV 894
Bird (See also Sea-bird) These b's of passage come before their time: Queen Mary I iii 75
To kiss and cuff among the b's and flowers— „ III v 258
I never breathed it to a b in the eaves, „ V ii 454
I whistle to the b has broken cage, And all in vain. „ V v 19
let fly the b within the hand, To catch the b again Harold II ii 65
Poor b of passage! so I was; but, father, Becket I i 253
Bar the b From following the fled summer— „ I i 258
To guard this b of passage to her cage; „ I i 329
b that moults sings the same song again, „ I iii 447
I wrong the b; she leaves only the nest she built, „ I iv 45 thou, my b, thou pipest Becket, Becket— „ II i 32
B mustn't tell, Whoop—he can see. (repeat) Becket III i 106, 254
I have lived, poor b, from cage to cage, Becket III i 222
The world God made—even the beast—the b! „ V ii 244
Ay, still a lover of the beast and b? „ V ii 246
See, see, my white b stepping toward the snare. The Cup I iii 35
Hear that, my b! Art thou not jealous of her? The Falcon 5
Buss me, my b! „ 29
No b? Filippo. Half a tit and a hern's bill. „ 130
A noble b, each perfect of the breed. „ 320
What do you rate her at? Count. My b? „ 323
Nothing but my brave b, my noble falcon, „ 873 dying of my noble b Hath served me better than her living— „ 900 all in all to one another from the time when we first peeped into the b's nest, Prom. of May III 274 barred thee up in thy chamber, like a b in a cage. Foresters I i 315 tree-Cupids half-way up in heaven, The b's— „ III 37
And all the b's that sing When all the leaves are green; „ III 440
And live with us and the b's in the green wood. „ IV 325
Let the b's sing, and do you dance to their song. „ IV 556
All the b's in merry Sherwood sing and sing him home again. „ IV 1109
Bird-babble B-b for my falcon! Let it pass. The Falcon 38
Bird-echoing Their long b-e minster-aisles,— Becket III i 44
Birdlime I think there may be b here for me; Queen Mary III v 227
Bird-Robin If my man-Robin were but a b-R, Foresters III 39
Birth every rebel b That passes out of embryo. Queen Mary III vi 51
We have the man that rail'd against thy b. Harold II ii 486

Birth (continued) The child, a thread within the house of b, The Cup II 260
There came some evil fairy at my b Foresters II ii 108
Birthdaäy (birthday) Why, o' coorse, fur it be the owd man's b. Prom. of May I 6
Owd Steer wur afeärd she wouldn't be back i' time to keep his b, „ I 18
I be coomed to keep his b an' all. „ I 76
—to celebrate my b i' this fashion. „ I 321
Birthday (adj.) A b welcome! happy days and many! Harold V i 431 Birthday (s) (See also Birthdaäy) My father on a b gave it me, Queen Mary I v 527 Plots and feuds! This is my ninetieth b. (repeat) Harold IV i 121, 127 Thy death!—to-day! Is it not thy b? „ V i 429 hath kinglike fought and fallen, His b, too. „ V ii 126
I came back to keep his b. Prom. of May I 74 but is not to-day his b? Foresters I i 219 that thou keepest a record of his b's? „ I i 222
To-day he hath accomplished his thirtieth b, „ I i 298 last time When I shall hold my b in this hall: „ I ii 89
Cloud not thy b with one fear for me. „ I ii 125
I am only merry for an hour or two Upon a b: „ I iii 12
It is my b. „ II i 35 greater nearness to the b Of the after-life, „ II i 44
Birthplace Bosham, my good Herbert, Thy b— Becket II ii 293
Bishop (ecclesiastic) our B's from their sees Or fled, they say, or flying— Queen Mary I ii 3
—and now that your good b, Bonner, „ I iii 35
Why, my lord B? (repeat) „ I iv 223, 227
Some six or seven B's, diamonds, pearls, „ III i 52
I am but of the laity, my Lord B, „ III iv 81
Thou Christian B, thou Lord Chancellor Of England! „ III iv 300
Tut, Master B, Our bashful Legate, „ III iv 349
B Thirlby, And my Lord Paget and Lord William Howard, „ IV i 4
These are but natural graces, my good B, „ IV i 177
'I wunt dine,' says my Lord B, „ IV iii 507
'Now,' says the B, says he, 'we'll gwo to dinner;' „ IV iii 513
Our holy Norman b's down from all Their thrones in England? Harold I i 50
I saw him coming with his brother Odo The Bayeux b, „ II ii 348 thou art but deacon, not yet b, Becket, Pro. 83 beat Thy kingship as my b hath beaten it. „ Pro. 91 Hell take thy b then, and my kingship too! „ Pro. 93
Barons and b's of our realm of England, „ I iii 336 B's—York, London, Chichester, Westminster— „ I iii 385 where our b's And our great lords will sit in judgment „ I iii 548
What say the b's? „ I iii 589 —and these craven b's! „ I iv 92
if the barons and b's hadn't been a-sitting on the Archbishop. „ I iv 127
Knights, b's, earls, this London spawn— „ II ii 143
Our Becket, who will not absolve the B's. „ V i 223
he shall absolve The b's—they but did my will— „ V i 254 to absolve the b's Whom you have excommunicated. „ V ii 376
To all the archbishops, b's, prelates, barons, „ V ii 404
Save that you will absolve the b's. „ V iii 120 they plunder—yea, ev'n b's, Yea, ev'n archbishops— Foresters IV 910 Bishop (chess) My liege, I move my b. Becket, Pro. 28 you see my b Hath brought your king to a standstill. „ Pro. 43
Why, there then—down go b and king together. „ Pro. 47
Bishoprick fill'd All offices, all b's with English— Harold II ii 535 Saving thro' Norman b's— „ II ii 538
'When a b falls vacant, the King, Becket I iii 99
And let another take his b! „ II ii 260
Bit (s) smash all our b's o' things worse than Philip o' Spain. Queen Mary II iii 104
Beänt Miss Eva gone off a b of 'er good looks o' lääte? Man. Noä, not a b. Prom. of May I 33 fur owd Dobson 'll gi'e us a b o' supper. „ II 217
Taäke one o' the young 'uns fust, Miss, fur I be a b deaf, „ III 32
We found a letter in your bedroom torn into b's. „ III 324
b by b—for she promised secrecy—I told her all. „ III 379 Bit (verb) if a mad dog b your hand, my Lord, Queen Mary III iv 204

Bit (verb) (continued) And b his shield, and dash'd it on the ground, Harold v i 405
And I was b by a mad dog o' Friday, Becket i iv 217
Bite (s) The mad b Must have the cautery— Queen Mary iii iv 275 Bite (verb) to turn and b the hand Would help thee Harold i i 381 and I want to b, I want to b, Becket i iv 221
Well, well, well! I b my tongue. The Falcon 624
Bithynia Have you alliances? B, Pontus, Paphlagonia? The Cup i ii 100 Bitten Would you not chop the b finger off, Queen Mary iii iv 206 the Norman adder Hath b us; we are poison'd: Harold iii i 39
Bitter (adj.) Before these b statutes be requicken'd. Queen Mary iii iv 197
And, whether it bring you b news or sweet, „ iii v 201
Hath, like a brief and b winter's day, „ iv iii 430
And thrust his right into the b flame; „ iv iii 610 bound me too With b obligation to the Count— Harold ii ii 221
To plunge into this b world again— Becket v ii 81 on a Tuesday pass'd From England into b banishment; „ v ii 289 Bitter (s) The b in the sweet. Queen Mary i v 235
Bitterer And mine a b illegitimate hate, Becket ii i 173
Bitterness She hath wean'd me from it with such b. Harold iv ii 28 Bitters and I put the b on my breast to wean him, The Falcon 189 your ladyship has given him b enough in this world, „ 192
B before dinner, my lady, to give you a relish. Foresters iii 434
Blaäme (blame) but summun else—b'i if I beänt! Prom. of May ii 140
Black I see but the b night, and hear the wolf. Queen Mary i v 413
It roll'd as b as death; „ ii iii 20 four guns gaped at me, B, silent mouths: „ ii iii 32 or you'll make the White Tower a b 'un for us this blessed day. „ ii iii 100
These b dog-Dons Garb themselves bravely. „ iii i 189
I thought this Philip had been one of those b devils of Spain, „ iii i 215
Those damp, b, dead Nights in the Tower; „ iii v 138 so 'z the tongue on un cum a-lolluping out o' 'is mouth as b as a rat. „ iv iii 519
A drinker of b, strong, volcanic wines, „ v ii 93 lash'd to death, or lie Famishing in b cells, „ v ii 196
For twenty miles, where the b crow flies five, „ v v 84
Ay, but thou liest as loud as the b herring-pond behind thee. Harold ii i 26
He fain had calcined all Northumbria To one b ash, „ iii i 57
Night, as b as a raven's feather; „ iii ii 6
And thou, my carrier-pigeon of b news, „ iv iii 233
I have an inherited loathing of these b sheep of the Papacy. Becket, Pro. 461
Is b and white at once, and comes to nought. „ i iii 32
The b sheep baaed to the miller's ewe-lamb, „ i iv 162
B sheep, quoth she, too b a sin for me. And what said the b sheep, my masters? We can make a b sin white. „ i iv 165
That he made the b sheep white. „ i iv 176
Out from among us; thou art our b sheep. „ i iv 181
Then I saw Thy high b steed among the flaming furze, „ ii i 55
How ghostly sounds that horn in the b wood! „ iii ii 17
Do you see that great b cloud that hath come over the sun „ iii iii 46
It is this b, bell-silencing, anti-marrying, „ iii iii 54
Who else, with this b thunderbolt of Rome Above him, The Cup i ii 265 poor worm, crawl down thine own b hole To the lowest Hell. „ ii 495 heat and fire Of life will bring them out, and b enough, Prom. of May ii 287
I'd like to leather 'im b and blue, „ ii 595 and the b river Flow'd thro' my dreams— „ ii 649
It mun be true, fur it wur i' print as b as owt. „ ii 731 the river, b, slimy, swirling under me in the lamplight, „ iii 369 these lilies to lighten Sir Richard's b room, Foresters i i 3
Sour milk and b bread. „ ii i 272
They might be harder upon thee, if met in a b lane at midnight: „ iii 224
The b fiend grip her! „ iii 380
B news, b news from Nottingham! „ iii 446
Black-blooded You are too b-b. Queen Mary iii i 126
Black-blooded (continued) Yea, you yourself, altho' you are b-b: Queen Mary iii i 166
You call me too b-b— „ iii i 347
He grovels to the Church when he's b-b, Becket iv ii 437
Blacken I will hide my face, B and gipsyfy it; „ iv ii 100
Whose lava-torrents blast and b a province The Cup ii 302
Blackest Traced in the b text of Hell— Queen Mary iii i 426
Black-faced Philip and the b-f swarms of Spain, „ ii i 98
Blackness I see the b of my dungeon loom Harold ii ii 405 thirty feet below the smiling day—In b— „ ii ii 431
But what a blotch of b underneath! The Cup i ii 398
Blacksmith and B, thaw he niver shoes a herse to my likings; Prom. of May i 447 Blade take heed! The b is keen as death. Queen Mary v v 175
When every baron ground his b in blood; Becket i iii 349
Blaise (Bishop of Sebaste) To the chapel of St. B beneath the roof! „ v iii 82 Blame (See also Blaäme) His foes would b him, and I scorned 'em, Queen Mary i v 624 it is the Pope Will be to b—not thou. Becket i iii 222
I was to b—the love you said you bore me— The Falcon 857
Blamed Praised, where you should have b him, Queen Mary i v 600
Blameless condemn The b exile?— Becket ii ii 396
Blanch And b the crowd with horror. The Cup ii 154
Blanch'd A doll-face b and bloodless, Becket iv ii 175
Bland you were b And affable to men of all estates, Queen Mary iii vi 80
Blank it seems that we shall fly These bald, b fields, „ iii v 252
A poor philosopher who call'd the mind Of children a b page, Prom. of May ii 282
Blanketed who dream'd us b In ever-closing fog, Queen Mary iii ii 20
Blared B from the heights of all the thrones of her kings, Becket v ii 489 Blasphemous Monstrous! b! She ought to burn. Queen Mary i v 57
Blasphemy terms Of Satan, liars, b, Antichrist, „ i ii 95
Blast (s) (See also Thunder-blast) The b that came So suddenly hath fallen as suddenly— Harold ii i 12
Put thou the comet and this b together— „ ii i 15
Which hunted him when that un-Saxon b, „ ii ii 31 showers of blood are blown Before a never ending b, „ iii i 395
The sign in heaven—the sudden b at sea— „ v i 378
Blast (verb) Would'st thou not burn and b them Queen Mary iii iv 282 if yon weird sign Not b us in our dreams.— Harold i i 122
b your infants, dash The torch of war among your standing corn, „ ii ii 747 will b and blind you like a curse. Becket i iv 39
To b my realms with excommunication And interdict. „ ii ii 52
Go, lest I b thee with anathema, „ iv ii 287
—and b the king and me, The Cup ii 152
Whose lava-torrents b and blacken a province „ ii 302
That b our natural passions into pains! Prom. af May iii 724 when they look at a maid they b her. Foresters i i 257 Blatant But lack of happiness in a b wife. „ i iii 132
Blaze (s) hiss Against the b they cannot quench— Harold iii i 396
Against the shifting b of Harold's axe! „ v i 587
Blaze (verb) banner, B like a night of fatal stars „ iv i 251
But b not out before the Frenchmen here. Becket iii iii 221
Blazed B false upon her heart. Queen Mary iii i 70
Blazing A sacred cup saved from a b shrine The Cup i ii 54
Bleak and those b manners thaw, Queen Mary iii ii 160 fierce forekings had clench'd their pirate hides To the b church doors, Harold iv iii 37
Bled He had been hurt, And b beneath his armour. Foresters ii ii 5
Bless and I return As Peter, but to b thee: Queen Mary iii ii 56
And may God b you, Thirlby! „ iv ii 197
God b him! „ iv iii 256
owld lord fell to 's meat wi' a will, God b un! „ iv iii 515
Let all thy people b thee! Harold i ii 184
And b the Queen of England. „ i ii 207
And even as I should b thee saving mine, „ ii ii 651
God b thee, wedded daughter. Queen. B thou too That brother whom I love beyond the rest, „ iii i 293
All the sweet Saints b him! „ iii i 298
I ask no more. Heaven b thee! hence! Becket i i 321
Wilt thou not say, 'God b you,' ere we go? Becket. God b you all! „ i iv 33 and see it mounting to Heaven, my God b you, „ i iv 38

Bless (continued) beggars, poor rogues (Heaven b 'em) Becket I iv 83
God b the great Archbishop ! „ II ii 451 all on us ha' had to go, b the Saints, wi' bare backs, „ III i 146
We scarcely dare to b the food we eat „ V i 70
To b thine enemies—— Becket. Ay, mine, not Heaven's. „ V ii 24
God b him for it. „ V ii 146 hear us, O Mother, hear us, and b us ! The Cup II 2
Why, b the saints ! The Falcon 171 and b your sweet face, you look as beautiful „ 197
I ha' heärd 'im a-gawin' on 'ud make your 'air—
God b it !—stan' on end. Prom. of May I 135
The Lord b boath on 'em ! „ I 341
—the Lord b 'er—'er oän sen ; „ II 40
God b our well-beloved Robin, Earl of Huntingdon. Foresters I i 247 sweet saints b your worship for your alms to the old woman ! „ II i 363 those poor serfs whom we have served will b us, „ IV 1075 Blessed-Blest The blessed Mary's a-passing ! Queen Mary I i 36
Holy Virgin, Plead with thy blessed Son ; „ I v 85 or you'll make the White Tower a black 'un for us this blessed day. „ II iii 101
Oh how the blessed angels who rejoice „ III iii 180
And God hath blest or cursed me with a nose— „ III v 178
And Thy most blessed Son's, who died for man. „ IV iii 154
Have I not heard them mock the blessed Host In songs so lewd, „ IV iii 365
'O blessed relics !' 'O Holy Peter !' Harold I ii 169
Nay then, we be liker the blessed Apostles ; „ II i 33
Yet the curse is on him For swearing falsely by those blessed bones ; „ III i 246 have sent him back A holy gonfanon, and a blessed hair Of Peter, „ III ii 148
Thou swarest falsely by our blessed bones, „ V i 259
Are those the blessed angels quiring, father ? „ V i 472
Yea, by the Blessed Virgin ! Becket, Pro. 520
Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord ! „ I iii 758
That is the parable of our blessed Lord. Becket.
And why should not the parable of our blessed Lord be acted again ? „ I iv 75
Blessed be the Lord Archbishop, who hath withstood two Kings „ II ii 274
Thanks to the blessed Magdalen, whose day it is. „ III iii 171
Man's help ! but we, we have the Blessed Virgin For worship, „ V ii 219
O blessed saint, O glorious Benedict,— „ V iii 1
Row to the blessed Isles ! the blessed Isles !— The Cup II 525 in hope that the saints would send us this blessed morning ; The Falcon 186 they are made by the blessed saints—these marriages. „ 203
It served me for a blessed rosary. „ 632 more blessed were the rags Of some pale beggar-woman seeking alms For her sick son, „ 850 but I wur so ta'en up wi' leädin' the owd man about all the blessed murnin' Prom. of May III 3
For all the blessed souls in heaven Are both forgivers and forgiven.' „ III 10
O brook, that brawlest merrily by Thro' fields that once were blest, „ III 202 for the sake of the great blessed Mother in heaven, Foresters I i 96
I keep it For holy vows made to the blessed Saints Not pleasures, „ I ii 175
My mother, For whose sake, and the blessed Queen of Heaven, „ II i 38
Devils, that make this blessed England hell. „ III 127
That by the blessed Mother no man, „ III 239
Our Lady's blessed shrines throughout the land Be all the richer for us. „ IV 1079 Blessing (part.) pauper, who had died in his misery b God, Prom. of May III 378
Blessing (s) I will bear thy b into the battle Harold V i 434
Was not the people's b as we past Heart-comfort Becket I i 12
Nay, father, first thy b. „ I i 317
Our humblest thanks for your b. „ I iv 42
But that might bring a Roman b on us. The Cup II 372
This b is for Synorix and for me. „ II 376 Blessing (s) (continued) B's on your pretty voice, Miss Dora. Prom. of May I 63 and the old woman's b with them to the last fringe. Foresters II i 195
The silent b of one honest man Is heard in heaven— „ III 321
Thou shalt pronounce the b of the Church „ IV 927
Blest See Blessed
Blew Rose never b that equall'd such a bud. Queen Mary III i 373
Until the powder suddenly b him dead. „ IV iii 340
Of Provence b you to your English throne ; Becket V i 123
Blighted till that b vow Which God avenged to-day. Harold V ii 155
Blind (adj.) (See also Stone-blind) Are you b ? Queen Mary I iv 151
She, with her poor b hands feeling—' where is it ? „ III i 407 with offal thrown Into the b sea of forgetfulness. „ III iii 193
There is a movement there, A b one— Harold I i 355 now I see That I was b—suffer the phrase— Becket II ii 438
'What are we, says the b old man in Lear ? Prom. of May I 262
I would taäke the owd b man to my oän fireside. „ II 74
What was that ? my poor b father— „ II 566
Poor b Father's little guide, Milly, „ III 231 niver been surprised but once i' my life, and I went b upon it. „ III 440
That Love is b, but thou hast proven it true. Foresters II i 644
Blind (verb) It frights the traitor more to maim and b. Harold II ii 504
Say that he b thee and tear out thy tongue. Becket I iii 615 will blast and b you like a curse. „ I iv 40
Blinded into some more costly stone Than ever b eye. Queen Mary I v 371
No, no ; her innocent blood had b me. „ III i 346
They b my young kinsman, Alfred— Harold II ii 511 be sure they be, but he b 'em for all that, Becket III i 128 Not caught, maim'd, b him. The Cup I ii 271 and the hunters, if caught, are b, or worse than b. Foresters IV 226
Blindfold was a pity to b such eyes as mine, Becket III i 127 Blindness and my father's breaking down, and his b. Prom. of May II 70
My father stricken with his first paralysis, And then with b— „ II 482
And cheer his b with a traveller's tales ? „ II 515
Blissful bounteous bays And havens filling with a b sea. The Cup II 236
Bloat my sleeping-draught May b thy beauty out of shape, Becket IV ii 170 ambition, pride So b and redden his face— The Cup II 170 Block (s) The Tower ! the b ! Queen Mary I v 470
Like that poor heart, Northumberland, at the b. „ II ii 334
Who changed not colour when she saw the b, „ III i 400
To say 'I did not ?' and my rod's the b. „ III v 130
My heart is no such b as Bonner's is : „ IV ii 174 like the bloodless head Fall'n on the b, „ V ii 21 Block (verb) How can I come When you so b the entry ? Becket V iii 37
Block'd All passes b. Harold II ii 317
Blood of royal b, of splendid feature, Queen Mary I i 111
Why not ? I am king's b. „ I iii 105
I am the noblest b in Europe, Madam, „ I iv 84
I have sworn upon the body and b of Christ „ I v 215
Some of the bearing of your blue b— „ I v 434
Your houses fired—your gutters bubbling b— „ II ii 280
Scarlet, as if her feet were wash'd in b, „ III i 62
No, no ; her innocent b had blinded me. „ III i 346
Her dark dead b is in my heart with mine. „ III i 349
Her dark dead b that ever moves with mine „ III i 352 trusted God would save her thro' the b Of Jesus Christ „ III i 387 a little letting of the b. „ III ii 40
With His own b, and wash'd us from our sins, „ III iii 203
Nay, I know They hunt my b. „ III v 78
'Martyr's b—seed of the Church.' „ IV i 146
b and sweat of heretics at the stake Is God's best dew „ V i 100
And panting for my b as I go by. „ V ii 219
Some few of Gothic b have golden hair, „ V iii 60 sure she hates thee, Pants for thy b. Harold I ii 39 the b That should have only pulsed for Griffyth, „ I ii 149
She hath but b enough to live, not love.— „ I ii 161 shown And redden'd with his people's b „ I ii 243
'This Harold is not of the royal b, „ II ii 354
Thou art of my b, and so methinks, my boy, „ II ii 449 helpless folk Are wash'd away, wailing, in their own b— „ II ii 472
Dabble your hearths with your own b. „ II ii 751
Where they eat dead men's flesh, and drink their b. „ II ii 808
he soak'd the trunk with human b, „ III i 143

Blood (continued) thus baptized in b Grew ever high and higher, Harold III i 147 Senlac! Sanguelac, The Lake of B! „ III i 386 showers of b are blown Before a never ending blast, „ III i 393
A sea of b—we are drown'd in b— „ III i 398
Mixing our b's, that thence a king may rise „ IV i 142
Trampling thy mother's bosom into b? „ IV ii 26 sight of Danish b Might serve an end not English— „ IV iii 97 did the dead man call it—Sanguelac, The lake of b? „ V i 185 Praise the Saints. It is over. No more b! „ V ii 195
Ay! b, perchance, except thou see to her. Becket, Pro. 175 Heart-comfort and a balsam to thy b? „ I i 14 like Egypt's plague, had fill'd All things with b; „ I iii 346
When every baron ground his blade in b; „ I iii 350 household dough was kneaded up with b; „ I iii 352
The millwheel turn'd in b; „ I iii 353
God redden your pale b! But mine is human-red; „ I iv 35
there be those about our King who would have thy b.' „ I iv 55
Which it will quench in b! „ IV ii 192 not life shot up in b, But death drawn in;— „ IV ii 381
Save him, his b would darken Henry's name; „ V iii 10
To bathe this sacred pavement with my b. „ V iii 132 hand Red with the sacred b of Sinnatus? The Cup II 84
Hot b, ambition, pride So bloat and redden „ II 169
Wine Ran down the marble and lookt like b, like b. „ II 205 frost That help'd to check the flowing of the b. The Falcon 646 Stain'd with the b of the best heart that ever Beat „ 666 servants Are all but flesh and b with those they serve. „ 709 would not crush The fly that drew her b; Prom. of May II 494
We Steers are of old b, tho' we be fallen. „ III 604 thro' the b the wine leaps to the brain Foresters I iii 22
Red with his own and enemy's b— „ II i 32 soul of the woods hath stricken thro' my b, „ II i 67 one of those mercenaries that suck the b of England. „ II i 175
I wouldn't have thy b on my hearth. „ II i 356 clothes itself In maiden flesh and b, „ III 117
And thou wouldst run more wine than b. „ III 338
Boldness is in the b, Truth in the bottle. „ IV 240

Blooded See Black-blooded, Blue-blooded, Hot-blooded, Norman-blooded, Red-blooded

Bloodier Why, she's grown b! Queen Mary III i 416

Bloodless And look'd as b. „ II ii 84
What makes thy favour like the b head Fall'n on the block, „ V ii 19 mortal men should bear their earthly heats Into yon b world, Harold V i 285
A doll-face blanch'd and b, Becket IV ii 175

Blood-red that these Three rods of b-r fire up yonder Harold I i 44
This b-r line? Henry. Ay! blood, perchance, Becket, Pro. 174

Bloody King's courts would use thee worse than thy dog —they are too b. „ I iv 103

Bloom (s) To me, tho' all your b has died away, The Falcon 468

Bloom (verb) You b again, dead mountain-meadow flowers.' „ 470

Blossom (See also Myrtle-blossom) She to shut up my b in the dark! Harold I ii 62 one fancy hath taken root, and borne b too, Becket, Pro. 481 were more than I buzzing round the b— „ Pro. 522 wither'd wreath is of more worth to me Than all the b, The Falcon 339 never saw The land so rich in b as this year. „ 342 tree that my lord himself planted here in the b of his boyhood— „ 563 dead garland Will break once more into the living b. „ 920
The b had open'd on every bough; Prom. of May I 42
Look how full of rosy b it is. „ I 84
Theer be redder b's nor them, Miss Dora. „ I 85 they'll hev' a fine cider-crop to-year if the b 'owds. „ I 316
You, the most beautiful b of the May. „ I 574 happy as the bees there at their honey In these sweet b's. „ I 607
But, look, how wasteful of the b you are! „ I 612 upon me Thro' that rich cloud of b, „ II 250 the b of his youth, Has faded, falling fruitless— „ II 332
I that held the orange b Dark as the yew? „ II 629 whose whole life hath been folded like a b in the sheath, Foresters I i 206
I thank you, noble sir, the very b Of bandits. „ III 247 they that suffer by him call the b Of bandits, „ IV 372

Blossom'd sow'd therein The seed of Hate, it b Charity. Queen Mary IV i 172
That ever b on this English isle. Foresters I ii 124

Blossoming And a salt wind burnt the b trees; Prom. of May I 57

Blot I'll have the paper back—b out my name. Becket I iii 286

Blotch But what a b of blackness underneath! The Cup I ii 398

Blotted (See also Self-blotted) And b by her tears. This cannot last. Queen Mary V v 17
if a state submit At once, she may be b out The Cup I ii 157
That desolate letter, b with her tears, Prom. of May II 475

Blow (s) b's—Hark, there is battle at the palace gates, Queen Mary II iv 46
To strike too soon is oft to miss the b. „ III vi 72
The b that brains the horseman cleaves the horse, Harold V i 593
Nor ever strike him b for b; Prom. of May III 6

Blow (verb) b this Philip and all Your trouble to the dogstar Queen Mary I iv 290
Daisies grow again, Kingcups b again, „ III v 90
Which way does it b? Harold II ii 151
b the trumpet, priest! „ III i 188
we must fight. How b's the wind? „ III ii 135
William's or his own As wind b's, or tide flows: „ V i 163
As one that b's the coal to cool the fire. Becket V ii 548
Where do they b, Mr. Dobson? Prom. of May I 87
b upon it Three mots, this fashion—listen! Foresters IV 424 Wait till he b the horn. „ IV 787
I b the horn against this rascal rout! „ IV 794

Blow'd but Dumble wur b wi' the wind, Queen Mary IV iii 477 barrin' the wind, Dumble wur b wi' the wind, „ IV iii 494

Blowest Thou b hot and cold. Where is she then? Foresters II i 490
Why b thou not the horn? „ IV 790

Blowing there are trumpets b now: what is it? Queen Mary IV ii 13
Why are the trumpets b, Father Cole? „ IV ii 23
B for England, ha? Not yet. Harold II ii 152
The cold, white lily b in her cell: „ III i 274
A ghostly horn B continually, „ III i 373
Were the great trumpet b doomsday dawn, „ V i 227
B the world against me, Becket V ii 491
Not like the vintage b round your castle. The Falcon 579

Blown fate hath b me hither, bound me too Harold II ii 219 showers of blood are b Before a never ending blast, „ III i 394
He hath b himself as red as fire with curses. „ V i 86
B everyway with every gust and wreck On any rock; Prom. of May III 536
Her face on flame, her red hair all b back, Queen Mary II ii 70 for any rough sea B by the breath of kings. Becket II ii 108
B like a true son of the woods. Foresters IV 427

Blubber'd knelt And b like a lad, Queen Mary III i 150

Blue Philip shows Some of the bearing of your b blood— „ I v 434
This old thing here, they are but b beads—my Piero, The Falcon 48
And your eyes be as b as— Prom. of May I 91
Noä, Miss Dora; as b as— (repeat) „ I 95, 99
The sky? or the sea on a b day? Dobson. Naäy then. I meän'd they be as b as violets. „ I 101
An' the midders all mow'd, an' the sky sa b— (repeat) Prom. of May II 177, 189, 201
I'd like to leather 'im black and b, Prom. of May II 595

Bluebell B, harebell, speedwell, bluebottle, „ I 97 when I was a-getting o' b's for your ladyship's nose to smell on— Becket III i 162

Blue-blooded this fine b-b Courtenay seems Too princely for a pawn. Queen Mary I iii 165

Bluebottle speedwell, b, succory, forget-me-not? Prom. of May I 98

Bluff He comes, a rough, b, simple-looking fellow. The Cup I i 173

Blunt Ever a rough, b, and uncourtly fellow— Queen Mary V v 120

Blur would not b A moth's wing by the touching; Prom. of May II 491

Blurt But if thou b thy curse among our folk, Harold V i 89
B thy free mind to the air? Becket I iii 239

Blush Make b the maiden-white of our tall cliffs, Harold II ii 332

Blush'd That heaven wept and earth b. Queen Mary III iv 193 every doorway b, Dash'd red with that unhallow'd passover; Becket I iii 347

Bluster (verb) Come, you b, Antony! Queen Mary II i 118

Bluster (s) One of much outdoor b. „ II ii 381

Boar highback'd polecat, the wild b, The burrowing badger— Foresters I iii 120
Venison, and wild b, hare, geese, " IV 191
Board (for a game) thou hast kicked down the b. I know thee of old. Becket, Pro. 315
Board (ship) thy leave to set my feet On b, Harold I i 229
Board (table) See Banquet-board Boast (s) make your b that after all She means Queen Mary I iv 88
The pleasure of his eyes—b of his hand— The Falcon 221 Boast (verb) Let all that be. I b not: Becket V i 46
And b that he hath trampled it. Foresters I ii 112
Boat hardly, save by b, swimming, or wings. Queen Mary II iii 12
There yet is time, take b and pass to Windsor. " II iv 27 b's that follow'd, were as glowing-gay As regal gardens; " III ii 12 in that last inhospitable plunge Our b hath burst her ribs; Harold II i 3 drave and crack'd His b on Ponthieu beach; " II ii 36
Tho' all the world should go about in b's. Foresters IV 671
Boaz (a brass pillar, entrance to Solomon's Temple) Jo ! my two pillars, Jachin and B !— Harold III i 192
Bodily You do not own The b presence in the Eucharist, Queen Mary I ii 44
Look on me as I were thy b son, Becket I iii 263
Body (See also Beast-body) quiet as a dead b. (repeat) Queen Mary I iv 182, 187
I have sworn upon the b and blood of Christ " I v 214 and all rebellions lie Dead bodies without voice. " II i 80
Some fruit of mine own b after me, " II ii 223 Presenting the whole b of this realm Of England, " III iii 116 Lest your whole b should madden with the poison? " III iv 207 secular kingdom is but as the b Lacking a soul; " IV i 32 soul descending out of heaven Into a b generate. " IV i 36 before The flame had reach'd his b; " IV iii 616 and soft raiment about your b; " V iv 33 peril mine own soul By slaughter of the b? " V v 169
Harold slain?—I cannot find his b. Harold V ii 20
They are stripping the dead bodies naked yonder, " V ii 34
I am sure this b Is Alfwig, the king's uncle. " V ii 67
And what b is this? Edith. Harold, thy better! " V ii 87
Will not thy b rebel, man, if thou flatter it? Becket, Pro. 102 will be reflected in the spiritual b among the angels. " Pro. 397
The soul the b, and the Church the Throne, " I iii 717 and make Thy b loathsome even to thy child; " IV ii 172
b of that dead traitor Sinnatus. Bear him away. The Cup I iii 179 they ha' ta'en the b up inter your chaumber, and they be all a-callin' for ye. Prom. of May II 570
The b !—Heavens ! I come ! " II 572 given my whole b to the King had he asked for it, Foresters II i 306
Who hunger for the b, not the soul— " IV 700 Marriage is of the soul, not of the b. " IV 720
Boil'd burn'd, b, buried alive, worried by dogs; Queen Mary II i 210
Bold A b heart yours to beard that raging mob ! " I iii 96
You've a b heart; keep it so. " I iv 269 Wherefore be b, and with your lawful Prince " II ii 240
he hath been so b to-day, " II ii 347
Magdalen, sin is b as well as dull. " V ii 442 Stupid soldiers oft are b. " V ii 446
I would not be b, Yet hoped ere this you might— Becket III i 64 that I was b enough To take it down, The Falcon 427 Shall I be b? shall I touch her? Foresters I i 125 no men like Englishmen So tall and b as they be. " II i 8
Bolder why should I be b than the rest, Queen Mary III i 438
At your trial Never stood up a b man than you; " IV ii 122 Boldness I won by b once. " I v 548 was it b Or weakness that won there? " I v 559
No ! b, which will give my followers b. " II iii 70 happy b of this hand hath won it Love's alms, Becket II i 182
This friar is of much b, noble captain. Foresters IV 235
B out of the bottle ! " IV 238
B is in the blood, Truth in the bottle. " IV 240
Bole Pillaring a leaf-sky on their monstrous b's, " III 101
Boleyn Who knows if B's daughter be my sister? Queen Mary V v 194 a B, too, Glancing across the Tudor— " V v 227 Bolingbroke (Harry) See Harry Bolingbroke

Bolster'd Who so b up The gross King's headship Queen Mary III iv 244
O b up with stubbornness and pride, Becket I iii 34
Bolt (s) One, whose b's, That jail you from free life, Queen Mary III v 171
And b's of thunder moulded in high heaven Harold II ii 32 heavy As thine own b's that fall on crimeful heads " V i 565
That so the Papal b may pass by England, Becket, Pro. 226 to stay his hand Before he flash'd the b. " II i 275 Bolt (verb) And will you b them out, and have them slain? " V iii 60
Bond (See also Church-bond, Counter-bond) He did believe the b incestuous. Queen Mary I ii 77 Bonner, who hath lain so long under b's for the faith— " I iii 36 hatred of another to us Is no true b of friendship. " I iv 46
Be the rough preface of some closer b? " I iv 48
And thro' this common knot and b of love, " II ii 198
By b's of beeswax, like your creeping thing; " III iii 62
The b between the kingdoms be dissolved; " III iii 76 thou That layest so long in heretic b's with me; " III iv 280
And I: lead on; ye loose me from my b's. " IV ii 241 to cancel and abolish all b's of human allegiance, " V iv 50
For thou art truthful, and thy word thy b. Harold II ii 646
He call'd my word my b ! " II ii 666
Thy naked word thy b ! " II ii 693
Let all men here bear witness of our b ! " II ii 698
The worldly b between us is dissolved, Becket I i 347
Tho' she that binds the b, herself should see " I ii 76
If ever man by b's of gratefulness— " I iii 435 every b and debt and obligation Incurr'd as Chancellor. " I iii 710 broken Your b of peace, your treaty with the King— " V ii 350 Prate not of b's, for never, oh, never again " V ii 356
Bid their old b farewell with smiles, not tears; Prom. of May I 524
Altho' at first he take his b for flowers, " I 645
Down to the devil with this b that beggars me ! Foresters I i 340
Then that b he hath Of the Abbot— " IV 84
if they come I will not tear the b, " IV 98
What wilt thou do with the b then? " IV 105
I bring the b. " IV 109
There is our b. Robin. I thank thee. " IV 435 Here is my father's b. " IV 463 but you see the b and the letter of the law. " IV 505 Look o'er these b's, my liege. " IV 839 for the moment strike the b's From these three men, " IV 962
Bond-breaking Shall the waste voice of the b-b sea Becket V ii 358 Bone dog that snapt the shadow, dropt the b.— Harold I ii 189 our good King Kneels mumbling some old b— " II ii 469
The holy b's of all the Canonised " II ii 734
For swearing falsely by those blessed b's; " III i 247
Thou swarest falsely by our blessed b's, " V i 259
Give him a b, give him a b ! Becket I iv 108
Has left his b's upon the way to Rome Unwept, " II ii 409 once I wish'd to scourge them to the b's. The Cup I i 28 Bruised; but no b's broken. Prom. of May III 242
we be dogs that have only the b's, till we be only b's our own selves. Foresters I i 25
Bonner (Bishop of London) (See also Out-Bonner) B, who hath lain so long under bonds for the faith— Queen Mary I iii 35 Speak, friend B, And tell this learned Legate he lacks zeal. " III iv 271
A fine beard, B, a very full fine beard. " III iv 338
B, it will be carried. " III iv 405 Pleasure as well as duty, worthy B,— " III iv 430
B cannot out-Bonner his own self— " III vi 27 Gardiner burns, And B burns; " III vi 60 ay; if B have not forged the bills. " IV i 50 Writ by himself and B? " IV i 93
O B, if I ever did you kindness— " IV ii 152
My heart is no such block as B's is: " IV ii 174 this B or another Will in some lying fashion misreport " IV iii 325
'twas I and B did it, And Pole; " V v 141 Book (See also Booök) I in my country hall Been reading some old b, " III i 44 Hath not your Highness ever read his b, " IV i 91 take Such order with all bad, heretical b's " IV i 95 and retract That Eucharistic doctrine in your b. " IV ii 81 Without a friend, a b, my faith would seem Dead " IV ii 96

Book (continued) same b You wrote against my Lord of Winchester; Queen Mary IV iii 264
I hold by all I wrote within that b. „ IV iii 275
thank'd her father sweetly for his b Against that godless German. „ V v 237
There is a pleasant fable in old b's, Harold IV i 56 fur him as be handy wi' a b bean't but haäfe a hand at a pitchfork. Prom. of May I 188 for he's walking to us, and with a b in his hand. „ I 220
I'll git the b ageän, and larn mysen the rest, „ III 12
Bookman A b, flying from the heat and tussle, Queen Mary III iv 251
Boon (adj.) My comrade, b companion, my co-reveller, Becket I iii 460
Boon (s) Wyatt, but now you promised me a b. Queen Mary II iii 82
My life is not so happy, no such b, „ IV i 130
And after those twelve years a b, Harold I i 226
And afterwards a b to crave of you. The Falcon 712 to let me know the b By granting which, „ 766
First, king, a b! Foresters IV 945
Booök (book) An' I haätes b's an' all, fur they puts foälk off the owd waäys. Prom. of May I 221
Boot Your b's are from the horses. Queen Mary III v 180
O God, sir, do you look upon your b's, „ III v 191
I thought not on my b's; The devil take all b's „ III v 196 seëams to me the mark wur maäde by a Lunnon b. Prom. of May I 416 and I think ye weärs a Lunnon b. „ I 461 Boot (in addition) A man of this world and the next to b. Becket, Pro. 259 and the weight of the church to b on my shoulders, Foresters I ii 58
Booth citizens Stood each before his shut-up b, Queen Mary II ii 63
Booty a troop, Laden with b and with a flag of ours The Falcon 612 Bore I never found he b me any spite. Queen Mary V ii 474
Of this dead King, who never b revenge. Harold V ii 85
My mother, ere she b me, Dream'd that twelve stars Becket I i 45
When Canterbury hardly b a name. „ I iii 60
As once he b the standard of the Angles, „ I iii 494
—the love you said you b me— The Falcon 858
Push'd from all doors as if we b the plague, Prom. of May III 804
Born (See also Burn, English-born, Galatian-born, Half-born, True-born) thou was b i' the tail end of old Harry the Seventh. Queen Mary I i 42
I was b true man at five in the forenoon „ I i 45
I was b of a true man and a ring'd wife, „ I i 54
True, Mary was b, But France would not accept her for a bride As being b from incest; „ I ii 66
Yea, were there issue b to her, „ I v 301
Would I had been B Spaniard! „ III iii 246
If such a prince were b and you not here! „ III vi 203
I should be here if such a prince were b. „ III vi 206 to get her baaby b; „ IV iii 524 in her agony The mother came upon her—a child was b— „ V iv 21 wise and holy men That shall be b hereafter. Harold III i 210 laughter in old Rome Before a Pope was b, „ III ii 165
Not made but b, like the great king of all, „ IV i 85
Wild was he, b so: but the plots against him „ IV i 110 for a spark Of self-disdain b in me „ V i 302
My day when I was b. „ V ii 122
I was b with it, and sulphur won't bring it out o' me. Becket I iv 232
Love that is b of the deep coming up with the sun from the sea. (repeat) „ II i 9, 19
A bastard hate b of a former love. „ II i 174
I had sooner have been b a Mussulman— „ II ii 145
And this no wife has b you four brave sons, „ V i 125
On a Tuesday was I b, „ V ii 284
Because thou wast b excommunicate. „ V ii 472 slayest the babe within the womb Or in the being b, The Cup II 280 wasn't my lady b with a golden spoon in her ladyship's mouth, The Falcon 401 left his heir, B, happily, with some sense of art, Prom. of May I 497 though fortune had b you into the estate of a gentleman, „ II 120
O this mortal house, Which we are b into, „ II 274
Yet I, b here, not only love the country, „ II 544 Wasn't Miss Vavasour, our schoolmistress at Little-chester, a lady b? „ III 299 shamed of her among The ladies, b his equals. „ III 582
—they were b and bred on it—it was their mother— Foresters I i 332

Born (continued) saints were so kind to both on us that he was dead before he was b. Foresters II i 374 Borne (See also Shield-borne) And their strong torment bravely b, Queen Mary III iv 168 they see not how they are b, Nor whither. „ IV iii 410 Good for good hath b at times Harold V i 174 one fancy hath taken root, and b blossom too, Becket, Pro. 481
You had not b it, no, not for a day. „ II ii 305 Borrowed he b the monies from the Abbot of York, the Sheriff's brother. Foresters I i 67 it was agreed when you b these monies from the Abbot „ IV 466
Bosham To-morrow—first to B, then to Flanders. Harold I ii 239
Better have been A fisherman at B, my good Herbert, Becket II ii 292 Bosom (adj.) Should fly like b friends when needed most. The Falcon 527 Bosom (s) come to cast herself On loyal hearts and b's, Queen Mary II ii 263 received into the b And unity of Universal Church; „ III iii 154 we restore you to the b And unity of Universal Church. „ III iii 220
And put it in my b, and all at once I felt his arms „ V v 98
Trampling thy mother's b into blood? Harold IV ii 26 twelve stars fell glittering out of heaven Into her b. Becket I i 48
And Becket had my b on all this; „ I iii 433
To rest upon thy b and forget him— „ II i 31
Beware of opening out thy b to it, „ III iii 30 that b never Heaved under the King's hand „ IV ii 188
This in thy b, fool, And after in thy bastard's! „ IV ii 257
Bottle like a b full up to the cork, or as hollow as a kex, Foresters IV 210
He hath got it from the b, noble knight. „ IV 237
Boldness out of the b! „ IV 239
Boldness is in the blood, Truth in the b. „ IV 241 so she glided up into the heart O' the b, „ IV 245 Bottom not even Hope Left at the b! Prom. of May II 349
We are almost at the b of the well: „ III 161 as they call it so truly, to the grave at the b, „ III 193
why did you write 'Seek me at the b of the river'? „ III 364 Hoäm? fro' the b o' the river? „ III 443
She lay so long at the b of her well Foresters IV 242
The deer fell dead to the b, „ IV 543
Bough shot out sidelong b's across the deep Harold III i 150
Were there no b's to hang on, Rivers to drown in? The Cup I ii 77
The blossom had open'd on every b; Prom. of May I 42
The tawny squirrel vaulting thro' the b's, Foresters I iii 118
Bought (See also Bowt) God rest his honest soul, he b 'em for me, The Falcon 49
She rich enough to have b it for herself! „ 62
But the King hath b half the College of Redhats. Becket II ii 373
Bound (limit) More like a school-boy that hath broken b's, Queen Mary I v 171
Put on your hood and see me to the b's. Becket III i 95
That your own people cast you from their b's, The Cup I i 138 Bound (part) if I save him, he and his Are b to me— Queen Mary II iv 125 and when her innocent eyes were b, „ III i 406 Philip by these articles is b From stirring hand or foot „ III iii 59
b me too With bitter obligation to the Count— Harold II ii 219
I am doubly b to thee . . . „ II ii 557
Ay! No!—he hath not b me by an oath— „ II ii 660
I mean to be a liar—I am not b— „ II ii 797 we be not b by the king's voice In making of a king, „ III i 236
Rood itself were b To that necessity which binds us down; „ V i 107 to whom thou art b By Holy Church. Becket, Pro. 67 be b Behind the back like laymen-criminals? „ I iii 95
For which the King was b security. „ I iii 645
I am b For that one hour to stay with good King Louis, „ III iii 246
Or else be b and beaten. (repeat) Foresters III 370, 390
Bound (past of bind) chain, Wherewith they b him to the stake, Queen Mary IV iii 596
And b me by his love to secrecy Till his own time. Becket III i 228 but I b the seller To silence, The Falcon 72
I b myself, and by a solemn vow, „ 679
Bound (verb) And doth so b and babble all the way Queen Mary V v 86
Wherever the horn sound, and the buck b, Foresters III 346
Wherever the buck b, and the horn sound, „ III 355 Bounden ruler of a land Is b by his power and place to see Queen Mary III iv 212 and would myself Be b to thee more. Harold II ii 561

Bounden (continued) The crime be on his head—not b—no. Harold II ii 670 Being b by my coronation oath To do men justice. Becket I iii 396 holy Palmer, b by a vow not to show his face, Foresters I ii 236
Boundless I always hated b arrogance. Becket V i 12
Here crawling in this b Nature. Prom. of May III 637
Bounteous the b bays And havens filling with a blissful sea. The Cup II 234
Bourne I cannot catch what Father B is saying. Queen Mary I iii 14
Old B to the life ! „ I iii 30
Bout Come now, I fain would have a b with thee. Foresters II i 552 but thyself Shalt play a b with me, „ IV 252
I am overbreathed, Friar, by my two b's at quarter-staff. „ IV 267
Bow (s) (See also Saddle-bow) battle-axe Was out of place ; it should have been the b.— Harold I ii 107 and Death has drawn the b— „ III i 401 Give him a b and arrows—follow—follow. The Cup I i 208 shoot almost as closely with the b as the great Earl himself. Foresters I i 216 but who be those three yonder with b's ?— „ II i 172 who art more bow-bent than the very b thou carriest ? „ II i 378
This is no b to hit nightingales ; this is a true woodman's b of the best yew-wood to slay the deer. „ II i 391
Take thou my b and arrow and compel them to pay toll. „ III 263
Give me my b and arrows. „ IV 603
Bow (verb) wherefore b ye not, says Lady Anne, Queen Mary I v 45
Lords and Commons will b down before him— „ III i 433
He b's, he bares his head, he is coming hither. Becket III iii 34 or I Would b to such a baseness as would make me „ IV ii 234
But crowns must b when mitres sit so high. „ IV ii 297
Life yields to death and wisdom b's to Fate, The Cup II 89
Bow-bent who art more b-b than the very bow thou carriest ? „ II i 378
Bow'd (part. and adj.) over his b shoulder Scowl'd that world-hated and world-hating beast, Queen Mary II ii 89
Men now are b and old, the doctors tell you, „ III iv 408
Now, even now, when b before my time, „ V ii 64
They told me that the Holy Rood had lean'd And b above me ; Harold V i 104
b To the earth he came from, to the grave he goes to, Prom. of May III 514
B to the dust beneath the burthen of sin. „ III 521
Had she but b herself to meet the wave Becket IV ii 388 Bow'd (verb) and the Lady Anne B to the Pyx ; Queen Mary I v 42 all the rest of England b theirs to the Norman, „ II i 160
Whether it b at all but in their fancy ; Or if it b, Harold V i 109
the Holy Rood That b to me at Waltham— „ V i 383
Bowel bury her Even in the b's of the earth Foresters III 462 Bower (See also Haveringatte-bower, Vine-bower) I have built a secret b in England, Thomas, Becket, Pro. 153 take her from her secret b in Anjou And pass her to her secret b in England. „ Pro. 181
This chart with the red line ! her b ! whose b ? „ Pro. 308 one rose will outblossom the rest, one rose in a b. „ Pro. 346 chart with the red line—thou sawest it—her b.
Fitzurse. Rosamund's ? „ Pro. 428
To pass thee to thy secret b to-morrow. „ I i 249 Must speed you to your b at once. „ I i 291 heard her cry ' Where is this b of mine ? ' „ I ii 42
With the red line—' her b.' „ I ii 62 thou my golden dream of Love's own b, „ II i 35 Thine enemy knows the secret of my b. „ II i 265 warder of the b hath given himself Of late to wine. „ III i 30
Springs from the loneliness of my poor b, „ III i 41
My Anjou b was scarce as beautiful. „ III i 52
Babble in b Under the rose ! „ III i 96
Kiss in the b, Tit on the tree ! „ III i 104
John of Salisbury committed The secret of the b, „ III iii 6
Know you not this b is secret, „ IV ii 22
Found out her secret b and murder'd her. „ V i 175
Your Becket knew the secret of your b. „ V i 178
The monk's disguise thou gavest me for my b : „ V ii 94
When first he meets his maiden in a b. The Cup I iii 42
I have lodged my pretty Katekin in her b. Foresters II i 418
Bowering-in myrtle, b-i The city where she dwells. The Cup I i 3
Bower-maiden Only my best b-m died of late, Becket III i 67
Bowing his fine-cut face b and beaming with all that courtesy „ III iii 141 Bowl b my ancestor Fetch'd from the farthest east— The Falcon 483 as she has broken My china b. „ 524
Bowl'd no man yet has ever b me down. Foresters IV 288 more of a man than to be b over like a ninepin. „ IV 304
Bowman Our bowmen are so true They strike the deer „ IV 524
Bowstring By arrow and by b, „ III 442
Bowt (bought) an' it belongs to the Steers ageän : I b it back ageän ; Prom. of May III 452
Boxed if you b the Pope's ears with a purse, you might stagger him, Becket II ii 370
Boy (See also School-boy) After him b's ! and pelt him from the city. Queen Mary I iii 85 while the b she held Mimick'd and piped her „ II ii 72
So wife-like humble to the trivial b „ III i 364 seven-years' friend was with me, my young b ; „ III iii 48
the b Not out of him—but neither cold, „ V ii 480
I am eleven years older than he, Poor b ! „ V v 47
That was a lusty b of twenty-seven ; „ V v 48
Why—how they fought when b's— Harold I i 430
Why, b's will fight. Leofwin would often fight me, „ I i 433
The b would fist me hard, and when we fought „ I i 444
Thou art the Queen ; ye are b and girl no more : „ I i 455 stuff'd the b with fears that these may act „ II ii 90
Father. William. Well, b. „ II ii 104
Why, b ? Rufus. Because I broke The horse's leg— „ II ii 108 methinks, my b, Thy fears infect me beyond reason. „ II ii 450
B, thou hast forgotten That thou art English. „ II ii 473
I have lost the b who play'd at ball with me, „ IV iii 21
How the b grows ! Becket II i 217
Dost thou know, my b, what it is to be Chancellor of England ? „ II i 231
It is, my b, to side with the King when Chancellor, „ II i 235
Here is a ball, my b, thy world, „ II i 244
A pretty lusty b. Rosamund. So like to thee ; „ II i 247
I spoke of late to the b, he answer'd me, „ II ii 5
I love thy mother, my pretty b. „ IV i 45
The b so late ; pray God, he be not lost. „ IV ii 1
Geoffrey, my b, I saw the ball you lost „ IV ii 56
—let me go With my young b, „ IV ii 98 beg my bread along the world With my young b, „ IV ii 104
Then is thy pretty b a bastard ? „ IV ii 112
I will fly with my sweet b to heaven, „ IV ii 237
Even when you both were b's at Theobald's. „ V i 10
How fares thy pretty b, the little Geoffrey ? „ V ii 167
Mine enemies barr'd all access to the b. „ V ii 452
B, dost thou know the house of Sinnatus ? The Cup I i 49
My b, Take thou this letter and this cup „ I i 60
Why, whither runs the b ? „ I i 70
I had once A b who died a babe ; „ I ii 149
As helplessly as some unbearded b's „ I iii 40 or after slayest him As b or man, „ II 281
O my sick b ! My daily fading Florio, The Falcon 235
But my b—No, no ! not yet— „ 303
That bright inheritor of your eyes—your b ? „ 307
How charm'd he was ! what wonder ?—A gallant b, „ 319 love for my dying b, Moves me to ask it of you. „ 787
How often has my sick b yearn'd for this ! „ 829
The b may die : more blessed were the rags „ 850
Our men and b's would hoot him, stone him, Prom. of May II 425 the b was taken prisoner by the Moors. Foresters I i 60
Come, b ! 'tis but to see if thou canst fence. „ II i 571
I am like a b now going to be whipt ; „ II ii 50
' This b will never wed the maid he loves, „ II ii 111 Boyhood knew battle, And that was from my b, Harold V ii 175 tree that my lord himself planted here in the blossom of his b— The Falcon 564 Boy-king b-k, with his fast-fading eyes Fixt hard Queen Mary I ii 30
Brace Out of the church, you b of cursed crones, „ IV iii 539
Braced Are b and brazen'd up with Christmas wines Becket V ii 423 Bracelet A man may hang gold b's on a bush, Harold II i 87
Bracken Lusty b beaten flat, Foresters II ii 154

Bragging is he b still that he will come Harold IV iii 124
Brain (s) what, have you eyes, ears, b's ? Queen Mary II i 97
Your father had a b that beat men down— „ IV i 110
With nothing but my battle-axe and him To spatter his b's ! Harold II ii 781
All my b is full of sleep. The Cup I ii 445 thro' the blood the wine leaps to the b Foresters I iii 23
if you care to drag your b's for such a minnow. „ II i 323 Brain (verb) I have a mind to b thee with mine axe. Harold II i 73 blow that b's the horseman cleaves the horse, „ V i 593 Brain-dazing After the long b-d colloquies, Queen Mary IV ii 92
Brain-dizzied B-d with a draught of morning ale. „ II i 71
Brain'd Methought they would have b me with it, John. Becket V ii 612 Brainless over this the b loons That cannot spell Esaïas from St. Paul, Queen Mary III i 280
Brake (See also Broke) those hard men b into woman-tears, Ev'n Gardiner, „ I v 564 some fool that once B bread with us, perhaps : „ III v 45
Who b into Lord Tostig's treasure-house Harold IV i 114
Before these bandits b into your presence. Becket V ii 556
Branch (See also Olive-branch) Would'st thou not burn and blast them root and b ? Queen Mary III iv 283
Brand (a sword) flings His b in air and catches it again, Harold V i 494
Brand (verb) So b's me in the stare of Christendom A heretic ! Queen Mary V ii 62
Brandish With hands too limp to b iron— Harold V i 449
Brandish'd See Treble-brandish'd
Brass Swarm to thy voice like bees to the b pan. Foresters I iii 108
Brat The washerwoman's b ! Harold IV iii 172
Brave (adj.) For all that, Most honest, b, and skilful ; Queen Mary II ii 383
No, girl ; most b and loyal, b and loyal. „ II iv 11
b Lord William Thrust him from Ludgate, „ II iv 91
There's a b man, if any. „ III i 175 Might it not be the other side rejoicing In his b end ? „ IV iii 358 that our b English Had sallied out from Calais „ V ii 255
B, wary, sane to the heart of her— „ V v 224
And being b he must be subtly cow'd, Harold II ii 75 thou, b banner, Blaze like a night of fatal stars „ IV i 250
No, no—b Gurth, one gash from brow to knee ! „ V ii 70
Hate him ? as b a soldier as Henry and a goodlier man : Becket, Pro. 436
And this no wife has born you four b sons, „ V i 125
Why said you not as much to my b Sinnatus ? The Cup I ii 260
B—ay—too b, too over-confident, „ I ii 261
a b one Which you shall see to-morrow. „ I ii 431
That this b heart of mine should shake me so, „ I iii 38
I am sure that more than one b fellow owed His death The Falcon 633
Nothing but my b bird, my noble falcon, „ 873
She struck him, my b Marian, struck the Prince, Foresters II i 134
A b old fellow but he angers me. „ II i 471
he As gentle as he's b— „ II i 659
I know not, can I trust myself With your b band ? „ II i 704
Honour to thee, b Marian, and thy Kate. „ III 299
For our b Robin is a man indeed. „ IV 1037
Brave (verb) Nay, nay, my lord, thou must not b the King. Becket I iii 515
I must hence to b The Pope, King Louis, and this turbulent priest. „ II i 311
To break the barons, and now b's the King. „ V i 235
I dare not b my brother, Break with my kin. The Falcon 255
I cannot b my brother—but be sure „ 741
Braved Hadst thou been braver, I had better b All— Harold III ii 179 Brave-hearted My b-h Rose ! Hath he ever been to see thee ? Becket II i 287
Braver Hadst thou been b, I had better braved All— Harold III ii 178 Bravest b in our roll of Primates down From Austin— Becket V ii 58 the b English heart Since Hereward the Wake Foresters II i 686
Brawl (s) witness the b's, the gibbets. Queen Mary V i 85
Peace, friends ! what idle b is this ? Becket I ii 3 Wakening such b's and loud disturbances In England, „ V ii 352 brazen'd up with Christmas wines For any murderous b. „ V ii 425 yet they prate Of mine, my b's, when those, „ V ii 427
This last to rid thee of a world of b's ! „ V iii 199
His grandsire struck my grandsire in a b At Florence, The Falcon 251
Brawl (verb) You b beyond the question ; speak, Lord Legate ! Queen Mary III iv 97
Brawler torn Down the strong wave of b's. Queen Mary III i 186
Even this b of harsh truths— Foresters IV 948
Brawlest O brook, that b merrily by Prom. of May III 201
Brazen'd Are braced and b up with Christmas wines Becket V ii 423 Bread (See also Manchet-bread) when the traitor wife came out for b Queen Mary III i 12 fool that once Brake b with us, perhaps : „ III v 45 Fed with rank b that crawl'd upon the tongue, „ IV iii 442 had they remained true to me whose b they have partaken. Becket I iv 150 live by the King's venison and the b o' the Lord, „ I iv 272 gaping bills in the home-nest Piping for b— „ II ii 301 and to win my own b, „ III i 118
I will beg my b along the world With my young boy, „ IV ii 103
The slave that eat my b has kick'd his King ! „ V i 242
How oft in coming hast thou broken b ? Harold IV iii 200
No b ? Filippo. Half a breakfast for a rat ! The Falcon 122
Sour milk and black b. Foresters II i 272 and her b is beyond me : and the milk—faugh ! „ II i 292
In the sweat of thy brow, says Holy Writ, shalt thou eat b, „ IV 202
Breadth What b, height, strength—torrents of eddying bark ! „ III 94
Break draw back your heads and your horns before I b them, Queen Mary I i 5
Pray God he do not be the first to b them, „ I v 269
It b's my heart to hear her moan at night „ I v 603
These Kentish ploughmen cannot b the guards. „ II iv 17
The King of France will help to b it. „ III i 105
Beheld our rough forefathers b their Gods, „ III ii 120
You must b them or they b you. „ III ii 205
B's into feather'd merriments, „ III v 13
Whose colours in a moment b and fly, „ IV iii 169
Whose colours in a moment b and fly ! ' „ V ii 206
And b your paces in, and make you tame ; „ V iii 121 to b down all kingship and queenship, „ V iv 47 for thy brother b's us With over-taxing— Harold I i 109 lest they rear and run And b both neck and axle. „ I i 374 close as our shield-wall, Who b's us then ? „ I i 400 to swear Vows that he dare not b. „ II ii 77
—it was mine own to b ; „ II ii 111
I like to have my toys, and b them too. „ II ii 112
And may I b his legs ? „ II ii 115
Tho' scarce at ease ; for, save our meshes b, „ II ii 141
Or is it the same sin to b my work As b mine oath ? „ II ii 664 Enough ! Thou wilt not b it ! „ II ii 753
Ye take a stick, and b it ; „ IV i 57
Who made this Britain England, b the North : „ IV iii 154
B the banquet up . . . Ye four ! „ IV iii 231 our shield wall—Wall—b it not—b not—b— „ V i 233 made too good an use of Holy Church To b her close ! „ V i 314 he holp the King to b down our castles, Becket, Pro. 447
it is the will of God To b me, „ I iii 292
Nay, if I cannot b him as the prelate, „ I iii 333
If pretty Geoffrey do not b his own, „ IV ii 177 striving still to b or bind The spiritual giant „ IV ii 442
And b the soul from earth. „ V i 44 for he did his best To b the barons, „ V i 235 till it b Into young angels. „ V ii 256
Antonius would not suffer me to b Into the sanctuary. The Cup I iii 120
They will b in the earth—I am sinking— „ II 477
I dare not brave my brother, B with my kin. The Falcon 257
I come this day to b my fast with you. „ 276
I did b it, my lord : it is broken ! „ 494
How shall I b it to him ? how shall I tell him ? „ 848
I b with him for ever ! „ 889 dead garland Will b once more into the living blossom. „ 919
She will b fence. I can't keep her in order. Prom. of May I 194 rough road That b's off short into the abysses— „ I 230
There ! let me b some off for you. „ I 609
B's thro' them, and so flies away for ever ; „ I 650
If that should b before we meet again ? „ I 755
B ! nay, but call for Philip when you will, „ I 757
And as ready to b it again. „ III 86
I think That I should b my heart, „ III 556

Break (continued) I would b through them all, like the King of England. Foresters I i 325
I will b thy sconce with my quarterstaff. „ I ii 75
Who b's the stillness of the morning thus? „ I iii 50
Why b you thus upon my lonely hour? „ II i 93
b it all to pieces, as you b the poor, „ II i 285
he would b, Far as he might, the power of John— „ II i 695
To b our band and scatter us to the winds. „ III 453
The chief of these outlaws who b the law? „ IV 141 being out of the law how should we b the law? if we broke into it again we should b the law, „ IV 145
B thine alliance with this faithless John, „ IV 323
I cannot b it, Robin, if I wish'd. „ IV 327
Then on the instant I will b thy head. „ IV 680
That thou wilt b our forest laws again „ IV 888
They b thy forest laws—nay, by the rood „ IV 907 which longs to b itself across their backs. „ IV 918
And have thy fees, and b the law no more. „ IV 955
Breakage his achage and his b, if that were all: Queen Mary I i 128
we never use it For fear of b— The Falcon 487
Breaker the great b beats upon the beach! Foresters I ii 323
Breakfast No bread? Filippo. Half a b for a rat! The Falcon 123
Call him back and say I come to b with him. „ 213
Holy Mother! To b! „ 215
Breaking (part.) (See also Bond-breaking) Is guiltier keeping this, than b it. Harold III i 231
the nightmare b on my peace 'With Becket.' Becket II i 36
O God! some dreadful truth is b on me— „ III i 266
B already from thy noviciate To plunge „ V ii 79
Battering the doors, and b thro' the walls? „ V ii 626
Fairy realm is b down Foresters II ii 134
Breaking (s) His b with Northumberland broke Northumberland. Queen Mary II iv 13
A day may save a heart from b too. „ III vi 241 what with the fear of b it, I did break it, The Falcon 494 and my father's b down, and his blindness. Prom. of May II 69
Breast (s) natural brother Of the same roof, same b. Queen Mary IV iii 191
The babe enwomb'd and at the b is cursed, Harold V i 65
Parthian shaft of a forlorn Cupid at the King's left b, Becket, Pro. 340
On this left b before so hard a heart, „ Pro. 375
I put the bitters on my b to wean him, The Falcon 190 but in the sweat of thy brow, and thy b, Foresters IV 203
Breast (verb) there make strength to b Whatever chance, Harold V i 127 Breasted See Many-breasted Breath Did not his last b Clear Courtenay Queen Mary III i 134
All her b should, inconselike, Rise to the heavens „ III iii 163
it takes my b: „ III v 190
All that is gracious in the b of heaven „ III vi 224
Pray with one b, one heart, one soul for me. „ IV iii 104
Beauty passes like a b and love is lost in loathing: „ V ii 365
He hath swoon'd! Death? . . . no, as yet a b. Harold III i 319
A b that fleets beyond this iron world, „ III ii 197 link rusts with the b of the first after-marriage kiss, Becket, Pro. 361 there stole into the city a b Full of the meadows, „ I i 262
—John, and out of b! „ I i 389 and they do say the very b catches. „ I iv 222 stay it But for a b. „ II i 178 any rough sea Blown by the b of kings. „ II ii 108
Thou whose b Is balmy wind to robe The Cup II 264 Breathe let them sit. I must have time to b. Queen Mary I v 546 that she b's in England Is life and lungs „ III vi 49
And every soul of man that b's therein. „ III vi 107
B the free wind from off our Saxon downs, Harold II ii 186 for the sake Of any king that b's. Becket II ii 221
I know—could swear—as long as Becket b's, „ V i 77
And b one prayer for my liege-lord the King, „ V ii 191 the great Archbishop! Does he b? No? „ V iii 203
That I might b for a moment free of shield Foresters IV 128
I b Heaven's air, and Heaven looks down on me, „ IV 725
Then, if ye cannot b but woodland air, „ IV 952
Breathed (See also Over-breathed) Girl never b to rival such a rose; Queen Mary III i 372
I never b it to a bird in the eaves, „ V ii 453 since I b, A houseless head beneath the sun Foresters II i 63 lips that never b Love's falsehood to true maid „ IV 72
Breathing (part.) B an easy gladness . . . not like Aldwyth . . . Harold I ii 174
Breathing (s) Like sun-gilt b's on a frosty dawn— Queen Mary V iii 50
Or in the balmy b's of the night, Foresters IV 1068
Breathing-time But in this narrow b-t of life The Cup I i 29
Breathing-while a b-w To rest upon thy bosom Becket II i 29
Breathless lying chain'd In b dungeons over steaming sewers, Queen Mary IV iii 440
Bred That b the doubt! but I am wiser now . . . Harold V ii 111 Tho' I b thee The full-train'd marvel The Falcon 24
—they were born and b on it—it was their mother— Foresters I i 332
Traitors are rarely b Save under traitor kings. „ II i 80 only they that be b in it can find their way a-nights in it. „ II i 264 Breed (s) Two vipers of one b—an amphisbæna, Queen Mary III iv 39
Thy b will die with thee, and mine with me: The Falcon 18
A noble bird, each perfect of the b. „ 320
A nobler b of men and women. „ 755 Breed (verb) And if I b confusion anyway— Queen Mary I iii 93 world would grow mouldy, would only b the past again. Becket, Pro. 410
And if my pleasure b another's pain, Prom. of May I 278 Breeding (See also Fever-breeding) In b godless vermin. Queen Mary III iv 329
b A fierce resolve and fixt heart-hate „ III vi 31 Breeze which a b of May Took ever and anon, The Cup I ii 406
Brethren (See also Brother) Behold him, b: he hath cause to weep!— Queen Mary IV iii 13
I pray you all to live together Like b; „ IV iii 182 seeming not as b, But mortal foes! „ IV iii 185 Hear him, my good b. „ IV iii 227
Join hands, let b dwell in unity; Harold I i 397
To help us from their b yonder? „ III i 221
Can ye not Be b? Godwin still at feud with Alfgar, „ IV i 123
Have thy two b sent their forces in? „ V i 342 have I fought men Like Harold and his b, „ V ii 179 Stay, Dine with my b here, Foresters IV 346
Brett (adherent of Wyatt) You know that after The Captain B, Queen Mary II ii 26
B, when the Duke of Norfolk moved against us „ II iii 1 for which I love thee, B. „ II iii 6
Last night I climb'd into the gate-house, B, „ II iii 15
Brevity Tit, for love and b, Foresters II ii 128
Brew To sing, love, marry, churn, b, bake, and die, Queen Mary III v 111
b from out This Godstow-Becket intermeddling Becket IV ii 455
I can bake and I can b, Foresters I i 215
Brew'd what an acrid wine has Luther b, Queen Mary IV iii 545 and she b the best ale in all Glo'ster, Becket III i 196 Briar Wi' the b sa green, an' the willer sa graäy, Prom. of May II 186 Bribe b's our nobles with her gold, Queen Mary II i 202 but they b Each other, and so often, Harold I i 346
—b all the Cardinals— Becket II ii 473 Bribed Except this old hag have been b to lie. Robin.
We old hags should be b to speak truth, Foresters II i 235
Brickwork This labyrinthine b maze in maze, Becket, Pro. 166
Bridal tore away My marriage ring, and rent my b veil; Harold I ii 80
Like the Love-goddess, with no b veil, Prom. of May I 596
Bride France would not accept her for a b Queen Mary I ii 68
Were I in Devon with my wedded b, „ I iv 119
Had mark'd her for my brother Edward's b; „ I v 290
I live and die The true and faithful b of Philip— „ II iv 43
To purchase for Himself a stainless b; „ III iii 205
White as the light, the spotless b of Christ, „ III iv 199
King hath wearied of his barren b.' „ III vi 141
there is one Death stands behind the B— „ V ii 168
B of the mightiest sovereign upon earth? „ V ii 544
Hail! Harold! Aldwyth! hail, bridegroom and b! Harold IV iii 2
Hail, Harold, Aldwyth! Bridegroom and b! „ IV iii 43
Full thanks for your fair greeting of my b! „ IV iii 47
I could not: Thou art my b! „ V i 322
Who but the bridegroom dares to judge the b. Becket I iii 686 thought if it were the King's brother he had a better b than the King, „ III i 173
I had dream'd I was the b of England, and a queen. „ V i 103 while you dream'd you were the b of England,— „ V i 105 and our Mother Church for b; „ V ii 222

Bride (continued) And Camma for my b—The people love her— The Cup I iii 152
I am the b of Death, and only Marry the dead. „ II 28
The king should pace on purple to his b, „ II 190
She too—she too—the b ! the Queen ! and I— „ II 467
An outlaw's b may not be wife in law. Foresters II ii 90
This other, willy-nilly, for his b. „ IV 768
Bridegroom (See also Groom) How should he bear a b out of Spain ? Queen Mary III iii 25
But softly as a b to his own. Harold II ii 758
Hail ! Harold ! Aldwyth ! hail, b and bride ! „ IV iii 2
Hail, Harold, Aldwyth ! B and bride ! „ IV iii 43
Who but the b dares to judge the bride. Or he the b may appoint ? Becket I iii 685
Brideless The b Becket is thy king and mine : „ V i 107
Bridesmaid Our b's are not lovely—Disappointment, Queen Mary V ii 154 Bridge And broken b, or spavin'd horse, „ I v 355 thro' thine help we are come to London B ; „ II iii 9
On over London B We cannot : stay we cannot ; „ II iii 41
we must round By Kingston B. „ II iii 48
And then a brook, a b ; Becket, Pro. 164
This b again ! How often have I stood With Eva here ! Prom. of May II 295 madman, is it, Gesticulating there upon the b ? „ II 327
I dozed upon the b, and the black river „ II 649 dead midnight when I came upon the b ; „ III 369
Bridged and brooks Were b and damm'd with dead, Harold III ii 130
Brief it is an age Of b life, and b purpose, and b patience, As I have shown to-day. Queen Mary III iv 413
Care more for our b life in their wet land, „ III vi 62
Latimer Had a b end—not Ridley. „ IV ii 225 in b, so miserable, „ IV iii 78
Hath, like a b and bitter winter's day, „ IV iii 430
Suffer not That my b reign in England be defamed „ V ii 302
Brief-sighted And warble those b-s eyes of hers ? „ III vi 155
B-s tho' they be, I have seen them, „ III vi 157
Bright And dazzled men and deafen'd by some b Loud venture, „ III i 452 the b sky cleave To the very feet of God, Harold II ii 741 the b link rusts with the breath of the first after-marriage kiss, Becket, Pro. 361
Gleam upon gloom, B as my dream, „ III i 278
To-day they are fixt and b— The Cup II 20
Ay, how is he, That b inheritor of your eyes—your boy ? The Falcon 306
And the day's b like a friend, Prom. of May I 79
I remember Her b face beaming starlike down upon me „ II 248
To sleep ! to sleep ! The long b day is done, Foresters I iii 41
So now the forest lawns are all as b As ways to heaven, „ II i 631
Brighten or it is but past That b's in retiring ? Prom. of May II 645 Brighter Cousin Pole, You are fresh from b lands. Queen Mary III iv 322 this world Is b for his absence as that other Is darker for his presence. Prom. of May II 458 but if you Can tell me anything of our sweet Eva When in her b girlhood, „ II 521 Brightest In Britain's calendar the b day Queen Mary III ii 118
Brim Fill to the b. Foresters III 343
To the b and over till the green earth „ III 349
Brimming green field Beside the b Medway, Queen Mary II i 244
Bring I do but b the message, know no more. „ I iv 228
I'll have one mark it And b it me. „ I v 373 messenger Who b's that letter which we waited for— „ I v 586
This marriage should b loss or danger to you, „ II ii 227
Find out his name and b it to me „ III i 253
Legate's coming To b us absolution from the Pope. „ III i 432 second actor in this pageant That b's him in ; „ III iii 15
To b the heretic to the stake, „ III iv 9
' I come not to b peace but a sword ' ? „ III iv 88 sends His careful dog to b them to the fold. „ III iv 105
And, whether it b you bitter news or sweet, „ III v 201 b it Home to the leisure wisdom of his Queen, „ III vi 22 lo ! thou art reclaim'd ; He b's thee home : „ IV iii 84 you b the smoke Of Cranmer's burning with you. „ IV iii 560
B's the new learning back. „ V i 202
My liege, I b you goodly tidings. „ V i 279

Bring (continued) Why do you b me these ? Queen Mary V ii 185
Why do they b me these ? „ V ii 198
he may b you news from Philip. „ V ii 229
I b your Majesty such grievous news I grieve to b it. „ V ii 239
Alice, my child, B us your lute. „ V ii 357
No, no, he b's a letter. „ V ii 548 to read the letter which you b. Feria. Madam, I b no letter. Mary. How ! no letter ? „ V ii 556 that I am in state to b forth death— „ V ii 592
I pray thee, let me hence and b him home. Harold I i 241 thunder may b down That which the flash „ I ii 234
I want thy voice with him to b him round ; „ II ii 73 make A league with William, so to b him back ? „ II ii 461 wilt thou b another, Edith, upon his head ? „ III i 260
B not thy hollowness On our full feast. „ IV iii 203
b her to the level of the dust, so that the King— Becket, Pro. 530
And b us all to shame ? „ I iii 38
If Canterbury b his cross to court, „ I iii 511
I was born with it, and sulphur won't b it out o' me. „ I iv 233
I b the taint on it along wi' me, for the Archbishop likes it, „ I iv 252 till the weight of Germany or the gold of England b's one of them down to the dust— „ II ii 364 there were Abbots—but they did not b their women ; „ III iii 135
To b her to the dust . . . „ IV ii 154
we b a message from the King Beyond the water ; „ V ii 301
Moon b him home, b him home Safe from the dark and the cold, Home, sweet moon, b him home, The Cup I ii 5
B me The costly wines we use in marriages. „ II 364
But that might b a Roman blessing on us. „ II 371 Lady, you b your light into my cottage The Falcon 283 look for 'im, Eva, and b 'im to the barn. Prom. of May I 438 but I thowt I'd b tha them roses fust. „ II 50
And b us to confusion. „ II 279 the heat and fire Of life will b them out, „ II 287
Let me b you in here where there is still full daylight. „ III 217 and the man must b it out of her. Foresters I i 118
So that our Barons b his baseness under. „ I ii 117
I trust he b's us news of the King's coming. „ I iii 53
To b their counter-bond into the forest. „ IV 89
I b the bond. „ IV 109
I can b down Fourscore tall fellows on thee. „ IV 175
Shall I not after him and b him back ? „ IV 812
Bristle So that he b himself against my will. Harold II ii 19
Bristled monarch mane B about his quick ears— The Cup I ii 121 Britain In B's calendar the brightest day Queen Mary III ii 118 sons of those Who made this B England, Harold IV iii 154 Brito (Richard de) (knight of King Henry II.'s household) (See also De Brito, Richard) France ! Ha ! De Morville, Tracy, B—fled is he ? Becket I iv 199
Brittany brought Thy war with B to a goodlier close Harold II ii 49 one that should be grateful to me overseas, a Count in B— Foresters I i 271
Broach See Abroach
Broached They ha' b a barrel of aäle i' the long barn, Prom. of May I 426 Broad What it means ? Ask our b Earl. Harold I i 90 he is b and honest, Breathing an easy gladness. . . . „ I ii 172
Brocade —O he Flamed in b— Queen Mary III i 76
Broider these poor hands but sew, Spin, b— Harold IV iii 11 maidens who can only b and mayhap ride a-hawking Foresters I i 213 Broke (See also Brake) When Henry b the carcase of your church Queen Mary I v 397
His breaking with Northumberland b Northumberland. „ II iv 13
Charing Cross ; the rebels b us there, „ II iv 76
Because I b The horse's leg— Harold II ii 109
I trod upon him even now, my lord, in my hurry, and b him. The Falcon 410
Immanuel Goldsmiths was b into o' Monday night, Prom. of May I 392
b the heart That only beat for you ; „ III 761
I have shelter'd some that b the forest laws. Foresters I iii 70
She b my head on Tuesday with a dish. „ I iii 133
if we b into it again we should break the law, „ IV 145
This young warrior B his prison „ IV 999 Broken (See also Brokken, Neck-broken) I hear that he too is full of aches and b before his day. Queen Mary I i 125 that b, out you flutter Thro' the new world, „ I iv 52
More like a school-boy that hath b bounds, „ I i 171

Broken (continued) And b bridge, or spavin'd horse, or wave And wind at their old battle: Queen Mary I v 355
And I have b with my father— „ I v 528
Wyatt, your Grace, hath b thro' the guards „ II iv 20
They are too crush'd, too b, „ IV iii 360
And I am b there. „ V i 211
I have b off the head. „ V ii 3
Saints, I have rebuilt Your shrines, set up your b images; „ V ii 300 thou Hast b all my foes, Harold I i 217 the teeth That shall be b by us— „ I ii 245 my son! Are all oaths to be b then, „ III i 286 and our battle-axes b The Raven's wing, „ IV iii 64
How oft in coming hast thou b bread? „ IV iii 200
Have we not b Wales and Norseland? „ V i 395
They have b the commandment of the king! „ V i 614
His oath was b—O holy Norman Saints, „ V i 616 chessmen on the floor—the king's crown b! Becket, Pro. 314
Thou hast b thro' the pales Of privilege, „ III iii 193
While this but leaves thee with a b heart, „ IV ii 173
It must be b for him. „ IV ii 178
Hath b all his promises to thyself, „ V i 3
Not one whose back his priest has b. „ V i 146 every thread of thought Is b ere it joins— „ V ii 207
You have b Your bond of peace, your treaty „ V ii 349 have b down our barns, Wasted our diocese, „ V ii 429
And the great deeps were b up again, „ V iii 43
I did break it, my lord: it is b! The Falcon 495 my nurse has b The thread of my dead flowers, as she has b „ 521
I have b My fast already. „ 574 poor father, utterly b down By losing her— Prom. of May II 417 Bruised; but no bones b. „ III 242 the poor young heart B at last—all still— „ III 681
Not having b fast the livelong day— Foresters IV 186 though he be the chief of rogues, he hath never b his word. „ IV 433
Hast b all our Norman forest laws, „ IV 886

Broken-back'd Reed I rock'd upon b-b, „ II ii 162

Brokken (broken) the walls sa thin, and the winders b, Prom. of May III 73

Brood lest she b Too long o'er this hard egg, Becket V ii 252 drew the light From heaven to b upon her, The Cup I iii 58
To-day? Too sudden. I will b upon it. „ II 73

Brooding I was b Upon a great unhappiness Prom. of May II 381

Brook (s) (See also Beck) There runs a shallow b across our field Queen Mary V v 83 both were silent, letting the wild b Speak for us— „ V v 91 dykes and b's Were bridged and damm'd with dead, Harold III ii 129 wolf Mudded the b and predetermined all. „ V i 3
And then a b, a bridge; Becket, Pro. 164 drop The mud I carried, like yon b, „ II i 159 Geoffrey have not tost His ball into the b! „ II i 321
the voice Of the perpetual b, „ III i 46
The b's voice is not yours, and no flower, „ III i 55
I saw the ball you lost in the fork of the great willow over the b. „ IV ii 58
We parted like the b yonder about the alder island, Prom. of May I 773
The b among its flowers! Forget-me-not, „ II 297
Close by that alder-island in your b, „ II 535
O b, that brawlest merrily by Thro' fields „ III 201 waded in the b, ran after the butterflies, „ III 275

Brook (verb) Will b nor Pope nor Spaniard here to play The tyrant, Queen Mary I v 189 ye will not b that anyone Should seize our person, „ II ii 177
B for an hour such brute malignity? „ IV iii 544
I cannot b the turmoil thou hast raised. Becket I iii 575
I will not b to see Three upon two. Foresters II i 423 maiden freedom which Would never b the tyrant. „ III 121

Brother (See also Brethren, Foster-brother, Traitor-brother) 'Thou shalt not wed thy b's wife.' Queen Mary I ii 63 as tho' My father and my b had not lived. „ I v 36
My b rather hated me than loved; „ I v 82
Had mark'd her for my b Edward's bride; „ I v 289 dallying over seas Even when his b's, „ III iv 294
Ay, one and all, dear b's, pray for me; „ IV iii 103
Hurt no man more Than you would harm your loving natural b „ IV iii 190

Brother (continued) What sort of b's then be those that lust Queen Mary IV iii 197
B! why so pale? Harold I i 28 for thy b breaks us With over-taxing— „ I i 109 mysteries of heaven Than thou, good b. „ I i 201
B, the king is wiser than he seems; „ I i 272
Well, b, When didst thou hear from thy Northumbria? „ I i 280
Leave me alone, b, with my Northumbria: „ I i 285
My most worthy b, Thou art the quietest man „ I i 311
Like the rough bear beneath the tree, good b, „ I i 328
O Tostig, O dear b—If they prance, „ I i 371
B, b! Tostig. Away! „ I i 416
I leave thee, b. „ I i 461
Against thy b Tostig's governance; „ II ii 290
Poor b! still a hostage! „ II ii 329
Why, b, so he will; But on conditions. „ II ii 342
And, b, we will find a way,' said he— „ II ii 367 for my sake, oh b! oh! for my sake! „ II ii 401
Not ev'n for thy sake, b, would I lie. „ II ii 420
Ay, b—for the sake of England—ay. „ II ii 638
Swear, dearest b, I beseech thee, swear! „ II ii 720
O Wulfnoth, Wulfnoth, b, thou hast betray'd me! „ II ii 801
Forgive me, b, I will live here and die. „ II ii 803
Good b, By all the truths that ever priest „ III i 96
Bless thou too That b whom I love beyond the rest, „ III i 295
There might be more than b in my kiss, „ III ii 83
Good even, my good b! „ III ii 117
Our hapless b, Tostig—He, „ III ii 121
Thou art Tostig's b, Who wastes the land. „ IV i 92
This b comes to save Your land from waste; „ IV i 94
I, who loved my b, bad the king Who doted on him, „ IV i 101
King! thy b, if one may dare to speak the truth, „ IV i 107 not his fault, if our two houses Be less than b's. „ IV i 131
O b, What art thou doing here? „ IV ii 3
O b, b, O Harold— „ IV ii 61
—b—I have not sworn— „ V i 121
Tell that again to all. Gurth. I will, good b. „ V i 199
O b, from my ghastly oubliette I send my voice „ V i 244
No more, no more, dear b, nevermore— „ V i 247
O b, most unbrotherlike to me, „ V i 250
Tostig, poor b, Art thou so anger'd? „ V i 273
Him who crown'd Stephen—King Stephen's b! Becket, Pro. 274
Henry the King hath been my friend, my b, „ I i 88
O b!—I may come to martyrdom. „ I i 361 my good lord Leicester, The King and I were b's. „ I iii 661 for he would murder his b the State. „ I iv 190
B of France, what shall be done with Becket? „ II ii 64
B, you have traffick'd Between the Emperor and the Pope, „ II ii 66
ay, good b, They call you the Monk-King. „ II ii 72
Come, confess, good b, „ II ii 82 and, b, Holy Church May rock, but will not wreck, „ II ii 102
B of France, you have taken, „ II ii 154 believing that our b Had wrong'd you; „ II ii 238
I wish you joy o' the King's b. „ III i 156
I thought if it were the King's b he had a better bride than the King, „ III i 173 whom you call—fancy—my husband's b's wife. „ III i 202 Spare this defence, dear b. „ V iii 168
Son, husband, b gash'd to death in vain, The Cup I ii 143
I dare not brave my b, Break with my kin. My b hates him, The Falcon 256
I cannot brave my b—but be sure „ 741
Is this your b's order? „ 745 not you! My b! my hard b! O Federigo, Federigo, I love you! Spite of ten thousand b's, Federigo. „ 895
I will make Your b love me. „ 912
What's become of your b? Prom. of May III 107
Then yon mun be his b, an' we'll leather 'im. „ III 150
I never heard that he had a b. „ III 153 would you beat a man for his b's fault? „ III 155
he borrowed the monies from the Abbot of York, the Sheriff's b. Foresters I i 69
I would pay My b all his debt and save the land. „ I ii 218
Himself would pay this mortgage to his b, „ I ii 264
Sheriff Would pay this cursed mortgage to his b „ II i 145

Brother (continued) Thou art her b, and her voice is thine, Foresters II i 478
Thou art Her b—I forgive thee. Come be thou My b too. „ II i 516
O thou unworthy b of my dear Marian! „ II i 538
That such a b—she marry the Sheriff! „ II i 550 go not yet, stay with us, and when thy b— „ II i 641 to dream that he My b, my dear Walter— „ II i 652
See, thou hast wrong'd my b and myself. „ II i 665
Ha, b. Toll, my dear? the toll of love. „ III 270
For so this maid would wed our b, „ IV 483
When Richard comes he is soft enough to pardon His b; „ IV 748
What! go to slay his b, and make me The monkey „ IV 804
Thou art tann'd almost beyond my knowing, b. „ IV 1016

Brotherhood lustiest and lousiest of this Cain's b, answer. Becket I iv 185 find The common b of man has been Wrong'd Prom. of May III 543

Brother-like That is not b-l. Foresters II i 504

Brought (See also Browt) and he b his doubts And fears to me. Queen Mary I ii 74
And b us back the mass. „ I v 184
Hast thou B me the letter which thine Emperor promised „ I v 347 cause that hath b us together is not the cause „ II i 161
They have b it in large measure on themselves. „ IV iii 363
Indian shawl That Philip b me in our happy days!— „ V ii 540
Madam, I b My King's congratulations; „ V ii 569
b Thy war with Brittany to a goodlier close Harold II ii 48
And b the sunder'd tree again, „ III i 144
Alas! poor man, His promise b it on me. „ III i 338 being b before the courts of the Church, Becket, Pro. 12 my bishop Hath b your king to a standstill. „ Pro. 44
I b them In from the wood, and set them here. „ II i 130
My liege, what hast thou b me? „ II i 223
I b not ev'n my crucifix. Henry. Take this. „ II i 295 and so b me no-hows as I may say, „ III i 129
Your old child b me hither! „ IV ii 13
B me again to her own city?— The Cup I i 14 but this day has b A great occasion. The Falcon 488
I think I never can be b to love any man. Prom. of May II 78
Superstitious fool, What b me here? „ II 351 now that you have been b to us as it were from the grave, „ III 235
If marriage ever b a woman happiness „ III 639
Thro' that dishonour which you b upon us, „ III 765 could be b to love me As I loved you— „ III 779 new term B from the sacred East, his harem? Foresters IV 705 like the man In Holy Writ, who b his talent back; „ IV 981

Brow The b's unwrinkled as a summer mere.— Harold III i 48 —brave Gurth, one gash from b to knee! „ V ii 71
There's no jest on the b's of Herbert there. Becket, Pro. 390
Life on the face, the b's—clear innocence! „ II i 195
Ay, and his b's are thine; „ II i 218 bust of Juno and the b's and eyes Of Venus; The Cup I i 120
In the sweat of thy b, says Holy Writ, shalt thou eat bread, but in the sweat of thy b Foresters IV 201

Browt (brought) I ha' b these roses to ye—I forgits what they calls 'em, Prom. of May II 14 so I allus b soom on 'em to her; „ II 20 to saäy he's b some of Miss Eva's roses „ III 346

Bruised as having been so b By Harold, King of Norway; Harold IV i 9
B; but no bones broken. Prom. of May III 242
Honest daisy deadly b, Foresters II ii 156
And b him almost to the death, „ III 361

Brunanburg What's B To Stamford-bridge? Harold IV iii 142
And chanting that old song of B „ V i 215

Brush (s) with some sense of art, to live By b and pencil. Prom. of May I 499

Brush (verb) and b This Wyatt from our shoulders, Queen Mary II ii 293
Her cap would b his heels. „ III i 14

Brussels We meet at B. „ III vi 215

Brutal Because these islanders are b beasts? „ III vi 153 almost b, and matched with my Harold Prom. of May III 175 Curse on your b strength! „ III 732

Brute (adj.) Brook for an hour such b malignity? Queen Mary IV iii 544

Brute (s) (See also Baron-brute) Mutilated, poor b, my sumpter-mule, Becket V ii 440

Bubble Many so dote upon this b world, Queen Mary IV iii 168
'O b world, Whose colours in a moment break and fly!' „ V ii 204

Bubbled you so b over with hot terms Of Satan, „ I ii 94

Buck B; deer, as you call it. Becket I iv 139
Wherever the horn sound, and the b bound, Foresters III 345
Wherever the b bound, and the horn sound, „ III 355

Buckingham (Duke of) And I the race of murder'd B— Queen Mary III i 454

Bud (s) Rose never blew that equall'd such a b. „ III i 373 that shoots New b's to heaven, Foresters I iii 26

Bud (verb) court is always May, b's out in masques, Queen Mary III v 11 believe My old crook'd spine would b out two young wings Harold III i 24

Buffet (s) I will give thee a b on the face. Foresters I i 146
Then thou shalt play the game of b's with us. „ IV 259
I give thee A b, and thou me. „ IV 263

Buffet (verb) you stroke me on one cheek, B the other. Queen Mary II i 118

Build Too gross to be thrust out, will b him round, „ III iii 55 help to b a throne Out-towering hers of France . . . Harold II ii 763
I vow to b a church to God Here on the hill of battle; „ V ii 137
Here His turtle b's; his exit is our adit: Becket III ii 7 as she was helping to b the mound against the city. Foresters II i 309 would cower to any Of mortal b. „ II i 690 whose return B's up our house again? „ IV 1009

Builded (See also Built) I have b the great church of Holy Peter: Harold I i 179

Builder she leaves only the nest she built, they leave the b. Becket I iv 47

Built (See also Builded) They have b their castles here; Harold III i 36
I have b the Lord a house—(repeat) Harold III i 178, 180, 186 loftiest minster ever b To Holy Peter in our English isle! Harold III i 206
I have b a secret bower in England, Thomas, Becket, Pro. 153
I wrong the bird; she leaves only the nest she b, „ I iv 46

Bull-headed Sir Thomas Stafford, a b-h ass, Queen Mary V i 284

Bullingham (Nicholas, afterwards Bishop of Worcester) Ailmer and B, and hundreds more; „ I ii 11

Bullock I'd like to fell 'im as deäd as a b! Prom. of May II 597

Bully Keep silence, b friar, before the King. Foresters IV 919

Bulrush Had I a b now in this right hand For sceptre, „ III 76

Bulwark A b against Throne and Baronage. Becket I i 17

Burgher My b's son—Nay, if I cannot break „ I iii 331

Burgundy all France, all B, Poitou, all Christendom Harold III ii 149

Burial We will not give him A Christian b: „ V ii 154
I've been attending on his deathbed and his b. Prom. of May II 4

Burial-hindering bell-silencing, anti-marrying, b-h interdict Becket III iii 55

Buried (part. and adj.) boil'd, b alive, worried by dogs; Queen Mary II i 210
There lies a treasure b down in Ely: Harold III i 11
Let me be b there, and all our kings, „ III i 208

Buried (verb) traitor-brother, Tostig, him Reverently we b. „ IV iii 85

Burn but I and my old woman 'ud b upon it, Queen Mary I i 56 her hate Will b till you are burn'd. „ I ii 59
I wrote it, and God grant me power to b! „ I ii 99
Monstrous! blasphemous! She ought to b. „ I v 58 and b the throne Where you should sit with Philip: „ I v 509
Let the dead letter b! „ III iv 41
If we could b out heresy, my Lord Paget, „ III iv 53 yet I would not say B! and we cannot b whole towns; „ III iv 175 many of them Would b—have burnt each other; „ III iv 217
Would'st thou not b and blast them root and branch? „ III iv 282
He'll b a diocese to prove his orthodoxy. „ III iv 353
Smiles that b men. „ III iv 404 they play with fire as children do, And b the house. „ III vi 30
Gardiner b's, And Bonner b's; „ III vi 59
Did not More die, and Fisher? he must b. „ IV i 53
The better for him. He b's in Purgatory, not in Hell. „ IV i 56
The heretic must b. „ IV i 123
But if you b him,—well, your Highness knows „ IV i 144
It were more merciful to b him now. „ IV i 153
Philip's will, and mine, that he should b. „ IV i 186
It is against all precedent to b One who recants; „ IV ii 49
Well, b me or not b me I am fixt; „ IV ii 54
Will they b me, Thirlby? „ IV ii 181
And they will surely b me? „ IV ii 190

Burn (continued) he was deliver'd To the secular arm to b; Queen Mary IV ii 214
You shall b too, B first when I am burnt. „ IV ii 220
What sort of brothers then be those that lust To b each other? „ IV iii 198
And watch a good man b. „ IV iii 293 all her burnins' 'ill never b out the hypocrisy „ IV iii 525
There's nought but the vire of God's hell ez can b out that. „ IV iii 527
'll b the Pwoap out o' this 'ere land vor iver and iver. „ IV iii 535
B more! Mary. I will, I will; and you will stay? „ V i 103
They know nothing; They b for nothing. „ V ii 114
Thou hast burnt others, do thou b thyself, Or I will b thee;' „ V ii 176
Seize him and b him for a Lutheran. „ V ii 245
How her hand b's! (repeat) „ V ii 552, 616
Gardiner b's Already; but to pay them full in kind, „ V iv 13
sir, in Guernsey, I watch'd a woman b; „ V iv 18
And b the tares with unquenchable fire! B!—Fie, what a savour! „ V v 114 but take back thy ring. It b's my hand— Harold III ii 186
They b themselves within-door. Becket I i 289 grow to such a heat As b's a wrong to ashes, Foresters II i 700

Burn (born) But I taäkes 'im fur a bad lot and a b fool, Prom. of May I 153 but I taäkes 'im for a Lunnun swindler, and a b fool. „ I 309
b a plowman, and now, as far as money goäs, „ I 330 afoor ony o' ye wur b—ye all knaws the ten aäcre— „ I 366
but I were b afoor schoolin-time. „ III 40

Burn'd (See also Burnt) her hate Will burn till you are b. Queen Mary I ii 59
b, boil'd, buried alive, worried by dogs; „ II i 210
Hooper b Three-quarters of an hour. „ IV ii 226 hand!' So held it till it all was b, „ IV iii 615

Burner are profitless to the b's, And help the other side. „ IV ii 219

Burnin' my rheumatizy be that bad howiver be I to win to the b. „ IV iii 474 wi' dree hard eggs for a good pleace at the b; „ IV iii 490 but all her b's' 'ill niver burn out the hypocrisy „ IV iii 524
the b o' the owld archbishop 'll burn „ IV iii 535

Burning (part.) (See also A-burnin') Ridley was longer b; but he died As manfully „ IV iii 342

Burning (s) (See also Burnin') bad my chaplain, Castro, preach Against these b's. „ III vi 75
His learning makes his b the more just. „ IV i 159 these b's will not help The purpose of the faith; „ IV ii 183
'twas you That sign'd the b of poor Joan of Kent; „ IV ii 206 these b's, As Thirlby says, are profitless to the burners, „ IV ii 217
You have not gone to see the b? „ IV iii 290
I warrant you they talk about the b. „ IV iii 463 you bring the smoke Of Cranmer's b with you. „ IV iii 562 this cup rescued from the b of one of her shrines The Cup I i 41

Burnish'd I'll have it b firelike; Queen Mary I v 373
I flash out at times Of festival like b summer-flies, Foresters I ii 276

Burnt (See also Burn'd) I'll have you flogg'd and b too, Queen Mary I i 60 she said that no one in her time should be b for heresy. „ I i 97
I'll have their bibles b. The bible is the priest's. „ III i 285 many of them Would burn—have b each other; „ III iv 217
It would have b both speakers. „ III vi 164 Burn first when I am b. „ IV ii 222 my hand shall first be b; So I may come to the fire. „ IV iii 250
When we had come where Ridley b with Latimer, „ IV iii 585
Thou hast b others, do thou burn thyself, „ V ii 176 hands that write them should be b clean off As Cranmer's, „ V ii 191
Gardiner, out of love for him, B it, „ V ii 503
We have but b The heretic priest, „ V v 105
Sir, you were b for heresy, not for treason, „ V v 139 sacred shrine By chance was b along with it. The Cup I ii 66
And a salt wind b the blossoming trees; Prom. of May I 57

Burrow far-off b where the King Would miss her and for ever. Becket IV ii 158

Burrowing the wild boar, The b badger— Foresters I iii 121

Burst (adj.) And like a river in flood thro' a b dam Harold II ii 466

Burst (s) This b and bass of loyal harmony, Queen Mary II ii 285

Burst (verb) (See also Bust) in that last inhospitable plunge Our boat hath b her ribs; Harold II i 3
Hot-headed fools—to b the wall of shields! „ V i 612
Fly, fly, my lord, before they b the doors! Becket V iii 56

Bursten b at the toes, and down at heels. Queen Mary I i 52

Burthen (load) the monk-king, Louis, our former b, Becket IV ii 306
One slow, fat, white, a b of the hearth; „ V ii 211 grave he goes to, Beneath the b of years. Prom. of May III 517 Bow'd to the dust beneath the b of sin. „ III 521

Burthen (refrain) That is the b of it—lost and found Harold III ii 9

Bury B him and his paramour together. „ V ii 150
b me in the mound, says the woman. Foresters II i 312 let him b her Even in the bowels of the earth „ III 461

Bush like a timorous beast of prey Out of the b by night? Harold I ii 214
A man may hang gold bracelets on a b, „ II i 88
To catch the bird again within the b! „ II ii 67
A nest in a b. Becket. And where, my liege? Becket, Pro. 155 stray'd From love's clear path into the common b, „ III i 248
Miss Eva, she set the b by my dairy winder Prom. of May II 18
Softly! softly! there may be a thief in every b. Foresters II i 368
Crouch all into the b! „ IV 596

Business (adj.) whether thou be Hedgar, or Hedgar's b man, Prom. of May II 735

Business (s) pray'd me to confess In Wyatt's b, Queen Mary III v 167
Your Grace's b will not suffer, sire, „ III vi 244
Sire, the b Of thy whole kingdom waits me: Becket, Pro. 277
Well, b. I must leave you, love, to-day. Prom. of May I 624 for as I used to transact all his b for him, „ II 719 whether thou be Hedgar, or Hedgar's business man, thou hesn't naw b 'ere wi' my Dora, „ II 735
I trust I may be able by-and-by to help you in the b of the farm; „ III 223
That b which we have in Nottingham— Foresters III 229
And may your b thrive in Nottingham! „ III 244

Buss B me, my bird! The Falcon 28

Bussing See A-bussin'

Bust b of Juno and the brows and eyes Of Venus; The Cup I i 120

Bust (burst) he be fit to b hissen wi' spites and jalousies. Prom. of May II 164
Let 'im b hissen, then, for owt I cares. „ II 166

Bustle gather your men—Myself must b. Queen Mary II ii 374

Butcher they call me now, The scourge and b „ V ii 106
What, Mr. Dobson? A b's frock? Prom. of May I 94

Butt This Barbarossa b's him from his chair, Becket, Pro. 217

Butter Our Daisy's b's as good 'z hern. Queen Mary IV iii 481 the making of your b, and the managing of your poultry? Prom. of May II 93

Butterfly like a b in a chrysalis, You spent your life; Queen Mary I iv 51 but now I called you b. „ I iv 66
I love not to be called a b: Why do you call me b? „ I iv 68
Wi' the butterflies out, and the swallers at plaäy, Prom. of May II 198 waded in the brook, ran after the butterflies, „ III 275

Buy Gardiner b's them With Philip's gold. Queen Mary III i 144
B you their cheeses, and they'll side with you; „ IV iii 548
if we will b diamond necklaces To please our lady, The Falcon 44
And sold thine own To b it for her. „ 77 but I couldn't b my darter back ageän when she lost hersen, Prom. of May III 453
How hadst thou then the means to b a cow? Foresters II i 304
Would b me for a thousand marks in gold— „ IV 652
Who thought to b your marrying me with gold. „ IV 718

Buzz (s) Little doubt This b will soon be silenced; Queen Mary V i 293
We make but one hour's b, Foresters I ii 277

Buzz (verb) Bee mustn't b, Whoop—but ne knows. (repeat) Becket III i 98, 240
Thy bee should b about the Court of John. Foresters IV 44

Buzzard (adj.) His b beak and deep-incavern'd eyes Queen Mary I iv 266

Buzzard (s) Hawk, b, jay, the mavis and the merle, Foresters I iii 115

Buzzed Were freely b among them. Queen Mary II ii 98
The bee b up in the heat. Foresters IV 14
And the bee b down from the heat. „ IV 20
And the bee b up in the cold „ IV 21
And the bee b off in the cold. „ IV 27

Buzzing were more than I b round the blossom— Becket, Pro. 521
For ever b at your lady's face. Foresters IV 11

By-and-by I trust I shall forgive him—b-a-b—not now. Prom. of May II 466
She said herself She would forgive him, b-a-b, not now—For her own sake then, if not for mine—not now—But b-a-b. „ II 681
B-a-b—eh, lad, dosta knaw this paäper? „ II 686
Eh, lad, dosta knaw what tha meäns wi' b-a-b? „ II 691 then, b-a-b, if she weänt listen to me when I be a-tryin' to saäve 'er— „ II 693
I trust I may be able b-a-b to help you in the business of the farm; „ III 222
Let me rest. I'll call you b a b. Becket V i 90
Byblow The Falaise b! Harold IV iii 174
Bygone (adj.) and smile At b things till that eternal peace. The Cup I iii 172
Bygone (s) Let b's be b's. Go home! Good-night! Prom. of May III 156
By-thing These are b-t's In the great cause. Becket III iii 11
The b-t's of the Lord Are the wrong'd innocences „ III iii 13
Byway The leprous flutterings of the b, Queen Mary IV iii 76
From all the hidden b-w's of the world Becket III iii 15 Byword I am a b. Heretic and rebel Point at me Queen Mary V ii 316

C

Cabin Show me some cave or c where I may rest Foresters II i 130
Cackling What are you c of bastardy under Queen Mary I i 58
Cadaver Perinde ac c—as the priest says, „ I iv 180
Cade And he will prove an Iden to this C, „ II ii 369 Cæsar (See also Scizzars) kindly rendering Of 'Render unto C.' . . . Harold III ii 168 the first Christian C drew to the East „ V i 22 make the soil For C's, Cromwells, and Napoleons Prom. of May III 593 Cage (s) pounce like a wild beast out of his c Queen Mary I i 88
It is the heat and narrowness of the c „ III v 207
I whistle to the bird has broken c, And all in vain. „ V v 20
To guard this bird of passage to her c; Becket I i 329
I have lived, poor bird, from c to c, „ III i 222 fondest pair of doves will jar, Ev'n in a c of gold, „ IV ii 42 barred thee up in thy chamber, like a bird in a c. Foresters I i 315 Cage (verb) Catch the wild cat, c him, and when he springs Queen Mary V v 65
Cain And mark'd me ev'n as C, „ III ii 55 light darkness, Abel C, The soul the body, Becket I iii 716
Thou the lustiest and lousiest of this C's brotherhood, answer. „ I iv 185
With C's answer, my lord. Am I his keeper? Thou shouldst call him C, not me. „ I iv 186
With C belike, in the land of Nod, „ I iv 195
Caitiff From councillor to c—fallen so low, Queen Mary IV iii 75
Ay, go in peace, c, c! Becket I iii 735
Cake He speaks As if it were a c of gingerbread. „ II i 230
Caked And c and plaster'd with a hundred mires, Harold IV iii 177 Calais withdraw Part of our garrison at C. Mary. C! Queen Mary I v 123 take mine eyes, mine heart, But do not lose me C. „ I v 129
C is but ill-garrison'd, in Guisnes „ V i 4
Or you will lose your C. „ V i 11
And you must look to C when I go. „ V i 17
Is C taken? „ V ii 27 sharper harm to England and to Rome, Than C taken. „ V ii 30 Madam, C is taken. „ V ii 241 that our brave English Had sallied out from C „ V ii 256
Let every craft that carries sail and gun Steer toward C. „ V ii 276
Ah! much heresy Shelter'd in C. „ V ii 299 angry chronicles hereafter By loss of C. Grant me C. „ V ii 305 C gone—Guisnes gone, too—and Philip gone! „ V v 22 you will find written Two names, Philip and C; „ V v 155
Calcined fain had c all Northumbria To one black ash, Harold III i 56
Calculated —all seen,—all c, All known by Rome. The Cup I ii 255
Calender In Britain's c the brightest day Queen Mary III ii 118
Calf (of the leg) Prick 'em in the calves with the arrow-points—prick 'em in the calves. Foresters IV 560
Prick him in the calves! „ IV 567 Calf (young of the cow, etc.) By God's death, thou shalt stick him like a c! Becket I iii 184 but Salisbury was a c cowed by Mother Church, „ III iii 95
Calf (young of the cow, etc.) (continued) the fatting of your calves, the making of your butter, Prom. of May II 93
Calixtus (the first, Pope) The day of St. C, and the day, Harold V ii 121
Call (s) There's no c As yet for me; Queen Mary II i 24 and no c for sonnet-sorting now, „ II i 59
God grant you ampler mercy at your c „ IV i 189
Heaven curse him if he come not at your c! Prom. of May I 765
He did it so well there was no c for me. Foresters II i 548
Call (verb) let me c her our second Virgin Mary, Queen Mary I iii 57
C him a Knight, That, with an ass's, „ I iii 167
Why do you c me butterfly? „ I iv 69
They c him cold, Haughty, ay, worse. „ I v 431
I do not love your Grace should c me coward. „ II iv 89
Why do they c him so? „ III i 199
I cannot tell you why they c him so. „ III i 205
You c me too black-blooded— „ III i 347
William the Silent They c him— „ III ii 193
Or a high-dropsy, as the doctors c it. „ III ii 225
We come not to compel, but c again; „ III iii 187
c they not The one true faith, a loathsome idol-worship? „ III iv 218
And let him c me truckler. „ III iv 355
Nor shame to c it nature. „ III v 77
New learning as they c it; „ IV i 78
Ay—gentle as they c you—live or die! „ IV ii 161
Did I c him heretic? A huge heresiarch! „ IV iii 45 if thou c on God and all the saints, „ IV iii 96
so past martyr-like—Martyr I may not c him— „ IV iii 625
Ay, ay; but many voices c me hence. „ V i 32
What voices c you Dearer than mine „ V i 36
He c's us worse than Jews, Moors, Saracens. „ V i 150 they c me now, The scourge and butcher of their English church. „ V ii 104
They c him away: Ye do him wrong, Harold I ii 14
C it to temporize; and not to lie; „ II ii 415
They c me near, for I am close to thee „ III i 6
C me not King, but Harold. „ III ii 33
He c's us little! „ IV i 41
Somewhere hard at hand. C and she comes. „ IV i 186
What did the dead man c it—Sanguelac, „ V i 184
C when the Norman moves— „ V i 229
C not for help from me. I knew him not. „ V ii 54 what shall I c it, affect her thine own self. Becket, Pro. 513
As Canterbury c's them, wandering clouds, „ I iii 70
Or constitutions, or whate'er ye c them, „ I iii 138
C in the poor from the streets, and let them feast. „ I iv 72
C in the poor! „ I iv 78
C them in, I say. „ I iv 85
Buck; deer, as you c it. „ I iv 139
Thou shouldst c him Cain, not me. „ I iv 188
I'll c thee little Geoffrey. Henry. C him! „ II i 214
See if our pious—what shall I c him, John?— „ II ii 38
Ay, ay, good brother, They c you the Monk-King. „ II ii 73
Who c's me? she That was my wife, „ II ii 74
if the city be sick, and I cannot c the kennel sweet, „ II ii 348
They c thee John the Swearer. „ II ii 462 whom you c—fancy—my husband's brother's wife. „ III i 202
They c her—But she lives secret, you see. „ IV i 11
What does she c him? Geoffrey. My liege. „ IV i 18 whom it pleases him To c his wives; „ IV ii 37
She c's you beauty, but I don't like her looks. „ IV ii 61
Like the wild beast—if you can c it love. „ IV ii 121
Let me rest. I'll c you by and by. „ V i 90
Then you have done it, and I c you cruel. „ V ii 135
I know not why You c these old things back „ V ii 270 c's you oversea To answer for it in his Norman courts. „ V ii 354 Who is our guest? Sinnatus. Strato he c's himself. The Cup I ii 48 they c it so in Rome. Sinnatus. Province! „ I ii 93
C first upon the Goddess, Synorix. „ II 256
I c thee To make my marriage prosper to my wish! „ II 307
I c on our own Goddess in our own Temple. „ II 314 Speak freely, tho' to c a madman mad The Falcon 81
if your lordship care to c for it. „ 139
C him back and say I come to breakfast with him. „ 211 my nobleness Of nature, as you deign to c it, „ 811
he cooms up, and he c's out among our oän men, Prom. of May I 139

Call (verb) (continued) Would c this vice; but one time's vice Prom. of May I 534 grant you what they c a license To marry. „ I 695 but c for Philip when you will, And he returns. „ I 757
I ha' browt these roses to ye—I forgits what they c's 'em. „ II 15
Might I c Upon your father— „ II 512
C if you will, and when you will. „ II 517
—the crowd would c it conscience— „ II 638
'I c you, Philip Edgar, Philip Edgar! „ II 657 an' whether thou c's thysen Hedgar or Harold, „ II 737 as they c it so truly, to the grave at the bottom, „ III 193 Master Hedgar, Harold, or whativer They c's ye, „ III 728
The fool-people c her a witch— Foresters II i 178
I have forgotten my horn that c's my men together. „ II i 185
And you dare to c me Tit. „ II ii 127
Wouldst thou c my Oberon Ob? „ II ii 131 but c Kate when you will, for I am close at hand. „ III 49
Sit there, knaves, till the captain c for you. „ III 220
Do you c that in my honour? „ III 432 did ye not c me king in your song? „ IV 220
I could but sneak and smile and c it courtesy, „ IV 366 they that suffer by him c the blossom Of bandits. „ IV 371 shall I c it by that new term Brought „ IV 703 men will c him An Eastern tyrant, „ IV 902

Call'd took her hand, c her sweet sister, Queen Mary I i 80 but now I c you butterfly. „ I iv 66
I love not to be c a butterfly: „ I iv 68
c my friends together, Struck home and won. „ I v 552 and ye have c me to be your leader. „ II i 165
Lo! thou hast c them up! here they come— „ III i 233
The islands c into the dawning church „ III iii 172
You know I never come till I be c. „ III v 215
He c my word my bond! Harold II ii 665 when that which reign'd C itself God— „ III ii 167 Cram thy crop full, but come when thou art c. „ IV iii 235 well train'd, and easily c Off from the game. Becket, Pro. 120
I sign'd them—being a fool, as Foliot c me. „ I iii 562 father's eye was so tender it would have c a goose off the green, „ III iii 102
And thereupon he c my children bastards. „ IV ii 44
I am most sure that some one c. The Cup II 509 then I was c away; And presently all rose, The Falcon 365 then he c me a rude naäme, and I can't abide 'im. Prom. of May II 158
Her phantom c me by the name she loved. „ II 242 who c the mind Of children a blank page, „ II 281 not forgotten his promise to come when I c him. „ III 330
I that have been c a Socialist, A Communist, a Nihilist— „ III 584 a fine! he hath c plain Robin a lord. Foresters III 215 Sit there till you be c for. „ III 296 fine him! he hath c plain Robin an earl. „ IV 151 a fine! He hath c plain Robin a king. „ IV 218

Calling (part.) (See also A-callin') ten thousand men on Penenden Heath all c after Queen Mary II i 61

Calling (s) The dog followed his c, my lord. Becket I iv 97

Callous c with a constant stripe, Unwoundable. Queen Mary V v 171

Calm and less than I would in a c. Harold II i 68 lest ye should draw together like two ships in a c. Becket III iii 298

Calumny Twice did thy malice and thy calumnies Exile me „ I iii 42

Calved See Cawved

Cambridge Thou art but yesterday from C, Grim; „ V ii 55

Came (See also Coomed, Cum) my good mother c (God rest her soul) Of Spain, Queen Mary I v 11
Your royal mother c of Spain, „ I v 16 and his right c down to me, „ II ii 171 when the traitor wife c out for bread „ III i 11
I c to feel the pulse of England, „ III i 37
as the new-made couple C from the Minster, „ III i 95
She c upon the scaffold, „ III i 375
C with a sudden splendour, shout, and show, „ III i 449
And how c you round again? „ III ii 36
And you c and kiss'd me milking the cow. (repeat) „ III v 91, 98
Robin c behind me, „ III v 92
I c to thank her Majesty For freeing my friend Bagenhall „ III vi 5
She c upon it, read it, and then rent it, „ III vi 142

Came (continued) c to the fire on earth. Queen Mary IV i 60
So worshipt of all those that c across him; „ IV i 162 hands C from the crowd and met his own; „ IV iii 583 when I c to wed your majesty, Lord Howard, „ V i 56
I c to sue Your Council and yourself (repeat) „ V i 107, 114 what you said When last you c to England? „ V ii 568 the child c not, and the husband c not; „ V ii 581 and in her agony The mother c upon her— „ V iv 20 never merry world In England, since the Bible c among us. „ V v 241
These meteors c and went before our day, Harold I i 131
An evil dream that ever c and went— „ I ii 70 blast that c So suddenly hath fallen as suddenly— „ II i 13
We be fishermen; I c to see after my nets. „ II i 27
He c not to see me, had past me by „ II ii 27 whereby we c to know Thy valour and thy value, „ II ii 201
Your comet c and went. „ III i 359
The Lord was God and c as man— „ III ii 172
Since Tostig c with Norway— „ IV i 173
Last night King Edward c to me in dreams— (repeat) Harold IV i 259, 265 and woke and c Among us again, Harold IV iii 151
Our guardsmen have slept well, since we c in? „ V i 208 who c before To tell thee thou shouldst win „ V i 235
There is one Come as Goliath c of yore— „ V i 493 then the King c honeying about her, Becket, Pro. 516
What c of that? The first archbishop fled, „ I iii 52
When Henry c into his own again, „ I iii 153
I c, your King! Nor dwelt alone, „ I iii 356
I c on certain wholesome usages, „ I iii 412
Which c into thy hands when Chancellor. „ I iii 653
But the miller c home that night, „ I iv 173
Besides, we c away in such a heat, „ II i 293
I c to England suddenly, „ III i 86
we c on to the banquet, from whence there puffed „ III iii 113
Ha, you! How c you hither? „ IV ii 12
No, for it c to nothing—only a feint. „ IV ii 398
The fellow that on a lame jade c to court, „ V i 246
we c upon A wild-fowl sitting on her nest. „ V ii 232 at Pontigny c to me The ghostly warning „ V ii 290
C to the front of the wood— The Cup I ii 119
I dare not tell him how I c to know it; „ I ii 275
Why c ye not before? „ I iii 175
c To plead to thee for Sinnatus's life, „ II 391
c back last night with her son to the castle. The Falcon 3
when he c last year To see me hawking, „ 312
I c In person to return them. „ 726
c and dipt your sovereign head Thro' these low doors, „ 866
The maid to her dairy c in from the cow, Prom. of May I 39
I c back to keep his birthday. „ I 73 stateliness and sweetness! How c she by it?— „ 622 who c to us three years after you were gone, how should she know you? „ III 232 dead midnight when I c upon the bridge; „ III 368
bow'd To the earth he c from, „ III 515
Only fifteen when first you c on her, „ III 750 to her you c Veiling one sin to act another. „ III 772
I c to give thee the first kiss, and thou hast given it me. Foresters I i 132
I c To eat him up and make an end of him. „ II i 124
How c we to be parted from our men? „ II i 254
I believe She c with me into the forest here. „ II i 485
There c some evil fairy at my birth And cursed me, „ II ii 108 no man, so His own true wife c with him, „ III 240 first part—made before you c among us— „ III 436 delicate-footed creature C stepping o'er him, „ IV 537

Cameleon such a c he! Queen Mary III iii 15

Camest When c thou thither? Gamel. To-day, good Earl. Harold I i 105
How c thou hither? Geoffrey. On my legs. Becket IV i 4 Pretty one, how c thou? „ IV i 20
Show me where thou c out of the wood. „ IV i 45

Camma (wife of Sinnatus, afterwards Priestess in the Temple of Artemis) 'To the admired C, wife of Sinnatus, the Tetrarch, The Cup I i 36
Take thou this letter and this cup to C, „ I i 62

Camma (continued) 'To the admired C,—behell you afar off— The Cup I ii 71
C, Wise I am sure as she is beautiful, „ I ii 138
C, Rome has a glimpse of this conspiracy; „ I ii 232
C the stately, C the great-hearted, „ I iii 72
And C for my bride—Thy people love her— „ I iii 151
C—well, well, I never found the woman „ I iii 165
Since C fled from Synorix to our Temple, „ II 14 Great Artemis! O C, can it be well, „ II 80 shout of Synorix and C sitting Upon one throne, „ II 146
I thank thee, C,—I thank thee. (repeat) „ II 331, 355
There, C! I have almost drain'd the cup— „ II 384
Antonius—'C!' who spake? „ II 401
Synorix, first King, C, first Queen o' the Realm, „ II 440
Thou—coming my way too—C—good-night. „ II 492 and though a Roman I Forgive thee, C. „ II 506
'C!'—why there again I am most sure that some one call'd. „ II 507
'C, C!' Sinnatus, Sinnatus! „ II 536
Camp In the full face of all the Roman c? „ I ii 269
I hardly gain'd The c at midnight. „ I iii 19
I must lure my game into the c. „ I iii 64
The c is half a league without the city; „ I iii 89 or at least shall find him There in the c. „ I iii 95 Cancel to c and abolish all bonds of human allegiance, Queen Mary V iv 49 spites at Rome, Is like enough to c them, The Cup I i 92
Cancell'd (adj.) all Our c warrior-gods, our grim Walhalla, Harold III ii 73
Cancell'd (verb) Not know that Edward c his own promise? „ V i 51
Candle (See also Corpse-candles) a c in the sun Is all but smoke— Queen Mary V i 77
Canker'd for there are men Of c judgment everywhere— Becket V ii 61
Cannon clash'd their bells, Shot off their lying c, Queen Mary III vi 97
Canon (adj.) There wore his time studying the c law Becket II i 85
Canon (s) seem According to the c's pardon due Queen Mary IV iii 33
No, daughter, but the c's out of Waltham, Harold V i 474 since your c will not let you take Life for a life, Becket I iii 389 Canonical Stigand is not c enough Harold III i 215 was thine own election so c, Good father? Becket I iii 121 by that c obedience Thou still hast owed thy father, „ I iii 274
Canonised bones of all the C From all the holiest shrines Harold II ii 734
Canonists The C and Schoolmen were with me. Queen Mary I ii 61
Canopy moving side by side Beneath one c, „ III i 97
Canterbury (adj.) Methought I stood in C Minster, Becket I i 73
Because I had my C pallium, From one whom they dispoped? Harold III i 106 Canterbury (s) slander'd you For setting up a mass at C To please the Queen. Queen Mary I ii 88 and the legateship Annex'd to C— „ V ii 37
Who shall crown him? C is dying. Becket. The next C. Becket, Pro. 240
This C is only less than Rome, „ I i 147
I cast upon the side of C—Our holy mother C, „ I i 155
Now I am C and thou art York. „ I iii 44
And is not York the peer of C? „ I iii 47
When C hardly bore a name. „ I iii 60
Who made thee, London? Who, but C? „ I iii 67
As C calls them, wandering clouds, „ I iii 70 among you those that hold Lands reft from C. „ I iii 141 Shall I do less for C Than Henry for the crown? „ I iii 147 Shall I do less for mine own C? „ I iii 159
Because my lord of C! De Tracy. Ay, This lord of C— „ I iii 424
Claim'd some of our crown lands for C— „ I iii 459
If C bring his cross to court, Let York bear his to mate with C. „ I iii 511
I would, my lord Thomas of C, Thou wert plain Thomas and not C, Or that thou wouldst deliver C „ I iii 577
This C, like a wounded deer, Has fled our presence „ II ii 21
Reseat him on his throne of C, „ II ii 118
Our castle, my lord, belongs to C. „ II ii 262 that hath squeezed out this side-smile upon C, „ III iii 57
And send thee back again to C? „ III iii 184 crowning thy young son by York, London and Salisbury—not C. „ III iii 196 Canterbury (s) (continued) York crown'd the Conqueror— not C. Becket. There was no C in William's time. Becket III iii 198
My friend of C and myself Are now once more „ III iii 228
York against C, York against God! „ V ii 66
Divide me from the mother church of England, My C. „ V ii 362
And trampled on the rights of C. „ V ii 394
The holy follower founded C— „ V iii 5
Save that dear head which now is C, „ V iii 6
And all the tutelar Saints of C. „ V iii 167
Cantrip Save from some hateful c of thine own. „ V i 140
Canvas Madam, you have but cut the c out; Queen Mary V v 183
Canvass Would freely c certain Lutheranisms. „ V ii 76
Cap (s) Her c would brush his heels. „ III i 14
Knave, wilt thou wear thy c before the Queen? „ III i 237 Knock off his c there, some of you about him! „ III i 241
Cap (verb) You would not c the Pope's commissioner— „ IV ii 123
Capering And c hand in hand with Oberon. Foresters II i 498
What are you c for? „ IV 614
Caprice I am a man not prone to jealousies, C's, Prom. of May III 627
Captain Then followed the thunder of the c's and the shouting, Becket III iii 112
Ah dear Robin! ah noble c, friend of the poor! Foresters II i 182
It is the very c of the thieves! „ II i 412
C, we saw thee cowering to a knight „ II i 682
Sit there, knaves, till the c call for you. „ III 220
C, nay, it wasn't me. „ III 364
This friar is of much boldness, noble c. „ IV 235
Captive That makes the c testy; Queen Mary III v 208
First, free thy c from her hopeless prison. Becket V i 183
Captivity Translating his c from Guy Harold II ii 42
Caraffa But this new Pope C, Paul the Fourth, Queen Mary V ii 32
Carcase When Henry broke the c of your church „ I v 397 and make thine old c a target for us three. Foresters II i 404
Card Hath no more mortice than a tower of c's; Queen Mary III i 443
Cardinal again to her cousin Reginald Pole, now C; „ I i 123
Yet my Lord C— Pole. I am your Legate; „ III iv 178
—this C's fault—I have gulpt it down. „ III iv 376 Good morrow, my Lord C; „ IV i 42
'We pray continually for the death Of our accursed Queen and C Pole.' „ V ii 181
So is C Pole. „ V iv 5 thy King swore to our c's He meant no harm Becket I iii 215
The c's have finger'd Henry's gold. „ I iii 295
—bribe all the C's— „ II iii 473
Cardinalate Pope could dispense with his C, Queen Mary I i 127
Cardinal-Deacon You, Lord Legate And C-D, „ III iv 261
Care (s) (See also Take care) 'Tis the good Count's c for thee! Harold II ii 251
C dwell with me for ever, when I cease To care for thee Becket II i 120 Care (verb) You do right well. I do not c to know; Queen Mary I iv 189
But will he c for that? „ I v 69
Spit them like larks for aught I c. „ I v 395
And c but little for the life to be. „ III iv 60
And if he did I c not, my Lord Howard. „ IV i 129 will hardly c to overlook This same petition „ IV i 192
They c for nothing else. „ IV iii 171
I do much fear that England will not c. „ V ii 283
And cried I was not clean, what should I c? „ V ii 325
C not for me who love thee. Harold III ii 113
And what c I for that? Becket I i 200
I c not for thy new archbishoprick. „ I i 217
And I say, I c not for thy saying. (repeat) „ II i 112 who c's not for the word, Makes 'c not'—c. „ II i 116 Care dwell with me for ever, when I cease To c for thee „ II i 120
Return to Sens, where we will c for you. „ II ii 445
But if you should not c to take it— „ IV ii 71
Let 'im bust hissen, then, for owt I c's. Prom. of May II 167
He is all for love, he c's not for the land. Foresters IV 489 Cared Thou hast but c to make thyself a king— Harold IV ii 74
if you c To live some time among them. Prom. of May II 549
Careful but sends His c dog to bring them to the fold. Queen Mary III iv 105
Be c of thine answer, my good friend. Harold II ii 604
Carefuller made him all the c To find a means „ III i 340
Careless thro' The random gifts of c kings, Becket I i 159

Careless (continued) like a c sleeper in the down; Foresters I i 207
Caress in some lewd c Has wheedled it off the King's neck Becket IV ii 200
Carew (See also Peter Carew) I do not hear from C or the Duke Of Suffolk, Queen Mary II i 2
C stirs In Devon: „ II i 4
I must not move Until I hear from C and the Duke. „ II i 122
C is there, and Thomas Stafford there. „ V i 125
Carle little help without our Saxon c's Against Hardrada. Harold IV i 35
Carlos But is Don C such a goodly match? Queen Mary V iii 86
Don C, Madam, is but twelve years old. „ V iii 87
Don C? Madam, if you marry Philip, „ V iii 117
Carnage So packt with c that the dykes and brooks Harold III ii 128
Carpet Lay down the Lydian c's for the king. The Cup II 187
Carried Bonner, it will be c. Queen Mary III iv 405
I ha' c him ever so many miles in my arms, Becket I iv 98 drop The mud I c, like yon brook, „ II i 159
c off the casks, Kill'd half the crew, „ V ii 442 one shock upon the field when all The harvest has been c. The Falcon 302 you kept your veil too close for that when they c you in; Prom. of May III 227 Carrier-pigeon And thou, my c-p of black news, Harold IV iii 233
Carriest who art more bow-bent than the very bow thou c? Foresters II i 379
Carrion (adj.) didst thou ever see a c crow Stand watching a sick beast Queen Mary IV iii 6 and dumb'd his c croak From the gray sea for ever. Harold IV iii 65
I'd think na moor o' maäkin' an end o' tha nor a c craw— Prom. of May II 697
Carrion (s) And rolls himself in c like a dog. Queen Mary I v 169
Carrion-nosing Made even the c-n mongrel vomit „ IV iii 448
Carrot Like a c's, as thou say'st, and English c 's better „ III i 218
Carry I trust that he will c you well to-day, „ I iv 145
For all that I can c it in my head. „ II i 88
If you can c your head upon your shoulders. „ II i 89
I fear you come to c it off my shoulders, „ II i 91 that every Spaniard carries a tail like a devil „ III i 223
Let every craft that carries sail and gun „ V ii 275
C her off among you; Becket, Pro. 524
We shall be overwhelm'd. Seize him and c him! „ V iii 142
C fresh rushes into the dining-hall, Foresters I i 80
C her off, and let the old man die. „ IV 677
Seize him and truss him up, and c her off. „ IV 690
Seize her and c her off into my castle. „ IV 738
Cart fur she tell'd ma to taäke the c to Littlechester. Prom. of May II 322
Dan Smith's c hes runned ower a laädy i' the holler laäne, „ II 568
Besides it was you that were driving the c— „ III 88
our horse and our little c— Foresters II i 192
Carter our c's and our shepherds Still find a comfort there. Harold. C's and shepherds! Prom. of May III 527
Cartwhip and doänt laäy my c athurt 'is shou'ders, „ II 138 Carve And c my coat upon the walls again! Queen Mary II iv 110 to c One lone hour from it, Foresters II i 42
Cass C crematur, Pastor fugatur Harold V i 512
Case And first I say it is a grievous c, Queen Mary IV iii 167
Is that my c? so if the city be sick, Becket II ii 347 as the c stood, you had safelier have slain an archbishop than a she-goat: „ III iii 67
Casement moonlight c's pattern'd on the wall, Queen Mary V v 9
Ay! yonder is her c. Prom. of May II 246 storm and shower lashing Her c, „ II 473
Then I would drop from the c, like a spider. Foresters I i 317
Cask carried off the c's, Kill'd have the crew, Becket V ii 443
c of wine whereof we plunder'd The Norman prelate? Foresters III 306 Casket Close as a miser's c. Listen: Queen Mary I iv 108
Hand me the c with my father's sonnets. „ II i 43
Cast C off, betray'd, defamed, divorced, forlorn! „ I v 26
C myself down upon my knees before them, „ I v 562 come to c herself On loyal hearts and bosoms, „ II ii 261
She c on him a vassal smile of love, „ III i 98 pine in Italy that c its shadow Athwart a cataract; „ III iv 136 to c myself Upon the good Queen's mercy; „ III v 167 and then C on the dunghill naked, „ IV iii 446
The Pope would c the Spaniard out of Naples: „ V i 148

Cast (continued) His early follies c into his teeth, Queen Mary V ii 124
C it o'er again. „ V iii 4
Did ye not c with bestial violence Harold I i 49
I c me down prone, praying; „ V i 100
I c upon the side of Canterbury— Becket I i 155
Let either c him away like a dead dog! „ II ii 257 black cloud that hath come over the sun and c us all into shadow? „ III iii 47 your own people c you from their bounds, The Cup I i 137
His own true people c him from their doors „ I ii 351
I cannot help the mould that I was c in. „ I iii 25 Might c my largess of it to the crowd! „ II 224 knaw'd better nor to c her sister's misfortin inter 'er teeth Prom. of May II 127
Be not so c down, my sweet Eva. „ III 468
Would you c An eye of favour on me, Foresters I ii 216
That if I c an eye of favour on him, „ I ii 261 to c All threadbare household habit, „ I iii 111
C them into our treasury, the beggars' mites, „ III 204
Castaly wells of C are not wasted upon the desert. Becket, Pro. 387
Castille voices of C and Aragon, Granada, Queen Mary V i 42
Castle (adj.) All in the c garden, Foresters I i 10 Castle (s) (See also Sand-castle) Ah, gray old c of Alington, Queen Mary II i 243
They have built their c's here; Harold III i 36
he holp the King to break down our c's, Becket, Pro. 447
De Tracy and De Brito, from our c. „ I i 278
Lord Fitzurse reported this In passing to the C even now. „ I ii 13
You are going to the C, „ I ii 45
My drift is to the C, Where I shall meet the Barons „ I ii 83
To the C? De Broc. Ay! „ I ii 86 thou, De Broc, that holdest Saltwood C— „ I iii 160
Due from his c's of Berkhamstead and Eye „ I iii 628
Here is a missive left at the gate by one from the c. „ I iv 50
Our c, my lord, belongs to Canterbury. „ II ii 261 cursed those De Brocs That hold our Saltwood C „ II ii 269 Perchance the fierce De Brocs from Saltwood C, „ V ii 249 dungeon'd the other half In Pevensey C— „ V ii 446 Undo the doors: the Church is not a c: „ V iii 63 came back last night with her son to the c. The Falcon 4 there is Monna Giovanna coming down the hill from the c. „ 161 mount with your lordship's leave to her ladyship's c, „ 414
Not like the vintage blowing round your c. „ 580
Shall I return to the c with you? „ 793
I would set my men-at-arms to oppose thee, like the Lord of the C. Foresters I i 324 and seeing the hospitable lights in your c, „ I ii 195
he hath seized On half the royal c's. „ I iii 83 whereon she struck him, And fled into the c. „ II i 118 Seize her and carry her off into my c. „ IV 738
Thy c? (repeat) Foresters IV 739, 743
Castro I bad my chaplain, C, preach Against these burnings. Queen Mary III vi 73
Cat Catch the wild c, cage him, and when he springs „ V v 65
He hath as much of c as tiger in him. Harold I i 154
Milk? Filippo. Three laps for a c! The Falcon 125
And a c to the cream, and a rat to the cheese; Prom. of May I 53
If a c may look at a king, may not a friar speak to one? Foresters IV 921
Cataract (See also Winter-cataracts) A pine in Italy that cast its shadow Athwart a c; firm stood the pine—The c shook the shadow. Queen Mary III iv 137
c typed the headlong plunge and fall Of heresy „ III iv 140
Catch I cannot c what Father Bourne is saying. „ I iii 14
We have our spies abroad to c her tripping, „ I v 468
there's no Renard here to 'c her tripping.' C me who can; yet, sometime I have wish'd That I were caught, „ III v 159
C the wild cat, cage him, and when he springs „ V v 65
Fellow, dost thou c crabs? Harold II i 66
I have a mind that thou shalt c no more. „ II i 71
To c the bird again within the bush! „ II ii 67 flings His brand in air and c's it again, „ V i 494
You c 'em, so, Softly, and fling them out to the free air. Becket I i 286

Catch (continued) and they do say the very breath c's. Becket I iv 222 thy flock should c An after ague-fit of trembling. „ III iii 32 Take thy one chance; C at the last straw. „ IV ii 221 and a-spreading to c her eye for a dozen year, The Falcon 100
c A glimpse of them and of their fairy Queen— Foresters II ii 102
And c the winding of a phantom horn. „ IV 1091
Catechize But who art thou to c me— „ III 14
Catharine (first queen of Henry VIII.) you divorced Queen C and her father; Queen Mary I ii 57
accursed lie Of good Queen C's divorce— „ III iv 232 Cathedral nor any ground but English, Where his c stands. Becket III iii 262
Take refuge in your own c, (repeat) „ V ii 584, 590
Strike our Archbishop in his own c! „ V iii 180
Catholic (adj.) But if this Philip, the proud C prince, Queen Mary I iv 280 where you gave your hand To this great C King. „ III ii 92
Can we not have the C church as well „ III iii 97
Which in the C garden are as flowers, „ IV i 178
Have you remain'd in the true C faith I left you in? Cranmer. In the true C faith, „ IV ii 17
Yet wherefore should he die that hath return'd To the one C Universal Church, „ IV iii 21
In every article of the C faith, „ IV iii 230
Peters, you know me C, but English. „ IV iii 566
The Queen of Scots at least is C. Philip. Ay, Madam, C; „ V i 195
But—he would have me C of Rome, „ V iii 93
Catholic (s) for we are many of us C's, but few Papists, „ I i 114 a pious C, Mumbling and mixing up in his scared prayers „ II ii 85 there be some disloyal C's, And many heretics loyal; „ III iv 43
tho' a C, I would not, For the pure honour of our common nature, „ IV iii 296
I do hold The C, if he have the greater right, „ IV iii 382
Peters, my gentleman, an honest C, „ IV iii 553
It is a saying among the C's. „ V v 245
Cattle Hath harried mine own c—God confound him! Harold IV iii 190 Caught (See also Cotched) And then if c, to the Tower. Queen Mary I v 469 sometime I have wish'd That I were c, „ III v 163
He c a chill in the lagoons of Venice, „ V ii 515
if I c them, they should hang Cliff-gibbeted Harold II i 95
I shame to quote 'em—c, my lord, Becket I ii 7
King's verdurer c him a-hunting in the forest, „ I iv 95
Not c, maim'd, blinded him. The Cup I ii 271 when you put it in green, and your stack c fire. Prom. of May II 56
I am outlaw'd, and if c, I die. Foresters I iii 163
He c her round the waist, „ II i 116
You c a lonely woodman of our band, „ III 359 and the hunters, if c, are blinded, or worse than blinded. „ IV 226 Cause (s) you had time and c enough To sicken Queen Mary I v 23 the c that hath brought us together is not the c „ II i 160
under colour Of such a c as hath no colour, „ II ii 183
This was the c, and hence the judgment on her. „ III iv 187
Crave, in the same c, hearing of your Grace. „ IV i 8
Behold him, brethren: he hath c to weep!— „ IV iii 14 thro' the fear of death Gave up his c, „ IV iii 28
there c's Wherefore our Queen and Council „ IV iii 35
Much less shall others in like c escape, „ IV iii 62
I come to the great c that weighs Upon my conscience „ IV iii 237
I will move then in your c again, „ V i 178 and mine own natural man (It was God's c); „ V ii 104
We fought like great states for grave c; Harold I i 441
I have given her c—I fear no woman. „ I ii 41
For thou hast done the battle in my c; „ II ii 555
Refer my c, my crown to Rome! . . . „ V i 1
'All c's of advowsons and presentations, Becket I iii 78
For the King's pleasure rather than God's c „ I iii 698
My lord, We have clasp't your c, „ II ii 237
That in thy c,were stirr'd against King Henry, „ II ii 429
These are by-things In the great c. „ III iii 12 as one That mars a c with over-violence. „ IV ii 327
In mine own c I strove against him there, „ V i 14
Cause (s) (continued) And in thy c I strive against him now. Becket V i 16
I do commend my c to God, the Virgin, „ V iii 163 not so much for the c as for the Earl. Foresters I ii 38
I cannot sleep o' nights by c on 'em. „ II i 384
What rightful c could grow to such a heat „ II i 698
I can defend my c against the traitors „ IV 898
Cause (verb) always told Father that the huge old ashtree there would c an accident some day; Prom. of May III 245
Causest Who c the safe earth to shudder and gape, The Cup II 298
Cautery mad bite Must have the c—tell him— Queen Mary III iv 276
Cavalier And Counts, and sixty Spanish c's, „ III i 51
Cave seven sleepers in the c at Ephesus Have turn'd Harold I i 192
As find a hare's form in a lion's c. Becket I iii 177
Show me some c or cabin where I may rest. Foresters II i 130 Cawved (calved) Hes the cow c? Dora. No, Father. Prom. of May III 427 Cease When will ye c to plot against my house? Harold IV i 161 when I c To care for thee as ever! Becket II i 121
Well, well, until they c to go together, Foresters II ii 67
Ceased Until your throne had c to tremble. Queen Mary I v 393
Cecil (William, Baron Burghley, Queen Elizabeth's chief Minister) C . . . God guide me lest I lose the way. „ V v 209
But with C's aid And others, „ V v 279
Cedar now you are enclosed with boards of c, „ III ii 102
Cede now and then to c A point to her demand? „ III vi 169
Ceded father c Naples, that the son Being a King, „ III i 74
Ceiling under no c but the cloud that wept on them, „ V iv 39
Celebrate —c—to c my birthdaäy i' this fashion. Prom. of May I 321
To c this advent of our King! Foresters IV 1048
Celibate Dan John, how much we lose, we c's, Becket V ii 197
Cell lash'd to death, or lie Famishing in black c's, Queen Mary V ii 196
The cold, white lily blowing in her c: Harold III i 274
In cold, white c's beneath an icy moon— „ V i 325
Cellar Our c is hard by. Take him, good Little John, Foresters II i 468
Censure (See also Church-censure) release from danger of all c's Of Holy Church Queen Mary III iii 151
All schism, and from all and every c, „ III iii 217
I refuse to stand By the King's c, Becket I iii 723 pass the c's of the Church On those that crown'd „ V ii 390
Centaur That C of a monstrous Commonweal, Queen Mary III iv 163
Central Not ev'n the c diamond, worth, I think, Becket V i 164
Centre Henceforth a c of the living faith. Queen Mary III ii 155
And oublietted in the c—No! Becket IV ii 150 weight of the very land itself, Down to the inmost c. Foresters IV 1027 Century fire that flashes out again From c to c, The Cup I ii 167
Ceremony Why do you palter with the c? „ II 420
But wherefore slur the perfect c? „ II 431 Certain I am not c but that Philibert Shall be the man; Queen Mary V i 263 because I am not c: You understand, Feria. „ V i 268
Would freely canvass c Lutheranisms. „ V ii 76
I came on c wholesome usages, Becket I iii 412
No, no! we have c news he died in prison. Foresters IV 778
Chafe Why c me then? Harold I i 296 Chain (s) this golden c—My father on a birthday Queen Mary I v 526
c, Wherewith they bound him to the stake, „ IV iii 595
here is a golden c I will give thee „ Becket IV i 40 Thou art happier than thy king. Put him in c's. Foresters IV 838 Chain (verb) This c's me to your service, Queen Mary I v 537
To c the free guest to the banquet-board; Harold II ii 193
if he be conspirator, Rome will c, Or slay him. The Cup I i 18
Chain'd lying c In breathless dungeons over steaming sewers, Queen Mary IV iii 439 Chair (See also Cheer) How deathly pale!—a c, your Highness. „ I v 636 same c, Or rather throne of purple, on the deck. „ III ii 7
The Eternal Peter of the changeless c, „ III iv 380
Out friends, the Normans, holp to shake his c. Harold I i 86 sat within the Norman c A ruler all for England— „ II ii 533
This Barbarossa butts him from his c, Becket, Pro. 217 let me place this c for your ladyship. The Falcon 178
Chair'd yea, and thou C in his place. Harold I ii 247

Challenge —a shift, a trick Whereby to c, Becket II ii 165 Strike! I c thee to meet me before God. „ IV ii 254
Chamber (adj.) arm'd men Ever keep watch beside my c door, Harold II ii 245
Chamber (s) (See also Chaumber) I hear them stirring in the Council C. Queen Mary I v 628
And in this very c, fuse the glass, „ III v 54
Remain within the c, but apart. „ V iii 12
Is not yon light in the Queen's c? „ V iv 2
To shake my throne, to push into my c— Becket V i 250
Peace, let him be: it is the c of Death! Prom. of May III 741
Not if I barred thee up in thy c, Foresters I i 315
Chamberlain As if the c were Death himself! Queen Mary V v 204
Chance (adj.) may but hang On the c mention of some fool „ III v 43
And save for that c arrow which the Saints Sharpen'd Harold V ii 167 Chance (s) if by c you hear of any such, Queen Mary I iv 175 Looms the least c of peril to our realm. „ II ii 238 was no wicked wilfulness, Only a natural c. „ III v 73
A c—perchance One of those wicked wilfuls „ III v 74
That lies within the shadow of the c. Harold II ii 464
So less c for false keepers. „ II ii 688
Remains beyond all c's and all churches, „ III ii 182
What c That he should ever spread into the man Becket III i 21 the c gone, She lives—but not for him; „ IV ii 414 drowning man, they say, remembers all The c's of his life, „ V ii 274
I fear some strange and evil c Coming upon me, The Cup I iii 75 would dare the c Of double, or losing all. „ I iii 147 Chance (verb) may c That I shall never look upon you more. Queen Mary II i 245
It may c, that England Will be Mistress of the Indies yet, „ V iii 75 we might c—perchance—To guess their meaning. Harold IV i 137 it c's, child, That I am his main paramour, Becket IV ii 37 Chanced Before I c upon the messenger Queen Mary I v 585 there hath c A sharper harm to England and to Rome, „ V ii 28 how it c That this young Earl was sent on foreign travel, „ V ii 488
Chancellor Gardiner for one, who is to be made Lord C, „ I i 87
The Lord C (I count it as a kind of virtue in him, „ I iv 191 Who waits, sir? Usher. Madam, the Lord C. „ I v 96 that were hard upon you, my Lord C. „ I v 159
The Lord C himself is on our side. „ II i 193
Renard and the C sharpen'd them. „ III i 5
No, my Lord Legate, the Lord C goes. „ III ii 152
Hush! hush! You wrong the C: „ III iii 67
Thou Christian Bishop, thou Lord C Of England! „ III iv 300
My Lord C, You have an old trick of offending us; „ III iv 313
I have gone beyond your late Lord C,— „ V ii 98
Sir Nicholas Heath, the C, Would see your Highness. „ V ii 225
Madam, your C, Sir Nicholas Heath. „ V ii 248
When Wyatt sack'd the C's house in Southwark. „ V ii 504 longed much to see your Grace and the C ere he past, Becket, Pro. 399 and the King gave it to his C. „ Pro. 432 but thou—dost thou love this C, „ Pro. 438
Is it so much heavier than thy C's robe? Becket. No; but the C's and the Archbishop's Together „ I i 21
I served King Henry well as C; „ I i 144
And all the wisdom of the C, „ I i 153
Make him thy prisoner. I am C yet. „ I i 332 can I be under him As C? as Archbishop over him? „ I i 349
For he, when having dofft the C's robe— „ I iii 454
As C thou wast against the Church, „ I iii 528
Which came into thy hands when C. „ I iii 653 every bond and debt and obligation Incurr'd as C. „ I iii 712
Dost thou know, my boy, what it is to be C of England? „ II i 232
It is, my boy, to side with the King when C, „ II i 236 when I was C to the King, I fear I was as cruel as the King. „ V ii 122 sworn Yourselves my men when I was C— „ V ii 502
Chancellor-Archbishop C-A, he might well have sway'd „ I iii 466
Chancellorship He did prefer me to the c, „ Pro. 416
Chancellorship (continued) in my c I more than once have gone against the Church. Becket I i 28 often in your c you served The follies of the King. „ I ii 29
What say'st thou to the C of England? „ II i 225
Change (s) in the whirl of c may come to be one. Queen Mary I iii 106
Beyond the seas—a c! Harold I i 104
They are but of spring, They fly the winter c— „ III ii 97
Beyond all c and in the eternal distance „ III ii 101
Sudden c is a house on sand; Becket III iii 59 can he trace me Thro' five years' absence, and my c of name, Prom. of May II 615 Change (verb) God c the pebble which his kingly foot Queen Mary I v 368 and may c a word again. „ III iv 16
He falters, ha? 'fore God, we c and c; „ III iv 406
if we c at all We needs must do it quickly; „ III iv 410
And I to c my manners, Simon Renard, „ III vi 151 offal of the city would not c Estates with him; „ IV iii 77
the currents So shift and c, „ IV iii 409
You do mistake. I am not one to c. „ V i 218
They are not so true, They c their mates. Harold III ii 105
I will never c word with you again. Prom. of May I 163 backward-working alchemy Should c this gold to silver, Foresters IV 40 Changed c not colour when she saw the block, Queen Mary III i 399
I have c a word with him In coming, „ III iv 14
Pray you, remembering how yourself have c, „ IV ii 156
Do not seem so c. Say go; „ V i 215
Much c, I hear, Had put off levity and put graveness on. „ V ii 509
William the Norman, for the wind had c— Harold IV iii 182
The sun himself, should he be c to one, Becket III i 57
To see if years have c her. The Cup I i 125
Changeless The Eternal Peter of the c chair, Queen Mary III iv 380 wherefore waste your heart In looking on a chill and c Past? Prom. of May II 504
Channel His Highness makes his moves across the C, Queen Mary I iii 135 Back thro' their widow'd c here, „ I v 89
Chant c's and hymns In all the churches, Becket V ii 365
Chanted they led Processions, c litanies, Queen Mary III vi 95
Chanting And c that old song of Brunanburg Harold V i 215
He is c some old warsong. „ V i 495
Chaos and all her loves and hates Sing again into c. Foresters I ii 330
Chapel she was passing Some c down in Essex, Queen Mary I v 40
To the c of St. Blaise beneath the roof! Becket V iii 82 the election shall be made in the C Royal, „ I iii 111 Chaplain I bad my c, Castro, preach Against these burnings. Queen Mary III vi 73 to bear it for thee, Being thy c. Becket I iii 492
Chaplet And softly placed the c on her head. The Falcon 362
Ah! she had thrown my c on the grass, „ 368
Had she not thrown my c on the grass, „ 378
I wore the lady's c round my neck; „ 631
And then this c—No more feuds, but peace, „ 909 present her with this oaken c as Queen of the wood, Foresters III 59
Chapman We spared the craftsman, c, „ III 163
Chapter the King shall summon the c of that Church to court, Becket I iii 109 sometimes been moved to tears by a c of fine writing in a novel; Prom. of May III 209
Char c us back again into the dust We spring from, Queen Mary III v 55 Charge (care) We gave thee to the c of John of Salisbury, Becket I i 247 thou wast not happy taking c Of this wild Rosamund „ I i 391
Nor am I happy having c of her— „ I i 394
Charge (imputation, etc.) from the c Of being his co-rebels? Queen Mary III i 136
I free From this foul c— Harold II ii 518
By oath and compurgation from the c. „ II ii 521
Bark'd out at me such monstrous c's, Becket IV ii 342
Charge (to enjoin) this I c you, Tell Courtenay nothing. Queen Mary I iv 189
I c thee, upon pain of mine anathema, Becket I iii 719
c you that ye keep This traitor from escaping. „ V ii 509

Charge (to enjoin) (continued) Back ! back ! I c thee, back ! Foresters II i 425 Charge (to accuse) dare you c the King with treachery ? Becket V ii 396 Charge (to rush) and bidd'n him C one against a thousand, Queen Mary IV iii 309
Charged (enjoined) no, nor if the Pope, C him to do it— „ IV iii 558
He c me not to question any of those About me. Becket III i 210 Charged (filled) Tho' c with all the wet of all the west. Harold II ii 188
C with the weight of heaven wherefrom they fall ! „ V i 567 one So c with tongue, that every thread of thought Becket V ii 205
Charing Cross From C C ; the rebels broke us there, Queen Mary II iv 75
Charity sow'd therein The seed of Hate, it blossom'd C. „ IV i 172
Let them flow forth in c, „ IV iii 208
To rival him in Christian c. Becket III iii 233
Your Christian's Christian c ! „ V ii 476
Perhaps you judge him With feeble c : The Cup I ii 186
Charles (V., King of Spain, Emperor) rumour that C, the master of the world, Queen Mary I i 104
He is every way a lesser man than C ; „ I v 330
My master, C, Bad you go softly with your heretics „ I v 391
And C, the lord of this low world, is gone ; „ V v 54
prattling to her mother Of her betrothal to the Emperor C, „ V v 233 Charm (s) To draw him nearer with a c Like thine to thine. Harold I ii 8 more than one brave fellow owed His death to the c in it. The Falcon 635 with his c of simple style And close dialectic, Prom. of May I 223
And her c Of voice is also yours ; „ II 380 and the country Has many c's, „ II 541
Might have more c for me than all the country. „ II 553
True soul of the Saxon churl for whom song has no c. Foresters II i 386
Charm (verb) In hope to c them from their hate of Spain. Queen Mary III vi 82
May serve to c the tiger out of him. Harold I i 153 kiss that c's thine eyelids into sleep, „ I ii 139
I do not then c this secret out of our loyal Thomas, Becket, Pro. 466 how to c and waste the hearts of men. Foresters II i 502
Charm'd that wilt not dance However wisely c. Harold I i 387
When you have c our general into mercy, The Cup I ii 311
How c he was ! what wonder ?—A gallant boy, The Falcon 318 ruddiest cheek That ever c the plowman of your wolds Prom. of May III 488
Charon Not be my C to the counter side ? Queen Mary III ii 149
Chart This c here mark'd 'Her Bower,' Becket, Pro. 160
but this Draws thro' the c to her. „ Pro. 173
This c with the red line ! her bower ! „ Pro. 308
The c is not mine, but Becket's : take it, Thomas. „ Pro. 310
Fitzurse, that c with the red line—thou sawest it— „ Pro. 427
c which Henry gave you With the red line— „ I ii 60 Charter Your rights and c's hobnail'd into slush— Queen Mary II ii 278
Where is the c of our Westminster ? Harold III i 194
Chase (s) thyself wast wont To love the c : „ I i 228
More sacred than his forests for the c ? Becket IV ii 25 running down the c is kindlier sport Ev'n than the death. „ IV ii 213 climb The mountain opposite and watch the c. The Cup I i 118
I am a life-long lover of the c, „ I i 195
Roused by the clamour of the c he woke, „ I ii 117 Chased C deer-like up his mountains, Harold I ii 148 would have c the stag to-day In the full face The Cup I ii 267
I am c by my foes. Foresters II i 184
Chasm o'er the c I saw Lord William Howard Queen Mary II iii 28 and flatten in her closing c Domed cities, hear. The Cup II 300 Chaste C as your Grace ! Queen Mary I v 456
Your Grace hath a most c and loving wife. „ III vi 129
The Queen of Philip should be c. „ III vi 132 no wives like English wives So fair and c as they be. Foresters II i 16
Chasten'd So thou be c by thy banishment, Harold IV ii 50
Chastest Thro' c honour of the Decalogue Becket V i 206
Chattel thou art dispossessed of all thy lands, goods, and c's ; Foresters I iii 60
Chaumber (chamber) winder at the end o' the passage, that goäs by thy c. Prom. of May I 397
Did 'e git into thy c ? „ I 400 they ha' ta'en the body up inter your c, „ II 570
By haäfe a scoor o' naämes—out o' the c. „ III 730
Chaumber (chamber) (continued) Out o' the c ! I'll mash tha into nowt. Prom. of May III 734
Out o' the c, dang tha ! „ III 737
Check I never knew thee c thy will for ought Harold II ii 120
C—you move so wildly. Becket, Pro. 40 frost That help'd to c the flowing of the blood. The Falcon 645 Cheek you stroke me on one c, Buffet the other. Queen Mary II i 117
'Wyatt,' as red as she In hair and c ; „ II ii 76 gave me a great pat o' the c for a pretty wench, Becket III i 125 a c like a peach and a heart like the stone in it— The Falcon 93 ruddiest c That ever charm'd the plowman of your wolds Prom. of May III 487
Here—give me one sharp pinch upon the c Foresters IV 1012
Cheeked See Red-cheek'd
Cheer (s) good c ! thou art Harold, I am Edith ! Harold V i 391
You, Strato, make good c till I return. The Cup I ii 206 Yeas, yeas ! Three c's for Mr. Steer ! Prom. of May I 455
Cheer (verb) And c his blindness with a traveller's tales ? „ II 515 Cheer (chair) they wunt set i' the Lord's c o' that daay. Queen Mary IV iii 470
Cheerful He, with a c smile, as one whose mind Is all made up, „ IV iii 587
Cheerless Your people are as c as your clime ; „ V i 83
For me, whose c Houris after death Are Night and Silence, Prom. of May I 249
Cheese Our Daisy's c's be better. Queen Mary IV iii 484
Buy you their c's, and they'll side with you ; „ IV iii 548
C ! Filippo. A supper for twelve mites. The Falcon 126
And a cat to the cream, and a rat to the c ; Prom. of May I 54
Cherish'd c him Who thief-like fled from his own church Becket II ii 155
Cherubim golden c With twenty-cubit wings Harold III i 183
Chess The Game of C. (repeat) Queen Mary I iii 127
Strange game of c ! a King That with her own powers „ I iii 161
Chessmen and these c on the floor— Becket, Pro. 313 Chest Did the c move ! did it move ? Harold II ii 799
Chichester Bishops—York, London, C, Westminster— Becket I iii 385
Chief (adj.) C prelate of our Church, archbishop, first In Council, Queen Mary IV iii 70
Before the Prince and c Justiciary, Becket I iii 709
Did not some old Greek Say death was the c good ? The Cup II 515
Chief (s) The c of these outlaws who break the law ? Foresters IV 141 Child (See also Childer, Children) of the good Lady Jane as a poor innocent c Queen Mary I i 94
c by c, you know, Were momentary sparkles „ I ii 71
I think she entreats me like a c. „ I iii 112 she is but a c. We do not kill the c for doing that „ I v 61
the c obey'd her father. „ I v 493 perchance A c more innocent than Lady Jane. „ I v 502 nursery-cocker'd c will jeer at aught „ II ii 394
He is c and fool, and traitor to the State. „ II ii 403
That if the Queen should die without a c, „ III iii 75 no more rein upon thine anger Than any c ! „ III iv 304 Threaten the c ; 'I'll scourge you if you did it :' „ III v 126
What weapon hath the c, save his soft tongue, „ III v 128
I think the Queen may never bear a c ; „ III v 232
So sick am I with biding for this c. Is it the fashion in this clime for women To go twelve months in bearing of a c ? „ III vi 89
Her fierce desire of bearing him a c, „ IV iii 429
Since she lost hope of bearing us a c ? „ V i 230
Alice, my c, Bring us your lute. „ V ii 356
But the c came not, and the husband came not ; „ V ii 581 in her agony The mother came upon her—a c was born— „ V iv 20
Now the spoilt c sways both. Harold I i 453 my c ; Thou hast misread this merry dream of thine, „ I ii 97 tenfold, than this fearful c can do ; „ I ii 143
But sickly, slight, half-witted and a c, „ II ii 572
From c to c, from Pope to Pope, from age to age, „ V i 329 widow And orphan c, whom one of thy wild barons— Becket, Pro. 188
And when I was a c, The Virgin, „ I i 52
The c Is there already. Rosamund. Yes—the c—the c— „ I i 292
Who misuses a dog would misuse a c— „ I iv 109
Why, the c will drown himself. „ II i 322

Child (continued) And one fair c to fondle! Becket III i 12 the c We waited for so long—heaven's gift at last— „ III i 13
But then the c is such a c. „ III i 20 what's an apple, you know, save to a c, and I'm no c, „ III i 141 like the gravedigger's c I have heard of, trying to ring the bell, „ III iii 73
Thou art the prettiest c I ever saw. „ IV i 7
Your own c brought me hither! „ IV ii 13
C, I am mine own self Of and belonging to the King. „ IV ii 29
so it chances, c, That I am his main paramour, „ IV ii 38
—my c is so young, So backward too; „ IV ii 84
But the c is so young. You have children—his; And mine is the King's c; „ IV ii 89
I follow'd You and the c: he babbled all the way. „ IV ii 140 and make Thy body loathsome even to thy c; „ IV ii 172
The c . . . No . . . mercy! No! „ IV ii 185
His c and mine own soul, and so return. „ V ii 193
Lacking the love of woman and of c. „ V ii 199
Save him, he saved my life, he saved my c, „ V iii 9
A c's sand-castle on the beach For the next wave— The Cup I ii 253 that dost inspire the germ with life, The c, „ II 259 and she, A girl, a c, then but fifteen, The Falcon 537
My one c Florio lying still so sick, „ 678 best way out of it, if the c could keep Her counsel. Prom. of May I 476 when the man, The c of evolution, flings aside „ I 585
C, do you love me now? „ I 640
For ever, you foolish c! What's come over you? „ I 771
Ay, c; and you look thin and pale. „ I 781
Well, my c, let us join them. „ I 796
So the c grow to manhood: „ II 289
—she was his favourite c— „ II 419
Our old nurse crying as if for her own c, „ II 480 so that you do not copy his bad manners? Go, c. „ III 362
'My dear C,—I can do no more for you. „ III 397
C, read a little history, you will find „ III 542
C, can't you see? Tell them to fly for a doctor. „ III 711
A c, and all as trustful as a c! „ III 759
C, thou shouldst marry one who will pay the mortgage. Foresters I i 279 by this Holy Cross Which good King Richard gave me when a c— „ I ii 311
Nor leave a c behind him' „ II ii 113
Has never glanced upon me when a c. „ IV 5
C, thou shalt wed him, Or thine old father will go mad— „ IV 643

Childer (children) theer be a thousand i' the parish, taäkin' in the women and c; Prom. of May I 146
Them be what they larns the c' at school, „ III 39

Childhood Away from Philip, Back in her c— Queen Mary V v 231

Childish No—the c fist That cannot strike again. Harold IV iii 30

Childless 'Tis written, 'They shall be c.' Queen Mary I ii 65
Evil for good, it seems, Is oft as c of the good Harold V i 172
Than all my c wealth, if mine must die. The Falcon 855

Childlike ask'd him, c: 'Will you take it off Queen Mary III i 401 great motion of laughter among us, part real, part c, Becket III iii 155 part c again—when we felt we had laughed too long „ III iii 159

Childlike-jealous And c-j of him again— Queen Mary V v 234

Children (See also Child, Childer) These princes are like c, must be physick'd, „ I v 234 Dumb c of my father, that will speak „ II i 77 cannot tell How mothers love their c; „ II ii 190 naturally may love his people As these their c; „ II ii 193
The man had c, and he whined for those. „ II ii 335
Away! Women and c! „ II iii 97
So that we may, as c penitent, „ III iii 153
Watch'd c playing at their life to be, „ III iv 63
They had not reach'd right reason; little c! „ III iv 73 wholesome scripture, 'Little c, Love one another.' „ III iv 85 but they play with fire as c do, And burn the house. „ III vi 28
His c and his concubine, belike. „ IV i 165
To the poor flock—to women and to c— „ IV ii 159 fire seem To those three c like a pleasant dew. „ IV iii 91 burnt The heretic priest, workmen, and women and c. „ V v 107
Old, miserable, diseased, Incapable of c. „ V v 179
That tread the kings their c under-heel— Becket, Pro. 213 and her c—canst thou not—that secret matter „ Pro. 486

Children (continued) my c, your prayers will do more for me Becket I iv 143
And thereupon he call'd my c bastards. „ IV ii 44
You have c—his; And mine is the King's child; „ IV ii 90 new-made c Of our imperial mother see the show. The Cup II 164 More specially sick c, have strange fancies, The Falcon 817 who call'd the mind Of c a blank page, Prom. of May II 282 they tell me that you—and you have six c— „ III 77 and when the c grew too old for me, „ III 386 love that c owe to both I give To him alone. Foresters IV 7

Child-world The miserable see-saw of our c-w, Queen Mary IV iii 385

Chill (adj.) Come, come, you are c here; „ III v 275 wherefore waste your heart In looking on a c and changeless Past? Prom. of May II 504

Chill (s) He caught a c in the lagoons of Venice, Queen Mary V ii 515

Chill (verb) —your north c's me. Becket, Pro. 330
Will c the hearts that beat for Robin Hood! Foresters IV 1064

Chilled He warmed to you to-day, and you have c him again. Becket II ii 375

Chime fawn upon him? C in with all? Harold I ii 167
Low words best c with this solemnity. The Cup II 217 world is beautiful If we were happy, and could c in with it. Prom. of May I 578

Chin both her knees drawn upward to her c. Queen Mary V ii 392
Not in my c, I hope! That threatens double. Becket II i 250

China as she has broken My c bowl. The Falcon 524

Chink (crevice) A twilight conscience lighted thro' a c; —a c—he's out, Gone! Harold III i 66
Becket I i 259

Chink (verb) wholesome use of these To c against the Norman, Harold III i 22

Chirp we will c among our vines, and smile The Cup I iii 170

Chivalry yet I hate him for his want of c. Foresters I ii 107
He loves the c of his single arm. „ IV 786

Choice The c of England is the voice of England. William. I will be king of England by the laws, The c, and voice of England. Harold II ii 128
Tostig's banishment, and c of Morcar, „ IV i 104
To do with England's c of her own king? „ V i 19 weight down all free c beneath the throne. Becket I iii 118
The wiser c, because my sleeping-draught „ IV ii 168

Choir To the c, to the c! Becket. Shall I too pass to the c, „ V iii 73

Choose not so set on wedlock as to c But where I list, Queen Mary II ii 214 dead I cannot c but love her. „ III i 340 Pray God the people c thee for their king! Harold I i 314
there the great Assembly c their king, „ II ii 127
C therefore whether thou wilt have thy conscience „ II ii 282
c A hundred of the wisest heads from England, Becket II ii 170 Still c Barabbas rather than the Christ, „ II ii 390

Choosing old Northumbrian crown, And kings of our own c. Harold IV i 33

Chop Would you not c the bitten finger off, Queen Mary III iv 206

Chord touch No c in me that would not answer The Falcon 456

Chosen thought I might be c Pope, But then with-drew it. Queen Mary V ii 82 coming from the people, And c by the people— Harold V i 387
c by his people And fighting for his people! „ V i 490 and c me For this thy great archbishoprick, Becket I i 90 Hoped, were he c archbishop, „ I iii 442 for her beauty, stateliness, and power, Was c Priestess The Cup II 17

Christ (See also Christ Jesus, Jesus Christ) And stand within the porch, and C with me: Queen Mary I ii 51 and kindled with the palms of C! „ I v 94 sworn upon the body and blood of C I'll none but Philip. „ I v 215
And keep with C and conscience— „ I v 558
And clasp the faith in C; „ II ii 122 what saith C? 'Compel them to come in.' „ III iv 29
White as the light, the spotless bride of C, „ III iv 200
Like C himself on Tabor, „ III iv 201
And be with C the Lord in Paradise. „ IV iii 88
Either to live with C in Heaven with joy, „ IV iii 220 seen the true men of C lying famine-dead by scores, „ V iv 38 the one King, the C, and all things in common, „ V iv 53

Christ (continued) Or till the Pope be C's. Harold v i 332 for I be his lord and master i' C, my lord. Becket i iv 241 if they were defective as St. Peter Denying C, „ ii ii 216 Still choose Barabbas rather than the C, „ ii ii 391
Christchurch Deans Of C, Durham, Exeter, and Wells— Queen Mary i ii 9
Christendom your worship the first man in Kent and C, „ ii i 64
So brands me in the stare of C A heretic ! „ v ii 62
Poitou, all C is raised against thee ; Harold iii ii 150 make Our island-Church a schism from C, Becket i iii 116 you are known Thro' all the courts of C „ iv ii 325 Christian (adj.) Thou C Bishop, thou Lord Chancellor Of England ! Queen Mary iii iv 300 yet what hatred C men Bear to each other, „ iv iii 182
The C manhood of the man who reigns ! Harold ii i 104
The kingliest Abbey in all C lands, „ iii i 204
We will not give him A C burial : „ v ii 154
To rival him in C charity. Becket iii iii 233
Your Christian's C charity ! „ v ii 475
Christian (s) But for your C, look you, you shall have „ ii ii 227
Your C's Christian charity ! „ v ii 475
More like the picture Of C in my ' Pilgrim's Progress ' Prom. of May iii 519
Christian-charitiest human-heartedest, C-c of all crab-catchers. Harold ii i 63
Christ Jesus (See also Christ, Jesus Christ) as in the day of the first church, when C J was King. Queen Mary v iv 55 our lords and masters in C J. Becket i iv 87 Christmas (adj.) Are braced and brazen'd up with C wines „ v ii 424
Christmas (s) for thou art as white as three C'ses. Queen Mary i i 30 Chronicle and my poor c Is but of glass. „ iii v 46 be defamed Thro' all her angry c's hereafter „ v ii 304
And swallow'd in the conqueror's c. The Cup i ii 158
Chrysalis like a butterfly in a c, You spent your life ; Queen Mary i iv 51
Chuck'd England now Is but a ball c between France and Spain, „ iii i 110 Church (adj.) clench'd their pirate hides To the bleak c doors, Harold iv iii 37 stir not yet This matter of the C lands. Queen Mary i v 409
Thou art the man to fill out the C robe ; Becket, Pro. 262
In the c rope ?—no. „ iii iii 80
Church (s) (See also Island-Church) not to yield His C of England to the Papal wolf And Mary ; Queen Mary i ii 36
Have I climb'd back into the primal c, „ i ii 50
All the c is grateful. „ i v 178 to play The tyrant, or in commonwealth or c. „ i v 192
Let the great angel of the c come with him ; „ i v 377
Henry broke the carcase of your c To pieces, „ i v 398
Steadying the tremulous pillars of the C— „ i v 518
Ay, even in the c there is a man—Cranmer. „ iii i 169
Can we not have the Catholic c as well „ iii iii 97 of all censures Of Holy C that we be fall'n into, „ iii iii 152 received into the bosom And unity of Universal C ; „ iii iii 155 islands call'd into the dawning c Out of the dead, „ iii iii 172
Father hath appointed Head Of all his c, „ iii iii 208 to the bosom And unity of Universal C. „ iii iii 221 but now, The unity of Universal C, Mary would have it ; „ iii iii 229
Old Rome, that first made martyrs in the C, „ iii iv 127
What, my Lord ! The C on Peter's rock ? never ! „ iii iv 134
It was the shadow of the C that trembled ; „ iii iv 144
Your c was but the shadow of a c, „ iii iv 146 Began to batter at your English C, „ iii iv 186 we should thoroughly cleanse the C within „ iii iv 196 bolster'd up The gross King's headship of the C, „ iii iv 246
The C's evil is not as the King's, „ iii iv 273
Legate Is here as Pope and Master of the C, „ iii iv 347
I kept my head for use of Holy C ; „ iii iv 359 and plunge His foreign fist into our island C „ iii iv 364 Then have my simple headstone by the c, „ iii v 114 that His c May flourish. „ iii vi 69
Yet to save Cranmer were to serve the C, „ iv i 136
' Martyr's blood—seed of the C.' Mary. Of the true C ; but his is none, „ iv i 147

Church (s) (continued) read your recantation Before the people in St. Mary's C. Queen Mary iv ii 29 farewell ; Until I see you in St. Mary's C. „ iv ii 47 Against the huge corruptions of the C, „ iv ii 101
O higher, holier, earlier, purer c, „ iv ii 108 in the c Repeat your recantation in the ears „ iv ii 192 that hath return'd To the one Catholic Universal C, „ iv iii 21
So poisoning the C, so long continuing, „ iv iii 48
Chief prelate of our C, archbishop, „ iv iii 70 misreport His ending to the glory of their c. „ iv iii 327
Crying ' Forward ! '—set our old c rocking, „ iv iii 403
Out of the c, you brace of cursed crones, „ iv iii 538 stood More like an ancient father of the C, „ iv iii 598
For Alva is true son of the true c— „ v i 160
When I should guide the C in peace at home, „ v ii 67
The scourge and butcher of their English c. „ v ii 107 as in the day of the first c, when Christ Jesus was King. „ v iv 55
And done such mighty things by Holy C, „ v v 74 and your c'es Uncouth, unhandsome, Harold i i 164
I have builded the great c of Holy Peter : „ i i 179 and saw the c all fill'd With dead men „ i ii 81 king Hath given his virgin lamb to Holy C „ iii i 335 loved within the pale forbidden By Holy C : „ iii ii 24 Scared by the c— „ iii ii 87
Their anthems of no c, how sweet they are ! „ iii ii 91
Remains beyond all chances and all c'es, „ iii ii 183
Our Saints have moved the C that moves the world, „ v i 41 made too good an use of Holy C To break her close ! „ v i 313
Our C in arms—the lamb the lion— „ v i 440
I vow to build a c to God Here on the hill of battle ; „ v ii 137 being brought before the courts of the C, Becket, Pro. 13
The C in the pell-mell of Stephen's time „ Pro. 19
The C should hold her baronies of me, „ Pro. 24 to whom thou art bound By Holy C. „ Pro. 68
I, true son Of Holy C—no croucher to the Gregories „ Pro. 211
King, C, and State to him but foils wherein „ Pro. 268
Believing I should ever aid the C— „ Pro. 417 if there ever come feud between C and Crown, „ Pro. 465
The people know their C a tower of strength, „ i i 15
I more than once have gone against the C. „ i i 30
C should pay her scutage like the lords. „ i i 34
That I should go against the C with him, And I shall go against him with the C, „ i i 93
My truest and mine utmost for the C? „ i i 114
For how have fought thine utmost for the C, „ i i 118
' I mean to fight mine utmost for the C, Against the King' ? „ i i 124
I am his no more, and I must serve the C. „ i i 146 they are Royal, Not of the C— „ i i 169 these new railers at the C May plaister „ i i 307
Knowing how much you reverence Holy C, „ i ii 48
Are not so much at feud with Holy C, „ i ii 54
That C must scorn herself whose fearful Priest „ i ii 64
The C must play into the hands of kings ; „ i ii 68
And take the C's danger on myself. „ i ii 72
The customs of the C are Peter's rock. „ i iii 24
Wilt thou destroy the C in fighting for it, „ i iii 36
' If any cleric be accused of felony, the C shall not protect him ; „ i iii 87
Is not the C the visible Lord on earth ? „ i iii 92
A fit place for the monies of the C, „ i iii 105 the King shall summon the chapter of that c to court, „ i iii 109
He meant no harm nor damage to the C. „ i iii 217
He heads the C against the King with thee. „ i iii 245
Herbert, Herbert, have I betray'd the C? „ i iii 285 bad me seal against the rights of the C, „ i iii 313 murders done By men, the scum and offal of the C ; „ i iii 409
C and Crown, Two sisters gliding in an equal dance, „ i iii 443
As Chancellor thou wast against the C, „ i iii 529
The spire of Holy C may prick the graves— „ i iii 553
The C will hate thee. „ i iii 565 Fight for the C, and set the C against me ! „ i iii 569 set the C This day between the hammer and the anvil— „ i iii 584 and no forsworn Archbishop Shall helm the C. „ i iii 598

Church (s) (continued) now the glory of the C Hath swallow'd up the glory of the King; Becket I iii 665
Whatever the C owns—she holds it in Free and perpetual alms, „ I iii 679
The soul the body, and the C the Throne, „ I iii 717
The King, these customs, all the C, „ I iii 726
The C is ever at variance with the kings, „ I iv 78
Were the C king, it would be otherwise. „ I iv 104 for the sake of the C itself, if not for my own, „ I iv 153
And I have been as royal with the C. „ II i 83
Shrink from me, like a daughter of the C. „ II i 278
Quarrel of Crown and C—to rend again. „ II ii 56
We never hounded on the State at home To spoil the C. „ II ii 97
Holy C May rock, but will not wreck, „ II ii 102
Who thief-like fled from his own c by night, „ II ii 156 all the C of France Decide on their decision, „ II ii 176 thanks of Holy C are due to those That went before us „ II ii 190 we grant the C King over this world's kings, „ II ii 242
—the green field—the gray c— „ II ii 296
Agree with him quickly again, even for the sake of the C. „ II ii 378
The C alone hath eyes—and now I see That I was blind— „ II ii 436 Perish she, I, all, before The C should suffer wrong! „ III iii 20
I have been more for the King than the C in this matter—yea, even for the sake of the C: „ III iii 65
so violated the immemorial usage of the C, „ III iii 73 half-hanged himself in the rope of the C, or rather pulled all the C „ III iii 76 but Salisbury was a calf cowed by Mother C, „ III iii 96 puffed out such an incense of unctuosity into the nostrils of our Gods of C and State, „ III iii 116
hurl the dread ban of the C on those „ III iii 210
The State will die, the C can never die. „ III iii 336
God's grace and Holy C deliver'd us. „ IV ii 309
He grovels to the C when he's black-blooded, „ IV ii 436
The C is all—the crime to be a king. „ V i 26
I have overshot My duties to our Holy Mother C, „ V i 38
Are push'd from out communion of the C. „ V i 59
Hath used the full authority of his C „ V i 207
The C! the C! God's eyes! I would the C were down in hell! „ V i 216 crying On Holy C to thunder out her rights „ V ii 31
she would not believe me, and she wish'd The C were king: „ V ii 118 and our Mother C for bride; „ V ii 221 Divide me from the mother c of England, My Canterbury. „ V ii 360 chants and hymns In all the c'es, „ V ii 367 pass the censures of the C On those that crown'd young Henry „ V ii 391 my dream foretold my martyrdom In mine own c. „ V ii 634
Undo the doors: the c is not a castle: „ V iii 62
Seen by the C in heaven, the C on earth— „ V iii 98
Except they make submission to the C. „ V iii 123 —for thy C, O Lord—Into thy hands, „ V iii 194 tho' he never comes to c, I thought better of him. Prom. of May I 261 Thrones, c'es, ranks, traditions, customs, „ I 519
Ring, trinket of the C, „ I 598
Not in our c—I think I scarce could hold my head up „ I 688 and the weight of the c to boot on my shoulders, Foresters I ii 58 weight of the flesh at odd times overbalance the weight of the c, „ I ii 62 which a pious son of the C gave me this morning „ III 281
Thou hast roll'd over the C militant „ IV 272
C and Law, halt and pay toll! „ IV 429
When the C and the law have forgotten God's music, „ IV 554
Beware, O King, the vengeance of the C. „ IV 914 let me execute the vengeance of the C upon them. „ IV 916 the vengeance of the C! Thou shalt pronounce the blessing of the C „ IV 926 Church-bond that stale C-b which link'd me with him Becket IV ii 447
Church-censure I fear C-c's like your King. „ IV ii 434
Church-land We have given the c-l's back: Queen Mary V i 171
Churchless Back from her c commerce with the King Becket IV ii 332
Churchman her needle perfect, and her learning Beyond the churchmen; Queen Mary III i 362
Churchman (continued) being English c How should he bear the headship of the Pope? Queen Mary III iii 28
And by the c's pitiless doom of fire, „ III iv 49 lives Of many among your churchmen were so foul „ III iv 191 Statesman not C he. Becket, Pro. 450 thou, that art c too In a fashion, Foresters IV 410 Church-policy State-policy and c-p are conjoint, Queen Mary III ii 73
Church-tower sets the c-t over there all a-hell-fire as it were? Becket III iii 51
Churchwarden C be a coomin, thaw me and 'im we niver 'grees about the tithe; Prom. of May I 443
Churl Thine, thine, or King or c! Harold III ii 37
he speaks to a noble as tho' he were a c, and to a c Becket, Pro. 455
C! I will have thee frighted into France, „ I ii 93
Yea, heard the c against the baron— „ I iii 365
Lout, c, clown! Prom. of May III 739
True soul of the Saxon c for whom song has no charm. Foresters II i 386 scares The Baron at the torture of his c's, „ III 106
Churn To sing, love, marry, c, brew, bake, and die, Queen Mary III v 111
Cider-crop they'll hev' a fine c-c to-year if the blossom 'owds. Prom. of May I 316
Cinder I wish some thunderbolt Would make this Cole a c, Queen Mary IV iii 11 lava-torrents blast and blacken a province To a c, hear. The Cup II 304
Cinnamon Nard, C, amomum, benzoin. „ II 284
Cipher Ha! Courtenay's c. Queen Mary II i 134
Circe Our woodland C that hath witch'd the King? Becket III ii 32
Circling See, first, a c wood, „ Pro. 161
Circumbendibuses all manner of homages, and observances, and c. Foresters I i 103 Circumstance The painful c's which I heard— Prom. of May II 402
Cistercian as I hate the dirty gap in the face of a C monk, Becket II ii 381
Cite And c thee to appear before the Pope, „ I iii 602
Cited He hath c me to Rome, for heresy, Queen Mary V ii 42
Citizen (See also Fellow-citizen) c's Stood each before his shut-up booth, „ II ii 62
With execrating execrable eyes, Glared at the c. „ II ii 68
we pray That we, you true and loyal c's, „ II ii 135
And see the c's arm'd. Good day; „ II ii 378
Ay, and for Gardiner! being English c, „ III iii 24
The c's heir hath conquer'd me For the moment. Becket II ii 60
Our gallant c's murder'd all in vain, The Cup I ii 142
Would clap his honest c's on the back, „ I ii 358
Here comes a c, and I think his wife. Foresters III 227
City After him, boys! and pelt him from the c. Queen Mary I iii 86 make Your c loyal, and be the mightiest man „ II ii 19
How look'd the c When now you past it? „ II ii 57
Like our Council, Your c is divided. „ II ii 60
So I say Your c is divided, „ II ii 99 on you, In your own c, as her right, my Lord, „ II ii 106
I leave Lord William Howard in your c, „ II ii 245
We thank your Lordship and your loyal c. „ II ii 301
I have notice from our partisans Within the c „ II iii 52
scum And offal of the c would not change Estates with him; „ IV iii 77
Saints to scatter sparks of plague Thro' all your cities, Harold II ii 747
A hill, a fort, a c—that reach'd a hand „ IV i 44 another hill Or fort, or c, took it, „ IV i 50
Would God she were—no, here within the c. Becket, Pro. 180
Last night I followed a woman in the c here. „ Pro. 469 there stole into the c a breath Full of the meadows, „ I i 261 where to seek? I have been about the c. „ I i 398
I made him porcelain from the clay of the c— „ I iii 439 if the c be sick, and I cannot call the kennel sweet, „ II ii 348 plagues That smite the c spare the solitudes. „ V ii 173
My lord, the c is full of armed men. „ V ii 187
she told us of arm'd men Here in the c. „ V ii 228
These arm'd men in the c, these fierce faces— „ V iii 3 myrtle, bowering-in The c where she dwells. The Cup I i 4 Brought me again to her own c?— „ I i 14 in a c thro' which he past with the Roman army: „ I i 42 in some c where Antonius past. „ I ii 56
Most like the c rose against Antonius, „ I ii 62

City (continued) The Roman is encampt without your c— The Cup I ii 84
The camp is half a league without the c; „ I iii 90 and flatten in her closing chasm Domed cities, hear. „ II 301 as she was helping to build the mound against the c. Foresters II i 309 Civil Would perish on the c slaughter-field, Queen Mary III i 118
The c wars are gone for evermore: „ III v 150 for that would drag The cleric before the c judgment-seat, Becket I iii 84 Civil-spoken He's a Somersetshire man, and a very c-s gentleman. Prom. of May I 207
'Good daäy then, Dobson!' C-s i'deed! „ I 301 Claim (s) beast might roar his c To being in God's image, Queen Mary IV iii 368 know'st my c on England Thro' Edward's promise: Harold II ii 12
Who hath a better c then to the crown „ II ii 596
Wilt thou uphold my c? „ II ii 603
Claim (verb) the people C as their natural leader— Queen Mary I iv 210
Foliot may c the pall For London too. Becket I iii 55
Claim'd C some of our crown lands for Canterbury— „ I iii 458
Clamour Roused by the c of the chase he woke, The Cup I ii 117 with no fear Of the world's gossiping c, Prom. of May I 528
Clamour'd The c darling of their afternoon! The Cup II 125
Clan The weakness and the dissonance of our c's, „ I i 24
'I go to fight in Scotland With many a savage c;' Foresters I i 15
Clang every parish tower Shall c and clash Queen Mary II i 230
Iron on iron c, Harold IV iii 160
Clank c The shackles that will bind me to the wall. „ II ii 409
Clap Except I c thee into prison here, Becket V i 110
Would c his honest citizens on the back, The Cup I ii 358
Clapt (adj.) we shall hear him presently with c wing Crow over Barbarossa— Becket II ii 49
Clapt (verb) Which a young lust had c upon the back, Queen Mary IV iii 401 they c their hands Upon their swords when ask'd; „ V i 172 wicked sister c her hands and laugh'd; Harold V ii 48
i' the poorch as soon as he c eyes of 'er. Prom. of May I 23
Clarence (lady in waiting to Queen Mary) C, they hate me; even when I speak Queen Mary V ii 214
he may bring you news from Philip. Mary. So, C. „ V ii 230
C, C, what have I done? „ V ii 338
Our C there Sees ever such an aureole „ V ii 412
Clash (s) cries, and c's, and the groans of men; Harold III i 375
Clash (verb) every parish tower Shall clang and c Queen Mary II i 230
Let all the steeples c, „ III ii 237
If ever, as heaven grant, we c with Spain, „ IV iii 346
Smooth thou my way, before he c with me; Harold II ii 69 sing, Asaph! c The cymbal, Heman! „ III i 187 and king's favour might so c That thou and I— Becket, Pro. 296 Clash'd c their bells, Shot off their lying cannon, Queen Mary III vi 95
Tho' earth's last earthquake c the minster-bells, Becket V iii 41
Clashing Ye make this c for no love o' the customs „ I iii 136
Sceptre and crozier c, and the mitre Grappling „ II i 25
Less c with their priests— „ II ii 147
C of swords—three upon one, and that one our Robin! Foresters II i 419 Clasp And c the faith in Christ; Queen Mary III ii 122
c a hand Red with the sacred blood of Sinnatus? The Cup II 82 waiting To c their lovers by the golden gates. Prom. of May I 248
I fall before thee, c Thy knees. Foresters II i 599
I thought I saw thee c and kiss a man „ II ii 72
Thou see me c and kiss a man indeed, „ II ii 76
Fancied he saw thee c and kiss a man. „ III 23
I have seen thee c and kiss a man indeed, „ IV 1035
Claspt Then c the cross, and pass'd away in peace. Queen Mary V v 259
My lord, We have c your cause, Becket II ii 237 Clause the c's added To that same treaty Queen Mary III iii 67
Claw Such hold-fast c's that you perforce Becket II ii 86
Clay (See also Adam-clay) Statesmen that are wise Shape a necessity, as a sculptor c, Queen Mary III iii 33
Our altar is a mound of dead men's c, „ V ii 162
I made him porcelain from the c of the city— Becket I iii 438
Clean (See also Cleän) And cried I was not c, what should I care? Queen Mary V ii 324
May plaister his c name with scurrilous rhymes! Becket I i 308 that Is c against God's honour— „ II ii 163
Only see your cloth be c. The Falcon 420
Cleän The feller's c daäzed, an' maäzed, an' maäted, Prom. of May II 728
Cleanse we should thoroughly c the Church within Queen Mary III iv 195 Clear (adj.) Stand back, keep a c lane! Queen Mary I i 2
In c and open day were congruent With that vile Cranmer „ III iv 230
So from a c sky falls the thunderbolt! „ V iii 115
I think that they would Molochize them too, To have the heavens c. Harold I i 38
Like on the face, the brows—c innocence! Becket II i 195 Hath he stray'd From love's c path into the common bush, „ III i 247 a bat flew out at him In the c noon, and hook'd him by the hair, Foresters II ii 97
Clear (verb) his last breath C Courtenay and the Princess Queen Mary III i 135
I bad them c A royal pleasaunce for thee, Becket II i 127
I say that those Who went before us did not wholly c The deadly growths of earth, „ II ii 202
Fasts, disciplines that c the spiritual eye, „ V i 42
Clear'd The king, the lords, the people c him of it. Harold II ii 522
I've hed the long barn c out of all the machines, Prom. of May I 451
Clearer gray dawn Of an old age that never will be mine Is all the c seen. Queen Mary V ii 236
Cleave (to adhere) and c unto each other As man and wife? „ V ii 137 in hope the crown Would c to me that but obey'd „ Becket V i 50
—if I win her love, They too will c to me, The Cup I iii 154
I'll c to you rich or poor. Foresters I i 155
C to him, father! he will come home at last. „ I i 197
Cleave (to divide) bright sky c To the very feet of God, Harold II ii 742
C heaven, and send thy saints that I may say „ II ii 785 blow that brains the horseman c's the horse, „ V i 593
Cleaved thro' all this quarrel I still have c to the crown, Becket V i 48
Cleaving Is like the c of a heart; Queen Mary III vi 196
C to your original Adam-clay, „ IV iii 418
Cleft c the tree From off the bearing trunk, Harold III i 137
And c the Moslem turban at my side. Foresters IV 1001 Clench'd fierce forekings had c their pirate hides Harold IV iii 35
Cleric A c lately poison'd his own mother, Becket, Pro. 10 whether between laymen or c's, shall be tried in the King's court.' „ I iii 80 would drag The c before the civil judgment-seat, „ I iii 84
'If any c be accused of felony, the Church shall not protect him; „ I iii 86
A c violated The daughter of his host, „ I iii 382 Say that a c murder'd an archbishop, „ I iii 399
the lady holds the c Lovelier than any soldier, „ V i 193
Your c hath your lady. „ V i 200
Lifted our produce, driven our c's out— „ V ii 432
Clever And speak for him after—you that are so c! Prom. of May I 620
Cliff Make blush the maiden-white of our tall c's, Harold II ii 333 make their wall of shields Firm as thy c's, „ V i 480 voice of the deep as it hollows the c's of the land. Becket II i 4
Cliff-gibbeted they should hang C-g for sea-marks; Harold II i 97
Clifford (See also Rosamund, Rosamund de Clifford) and it minded me Of the sweet woods of C, Becket I i 264
The mouth is only C, my dear father. „ II i 220
I am a C, My son a C and Plantagenet. „ IV ii 226
Climb we will c The mountain opposite and watch the chase. The Cup I i 116
He c's the throne. Hot blood, ambition, „ II 168
Climb'd Have I c back into the primal church, Queen Mary I ii 49
Last night I c into the gate-house, Brett, „ II iii 14
Hath c the throne and almost clutch'd the crown; Becket, Pro. 21
That hath c up to nobler company. „ I i 351 his politic Holiness Hath all but c the Roman perch „ II ii 46
Clime Is it the fashion in this c for women Queen Mary III vi 90
Your people are as cheerless as your c; „ V i 84
Cling now thy love to mine Will c more close, „ III ii 160
C to their love; for, now the sons of Godwin Harold I i 324 women C to the conquer'd, if they love, „ IV i 213
I c to you all the more. Foresters I i 160
Your names will c like ivy to the wood. „ IV 1085 Clinging c thus Felt the remorseless outdraught Harold II i 7 c to thee Closer than ever. Becket II i 285
Clip rather than so c The flowery robe of Hymen, The Cup II 435
Clipt The common barber c your hair, Queen Mary IV ii 131
Cloak like his c, his manners want the nap „ III v 69

Cloak (continued) Wrap them together in a purple c Harold v ii 158
A ragged c for saddle—he, he, he, Becket v i 248 Clock Toll of a bell, Stroke of a c, Queen Mary III v 143 so they bided on and on till vour o' the c, „ IV iii 510 Cloister Thou art my nun, thy c in mine arms. Harold I ii 63 then would find Her nest within the c, „ IV i 234 Get thou into thy c as the king Will'd it: „ V i 309
Those arm'd men in the c. Becket V iii 50
Cloister'd She must be c somehow, lest the king Harold I ii 157
The silent, c, solitary life, „ III i 277
Cloistral Retiring into c solitude Queen Mary III vi 209
Close (adj. and adv.) Can you be c? Elizabeth. Can you, my Lord? Courtenay. C as a miser's casket. Listen: „ I iv 106
They call me near, for I am c to thee And England— Harold III i 6 with his charm of simple style And c dialectic, Prom. of May I 225
From the farm Here, c at hand. „ II 361
C by that alder-island in your brook, „ II 535 you kept your veil too c for that when they carried you in; „ III 227 but call Kate when you will, for I am c at hand. Foresters III 50 Close (an end) Gone narrowing down and darkening to a c. Queen Mary IV iii 432 war with Brittany to a goodlier c Than else had been, Harold II ii 49
And never a flower at the c; (repeat) Becket, Pro. 382, 342
Close (verb) all too much at odds to c at once Queen Mary I v 632
Tell her to come and c my dying eyes, „ V ii 599 tell the cooks to c The doors of all the offices below. „ V v 116
To make all England one, to c all feuds, Harold IV i 141
Over! the sweet summer c's, (repeat) Becket, Pro. 302, 324, 331 that the rift he made May c between us, „ II ii 132
C the great gate—ho, there—upon the town. „ V ii 529
Will c with me that to submit at once The Cup I ii 140
c not yet the door upon a night That looks half day. „ I ii 387
She—c the Temple door. Let her not fly. „ II 460 and warm hands c with warm hands, Foresters I iii 20
Closed (adj. and part.) on a soft bed, in a c room, with light, fire, physic, tendance; Queen Mary V iv 36
Thro' all c doors a dreadful whisper crept Becket V ii 88 or c For ever in a Moorish tower, Foresters II i 655 Closed (verb) King c with me last July That I should pass Becket V ii 388 Closer Might it not Be the rough preface of some c bond? Queen Mary I iv 48
So that your sister were but look'd to c. „ I v 461
Hast thou not mark'd—come c to mine ear— „ V i 225 clinging to thee C than ever. Becket II i 286
Why, an old woman can shoot c than you two. Foresters II i 400 Closet listening In some dark c, Queen Mary V ii 217
Get thee into the c there, Foresters II i 215
Closing gulf and flatten in her c chasm Domed cities, hear. The Cup II 300 Cloth (See also Cloth of gold, Dust-cloth) Only see your c be clean. The Falcon 420 see your c be white as snow! „ 498
Clothe His faith shall c the world that will be his, Queen Mary III ii 180
And tropes are good to c a naked truth, „ III iv 150 c's itself In maiden flesh and blood, Foresters III 115 Clothed stand C with the full authority of Rome, Becket V ii 493
C with the mystic silver of her moon. Foresters II i 608
Cloth of gold That royal commonplace too, c o g, Queen Mary III i 54
Cloud (s) (See also Thunder-cloud) then King Harry look'd from out a c, „ IV ii 7 under no ceiling but the c that wept on them, „ V iv 40 be as the shadow of a c Crossing your light. Harold II ii 177 Come, Harold, shake the c off! „ III i 74
Fall, c, and fill the house— „ III i 190
Customs, traditions,—c's that come and go; Becket I iii 22
As Canterbury calls them, wandering c's, „ I iii 71
My sun, no c! Let there not be one frown in this one hour. „ II i 42
Out of the c, my Sun—out of the eclipse „ II i 202 black c that hath come over the sun and cast „ III iii 46
King at last is fairly scared by this c—this interdict. „ III iii 64
My princess of the c, my plumed purveyor The Falcon 7 upon me Thro' that rich c of blossom. Prom. of May II 250
And the white c is roll'd along the sky! Foresters I ii 319
Flung by the golden mantle of the c, „ II i 28
Cloud (verb) C not thy birthday with one fear for me. Foresters I ii 125
Cloudless But c heavens which we have found together The Cup I ii 415 Clown Their A B C is darkness, c's and grooms May read it! Queen Mary III iv 35 one that pares his nails; to me? the c! „ III v 66 Insolent c. Shall I smite him Becket I iv 223 less loyalty in it than the backward scrape of the c's heel— „ III iii 144 parish-parson bawl our banns Before your gaping c's? Prom. of May I 687
How the c glared at me! that Dobbins, is it, „ II 611
Lout, churl, c! „ III 739
Club See War-club
Cluckt The hen c late by the white farm gate, „ I 38
Clumsy O the c word! Robin. Take thou this light kiss for thy c word. Foresters III 133
You lovers are such c summer-flies „ IV 10
Clung these earls and barons, that c to me, Becket I iv 66
Clutch Here is one would c Our pretty Marian for his paramour, Foresters IV 766
Clutch'd and almost c the crown; Becket, Pro. 22
Coal (See also Coäl) As one that blows the c to cool the fire. „ V ii 549 my father and I forgave you stealing our c's. Prom. of May III 69
Coäl cotched 'im once a-steälin' c's an' I sent fur 'im, „ I 412
Coalscuttle fell ageän c and my kneeä gev waäy „ I 403 Coarse This hard c man of old hath crouch'd to me Queen Mary IV ii 169 but neither cold, c, cruel, And more than all— „ V ii 481
Coarseness This c is a want of phantasy. „ V ii 438
Coat And carve my c upon the walls again! „ II iv 110
This Gardiner turn'd his c in Henry's time; „ III iii 17
Down with him, tear his c from his back. Foresters I iii 73
Cobbled for mine own father Was great, and c. Harold IV i 91
Cobbler the psalm-singing weavers, c's, scum— Queen Mary III iv 290
Cock Our Lord Becket's our great sitting-hen c, Becket I iv 126
He was the c o' the walk; Foresters II i 320
Cockboat he look'd the Great Harry, You but his c; Queen Mary V ii 147
Cocker'd See Nursery-cocker'd
Cockerel thou'rt no such c thyself, „ I i 41
Cockle-shell Scuttle his c-s? Harold IV iii 142
Cocksbody It must be thus; and yet, c! Queen Mary III iii 4
He's here, and king, or will be—yet c! „ III iii 45
Codlin as sleek and as round-about as a mellow c. Foresters I i 43
Coesnon from the liquid sands of C Haled Harold II ii 56
Coffin like Mahound's c hung between heaven and earth— Becket II ii 361
Cognisant told Sir Maurice there was one C of this, Queen Mary II iv 100
Wyatt did confess the Princess C thereof, „ II iv 113
Coif Disguise me—thy gown and thy c. Foresters II i 187
Ay, ay, gown, c, and petticoat, „ II i 194
Coil'd And c himself about her sacred waist. „ II i 138
Coin He can but read the king's face on his c's. Harold I i 71 Spare not thy tongue! be lavish with our c's, Becket II ii 470 cast him from their doors Like a base c. The Cup I ii 353
Then after we have eased them of their c's Foresters III 173
Co-king C-k's we were, and made the laws together. Becket II ii 123
Cold (adj.) (See also Cowd, Ice-cold) Madam, methinks a c face and a haughty. Queen Mary I v 196
If c, his life is pure. „ I v 333
They call him c, Haughty, ay, worse. „ I v 431 know that whether A wind be warm or c, „ I v 620
Ay, and then as c as ever. Is Calais taken? „ V ii 26
Ah, Madam, but your people are so c; „ V ii 281
Thou art c thyself To babble of their coldness. „ V ii 290 but neither c, coarse, cruel, And more than all—, „ V ii 481
The c, white lily blowing in her cell: Harold III i 274
Vying a tear with our c dews, „ V i 151
In c, white cells beneath an icy moon— „ V i 325
John of Salisbury Hath often laid a c hand on my heats, Becket I i 384
he makes moan that all be a-getting c. „ I iv 62
C after warm, winter after summer, „ I iv 64
frosted off me by the first c frown of the King. C, but look how the table steams, „ I iv 68
You are too c to know the fashion of it. „ II ii 126
And when the c corners of the King's mouth began To thaw, „ III iii 153
To warm the c bounds of our dying life The Cup I iii 128

Cold (adj.) (continued) It is but thin and c, Not like the vintage The Falcon 578
Why, what a c grasp is thine— Foresters I ii 242
Thou blowest hot and c. Where is she then? „ II i 490
What makes you seem so c to Robin, lady? „ III 1
What makes thee think I seem so c to Robin? „ III 4
In the c water that she lost her voice, „ IV 243
Did you find that you worked at all the worse upon the c tea Prom. of May III 56
Cold (s) bring him home Safe from the dark and the c, The Cup I ii 6
O heavens! the very letters seem to shake With c, The Falcon 449
And the bee buzz'd up in the c. Foresters IV 21
And the bee buzz'd off in the c. „ IV 27
Colder To-day I almost fear'd your kiss was c— Becket III i 18
Cold-manner'd c-m friend may strangely do us The truest service, The Falcon 642
Coldness Thou art cold thyself To babble of their c. Queen Mary V ii 292
God's revenge upon this realm For narrowness and c: Harold I i 174
Cole Why are the trumpets blowing, Father C? Queen Mary IV ii 24
I wish some thunderbolt Would make this C a cinder, „ IV iii 11 Collar on his neck a c, Gold, thick with diamonds; „ III i 79
Colleagued yet the Pope is now c with France; „ V i 140 Collect c the fleet; Let every craft that carries „ V ii 273
Morcar, c thy men; Edwin, my friend— Harold IV i 256
College But the King hath bought half the C of Redhats. Becket II ii 374
Colloquy After the long brain-dazing colloquies, Queen Mary IV ii 92
Her Highness is too ill for c. „ V ii 613
Colossal Your father was a man Of such c kinghood, „ IV i 101
Colour (s) under c Of such a cause as hath no c, „ II ii 182
The c freely play'd into her face, „ II ii 321
Who changed not c when she saw the block, „ III i 399
The c's of our Queen are green and white, „ III v 5
Whose c's in a moment break and fly, „ IV iii 169 declare to you my very faith Without all c. „ IV iii 226 Whose c's in a moment break and fly!' „ V ii 206
A c, which has colour'd all my life, The Falcon 364
C Flows thro' my life again, Prom. of May II 666
He wore thy c's once at a tourney. Foresters I i 250
Colour (verb) She c's! Dora. Sir! Prom. of May II 559
Colour'd A colour, which has c all my life, The Falcon 364
Colt c winced and whinnied and flung up her heels; Becket, Pro. 514
Be the c dead? Dora. No, Father. Prom. of May III 429 deer from a dog, or a c from a gad-fly, Foresters II i 434 Column For smooth stone c's of the sanctuary, Harold I ii 101
hurls the victor's c down with him That crowns it, The Cup II 295
Co-mate C-m's we were, and had our sport together, Becket II ii 121
Comb And bind him in from harming of their c's. Queen Mary III iii 58 Combat My lords, is this a c or a council? Becket I iii 133
Come (See also A-cum, Coom, Coomed) They love thee, and thou canst not c to harm. Queen Mary I iii 67
These birds of passage c before their time: „ I iii 75
And in the whirl of change may c to be one. „ I iii 107
Prince of fluff and feather c To woo you, „ I iv 163
This c's of parleying with my Lord of Devon. „ I iv 251
Your time will c. Elizabeth. I think my time will c. „ I iv 255
C, c, I will go with you to the Queen. „ I iv 297
Madam, the Lord Chancellor. Mary. Bid him c in. „ I v 97
C you to tell me this, my Lord? „ I v 106
Bid him c in. Good morning, Sir de Noailles. „ I v 241
Let the great angel of the church c with him; „ I v 377
To save your crown that it must c to this. „ I v 479
No, Renard; it must never c to this. „ I v 482
he will not c Till she be gone. „ I v 512
For Philip c's, one hand in mine, „ I v 515
No, say I c. I won by boldness once. „ I v 547
Why c's that old fox-Fleming back again? „ I v 581
Her Highness c's. „ I v 635
No new news that Philip c's to wed Mary, „ II i 16
Ay, for the Saints are c to reign again. „ II i 21
I fear you c to carry it off my shoulders, „ II i 91
C locusting upon us, eat us up, „ II i 101
C, you bluster, Antony! „ II i 118 and if Philip c to be King, O, my God! „ II i 199
C, now, you're sonnetting again. „ II i 247

Come (continued) I trust the Queen c's hither with her guards. Queen Mary II ii 1
One word before she c's. „ II ii 109
Queen had written her word to c to court: „ II ii 117
Here c's her Royal Grace. „ II ii 126
In mine own person am I c to you, „ II ii 142
Your lawful Prince hath c to cast herself „ II ii 261
C, sirs, we prate; hence all— „ II ii 372
Wyatt c's to Southwark; „ II ii 374 thro' thine help we are c to London Bridge; „ II iii 8 make Those that we c to serve our sharpest foes? „ II iii 77
we know that ye be c to kill the Queen, „ II iii 108
I have not c to kill the Queen Or here or there: „ II iii 116
Whence c you, sir? „ II iv 74
Philip would not c Till Guildford Dudley „ II iv 136
An hour will c When they will sweep her from the seas. „ III i 161 here they c—a pale horse for Death „ III i 234
The Queen c's first, Mary and Philip. „ III i 299
C to me to-morrow.— „ III i 320
He c's, and my star rises. „ III ii 167
Oh, Philip, c with me; „ III ii 185
Nay c with me—one moment! „ III ii 189
We c not to condemn, but reconcile; We c not to compel, but call again; We c not to destroy, but edify; „ III iii 186 what saith Christ? 'Compel them to c in.' „ III iv 30
'I c not to bring peace but a sword'? „ III iv 88
The end's not c. Pole. No—nor this way will c, „ III iv 110
I c for counsel and ye give me feuds, „ III iv 307 pray Heaven That you may see according to our sight. C, cousin. „ III iv 332
C, c, the morsel stuck—this Cardinal's fault— „ III iv 375
Rogers and Ferrar, for their time is c, „ III iv 425 not like a word, That c's and goes in uttering. „ III v 30
Is like a word that c's from olden days, „ III v 34
But there hath some one c; „ III v 82
C, Robin, Robin, C and kiss me now; „ III v 99
C behind and kiss me milking the cow! „ III v 105
Rose hand in hand, and whisper'd, 'c away! „ III v 148
Thou last of all the Tudors, c away! „ III v 151
When next there c's a missive from the Queen „ III v 182
For I will c no nearer to your Grace; „ III v 200
You know I never c till I be call'd. „ III v 215
C, c, the worst! „ III v 219
You are to c to Court on the instant; „ III v 223
C, c, you are chill here; „ III v 275
the fools, of this fair prince to c; „ III vi 100
As else we might be—here she c's. „ III vi 190
Here c the Cranmerites! „ IV i 40
Cranmer, I c to question you again; „ IV ii 15 refusing none That c to Thee for succour, unto Thee, Therefore, I c; „ IV iii 132 forasmuch as I have c To the last end of life, „ IV iii 217
I c to the great cause that weighs Upon my conscience „ IV iii 236
So I may c to the fire. „ IV iii 251
So that she c to rule us. „ IV iii 390
When we had c where Ridley burnt with Latimer, „ IV iii 585
C out, my Lord, it is a world of fools. „ IV iii 639
Knows where he nested—ever c's again. „ V i 26
I am faint with fear that you will c no more. „ V i 30
Sire, I obey you. C quickly. „ V i 221
Hast thou not mark'd—c closer to mine ear— „ V i 225
When back he c's at evening hath the door „ V ii 120 they c back upon my dreams. „ V ii 188
what good could c of that? „ V ii 309
And says, he will c quickly. „ V ii 565 you said more; You said he would c quickly. „ V ii 575
And yet he will c quickly . . . „ V ii 583
And tell him that I know he c's no more. „ V ii 589
Tell her to c and close my dying eyes, „ V ii 599
Amen. C on. „ V iv 9
'I am dying, Philip; c to me.' „ V v 3
Nothing; but 'c, c, c,' and all awry, „ V v 15
I cannot doubt but that he c's again; „ V v 26
No, Philip c's and goes, but never goes. „ V v 150

Come (continued) C thou down. Lie there. Queen Mary v v 179
Madam, your royal sister c's to see you. „ v v 192
C, c! as yet thou art not gone so wild Harold i i 298
C, c, Join hands, let brethren dwell in unity; „ i i 395
Love is c with a song and a smile, „ i ii 10
I will demand his ward From Edward when I c again. „ i ii 60
C, thou shalt dream no more such dreams; „ i ii 108 tho' I would not That it should c to that. „ i ii 227
Not to c back till Tostig shall have shown „ i ii 241
Here c's the would-be what I will be . . . „ ii ii 138 the lark sings, the sweet stars c and go, „ ii ii 434
I will not hear thee—William c's. „ ii ii 480
C hither, I have a power; „ iii i 5
C, Harold, shake the cloud off! „ iii i 73
Spare and forbear him, Harold, if he c's! „ iii i 300
Pray God that c not suddenly! „ iii i 364 not so with us—No wings to c and go. „ iii ii 99 Ill news hath c! Our hapless brother, „ iii ii 120
—the Pope Is man and c's as God.— „ iii ii 174
This brother c's to save Your land from waste; „ iv i 94
Somewhere hard at hand. Call and she c's. „ iv i 186
Who is it c's this way? Tostig? „ iv ii 1
I c for mine own Earldom, my Northumbria; „ iv ii 29
C back with him. Know what thou dost; „ iv ii 47
C thou back, and be Once more a son of Godwin. „ iv ii 59
Nay then, c thou back to us! „ iv ii 64 bragging still that he will c To thrust our Harold's throne „ iv iii 125
Let him c! let him c. „ iv iii 132
Cram thy crop full, but c when thou art call'd. „ iv iii 234
C yet once more, from where I am at peace, „ v i 238
There is one C as Goliath came of yore— „ v i 493
And thou art c to rob them of their rings! „ v ii 36
C, c, thou art but deacon, not yet bishop, Becket, Pro. 82
C, c, I love thee and I know thee, I know thee, „ Pro. 95
C, I would give her to thy care in England „ Pro. 142
Whatever c between us? Becket. What should c Between us, Henry? „ Pro. 194
Well—whatever c between us. „ Pro. 199
C to me to-morrow. „ Pro. 410
C with me. Let me learn at full The manner of his death, „ Pro. 424 and if there ever c feud between Church and Crown, „ Pro. 464
C, c, my lord Archbishop; „ i i 201
O brother!—I may c to martyrdom. „ i i 361
Customs, traditions,—clouds that c and go; „ i iii 22
Is black and white at once, and c's to nought. „ i iii 32 but an he c to Saltwood, By God's death, „ i iii 182 should harm c of it, it is the Pope Will be to blame— „ i iii 220 snake that sloughs c's out a snake again. „ i iii 449
Arm'd with thy cross, to c before the King? „ i iii 509
The King's 'God's eyes!' c now so thick and fast, „ i iii 609
C on, c on! it is not fit for us To see the proud Archbishop mutilated. „ i iii 613
My lord, I c unwillingly. „ i iii 648 may I c in with my poor friend, my dog? „ i iv 93
C, c! thou hadst thy share on her. „ i iv 123
I must fly to France to-night. C with me. „ i iv 154
C, you filthy knaves, let us pass. „ i iv 203
There is a bench. C, wilt thou sit? „ ii i 124 no hand to mate with her, If it should c to that. „ ii i 191
C, c, mine hour! „ ii i 212
The word should c from him. „ ii ii 134
I pray you c and take it. „ ii ii 263
For here he c's to comment on the time. „ ii ii 308
No one c's, Nor foe nor friend; „ iii i 37 Always Becket! He always c's between us. „ iii i 90 for here c's my lady, and, my lady, „ iii i 153 if it should c to that!—To that—to what? „ iii i 259 when the horn sounds she c's out as a wolf. „ iii ii 23
black cloud that hath c over the sun and cast us all into shadow? „ iii iii 46 so that the smell of their own roast had not c across it— „ iii iii 120 from those, as I said before, there may c a conflagration— „ iii iii 164 ere Pope or King Had c between us! „ iii iii 268
That perfect trust may c again between us, „ iii iii 351

Come (continued) C to me, little one. How camest thou hither? Becket iv i 3
Ay, but some one c's to see her now and then. „ iv i 15
C, here is a golden chain I will give thee „ iv i 40
C along, then? we shall see the silk here and there, „ iv i 55
I sent this Margery, and she c's not back; I sent another, and she c's not back. „ iv ii 3
C with me, love, And I will love thee . . . „ iv ii 154
C hither, man; stand there. „ iv ii 219
C thou with me to Godstow nunnery, „ iv ii 366
What! Is the end c? „ v i 148
C you to confess? „ v ii 71
Hark! Is it they? C! „ v iii 15
C, then, with us to vespers. „ v iii 34
How can I c When you so block the entry? „ v iii 36
C in, my friends, c in! „ v iii 68
C with us—nay—thou art our prisoner—c! „ v iii 143
C; as he said, thou art our prisoner. „ v iii 155
You c here with your soldiers to enforce The Cup i i 75
Stand aside, Stand aside; here she c's! „ i i 105
He c's, a rough, bluff, simple-looking fellow. „ i i 172
c upon her Again, perhaps, to-day—her. „ i i 179
Nay, here he c's. „ i ii 25
C, c, we will not quarrel about the stag. „ i ii 38
Think,—torture,—death,—and c. „ i ii 314
C, c, could he deny it? What did he say? „ i ii 344
If I be not back in half an hour, C after me. „ i ii 439
Will she c to me Now that she knows me Synorix? „ i iii 19
Nay, she will not c. „ i iii 31
Why c we now? Whom shall we seize upon? „ i iii 177
C once more to me Before the crowning,— „ ii 78
Let him c—a legion with him, if he will. „ ii 250
Why c's he not to meet me? „ ii 528
C, c, Filippo, what is there in the larder? The Falcon 117
I knew it would c to this. (repeat) „ 156, 174
I always knew it would c to this! (repeat) „ 158, 175
C in, Madonna, c in. „ 176
—but c when they will—then or now—it's all for the best, c when they will— „ 200
Call him back and say I c to breakfast with him. „ 213
His falcon, and I c to ask for his falcon, „ 220
I c this day to break my fast with you. „ 276
Yet I c To ask a gift. „ 298
That seem'd to c and go. „ 650 who c's To rob you of your one delight on earth. „ 827 tho' he never c's to church, I thought better of him. Prom. of May i 261 when Thought C's down among the crowd, „ i 501 Heaven curse him if he c not at your call! „ i 764
For ever, you foolish child! What's c over you? „ i 772 to c together again in a moment and to go on together again, „ i 774
C, then, and make them happy in the long barn, „ i 790
What are you? Where do you c from? „ ii 359
The body!—Heavens! I c! „ ii 572
C, you will set all right again, „ ii 658
if the farming-men be c for their wages, to send them up to me. „ iii 16
C, c, you worked well enough, „ iii 61 that you did not c into the hayfield. „ iii 82
C, c, keep a good heart! „ iii 252 not forgotten his promise to c when I called him. „ iii 330
Well, Milly, why do you c in so roughly? „ iii 342 a Sister of Mercy, c from the death-bed of a pauper, „ iii 376
She would have persuaded me to c back here, „ iii 384
Must c to in our spring-and-winter world „ iii 510
C, c, my girl, enough Of this strange talk. „ iii 619
C, c, why do ye loiter here? Foresters i i 79 to c at their love with all manner of homages, „ i i 102
'You have c for you saw Wealth coming,' „ i i 152
Cleave to him, father! he will c home at last. „ i i 198 have c as freely as heaven's air and mother's milk? „ i i 209
Say, we will c. „ i i 302
I c here to see this daughter of Sir Richard of the Lea „ i ii 26
the Earl and Sir Richard c this way. „ i ii 148

Come (continued) I cannot answer thee till Richard c. Foresters I ii 221 Sheriff. And when he c's? Marian. Well, you must wait till then.
C away, daughter. „ I ii 283
But if the better times should never c? „ I ii 288
And if the worst time c? „ I ii 290
Have they c for me? Here is the witch's hut. „ II i 177
C in, c in; I would give my life for thee, „ II i 188
C in, c in. John. Why did ye keep us at the door so long? „ II i 222
He will c to the gibbet at last. „ II i 328
And here c's another. „ II i 399
C now, I fain would have a bout with thee. „ II i 552
C to him. Marian. O my poor father! „ II ii 7 there c's a deputation From our finikin fairy nation. „ II ii 144 warm thy heart to Little John. Look where he c's! „ III 46 we be beggars, we c to ask o' you. We ha' nothing. „ III 190
Here c's a citizen, and I think his wife. „ III 227 and I pray you to c between us again, „ III 413
c between me and my Kate and make us one again. „ III 422
So c, c!' 'Hum!' „ IV 18
But c, c!' 'Hum!' „ IV 25
Till thou thyself shalt c to sing it—in time. „ IV 36 thou seest the land has c between us, And my sick father here has c between us And this rich Sheriff too has c between us; „ IV 53
But will they c? „ IV 91
if they c I will not tear the bond, „ IV 97
but here c's one of bigger mould. „ IV 114 Rogue, we c not alone. „ IV 573 save King Richard, when he c's, forbid me. „ IV 665
C, girl, thou shalt along with us on the instant. „ IV 678
You, Prince, our king to c— „ IV 696
When Richard c's he is soft enough to pardon His brother; „ IV 746 and she will not marry till Richard c. „ IV 773
But look, who c's? „ IV 977
C from out That oak-tree! „ IV 996

Comedy A c meant to seem a tragedy— Becket IV ii 322 players In such a c as our court of Provence „ V i 189

Comelier She looks c than ordinary to-day; Queen Mary I i 70

Comely (See also Coomly) Master Dobson, you are a c man to look at. Prom. of May I 156

Comest Why c thou like a death's head at my feast? Foresters I ii 210
Thou c a very angel out of heaven. „ II i 105

Comet and look upon my face, Not on the c. Harold I i 27
That were too small a matter for a c! „ I i 471
Too small! a c would not show for that! „ I i 474
Put thou the c and the blast together— „ II i 15
Your c came and went. „ III i 359

Cometh Blessed is he that c in the name of the Lord! Becket I iii 758

Comfort (See also Heart-comfort) And it would be your c, as I trust; Queen Mary II ii 225 when last he wrote, declared His c in your Grace „ III vi 79
I could make his age A c to him— Prom. of May II 662 our carters and our shepherds Still find a c there. „ III 529

Comfortable set up your broken images; Be c to me. Queen Mary V ii 301

Comforted Be c. Thou art the man— Becket I i 132

Coming (adj. and part.) (See also A-coomin', Coomin) Prince of Spain c to wed our Queen! Queen Mary I iii 83
Gardiner, c with the Queen, And meeting Pembroke, „ II ii 309 same tide Which, c with our coming, seem'd to smile „ II iii 22
They are c now. „ III i 181
Legate's c To bring us absolution from the Pope. „ III i 431 there's the face c on here of one Who knows me. „ III i 470
I fain would hear him c! . . . Harold I ii 5 leave them for a year, and c back Find them again. „ II i 89
I saw him c with his brother Odo The Bayeux bishop, „ II ii 347
Not c fiercely like a conqueror, now, „ II ii 757
First of a line that c from the people, „ V i 386
why, then it is my will—Is he c? Becket I iii 474 voice c up with the voice of the deep from the strand, One c up with a song „ II i 5
Love that is born of the deep c up with the sun from the sea. (repeat) „ II i 9, 19
Some dreadful thing is c on me. „ III i 267
He bows, he bares his head, he is c hither. „ III iii 34

Coming (adj. and part.) (continued) Is he c? I thought I heard A footstep. The Cup I ii 10
I fear some strange and evil chance C upon me, „ I iii 76 walk with me we needs must meet Antonius c, „ I iii 93
Thou—c my way too—Camma—good-night. „ II 492
there is Monna Giovanna c down the hill from the castle. The Falcon 160
C to visit my lord, for the first time in her life too! „ 169
I'm c down, Mr. Dobson. Prom. of May I 45
But see they are c out for the dance already. „ I 795
Hark, Dora, some one is c. „ III 339
'You have come for you saw Wealth c,' Foresters I i 152
But they are c hither for the dance— „ I ii 52 but the twilight of the c day already glimmers in the east. „ I ii 247
Is c with a swarm of mercenaries To break our band „ III 452 mark'd if those two knaves from York be c? „ IV 113

Coming (s) At his c Your star will rise. Queen Mary I v 410 at once may know The wherefore of this c, „ II ii 138 same tide Which, coming with our c, seem'd to smile „ II iii 22
I have changed a word with him In c, „ III iv 16 and think of this in your c. 'MARY THE QUEEN.' „ III v 224
And wait my c back. „ III vi 219
How oft in c hast thou broken bread? Harold IV iii 199 with my lady's c that had so flurried me, The Falcon 492
I trust he brings us news of the King's c. Foresters I iii 54
To warn us of his c! „ III 458
We told the Prince and the Sheriff of our c. „ IV 576

Command (s) so my Lord of Pembroke in c Of all her force be safe; Queen Mary II ii 305
Lord Pembroke in c of all our force „ II iv 3
I have the Count's c's to follow thee. Harold II ii 235
I have the Count's c's. „ II ii 239
But by the King's c are written down, Becket I iii 72 by the King's c I, John of Oxford, „ I iii 74
Now, sirs, the King's c's! „ V ii 322

Command (verb) Her Grace the Queen c's you to the Tower. Queen Mary III iii 270 and c That kiss my due when subject Harold III ii 41
The king c's thee, woman! „ V i 340
Power now from Harold to c thee hence „ V i 456
King c's you upon pain of death, Becket I iii 752
C's you to be dutiful and leal To your young King „ V ii 325
King c's you to absolve the bishops „ V ii 375
King c's you. We are all King's men. „ V ii 383
How if the King c it? Foresters IV 868

Commandment Obey my first and last c. Go! Harold V i 359
They have broken the c of the king! „ V i 614 she kept the seventh c better than some I know on, Becket III i 194

Commend He c's me now From out his grave „ Pro. 418 when thou seest him next, C me to thy friend. „ I i 324
I do c my cause to God, the Virgin, „ V iii 163
c them to your ladyship's most peculiar appreciation. The Falcon 567

Commendation his last words were a c of Thomas Becket Becket, Pro. 401

Commended It has been much c as a medicine. The Falcon 587

Comment here he comes to c on the time. Becket II ii 308

Commerce Back from her churchless c with the King „ IV ii 332

Commission That hastes with full c from the Pope Queen Mary III ii 51
That our c is to heal, not harm; „ III iii 185
Our letters of c will declare this plainlier. „ III iii 222

Commission'd Thou art c to Elizabeth, And not to me! „ V ii 594
I have c thee to save the man: Harold II ii 98

Commissioner You would not cap the Pope's c— Queen Mary IV ii 123

Commit to whom The king, my father, did c his trust; „ II ii 208

Committed John of Salisbury c The secret of the bower, Becket III iii 4

Common (adj.) the tongue yet quiver'd with the jest When the head leapt—so c! Queen Mary I v 477
And thro' this c knot and bond of love, „ II ii 198
The c barber clipt your hair, „ IV ii 131
For the pure honour of our c nature, „ IV iii 297
Things that seem jerk'd out of the c rut Of Nature Harold I i 137
Now must I send thee as a c friend Becket I i 341
when murder c As nature's death, „ I iii 343
Hath he stray'd From love's clear path into the c bush, „ III i 247
Lost in the c good, the c wrong, „ V ii 40

Common (adj.) (continued) you will find The c brotherhood of man has been Wrong'd Prom. of May III 543
Common (s) lanker than an old horse turned out to die on the c. Foresters I i 52
Commoner Should we so doat on courage, were it c? Queen Mary II ii 340
Commonplace That royal c too, cloth of gold, „ III i 54
Take thou mine answer in bare c— Becket, Pro. 282
Commons however the Council and the C may fence Queen Mary II i 171
Lords and C will bow down before him— „ III i 433
And C here in Parliament assembled, „ III iii 114
Commonweal That Centaur of a monstrous C, „ III iv 163
Commonwealth to play The tyrant, or in c or church. „ I v 191
Communion It is but a c, not a mass: (repeat) „ IV ii 56, 111 you have put so many of the King's household out of c, Becket III iii 311
Are push'd from out c of the Church. „ V i 58
Communist I that have been call'd a Socialist, A C, a Nihilist,— Prom. of May III 585
Companion Leave me now, Will you, c to myself, sir? Queen Mary III v 212
My comrade, boon c, my co-reveller, Becket I iii 460
His one c here—nay, I have heard That, The Falcon 225 Company With our advice and in our c, Queen Mary I iii 151
She will address your guilds and companies. „ II ii 15 and these our companies And guilds of London, „ II ii 128
I, Lord Mayor Of London, and our guilds and companies. „ II ii 141
Three voices from our guilds and companies! „ II ii 256
With all your trades, and guilds, and companies. „ II ii 297
That hath climb'd up to nobler c. Becket I i 351
Oh, do not damn yourself for c! „ V ii 523
Ay, prune our c of thine own and go! The Falcon 695
Compass (s) such a one Was without rudder, anchor, c— Prom. of May III 534
Compass (verb) To c which I wrote myself to Rome, Queen Mary V ii 49
Not small for thee, if thou canst c it. Harold I i 477 Compel We come not to c, but call again; Queen Mary III iii 187 what saith Christ? 'C them to come in.' „ III iv 29 for the sake of Sinnatus your husband, I must c you. The Cup I iii 102 Take thou my bow and arrow and c them to pay toll. Foresters III 263
Complain If this be so, c to your young King, Becket V ii 448
Complexion The peoples are unlike as their c; Queen Mary V i 89 Compliment Mere c's and wishes. „ V ii 596
Comport And how did Roger of York c himself? Becket III iii 85
Compose to c the event In some such form as least Queen Mary I v 223
Compromise But—if let be—balance and c; „ V v 223
Compurgation freed himself By oath and c Harold II ii 520
Comrade My c, boon companion, my co-reveller, Becket I iii 460
My c of the house, and of the field. The Falcon 875
C's, I thank you for your loyalty, Foresters III 78
Conciliation No more feuds, but peace, Peace and c! The Falcon 911 Conclude I c the King a beast; Verily a lion Queen Mary IV iii 411
Concluded Your audience is c, sir. „ I v 337
Concubine His children and his c, belike. „ IV i 165 Condemn We come not to c, but reconcile; „ III iii 186
c The blameless exile?— Becket II ii 395
The King c's your excommunicating— „ V ii 317
If the King C us without trial, Foresters IV 902
Condemn'd said she was c to die for treason; Queen Mary III i 377 Condition Nay—but there be c's, easy ones, Harold II ii 206
C's? What c's? pay him back His ransom? „ II ii 212
I must not hence Save on c's. „ II ii 262
Obey the Count's c's, my good friend. „ II ii 276
But on c's. Canst thou guess at them? „ II ii 343
Conduct (See also Safe-conduct) They have given me a safe c: Queen Mary I ii 101
Conduit The c painted—the nine worthies—ay! „ III i 258
Confer and c with her ladyship's seneschal, The Falcon 415 Conference We'll have no private c. Welcome to England! Queen Mary V iii 13 convene This c but to babble of our wives? Becket II ii 90 Confess Wyatt did c the Princess Cognisant thereof, Queen Mary II iv 111 Went on his knees, and pray'd me to c In Wyatt's business, „ III v 166
c Your faith before all hearers; „ IV ii 79
Thou shalt c all thy sweet sins to me. Becket II i 291
Confess (continued) Come, c, good brother, Becket II ii 82
Come you to c? „ V ii 71
I'll be bound to c her love to him at last. The Falcon 172
Confessed Father Philip that has c our mother for twenty years, Becket III i 111
Confession Shamed a too trustful widow whom you heard In her c; Foresters III 387
Confessor Saving my c and my cousin Pole. Queen Mary V ii 527
No, nor archbishop, nor my c yet. Becket, Pro. 84 for I should find An easy father c in thee. „ Pro. 88
And it is so lonely here—no c. „ II i 290
Thou art the Earl's c and shouldst know. Foresters I ii 55 Confident See Over-confident Confirm Thy naked word thy bond! c it now Before Harold II ii 693
Name him; the Holy Father will c him. Becket, Pro. 245
Confirm'd By Heaven's grace, I am more and more c. Queen Mary IV ii 22
Confiscate C lands, goods, money— „ II i 102
Conflagration that hath squeezed out this side-smile upon Canterbury, whereof may come c. Becket III iii 58 from those, as I said before, there may come a c— „ III iii 165 Confound Their Graces, our disgraces! God c them! Queen Mary III i 415 and weave the web That may c thee yet. Harold I i 212
Hath harried mine own cattle—God c him! „ IV iii 190
Confounded Lest you should be c with it. Queen Mary I iv 178
I am c by thee. Go in peace. Becket I iii 731
Confounder A shaker and c of the realm; Queen Mary IV iii 40
Confuse C her not; she hath begun Her life-long prayer. Harold III i 322
Confused Myself c with parting from the King. Becket III i 237 Confusion And if I breed c anyway— Queen Mary I iii 93
I have heard the Normans Count upon this c— Harold II ii 459 see c fall On thee and on thine house. „ II ii 489 that had found a King Who ranged c's, Becket I iii 371
I see it—some c, Some strange mistake. „ III i 234
And bring us to c. Prom. of May II 279
C!—Ah well, well! „ III 508
Congratulate Kiss and c me, my good Kate. Foresters IV 1033
Congratulation Madam, I brought My King's c's; Queen Mary V ii 570
Congruent In clear and open day were c With that vile Cranmer „ III iv 230
Conjecture (s) My liege, to your c. Becket I ii 50
Conjecture (verb) If Mary will not hear us—well—c— Queen Mary I iv 117
Conjoint State-policy and church-policy are c, „ III ii 73
Conjured C the mightier Harold from his North Harold IV ii 68
Conquer He told me I should c:— „ IV i 263
And told me we should c. „ IV i 267
Conquer'd and when we fought I c, „ I i 446 we are Danes, Who c what we walk on, „ IV i 38 and women Cling to the c, if they love, „ IV i 213
His conqueror c Aldwyth. „ IV i 218 when at thy side He c with thee. „ IV iii 29 chanting that old song of Brunanburg Where England c. „ V i 216 citizen's heir hath c me For the moment. Becket II ii 60 Conqueror Not coming fiercely like a c, now, Harold II ii 757
If not, they cannot hate the c. „ IV i 215
His c conquer'd Aldwyth. „ IV i 218 York crown'd the C—not Canterbury. Becket III iii 197 —fight out the good fight—die C. „ V iii 191
And swallow'd in the c's chronicle. The Cup I ii 158
Conscience And keep with Christ and c— Queen Mary I v 558 Convicted by their c, arrant cowards, „ II ii 9
This was against her c—would be murder! „ III i 418 which God's hand Wrote on her c, „ III i 422 cause that weighs Upon my c more than anything „ IV iii 238 have thy c White as a maiden's hand, Harold II ii 283
A c for his own soul, not his realm; „ III i 63
A twilight c lighted thro' a chink; „ III i 65
That scared the dying c of the king, „ V i 211
Who like my c never lets me be. Becket V ii 75
—the crowd would call it c— Prom. of May II 638
What pricks thee save it be thy c, man? Foresters IV 626
Consecrate sware To c my virgin here to heaven— Harold III i 276
Consent (s) with the c of our lord the King, and by the advice Becket I iii 111
Consent (verb) I would never C thereto, nor marry while I live; Queen Mary II ii 231

Consent (verb) (continued) Ay . . . if the Witan will c to this. Harold II ii 616
Consider Pray—c— Queen Mary I iv 141
But as to Philip and your Grace—c,— „ V iii 65
Consistory In full c, When I was made Archbishop, „ V ii 84
Consonant As may be c with mortality. „ IV iii 419
Consort I dream'd I was the c of a king, Becket V i 144
Conspiracy With some c against the wolf. The Cup I ii 16
There will be more conspiracies, I fear. Queen Mary IV iii 433
This is the fifth c hatch'd in France; „ V i 297
Rome has a glimpse of this c; The Cup I ii 233
Conspirator But if he be c, Rome will chain, Or slay him. „ I i 18
Rome never yet hath spar'd c. „ I ii 234
Constancy draws From you, and from my c to you. The Falcon 812 Constant callous with a c stripe, Unwoundable. Queen Mary V v 171 and had my c 'No' For all but instant battle. Harold V i 6 Constitution for no love o' the customs, Or c's, Becket I iii 138
Content (adj.) Must be c with that; and so, farewell. Queen Mary I v 271
They smile as if c with one another. „ III i 210
So the wine run, and there be revelry, C am I. „ III ii 237
Is now c to grant you full forgiveness, „ III iv 389
I am c, For thou art truthful, Harold II ii 644
Decide on their decision, I am c. Becket II ii 178
Let him do the same to me—I am c. „ II ii 182
No woman but should be c with that— „ III i 11
Content (verb) C you, Madam; You must abide my judgment, Queen Mary V i 144
Let it c you now There is no woman that I love Becket III i 7
Continue And so you may c mine, farewell, Queen Mary I iv 137
I am sorry Mr. Steer still c's too unwell to attend to you, Prom. of May III 22
Continuing So poisoning the Church, so long c, Queen Mary IV iii 48
Control but I am Tudor, And shall c them. „ I v 176 Controversy I here deliver all this c Into your royal hands. Becket II ii 136
Convene did we c This conference but to babble of our wives? „ II ii 89
Convent praised The c and lone life—within the pale— Harold I ii 47
What monk of what c art thou? Foresters I ii 205
Conventional Then, if we needs must be c, Prom. of May I 684
For these are no c flourishes. „ II 562
Conventionalism C, Who shrieks by day at what she does by night, „ I 531 Conversion He is glorified In thy c: Queen Mary IV iii 83 doubt The man's c and remorse of heart, „ IV iii 108 Converted Ay, that am I, new c, „ I iii 47
Convicted C by their conscience, arrant cowards, „ II ii 9
Coo Ringdoves c again, All things woo again. „ III v 103
Coo'd The stock-dove c at the fall of night, Prom. of May I 41
And the stock-dove c, till a kite dropt down, „ I 55
Cook tell the c's to close The doors of all the offices below. Queen Mary V v 116
But the hour is past, and our brother, Master C, Becket I iv 60
Cookery I know your Norman c is so spiced, Harold II ii 810
Cool (adj.) C as the light in old decaying wood; Queen Mary IV ii 5
Cool (verb) As one that blows the coal to c the fire. Becket V ii 549
Noä, not yet. Let 'er c upon it; Prom. of May II 132
Cooler What power this c sun of England hath Queen Mary III iv 327
Coöra (come) Why c awaäy, then, to the long barn. Prom. of May I 35 he c's up, and he calls out among our oän men, „ I 139 and see that all be right and reg'lar fur 'em afoor he c. „ I 170 leästwaäys they niver c's 'ere but fur the trout i' our beck, „ I 212
but c, c! let's be gawin. „ I 425
C along then, all the rest o' ye! „ I 442
C, c, that's a good un. „ I 467 but if iver I c's upo' Gentleman Hedgar ageän, „ II 136
Why, c then, owd feller, I'll tell it to you; „ II 202 now she be fallen out wi' ma, and I can't c at 'er. „ II 601
How c thou to be sa like 'im, then? „ II 712
An' ow c thou by the letter to 'im? „ II 716 she moänt c here. What would her mother saäy? „ III 458 but he'll c up if ye lets 'im. „ III 481
Coomberland (Cumberland) An' how did ye leäve the owd uncle i' C? „ I 68
So the owd uncle i' C be deäd, Miss Dora, „ II 1
Coom'd (came) I c upon 'im t'other daäy lookin' at the coontry, „ I 201

Coom'd (came) (continued) afoor I c up he got thruff the winder ageän. Prom. of May I 405
He c up to me yisterdaäy i' the haäyfield, „ II 150 when owd Dobson c upo' us? „ II 232
Coomed (come) Miss Dora be c back, then? „ I 13
I be c to keep his birthdaäy an' all. „ I 75
I warrants ye'll think moor o' this young Squire Edgar as ha' c among us— „ I 110
you be c—what's the newspaäper word, Wilson? „ I 319 darters to marry gentlefoälk, and see what's c on it. „ II 117
The owd man's c ageän to 'issen, „ III 702
Coomin (coming) Churchwarden be a c, thaw me and 'im we niver 'grees about the tithe; „ I 443
'ow should I see to läame the laädy, and meä c along pretty sharp an' all? „ III 96
Coomly (comely) C, says she. I niver thowt o' mysen i' that waäy; „ I 175
'C to look at,' says she—but she said it spiteful-like. To look at—yeas, 'c'; „ I 179
Coontry (country) I coom'd upon 'im t'other daäy lookin' at the c, „ I 202
Cope How should we c with John? Foresters I iii 79
I cannot c with him: my wrist is strain'd. „ IV 312
Coppice saw your ladyship a-parting wi' him even now i' the c, Becket III i 161
Copse how he fells The mortal c of faces! Harold V i 589
Copy so that you do not c his bad manners? Prom. of May III 361
Cord there is axe and c. Queen Mary III iv 47
Each of us has an arrow on the c; Foresters IV 607
I am here, my arrow on the c „ IV 733
Core For thou and thine are Roman to the c. Queen Mary III ii 230
Sound at the c as we are. Foresters III 102
Co-rebels from the charge Of being his c-r's? Queen Mary III i 137
Co-reveller My comrade, boon companion, my c-r, Becket I iii 460
Cork like a bottle full up to the c, or as hollow as a kex, Foresters IV 210
Corn dash The torch of war among your standing c, Harold II ii 750
Much c, repeopled towns, a realm again. Becket I iii 377
Corner do not you Be seen in c's with my Lord of Devon. Queen Mary I iv 154
And whisking round a c, show'd his back „ II i 131 skulk into c's Like rabbits to their holes. „ II iv 55
The hog hath tumbled himself into some c, Becket I i 370
the cold c's of the King's mouth began to thaw, „ III iii 153
Cornhill Where dost thou live? Man. In C. Queen Mary III i 317
Cornwall C's hand or Leicester's: they write marvellously alike. Becket I iv 51
Cornwallis (Sir Thomas) Sent C and Hastings to the traitor, Queen Mary II ii 31 Coronation (adj.) Being bounden by my c oath To do men justice. Becket I iii 396
Coronation (s) would make his c void By cursing those „ V ii 329
Corpore Gratior in pulchro c virtus. „ V ii 542
Corpse c thou whelmest with thine earth is cursed, Harold V i 67
Corpse-candles C-c gliding over nameless graves— „ III i 381
Corridor My window look'd upon the c; Queen Mary V ii 459
I was in the c, I saw him coming with his brother Harold II ii 346
Corroborate C by your acts of Parliament: Queen Mary II ii 173 Corrupt Manners be so c, and these are the days of Prince John. Foresters I i 177 Corruption Against the huge c's of the Church, Queen Mary IV ii 100 sucking thro' fools' ears The flatteries of c— Becket I iii 362 Cost (s) be The one man, he shall be so to his c. Queen Mary III iii 276
Cost (verb) some secret that may c Philip his life. „ III i 201
'After his kind it c's him nothing,' „ IV i 173
Costly into some more c stone Than ever blinded eye. „ I v 370
Well—Well—too c to be left or lost. Becket IV ii 299
Bring me The c wines we use in marriages. The Cup II 365
And this last c gift to mine own self, The Falcon 228 Cotched (caught) my kneeä gev waäy or I'd ha' c 'im, Prom. of May I 404
c 'im once a-steälin' coäls an' I sent fur 'im, „ I 412
'A c ma about the waaist, Miss, „ III 118
Cottage (adj.) while the smoke floats from the c roof, Foresters I ii 318
Cottage (s) Stops and stares at our c. The Falcon 162
Welcome to this poor c, my dear lady. „ 270
And welcome turns a c to a palace. „ 273

Cottage (s) (continued) Lady, you bring your light into my c The Falcon 284
My palace wanting you was but a c; My c, while you grace it, is a palace. „ 287
In c or in palace, being still Beyond your fortunes, „ 289 you could whitewash that c of yours Prom. of May III 43
Make for the c then! Foresters II i 210
Couch'd with mine old hound C at my hearth. Queen Mary III i 46
Cough No fever, c, croup, sickness? Becket v ii 169
Could How c you—Oh, how c you?—nay, how c I? Prom. of May I 716 Council (adj.) I hear them stirring in the C Chamber. Queen Mary I v 628 Council (s) both bastards by Act of Parliament and C. „ I i 25 the c and all her people wish her to marry. „ I i 112
Those that are now her Privy C, sign'd Before me: „ I ii 22
She cannot pass her traitor c by, „ I ii 40
The C, people, Parliament against him; „ I v 78
we will leave all this, sir, to our c. „ I v 318
Your C is in Session, please your Majesty. „ I v 543
And when the C would not crown me— „ I v 555
An instant Ay or No! the C sits. „ I v 591
The C! Mary. Ay! My Philip is all mine. „ I v 639
Gardiner knows, but the C are all at odds, „ II i 139
however the C and the Commons may fence round his power „ II i 171
The C, the Court itself, is on our side. „ II i 192
And four of her poor C too, my Lord, „ II ii 42
What do and say Your C at this hour? „ II ii 46
The C, The Parliament as well, are troubled waters; „ II ii 49
Like our C, Your city is divided. „ II ii 59
But we sent divers of our C to them, „ II ii 152 theretoward unadvised Of all our Privy C; „ II ii 205 heard One of your C fleer and jeer at him. „ II ii 393
Lord Paget Waits to present our C to the Legate. „ III i 98
And she impress her wrongs upon her C, „ III vi 184
Cranmer, it is decided by the C That you to-day „ IV ii 26
Or seek to rescue me. I thank the C. „ IV ii 39
I must obey the Queen and C, man. „ IV ii 164 causes Wherefore our Queen and C at this time „ IV iii 36 which our Queen And C at this present „ IV iii 56 first In C, second person in the realm, „ IV iii 72 came to sue Your C and yourself to declare war. (repeat) „ V i 108, 114
Alas! the C will not hear of war. „ V i 163 the C (I have talked with some already) are for war. „ V i 294
Tell my mind to the C—to the Parliament: „ V ii 288
Then our great C wait to crown thee King— Harold III i 3
Siding with our great C against Tostig, „ III i 59
Nay—but the c, and the king himself, „ III i 170
And our great C wait to crown thee King. „ III i 406
Thou gavest thy voice against me in the C— „ IV ii 78
I, John of Oxford, The President of this C, Becket I iii 76
My lords, is this a combat or a c? „ I iii 134 whene'er your royal rights Are mooted in our c's— „ I iii 431
Let us go in to the C, where our bishops „ I iii 547
Councillor Place and displace our c's, Queen Mary II ii 160
Your faithful friend and trusty c. „ IV i 89
From c to caitiff—fallen so low, „ IV iii 75 is it then with thy goodwill that I Proceed against thine evil c's, Becket III iii 209
It may be they were evil c's. „ III iii 216
Counsel (advice) I follow your good c, gracious uncle. Queen Mary I iv 186
She hath harken'd evil c— „ I v 54
So would your cousin, Cardinal Pole; ill c! „ I v 406
I come for c and ye give me feuds, „ III iv 307
Good c yours—No one in waiting? „ V v 202
Good c truly! I heard from my Northumbria yesterday. Harold I i 330
Good c tho' scarce needed. „ I i 376
My one grain of good c which you will not swallow. Becket II ii 379 second grain of good c I ever proffered thee, „ III iii 318 Summon your barons; take their c: „ V i 75 a man may take good c Ev'n from his foe. „ V ii 3
Counsel (deliberation) You should have taken c with your friends „ V ii 555
My c is already taken, John. „ V ii 560
Counsel (deliberation) (continued) Have shut you from our c's. Queen Mary III iv 320
Counsel (secret) if the child could keep Her c. Prom. of May I 478
Counsel (verb) means to c your withdrawing To Ashridge, Queen Mary I iv 224
Till when, my Lords, I c tolerance. „ III iv 203
Harold, I do not c thee to lie. Harold II ii 416
O good son Louis, do not c me, Becket II ii 219
Counsell'd Emperor c me to fly to Flanders. Queen Mary I v 549
I had c him To rest from vain resistance. The Cup II 413
Counsellor who am your friend And ever faithful c, Queen Mary I v 135
Count (s) and C's, and sixty Spanish cavaliers, „ III i 51
I might dare to tell her that the C— „ V ii 524
What C? Magdalen. The Count de Feria, „ V ii 530
Sir C, to read the letter which you bring. „ V ii 555
My Lord C? Her Highness is too ill for colloquy. „ V ii 612
I shine! What else, Sir C? „ V iii 17
Is not the Norman C thy friend and mine? Harold I i 247
C of the Normans, thou hast ransom'd us, „ II ii 157
C, I thank thee, but had rather Breathe the free wind „ II ii 184
With bitter obligation to the C— „ II ii 221
I have the C's commands to follow thee. „ II ii 234
I have the C's commands. „ II ii 239
'Tis the good C's care for thee! „ II ii 251
Obey the C's conditions, my good friend. „ II ii 276
C! if there sat within the Norman chair „ II ii 532
Sir C, He had but one foot, „ II ii 674
I, the C—the King—Thy friend— „ II ii 753 perjury-mongering C Hath made too good an use „ V i 311
The Norman C is down. „ V i 553
Can I speak with the C? The Falcon 180
Where is the C? Elisabetta. Just gone To fly his falcon, „ 208
'Get the C to give me his falcon, „ 241
'I should be well again If the good C would give me——' „ 838
There is one that should be grateful to me overseas, a C in Brittany— Foresters I i 271 Count (verb) (I c it as a kind of virtue in him, Queen Mary I iv 193 she c's on you And on myself as her two hands; „ II ii 104
As for the Pope I c him Antichrist, „ IV iii 277
C's his old beads, and hath forgotten thee. Harold II ii 447
I have heard the Normans C upon this confusion— „ II ii 459 Take and slay me, I say, Or I shall c thee fool. „ IV ii 16 tho' I c Henry honest enough, yet when fear creeps Becket III iii 60
Why now I c it all but miracle, The Cup I iii 37
However, staying not to c how many, The Falcon 627
C the money and see if it's all right. Prom. of May III 64
Count-crab and our great C-c will make his nippers Harold II i 76
Counted When all men c Harold would be king, „ V II 132
Countenanced but the backs 'ud ha' c one another, Becket III i 147
Counter not Spear into pruning-hook—the—c way— Harold V i 442
Counter-bond To bring their c-b into the forest. Foresters IV 89
Counterpoint Veer to the c, and jealousy Queen Mary III vi 180 Country (adj.) Far liefer had I in my c hall „ III i 43
She means to counsel your withdrawing To Ashridge, or some other c house. „ I iv 226
Country (s) (See also Coontry) there's no glory Like his who saves his c: „ II i 110
I swear you do your c wrong, Sir Ralph. „ III i 153 and the c Has many charms, Prom. of May ii 540 not only love the c, But its inhabitants too; „ II 545 Might have more charm for me than all the c. „ II 554 to save his c, and the liberties of his people! Foresters I i 246
You are those that tramp the c, „ III 198
Countryfolk Not leave these c at court. Becket II i 129
Countryman —home your banish'd c. Queen Mary III ii 31
Earls, Thanes, and all our countrymen! Harold IV iii 48
Country-wives poor garrulous c-w. Queen Mary iv iii 547 County is not the cause of a c or a shire, „ II i 162 and make Musters in all the counties; „ V ii 272 went abroad Thro' all my counties, Becket I iii 363 Couple as the new-made c Came from the Minster, Queen Mary III i 94
They hunt in c's, and when they look at a maid Foresters I i 256
Courage C, sir, That makes or man or woman Queen Mary II ii 328
Should we so doat on c, were it commoner? „ II ii 339

Courage (continued) All greed, no faith, no c! Queen Mary III i 146
And bad me have good c; „ IV ii 8
Have c, your reward is Heaven itself. „ V ii 108
C, noble Aldwyth! Harold I ii 182
C, c! and all will go well. Prom. of May III 215
Course So far my c, albeit not glassy-smooth, Becket I iii 379 sat Thro' every sensual c of that full feast Prom. of May II 254 Court (s) (See also Hampton Court) You've but a dull life in this maiden c, Queen Mary I iii 114
And certain of his c. „ I iii 133 out all things here At c are known; „ I iv 58
I freed him from the Tower, placed him at C; „ I v 164
You have sent her from the c, „ I v 462 heard Slanders against Prince Philip in our C? „ I v 571 a fine courtier of the old C, old Sir Thomas. Wyatt.
Courtier of many c's, „ II i 46
The Council, the C itself, is on our side. „ II i 192
Queen had written her word to come to c: „ II ii 118
Before our own High C of Parliament, „ II ii 234
Your c's of justice will determine that. „ II iv 130
But c is always May, buds out in masques, „ III v 11 his manners want the nap And gloss of c; „ III v 71
You are to come to C on the instant; „ III v 223 you want the sun That shines at c; „ III v 277 trifling royally With some fair dame of c, „ III vi 160
The foreign c's report him in his manner „ V ii 511 scarce touch'd or tasted The splendours of our C. Harold II ii 175 Am I in danger in this c? „ II ii 237 being brought before the c's of the Church, Becket, Pro. 12
My C's of Love would have held thee guiltless of love— „ Pro. 498 whether between laymen or clerics, shall be tried in the King's c.' „ I iii 81
he shall answer to the summons of the King's c to be tried therein.' „ I iii 89 the King shall summon the chapter of that church to c, „ I iii 110 sat in mine own c's Judging my judges, „ I iii 368
Ye haled this tonsured devil into your c's; „ I iii 388
If Canterbury bring his cross to c, „ I iii 511
The King's c's would use thee worse than thy dog— „ I iv 102
Not leave these countryfolk at c. „ II i 129 you are known Thro' all the c's of Christendom „ IV ii 325 such a comedy as our c of Provence Had laugh'd at. „ V i 189
The fellow that on a lame jade came to c, „ V i 247
I said it was the King's c's, not the King; „ V ii 114 calls you oversea To answer for it in his Norman c's. „ V ii 355
The bee should buzz about the C of John. Foresters IV 44 ye shall with us to c. „ IV 951
And we must hence to the King's c. „ IV 1050
Court (verb) Why will you c it By self-exposure? Becket I i 281
Courtenay (Earl of Devon) (See also Devon (Earl of)) C, to be made Earl of Devon, Queen Mary I i 110
Son C, wilt thou see the holy father Murdered „ I iii 63
A C! a C! „ I iii 74
this fine blue-blooded C seems Too princely for a pawn. „ I iii 165
A C of Devon, and her cousin. „ I iv 86
I charge you, Tell C nothing. „ I iv 192
Hath taken to this C. „ I iv 201
And when your Highness talks of C— „ I v 198
C, Save that he fears he might be crack'd in using, „ II i 6
Ha! C's cipher. „ II i 134
The names of Wyatt, Elizabeth, C, „ II ii 95 die with those That are no cowards and no C's. „ II iv 87 breath Clear C and the Princess from the charge „ III i 135
So they have sent poor C over sea. „ III v 2
C, belike— Mary. A fool and featherhead! „ V i 127 with full proof Of C's treason? „ V ii 499 Courteous a man Of such colossal kinghood, yet so c, Foresters I ii 105
C enough too when he wills; „ IV i 101
Courteousness They shall be handled with all c. „ IV 102
Courtesan He wrecks his health and wealth on c's, Queen Mary I v 168
There may be c's for aught I know The Cup I ii 192
Courtesy But lest we turn the scale of c Harold II ii 164 that c which hath less loyalty in it than Becket III iii 142 Might not your c stoop to hand it me? „ IV ii 295 yet of his c Entreats he may be present The Cup II 247
Courtesy (continued) you are still the king Of c and liberality. The Falcon 293
I trust I still maintain my c; „ 295
No other heart Of such magnificence in c „ 723 turn back at times, and make C to custom? Prom. of May II 635 thou didst repent thy c even in the doing it. Foresters I ii 243
Richard's the king of c, „ IV 363
I could but sneak and smile and call it c, „ IV 367
And that is only c by c—But Robin is a thief of c „ IV 369
There—to be a thief of c— „ IV 374
Courtier He was a fine c, he; Queen Anne loved him. Queen Mary II i 33 a fine c of the old Court, old Sir Thomas. Wyatt.
C of many courts, „ II i 45 and a favourer Of players, and a c, Becket I i 79
Courtly He said it was not c to stand helmeted Before the Queen. Queen Mary V v 35
Courtly-delicate His bearing is so c-d; „ III iv 397 Cousin (See also Dear-cousin, Legate-cousin, Side-cousin, Royal-cousin) again to her c Reginald Pole, now Cardinal; „ I i 123 but you, c, are fresh and sweet As the first flower „ I iv 61
A Courtenay of Devon, and her c. „ I iv 86
Nay, pout not, c. „ I iv 134
So would your c, Cardinal Pole; „ I v 405 with what haste I might To save my royal c. „ II iv 78
Loyal and royal c, humblest thanks. „ III ii 3
We heard that you were sick in Flanders, c. „ III ii 34
c, as the heathen giant Had but to touch the ground, „ III ii 42
My heart beats twenty, when I see you c. Ah, gentle c, „ III ii 60
True, good c Pole; And there were also those „ III ii 68
I believe so, c. „ III ii 72
No, c, happy—Happy to see you; „ III ii 86
Sweet c, you forget That long low minster „ III ii 89
True, c, I am happy. „ III ii 113
Our good Queen's c—dallying over seas „ III iv 292 see according to our sight. Come, c. „ III iv 332
C, there hath chanced A sharper harm „ V ii 28
And so must you, good c;— „ V ii 39
I knew it, c, But held from you all papers sent by Rome, „ V ii 44
To sleep, to die—I shall die of it, c. „ V ii 128
Poor c! Have not I been the fast friend of your life „ V ii 132
Ah, c, I remember How I would dandle you upon my knee „ V ii 140
Peace, c, peace! I am sad at heart myself. „ V ii 159
Your pardon, Sweet c, and farewell! „ V ii 204
Thou knowest I am his c, Harold II ii 593 seem at most Sweet guests, or foreign c's, Becket II i 135 Cover (s) I saw the c's laying. Philip. Let us have it. Queen Mary III vi 258
'Will your Ladyship ride to c to-day? Prom. of May III 310
Cover (verb) That c's all. Queen Mary V ii 542
I saw the hand of Tostig c it. Harold IV iii 82
Coverdale (Bishop of Exeter) Poinet, Barlow, Bale, Scory, C; Queen Mary I ii 7 Coveted your hand Will be much c! What a delicate one! „ V iii 44
Covetousness 'Lust, Prodigality, C, Craft, Prom. of May II 284 Cow with my hands Milking the c? (repeat) Queen Mary III v 88, 95, 102 you came and kiss'd me milking the c. (repeat) Queen Mary III v 91, 98 Come behind and kiss me milking the c! „ III v 105
the c kick'd, and all her milk was spilt. „ III v 266
I had kept My Robins and my c's in sweeter order „ III v 270
The maid to her dairy came in from the c, Prom. of May I 40
I seed that one c o' thine i' the pinfold ageän „ I 190
An' if tha can't keep thy one c i' border, „ I 197 take to the milking of your c's, the fatting of your calves, „ II 92
Hes the c cawved? Dora. No, Father. „ III 427
Thou hast a c then, hast thou? Foresters II i 298
How hadst thou then the means to buy a c? „ II i 304 but the c? Robin. She was given me. „ II i 314
That c was mine. I have lost a c from my meadow. „ II i 325
O sweet sir, talk not of c's. „ II i 330 wouldst bar me fro' the milk o' my c, „ II i 355 or the c that jumped over the moon. „ II i 435

Coward Convicted by their conscience, arrant c's, Queen Mary II ii 10 die with those That are no c's and no Courtenays. „ II iv 87
I do not love your Grace should call me c. „ II iv 89
The soft and tremulous c in the flesh? „ IV ii 107
We have so play'd the c; „ V v 110
True test of c, ye follow with a yell. Becket I iii 745
I cannot tell why monks should all be c's. „ V ii 582
Why should all monks be c's? „ V ii 588 what, a truckler! a word-eating c! Foresters IV 162
Cowardice Coveteousness, Craft, C, Murder'— Prom. of May II 285
Cowd (cold) Owd Steer gi'es nubbut c tea to 'is men, and owd Dobson gi'es beer. Sally. But I'd like owd Steer's c tea better nor Dobson's beer. „ II 224
we worked naw wuss upo' the c tea; „ III 59 and the winders brokken, and the weather sa c, „ III 73
Cow'd The knaves are easily c. Queen Mary III i 330
And being brave he must be subtly c, Harold II ii 75 but Salisbury was a calf c by Mother Church, Becket III iii 95 Cower My sister c's and hates me. Queen Mary I v 83 would c to any Of mortal build Foresters II i 688
Cowering we saw thee c to a knight „ II i 682
Cow-herd only grandson To Wulfnoth, a poor c-h. Harold IV i 70 this c-h, like my father, Who shook the Norman scoundrels „ IV i 79
Cowl C, helm; and crozier, battle-axe. „ V i 444
I scatter all their c's to all the hells. Becket II i 93 so that you keep the c down and speak not? Foresters I ii 22
Why wearest thou thy c to hide thy face? „ I ii 206
Cowling c and clouding up That fatal star, thy Beauty, Becket I i 311 Crab (See also Count-crab) thou didst stand by her and give her thy c's, Harold II i 49
And I'll give her my c's again, „ II i 52
Fellow, dost thou catch c's? „ II i 66
I crawl'd like a sick c from my old shell, Foresters IV 126
Crabb'd by the patient Saints, she's as c as ever. Harold II i 51
Crab-catcher human-heartedest, Christian-charitiest of all
c-c's. „ II i 63
Crabstick I have a stout c here, which longs to break itself Foresters IV 917 Crack'd he fears he might be c in using, Queen Mary II i 7 drave and c His boat on Ponthieu beach; Harold II ii 35 winds than that which c Thy bark at Ponthieu,— „ II ii 199 thou wouldst hug thy Cupid till his ribs c— Becket, Pro. 505 one piece of earthenware to serve the salad in to my lady, and that c! The Falcon 482
Beetle's jewel armour c, Foresters II ii 160
Crackled fire, Like that which lately c underfoot Queen Mary III v 53 Craft (art, etc.) —a sweet violence, And a sweet c. „ III v 109 violence and the c that do divide The world „ III v 120 shakes at mortal kings—her vacillation, Avarice, c— Becket II ii 407 woman's fealty when Assailed by C and Love. The Cup I i 177
'Lust, Prodigality, Covetousness, C, Prom. of May II 284
Craft (vessel) Let every c that carries sail and gun Queen Mary V ii 275
Craftier shall I play The c Tostig with him? Harold I ii 165
Men would but take him for the c liar. „ III i 114
Craftsman We spared the c, chapman, Foresters III 163
Crafty Robin was violent, And she was c— Queen Mary III v 108
Cram if the truth be gall, C me not thou with honey, Harold IV i 16
C thy crop full, but come when thou art call'd. „ IV iii 234
if you c me crop-full I be little better than Famine in the picture, Foresters I i 46
Cramm'd dog I c with dainties worried me! Becket V i 244
Cranmer (Archbishop of Canterbury) pounce like a wild beast out of his cage to worry C. Queen Mary I i 89 Fly, C! were there nothing else, your name „ I ii 15 even in the church there is a man—C. „ III i 170
Ay, Lambeth has ousted C. „ III ii 133 were congruent With that vile C in the accursed lie „ III iv 231
Our old friend C, Your more especial love, „ III iv 417
C and Hooper, Ridley and Latimer, „ III iv 424
To spare the life of C. „ IV i 4
That C may withdraw to foreign parts, „ IV i 45 never seen That any one recanting thus at full, As C hath, „ IV i 60
C is head and father of these heresies, „ IV i 76
You sit upon this fallen C's throne; „ IV i 114 Cranmer (Archbishop of Canterbury) (continued) To ours in plea for C than to stand Queen Mary IV i 119
Yet to save C were to serve the Church, „ IV i 135
Than you have shown to C. „ IV i 190 petition of the foreign exiles For C's life. „ IV i 194
C, I come to question you again; „ IV ii 15
C, it is decided by the Council That you to-day „ IV ii 25
Pray you write out this paper for me, C. „ IV ii 61
'what am I, C, against whole ages?' „ IV ii 104
And make you simple C once again. „ IV ii 129
Which was not pleasant for you, Master C. „ IV ii 137
How are the mighty fallen, Master C! „ IV ii 147
We are ready To take you to St. Mary's, Master C. „ IV ii 239
Yet, C, be thou glad. This is the work of God. „ IV iii 81
Speak, Master C, Fulfil your promise made me, „ IV iii 111
Be plainer, Master C. „ IV iii 235 another recantation Of C at the stake. „ IV iii 300 Think you then That C read all papers that he sign'd? „ IV iii 318
We talk and C suffers. „ IV iii 420
Who follow'd with the crowd to C's fire. „ IV iii 554 you bring the smoke Of C's burning with you. „ IV iii 562 smoke of C's burning wrapt me round. „ IV iii 564
But C, as the helmsman at the helm Steers, „ IV iii 578 but C only shook his head, „ IV iii 601
Then C lifted his left hand to heaven, „ IV iii 608 and needs must moan for him; O C! „ IV iii 637 hands that write them should be burnt clean off
As C's, „ V ii 192
If C's spirit were a mocking one, „ V ii 210
Cranmerite Here come the C's! „ IV i 40
Crash (See also War-crash) may come a c and embroilment as in Stephen's time; Becket, Pro. 485 Crater One c opens when another shuts. Queen Mary III i 322
Crave meant to c Permission of her Highness „ I iv 235
It c's an instant answer, Ay or No. „ I v 589
So that you c full pardon of the Legate. „ III iv 391
I attend the Queen To c most humble pardon— „ III iv 432
C, in the same cause, hearing of your Grace. „ IV i 8 allegiance in thy Lord's And c his mercy, Harold V i 12
I c Thy pardon—I shall still thy leave Becket V ii 43
And afterwards a boon to c of you. The Falcon 712
I c your worship's pardon. Foresters II i 243
Robin—I c pardon—you always seem to me „ III 53
I c pardon, I always think of you as my lord, „ III 409 Craven Did the chest move! did it move! I am utter c! Harold II ii 800
The c! There is a faction risen again for Tostig, „ IV i 171 Forty thousand marks! forty thousand devils—and these c bishops? Becket I iv 91 than the swords of the c sycophants would have done „ I iv 148
if the followers Of him, who heads the movement, held him c? Foresters II i 702 Craw (crow) I'd think na moor o' maäkin' an end o' tha nor a carrion c— Prom. of May II 697 Crawl c over knife-edge flint Barefoot, Becket II i 271
c down thine own black hole To the lowest Hell. The Cup II 494 Crawl'd Fed with rank bread that c upon the tongue, Queen Mary IV iii 442
I c like a sick crab from my old shell, Foresters IV 126
Crawling Foul maggots c in a fester'd vice! Queen Mary V v 161
Here c in this boundless Nature. Prom. of May III 637
I see two figures c up the hill. Foresters IV 333
Crazed She is c! Edith. That doth not matter Harold V ii 61
Did you not tell me he was c with jealousy, Prom. of May III 565
I am c no longer, so I have the land. Foresters IV 855
I had despair'd of thee—that sent me c. „ IV 1022
Crazeling And this old c in the litter there. „ IV 634
Cream And a cat to the c, and a rat to the cheese; Prom. of May I 53 Create (See also Re-create) Shall hands that do c the Lord be bound Becket I iii 94
Creator Illorum lanceas Frange C! Harold V i 584 Creature By God's light a noble c, right royal! Queen Mary I i 69
the red man, that good helpless c, „ II i 209
—we are fallen c's; Look to your Bible, „ III iv 79

Creature (continued) says she will live And die true maid—a goodly c too. Queen Mary III vi 46 and yet We are self-uncertain c's, Becket V ii 48 strange starched stiff c, Little John, the Earl's man. Foresters I i 184 Man, lying here alone, Moody c, „ II ii 187 delicate-footed c Came stepping o'er him, „ IV 536 Credit (s) Tell, tell me; save my c with myself. Queen Mary V ii 452 for heaven's c Makes it on earth: Harold I i 141 Credit (verb) better die Than c this, for death is death, „ III ii 79
You will not easily make me c that. The Cup II 25
Creed Your c will be your death. Queen Mary I ii 46
The heathen priesthood of a heathen c! Becket I iii 64
Creek See Sea-creek
Creel Tell him what hath crept into our c, Harold II i 56
Creep and c's, c's snake-like about our legs Queen Mary II i 203
He can but c down into some dark hole „ IV i 140
I would c, crawl over knife-edge flint Becket II i 271 fear c's in at the front, honesty steals out at the back, „ III iii 61
Creep'st Why c thou like a timorous beast Harold I ii 212
Creeping By bonds of beeswax, like your c thing; Queen Mary III iii 63
And all manner of c things too? Becket III iii 132
Crematur Casa c, Pastor fugatur Harold V i 512 Crept I c along the gloom and saw They had hewn Queen Mary II iii 17
Out c a wasp, with half the swarm behind. „ III iii 49
Tell him what hath c into our creel, Harold II i 56 dreadful lights c up from out the marsh— „ III i 379
c Up even to the tonsure, and he groan'd, Becket I iii 326
Thro' all closed doors a dreadful whisper c „ V ii 89
Poverty c thro' the door. Foresters I i 157
The serpent that had c into the garden „ II i 136
Crescent I that have turn'd their Moslem c pale— „ IV 793
Crew Kill'd half the c, dungeon'd the other half Becket V ii 444
Cried C no God-bless-her to the Lady Jane, Queen Mary III iv 45
He c Enough? enough? before his death.— „ V ii 100
And c I was not clean, what should I care? „ V ii 324
If the field C out 'I am mine own;' Harold IV i 49
she c out on him to put me forth in the world Becket III i 115
Rome! Rome! Twice I c Rome. The Cup I iii 175
So they c Sinnatus Not so long since— „ II 110
C out against the cruelty of the King. Becket V ii 112
Cried'st Thou c 'A Wyatt!' and flying to our side Queen Mary II iii 3
Crime of a heavier c Than heresy is itself; „ III iv 221
The c be on his head—not bounden—no. Harold II ii 670
O crowning c! Hast murder'd thine own guest, „ IV ii 36
The Church is all—the c to be a king. Becket V i 26
Crimeful heavy As thine own bolts that fall on c heads Harold V i 565
Criminal See Laymen-criminals
Crimson We might go softlier than with c rowel And streaming lash. Queen Mary III iv 182
Crippled man Fell with him, and was c ever after. Foresters IV 545 Critic You as poor a c As an honest friend: Queen Mary II i 115
Croak (See also Raven-croak) dumb'd his carrion c From the gray sea for ever. Harold IV iii 66
I grieve I am the Raven who c's it. Foresters III 448
Cromwell make the soil For Cæsars, C's, and Napoleons Prom. of May III 593
Crone Out of the church, you brace of cursed c's, Queen Mary IV iii 539
Crookback Speak straight out, c. Foresters II i 271
Crooked His eighty years Look'd somewhat c Queen Mary IV iii 332
I do believe My old c spine would bud out two young wings Harold III i 24
Crop (of a bird) Cram thy c full, but come when thou art call'd. „ IV iii 234
Crop (verb) If possible, here! to c the flower and pass. Prom. of May I 253
Crop-full if you cram me c-f I be little better than Famine in the picture, Foresters I i 46
Cross (adj.) but look, there is a c line o' sudden death. „ II i 353
Cross (s) (See also Charing Cross) Our silver c sparkled before the prow, Queen Mary III ii 9
The triumph of St. Andrew on his c, „ IV iii 94
Then clasp the c, and pass'd away in peace. „ V v 259
Forward! Forward! Harold and Holy C! Harold IV i 269
Harold and Holy C! „ V i 439
Harold and Holy C! Out! out! „ V i 519

Cross (s) (continued) swear nay to that by this c on thy neck. God's eyes! what a lovely c! Becket, Pro. 370 holds his c before him thro' the crowd, „ I iii 477
His c! Roger of York. His c! I'll front him, c to c. „ I iii 480
His c! it is the traitor that imputes „ I iii 483
King will not abide thee with thy c. „ I iii 489
Wherefore dost thou presume to bear thy c, „ I iii 504
Why dost thou presume, Arm'd with thy c, „ I iii 509
If Canterbury bring his c to court, „ I iii 511
There may be c's in my line of life. „ II i 188
By very God, the c I gave the King! „ IV ii 199 sworn on this my c a hundred times Never to leave him —and that merits death, False oath on holy c— „ IV ii 205
Do you know this c, my liege? „ V i 161
Why then—The C!—who bears my C before me? „ V ii 610
Would that I could bear thy c indeed! „ V ii 615
Father, you see this c? Foresters I i 284 on this c I have sworn that till I myself pass away, „ I i 289 by this Holy C Which good King Richard gave me „ I ii 309 Cross (verb) come to London Bridge; But how to c it balks me. Queen Mary II iii 10 her shadow c's one by one The moonlight casements „ V v 7
The winds so c and jostle among these towers. Harold II ii 155 but stark as death To those that c him.— „ II ii 322 nor priestly king to c Their billings ere they nest. „ III ii 94
C me not! I am seeking one who wedded me „ V ii 28
No man without my leave shall c the seas Becket, Pro. 35
I mean to c the sea to France, „ I iii 124
Wilt not be suffer'd so to c the seas „ I iii 129
C swords all of you! swear to follow him! „ I iv 199 feud between our houses is the bar I cannot c; The Falcon 255 Crossing (part.) be as the shadow of a cloud C your light. Harold II ii 178
Crossing (s) so many alleys, c's, Paths, avenues— Becket IV ii 6
Cross-staff Shall I not smite him with his own c-s? „ V ii 313
Crost C and recrost, a venomous spider's web— „ II i 199
Thou hast c him in love, Foresters II i 343
You c him with a quibble of your law. „ IV 850
Crouch C even because thou hatest him; Becket IV ii 223
C all into the bush! Foresters IV 596
Crouch'd This hard coarse man of old hath c to me Queen Mary IV ii 170
Croucher no c to the Gregories That tread the kings Becket, Pro. 211
Croup No fever, cough, c, sickness? „ V ii 169 Crow (s) (See also Craw) didst thou ever see a carrion c Stand watching Queen Mary IV iii 6 where the black c flies five, „ V v 84
You ought to dangle up there among the c's. Foresters III 367
Crow (verb) C over Barbarossa—at last tongue-free Becket II ii 50
Crowd Friend Roger, steal thou in among the c, Queen Mary I iii 38 Stave off the c upon the Spaniard there. „ I iii 77 here's a c as thick as herring-shoals. „ III i 182
I stand so squeezed among the c „ III i 239
Push'd by the c beside— „ IV iii 397
Who follow'd with the c to Cranmer's fire. „ IV iii 554
You saw him how he past among the c; „ IV iii 575 hands Came from the c and met his own; „ IV iii 583
With a c of worshippers, Becket I iii 475 holds his cross before him thro' the c, „ I iii 478
There is a movement yonder in the c— „ II ii 37
The c that hungers for a crown in Heaven „ II ii 282 for I have pleasure in the pleasure of c's, „ III iii 82
The c are scattering, let us move away! „ III iii 357 not fear the c that hunted me Across the woods, The Cup I iii 16
And blanch the c with horror. „ II 154 Might cast my largess of it to the c! „ II 224 when Thought Comes down among the c, Prom. of May I 501 the c May wreak my wrongs upon my wrongers. „ I 506
—the c would call it conscience— „ II 637
Crown (adj.) King Stephen gave Many of the c lands to those that helpt him; Becket I iii 150
Claim'd some of our c lands for Canterbury— „ I iii 458
Crown (s) That gave her royal c to Lady Jane. Queen Mary I ii 19
Edward might bequeath the c Of England, „ I ii 27
Yet by your c you are. „ I iv 15

Crown (s) (continued) To make the c of Scotland one with ours, Queen Mary I v 287
Spain and we, One c, might rule the world. „ I v 303
To save your c that it must come to this. „ I v 479 that young girl who dared to wear your c? „ I v 492 and in that passion Gave me my c. „ I v 568 let Rebellion Roar till throne rock, and c fall. „ II i 145 in whose c our Kent is the fairest jewel. „ II i 163
I trust this day, thro' God, I have saved the c. „ II ii 303
I pass to Windsor and I lose my c. „ II iv 30
And leave the people naked to the c, And the c naked to the people; „ III i 119
And nothing of the titles to the c; „ III i 383
'You will give me my true c at last, „ III i 395
Were but a thankless policy in the c, „ III iv 51
We reck not tho' we lost this c of England— „ III iv 55 and you know The c is poor. „ V i 170
And wear my c, and dance upon my grave. „ V ii 601
God save the C! the Papacy is no more. „ V v 285
That thou wouldst have his promise for the c? Harold I i 204
lighten'd for me The weight of this poor c, „ I i 218
Their old c Is yet a force among them, „ I i 305
I want his voice in England for the c, „ II ii 72
Can have no right to the c,' „ II ii 355
Who hath a better claim then to the c „ II ii 597
Good, good, and thou wilt help me to the c? „ II ii 614
I ask thee, wilt thou help me to the c? „ II ii 628
Swear thou to help me to the c of England. „ II ii 705
I swear to help thee to the c of England (repeat) Harold II ii 713, 721 old Northumbrian c, And kings of our own choosing. „ IV i 32
Your old c Were little help without our Saxon carles „ IV i 34
Refer my cause, my c to Rome! . . . „ V i 1
Wash up that old c of Northumberland. „ V i 167
I have lost both c And husband. „ V ii 39
climb'd the throne and almost clutch'd the c; Becket, Pro. 22
Surely too young Even for this shadow of a c; „ Pro. 231 chessmen on the floor—the king's c broken! „ Pro. 313
if there ever come feud between Church and C, „ Pro. 465
he would grant thee The c itself. „ I iii 30 Sign, and obey the c! Becket. The c? Shall I do less for Canterbury Than Henry for the c? „ I iii 145 lest the c should be Shorn of ancestral splendour. „ I iii 155 Church and C, Two sisters gliding in an equal dance, „ I iii 443 and the mitre Grappling the c— „ II i 27 leave the royalty of my c Unlessen'd to mine heirs. „ II i 107
he answer'd me, As if he wore the c already— „ II ii 7 Quarrel of C and Church—to rend again. „ II ii 56
I thank you, sons; when kings but hold by c's, The crowd that hungers for a c in Heaven „ II ii 281 in her time when she had the 'C.' Rosamond. The c! who? „ III i 198
But c's must bow when mitres sit so high. „ IV ii 297 lord of more land Than any c in Europe, „ V i 30 thro' all this quarrel I still have cleaved to the c, in hope the c Would cleave to me that but obey'd the c, „ V i 48 his poor tonsure A c of Empire. „ V i 196
Rather than dim the splendour of his c „ V ii 344
We must not force the c of martyrdom. „ V iii 28
I heard in Rome, This tributary c may fall to you. The Cup I i 97
The king, the c! their talk in Rome? „ I i 98
I here return like Tarquin—for a c. „ I i 142 play'd into their hands, Means me the c. „ I iii 151
She will be glad at last to wear my c. „ I iii 168
This all too happy day, c—queen at once. „ II 451
Have I the c on? I will go To meet him, „ II 518
It is the c Offends him— „ II 529 crown you Again with the same c my Queen of Beauty. The Falcon 915
When the fairy slights the c. Foresters II ii 135 all the c's Of all this world, „ IV 404

Crown (verb) Look to you as the one to c their ends. Queen Mary I iv 171
And when the Council would not c me— „ I v 555 your people will not c me— „ V i 81
So that ye will not c the Atheling? Harold II ii 598

Crown (verb) (continued) our great Council wait to c thee King— (repeat) Harold III i 3, 406
Should they not know free England c's herself? „ V i 48
Who shall c him? Canterbury is dying. Becket, Pro. 239
Becket should c him were he crown'd at all: „ II ii 17
For England, c young Henry there, „ II ii 456 to Westminster and c Young Henry there to-morrow. „ III ii 9
And thou shalt c my Henry o'er again. „ III iii 205 will you c my foe My victor in mid-battle? „ V i 148
The prelates whom he chose to c his son! „ V ii 399
This very day the Romans c him king The Cup II 64
When do they c him? Messenger. Even now. „ II 74 kick'd it featureless—they now would c. „ II 129
Yea, that ye saw me c myself withal. „ II 159
Ay, there they c him. „ II 181
hurls the victor's column down with him That c's it, hear. „ II 297
I whisper'd, Let me c you Queen of Beauty, The Falcon 360
—c you Again with the same crown my Queen of Beauty. „ 914 honour, worship thee, C thee with flowers; Foresters II ii 19

Crown'd never yet so happy Since I was c. Queen Mary III ii 88
C slaves of slaves, and mitred kings of kings, „ III iv 381
C, c and lost, c King—and lost to me! Harold III ii 1
Than ere they c me one, „ III ii 54
My young son Henry c the King of England, Becket, Pro. 224
Him who c Stephen—King Stephen's brother! „ Pro. 273
You have not c young Henry yet, „ II ii 1
C! by God's eyes, we will not have him c. „ II ii 3
We will not have him c. „ II ii 8
Not have him c? „ II ii 14
Becket should crown him were he c at all: „ II ii 17
England scarce would hold Young Henry king, if only c by York, „ II ii 32
I go to have young Henry c by York. „ II ii 478
Hereford, you know, c the first Henry. Becket. But Anselm c this Henry o'er again. „ III iii 202 coronation void By cursing those who c him. „ V ii 331
On those that c young Henry in this realm, „ V ii 392
As you would force a king from being c. „ V iii 26
Is he c? Phœbe. Ay, there they crown him. The Cup II 180
Across the hills when I was being c. „ II 321
I will go To meet him, c! c victor of my will— „ II 519
one sweet face C with the wreath. The Falcon 649

Crowning (adj. and part.) c thy young son by York, London and Salisbury—not Canterbury. Becket III iii 194 that but obey'd the crown, C your son; „ V i 52
O c crime! Hast murder'd thine own guest, the son of Orm, Harold IV ii 35

Crowning (s) He glitters on the c of the hill. „ V i 488 hath in this c of young Henry by York and London Becket III iii 70
I was at the c, for I have pleasure „ III iii 81
Come once more to me Before the c,— The Cup II 79

Crownling as to the young c himself, he look'd so mala-pert in the eyes, Becket III iii 108

Crozier Cowl, helm; and c, battle-axe. Harold V i 444
And smite thee with my c on the skull? Becket I i 221 and lay My c in the Holy Father's hands, „ I iii 125
Sceptre and c clashing, and the mitre Grappling „ II i 25

Crucified They c St. Peter downward. „ I iii 619

Crucifix I brought not ev'n my c. Henry. Take this. „ II i 295

Crucifying Horrible! flaying, scourging, c— The Cup I ii 235

Cruel And c at it, killing helpless flies; Queen Mary III iv 65 but neither cold, coarse, c, And more than all— „ V ii 482 lost and found Together in the c river Swale Harold III ii 10
I fear I was as c as the King. Becket V ii 124
C? Oh, no—it is the law, not he; „ V ii 125
Then you have done it, and I call you c. „ V ii 136

Crueller and makes The fire seem even c than it is. Queen Mary IV ii 233 if he have the greater right, Hath been the c. „ IV iii 383

Cruellest The hardest, c people in the world, „ II i 100

Cruelty haughtiness of their nobles; the c of their priests. „ II i 169 loathed the cruelties that Rome Wrought on her vassals. The Cup I ii 373 Wrong'd by the cruelties of his religions Prom. of May III 545

Cruor Illorum in lacrymas C fundatur! Harold V i 532

Crush In hope to c all heresy under Spain. Queen Mary III vi 84
C it at once With all the power I have !— Harold I i 356
I must—I will !—C it half-born ! „ I i 359
I'll c him as the subject. Becket I iii 334
And how to c them easily. The Cup I i 25
Rome Will c you if you wrestle with her ; „ I ii 131 would not c The fly that drew her blood ; Prom. of May II 493 Crush'd Over, your Grace, all c ; Queen Mary II iv 91
They are too c, too broken, „ IV iii 359
Being so c and so humiliated We scarcely dare Becket V i 68
C, hack'd at, trampled underfoot. The Falcon 640
C my bat whereon I flew ! Foresters II ii 146
Crust and to speak truth, nigh at the end of our last c, Becket III i 114
Crutch we daren't fight you with our c'es, .. I iv 210
C'es, and itches, and leprosies, and ulcers. „ I iv 254
Cry (s) (See also War-cry) Their c is, Philip never shall be king. Queen Mary II iv 1
Will front their c and shatter them into dust. .. II iv 5
Cries of the moment and the street— .. II iv 128
Will stir the living tongue and make the c. .. III i 355 Whereat Lord Williams gave a sudden c :— .. IV iii 605
Or you, for heretic cries ? „ V ii 326
A c ! What's that ? Elizabeth ? revolt ? .. V v 187
And cries, and clashes, and the groans of men : Harold III i 375
Thou hast sold me for a c.— „ IV ii 76
O God, the God of truth hath heard my c. „ V i 601 may at least have my c against him and her,— Becket, Pro. 510 hast thou heard this c of Gilbert Foliot .. I i 36 make my c to the Pope, By whom I will be judged ; .. I iii 723
I heard your savage c. .. IV ii 320
My savage c ? Why, she—she—when I strove .. IV ii 338 trumpets in the halls, Sobs, laughter, cries : „ V ii 368
You had my answer to that c before. „ V iii 124
And her c rang to me across the years, Prom. of May II 655
The phantom c ! You—did you hear a c ? „ III 651 he flutter'd his wings with a sweet little c, Foresters I i 154
Cry (verb) all men c, She is queenly, she is goodly. Queen Mary II ii 343
If ever I c out against the Pope „ III i 351
Swallows fly again, Cuckoos c again, „ III v 97
I heard An angel c ' There is more joy in Heaven,'— „ IV ii 10
One who cries continually with sweat and tears „ V iv 44
I likewise c ' no more.' Harold I i 389
Why c thy people on thy sister's name ? „ IV i 20
Is thy wrath Hell, that I should spare to c, „ V i 38
he licks my face and moans and cries out against the King. Becket I iv 100 innocences that will c From all the hidden by-ways .. III iii 14 sometimes she cries, and can't sleep sound o' nights .. IV i 29
She shall c no more ; she shall sleep sound enough .. IV i 32 c out for thee Who art too pure for earth. .. IV ii 132 one half, but half-alive, Cries to the King. .. V i 65
What made the King c out so furiously ? .. V i 220
When you c ' Rome, Rome,' to seize The Cup I iii 5
Dost thou c out upon the Gods of Rome ? „ II 454 throat might gape before the tongue could c who ? Foresters III 226
The Sheriff ! This ring cries out against thee. „ IV 69
Crying (part.) (See also A-crying) Thro' many voices c right and left, Queen Mary I ii 48
And Ignorance c in the streets, „ IV iii 377
C, ' Forward ! '—set our old church rocking, .. IV iii 403
c, in his deep voice, more than once, .. IV iii 611
What are you c for, when the sun shines ? Becket III i 269 when c On Holy Church to thunder out her rights „ V ii 30
Our old nurse c as if for her own child, Prom. of May II 479
She must be c out ' Edgar ' in her sleep. Harold. Who must be c out ' Edgar ' in her sleep ? „ III 653
Crying (s) ye did wrong in c ' Down with John ; ' Foresters I ii 96
Crypt Her c among the stars. Becket I iii 555
No, to the c ! Twenty steps down. .. V iii 77
To the c ? no—no, To the chapel of St. Blaise „ V iii 81
Cubit See Twenty-cubit
Cuckoo Swallows fly again, C's cry again, Queen Mary III v 97
Cuff I had to c the rogue For infant treason. „ III iii 51
C him could I ? with my hands Milking the cow ? .. III v 94
To kiss and c among the birds and flowers— .. III v 258
Cuirass And c in this forest where I dream'd Foresters IV 130 Cum (came) I c behind tha, gall, and couldn't make tha hear. Queen Mary IV iii 465 till his man c in post vro' here, „ IV iii 511
the tongue on un c a-lolluping out o' 'is mouth as black as a rat. „ IV iii 518
Cumberland (See also Coomberland) In C, Mr. Dobson. Prom. of May I 66
I met her first at a farm in C—Her uncle's. „ II 397 Cup wines Of wedding had been dash'd into the c's Of victory, Harold IV iii 7
Thy c's full ! „ IV iii 80
Hath stumbled on our c's ? „ IV iii 179 not at all ; the c's empty. Becket, Pro. 478 Ye have eaten of my fish and drunken of my c for a dozen years. „ I iv 30 and now this c—I never felt such passion The Cup I i 33 sends you this c rescued from the burning .. I i 41 it is the c we use in our marriages. .. I i 44
Take thou this letter and this c to Camma, .. I i 61
Take thou this c and leave it at her doors. .. I i 67
Is that the c you rescued from the fire ? .. I i 71 now this pious c Is passport to their house, .. I i 82 sacred c saved from a blazing shrine Of our great Goddess, .. I ii 54 Had you then No message with the c ? .. I ii 68 sends you this c—the c we use in our marriages— .. I ii 72 know myself am that Galatian Who sent the c. .. I ii 210 take this holy c To lodge it in the shrine of Artemis. .. I ii 434
To lodge this c Within the holy shrine of Artemis, .. I iii 52 the marriage c Wherefrom we make libation .. II 198
You see this c, my lord. .. II 338
It is the c belonging our own Temple. .. II 345
That Synorix should drink from his own c. .. II 354
They two should drink together from one c, .. II 362
I have almost drain'd the c—A few drops left. .. II 385
Have I not drunk of the same c with thee ? „ II 463
Here, here—a c of wine—drink and begone ! Foresters I iii 89
Cupid (See also Tree-cupid) Parthian shaft of a forlorn C at the King's left breast, Becket, Pro. 340 thou wouldst hug thy C till his ribs cracked— „ Pro. 504
St. C, that is too irreverent. „ V i 198
Cur as a mastiff dog May love a puppy c Queen Mary I iv 195
Why did you slink away like a c ? Becket IV ii 431
Curb their children under-heel—Must c her ; „ Pro. 215
Because we seek to c their viciousness. Foresters III 393
Curb'd Your lavish household c, Queen Mary I v 113
Cure I trust the kingly touch that c's the evil Harold I i 152
Curious be c About the welfare of their babes, The Cup I ii 361
You see this cup, my lord. Antonius. Most c ! „ II 339
Curiousness I have some time, for c, my Lord, Queen Mary III iv 61
Current (See also Side-current) the c's So shift and change, „ IV iii 408 that one time sway to the c, And to the wind another. Becket I iii 594
if man be only A willy-nilly c of sensations— Prom. of May II 263 Curse (s) the c is on him For swearing falsely Harold III i 244 those heavenly ears have heard, Their c is on him ; „ III i 260 prayer against the c That lies on thee and England. „ III i 278
Then on thee remains the c, „ III i 315 lamb to Holy Church To save thee from the c. „ III i 336
To find a means whereby the c might glance „ III i 342 and the second c Descend upon thine head, .. III ii 48 Fool and wise, I fear This c, and scorn it. .. III ii 68
It burns my hand—a c to thee and me. .. III ii 186
The c of England ! these are drown'd in wassail, „ IV iii 222
He hath blown himself as red as fire with c's. „ V i 87
if thou blurt thy c among our folk, I know not— „ V i 89 will blast and blind you like a c. Becket I iv 40 God's full c Shatter you all to pieces „ V iii 134
My c on all This world of mud, Prom. of May III 721
C on your brutal strength ! I cannot pass that way. „ III 731 Curse (verb) God c her and her Legate ! Queen Mary V iv 12 you c so loud, The watch will hear you. „ V iv 62
The Pope, the King, will c you— Becket V iii 182
Heaven c him if he come not at your call ! Prom. of May I 764

Curse (verb) (continued) C him ! but thou art mocking me. Foresters II i 514 Cursed God hath blest or c me with a nose— Queen Mary III v 178
Out of the church, you brace of c crones, „ IV iii 539
Why let earth rive, gulf in These c Normans— Harold II ii 783
He hath c thee, and all those who fight for thee, „ III ii 152
The King hath c him, if he marry me ; The Pope hath c him, marry me or no ! „ III ii 189
The realm for which thou art forsworn is c, The babe enwomb'd and at the breast is c The corpse thou whelmest with thine earth is c, The soul who fighteth on thy side is c, The seed thou sowest in thy field is c, The steer wherewith thou plowest thy field is c, The fowl that fleeth o'er thy field is c, „ V i 64
But since he c My friends at Veselay, Becket II i 88
C be John of Oxford, Roger of York, And Gilbert Foliot ! c those De Brocs That hold our Saltwood Castle from our see ! C Fitzurse, and all the rest of them „ II ii 265
C and anathematised us right and left, „ V i 4
O the Sheriff Would pay this c mortgage to his brother Foresters II i 144 came some evil fairy at my birth And c me, „ II ii 109 Cursing Our Tostig parted c me and England ; Harold III i 76 coronation void By c those who crown'd him. Becket V ii 331
Curtsey C to him, wife, and thank him. Foresters III 248
Cushion Throw c's on that seat, and make it throne-like. Queen Mary V ii 536
Custom you that have kept your old c's upright, „ II i 158
But by the royal c's of our realm Becket, Pro. 23
And for these Royal c's, These ancient Royal c's— „ I i 166
Will you subscribe the c's ? „ I ii 46
we might take your side against the c's— „ I ii 57 sign'd These ancient laws and c's of the realm. „ I iii 7 to obey These ancient laws and c's of the realm ? „ I iii 18
C's, traditions,—clouds that come and go ; The c's of the Church are Peter's rock. „ I iii 22 these c's are no longer As Canterbury calls them, „ I iii 69 another of these c's thou Wilt not be suffer'd „ I iii 128 for no love o' the c's Or constitutions, „ I iii 137 ye set these c's by my death Ringing their own death-knell „ I iii 170
That thou wilt hear no more o' the c's. „ I iii 256
And swear to obey the c's. „ I iii 270
Good royal c's—had them written fair „ I iii 415
I promised The King to obey these c's, „ I iii 557
Are these your c's ? „ I iii 659
The King, these c's, and the Church, „ I iii 726 as you suspended yourself after sub-writing to the c's. „ II ii 352 our recoverer and upholder of c's hath in this crowning „ III iii 70 and I warrant the c's. Did the King Speak of the c's ? „ III iii 331 spiritual giant with our island laws And c's, „ IV ii 445 since we likewise swore to obey the c's, „ V i 55
it is the law, not he ; The c's of the realm. Becket. The c's ! c's ! „ V ii 127
It is our ancient c in Galatia That ere two souls The Cup II 358 Thrones, churches, ranks, traditions, c's, Prom. of May I 520 turn back at times, and make Courtesy to c ? „ II 635
according to the law and c of the kingdom of England Foresters I iii 66
It is our forest c they should revel Along with Robin. „ III 174
Customary decide on what was c In olden days, Becket II ii 175 Cut c out the rotten from your apple, Queen Mary II ii 5
' I would they were c off That trouble you.' „ III iv 32
C with a diamond; so to last like truth. „ III v 25
Madam, you have but c the canvas out ; „ V v 183
King's verdurer caught him a-hunting in the forest, and c off his paws. Becket I iv 96
wheere the big eshtree c's athurt it, it gi'es a turn like, Prom. of May III 94 he would never c it down, because one of the Steers „ III 246
if we kill a stag, our dogs have their paws c off, Foresters IV 225 Cut See also Fine-cut, Stone-cut
Cymbal sing, Asaph ! clash The c, Heman ! Harold III i 188
Cypress apricot, Vine, c, poplar, myrtle, The Cup I i 3
Cyprus Again this Richard is the lion of C, Foresters IV 391

FF

D

Daay (day) (See also Wedding-daäy) What a day, what a day ! nigh upo' judgement d loike. Queen Mary IV iii 468 they wunt set i' the Lord's cheer o' that d. „ IV iii 470
He be heighty this very d, and 'e telled Prom. of May I 7
When theer wur a meeting o' farmers at Littlechester to'ther d, „ I 138
I coom'd upon 'im t'other d tookin' at the coontry, „ I 201
' Good d then, Dobson ! ' Civil-spoken i'deed ! „ I 300 fur thaw I be heighty this very d, „ I 359 and the larks 'ud sing i' them d's, „ I 374
plaäy the pianner, if ye liked, all d long, like a laädy, „ II 101
At the end of the d, For the last loäd hoäm ? (repeat) Prom. of May II 183, 194
Till the end of the d And the last loäd hoäm. „ II 208
Till the end o' the d An' the last loäd hoäm.' (repeat) „ II 238, 292
To the end o' the d An' the last loäd hoäm.' „ II 259
Naäy, but ' Good d, Dobbins.' „ II 732
' Good d, Dobbins.' Dang tha ! „ II 741 Taäke me awaäy, little gell. It be one o' my bad d's. „ III 466
Daäzed (dazed) feller's cleän d, an' maäzed, an' maäted, „ II 729
Dabble D your hearths with your own blood. Harold II ii 751
Daft Is he deaf, or dumb, or d, or drunk Foresters I ii 208
Dagger With fingers pointed like so many d's, Queen Mary I v 149
Or I will dig thee with my d. „ II iii 96 even while I speak There lurks a silent d, „ V ii 216
I have my d here to still their throats. Becket III ii 49 stand beside thee One who might grapple with thy d, „ IV ii 230
Take up your d ; put it in the sheath. „ IV ii 293
Madam, I saw your d at her throat ; „ IV ii 319 sure my d was a feint Till the worm turn'd— „ IV ii 379
I go, but I will have my d with me, The Cup I ii 457 mine own d driven by Synorix found All good „ II 85 Daily Save for my d range Among the pleasant fields of Holy Writ Queen Mary III v 78 and England's sake That suffers in the d want of thee, Harold II ii 275
The more or less of d labour done—The pretty gaping bills in the home-nest Piping for bread—the d want supplied— Becket II ii 299
Some d something-nothing. „ III i 80
O my sick boy ! My d fading Florio, The Falcon 236
Dainty dog I cramm'd with dainties worried me ! Becket V i 244
Dairy (adj.) she set the bush by my d winder afoor she went to school Prom. of May II 18
Dairy (s) The maid to her d came in from the cow, „ I 39
Daisy (a plant) Daisies grow again, Kingcups blow again, Queen Mary III v 89
O graves in daisies drest, Prom. of May III 204
Honest d deadly bruised, Foresters II ii 156
Daisy (name of a cow) Our D's as good 'z her. Tib. Noa, Joan. Queen Mary IV iii 479
Our D's butter's as good 'z hern. „ IV iii 481
Our D's cheeses be better. „ IV iii 484
Dale Among these happy d's, run clearer, Becket II i 157
Dallied But d with a single lettuce-leaf ; The Falcon 673
Dally We d with our lazy moments here, Queen Mary V iii 108
On those sweet lips that dare to d with it. Foresters IV 75 Dallying d over seas Even when his brother's, Queen Mary III iv 292
Dam (mother) ' Ewe lamb, ewe lamb, I am here by the d.' Becket I iv 172
Dam (obstruction) like a river in flood thro' a burst d Harold II ii 466
Damage He meant no harm nor d to the Church. Becket I iii 216 Dame trifling royally With some fair d of court, Queen Mary III vi 160
Damn (See also Dang) hear him ; let his own words d the Papist. „ I iii 53
Absolve the left-hand thief and d the right ? Becket II ii 392
Oh, do not d yourself for company ! „ V ii 523
—drest like a gentleman, too. D all gentlemen, says I ! Prom. of May II 579

Damn'd my Lord, He is d enough already. Queen Mary II ii 407 and brooks Were bridged and d with dead, Harold III ii 130
Damon The polish'd D of your pastoral here, Prom. of May III 562 Damp hand, D with the sweat of death, Queen Mary I ii 33
Those d, black, dead Nights in the Tower; dead— „ III v 137
Damsel I love him as a d of his day Foresters I i 227
if ever A Norman d fell into our hands, „ III 181
You hide this d in your forest here, „ IV 476
D, is this the truth? Marian. Ay, noble knight. „ IV 769
Danaë included D has escaped again Her tower, Becket I i 395
Dance (s) (See also Diamond-dance) Have you been looking at the 'D of Death'? Queen Mary V ii 170
Two sisters gliding in an equal d, Becket I iii 444
She saw it at a d, upon a neck Less lovely The Falcon 54 and the lads and lasses 'ull hev a d. Prom. of May I 428
But see they were coming out for the d already. „ I 796
But they are coming hither for the d—. Foresters I ii 53
Dance (verb) Till the sun d, as upon Easter Day. Queen Mary III ii 238 and d into the sun That shines on princes. „ III v 252
And wear my crown, and d upon my grave. „ V ii 601 star That d's in it as mad with agony! Harold I i 9 that wilt not d However wisely charm'd. „ I i 386
D! small heart have I to d. Prom. of May I 429 weight of the church to boot on my shoulders, I would d too. Foresters I ii 59
Go now and ask the maid to d with thee, „ I ii 185
Pretty mistress, will you d? „ I ii 204
What? must we d attendance all the day? „ IV 550
D! ay, by all the saints and all the devils ye shall d. „ IV 552 they shall d to the music of the wild wood. Let the birds sing, and do you d to their song. „ IV 555 Rouge, I am full of gout. I cannot d. „ IV 563 for by my life, you shall d till he can. „ IV 566
Prick him where thou wilt, so that he d. „ IV 572
Let us hang, so thou d meanwhile; „ IV 581
Take care, take care! I d—I will d—I d. „ IV 586
Dancing I watch'd you d once With your huge father; Queen Mary V ii 143
I should seem to be d upon a grave. Prom. of May I 431
Dandle I would d you upon my knee At lisping-age. Queen Mary V ii 141
Dane Angle, Jute, D, Saxon, Norman, Harold II ii 763 we are D's, Who conquer'd what we walk on, „ IV i 37
Thou art but a West Saxon: we are D's! Harold. My mother is a D, and I am English; „ IV i 53
Athelstan the Great Who drove you D's; and yet he held That D, Jute, Angle, Saxon, „ IV i 75 or Knut who coming D Died English. „ IV iii 55
Dang (damn) 'Good daäy, Dobbins.' D tha! Prom. of May II 742
Out o' the chaumber, d tha „ III 73
Danger But your own state is full of d here. Queen Mary I iv 169
This marriage should bring loss or d to you, „ II ii 227 release from d of all censures Of Holy Church „ III iii 150
How dense a fold of d nets him round, Harold II ii 17
Am I in d in this court? „ II ii 236
And take the Church's d on myself. Becket I ii 72 is there d? Camma. Nay, None that I know: The Cup I ii 440 Dangerous therefore is he d. Queen Mary I iv 161
he is d everyway. „ I iv 164
Not every d that way, my good uncle. „ I iv 166
Altho' we grant when kings are d Becket I ii 67
Dangle You ought to d up there among the crows. Foresters III 366
Dangled The traitor husband d at the door, Queen Mary III i 10
Daniel I am the messenger of God, His Norman D! Harold V i 35
Danish that sight of D blood Might serve an end not English— „ IV iii 96
Dan Smith (farm labourer) D S, fur I cotched 'im once a-steälin' coäls Prom. of May I 411
D S's cart hes runned ower a laädy i' the holler laäne, „ II 567
D S, my father and I forgave you stealing our coals. „ III 68
But, D S, they tell me that you— „ III 76 Dare I d not leave my post. Queen Mary I ii 55 for all that I d not stay. „ I ii 102
I cannot, and I d not, „ I v 49
Yet others are that d the stake and fire, „ III iv 167
Before I d to glance upon your Grace. „ III v 186
This last—I d not read it her. „ V ii 183

Dare (continued) How d you say it? Queen Mary V ii 379
I might d to tell her that the Count— „ V ii 523
The Queen is dying, or you d not say it. „ V v 251
I d not well be seen in talk with thee. Harold II ii 481
I d not. Harold. Scared by the church— „ III ii 86
I d not wear it. Harold. But I d. God with thee! „ III ii 187
If one may d to speak the truth, „ IV i 108
D's the bear slouch into the lion's den? Becket IV ii 282
I d not, sir! Throne him—and then the marriage— The Cup II 155
D beg him to receive his diamonds back—How can I, d I, The Falcon 262
I do not d, like an old friend, to shake it. Prom. of May II 526
That I d not tell how much I love him. „ III 287
Dare-Becket only there was a dare-devil in his eye—I should say a d-B. Becket III iii 89
Dared If they d To harm you, I would blow Queen Mary I iv 289
Ev'n that young girl who d to wear your crown? Mary. D? nay, not so; „ I v 491
How d he? Magdalen. Stupid soldiers oft are bold. „ V ii 444
Nobles we d not touch. „ V v 104
Which even Peter had not d? Becket II ii 395
How d you? Know you not this bower is secret, „ IV ii 21
He d not—liar! yet, yet I remember— „ V i 211
May they not say you d not show yourself „ V ii 594 but to-day I d not—so much weaker, The Falcon 832 Dare-devil D-d's, that would eat fire and spit it out Queen Mary III i 156 only there was a d-d in his eye—I should say a dare-Becket. Becket III iii 88
Daring ice-cold—no dash of d in him. Queen Mary I v 331 Dark (adj.) For I foresee d days. „ I v 275 true enough Her d dead blood is in my heart with mine. „ III i 349
Her d dead blood that ever moves with mine „ III i 352
He can but creep down into some d hole „ IV i 140 listening In some d closet, some long gallery, „ V ii 217
D among gems and gold; Harold IV i 249
My fatal oath—the dead Saints—the d dreams— „ V i 380 Gloom upon gleam, D as my doom— Becket III i 282
Have track'd the King to this d inland wood; „ III ii 3
And far on in the d heart of the wood „ III ii 47
D even from a side glance of the moon, „ IV ii 148
Growing d too—but light enough to row. The Cup II 523
What, I that held the orange blossom D as the yew? Prom. of May II 631
Ye sees the holler laäne be hallus sa d i' the arternoon, „ III 93
How d your room is! „ III 217 even if I found it D with the soot of slums. „ III 602 our King is gone, the light Of these d hours; Foresters I ii 85
O look! before the shadow of these d oaks „ II i 604
A maiden now Were ill-bested in these d days of John, „ II ii 45
In this d wood when all was in our power „ III 182
Dark (s) Your master works against me in the d. Queen Mary I v 277
She to shut up my blossom in the d! Harold I ii 62
I am in the d. Becket III i 221 one step in the d beyond Our expectation, The Cup I i 212 Safe from the d and the cold, „ I ii 6
I runned arter thief i' the d, Prom. of May I 403 leaves him A beast of prey in the d, „ I 505 Death As against Life! all, all, into the d— „ II 338 and säay it to ye afoor d; „ III 14
Darken Save him, his blood would d Henry's name; Becket V iii 10
Darken'd I tear away The leaves were d by the battle— The Falcon 913
Darkening Gone narrowing down and d to a close. Queen Mary IV iii 431
Darker Thy Duke will seem the d. Hence, I follow. Harold II ii 817
They told me, from the farm—and d news. Prom. of May II 408 this world Is brighter for his absence as that other Is d for his presence. „ II 459 Darkness He stirs within the d! Queen Mary III ii 158 that all the louts to whom Their A B C is d, „ III iv 35
—the Lord hath dwelt In d. Harold III i 180
As gold Outvalues dross, light d, Becket I iii 715
Could shine away the d of that gap „ III i 59
Stumble not in the d, Lest they should seize thee. „ V iii 79
And fear not I should stumble in the d, Not tho' it be their hour, the power of d, But my hour too, the power of light in d! V iii 92

Darkness (continued) I am not in the d, but the light, Becket v iii 97 in the gulf Of never-dawning d? Prom. of May i 542 lie down there together in the d which would seem but for a moment, „ iii 194
but this new moon, I fear, Is d. Foresters i ii 87
And d rises from the fallen sun. „ i iii 42
You see the d thro' the lighter leaf. „ iv 975
Darling His village d in some lewd caress Becket iv ii 200
The clamour'd d of their afternoon! The Cup ii 125
She has disappear'd, poor d, from the world— Prom. of May ii 410
Darn necklaces To please our lady, we must d, The Falcon 45
Darning What art thou doing there? Elisabetta. D your lordship. „ 41
Dart To hide the scar left by thy Parthian d. Becket, Pro. 377 Darter (daughter) I ha' nine d's i' the spital that be dead „ i iv 249 to turn out boäth my d's right down fine laädies. Prom. of May i 336 Thy feyther eddicated his d's to marry gentlefoälk, „ ii 116 but I couldn't buy my d back agean when she lost hersen, „ iii 453
Dash (s) ice-cold—no d of daring in him. Queen Mary i v 331
Dash (verb) d The torch of war among your standing corn, Harold ii ii 748
wields His war-club, d'es it on Gurth, „ v i 640
I d myself to pieces—I stay myself— Becket ii ii 150
d thyself against me that I may slay thee! „ iv ii 195 thou must d us down Our dinner from the skies. The Falcon 152 Dash'd (rushed) We mounted, and we d into the heart of 'em. „ 629
Dash'd (sprinkled) then he d and drench'd, He dyed, Harold iii i 140
D red with that unhallow'd passover; Becket i iii 348
Dash'd (threw) insolent shot that d the seas Upon us, Queen Mary v i 57 bit his shield, and d it on the ground, Harold v i 405 Dash'd (thrown) wines Of wedding had been d into the cups Of victory, „ iv iii 7
Daub This is a d to Philip. Queen Mary i v 447 Daughter (See also Darter) Mary, the lawful and legitimate d of Harry the Eighth! „ i i 8 (I have a d in her service who reported it) „ i i 76 my d said that when there rose a talk of the late rebellion, „ i i 91
I am Harry's d, Tudor, and not Fear. „ ii iv 52
'Hail, D of God, and saver of the faith. „ iii ii 82
I am Harry's d: „ iii v 117
Who knows if Boleyn's d be my sister? „ v v 194
God bless thee, wedded d. Harold iii i 293 so will I, d, until I find Which way the battle balance. „ v i 459
No, d, but the canons out of Waltham, „ v i 474
Look, d, look. Edith. Nay, father, look for me! „ v i 535
No, d, no—they fall behind the horse— „ v i 545
A cleric violated The d of his host, Becket i iii 383
Shrink from me, like a d of the Church. „ ii i 277 like the Greek king when his d was sacrificed, „ iii iii 105
The d of Zion lies beside the way— „ iii iii 177
D, the world hath trick'd thee. Leave it, d; Come thou with me to Godstow nunnery, „ iv ii 364
I am grieved, my d. „ v ii 83
D, d, Deal not with things you know not. „ v ii 132
No, d, you mistake our good Archbishop; „ v ii 137
D, my time is short, I shall not do it. „ v ii 157
Liker the King. Becket. No, d. „ v ii 182
Tho' you are a gentleman, I but a farmer's d— Prom. of May i 668
—a d of the fields, This Dora! „ ii 622 shamed of his poor farmer's d among the ladies in his drawing-room? „ iii 294
if a gentleman Should wed a farmer's d, „ iii 579 only there was left A second d, „ iii 772
I come here to see this d of Sir Richard of the Lea Foresters i ii 26
Come away, d. „ i ii 283 then each man That owns a wife or d, „ iii 460
dishonour The d's and the wives of your own faction— „ iv 698
Daunted What, d by a garrulous, arrogant girl! „ iv 736
Dauphin In order to betroth her to your D. Queen Mary i v 293
Mary of Scotland, married to your D, „ i v 296 your Scottish namesake marrying The D, „ v i 136
The Queen of Scots is married to the D, „ v v 53

David gloom of Saul Was lighten'd by young D's harp. Queen Mary v ii 359
And no D To meet him? Harold v i 496
Dawn (s) If Ludgate can be reach'd by d to-morrow. Queen Mary ii iii 53 gray d Of an old age that never will be mine „ v ii 234
Like sun-gilt breathings on a frosty d— „ v iii 51
Shall see the dewy kiss of d no more Harold ii ii 331
by dead Norway without dream or d! „ iv iii 122
Were the great trumpet blowing doomsday d, „ v i 228 wind of the d that I hear in the pine overhead? Becket ii i 1
In the gray d before the Temple doors. The Cup i ii 295
I rise to-morrow In the gray d, „ i ii 434
Hang'd at mid-day, their traitor of the d „ ii 124
From the dim d of Being— Prom. of May i 281
That beam of d upon the opening flower, Foresters iv 3 yet I think these oaks at d and even, „ iv 1067
Dawn (verb) day of peril that d's darkly and drearily Becket i iv 145
Dawning (See also Never-dawning) The islands call'd into the d church Out of the dead, Queen Mary iii iii 172 Day (See also Daay, Gala-day, Good-day, Mid-day, Saint's-day) too full of aches and broken before his d. „ i i 125
I have seen enough for this d. „ i i 131
For I foresee dark d's. Mary. And so do I, sir; „ i v 275 and be the mightiest man This d in England. „ ii ii 20
I trust this d, thro' God, I have saved the crown. „ ii ii 302
And see the citizens arm'd. Good d; good d. „ ii ii 378 a black 'un for us this blessed d. „ ii iii 101
the brightest d Beheld our rough forefathers „ iii ii 119 Might not St. Andrew's be her happiest d? Mary.
Then these shall meet upon St. Andrew's d. „ iii ii 124
Till the sun dance, as upon Easter D. „ iii ii 238
St. Andrew's d; sit close, sit close, we are friends. „ iii iii 1
Laughs at the last red leaf, and Andrew's D. „ iii iii 87
Should not this d be held in after years „ iii iii 89
This is the loveliest d that ever smiled On England. „ iii iii 161
I found One d, a wholesome scripture, „ iii iv 84
In clear and open d were congruent With that vile Cranmer „ iii iv 230
Is like a word that comes from olden d's, „ iii v 34
Queen hath been three d's in tears For Philip's going— „ iii vi 12
Still Parleying with Renard, all the d with Renard, „ iii vi 116
And scarce a greeting all the d for me— „ iii vi 118
Methinks that would you tarry one d more „ iii vi 233 Madam, a d may sink or save a realm. Mary. A d may save a heart from breaking too. Philip.
Well, Simon Renard, shall we stop a d? Renard.
Your Grace's business will not suffer, sire, For one d more, so far as I can tell. Philip. Then one d more to please her Majesty. „ iii vi 238
Good d, old friend; what, you look somewhat worn; „ iv ii 115 yet it is a d to test your health „ iv ii 117
Win thro' this d with honour to yourself, „ iv ii 165
It is a d of rain. „ iv ii 229
Hath, like a brief and bitter winter's d, „ iv iii 430
Expectant of the rack from d to d, „ iv iii 437
What a d, what a d! nigh upo' judgement daay „ iv iii 467
What, not one d? „ v i 209
That all d long hath wrought his father's work, „ v ii 118 believe I lamed his Majesty's For a d or two, „ v ii 472 Indian shawl That Philip brought me in our happy d's!— „ v ii 541
On all the road from Dover, d and night; On all the road from Harwich, night and d; „ v ii 577 as in the d of the first church, when Christ Jesus was King. „ v iv 54
Ah, those d's Were happy. „ v v 239
These meteors came and went before our d, Harold i i 132 wilt thou fly my falcons this fair d? „ ii ii 147 Down thirty feet below the smiling d— „ ii ii 430 in thy father's d They blinded my young kinsman, „ ii ii 510
O friends, I shall not overlive the d. „ iii i 233
Lost, lost, the light of d, „ iii ii 12
The d is won! „ iv i 270
the d, Our d beside the Derwent will not shine „ iv iii 49

Day (continued) guest, As haggard as a fast of forty d's, Harold IV iii 176
I have ridden night and d from Pevensey— „ IV iii 192 but leave this d to me. „ V i 128
Because I loved thee in my mortal d, „ V i 240
I am dead as Death this d to ought of earth's „ V i 425 that happy d! A birthday welcome! happy d's and many! „ V i 430 Stigand, O father, have we won the d? „ V i 544 and enough of death for this one d, The d of St. Calixtus, and the d, My d „ V ii 120
His d, with all his rooftree ringing 'Harold,' „ V ii 129
A sauce-deviser for thy d's of fish, Becket, Pro. 98
Follow me this Rosamund d and night, „ Pro. 506
Thou art wearied out With this d's work, „ I i 7
That havock'd all the land in Stephen's d. „ I i 243
O rare, a whole long d of open field. „ I i 296 made the twilight d, „ I iii 372 Lost in desuetude, of my grandsire's d, „ I iii 414 set the Church This d between the hammer and the anvil— „ I iii 585 Grant me one d To pondêr these demands. „ I iii 668 d of peril that dawns darkly and drearily „ I iv 144 yea, and in the d of judgment also, „ I iv 147 that be dead ten times o'er i' one d wi' the putrid fever; „ I iv 251
Like sudden night in the main glare of d. „ II i 58 decide on what was customary In olden d's, „ II ii 176 but this d he proffer'd peace. „ II ii 239
You had not borne it, no, not for a d. „ II ii 305
In the great d against the wronger. „ III iii 17
Glancing at the d's when his father was only Earl of Anjou, „ III iii 149
Thanks to the blessed Magdalen, whose d it is. „ III iii 172 out with Henry in the d's When Henry loved me, „ V ii 231
What d of the week? Tuesday? „ V ii 281 to people heaven in the great d When God makes up his jewels. „ V ii 496
Do they not fight the Great Fiend d by d? „ V ii 586
Fair Sir, a happy d to you! The Cup I i 188
I have had a weary d in watching you. „ I ii 40 close not yet the door upon a night That looks half d. „ I ii 389
This very d the Romans crown him king „ II 63
He wills you then this d to marry him, „ II 66
And join your life this d with his, „ II 135 to make the d memorial, when Synorix, first King, „ II 439
This all too happy d, crown—queen at once. „ II 451 been on my knees every d for these half-dozen years The Falcon 184
I come this d to break my fast with you. „ 276
A lady that was beautiful as d Sat by me „ 349 but this d has brought A great occasion. „ 487 so much worse For last d's journey. „ 834
And the d's bright like a friend, but the wind east like an enemy. Prom. of May I 79
The sky? or the sea on a blue d? „ I 102
Good d! Wilson. Good d, sir. „ I 294
Good d, then, Dobson. „ I 299
Many happy returns of the d, father. „ I 351
Who shrieks by d at what she does by night, „ I 532 and it seems to me nobbut t'other d. „ II 7
My name is Harold! Good d, Dobbins! „ II 726 always told Father that the huge old ashtree there would cause an accident some d; „ III 245 may drop off any d, any hour. You must see at once. „ III 407
You heard him say it was one of his bad d's. „ III 469
It is almost the last of my bad d's, I think. „ III 472
Or ever the d began, Foresters I i 11 and these are the d's of Prince John. „ I i 177
I love him as a damsel of his d „ I i 227 Sufficient for the d, dear father! „ I i 343 twilight of the coming d already glimmers in the east. „ I ii 247
But ill befitting such a festal d „ I iii 37
To sleep! to sleep! The long bright d is done, „ I iii 41
Whate'er thy joys, they vanish with the d; „ I iii 44
There is no land like England Where'er the light of d be; (repeat) Foresters II i 2, 6, 14, 18
king of d hath stept from off his throne, Foresters II i 26

Day (continued) Perchance this d may sink so gloriously, Foresters II i 31
Whene'er this d should come about, „ II i 41
A maiden now Were ill-bested in these dark d's of John, „ II ii 45
In the night, in the d, „ II ii 182
Dear, in these d's of Norman license, „ III 177 having lived For twenty d's and nights in mail, „ IV 124
Not having broken fast the livelong d— „ IV 186 must we dance attendance all the d? „ IV 551
Daybreak Send the Great Seal by d. Becket I i 405
Day-dream Some hunter in d-d's or half asleep Foresters IV 1088 Daylight (adj.) Hath shock'd me back into the d truth Queen Mary III v 135 Daylight (s) Let me bring you in here where there is still full d. Prom. of May III 218
Dazed (See also Däzed) Edward wakes!—D—he hath seen a vision. Harold III i 131
Dazing See Brain-dazing
Deacon (See also Cardinal-deacon) thou art but d, not yet bishop, Becket, Pro. 83
Dead (adj.) (See also Deäd, Famine-dead) You know your Latin—quiet as a d body. Queen Mary I iv 181
Quiet as a d body. „ I iv 187 which every now and then Beats me half d: „ I v 525
When I and thou and all rebellions lie D bodies „ II i 80
The tree that only bears d fruit is gone. „ III i 19
Sir, this d fruit was ripening overmuch, And had to be removed lest living Spain Should sicken at d England. Stafford. Not so d, But that a shock may rouse her. „ III i 25
d I cannot choose but love her. „ III i 339 true enough Her dark d blood is in my heart with mine. „ III i 349
Her dark d blood that ever moves with mine „ III i 352
And unto no d world; but Lambeth palace, „ III ii 153
The islands call'd into the dawning church Out of the d, deep night „ III iii 173 should be No longer a d letter, but requicken'd. „ III iv 10
Let the d letter live.' „ III iv 33
Let the d letter burn! „ III iv 40 d—with the fear of death Too d ev'n for a death-watch! „ III v 139 my faith would seem D or half-drown'd, „ IV ii 98
Until the power suddenly blew him d. „ IV iii 341
The parson from his own spire swung out d, „ IV iii 376
Our altar is a mound of d men's clay, „ V ii 161
A letter which the Count de Noailles wrote To that d traitor Wyatt, „ V ii 498
Let d things rest. „ V ii 506
Tell him at last I know his love is d, „ V ii 591
D or alive you cannot make him happy. „ V v 71
Women, when I am d, Open my heart, „ V v 152
The Queen is d. „ V v 252
For my d father's loyalty to thee? Harold I i 240 a d man Rose from behind the altar, „ I ii 78 saw the church all fill'd With d men upright from their graves, and all The d men made at thee to murder thee, „ I ii 83
The shadows of a hundred fat d deer For d men's ghosts. „ I ii 103
Where they eat d men's flesh, and drink their blood. „ II ii 807
Dry as an old wood-fungus on a d tree, „ III i 8 and sell not thou Our living passion for a d man's dream; „ III ii 60
Our dear, d, traitor-brother, Tostig, „ IV iii 83
How ran that answer which King Harold gave To his d namesake, „ IV iii 110
Sound sleep to the man Here by d Norway „ IV iii 122
By God, we thought him d— „ IV iii 148
What did the d man call it—Sanguelac, „ V i 184
My fatal oath—the d Saints—the dark dreams— „ V i 380
I am d as Death this day to ought of earth's „ V i 425
They are stripping the d bodies naked yonder, „ V ii 34
I tell thee, girl, I am seeking my d Harold, „ V ii 43 being the true wife Of this d King, who never bore revenge. „ V ii 85
And this d king's Who, king or not, „ V ii 123
Pluck the d woman off the d man, Malet! „ V ii 144
D is he, my Queen? Becket, Pro. 368
A d man's dying wish should be of weight. „ Pro. 422
We wait but the King's word to strike thee d. „ I iii 167
They be d while I be a-supping. „ I iv 247 that be d ten times o'er i' one day wi' the putrid fever; „ I iv 250

Dead (adj.) (continued) Let either cast him away like a d dog! Becket II ii 257
For tho' the drop may hollow out the d stone, „ III iii 315
Trodden one half d; one half, but half-alive, „ V i 63
Would he were d! (repeat) „ V i 91, 95
She sends it back, as being d to earth, So d henceforth to you. Henry. D! you have murder'd her, „ V i 170
Why, then you are a d man; flee! „ V iii 126
The traitor's d, and will arise no more. „ V iii 200
No, Reginald, he is d. „ V iii 204
The body of that d traitor Sinnatus. The Cup I iii 179
Rouse the d altar-flame, fling in the spices, „ II 182
My liberality perforce is d Thro' lack of means of giving. The Falcon 296
'D mountain.' Nay, for who could trace a hand „ 437
'D mountain flowers, d mountain-meadow flowers, „ 460
You bloom again, d mountain-meadow flowers.' „ 470
'D flowers! „ 476
'D mountain flowers'—Ah well, my nurse has broken The thread of my d flowers, as she has broken My china bowl. My memory is as d. „ 519
They left us there for d! „ 651
Ay, and I left two fingers there for d. „ 654
I left him there for d too! „ 659
I could almost think that the d garland Will break „ 918 is haunted by The ghosts of the d passions of d men; Prom. of May II 275
if the wretch were d I might forgive him; We know not whether he be d or living. „ II 433
One Philip Edgar of Toft Hall in Somerset Is lately d. Dora. D!— „ II 447
That one, is he then—d! „ II 452
D! and this world Is brighter for his absence „ II 457 for I am closely related to the d man's family. „ II 715
He's d, man—d; gone to his account—d and buried. „ III 144 Shall I tell her he is d? No; she is still too feeble. „ III 337 d midnight when I came upon the bridge; „ III 368 Living . . . d . . . She said 'all still. „ III 683
She hid this sister, told me she was d—I have wasted pity on her—not d now— „ III 690
—not d now—a swoon—a scene—Yet— „ III 696
Yes, deathlike! D? I dare not look: if d, „ III 716
For be he d, then John may be our King. Foresters I ii 98 being outlaw'd in a land Where law lies d, „ II i 91 and the son Is most like d— „ II i 147
I ha' served the King living, says she, and let me serve him d, „ II i 311 saints were so kind to both on us that he was d before he was born. „ II i 373 or wreckt And d beneath the midland ocean, „ II i 657
I am but a stone and a d stock to thee. „ II ii 69
What's here? a d bat in the fairy ring— „ II ii 93
Found him d and drench'd in dew, „ II ii 147
The deer fell d to the bottom, „ IV 543
O my good liege, we did believe you d. „ IV 846
Was justice d because the King was d? „ IV 847 Dead (s) And after that, the trumpet of the d. Queen Mary IV ii 12 and the d were found Sitting, and in this fashion; „ V ii 395
Peace is with the d. „ V v 268
Peace with the d, who never were at peace! „ V v 273
With looking on the d. And I so white? Harold II ii 815 dykes and brooks Were bridged and damm'd with d, „ III ii 130
Drink to the d who died for us. „ IV iii 69
Hail to the living who fought, the d who fell! „ IV iii 106 with the d So piled about him he can hardly move. „ V i 657
What art thou doing here among the d? „ V ii 33
Then all the d fell on him. „ V ii 50
Love that can lift up a life from the d. Becket II i 14
I am the bride of Death, and only Marry the d. The Cup II 30
Is not this To speak too pitilessly of the d? Prom. of May II 461 it is not So easy to forgive—even the d. „ II 486
—how she made her wail as for the d! „ III 699
sheeted d Are shaken from their stillness in the grave Foresters II i 45 Deäd (adj.) So the owd uncle i' Coomberland be d, Prom. of May II 2
I'd like to fell 'im as d as a bullock! „ II 597
D! It mun be true, fur it wur i' print as black as owt. „ II 730

Deäd (adj.) (continued) Be the colt d? Dora. No, Father. Prom. of May III 429
Be he d? Dora. Not that I know. „ III 433
Deadly Tho' I be ever d sick at sea. Queen Mary III vi 88
Who went before us did not wholly clear The d growths of earth, Becket II ii 203
Deaf To the d adder thee, that will not dance Harold I i 385
Art thou d? Becket. I hear you. Becket I iii 604
Are you d? What, have I lost authority among you? „ V iii 65
I be a bit d, and I wur hallus scäared by a big word; Prom. of May III 32
I am not d! you fright me. „ III 660
Is he d, or dumb, or daft, or drunk belike? Foresters I ii 208
Deafen'd and d by some bright Loud venture, Queen Mary III i 451
Edward's prayers Were d and he pray'd them dumb, Harold I ii 22
Deal (See also Deäl) To d with heresy gentlier. Queen Mary III vi 58
D gently with the young man Absalom. Becket I iii 756
D not with things you know not. „ V ii 133
So that they d with us like honest men, Foresters IV 101
And I might d with four. „ IV 171
Deäl Noä; I knaws a d better now. Prom. of May II 26
Dealt We d in the wild justice of the woods. Foresters IV 1072
Dean D's Of Christchurch, Durham, Exeter, and Wells— Queen Mary I ii 8
I am the D of the province: let me bear it. Becket I iii 498
De-anathematise Can the King d-a this York? „ V ii 10
Dear I fear, I fear, I see you, D friend, for the last time; Queen Mary I ii 103
Ay, one and all, d brothers, pray for me; „ IV iii 102 seeing now The poor so many, and all food so d. „ IV iii 209
Low, d lute, low! „ V ii 376
It is the Count de Feria, my d lady. „ V ii 529
D Madam, Philip is but at the wars; „ V v 24
Mightily, my d lady! Harold I i 24
My most d Master, What matters? „ I i 194
O Tostig, O d brother—If they prance, Rein in, „ I i 371 War, my d lady, War, waste, plague, famine, „ I i 465 he shall be my d friend As well as thine, „ II ii 79
we are poison'd: our d England Is demi-Norman. „ III i 40 and d son, swear When thou art king, to see my solemn vow Accomplish'd. „ III i 304
Nay, d lord, for I have sworn Not to swear falsely twice. „ III i 309
Our d, dead, traitor-brother, Tostig, „ IV iii 83
No more, no more, d brother, nevermore— „ V i 247
Given me by my d friend the King of England— Becket I i 337
O, my d friend, the King! O brother! „ I i 359
The mouth is only Clifford, my d father. „ II i 220
Then, my d liege, I here deliver all this controversy „ II ii 135
My d lord Archbishop, I learn but now that those poor Poitevins, „ II ii 426
Save that d head which now is Canterbury, „ V iii 6
Spare this defence, d brother. „ V iii 168
I fear my d lord mixt With some conspiracy against the wolf. The Cup I ii 14
Welcome to this poor cottage, my d lady. The Falcon 270
O my d son, be not unkind to me. „ 509
Giovanna, my d lady, in this same battle We had been beaten— „ 601
And thou too leave us, my d nurse, alone. „ 701
Ay, the d nurse will leave you alone; „ 702
Giovanna, d Giovanna, I that once The wildest of the random youth „ 806
D Philip, all the world is beautiful If we were happy, Prom. of May I 576
D Eva Was always thought the prettier. „ II 378
Wasn't d mother herself at least by one side a lady? „ III 300
But, O d friend, If thro' the want of any— „ III 549
Take it again, d father, Foresters I i 341
Sufficient for the day, d father! „ I i 343
And thou, d Little John, Who hast that worship for me „ I iii 159 thou art the very woman who waits On my d Marian. „ II i 103
Ah d Robin! ah noble captain, friend of the poor! „ II i 182
O thou unworthy brother of my d Marian! „ II i 538
O my d Marian, Is it thou? is it thou? „ II i 597 to dream that he My brother, my d Walter— „ II i 652
O d wife, we have fallen into the hands Of Robin Hood. „ III 232

Dear (continued) why, the silver Were d as gold, Foresters IV 42
You Much, you Scarlet, your d Little John, „ IV 1083
Dear-cousin Do so d-c and royal-cousin him, Queen Mary III iv 400
Dearer What voices call you D than mine that should be dearest to you? „ V i 38
D than when you made your mountain gay, The Falcon 463
Dearest not with gold, But d links of love. Queen Mary I v 539
What voices call you Dearer than mine that should be d to you? „ V i 38
Nay, d Lady, see your good physician. „ V v 58
Swear, d brother, I beseech thee, swear! Harold II ii 719
And all is safe again. O d lady, The Cup I ii 313
'D Dora,—I have lost myself, and am lost for ever Prom. of May II 83
But now that you have been brought to us as it were from the grave, d Eva, „ III 236
Death God save her grace; and d to Northumberland! Queen Mary I i 67 transparent hand, Damp with the sweat of d, „ I ii 33
Your creed will be your d. „ I ii 46
Fly and farewell, and let me die the d. „ I ii 106 when you put Northumberland to d, „ I v 486 another, mute as d, And white as her own milk; „ II ii 79 promise full Allegiance and obedience to the d. „ II ii 169
It roll'd as black as d; „ II iii 20
He'll be the d on us; „ II iii 102
D and the Devil—if he find I have one— „ III i 231 a pale horse for D and Gardiner for the Devil. „ III i 235 since your Herod's d, How oft hath Peter knock'd „ III ii 62
But your wise bees had stung him first to d. „ III iii 65 with the fear of d Too dead ev'n for a death-watch! „ III v 140
For there was life—And there was life in d— „ III v 146 bolts, That jail you from free life, bar you from d. „ III v 173 what think you, Is it life or d? „ III v 194
D would not grieve him more. „ IV i 25 thro' the fear of d Gave up his cause, „ IV iii 27
Queen and Council at this time Adjudge him to the d. „ IV iii 38
Didst thou yield up thy Son to human d; „ IV iii 145 some saying that may live After his d „ IV iii 160
For d gives life's last word a power to live, „ IV iii 161
Written for fear of d, to save my life, „ IV iii 242
I saw the d's of Latimer and Ridley. „ IV iii 295
—he is white as d. „ IV iii 559
Where he shall rest at night, moved to his d; „ IV iii 581 beard, which he had never shaven Since Henry's d, „ IV iii 594
He cried Enough! enough! before his d.— „ V ii 101
there is one D stands behind the Groom, And there is one D stands behind the Bride— „ V ii 165
Have you been looking at the 'Dance of D'? „ V ii 170
'We pray continually for the d Of our accursed Queen and Cardinal Pole.' „ V ii 180
lash'd to d, or lie Famishing in black cells, „ V ii 194
My people hate me and desire my d. „ V ii 345
My husband hates me, and desires my d. „ V ii 348
I hate myself, and I desire my d. „ V ii 352 that I am in state to bring forth d— „ V ii 593
God's d! and wherefore spake you not before? „ V iii 106
Then I and he will snaffle your 'God's d,' „ V iii 120
God's d, forsooth—you do not know King Philip. „ V iii 123 poor Pole pines of it, As I do, to the d. „ V v 130 take heed! The blade is keen as d. „ V v 175
As if the chamberlain were D himself! „ V v 204 a Tudor School'd by the shadow of d— „ V v 226 but stark as d To those that cross him.— Harold II ii 321 Delay is d to thee, ruin to England. „ II ii 717
My lord! thou art white as d. „ II ii 814
If this be d, Then our great Council wait „ III i 2
He hath swoon'd! D? . . . no, as yet a breath. „ III i 319
This lightning before d Plays on the word,— „ III i 387 fill'd the quiver, and D has drawn the bow— „ III i 400
It is the arrow of d in his own heart— „ III i 404 for d is d, or else Lifts us beyond the lie. „ III ii 79 and threaten us thence Unschool'd of D? „ V i 287
Two d's at every swing, ran in upon us „ V i 409
I am dead as D this day to ought of earth's Save William's d or mine. Edith. Thy d!— „ V i 425 our good Gurth hath smitten him to the d. „ V i 503 Death (continued) D!—and enough of d for this one day, Harold V ii 119 move as true with me To the door of d. „ V ii 186
Let me learn at full The manner of his d, Becket, Pro. 426 Strike, and I die the d of martyrdom; Strike, and ye set these customs by my d „ I iii 169
By God's d, thou shalt stick him like a calf! „ I iii 183
Degrade, imprison him—Not d for d. „ I iii 402
I, my liege, could swear, To d for d. „ I iii 405
King commands you, upon pain of d, „ I iii 753
O my life's life, not to smile Is all but d to me. „ II i 41
Thine—as I am—till d! Rosamund. D? no! „ II i 300 that merits d, False oath on holy cross— „ IV ii 207 running down the chase is kindlier sport Ev'n than the d. „ IV ii 215 dooms thee after d To wail in deathless flame. „ IV ii 271 not life shot up in blood, But d drawn in;— „ IV ii 382
'The King is sick and almost unto d.' „ V ii 153
Thrills to the topmost tile—no hope but d; „ V ii 210
They seek—you make—occasion for your d. „ V ii 559
Some would stand by you to the d. „ V ii 605
The power of life in d to make her free! „ V iii 100 whole world Abhor you; ye will die the d of dogs! „ V iii 184 Son, husband, brother gash'd to d in vain, The Cup I ii 143 keep it, or you sell me To torment and to d. „ I ii 216
I know they mean to torture him to d. „ I ii 274
Think,—torture,—d,—and come. „ I ii 314
Shall I go? Shall I go? D, torture— „ I ii 454
Stay!—too near is d. „ I iii 104
I am the bride of D, and only Marry the dead. „ II 29
Life yields to d and wisdom bows to Fate, „ II 89 ere two souls be knit for life and d, „ II 360 Would you have tortured Sinnatus to d? Antonius. No thought was mine of torture or of d, „ II 409 some old Greek Say d was the chief good? „ II 515 more than one brave fellow owed His d to the charm in it. The Falcon 635 whose cheerless Houris after d Are Night and Silence, Prom. of May I 250
'Till d us part'—those are the only words, „ I 658 they that love do not believe that d Will part them. „ I 663 better d With our first wail than life— „ II 290 not so much for D As against Life! „ II 337
My father's d, Let her believe it mine; „ II 453
Not all at once with d and him. „ II 464 the man himself, When hearing of that piteous d, „ II 500 but I mun git out on 'is waäy now, or I shall be the d on 'im. „ II 610
I have been telling her of the d of one Philip Edgar of Toft Hall, Somerset. „ II 706 Look there—under the d's. „ II 710 and that, I am sure, would be the d of him. „ III 167
Peace, let him be: it is the chamber of D! „ III 741 Laid famine-striken at the gates of D— „ III 806 but if you starve me I be Gaffer D himself. Foresters I i 48
I think I should have stricken him to the d. „ II i 141 the scritch-owl bodes d, my lord. „ II i 333
there is a cross line o' sudden d. „ II i 354
Not mortal! after d, if after d—— Robin. Life, life. I know not d. Why do you vex me With raven-croaks of d and after d? „ II i 619
I would have battled for it to the d. „ II i 664
And bruised him almost to the d, „ III 361
They strike the deer at once to d— „ IV 525
A thousand winters Will strip you bare as d, „ IV 1056 Deathbed I've been attending on his d and his burial. Prom. of May II 4 a Sister of Mercy, come from the d-b of a pauper, „ III 377
Death-knell Ringing their own d-k thro' all the realm. Becket I iii 172
Deathless ghosts of Luther and Zuinglius fade Into the d hell Queen Mary III ii 175 stroke that dooms thee after death To wail in d flame. Becket IV ii 272 Deathlike Yes, d! Dead? I dare not look: Prom. of May III 716
Deathly How d pale!—a chair, your Highness. Queen Mary I v 636
Death-watch Too dead ev'n for a d-w! „ III v 141
Debased downfallen and d From councillor to caitiff— „ IV iii 74
Debonair only d to those That follow where he leads, Harold II ii 319

De Brito (knight of King Henry II.'s household) (See also Brito, Richard) De Tracy—even that flint D B. Becket, Pro. 523
De Tracy and D B, from our castle. „ I i 278
De Broc thou, D B, that boldest Saltwood Castle— „ I iii 160 cursed those D B's That hold our Saltwood Castle „ II ii 267 Perchance the fierce D B's from Saltwood Castle, „ V ii 249 your friends, those ruffians, the D B's, „ V ii 435
And one of the D B's is with them, „ V ii 572 Debt Your pious wish to pay King Edward's d's, Queen Mary I v 112
Pray'd me to pay her d's, and keep the Faith; „ V v 257
—thou art drowned in d— Becket, Pro. 491 every bond and d and obligation Incurr'd as Chancellor. „ I iii 710 but the ill success of the farm, and the d's, Prom. of May II 69
I would pay My brother all his d Foresters I ii 218
For whom I ran into my d to the Abbot, „ II i 462
No, not an hour: the d is due to-day. „ IV 448
he Would pay us all the d at once, „ IV 485
The d hath not been paid. „ IV 612
Decalogue Thro' chastest honour of the D Becket V i 206
Decaying Cool as the light in old d wood; Queen Mary IV ii 5
Decent We be more like scarecrows in a field than d serving men; Foresters I i 35 Decide d on what was customary In olden days, Becket II ii 175 all the Church of France D on their decision, „ II ii 178 Decided Cranmer, it is d by the Council Queen Mary IV ii 25
Decision all the Church of France Decide on their d, Becket II ii 178 Deck Stand on the d and spread his wings for sail! Queen Mary I v 379 same chair, Or rather throne of purple, on the d. „ III ii 8
Stagger on the slope d's for any rough sea Becket II ii 106
Declaration In several bills and d's, Queen Mary IV i 48
Declare d our penitence and grief For our long schism „ III iii 128
Our letters of commission will d this plainlier. „ III iii 222
D the Queen's right to the throne; „ IV ii 78
I shall d to you my very faith Without all colour. „ IV iii 225 came to sue Your Council and yourself to d war. (repeat) „ V i 108, 116 Declared when last he wrote, d His comfort in your Grace „ III vi 78
As I have many a time d to you— The Cup II 48
Decline d The judgment of the King? Becket I iii 675
Decree sanction your d Of Tostig's banishment, Harold IV i 103
Deed With golden d's and iron strokes that brought „ II ii 47
Some said it was thy father's d. Harold. They lied. „ II ii 513
Nothing, so thy promise be thy d. Becket III iii 224
The d's done—Away! „ V iii 207
Deem needs must d This love by you return'd as heartily; Queen Mary II ii 196
Who d's it a most just and holy war. „ V i 147
Deeming D him one that thro' the fear of death „ IV iii 26 Deep (adj. and adv.) D—I shall fathom him. „ I iii 158 islands call'd into the dawning church Out of the dead, d night of heathendom, „ III iii 173
And crying, in his d voice, more than once, „ IV iii 611 strike hard and d into The prey they are rending from her— „ V ii 267
There thou prick'st me d. Harold II ii 424
Drink and drink d—our marriage will be fruitful. Drink and drink d, and thou wilt make me happy. The Cup II 380
We lie too d down in the shadow here. The Falcon 581
I only wish This pool were d enough, Prom. of May II 304
Lead us thou to some d glen, Foresters II ii 168 Deep (s) outdraught of the d Haul like a great strong fellow Harold II i 10 boughs across the d That dropt themselves, „ III i 151 voice of the d as it hollows the cliffs of the land. Becket II i 3 voice coming up with the voice of the d from the strand, „ II i 6
Love that is born of the d coming up with the sun from the sea. (repeat) „ II i 9, 19
And the great d's were broken up again, „ V iii 43
Deep-down And deeper still the d-d oubliette, Harold II ii 428 Deeper see D into the mysteries of heaven „ I i 200
D still. Wulfnoth. And d still the deep-down oubliette, „ II ii 427 that tempest which will set it trembling Only to base it d. Becket, Pro. 210
Deepest Sunk in the d pit of pauperism, Prom. of May III 803

Deep-incavern'd His buzzard-beak and d-i eyes Half fright me. Queen Mary I iv 266
Deer You are the stateliest d in all the herd— „ V ii 425
The shadows of a hundred fat red d Harold I ii 103
Buck; d, as you call it. Becket I iv 139
This Canterbury, like a wounded d, „ II ii 21
Huntsman, and hound, and d were all neck-broken! The Cup I ii 23
That hold by Richard, tho' they kill his d. Foresters I iii 101
The d, the highback'd polecat, the wild boar, „ I iii 119 true woodman's bow of the best yew-wood to slay the d. „ II i 393
Robin, like a d from a dog, „ II i 433
By all the d that spring Thro' wood and lawn „ III 424
Gone, like a d that hath escaped thine arrow! „ IV 60
What d when I have mark'd him ever yet Escaped „ IV 62
They strike the d at once to death— „ IV 525
He drove his knife into the heart of the d, The d fell dead to the bottom, „ IV 542
On nuts and acorns, ha! Or the King's d? „ IV 884
Deer-like Chased d-l up his mountains, Harold I ii 148
Defamed betray'd, d, divorced, forlorn! Queen Mary I v 26
Suffer not That my brief reign in England be d „ V ii 302 Defeat What! are thy people sullen from d? Harold IV i 2 and now but shuns The semblance of d; Becket I iii 191 Defect We hold by his defiance, not his d. „ II ii 218
Defective seeing they were men D or excessive, „ II ii 213
Nay, if they were d as St. Peter Denying Christ, „ II ii 215 Defence or any harm done to the people if my jest be in d of the Truth? „ II ii 340
And private hates with our d of Heaven. „ V ii 52
Spare this d, dear brother. „ V iii 168
Whereas in wars of freedom and d The Cup I ii 160
Defend I pray you, Do not d yourself. Becket II ii 112
Except she could d her innocence. Foresters II ii 47
I can d my cause against the traitors „ IV 898
Defender The great unborn d of the Faith, Queen Mary III ii 165
Till Truth herself be shamed of her d. Becket II ii 345
Defensoribus Non d istis, Walter Map. „ II ii 346
Defiance We hold by his d, not his defect. „ II ii 218 Defied who yet d the tyrant, „ II ii 216
—kinglike D the Pope, and, like his kingly sires, „ IV ii 440
Defy I hate thee, and despise thee, and d thee. Harold IV ii 79
Boldness out of the bottle! I d thee. Foresters IV 239
Nay, I d thee still. „ IV 276
Degradation scarce have spoken with you Since when?—your d. Queen Mary IV ii 120 papers by my hand Sign'd since my d— „ IV iii 244
What doth hard murder care For d? Becket I iii 394
Degrade and d the realm By seeking justice Queen Mary IV i 18
D, imprison him—Not death for death. Becket I iii 400 Degraded the courts of the Church, They but d him. „ Pro. 14 ye but d him Where I had hang'd him. „ I iii 391
Degree There stands a man, once of so high d, Queen Mary IV iii 69
Dei Ha—Verbum D—verbum—word of God! „ III i 262
Deign my nobleness Of nature, as you d to call it, The Falcon 811
Who d to honour this my thirtieth year, Foresters I ii 79
If you will d to tread a measure with me. „ I ii 132
Deign'd Who never d to shine into my palace. The Falcon 285
The diamonds that you never d to wear. „ 761
Dejiciatur Equus cum equite D! Harold V i 580 Delay D is death to thee, ruin to England. „ II ii 717
Delicacy repulses, the delicacies, the subtleties. Becket, Pro. 500 Delicate (See also Courtly-delicate) your hand Will be much coveted! What a d one! Queen Mary V iii 44
Be men less d than the Devil himself? Harold III i 116
I have been a lover of wines, and d meats, Becket I i 76
That's a d Latin lay Of Walter Map: „ V i 191
I am none of your d Norman maidens Foresters I i 212
Delicate-footed the d-f creature Came stepping o'er him, „ IV 535 Delight (s) comes To rob you of your one d on earth. The Falcon 828 but I Take some d in sketching, Prom. of May II 539 Delight (verb) D to wallow in the grossness of it, Becket II ii 343
Delighted Affrighted me, and then d me, Queen Mary III v 144 Deliver Do here absolve you and d you And every one of you, „ III iii 214 wouldst d Canterbury To our King's hands again, Becket I iii 580

Deliver (continued) I here d all this controversy Into your royal hands. Becket II ii 136
I might d all things to thy hand— „ III iii 270 Delivered 'The Queen of England is d of a dead dog!' Queen Mary III ii 219
he was d To the secular arm to burn; „ IV ii 213 God's grace and Holy Church d us. Becket IV ii 309 are d here in the wild wood an hour after noon. Foresters IV 509 Demand (s) then to cede A point to her d? Queen Mary III vi 170
Grant me one day To ponder these d's. Becket I iii 669 Demand (verb) I will d his ward From Edward Harold I ii 58 the King d's three hundred marks, Becket I iii 626 the King d's seven hundred marks, „ I iii 634
the King d's five hundred marks, „ I iii 641
King D's a strict account of all those revenues „ I iii 650
Antonius To-morrow will d your tribute— The Cup I ii 97
Demanded d Possession of her person and the Tower. Queen Mary II ii 40
Demi-Norman our dear England Is d-N. Harold III i 41
De-miracled fish, they d-m the miraculous draught, Becket III iii 124
Democracy when the tide Of full d has overwhelm'd This Old world, Prom. of May I 593
When the great D Makes a new world— „ I 670
De Morville (knight of the household of King Henry II.) (See also Hugh) France! Ha! D M, Tracy, Brito—fled is he? Becket I iv 198
D M, I had thought so well of you; „ V ii 519
This wanton here. D M, Hold her away. „ V iii 171
Den Who dragg'd the scatter'd limbs into their d. Queen Mary I v 402 hottest hold in all the devil's d „ V iv 15
Dares the bear slouch into the lion's d? Becket IV ii 282
Denial Treble d of the tongue of flesh, Harold III i 281 Denied Renard d her, Ev'n now to me. Queen Mary III vi 2 or more D the Holy Father! „ III iv 248
St. Peter in his time of fear D his Master, „ III iv 264
Albeit I have d him. „ IV ii 236
Nay, but, my Lord, he d purgatory. „ IV iii 629
Would not—if penitent—have d him her Forgiveness. Prom. of May ii 496
Denis (Bishop of Paris and Patron Saint of France) St. D, that thou shouldst not. Becket, Pro. 89
By St. D—— De Brito. Ay, by St. D, now will he flame out, And lose his head as old St. D did. „ V ii 477
St. D of France and St. Alphege of England, „ V iii 165
Denmark the King of D is with us; Queen Mary II i 195
Dense How d a fold of danger nets him round, Harold II ii 17 Deny I d not to have been Your faithful friend Queen Mary V i 88 against the Norseman, If thou d them this. Harold IV i 159
D not thou God's honour for a king. Becket II ii 424
Nay, I d not That I was somewhat anger'd. „ IV ii 350 Come, come, could he d it? What did he say? The Cup I ii 345 can d Nothing to you that you require of him. The Falcon 717 Denying if they were defective as St. Peter D Christ, Becket II ii 216
Depart And under his authority—I d. „ I iii 728
Departed And presently all rose, and so d. The Falcon 367
Depend all d's Upon the skill and swiftness Queen Mary I iii 142
All d's on me—Father, this poor girl, Prom. of May III 211
Deputation comes a d From our finikin fairy nation. Foresters II ii 144
Derwent Where lie the Norsemen? on the D? Harold IV i 253
Our day beside the D will not shine „ IV iii 50
Descend D's the ruthless Norman— „ II ii 467
And that my wife d's from Alfred? „ II ii 594
the second curse D upon thine head, „ III ii 49 Scatter thy people home, d the hill, „ V i 10 so d again with some of her ladyship's own appurtenances? The Falcon 416
Descending as the soul d out of heaven Into a body generate. Queen Mary IV i 35
Desert (merit) fierier than fire To yield them their d's. „ V iv 27
D's! Amen to what? Whose d's? „ V iv 30
Desert (waste) wells of Castaly are not wasted upon the d. Becket, Pro. 388 Deserve He must d his surname better. Queen Mary III ii 197 that worship for me which Heaven knows I ill d— Foresters I iii 162 Designer See Dish-designer
Desire (s) She had no d for that, and wrung her hands, Queen Mary III i 384 Desire (s) (continued) And hot d to imitate; Queen Mary III iv 171
Her fierce d of bearing him a child, „ IV iii 429
O yield them all their d! The Cup II 8 and no need Of veiling their d's. Prom. of May I 530
The love of freedom, the d of God, Foresters II i 68
Desire (verb) My people hate me and d my death, Queen Mary V ii 345
My husband hates me, and d's my death. „ V ii 348
I hate myself, and I d my death. „ V ii 351
A stranger monk d's access to you. Becket V ii 65
Desolate That d letter, blotted with her tears, Prom. of May II 475 Despair I am almost in d. Queen Mary I v 385 Shall I d then?—God forbid! „ IV iii 129 but O girl, girl, I am almost in d. Foresters I i 263
Despair'd I had d of thee—that sent me crazed. „ IV 1021
Despise Those of the wrong side will d the man, Queen Mary IV iii 25
Make us d it at odd hours, my Lord. „ IV iii 386
I hate thee, and d thee, and defy thee. Harold IV ii 79
Despite d his fearful heresies, I loved the man, Queen Mary IV iii 633
And he hath learnt, d the tiger in him, Harold I i 147
d his kingly promise given To our own self of pardon, Becket II ii 431
Despondency When left alone in my d, Queen Mary IV ii 95
Destiny Moved in the iron grooves of D? Remorse then is a part of D, Prom. of May II 267
Destroy We come not to d, but edify; Queen Mary III iii 188
Take heed, lest he d thee utterly. Becket I iii 13
Wilt thou d the Church in fighting for it, „ I iii 36
Desuetude wholesome usages, Lost in d, „ I iii 413
Determine Your courts of justice will d that. Queen Mary II iv 131
Dethrone Arise against her and d the Queen— „ I iii 91
De Tracy (Sir William, knight of the household of King Henry II.) (See also Tracy) D T—even that flint De Brito. Becket, Pro. 522
D T and De Brito, from our castle. „ I i 278
Deum bells must ring; Te D's must be sung; Queen Mary III ii 211
Deus Jacta tonitrua D bellator! Harold V i 570
Fulmina, fulmina D vastator! „ V i 574 Device put some fresh d in lieu of it— Queen Mary III i 268 but follow'd the d of those Her nearest kin: „ III i 379 Devil (See also Dare-devil, Divil) has offer'd her his son Philip, the Pope and the D. „ I i 106 all Your trouble to the dogstar and the d. „ I iv 292
His foes—the D had suborn'd 'em, „ I v 626 ordnance On the White Tower and on the D's Tower, „ II iii 44 Philip had been one of those black d's of Spain, „ III i 215 that every Spaniard carries a tale like a d „ III i 224 Death and the D—if he find I have one— „ III i 231 a pale horse for Death and Gardiner for the D. „ III i 235
Not for the seven d's to enter in? „ III ii 140
d take all boots were ever made Since man went barefoot. „ III v 197
Or to be still in pain with d's in hell; „ IV iii 222
With all his d's doctrines; „ IV iii 278 Pole Will tell you that the d helpt them thro' it. „ IV iii 352 give the D his due, I never found he bore me any spite „ V ii 472
I were whole d if I wrong'd you, Madam. „ V iii 6 hottest hold in all the d's den „ V iv 15 wrath of Heaven hath three tails, The d only one. Harold I i 62 Fishermen? d's! Who, while ye fish for men with your false fires, Let the great D fish for your own souls. „ II i 29
Like Jonah, than have known there were such d's. „ II i 39 would make the hard earth rive To the very D's horns, „ II ii 741 Be men less delicate than the D himself? I thought that naked Truth would shame the D The D is so modest. „ III i 117
A lying d Hath haunted me— „ V i 317
Ye haled this tonsured d into your courts; Becket I iii 387
Forty thousand marks! forty thousand d's— „ I iv 91 Saving the D's honour, his yes and no. „ II ii 142
if this if be like the D's 'if Thou wilt fall down and worship me.' „ III iii 285
O d, can I free her from the grave? „ V i 185
Down to the d with this bond that beggars me! Foresters I i 340
By all the d's in and out of Hell! „ II ii 27 proud priests, and these Barons, D's, „ III 127
And wake the D, and I may sicken by 'em. „ III 325

Devil (continued) by all the saints and all the d's ye shall dance. Foresters IV 553
Or, like the D's they are, straight up from Hell. „ IV 594
Devilish all of us abhor The venomous, bestial, d revolt Of Thomas Wyatt. Queen Mary II ii 287
Devilry What game, what juggle, what d are you playing? Becket V i 153
Devilstow Into Godstow, into Hellstow, D! „ V i 215
Devon (County) Were I in D with my wedded bride, Queen Mary I iv 119 Carew stirs In D: „ II i 6 should be in D too. „ II i 11
Devon (Earl of) (See also Courtenay) Courtenay, to be made Earl of D, „ I i 111
Good-day, my Lord of D; „ I iii 95
What are you musing on, my Lord of D? „ I iv 27
This dress was made me as the Earl of D To take my seat in; „ I iv 73
A Courtenay of D, and her cousin. „ I iv 86
Was that my Lord of D? do not you Be seen in corners with my Lord of D. „ I iv 152
What was my Lord of D telling you? „ I iv 183
This comes of parleying with my Lord of D. „ I iv 252
But our young Earl of D— Mary. Earl of D? I freed him from the Tower, placed him at Court; I made him Earl of D, and—the fool— „ I v 161
My Lord of D is a pretty man. „ I v 614 and party thereunto, My Lord of D. „ II iv 101 not now and save the life Of D: „ II iv 124 could have wedded that poor youth, My Lord of D— „ V ii 477
Lord D, girls! what are you whispering here? „ V ii 485
Devour run in upon her and d her, one and all Becket, Pro. 525
Dew To those three children like a pleasant d. Queen Mary IV iii 92
Is God's best d upon the barren field. „ V i 102
Vying a tear with our cold d's, Harold V i 151 hath the fire in her face and the d in her eyes. Foresters I i 167 Found him dead and drench'd in d, „ II ii 147
Dewy I Shall see the d kiss of dawn no more Harold II ii 331
Diadem He sends you This d of the first Galatian Queen, The Cup II 132 tell him That I accept the d of Galatia— „ II 158
Diagonalise if he move at all, Heaven stay him, is fain to d. Herbert. D! thou art a word-monger. Our Thomas never will d. Thou art a jester and a verse-maker. D! Becket II ii 330
Dialectic with his charm of simple style And close d, Prom. of May I 225
Diamond (adj.) if we will buy d necklaces To please our lady, The Falcon 44
Diamond (s) set it round with gold, with pearl, with d. Queen Mary I v 376
Some six or seven Bishops, d's, pearls, „ III i 52
A d, And Philip's gift, as proof of Philip's love, „ III i 66 on his neck a collar, Gold, thick with d's; „ III i 80
Cut with a d; so to last like truth. „ III v 25
Not ev'n the central d, worth, I think, Becket V i 164
Dare beg him to receive his d's back— The Falcon 262
Then I require you to take back your d's— „ 720
But have you ever worn my d's? „ 737
The d's that you never deign'd to wear. „ 761
I cannot keep your d's, for the gift I ask for, „ 776
These d's are both yours and mine— „ 903
Diamond-dance ripples twinkled at their d-d, Queen Mary III ii 10
Dian Behold a pretty D of the wood, Foresters III 267
Diana Our Artemis Has vanquish'd their D. The Cup II 457
Dickon here's little D, and little Robin, and little Jenny— Queen Mary II iii 112
This paper, D. I found it fluttering at the palace gates:— „ III ii 217 Die Fly and farewell, and let me d the death. „ I ii 106 order with all heretics That it shall be, before I d, „ I v 35
D like the torn fox dumb, „ II ii 331
I live and d The true and faithful bride of Philip— „ II iv 42 or d with those That are no cowards and no Courtenays. „ II iv 86
And Lady Jane had left us. Mary. They shall d. Renard.
And your so loving sister? Mary. She shall d. Queen Mary II iv 140
Did not Lord Suffolk d like a true man? „ III i 164
Did you see her d? „ III i 344 said she was condemn'd to d for treason; „ III ii 173 light of this new learning wanes and d's: „ III ii 173
That if the Queen should d without a child, „ III iii 74
Die (continued) Thou knowest we had to dodge, or duck, or d; Queen Mary III iv 358
To sing, love, marry, churn, brew, bake, and d, „ III v 112 says she will live And d true maid— „ III vi 46
Did not More d, and Fisher? he must burn. „ IV i 52 and hide himself and d; „ IV i 143
—they give the poor who d. „ IV ii 53
Ay—gentle as they call you—live or d? „ IV ii 162
Fire—inch by inch to d in agony! „ IV ii 223
Stand watching a sick beast before he d's? „ IV iii 8
Yet—It is expedient for one man to d, Yea, for the people, lest the people d. Yet wherefore should he d that hath return'd „ IV iii 17 therefore he must d, For warning and example. „ IV iii 51 Hurls his soil'd life against the pikes and d's. „ IV iii 312 howsoever hero-like the man D's in the fire, „ IV iii 325
And you saw Latimer and Ridley d? „ IV iii 328
Did he d bravely? Tell me that, or leave All else untold. „ IV iii 368
To sleep, to d—I shall d of it, cousin. „ V ii 127
I may d Before I read it. Let me see him at once. „ V ii 549
Make me full fain to live and d a maid. „ V iii 98
Nay! Better d than lie! Harold I i 158
Better d than lie! „ II ii 281
Forgive me, brother, I will live here and d. „ II ii 804 better d Than credit this, for death is death, „ III ii 78 Blaze like a night of fatal stars on those Who read their doom and d. „ IV i 252 till her voice D with the world. „ IV iii 76
To tell thee thou shalt d on Senlac hill— „ V i 241
I shall d—I d for England then, who lived for England —What nobler? men must d. „ V i 267 live or d, I would I were among them! „ V i 463 honeymoon is the gall of love; he d's of his honeymoon. Becket, Pro. 365 old men must d, or the world would grow mouldy, „ Pro. 409
Lo! I must out or d. Becket. Or out and d. „ I i 268
For we would live and d for thee, my lord, „ I ii 16
Strike, and I d the death of martyrdom; „ I iii 168
—there to beg, starve, d— „ II i 75
you still move against him, you may have no less than to d for it; „ III iii 326
To d for it—I live to d for it, I d to live for it. The State will d, the Church can never d. The King's not like to d for that which d's; But I must d for that which never d's. „ III iii 334
I am not so happy I could not d myself, „ IV ii 87
I am to d then, tho' there stand beside thee „ IV ii 228 both of us will d, And I will fly with my sweet boy „ IV ii 236
I will go live and d in Aquitaine. (repeat) „ V i 109, 142
The chances of his life, just ere he d's. „ V ii 274 foremost of their files, who d For God, „ V ii 495
I am prepared to d. „ V ii 562
The best of all not all-prepared to d. „ V ii 564
D with him, and be glorified together. „ V iii 31
And d upon the Patriarchal throne Of all my predecessors? „ V iii 75 whole world Abhor you; ye will d the death of dogs! „ V iii 184 —fight out the good fight—d Conqueror. „ V iii 190
I'd sooner d than do it. The Cup I ii 224
A woman I could live and d for. What! D for a woman, what new faith is this? „ I iii 65
I will be faithful to thee till thou d, „ II 330 to live And d together. „ II 444
Thy breed will d with thee, and mine with me: The Falcon 18
The boy may d: more blessed were the rags „ 850
Than all my childless wealth, if mine must d. „ 856
She had to d for it—she died for you. „ 877
'Let us eat and drink, for to-morrow we d.' Prom. of May I 260
I shall go mad for utter shame and d. „ I 682
And poor old father not d miserable. „ I 722
My five-years' anger cannot d at once, „ II 463 and father Will not d miserable.' „ II 660 Go back to him and ask his forgiveness before he d's.— „ III 402
I would almost d to have it! Dora. And he may d before he gives it; „ III 405

Die (continued) d, and make the soil For Cæsars, Cromwells, Prom. of May III 591 lanker than an old horse turned out to d on the common. Foresters I i 52
O Lord, I will live and d for King Richard— „ I ii 37
I am outlaw'd, and if caught, I d. „ I iii 163
But if you follow me, you may d with me. „ I iii 166
We will live and d with thee, (repeat) „ I iii 168
That we would d for a Queen— „ III 444 and if thou prick me there I shall d. „ IV 570 Carry her off, and let the old man d. „ IV 677
He d's who dares to touch thee. „ IV 734

Died doubtless you can tell me how she d? Queen Mary III i 357
And Thy most blessed Son's, who d for man. „ IV iii 154 he d As manfully and boldly, and, 'fore God, „ IV iii 342
Until they d of rotted limbs; „ IV iii 445
My Lord, he d most bravely. „ IV iii 570
Ay, and with him who d Alone in Italy. „ V ii 507 caught a chill in the lagoons of Venice, And d in Padua. Mary. D in the true faith? „ V ii 516
That she would see your Grace before she—d. „ V iii 105 or Knut who coming Dane D English. Harold IV iii 56 Drink to the dead who d for us, the living Who fought and would have d, „ IV iii 69 ran in upon us And d so, „ V i 411 remembering One who d for thee, Becket II i 307
Only my best bower-maiden d of late, „ III i 68
She d of leprosy. „ V ii 268
I had once A boy who d a babe; The Cup I ii 149
To me, tho' all your bloom has d away, The Falcon 468
She had to die for it—she d for you, „ 877
Oh, yes, indeed, I would have d for you. Prom. of May I 714 pauper, who had d in his misery blessing God, „ III 378 when the mistress d, and I appealed to the Sister again, „ III 393
we have certain news he d in prison. Foresters IV 778

Dies Ilia Their 'd I,' which will test their sect. Queen Mary III iv 428

Dies Iræ Their hour is hard at hand, their 'd I,' „ III iv 426

Differing where the man and the woman, only d as the stronger and the weaker, Prom. of May III 190

Dig Or I will d thee with my dagger. Queen Mary II iii 96
And d it from the root for ever. Becket IV ii 77

Dilated Seem'd thro' that dim d world of hers, Queen Mary II ii 324

Dim (adj.) Seem'd thro' that d dilated world of hers, „ II ii 324
You droop in your d London. „ V ii 609
Mine eyes are d: what hath she written? read. „ V v 1
Well—is not that the course of Nature too, From the d dawn of Being— Prom. of May I 281

Dim (verb) Rather than d the splendour of his crown Becket V ii 343

Dimple silver Were dear as gold, the wrinkle as the d. Foresters IV 43

Dine there wur an owld lord a-cum to d wi' un, Queen Mary IV iii 504
'I wunt d,' says my Lord Bishop, „ IV iii 507
He wishes you to d along with us, Prom. of May I 618 Stay, D with my brethren here, Foresters IV 346 bonds From these three men, and let them d with us, „ IV 963
By Mahound I could d with Beelzebub! „ IV 971
there's yet one other: I will not d without him. „ IV 996

Dined let that wait till we have d. „ IV 992

Dingle And loves and dotes on every d of it. „ IV 390

Dining-hall Carry fresh rushes into the d-h, „ I i 81

Dinner (See also After-dinner) and a wur so owld a couldn't bide vor his d, Queen Mary IV iii 506
'Now,' says the Bishop, says he, 'we'll gwo to d;' „ IV iii 513 thou must dash us down Our d from the skies. The Falcon 154 his falcon Ev'n wins his d for him in the field. „ 231 fur he'll gie us a big d, Prom. of May I 9 there wudn't be a d for nawbody, and I should ha' lost the pig. „ I 149
the farming men 'ull hev their d i' the long barn, „ I 166
Why if Steer han't haxed schoolmaster to d, „ I 185 and we'll git 'im to speechify for us arter d. „ I 440 his monies, his oxen, his d's, himself. Foresters I i 234
I love my d—but I can fast, I can fast; „ I ii 64
Bitters before d, my lady, to give you a relish. „ III 434 he that pays not for his d must fight for it. „ IV 200 thou fight at quarterstaff for thy d with our Robin, „ IV 208
So now which way to the d? „ IV 972

Diocese He'll burn a d to prove his orthodoxy. Queen Mary III iv 353 Wasted our d, outraged our tenants, Becket V ii 431

Dip A lake that d's in William As well as Harold. Harold V i 186

Dipping Have I been d into this again Prom. of May I 292

Dipt d your sovereign head Thro' these low doors, The Falcon 866

Directed Half a score of them, all d to me— Prom. of May II 722

Dirty as I hate the d gap in the face of a Cistercian monk, Becket II ii 381

Disaffected The d, heretics, reformers, Look to you Queen Mary I iv 170

Disappear my voice Is martyr'd mute, and this man d's, Becket III iii 350

Disappear'd She has d, They told me, from the farm— Prom. of May II 406
She has d, poor darling, from the world— „ II 409

Disappointment D, Ingratitude, Injustice, Evil-tongue, Queen Mary V ii 154

Dis-archbishop after that, We had to d-a and unlord, „ IV ii 128

Disarm Is it not easy to d a woman? The Cup I iii 106

Disastrous And fared so ill in this d world. Queen Mary V ii 344

Discipline d's that clear the spiritual eye, Becket V i 42

Disconsolate I pray you be not so d; Queen Mary V ii 129

Discontent Hath made me king of all the d Foresters II i 87

Discourage to d and lay lame The plots of France, Queen Mary V i 187

Discourtesy I shall remember this D. Becket I i 239

Discrown Who did d thine husband, unqueen thee? Harold IV i 193

Disdain (See also Self-disdain) for I much d thee, but if ever Thou see me clasp Foresters II ii 74

Diseased Old, miserable, d, Incapable of children. Queen Mary V v 178

Disgrace Their Graces, our d's! God confound them! „ III i 414

Disgraced Thou hast d me and attainted me, „ III ii 54
Why do you so my-lord me, Who am d? „ IV ii 177
D, dishonour'd!—not by them, „ IV ii 200

Disguise (s) No! the d was perfect. Let's away. „ I iii 178
The monk's d thou gavest me for my bower: Becket V ii 93
Shall I be known? is my d perfect? Foresters I ii 18

Disguise (verb) D me—thy gown and thy coif. „ II i 186

Disguised I am ill d. Queen Mary III i 33
Ay, but you go d. Becket I i 297
Thou art no old woman—thou art d— Foresters II i 410 this is Maid Marian Flying from John—d. „ II i 680

Dish which cannot tell A good d from a bad, Becket, Pro. 106
Ye have eaten of my d and drunken of my cup for a dozen years. „ I iv 29
King would act servitor and hand a d to his son; „ III iii 139
She broke my head on Tuesday with a d. Foresters I iii 134

Dish-designer A d-d, and most amorous Becket, Pro. 99

Dishonour (s) —did D to our wives. The Cup I ii 184 willing wives enough To feel d, honour. „ I ii 189 courteous for aught I know Whose life is one d. „ I ii 194
Thro' that d which you brought upon us, Prom. of May III 765

Dishonour (verb) you that d The daughters and wives of your own faction— Foresters IV 697

Dishonour'd Disgraced, d!—not by them, Queen Mary IV ii 200 old man, Seven-fold d even in the sight Of thine own sectaries— „ V v 133
I have not d thee—I trust I have not; Becket I i 354

Dislocation And lamed and maim'd to d, „ IV ii 267

Disloyal Yet there be some d Catholics, Queen Mary III iv 42

Disobedience and grief For our long schism and d, „ III iii 129

Disobey and that you might not seem To d his Holiness. „ V ii 53

Dispense the Pope could d with his Cardinalate, „ I i 127

Displace Place and d our councillors, „ II ii 160

Displease sheathe your swords, ye will d the King. Becket I iii 179
For whatsoever may d him— „ II ii 162
Something that would d me. „ III i 245
If the phrase 'Return' d you, we will say— The Falcon 729

Disposed From one whom they d? Harold III i 107

Dispossessed thou art d of all thy lands, goods, and chattels; Foresters I iii 59

Disruption shake the North With earthquake and d— Harold I ii 200

Dissemble D not; play the plain Christian man. Queen Mary IV iii 267
I did d, but the hour has come For utter truth and plainness; „ IV iii 272

Dissembler Liar! d! traitor! to the fire! „ IV iii 259

Dissoluteness our John By his Norman arrogance and d, Foresters II i 85

Dissolved The bond between the kingdoms be d; Queen Mary III iii 77
The worldly bond between us is d, Becket I i 347

Dissonance The weakness and the d of our clans, The Cup I i 23 Distance in the eternal d To settle on the Truth. Harold III ii 102 our prophet hopes Let in the happy d, The Cup I ii 414
This poor, flat, hedged-in field—no d— Prom. of May II 344 what full hands, may be Waiting you in the d? „ II 511
Distaste Philip with a glance of some d, Queen Mary III i 99
Distracted I could hate her for it But that she is d. The Cup II 179
Distress Queen in that d Sent Cornwallis and Hastings Queen Mary II ii 30
Distrust Philip and Mary! Gardiner. I d thee. „ III i 310
Disturb no more feuds D our peaceful vassalage to Rome. The Cup II 71
Disturbance such brawls and loud d's In England, Becket V ii 352 Loud d's! Oh, ay—the bells rang out „ V ii 362
Ditch hog hath tumbled himself into some corner, Some d, „ I i 371 Divers D honest fellows, The Duke of Suffolk lately freed from prison, Queen Mary I iii 119 hath trespassed against the king in d manners, Foresters I iii 64 Diverse But Janus-faces looking d ways. Queen Mary III ii 75
Divide that do d The world of nature; „ III v 120
God gave us to d us from the wolf! Harold IV iii 101 moon D's the whole long street with light and shade. Becket I i 365
D me from the mother church of England, My Canterbury. „ V ii 360 Divided (tho' some say they be much d) Queen Mary I i 79 so this unhappy land, long d in itself, „ I iii 21
Like our Council, Your city is d. „ II ii 60
So I say Your city is d, „ II ii 99 Dividing See Sharp-dividing
Divil (devil) niver 'a been talkin' haäfe an hour wi' the d 'at killed her oän sister, Prom. of May II 604 we'd as lief talk o' the D afoor ye as 'im, „ III 130 you'll set the D's Tower a-spitting, Queen Mary II iii 102 Division With earthquake and disruption—some d— Harold I ii 201 Divorce lie Of good Queen Catharine's d— Queen Mary III iv 232 when I forget Her foul d—my sainted mother—
No!— „ IV i 81
when the King's d was sued at Rome, „ IV iii 41
Divorced (adj.) Cast off, betray'd, defamed, d, forlorn! „ I v 26 Divorced (verb) I, that thro' the Pope d King Louis, Becket IV ii 417 you d Queen Catharine and her father; Queen Mary I ii 56
Dizzied See Brain-dizzied
Dizziness you were sick in Flanders, cousin. Pole.
A d. Queen Mary III ii 35
Dizzying I have a d headache. Let me rest. Becket V i 88
Doat Should we so d on courage, were it commoner? Queen Mary II ii 339 not old enough To d on one alone. The Cup I iii 70 Doated And how you d on him then! Becket III i 16
Dobbins (Edgar's mistake for Dobson) D, I think.
Dobson. D, you thinks; Prom. of May I 459 that D, is it, With whom I used to jar? „ II 612
May not this D, or some other, spy Edgar in Harold? „ II 673
D, I think. Dobson. I beänt D. „ II 699
My name is Harold. Good day, D! „ II 727
Nääy, but 'Good daäy, D.' „ II 732
'Good daäy, D.' Dang tha! „ II 742 Dobson (a farmer) (See also Dobbins) I'm coming down, Mr. D. „ I 46
In Cumberland, Mr. D. „ I 66
Getting better, Mr. D. „ I 69
The owd man be heighty to-daäy, beänt he? Dora.
Yes, Mr. D. „ I 78
Where do they blow, Mr. D? „ I 88
What, Mr. D? A butcher's frock? „ I 93
Perhaps, Master D. I can't tell, „ I 114
Master D, did you hear what I said? „ I 171
Very likely, Mr. D. She will break fence. „ I 193
Nor I either, Mr. D. „ I 237
But I have Mr. D. It's the old Scripture text, „ I 258
D. Edgar. Good day, then, D. „ I 298
'Good daäy then, D!' Civil-spoken i'deed! „ I 300
You never find one for me, Mr. D. „ I 306
Beänt there house-breäkers down in Littlechester. D— „ I 389
Yes, Mr. D, I've been attending on his deathbed „ II 3
Hesn't he left ye nowt? Dora. No, Mr. D. „ II 8
Cannot you understand plain words, Mr. D? „ II 113
That is enough, Farmer D. „ II 118
you would still have been Farmer D. „ II 122

Dobson (a farmer) (continued) 'Farmer D!' Well, I be Farmer D; but I thinks Farmer D's dog Prom. of May II 124 Farmer D! I be Farmer D, sewer anew; „ II 135 why then I beänt Farmer D, but summun else— „ II 139 an' owd D should be glad on it. „ II 146 fur owd D 'll gi'e us a bit o' supper. Sally. I weänt goä to owd D; „ II 216
Owd Steer gi'es nubbut cowd tea to 'is men, and owd
D gi'es beer. Sally. But I'd like owd Steer's cowd tea better nor D's beer. „ II 225 when owd D coom'd upo' us? „ II 232
Sally Allen, you worked for Mr. D, didn't you? „ III 102
Farmer D, were I to marry him, has promised „ III 168
Mr. D telled me to saäy he's browt some of Miss Eva's roses „ III 345
This D of your idyll? „ III 563
Doctor Or a high-dropsy, as the d's call it. Queen Mary III ii 225 the d's tell you, At three-score years; „ III iv 408
Ay, ay, but mighty d's doubted there. „ IV i 83
Tell them to fly for a d. Prom. of May III 712 Doctrine hatred of the d's Of those who rule, Queen Mary III iv 159 and retract That Eucharistic d in your book. „ IV ii 81
With all his devil's d's; „ IV iii 278
Dodge Thou knowest we had to d, or duck, or die; „ III iv 357
And see you, we shall have to d again, „ III iv 360
Doe I found this white d wandering thro' the wood, Foresters II i 95
Dofft For he, when having d the Chancellor's robe— Becket I iii 454 Dog (See also House-dog) as a mastiff d May love a puppy cur for no more reason Queen Mary I iv 194
And rolls himself in carrion like a d. „ I v 169 boil'd, buried alive, worried by d's; „ II i 211
'The Queen of England is delivered of a dead d!' „ III ii 220 sends His careful d to bring them to the fold. „ III iv 105
if a mad d bit your hand, my Lord, „ III iv 204
Like d's that set to watch their master's gate, „ III iv 309
The d that snapt the shadow, dropt the bone.— Harold I ii 188 play the note Whereat the d shall howl and run, „ I ii 192
d, with thy lying lights Thou hast betray'd us „ II i 21
—d's' food thrown upon thy head. „ II ii 431
Better to be a liar's d, and hold My master honest, „ III i 124
Old d, Thou art drunk, old d! „ IV iii 163
Good d's, my liege, well train'd, Becket, Pro. 119 a feeder Of d's and hawks, and apes, and lions, „ I i 80 may I come in with my poor friend, my d? „ I iv 94
The d followed his calling, my lord. „ I iv 97 Better thy d than thee. The King's courts would use thee worse than thy d— „ I iv 101
Who misuses a d would misuse a child— „ I iv 109
Away, d! Beggar. And I was bit by a mad d o'
Friday, an' I be half d „ I iv 216
Shame fall on those who gave it a d's name— „ II i 141
Let either cast him away like a dead d! „ II ii 257
The d I cramm'd with dainties worried me! „ V i 244 whole world Abhor you; ye will die the death of d's! „ V iii 184 two-legg'd d's Among us who can smell a true occasion, The Cup I ii 112 Adulterous d! Synorix. What! will you have it? „ I iii 108
'Adulterous d!' that red-faced rage at me! „ I iii 122 Farmer Dobson's d 'ud ha' knaw'd better nor to cast Prom. of May II 126 and we be d's that have only the bones, Foresters I i 25
Robin, like a deer from a d, „ II i 433
if we kill a stag, our d's have their paws cut off, „ IV 225
Dog-Dons These black d-D Garb themselves bravely. Queen Mary III i 189 Dogma Whose d's I have reach'd: „ IV ii 212 they swarm into the fire Like flies—for what? no d. „ V ii 112
Dogstar and all Your trouble to the d and the devil. „ I iv 292
Doin' it be the Lord's d, noän o' mine; Prom. of May III 49 Doing (part.) (See also A-doing) for d that His father whipt him into d— Queen Mary I v 62
O brother, What art thou d here? Harold IV ii 4
The Norman, What is he d? „ V i 218
What art thou d here among the dead? „ V ii 32 Doing (s) (See also Doin') Whose d's are a horror to the east, A hissing in the west!' Becket IV ii 244
Dolefully then what is it That makes you talk so d? Prom. of May III 572
Doll some waxen d Thy baby eyes have rested on, Queen Mary I v 8

Doll-face A d-f blanch'd and bloodless, Becket IV ii 175
Domed gulf and flatten in her closing chasm D cities, hear. The Cup II 301
Domine Illorum, D, Scutum scindatur! Harold V i 508
Illos trucida, D. „ V i 515
Dominion realm Of England, and d's of the same, Queen Mary III iii 117 all the realm And its d's from all heresy, „ III iii 216
To leave the Pope d in the West. Harold V i 23
Don Carlos See Carlos
Doom (s) some great d when God's just hour Peals— Queen Mary I iv 261
Into the deathless hell which is their d „ III ii 175
And by the churchman's pitiless d of fire, „ III iv 49
Reversed his d, and that you might not seem „ V ii 51
Hapless d of woman happy in betrothing! „ V ii 364 mean The d of England and the wrath of Heaven? Harold I i 46
War there, my son? is that the d of England? „ I i 125
Why not the d of all the world as well? „ I i 127
Crying 'the d of England,' and at once He stood „ III i 134 along the highest crying 'The d of England!'— „ III i 157 Blaze like a night of fatal stars on those Who read their d and die. „ IV i 252
And bide the d of God. „ V i 61
If I fall, I fall—The d of God! „ V i 136
And not on thee—nor England—fall God's d! „ V i 371
And front the d of God. „ V i 436 the man shall seal, Or I will seal his d. Becket I iii 331
Dark as my d— „ III i 282
To draw you and your husband to your d. The Cup I ii 223
My d and mine—Thou—coming my way too— „ II 490 Doom (verb) stroke that d's thee after death To wail Becket IV ii 270
Doomsday (adj.) Were the great trumpet blowing d dawn, Harold V i 227
Doomsday (s) Till d melt it. Queen Mary III v 51 Door (See also Hall-door, In-door, Within-door) The traitor husband dangled at the d, „ III i 10 hath the d Shut on him by the father whom he loved, „ V ii 121 tell the cooks to close The d's of all the offices below. „ V v 117 arm'd men Ever keep watch beside my chamber d, Harold II ii 245 clench'd their pirate hides To the bleak church d's, „ IV iii 37 move as true with me To the d of death. „ V ii 186
I saw that d Close even now upon the woman. Becket I i 202 when he hears a d open in the house and thinks 'the master.' „ III iii 98
Thro' all closed d's a dreadful whisper crept „ V ii 88
No, look! the d is open: let him be. „ V ii 315
Battering the d's, and breaking thro' the walls? „ V ii 626 Shut the d's! We will not have him slain „ V iii 53
Fly, fly, my lord, before they burst the d's! „ V iii 57
Undo the d's: the church is not a castle: „ V iii 62
Take thou this cup and leave it at her d's. The Cup I i 68
In the gray dawn before the Temple d's. „ I ii 295 this d Opens upon the forest! Out, begone! „ I ii 328
His own true people cast him from their d's „ I ii 352 close not yet the d upon a night That looks half day. „ I ii 387
Fling wide the d's and let the new-made children „ II 163
She—close the Temple d. Let her not fly. „ II 460 and dipt your sovereign head Thro' these low d's, The Falcon 868 Push'd from all d's as if we bore the plague, Prom. of May III 804
As Wealth walk'd in at the d. Foresters I i 151
Poverty crept thro' the d. „ I i 157
Not while the rivulet babbles by the d, „ I ii 322 open, or I will drive the d from the door-post. „ II i 220
Why did ye keep us at the d so long? „ II i 224
Door-post open, or I will drive the door from the d-p. „ II i 220
I will fasten thee to thine own d-p „ II i 403
Doorway when every d blush'd, Dash'd red Becket I iii 346
Dora (daughter of Farmer Steer) (See also Dora Steer) an' Miss D, an' Miss Eva, an' all! Prom. of May I 11
Miss D be coomed back, then? „ I 12
Blessings on your pretty voice, Miss D. „ I 64
Theer be redder blossoms nor them, Miss D. „ I 86
Under your eyes, Miss D. „ I 89
Noä, Miss D; as blue as— (repeat) „ I 95, 99
He'll be arter you now, Miss D. „ I 119
And I tells ye what, Miss D: he's no respect for the Queen, „ I 131
I thank you for that, Miss D, onyhow. „ I 158
Dora (daughter of Farmer Steer) (continued) They say your sister, D, has return'd, Prom. of May I 546
Oh, D, D, how long you have been away from home! „ I 767
So the owd uncle i' Coomberland be dead, Miss D, „ II 2
Not like me, Miss D; and I ha' browt these roses to ye— „ II 13 and now she be gone, will ye taäke 'em, Miss D? „ II 21 an' weänt ye taäke 'em now, Miss D, „ II 41
I feel sewer, Miss D, that I ha' been noän too sudden wi' you, „ II 60
'Dearest D,—I have lost myself, „ II 83
Are you—you are—that D, The sister. „ II 363
Miss D, Dan Smith's cart hes runned ower a laädy „ II 567
What feller wur it as 'a' been a-talkin' fur haäfe an hour wi' my D? „ II 576 a-plaäyin' the saäme gaäme wi' my D— „ II 591
—a daughter of the fields, This D! „ II 624
if ye be goin' to sarve our D as ye sarved our Eva— „ II 692
What hasta been saäyin' to my D? „ II 704 thou hesn't naw business 'ere with my D, as I knaws on, „ II 736
Miss D, meä and my maätes, us three, we wants to hev three words wi' ye. „ III 124
Has anyone found me out, D? „ III 225
See D; you yourself are shamed of me, „ III 268 and I love him so much— Eva. Poor D! „ III 286
O D, he signed himself 'Yours gratefully'—fancy, D, „ III 333
Hark! D, some one is coming. „ III 339
Oh, D, D! „ III 425
Miss D! Miss D! Dora. Quiet! quiet! „ III 475
You are pale, my D! but the ruddiest cheek „ III 486
D, If marriage ever brought a woman happiness „ III 638
O D, D! „ III 787
Dora Steer (See also Dora) doänt tha knaw he be sweet upo' D S, „ II 161 kill'd her oän sister, or she beänt D S. „ II 605
Dotage love her less For such a d upon such a man. Queen Mary V ii 421
Stigand, unriddle This vision, canst thou? Stigand. D! Harold III i 176
Dote Many so d upon this bubble world, Queen Mary IV iii 168
The old man d's. Foresters II ii 83
And loves and d's on every dingle of it. „ IV 390
Doted bad the king Who d on him, Harold IV i 103
Doter A d on white pheasant-flesh at feasts, Becket, Pro. 97
Double (adj.) this d thundercloud That lours on England— Harold III ii 159 Double (s) Fight thou with thine own d, not with me, „ IV iii 168 would dare the chance Of d, or losing all. The Cup I iii 148 Doubly I am d bound to thee . . . Harold II ii 557
Doubt (s) he brought his d's And fears to me. Queen Mary I ii 75
Which found me full of foolish d's, „ I v 530 but there are d's. „ II ii 307
all my d's I fling from me like dust, Becket I i 148 Doubt (verb) I d it not, Madam, most loyal. Queen Mary I iv 248
D not they will be speedily overthrown. „ II ii 200
I not d that God will give me strength, „ IV ii 234 lest anyone among you d The man's conversion „ IV iii 107
I cannot d but that he comes again; „ V v 26
Thanks, truthful Earl; I did not d thy word, Harold II ii 724 what is it you d? Behold your peace at hand. Becket II ii 199
Wherefore should you d it? The Cup I ii 340
I d not they are yours. The Falcon 721
I d not, I d not, and though I be down in the mouth, Foresters I ii 43
Doubted ay, but mighty doctors d there. Queen Mary IV i 84
Dough household d was kneaded up with blood; Becket I iii 351
Dove (See also Stock-dove) d, who flutters Between thee and the porch, Harold IV i 230
But since the fondest pair of d's will jar, Becket IV ii 40
Dovecote Our d flown! I cannot tell why monks „ V ii 580
Dover Your Majesty shall go to D with me, Queen Mary III vi 218
To D? no, I am too feeble. „ III vi 220
On all the road from D, day and night; „ V ii 577
We could not move from D to the Humber Harold II ii 536
They stood on D beach to murder me, Becket V ii 436 Down (adj.) (See also Deep-down) and bursten at the toes, and d at heels. Queen Mary I i 53 ha! he is d! Edith. He d. Who d? Stigand. The Norman Count is d. Harold V i 551 Down (bed) like a careless sleeper in the d; Foresters I i 207
And make D for their heads to heaven! Queen Mary V iv 8
Down (hill) Breathe the frec wind from off our Saxon d's, Harold II ii 187

Downfall The d of so many simple souls, Queen Mary I ii 54
Downfallen d and debased From councillor to caitiff— „ IV iii 74
Down-silvering The rosy face, and long d-s beard, Harold III i 46
The rosy face, and long d-s beard— „ IV i 261
Down-sweeping d-s to the chain, Wherewith they bound Queen Mary IV iii 594 Downward One d plunge of his paw would rend away Becket IV ii 283 Doze He d's. I have left her watching him. Foresters II ii 80
Dozed I d upon the bridge, and the black river Prom. of May II 649 Dozen (See also Half-dozen) And drunken of my cup for a d years. Becket I iv 30 a-peacocking and a-spreading to catch her eye for a d year, The Falcon 101 Drag To d us with them. Fishermen? devils! Harold II i 28 would d The cleric before the civil judgment-seat, Becket I iii 83 Nay, d me not. We must not seem to fly. „ V ii 636
I will not only touch, but d thee hence. „ V iii 152
The women of the Temple d her in. The Cup I iii 118
I'd like to d 'im thruff the herse-pond, and she to be a-lookin' at it. Prom. of May II 593
They d the river for her! no, not they! „ III 694
if you care to d your brains for such a minnow. Foresters II i 323 Dragg'd Who d the scatter'd limbs into their den. Queen Mary I v 401 and we d The Littlechester river all in vain: Prom. of May II 413 Dragon Our Wessex d flies beyond the Humber, Harold IV i 3 Set forth our golden D, „ IV i 245 by the d of St. George, we shall Do some injustice, Foresters IV 939
Drain And d's the heart and marrow from a man. „ II i 672
Drain'd thou hast d them shallow by thy tolls, Harold I i 319
I have almost d the cup—A few drops left. The Cup II 385 Draught (See also Sleeping-draught) Brain-dizzied with a d of morning ale. Queen Mary II i 71 they de-miracled the miraculous d, Becket III iii 124
No not a d of milk, no not an egg, The Falcon 871 drink Her health along with us in this rich d, Foresters III 352
Drave (See also Drove) d and crack'd His boat on Ponthieu beach; Harold II ii 34
Draw d back your heads and your horns before I break them, Queen Mary I i 4 D with your sails from our poor land, „ III vi 226 where Edward d's A faint foot hither, Harold I i 143
To d him nearer with a charm Like thine to thine. „ I ii 7
D nearer,—I was in the corridor, „ II ii 345
D thou to London, there make strength „ V i 126 but this D's thro' the chart to her. Becket, Pro. 173 Did not your barons d their swords against me? „ I iii 501 we pray you, d yourself from under The wings of France. „ II ii 247 lest ye should d together like two ships in a calm. „ III iii 297
To d you and your husband to your doom. The Cup I ii 222 d's From you, and from my constancy to you. The Falcon 811
If thou d one inch nearer, Foresters I i 145
I will not harm thee. D! „ II i 556
'tis but to see if thou canst fence. D! „ II i 573
Drawbridge I'll have the d hewn into the Thames, Queen Mary II ii 376
They had hewn the d down into the river. „ II iii 18
I would hoist the d, like thy master. Foresters I i 319
Drawing-room shamed of his poor farmer's daughter among the ladies in his d-r? Prom. of May III 295
Shamed of me in a d-r! (repeat) „ III 296, 307
Drawl'd fat fool! He d and prated so, Harold IV ii 41 Drawn Will he be d to her? Queen Mary I v 73 fain have some fresh treaty d between you. „ I v 261
I say they have d the fire On their own heads: „ IV iii 379
In some dark closet, some long gallery, d, „ V ii 218
With both her knees d upward to her chin. „ V ii 391 hath mainly d itself From lack of Tostig— Harold III i 167 fill'd the quiver, and Death has d the bow— „ III i 401 Hast not thou d the short straw? Becket I iv 3 not life shot up in blood, But death d in;— „ IV ii 382
We are almost at the bottom of the well; little more to be d from it— Prom. of May III 162
Dread (adj.) And hurl the d ban of the Church on those Becket III iii 210
Dread (s) not for d Of these alone, but from the fear of Him Queen Mary IV iii 178
Dread (verb) lied like a lad That d's the pendent scourge, Harold II ii 658
Dread (verb) (continued) They fear you slain: they d they know not what. Becket V ii 600
Dreadful And d shadows strove upon the hill, Harold III i 377
O God! some d truth is breaking on me—Some d thing is coming on me. Becket III i 265
Thro' all closed doors a d whisper crept „ V ii 88
Left but one d line to say, that we Should find her in the river; Prom. of May II 411 that d night! that lonely walk to Littlechester, „ III 366
Dreading But d God's revenge upon this realm Harold I i 172 Dream (s) (See also Day-dream, Love-dream) men-at-arms Guard my poor d's for England. Queen Mary I v 154
It was a d; I must not dream, not wink, „ III v 153
they come back upon my d's. „ V ii 189
Wide of the mark ev'n for a madman's d. „ V iii 82
Nor let Priests' talk, or d of worlds to be, „ V v 217 if yon weird sign Not blast us in our d's.— Harold I i 122
An evil d that ever came and went— „ I ii 70 what a d! Harold. Well, well,—a d—no more! „ I ii 91
Did not Heaven speak to men in d's of old? „ I ii 95
Thou hast misread this merry d of thine, „ I ii 98
Come, thou shalt dream no more such d's; „ I ii 108 upon thine eyelids, to shut in A happier d. „ I ii 127
Our living passion for a dead man's d; „ III ii 60
Last night King Edward came to me in d's—(repeat) Harold IV i 259, 266
I am no woman to put faith in d's. „ IV i 264 by dead Norway without d or dawn! „ IV iii 122 only d's—where mine own self Takes part „ V i 298
My fatal oath—the dead Saints—the dark d's— „ V i 381
D, Or prophecy, that? Becket I i 55
Well, d and prophecy both. „ I i 57 thou my golden d of Love's own bower, „ II i 34
Bright as my d, „ III i 278
my d foretold my martyrdom In mine own church. „ V ii 632 the black river Flow'd thro' my d's—if d's they were. Prom. of May II 651 which is my d of a true marriage. „ III 179
I have freed myself From all such d's „ III 595
Dream (verb) It was a dream; I must not d, not wink, Queen Mary III v 154
He cannot d that I advised the war; „ V ii 57
Come, thou shalt d no more such dreams; Harold I ii 108
Good-night, and d thyself Their chosen Earl. „ I ii 248
Who knows I may not d myself their king! „ I ii 251
He sees me not—and yet he d's of me, „ II ii 144
I did not d then I should be king.— „ III i 270 king can scarcely d that we, who know „ IV i 163 Tell him the Saints are nobler than he d's, „ V i 56 that none may d I go against God's honour— Becket II ii 167
D of it, then, all the way back, Foresters I i 140 to d that he My brother, my dear Walter— „ II i 651
You dared to d That our great Earl, „ II i 685
I fear I d. „ IV 1010
Dream'd who d us blanketed In ever-closing fog, Queen Mary III ii 19
Not d of by the rabidest gospeller. „ III vi 138
Last night, I d the faggots were alight, „ IV ii 1 and I d that I loved Louis of France: and I loved Henry of England, and Henry of England d that he loved me; Becket, Pro. 356
D that twelve stars fell glittering out of heaven, „ I i 46 who never saw nor d of such a banquet. „ I iv 84
I had d I was the bride of England, and a queen. „ V i 102 while you d you were the bride of England,— „ V i 104
I d I was the consort of a king, „ V i 144
This mountain shepherd never d of Rome. The Cup I ii 17 tear it all to pieces, never d Of acting on it. „ I ii 247
Who knows that he had ever d of flying? Prom. of May I 654 cuirass in this forest where I d That all was peace— Foresters IV 130
Dreaming old enough To scare me into d, Queen Mary IV ii 103
I am d; for the past Look'd thro' the present, Prom. of May II 639
I was d of it all the way hither. Foresters I i 139
Dree (three) and awaay betimes wi' d hard eggs for a good pleace at the burnin'; Queen Mary IV iii 489
Drench'd then he dash'd and d, He dyed, Harold III i 141

Drench'd (continued) Found him dead and d in dew, Foresters II ii 147 Dress This d was made me as the Earl of Devon Queen Mary I iv 72
I wear beneath my d A shirt of mail: „ I v 145
And what was Mary's d? „ III i 56
I was too sorry for the woman To mark the d. „ III i 59
Arrange my d—the gorgeous Indian shawl „ V ii 538 if I hadn't a sprig o' wickentree sewn into my d, Foresters II i 250 Drest —d like a gentleman, too. Damn all gentlemen, says I! Prom. of May II 578
O graves in daisies d, „ III 204
Drew He d this shaft against me to the head, Queen Mary V ii 80
Earl, the first Christian Cæsar d to the East Harold V i 22 thereupon, methought, He d toward me, Becket I i 102 loveliest life that ever d the light From heaven The Cup I iii 56
D here the richest lot from Fate, „ II 442 would not crush The fly that d her blood; Prom. of May II 494
Robin fancied me a man, And d his sword upon me, Foresters III 21
Drewest And never d sword to help the old man „ II i 541
Drift That is your d. Queen Mary I v 305
And queens also! What is your d? Becket. My d is to the Castle, Becket I ii 82
I see your d . . . it may be so . . . „ V i 82
Drill how should thy one tooth d thro' this? Foresters II i 276
Drill-sergeant yet are we now d-s to his lordship's lettuces, The Falcon 550 Drink thou could'st d in Spain if I remember. Queen Mary II i 38 eat dead men's flesh, and d their blood. Harold II ii 808
D to the dead who died for us, „ IV iii 69 tho' I can d wine I cannot bide water, Becket I iv 220 which the more you d, The more you thirst—yea—d too much, The Cup I iii 139
That Synorix should d from his own cup. „ II 353
They two should d together from one cup, „ II 361
See here, I fill it. Will you d, my lord? „ II 367 make libation to the Goddess, And now I d. „ II 378
D and d deep—our marriage will be fruitful. D and d deep, and thou wilt make me happy. „ II 380
'Let us eat and d, for to-morrow we die.' Prom. of May I 259
D to the Lion-heart Every one! Foresters I ii 5
Here, here—a cup of wine—d and begone! „ I iii 89 Shall d the health of our new woodland Queen. „ III 314 till the green earth d Her health along with us „ III 350
D to the health of our new Queen o' the woods, „ III 368
We d the health of thy new Queen o' the woods. „ III 372
D to the Queen o' the woods, „ III 388
And lie with us among the flowers, and d— „ IV 966 Drinker A d of black, strong, volcanic wines, Queen Mary V ii 93 Drive Do you mean to d me mad? „ V ii 200 applaud that Norman who should d The stranger Harold II ii 540 and yet I saw thee d him up his hills— „ IV i 211
he join'd with thee To d me outlaw'd. „ IV ii 14
Follow them, follow them, d them to the sea! „ V i 602
Louis Returning, ah! to d thee from his realm. Becket II ii 418 as men Have done on rafts of wreck—it d's you mad. The Cup I iii 142 and I'd d the plow straäit as a line Prom. of May I 369 open, or I will d the door from the door-post. Foresters II i 220 Driven The guards are all d in, Queen Mary II iv 54 and d back The Frenchmen from their trenches? „ V ii 256 eat it like the serpent, and be d out of her paradise. Becket, Pro. 533 Lifted our produce, d our clerics out— „ V ii 432 mine own dagger d by Synorix found The Cup II 86
Have our loud pastimes d them all away? Foresters II ii 105
Driving it was you that were d the cart— Prom. of May III 87
Droop faith that seem'd to d will feel your light, Queen Mary III iv 22
You d in your dim London. „ V ii 609
Drooping and maiden moon Our d Queen should know! „ V ii 457 Drop (s) And putrid water, every d a worm, „ IV iii 444 tho' the d may hollow out the dead stone, Becket III iii 314
I have almost drain'd the cup—A few d's left. The Cup II 386 niver touched a d of owt till my oän wedding-daäy, Prom. of May I 362 p'raps ye hears 'at I soomtimes taäkes a d too much; „ II 108 voice a-shaäkin', and the d in 'er eye. „ II 130 Drop (verb) His in whose hand she d's; Queen Mary III i 112 not d the mask before The masquerade is over— „ III vi 109
d The mud I carried, like yon brook, Becket II i 158
Drop (verb) (continued) may d off any day, any hour. You must see him at once. Prom. of May III 407
Then I would d from the casement, like a spider. Foresters I i 316
Dropsy (See also High-dropsy) but I hear she hath a d, lad, Queen Mary III ii 224
Fie on her d, so she have a d! „ III ii 226 Dropt Have I d it? I have but shown a loathing face „ III vi 112 dog that snapt the shadow, d the bone.— Harold I ii 188 boughs across the deep That d themselves, „ III i 152
He sat down there And d it in his hands, Becket I iii 324 royal promise might have d into thy mouth „ III iii 276 and d Their streamers earthward, The Cup I ii 404
And the stock-dove coo'd, till a kite d down, Prom. of May I 55 dosta knaw this paäper? Ye d it upo' the road. „ II 687 Wealth d out of the window, Foresters I i 156
Dross As gold Outvalues d, light darkness, Becket I iii 715 Drove (See also Drave) When he we speak of d the window back, Queen Mary V ii 464 my father d the Normans out Of England?— Harold I i 251 thou and he d our good Normans out From England, „ II ii 524 Athelstan the Great Who d you Danes; „ IV i 75 my father d him and his friends, De Tracy Becket I i 276
d me From out her memory. Prom. of May II 404
My lord John, In wrath because you d him from the forest, Foresters III 450
He d his knife into the heart of the deer, „ IV 541 Drown Why, the child will d himself. Becket II i 322 but these arm'd men—will you d yourself? „ V ii 276
even d you In the good regard of Rome. The Cup I i 150
Were there no boughs to hang on, Rivers to d in? „ I ii 79 Must all Galatia hang or d herself? „ I ii 87
d all poor self-passion in the sense Of public good? „ II 101 how often justice d's Between the law and the letter of the law! Foresters IV 512
Drown'd (See also Half-drown'd) A sea of blood—we are d in blood— Harold III i 398
The curse of England! these are d in wassail, „ IV iii 223
—thou art d in debt— Becket, Pro. 491
all d in love And glittering at full tide— The Cup II 233
Drowning The d man, they say, remembers all The chances of his life, Becket V ii 272
Drudge went into service—the d of a lodging-house— Prom. of May III 392
Drug (s) D's—but he knows they cannot help me— Queen Mary V v 60
Drug (verb) and science now could d and balm us Prom. of May II 339
Drunk has d and gambled out All that he had, Queen Mary II iii 87
Make themselves d and mad, „ III i 282 and our marriage and thy glory Been d together! Harold IV iii 9 Old dog, Thou art d, old dog! „ IV iii 164
Too d to fight with thee! „ IV iii 165
Thou hast d deep enough to make me happy. The Cup II 424
Have I not d of the same cup with thee? „ II 463 you were stupid d all Sunday, and so ill in consequence all Monday, Prom. of May III 80
Is he deaf, or dumb, or daft, or d belike? Foresters I ii 208
Drunken My Lord, the world is like a d man, Queen Mary IV iii 393
O d ribaldry! Out, beast! out, bear! Becket I i 230
Ye have eaten of my dish and d of my cup for a dozen years. „ I iv 30
Drunkenness to snore away his d Into the sober headache,— „ I i 371 Dry D as an old wood-fungus on a dead tree, Harold III i 8
if you follow Not the d light of Rome's straight-going policy, The Cup I i 145
Duchy You have her D, The point you aim'd at, Becket II ii 76
You did your best or worst to keep her D. „ II ii 84
Duck Thou knowest we had to dodge, or d, or die; Queen Mary III iv 357
Duck'd Or I will have you d! „ IV iii 540
Dudley (Guildford) See Guildford Dudley
Due (adj.) D from his castles of Berkhamstead and Eye Becket I iii 628 thanks of Holy Church are d to those That went „ II ii 190
According to the canon's pardon d To him that so repents, Queen Mary IV iii 33
No, not an hour: the debt is d to-day. Foresters IV 448
Due (s) command That kiss my d when subject, Harold III ii 42
Dug D from the grave that yawns for us beyond; Queen Mary V ii 163
I d mine into My old fast friend the shore, Harold II i 6
The trenches d, the palisades uprear'd „ V i 189

Duke The D hath gone to Leicester; Queen Mary II i 4
Until I hear from Carew and the D. „ II i 122
it is thought the D will be taken. „ II i 136
Is Peter Carew fled? Is the D taken? „ II i 142
Ay, if D's, and Earls, And Counts, „ III i 50
Our D is all between thee and the sea, Our D is all about thee like a God; Harold II ii 314 yield this iron-mooded D To let me go. „ II ii 340
My lord! the D awaits thee at the banquet. „ II ii 805 Thy D will seem the darker. Hence, I follow. „ II ii 817 a hundred Gold pieces once were offer'd by the D. The Falcon 325
Dulcimer Organ and pipe, and d, chants and hymns Becket V ii 365
Dull You've but a d life in this maiden court, Queen Mary I iii 113
Sin is too d to see beyond himself. „ V ii 441
Magdalen, sin is bold as well as d. „ V ii 443
we were d enough at first, but in the end we flourished out Becket III iii 136
Dulness part real, part childlike, to be freed from the d— „ III iii 156 Dumb (adj.) and he pray'd them d, and thus I dumb thee too, Harold I ii 22 be not wroth at the d parchment. Foresters I i 342
Is he deaf, or d, or daft, or drunk belike? „ I ii 208
D children of my father, that will speak Queen Mary II i 77
Die like the torn fox d, „ II ii 331
Dumb (verb) and he pray'd them dumb, and thus I d thee too, Harold I ii 24
Dumb'd d his carrion croak From the gray sea for ever. „ IV iii 65
Dumbfounded and your heresy D half of us. Queen Mary IV ii 127
Dumble (name of a cow) but D wur blow'd wi' the wind, and D's „ IV iii 476 barrin' the wind, D wur blow'd wi' the wind, „ IV iii 493
D's the best milcher in Islip. „ IV iii 496
Dungeon In breathless d's over steaming sewers, „ IV iii 440 blackness of my d loom Across their lamps of revel, Harold II ii 406
Dungeon'd d the other half In Pevensey Castle— Becket V ii 444 Dunghill But on the heretic d only weeds. Howard.
Such weeds make d's gracious. Queen Mary IV i 180 and then Cast on the d naked, „ IV iii 446
Dunstan (Archbishop of Canterbury) by St. D, old St. Thor—By God, we thought him dead— Harold IV iii 146
Durham Deans Of Christchurch, D, Exeter, and Wells— Queen Mary I ii 9 Dust (s) (See also Gold-dust) Will front their cry and shatter them into d. „ II iv 6
Who rub their fawning noses in the d, „ III iii 242 char us back again into the d We spring from. „ III v 55
A low voice from the d and from the grave „ V ii 385 bring her to the level of the d, so that the King— Becket, Pro. 531 all my doubts I fling from me like d, „ I i 149 till the weight of Germany or the gold of England brings one of them down to the d— „ II ii 365 leave Lateran and Vatican in one d of gold— „ II ii 475
To bring her to the d . . . „ IV ii 154
Bow'd to the d beneath the burthen of sin. Prom. of May III 521 Dust (verb) We'll d him from a bag of Spanish gold. Queen Mary I v 421
Dust-cloth slut whose fairest linen seems Foul as her d-c, Becket V ii 203 Dusted I do believe, I have d some already, Queen Mary I v 423 so d his back with the meal in his sack, Becket I iv 174
Dutchman And the D, Now laughing at some jest? Queen Mary III i 195
Duteous being ever d to the King, Becket II ii 464
Dutiful Commands you to be d and leal To your young King „ V ii 325
Duty the d which as Legate He owes himself, Queen Mary III iv 401
I feel it but a d—you will find in it Pleasure as well as d, „ III iv 429
Morcar, it is all but d in her To hate me; Harold IV i 153
I have overshot My duties to our Holy Mother Church, Becket V i 38
„ I iii 356
Dwarft Till famine d the race—
Dwell in Normanland God speaks thro' abler voices, as He d's In statelier shrines. Harold I i 167
Join hands, let brethren d in unity; „ I i 397 Care d with me for ever, Becket II i 120 myrtle, bowering-in The city where she d's. The Cup I i 4 never I trust to roam So far again, but d among his own. Foresters IV 1100 Dwelt the Lord hath d In darkness. Harold III i 179
Nor d alone, like a soft lord of the East, Becket I iii 358

Dwelt (continued) So d on that they rose and darken'd Heaven. Becket II ii 205
If Synorix, who has d three years in Rome The Cup I ii 175
Dyed He d, he soak'd the trunk with human blood, Harold III i 142 Dying (adj. and part.) (See also A-dying) A passing bell toll'd in a d ear— Queen Mary V ii 41
Tell her to come and close my d eyes, „ V ii 600
They say she's d. First. So is Cardinal Pole. „ V iv 4
'I am d, Philip; come to me.' „ V v 3
The Queen is d, or you dare not say it. „ V v 250
That never English monarch d left England so little. „ V v 277 Sleeping or d there? If this be death, Harold III i 1 when thro' his d sense Shrills 'lost thro' thee.' „ III i 33
No, but to please our d king, „ III i 328
Your second-sighted man That scared the d conscience of the king, „ V i 211
And fighting for And d for the people— „ V i 389
So then our good Archbishop Theobald Lies d. Becket, Pro. 3
Who shall crown him? Canterbury is d. „ Pro. 240
A dead man's d wish should be of weight. „ Pro. 422
You will do much To rake out all old d beats, „ II ii 114
To warm the cold bounds of our d life The Cup I iii 128
Love? it is love, love for my d boy, The Falcon 787
I reverence all women, bad me, d, Foresters II i 40
Speak not. I wait upon a d father. „ IV 611
Dying (s) the d of my noble bird Hath served me better than her living— The Falcon 900
Dyke the d's and brooks Were bridged and damn'd with dead, Harold III ii 128

E

E See here—an interwoven H and E! Harold I ii 57
Each an amphisbæna, E end a sting: Queen Mary III iv 40 we two Might make one flesh, and cleave unto e other „ V ii 138 but they bribe E other, and so often, Harold I i 347
We never kept a secret from e other; Prom. of May I 552 and prattled to e other that we would marry fine gentlemen, „ III 276
E man for his own. Foresters I iii 105
But shout and echo play'd into e other „ II i 258
Nor care to leap into e other's arms. „ III 7 where twelve Can stand upright, nor touch e other. „ III 310 then e man That owns a wife or daughter, „ III 458
'Eäd (head) it be i' my natur to knock 'im o' the 'e now; Prom. of May I 288
The beer's gotten oop into my 'e. „ II 320 says the master goäs cleän off his 'e when he 'eärs the naäme on 'im; „ III 132
Eagle My sight is e, but the strife so thick— Harold V i 627
Eagle-height At such an e-h I stand and see Becket I i 139
Eagle-like swoop down upon him E-l, lightning-like— The Falcon 14
Ear Your e; You shall be Queen. Queen Mary I iv 121
what, have you eyes, e's, brains? „ II i 97
I have e's to hear. Gardiner. Ay, rascal, if I leave thee e's to hear. „ III i 250 thou shalt lose thine e's and find thy tongue, „ III i 256
Repeat your recantation in the e's Of all men, „ IV ii 193
Hast thou not mark'd—come closer to mine e— „ V i 226
A passing bell toll'd in a dying e— „ V ii 41 but those heavenly e's have heard, Harold III i 258 would deign to lend an e Not overscornful, „ IV i 136
Thou didst possess thyself of Edward's e „ V i 345
And where, my liege? Henry. Thine e. Becket, Pro. 157
Good e's too! „ I ii 44
My lord, thine e! I have the e of the Pope. „ I iii 199 sucking thro' fools' e's The flatteries of corruption— „ I iii 361
if you boxed the Pope's e's with a purse, you might stagger him, „ II ii 370
They say that walls have e's; „ IV ii 80
You have lost The e of the King. „ IV ii 355 monarch mane Bristled about his quick e's— The Cup I ii 121

Ear (continued) For your e only—I love you— The Cup I ii 217
'Ear (hear) says the master goäs cleän off his 'eäd when he 'e's the naäme on 'im; Prom. of May III 132
'Eärd (heard) Well, I never 'e the likes o' that afoor. " I 255
Why, Wilson, tha 'e 'im thysen— " I 302
Earl Ay, if Dukes, and E's, And Counts, Queen Mary III i 50 this young E was sent on foreign travel, " V ii 489
Ask our broad E. Harold I i 90
Art thou sick, good E? " I i 100
When camest thou hither? Gamel. To-day, good E. " I i 106
The King hath made me E; make me not fool! Nor make the King a fool, who made me E! " I i 288
Who made the King who made thee, make thee E. " I i 295
Tostig, Edward hath made him E: " I ii 186
Follow my lead, and I will make thee e. " I ii 217
Good-night, and dream thyself Their chosen E. " I ii 249
E first, and after that Who knows I may not dream myself their king! " I ii 250
E, wilt thou fly my falcons this fair day? " II ii 146
Thy valour and thy value, noble e. " II ii 202
Look not amazed, fair e! " II ii 494
And I will make thee my great E of E's, " II ii 629
Thou must swear absolutely, noble E. " II ii 716
Thanks, truthful E; I did not doubt thy word, " II ii 723
Who make thy good their own—all England, E. " III i 331 E's and Thanes! Full thanks for your fair greeting of my bride! E's, Thanes, and all our countrymen! " IV iii 45
E, the first Christian Cæsar drew to the East " V i 21
So!—did he?—E—I have a mind to play The William " V i 25
E—ay—thou art but a messenger of William. " V i 29
Ay, my lord, and divers other e's and barons. Becket I iv 59 golden leaves, these e's and barons, that clung to me, " I iv 66
They shall henceforward be my e's and barons— " I iv 86
Knights, bishops, e's, this London spawn— " II ii 143
The lady gave a rose to the E, (repeat) Foresters I i 12, 105
The lady gave her hand to the E, (repeat) " I i 16, 92
'Farewell, farewell, my warrior E!' " I i 18
She gave a weeping kiss to the E, (repeat) " I i 20, 119 never was an E so true a friend of the people " I i 188
A gallant E. I love him as I hate John. " I i 190 shoot almost as closely with the bow as the great E himself. " I i 217 so flustered me that I forgot my message from the E. " I i 297
I am a silent man myself, and all the more wonder at our E. " I ii 36 not so much for the cause as for the E. O Lord, I am easily led by words, but I think the E hath right. Scarlet, hath not the E right? " I ii 39
I will swear by the head of the E. " I ii 45 Thou Much, miller's son, hath not the E right? " I ii 47 but for all that I will swear the E hath right. " I ii 51 Thou art the E's confessor and shouldst know. " I ii 55
the E and Sir Richard come this way. " I ii 147
And learn from her if she do love this E. " I ii 188
Ay, noble E, and never part with it. " I ii 303
Robin, E— Robin. Let be the E. " I iii 93
You dared to dream That our great E, " II i 686
E—— Robin. Nay, no E am I. I am English yeoman. " III 129
But, E, if thou be he—— Friar Tuck. Fine him! fine him! he hath called plain Robin an e. " IV 148
Robin, Earl of Huntingdon, For E thou art again, " IV 830
Earldom yet hear! thine e, Tostig, Harold I i 303
I would it went as well as with mine e, " I i 337
I have to make report of my good e To the good king " I i 406
It means the fall of Tostig from his e. " I i 469
In mine e A man may hang gold bracelets " II i 86
Thou art a mighty man In thine own e! " II i 93
We have few prisoners in mine e there, " II ii 687 ever-jarring E's move To music and in order— " II ii 760
he flamed When Tostig's anger'd e flung him, " III i 54
I come for mine own E, my Northumbria; " IV ii 29 be chasten'd by thy banishment, Some easier e. " IV ii 51 Fain had I kept thine e in thy hands " V i 275
Earlier O higher, holier, e, purer church, Queen Mary IV ii 108 Early Not here as yet. You are too e for him. The Cup I iii 50
Early (continued) As I said before, you are still too e. Camma. Too e to be here alone with thee; The Cup I iii 81
His e follies cast into his teeth, Queen Mary V ii 124
Earn'd Hast thou not fought for it, and e it? Foresters IV 345
Earshot Stand out of e then, Harold II ii 240
'Eart (heart) I doänt believe he's iver a 'e under his waistcoat. Prom. of May I 130 Earth To him within there who made Heaven and E? Queen Mary I v 48 in his scared prayers Heaven and e's Maries; " II ii 88 Between the two most high-set thrones on e, " III ii 107
Amplier than any field on our poor e " III iii 197
With heaven for e. " III iii 201
Julius, God's Vicar and Viceregent upon e, " III iii 213
That heaven wept and e blush'd. " III iv 193
God upon e? what more? " III iv 383
As Cranmer hath, came to the fire on e. " IV i 61
On e; but saved in heaven By your recanting. " IV ii 178
I have offended against heaven and e " IV iii 124
And I can find no refuge upon e. " IV iii 128
You are the mightiest monarch upon e, " V i 52 Bride of the mightiest sovereign upon e? " V ii 545 Should make the mightiest empire e has known. " V iii 70 for heaven's credit Makes it on e: Harold I i 142
In heaven signs! Signs upon e! " I i 160
Not stagger'd by this ominous e and heaven: But heaven and e are threads " I i 207
And other bells on e, which yet are heavens; " I ii 133 would make the hard e rive To the very Devil's horns, " II ii 740 let e rive, gulf in These cursed Normans— " II ii 781 And signs on e! Knowest thou Senlac hill? " III i 360
'Seven feet of English e, or something more, " IV iii 112 corpse thou whelmest with thine e is cursed, " V i 68 dead as Death this day to ought of e's " V i 426
Is not the Church the visible Lord on e? Becket I iii 93
Lest there be battle between Heaven and E, And E should get the better— " I iii 227 and when ye shall hear it is poured out upon e, " I iv 37 did not wholly clear The deadly growths of e, " II ii 203 like Mahound's coffin hung between heaven and e— " II ii 362 E's falses are heaven's truths. " III iii 348 cry out for thee Who art too pure for e. " IV ii 134
And break the soul from e. " V i 44
She sends it back, as being dead to e, " V i 171 Flash sometimes out of e against the heavens. " V ii 37
Tho' all the loud-lung'd trumpets upon e " V ii 488 Too late on e may be too soon in hell. " V ii 528
Tho' e's last earthquake clash'd the minster-bells, " V iii 41 Seen by the Church in Heaven, the Church on e— " V iii 99
Will the e gape and swallow us? " V iii 205 and enrich E with her shadow! The Cup I iii 60
Who causest the safe e to shudder and gape, " II 298
They will break in the e—I am sinking— " II 477
Thou art the last friend left me upon e— The Falcon 32
Outvalues all the jewels upon e. " 779 comes To rob you of your one delight on e. " 828
For all the souls on e that live To be forgiven Prom. of May III 7 bow'd To the e he came from, " III 515 fiercest storm That ever made e tremble— " III 798 for the love of his own little mother on e, Foresters I i 98 it answers, I am thine to the very heart of the e— " I i 337 till the green e drink Her health along with us " III 350 bury her Even in the bowels of the e " III 462 Earthly Is it possible That mortal men should bear their e heats Harold V i 283 unsubject to Our e sceptre. Becket I iii 681 Earthquake and underfoot An e; Queen Mary IV iii 399 shake the North With e and disruption— Harold I ii 200 midriff-shaken even to tears, as springs gush out after e's— Becket III iii 163
Tho' earth's last e clash'd the minster-bells, " V iii 41
Earthware one piece of e to serve the salad in to my lady, The Falcon 481
Earthworm What poor e's are all and each of us, Prom. of May III 635
Ease Tho' scarce at e; for, save our meshes break, Harold II ii 140
Eased Then after we have e them of their coins Foresters III 172

Easier Thy life at home Is e than mine here. Harold I i 97
So thou be chasten'd by thy banishment, Some e earldom. „ IV ii 51 which we Inheriting reap an e harvest. Becket II ii 194
It might be e then for you to make Allowance for a mother— The Falcon 825
East (adj.) but the wind e like an enemy. Prom. of May I 80
East (s) (See also North-east) And all the fair spice-islands of the E. Queen Mary V i 50 the first Christian Cæsar drew to the E Harold V i 22 dwelt alone, like a soft lord of the E, Becket I iii 359
We fought in the E, And felt the sun of Antioch „ II ii 92 Whose doings are a horror to the e, A hissing in the west!' „ IV ii 244 bowl my ancestor Fetch'd from the farthest e— The Falcon 485 twilight of the coming day already glimmers in the e. Foresters I ii 248 new term Brought from the sacred E, his harem? „ IV 705
Easter Till the sun dance, as upon E Day. Queen Mary III ii 238
Eastern We have had our leagues of old with E kings. The Cup I ii 102 men will call him An E tyrant, not an English king. Foresters IV 904 Easy (See also Easy) Breathing an e gladness . . . not like Aldwyth . . . Harold I ii 174
Nay—but there be conditions, e ones, „ II ii 206
'e'—that were e—nay—No money-lover he! „ II ii 214 for I should find An e father confessor in thee. Becket, Pro. 88 Rest you e, For I am e to keep. I shall not fly. „ V ii 512
Is it not e to disarm a woman? The Cup I iii 106 then you would know it is not So e to forgive— Prom. of May II 486 Easy Maäke thysen e. I'll hev the winder naäiled up, „ I 419
I could put all that o' one side e anew. „ II 111
Eat I couldn't e in Spain, I couldn't sleep in Spain. Queen Mary II i 36
Come locusting upon us, e us up, „ II i 101
Your apple e's the better. Let them go. „ II ii 7 Dare-devils, that would e fire and spit it out „ III i 156 while famish'd rats E them alive. „ V ii 198
Where they e dead men's flesh, Harold II ii 807
Sit down, sit down, and e, „ IV iii 207
Let her e it like the serpent, Becket, Pro. 532
We scarcely dare to bless the food we e „ V i 71 slave that e my bread has kick'd his King! „ V i 242
I could not e, sleep, pray: „ V ii 92
Sit and e, And take a hunter's vengeance The Cup I ii 42
Will you not e a little? „ I ii 425
Will you not e with me, my lord? The Falcon 570
I can e no more! „ 670
you ask'd to e with me. „ 868
'Let us e and drink, for to-morrow we die.' Prom. of May I 259 sits and e's his heart for want of money to pay the Abbot. Foresters I i 4
I came To e him up and make an end of him. „ II i 125
Well, set them forth. I could e anything. „ II i 274 before you can e it you must hack it with a hatchet, „ III 284 Something to e. Robin. And thou shalt have it, man. „ IV 187 in the sweat of thy brow, says Holy Writ, shalt thou e bread, „ IV 202 in the fear of thy life shalt thou e the King's venison— „ IV 206 Eaten Ye have e of my dish and drunken of my cup for a dozen years. Becket I iv 29
—we have e—we are heated. Wine! The Cup I ii 45
Not e anything. The Falcon 674
she that has e the yolk is scarce like to swallow the shell. „ 704 Eating (See also Word-eating) so thou be Squeamish at e the King's venison. Foresters IV 194
'Eaven (heaven) Granny says marriages be maäde i' 'e. Prom. of May III 709
Eaves I never breathed it to a bird in the e, Queen Mary V ii 454
Echo (s) But shout and e play'd into each other Foresters II i 258
The wood is full of e'es, owls, elfs, „ II i 262
When horn and e ring, „ III 428
I am but the e of the lips of love. „ IV 892
Echo (verb) my wish E'es your Majesty's. Pole. It shall be so. Queen Mary III iii 93
Mine e'es both your Graces'; „ III iii 95 yells of thief And rogue and liar e down in Hell, Foresters III 324 Echo'd The trumpets of the fight bad e down, The Falcon 605
Echoing See Bird-echoing
Eclipse out of the e Narrowing my golden hour! Becket II i 202

Eddicated (educated) Thy feyther e his darters to marry gentlefoälk, Prom. of May II 115
I e boäth on 'em to marry gentlemen, „ III 454
Eddying torrents of e bark! Foresters III 95
Eden To make this Sherwood E o'er again, „ II i 168
Ederunt Sederunt principes, e pauperes. Becket I iv 132 Edgar (afterwards Mr. Harold) See also Harold, Hedgar, Philip, Philip Edgar, Philip Harold, Philip Hedgar) I warrants ye'll think moor o' this young Squire E as ha' coomed among us— Prom. of May I 110
Wheer be Mr. E? about the premises? „ I 432 where is this Mr. E whom you praised so in your first letters? „ I 776
I thought Mr. E the best of men, and he has proved himself the worst. „ II 85 that villain, E, If he should ever show his face „ II 422
What E? Dora. Philip Edgar of Toft Hall „ II 437
This E, then, is living? Harold. Living? well— „ II 443
But she hates E. May not this Dobbins, or some other, spy E in Harold? „ II 672 then she will forgive E for Harold's sake. „ II 679
Nor am I E, my good fellow. „ II 701
Mr. E? Allen. Theer, Miss! You ha' naämed 'im— „ III 141
She must be crying 'E' in her sleep. Harold. Who must be crying out 'E' in her sleep? „ III 653
Happy! What? E? Is it so? „ III 668
Edgar (the Atheling) Who inherits? E the Atheling? Harold III i 240
Edge (See also Knife-edge) Shall I smite him with the e of the sword? Becket I iv 224
Edify (See also Re-edify) We come not to destroy, but e; Queen Mary III iii 188
Edith (ward of King Edward, the Confessor) Art thou assured By this, that Harold loves but E? Harold I ii 210
Then for thine E? „ II ii 422
I know the Norman license—thine own E— „ II ii 478
Harold, if thou love thine E, say. „ II ii 622 wilt thou bring another, E, upon his head? „ III i 262 and on thee, E, if thou abide it,— „ III i 317
Look up! look up! E! „ III i 321
E, Tho' somewhat less a king to my true self „ III ii 52
Good even, gentle E. „ III ii 118
E, Hadst thou been braver, I had better braved All— „ III ii 177
E, E, Get thou into thy cloister as the king Will'd it: „ V i 308
E, The sign in heaven—the sudden blast at sea— „ V i 377
E, if I, the last English King of England— „ V i 383 thou art Harold, I am E! „ V i 392
O E, art thou here? „ V ii 1
O E, if I ever wrought against thee, „ V ii 21
O E, E, I have lost both crown And husband. „ V ii 38
E, E— Edith. What was he like, „ V ii 51
Edmund (King of the East English, martyred in 870) By St. E I overmeasure him. „ IV iii 119 Educated See Eddicated
Edward (the Confessor) Ask it of King E! „ I i 78 look, where E draws A faint foot hither, „ I i 143
E loves him, so Ye hate him. „ I i 427
E's prayers Were deafen'd and he pray'd them dumb, „ I ii 21 foes in E's hall To league against thy weal. „ I ii 32 she held with E, At least methought she held with holy E, „ I ii 50
I will demand his ward From E when I come again. „ I ii 60
Our wild Tostig, E hath made him Earl: „ I ii 186 thine host in England when I went To visit E. „ II ii 6 know'st my claim on England Thro' E's promise: „ II ii 13 did E know of this? „ II ii 304
Then let me hence With Wulfnoth to King E. „ II ii 563
And hath King E not pronounced his heir? „ II ii 575
if that but hung upon King E's will. „ II ii 601
According as King E promises. „ II ii 714
Thou art English, E too is English now, „ III i 28
E wakes!—Dazed—he hath seen a vision. „ III i 129
And E would have sent a host against you, „ IV i 99
Since Griffyth's head was sent To E, „ IV i 222
Last night King E came to me in dreams— (repeat) Harold IV i 259, 265

Edward (the Confessor) (continued) Take and slay me, For E loved me. Harold. E bad me spare thee. Tostig. I hate King E, for he join'd with thee To drive me outlaw'd. Harold IV ii 10
Of Alfred, or of E his great son, " IV iii 52
They know King E's promise and thine—thine. " V i 45
Not know that E cancell'd his own promise? " V i 51
Thou didst possess thyself of E's ear " V i 345

Edward (the First) In William's time, in our first E's time, Queen Mary III iii 226

Edward (the Fourth) Who's a-passing? King E or King Richard? " I i 32

Edward (the Sixth) our young E might bequeath the crown Of England, " I ii 26
Yet I stood out, till E sent for me. " I ii 29
Have we not heard of her in E's time, " I iv 18
Your pious wish to pay King E's debts, " I v 111
Had mark'd her for my brother E's bride; " I v 289 Did she not In Henry's time and E's? " III iv 132 imprisonment, my Lord, Under young E. " III iv 244

Edwin (Earl of Mercia) Morcar and E have stirr'd up the Thanes Harold II ii 288 have overthrown Morcar and E. " III ii 132 Again! Morcar! E! What do they mean? " IV i 133 Morcar and E, When will ye cease to plot " IV i 160 Morcar and E, will ye, if I yield, " IV i 175
Morcar and E, will ye upon oath, Help us " IV i 179
E, my friend—Thou lingerest.—Gurth,— " IV i 256
Gurth, Leofwin, Morcar, E! " IV iii 221

Eel wriggle out of them like an e When the time serves. Becket II ii 187

Effaced he is e, Self-blotted out; Queen Mary IV i 137

Egg wi' dree hard e's for a good pleace at the burnin'; " IV iii 490 sat Stone-dead upon a heap of ice-cold e's. Becket V ii 240 brood Too long o'er this hard e, the world, " V ii 253
E's. Filippo. One, but addled. The Falcon 128
No not a draught of milk, no not an e, " 872 and each of 'em as full of meat as an e, Foresters I i 42 or the shambles-oak, or a weasel-sucked e, " IV 212

Egg-bald may give that e-b head The tap that silences. Harold V i 90

Egypt like E's plague, had fill'd All things with blood; Becket I iii 344
I heard a saying in E, that ambition The Cup I iii 137 tho' the fire should run along the ground, As once it did in E. Prom. of May I 705

Eight Seventeen—and knew e languages— Queen Mary III i 359

Eighty His e years Look'd somewhat crooked on him in his frieze; " IV iii 331 Either You were the one sole man in e house " III iii 253

I am the one sole man in e house, " III iii 266 true To e function, holding it; Becket I iii 538
Yea, since he flouts the will of e realm, " II ii 256
Oh, no, not e way, nor any way " V iii 86

Elbow fray'd i' the knees, and out at e, Queen Mary I i 52 look at our suits, out at knee, out at e. Foresters I i 33

Elbowing and almost e her, So else they stood, Queen Mary II ii 76

Elder Made younger e son, violated the whole Tradition Prom. of May I 494

Eleanor (of Aquitaine, Queen of England) so this Rosamund, my true heart-wife, Not E! Becket, Pro. 132 and the soul of E from hell-fire. " Pro 151 secret out of our loyal Thomas, I am not E. " Pro. 467 and make Our waning E all but love me! " II ii 458 Oh, Queen E. Yes, my lady; " III i 203
E, E, have I Not heard ill things of her " III i 230
'E of Aquitaine, E of England! Murder'd by that adulteress E, " IV ii 241
Why should I swear, E, who am, or was, " IV ii 403

Election dost thou think the King Forced mine e? Herbert.
I do think the King Was potent in the e, " I i 127 the e shall be made in the Chapel Royal, " I iii 110 was thine own e so canonical, Good father? " I iii 120

Eleven I am e years older than he is. Queen Mary I v 68
I am e years older than he, " V v 46

Elf The wood is full of echoes, owls, e's, Foresters II i 263
E, with spiteful heart and eye, " II ii 172

Elfin Nay, an please your E Grace, " II ii 132

Elisabetta (nurse to Count Federigo degli Alberighi) you Would find it stain'd—— Count. Silence, E! The Falcon 665

Elizabeth (Princess, afterwards Queen of England) No; it was the Lady E. Queen Mary I i 18
the Lady E is the more noble and royal. " I i 72
I mean the Lady E. " I i 75 be no peace for Mary till E lose her head.' " I iii 5
'Long live E the Queen!' " I iii 8 And get the swine to shout E. " I iii 39 we'll have no pope here while the Lady E lives. " I iii 44 we'll have no virgins here—we'll have the Lady E! " I iii 62
If E lose her head—That makes for France. " I iii 88 married The mother of E—a heretic Ey'n as she is; " I v 32 Wyatt, shall we proclaim E? " II i 239
The names of Wyatt, E, Courtenay, " II ii 94 E—Her name is much abused among those traitors. " II ii 109 whom did you say? Messenger. E? Your Royal sister. " II iv 116 Can I strike E?—not now and save the life Of Devon: " II iv 123
The proud ambitions of E, " III ii 169 Quoth E, prisoner. " III v 21 this re-action not re-act Yet fiercelier under Queen E, " IV iii 389
You must proclaim E your heir. (repeat) " V i 191, 204
E, How fair and royal—like a Queen, indeed? " V i 234
E—To Philibert of Savoy, as you know, " V i 246
Thou art commission'd to E, And not to me! " V ii 594
A cry! What's that? E? revolt? " V v 187
God save E, the Queen of England! " V v 283

Elizabeth Barton See Joan of Kent

Ely (Bishop [Thirlby] of) My Lord of E, this. After a riot We hang the leaders, Queen Mary IV i 72

Ely (city) There lies a treasure buried down in E: Harold III i 11

Emboss'd many-breasted mother Artemis E upon it. The Cup II 341

Embrace on thee remains the curse, Harold, if thou e her: Harold III i 316 great and sound policy that: I could e him for it: Becket, Pro. 452 for who could e such an armful of joy? Foresters I ii 70
Wilt thou e thy sweetheart 'fore my face? " II ii 28
I E thee with the kisses of the soul. " III 143
E me, Marian, and thou, good Kate, " IV 1031

Embroilment may come a crash and e as in Stephen's time; Becket, Pro. 485

Embryo every rebel birth That passes out of e. Queen Mary III vi 52

Emerald English Garter, studded with great e's, " III i 85

Emperor (s) betroth'd in her babyhood to the Great E " I i 119
Most goodly, Kinglike and an E's son,— " I v 2 Hath he the large ability of the E? " I v 324 letter which thine E promised Long since, " I v 348
I am English Queen, not Roman E. " I v 504
The E counsell'd me to fly to Flanders. " I v 549
I fear the E much misvalued me. " II ii 76
The E's highness happily symboll'd " III ii 108 treaty which the e sent us Were mainly Gardiner's; " III iii 69
And the E Approved you, and when last he wrote, " III vi 76 prattling to her mother Of her betrothal to the E Charles, " V v 233 prest upon By the fierce E and his Antipope. Becket I iii 203
When he hath shaken off the E, " I iii 244 you have traffick'd Between the E and the Pope, " II ii 68 Threaten our junction with the E— " II ii 471

Empire Should make the mightiest e earth has known. Queen Mary V iii 70 the first Fell, and the next became an E. Harold IV i 51 push'd one way by the E and another by England, Becket II ii 327 his poor tonsure A crown of E. " V i 196

Employ E us, heat us, quicken us, help us, The Cup I iii 131

Empress But—shamed of you, my E! Prom. of May III 599

Emptiness I had but e to set before you, The Falcon 870 course of that full feast That leaves but e. Prom. of May II 256

Empty Most fruitful, yet, indeed, an e rind, Queen Mary III ii 202 nave and aisles all e as a fool's jest! " IV iii 286 Why then the throne is e. Who inherits? Harold III i 235 since the Sheriff left me naught but an e belly, Foresters II i 279

Encampt The Roman is e without your city— The Cup I ii 83

Enchanted the people Believe the wood e. Becket III i 36

Enclosed now you are e with boards of cedar, Queen Mary III ii 101

Encumbered E as we are, who would lend us anything? Prom. of May III 162

End (s) born i' the tail e of old Harry the Seventh. Queen Mary I i 42
Look to you as the one to crown their e's. „ I iv 172
She fear'd it might unman him for his e. „ III i 368 to what e? For yet the faith is not established there.
Gardiner. The e's not come. Pole. No—nor this way will come, Seeing there lie two ways to every e, „ III iv 108
Latimer Had a brief e—not Ridley. „ IV ii 225 as I have come To the last e of life, „ IV iii 218 Might it not be the other side rejoicing In his brave e? „ IV iii 358
Who cannot move straight to his e— „ IV iii 394 sight of Danish blood Might serve an e not English— Harold IV iii 98
And to what e? Becket I ii 63 and to speak truth, nigh at the e of our last crust, „ III i 114 an' it 'ud be well for me in the e, „ III i 134 but in the e we flourished out into a merriment; „ III iii 137
What! Is the e come? „ V i 148
The e is mine. „ V i 151
If once our e's are gain'd? The Cup I i 32 harm at times, may even Hasten their e. The Falcon 823
At the e of the daäy, For the last loäd hoäm? (repeat) Prom. of May II 183, 194
Till the e of the daäy And the last loäd hoäm. „ II 208
Till the e o' the daäy An' the last loäd hoäm?' (repeat) „ II 238, 292
To the e o' the daäy An' the last loäd hoäm.' „ II 259
I came To eat him up and make an e of him. Foresters II i 125 at the far e of the glade I see two figures „ IV 332
To his own unprincely e's. „ IV 716

End (verb) Ay, if he do not e in smoke again. Becket II ii 315
So e all passions. Then what use in passions? The Cup I iii 126

Ended all things lived and e honestly. Queen Mary III v 115
Thou shalt not go. I have not e with thee. Becket, Pro. 305
That was not the way I e it first— „ Pro. 335
Our forest games are e, our free life, Foresters IV 1049

Ending (adj.) showers of blood are blown Before a never e blast, Harold III i 395

Ending (s) Other reasons There be for this man's e, Queen Mary IV iii 54 misreport His e to the glory of their church. „ IV iii 327

Endure Canst thou e to be a beggar Foresters I i 204

Enemy Thou speakest of the e of thy king. Queen Mary I v 327
Stand fast against our enemies and yours, „ II ii 242
Makes enemies for himself and for his king; „ II ii 399
Who will avenge me of mine enemies— „ III ii 166
But he was evermore mine e, „ V ii 91
Thou hast given it to the e of our house. Harold IV ii 31
So perish all the enemies of Harold! „ V i 504
So perish all the enemies of England! „ V i 554
Be sweet to her, she has many enemies. Becket I i 404
Is he thy e? Henry. He? who? ay! Rosamund. Thine e knows the secret of my bower. „ II i 262
To bless thine enemies—— Becket. Ay, mine, not Heaven's. „ V ii 25
Mine enemies barr'd all access to the boy. „ V ii 451
My lord, we force you from your enemies. „ V iii 24
Henceforth I am thy mortal e. The Cup I ii 330
I was but wounded by the e there And then imprison'd. The Falcon 388 day's bright like a friend, but the wind east like an e. Prom. of May I 80
They say, we should forgive our enemies. „ II 432
Red with his own and e's blood— Foresters II i 32

Enforce to e The long-withholden tribute: The Cup I i 76

Enframed powers of the house of Godwin Are not e in thee. Harold I i 317

Engelram de Trie mightiest knight of France, Sir E d T,— Becket I iii 748

England Edward might bequeath the crown Of E, Queen Mary I ii 28 not to yield His Church of E to the Papal wolf And Mary; „ I ii 36
—for to wed with Spain Would treble E— „ I v 76
I am Queen of E; take mine eyes, „ I v 127
Would I marry Prince Philip, if all E hate him? „ I v 139
Is it E, or a party? Now, your answer. „ I v 142 men-at-arms Guard my poor dreams for E. „ I v 154
if this Philip be the titular king Of E, „ I v 255
—after me Is heir of E; „ I v 286
Would make our E, France; Mary of E, joining hands with Spain, „ I v 297

England (continued) Heir of this E and the Netherlands! Queen Mary I v 418 Men of Kent; E of E; „ II i 157 all the rest of E bow'd theirs to the Norman, „ II i 159 county or a shire, but of this E, „ II i 163 he will be King, King of E, my masters; „ II i 173 and be the mightiest man This day in E. „ II ii 20 my father was the rightful heir Of E, „ II ii 171 or impair in any way This royal state of E, „ II ii 230
The Queen of E—or the Kentish Squire? „ II ii 269
The Queen of E or the rabble of Kent? „ II ii 273
'Who knows?' I am for E. „ II ii 412
They are the flower of E; set the gates wide. „ II iv 70 lest living Spain Should sicken at dead E. „ III i 28
I came to feel the pulse of E, „ III i 37
E now Is but a ball chuck'd between France and Spain, „ III i 109
'The Queen of E is delivered of a dead dog!' „ III ii 219
Presenting the whole body of this realm Of E, „ III iii 117
This is the loveliest day that ever smiled On E. „ III iii 163
But stretch it wider; say when E fell. „ III iii 261
Perchance in E, loves her like a son. „ III iii 267
We reck not tho' we lost this crown of E—Ay! tho' it were ten E's! „ III iv 56
Thou Christian Bishop, thou Lord Chancellor Of E! „ III iv 302
What power this cooler sun of E hath „ III iv 327
She troubles E: that she breathes in E „ III vi 49
I cannot be True to this realm of E „ IV i 27 made us lower our kingly flag To yours of E. „ V i 60 lower his flag To that of E in the seas of E. „ V i 66 Being Queen of E, I have none other. „ V i 69
he would weld France, E, Scotland, „ V i 137
They say your wars are not the wars of E. „ V i 166
The King of France the King of E too. „ V i 198 sharper harm to E and to Rome, Than Calais taken. „ V ii 29
Send out: let E as of old Rise lionlike, „ V ii 265
I do much fear that E will not care. „ V ii 282
Suffer not That my brief reign in E be defamed „ V ii 302
Your E is as loyal as myself. „ V ii 328 remember what you said When last you came to E? „ V ii 568
Welcome to E! „ V iii 14
What hinders but that Spain and E join'd, „ V iii 68
Spain would be E on her seas, and E Mistress of the Indies. „ V iii 72
E Will be the Mistress of the Indies yet, „ V iii 76 never merry world In E, since the Bible came among us. „ V v 241
It never will be merry world in E, „ V v 247
That never English monarch dying left E so little. „ V v 278
—we will make E great. „ V v 281
God save Elizabeth, the Queen of E! „ V v 284 Yon grimly-glaring, treble-brandish'd scourge Of E! Harold I i 5 mean The doom of E and the wrath of Heaven? „ I i 46 bishops down from all Their thrones in E! „ I i 51 is this pendent hell in heaven A harm to E? „ I i 77
he may tell thee, I am a harm to E. „ I i 80
War there, my son? is that the doom of E? „ I i 126
For all the world sees it as well as E. „ I i 130 but after I am gone Woe, woe to E! „ I i 190
E loves thee for it. „ I i 221
my father drove the Normans out Of E?— „ I i 253 Be there not fair woods and fields In E? „ I i 263 sons of Godwin Sit topmost in the field of E, „ I i 326
Griffyth I hated; why not hate the foe Of E? „ I ii 146
If he were King of E, I his queen, „ I ii 154
Should not E Love Aldwyth, „ I ii 177
Pronounced his heir of E. „ I ii 195
Peace-lover is our Harold for the sake Of E's wholeness— „ I ii 198
And bless the Queen of E. „ I ii 207 a whale to a whelk we have swallowed the King of E. „ II i 45 thine host in E when I went To visit Edward. „ II ii 4 know'st my claim on E Thro' Edward's promise: „ II ii 12
I want his voice in E for the crown, „ II ii 71
E our own Thro' Harold's help, „ II ii 77
Who shall be kings of E. I am heir Of E „ II ii 124
The choice of E is the voice of E. William. I will be king of E by the laws, The choice, and voice of E. „ II ii 128

England (continued) Blowing for E, ha? Not yet. Harold II ii 152
Not ever fair for E? „ II ii 258 for my mother's sake I love your E, „ II ii 269
Then for my mother's sake and E's sake „ II ii 274 or whether E Be shatter'd into fragments. Harold.
News from E? „ II ii 285
Yea, yea, he would be king of E. „ II ii 369
And for our Mother E? „ II ii 425
And all thine E hath forgotten thee; „ II ii 443 he drove our good Normans out From E, „ II ii 526
sat within the Norman chair A ruler all for E— „ II ii 534
Why then the heir of E, who is he? „ II ii 568 and a child, Will E have him king? „ II ii 573 promised that if ever he were king In E. „ II ii 588
Thou art the mightiest voice in E, man, „ II ii 618
Foremost in E and in Normandy; „ II ii 631
And thou be my vice-king in E. „ II ii 635
Ay, brother—for the sake of E—ay. „ II ii 638
Swear thou to help me to the crown of E. „ II ii 705
I swear to help thee to the crown of E . . .
(repeat) Harold II ii 713, 722
Delay is death to thee, ruin to E. Harold II ii 718
When thou art home in E, with thine own, „ II ii 728
The wind is fair For E now . . . „ II ii 767 for I am close to thee And E— „ III i 7 our dear E Is demi-Norman. „ III i 40
Our Tostig parted cursing me and E; „ III i 76
He hath gone to kindle Norway against E, „ III i 80
Crying 'the doom of E,' and at once He stood „ III i 134 along the highest crying 'The doom of E!'— „ III i 157 Be there no Saints of E To help us „ III i 220
he hath served me: none but he Can rule all E. „ III i 244 Not mean To make our E Norman. „ III i 250 prayer against the curse That lies on thee and E. „ III i 279
Who make thy good their own—all E, Earl. „ III i 331 whereby the curse might glance From thee and E. „ III i 344 thou be only King of the moment over E. „ III ii 51
And well for thee and E—and for her— „ III ii 111
And given thy realm of E to the bastard. „ III ii 154 thunder-cloud That lours on E—laughter! „ III ii 161 but our help Is Harold, king of E. „ IV i 11
Dane, Jute, Angle, Saxon, were or should be all One E, „ IV i 79
To make all E one, to close all feuds, „ IV i 141 one to rule All E beyond question, beyond quarrel. „ IV i 145
For E, for thy poor white dove, „ IV i 230
Thou art nothing in thine E, save for Norway, „ IV ii 22
To do the battle for me here in E, „ IV ii 70 both have life In the large mouth of E, „ IV iii 74 namesake, when he ask'd for E? „ IV iii 111 sons of those Who made this Britain E, „ IV iii 154
The men that guarded E to the South „ IV iii 209
The curse of E! these are drown'd in wassail, „ IV iii 223
Holy Father Hath given this realm of E to the Norman. „ V i 13
To do with E's choice of her own king? „ V i 19
Should they not know free E crowns herself? „ V i 48 should the King of E waste the fields Of E, „ V i 140
No Norman horse Can shatter E, „ V i 196 chanting that old song of Brunanburg Where E conquer'd. „ V i 216 our old songs are prayers for E too! „ V i 223
I die for E then, who lived for E— „ V i 268
I left our E naked to the South „ V i 289 not for myself—For E—yet not wholly— „ V i 307
This memory to thee!—and this to E, „ V i 327
Thou hast been false to E and to me!— „ V i 349
And not on thee—nor E—fall God's doom! „ V i 370
And thou art E! Alfred Was E. Ethelred was nothing.
E Is but her king, and thou art Harold! „ V i 373
Edith, if I, the last English King of E— „ V i 384
The king of E stands between his banners. „ V i 486
So perish all the enemies of E! „ V i 555
Here fell the truest, manliest hearts of E. „ V ii 59
Why then of E. Madam, fear us not. „ V ii 96
When I visited E, Some held she was his wife „ V ii 99
I am king of E, so they thwart me not, „ V ii 196
I would give her to thy care in E Becket, Pro. 143

England (continued) I have built a secret bower in E, Thomas, Becket Pro. 153
And pass her to her secret bower in E. „ Pro. 184
Ay, ay, but swear to see to her in E. „ Pro. 191 fulminations from the side of Rome, An interdict on E—I will have My young son Henry crown'd the King of E, That so the Papal bolt may pass by E, „ Pro. 223
I loved Henry of E, and Henry of E dreamed that he loved me; „ Pro. 357
O thou Great Seal of E, Given me by my dear friend the King of E— „ I i 336
Barons and bishops of our realm of E, „ I iii 336 Flung the Great Seal of E in my face— „ I iii 456
he might well have sway'd All E under Henry, „ I iii 468 Barons of E and of Normandy, „ I iii 741
What say'st thou to the Chancellorship of E? „ II i 226
Dost thou know, my boy, what it is to be Chancellor of E? „ II i 232
But E scarce would hold Young Henry king, „ II ii 30
A hundred of the wisest heads from E, „ II ii 172 pushed one way by the Empire and another by E, „ II ii 328 till the weight of Germany or the gold of E brings one of them down to the dust— „ II ii 364 Save for myself no Rome were left in E, „ II ii 387
I strike into my former path For E, „ II ii 456
I came to E suddenly, „ III i 86
I should be back In E ev'n for this. „ III iii 10
My Lords of France and E, My friend of Canterbury „ III iii 227
And so farewell until we meet in E. Becket. I fear, my liege, we may not meet in E. „ III iii 237 Come, stay with us, then, Before you part for E. „ III iii 245 thy life Was not one hour's worth in E „ III iii 251 more wolves that he can tame in his woods of E, „ III iii 323 the wolves of E Must murder her one shepherd, „ III iii 343 let us move away! And thence to E. „ III iii 359
Of and belonging to the King of E, „ IV ii 23
'Eleanor of Aquitaine, Eleanor of E! „ IV ii 241
My liege, the Queen of E. Henry. God's eyes! Eleanor.
Of E? Say of Aquitaine. I am no Queen of E. I had dream'd I was the bride of E, and a queen. Henry.
And,—while you dream'd you were the bride of E,— „ V i 97
Thomas, I would thou hadst return'd to E, „ V ii 12 on a Tuesday pass'd From E into bitter banishment; „ V ii 289 such brawls and loud disturbances In E, „ V ii 354
Divide me from the mother church of E, My Canterbury. „ V ii 361
Tho' all the swords in E flash'd above me „ V ii 484 Priest of God, Primate of E. „ V iii 114
St. Denis of France and St. Alphege of E. „ V iii 165 your Robin, all E's Robin, fights not for himself but for the people of E. Foresters I i 236
I would break through them all, like the King of E. „ I i 326 according to the law and custom of the kingdom of E „ I iii 67
But shall we leave our E? „ I iii 92
There is no land like E (repeat) Foresters II i 1, 5, 13, 17
And these will strike for E Foresters II i 9
To sing the songs of E „ II i 23
King of E Perchance this day may sink „ II i 30 made me King of all the discontent Of E „ II i 88 one of those mercenaries that suck the blood of E. „ II i 175 these Barons, Devils, that make this blessed E hell. „ III i 27
What was this realm of E, all the crowns „ IV 403
I have been away from E all these years, „ IV 816
English but took To the E red and white Queen Mary I v 18
I am E queen, not Roman Emperor. „ I v 503
E Garter, studded with great emeralds, „ III i 84 and E carrot's better than Spanish licorice; „ III i 219 tell you that all E heretics have tails. „ III i 229 and for Gardiner! being E citizen, „ III iii 24 being E churchman How should he bear the headship of the Pope? „ III iii 28 Began to batter at your E Church, „ III iv 186 there's An old world E adage to the point. „ IV i 175
I know them heretics, but right E ones. „ IV iii 344 to the intent That you may lose your E heritage. „ V i 133
The scourge and butcher of their E church. „ V ii 106

English (continued) That never E monarch dying left England so little. Queen Mary v v 277
There somewhere beats an E pulse in thee! Harold II ii 266
Boy, thou hast forgotten That thou art E. „ II ii 475
Thou art E, Edward too is E now, „ III i 28
To Holy Peter in our E isle! „ III i 207
My mother is a Dane, and I am E; „ IV i 55
Seven feet of E land, or something more, „ IV ii 54 or E Ironside Who fought with Knut, or Knut who coming Dane Died E. „ IV iii 53 sight of Danish blood Might serve an end not E— „ IV iii 98
'Seven feet of E earth, or something more, „ IV iii 112
Edith, if I, the last E King of England— „ V i 384
I do not hear our E war-cry. „ V i 651
I held it with him in his E halls, „ V ii 128
And where is she? There in her E nest? Becket, Pro. 178
Of Provence blew you to your E throne; „ V i 123
That ever blossom'd on this E isle. Foresters I ii 124
There are no hearts like E hearts „ II i 3
There are no wives like E wives „ II i 15
There are no maids like E maids „ II i 19
the bravest E heart Since Hereward the Wake, „ II i 686 Nay, no Earl am I. I am E yeoman. „ III 131 when Our E maidens are their prey, „ III 179 men will call him An Eastern tyrant, not an E king. „ IV 904 Look; can you make it E? Queen Mary II i 127 Word of God In E! „ III i 280 said the Miserere Mei—But all in E, mark you; „ III i 392
These Spaniel-Spaniard E of the time, „ III iii 240
I am ashamed that I am Bagenhall, E. „ III iii 249
Peters, you know me Catholic, but E. „ IV iii 567
Howard is all E! „ V i 61 there are many E in your ranks To help your battle. „ V i 110 that our brave E Had sallied out from Calais „ V ii 255 one who fill'd All offices, all bishopricks with E— Harold II ii 535 That art half E. Take them away! „ V ii 135 fought men Like Harold and his brethren, and his guard Of E. „ V ii 181 Make them again one people — Norman, E; And E, Norman; „ V ii 189
That's the E of it. Becket I iv 275
Not on French ground, nor any ground but E, „ III iii 261 and your own name Of Harold sounds so E and so old Prom. of May III 610

English-born Shame, shame, my masters! are you E-b, Queen Mary I iii 70

Englishman You are shy and proud like Englishmen, „ II ii 257
Here swings a Spaniard—there an E; „ V i 87
Sailing from France, with thirty Englishmen, „ V i 285
There are no men like Englishmen Foresters II i 7

Englishwoman Malet, thy mother was an E; Harold II ii 265

Enlisted See 'Listed

Enliven We might e you. Queen Mary I iii 119

Enough (See also Anew) E, my Lords. It is God's will, the Holy Father's will, „ IV i 183
The prison fare is good e for me. „ IV ii 42 old e To scare me into dreaming, 'what am I, „ IV ii 102 E! Thou wilt not break it! Harold II ii 752 wouldst hug thy Cupid till his ribs cracked—e of this. Becket, Pro. 505
E, my lord, e! „ I iii 740
E, my lord. Becket. More than e. „ I iii 749
They are plagues e in-door. „ II ii 91
Ay, ay! the King humbles himself e. „ II ii 185
But thou art like e to make him thine. Eleanor. Becket is like e to make all his. „ V i 132 their spites at Rome, Is like e to cancel them, The Cup I i 92
That is e, Farmer Dobson. Prom. of May II 118
E! Dora. It seem'd so; only there was left A second daughter, „ III 769

Enrich and e Earth with her shadow! The Cup I iii 59

Ensign I, bearing this great e, make it clear Becket I iii 544

Entanglement I must free myself from this e. Prom. of May I 480

Enter Not for the seven devils to e in? Queen Mary III ii 140
'How hard it is For the rich man to e into Heaven;' „ IV iii 205

Enter (continued) Ah!—let him e. Nay, you need not go: Queen Mary V iii 10
Why not? Let him e. The Cup II 39
Will e on the larger golden age; Prom. of May I 590

Enter'd spirit of the twelve Apostles e Into thy making. Becket I i 50
There was a man just now that e here? Foresters II i 240

Entertain'd Maintain'd, and e us royally! Harold II ii 159

Entertainment My lord, we thank you for your e. The Falcon 859
I fear you scarce Will thank me for your e now. „ 882

Entreat does your gracious Queen e you kinglike? Courtenay. 'Fore God, I think she e's like a child. Queen Mary I iii 110
Poor Wulfnoth! do they not e thee well? Harold II ii 404 Madam, we will e thee with all honour. „ V ii 199
my good lord, I do e thee—sign. Becket I iii 185
E's he may be present at our marriage. The Cup II 248

Entreaty Still plied him with e and reproach: Queen Mary IV iii 577

Entrenchment A good e for a perilous hour! Harold III i 363

Entry How can I come When you so block the e? Becket V iii 37

Envied I e Sinnatus when he married her. The Cup I i 129

Envy Spite, ignorance, e, Yea, honesty too, Becket II i 100

Enwomb'd The babe e and at the breast is cursed, Harold V i 65

Ephesian Artemis, Artemis, hear her, E Artemis! The Cup II 311

Ephesus seven sleepers in the cave at E Have turn'd Harold I i 192

Episcopari Nolo e. Becket, Pro. 284

Epitaph And, like the stone-cut e, Queen Mary IV iii 163

Equal (adj.) I am not e to it yet. Prom. of May III 239
We have heard Of thy just, mild, and e governance; Harold II ii 690
Two sisters gliding at an e dance, Becket I iii 444

Equal (s) never since have met Her e for pure innocence Prom. of May II 372 shamed of her among The ladies, born his e's. „ III 582

Equall'd Rose never blew that e such a bud. Queen Mary III i 373

Eques E cum pedite Præpediatur! Harold V i 529

Equite Equus cum e Dejiciatur! „ V i 579
Equus cum e Præcipitatur. „ V i 598

Equity and golden provinces So that were done in e. Becket V ii 348

Equus E cum equite Dejiciatur! Harold V i 579
E cum equite Præcipitatur. „ V i 598

Err And there e's; As he hath ever err'd Queen Mary IV i 30

Err'd As he hath ever e thro' vanity. „ IV i 31
I have e with him; with him I have recanted. „ IV i 66
Thought that I knew him, e thro' love of him, Becket I iii 440

Error Repentant of his e's? Queen Mary IV iii 22

'Erse (horse) That beer be as good fur 'e's as men. Prom. of May II 315

Esaias loons That cannot spell E from St. Paul, Queen Mary III i 281

Escape (See also 'Scape) Much less shall others in like cause e, „ IV iii 63
Who will be martyr when he might e. Becket V ii 280

Escaped (See also Scaped) Danaë has e again Her tower, and her Acrisius— „ I i 395
She hath e. The Cup I iii 121
This is my son but late e from prison, Foresters II i 460 Gone, like a deer that hath e thine arrow! Robin. What deer when I have mark'd him ever yet E mine arrow? „ IV 60

Escaping charge you that ye keep This traitor from e. Becket V ii 511

Eshtree (ash-tree) wheere the big e cuts athurt it, Prom. of May III 94

Especial A token of His more e Grace; Queen Mary III iii 170
Our old friend Cranmer, Your more e love, „ III iv 418

Essex she was passing Some chapel down in E, „ I v 40

Established For yet the faith is not e there. „ III iv 109

Estate (condition) bland And affable to men of all e's, „ III vi 81 offal of the city would not change E's with him; „ IV iii 78

Estate (property) that holdest thine e's In fee and barony Becket I iii 674

Esteem'd Who not alone e it honourable, Queen Mary II ii 209

Estimation Doth not the fewness of anything make the fulness of it in e? Becket III iii 303

Eternal The E Peter of the changeless chair, Queen Mary III iv 380 our grim Walhalla, E war, Harold III ii 75 wing'd souls flying Beyond all change and in the e distance „ III ii 101
Who stands aghast at her e self Becket II ii 404
Then with one quick short stab—e peace. The Cup I iii 124 and smile At bygone things till that e peace. „ I iii 173

Ethelred (King of Saxon England, 979-1016) Alfred Was England. E was nothing. Harold v i 374
Eucharist You do not own The bodily presence in the E, Queen Mary i ii 44
Eucharistic and retract That E doctrine in your book. „ iv ii 81 Europe I am the noblest blood in E, Madam, „ i iv 85 lord of more land Than any crown in E, Becket v i 30 oaks, Gnarl'd—older than the thrones of E! Foresters iii 93
Eva (daughter of Farmer Steer) an' Miss Dora, an' Miss E, an' all! Prom. of May i 11
Foälks says he likes Miss E the best. „ i 25
Beänt Miss E gone off a bit of 'er good looks „ i 32
I haven't seen E yet. Is she anywhere in the garden? „ i 46
He's been arter Miss E, haän't he? „ i 121
E told me that he was taking her likeness. He's an artist. „ i 126
Hev' ony o' ye seen E? Dobson. Noä, Mr. Steer. „ i 313
I likes 'im, and E likes 'im. E can do owt wi' 'im; look for 'im, E, „ i 436
Jealous of me with E! Is it so? „ i 471
My sweet E, Where have you lain in ambush „ i 543
Well, E! Eva. Oh, Dora, Dora, „ i 766
Fonder of poor E—like everybody else. „ ii 11
I hallus gi'ed soom on 'em to Miss E at this time o' year. „ ii 16 fur Miss E, she set the bush by my dairy winder „ ii 17
I take them, then, for E's sake. Dobson. E's saäke. Yeas. Poor gel, poor gel! „ ii 29 or you may find me at the bottom of the river—E.' „ ii 88 Poor E! O my God, if man be only A willy-nilly „ ii 261
How often have I stood With E here! „ ii 297
E! Dora. E! Harold. What are you? „ ii 356
You knew E, then? „ ii 367
Dear E Was always thought the prettier. „ ii 378 tell me anything of our sweet E When in her brighter girlhood, „ ii 520 E's eyes thro' hers—A spell upon me! Surely I loved E More than I knew! „ ii 641 if ye be goin' to sarve our Dora as ye sarved our E— „ ii 692 now that you have been brought to us as it were from the grave, dearest E, „ iii 236 to saäy he's browt some of Miss E's roses for the sick laädy to smell on. „ iii 347
E, why did you write 'Seek me at the bottom of the river'? „ iii 363
E has come home. „ iii 442
Be not so cast down, my sweet E. „ iii 468
You know her, E. Harold. E! „ iii 663
O she has fainted. Sister, E, sister! „ iii 672
Eve if I had been E i' the garden I shouldn't ha' minded the apple, Becket iii i 139
Even (adj.) a jest In time of danger shows the pulses e. Queen Mary ii ii 357
Even (s) Good e, my good brother! Gurth. Good e, gentle Edith. Edith. Good e, Gurth. Harold iii ii 116 yet I think these oaks at dawn and e, Foresters iv 1067 Evening When back he comes at e hath the door Queen Mary v ii 120 Event to compose the e In some such form „ i v 224 stay Yet for awhile, to shape and guide the e. „ v i 304
And the e—our fallows till'd, Becket i iii 375
Ever (See also Iver) who am your friend And e faithful counsellor, Queen Mary i v 135
Ever-closing who dream'd as blanketed In e-c fog, „ iii ii 21
Ever-jarring e-j Earldoms move To music and in order— Harold ii ii 760 Everlasting Open, ye e gates! The King is here!— Queen Mary iii ii 183 Ever-rising Beneath an e-r sun—I see him— The Cup ii 535
Ever-shining There—league on league of e-s shore „ ii 533
Every Parliament can make e true-born man of us a bastard. Queen Mary i i 27
Skips e way, from levity or from fear. „ i iii 170
That e morning of your Majesty May be most good, is e morning's prayer „ i v 100
He is e way a lesser man than Charles; „ i v 330 but e parish tower Shall clang and clash alarum as we pass, „ ii i 228
In e London street a gibbet stood. „ iii i 7
Certain I had heard that e Spaniard carries a tail „ iii i 223
Every (continued) e Spanish priest will tell you that all English heretics have tails. Queen Mary iii i 228
Do here absolve you and deliver you And e one of you, „ iii iii 215 and from all and e censure, Judgment, „ iii iii 217 Seeing there lie two ways to e end, „ iii iv 113
e tongue Alters it passing, till it spells and speaks „ iii v 35 that she breathes in England Is life and lungs to e rebel birth „ iii vi 51
And e soul of man that breathes therein. „ iii vi 107
And for thy soul shall masses here be sung By e priest in Oxford. „ iv iii 101
Good people, e man at time of death Would fain set forth „ iv iii 156
In e article of the Catholic faith, And e syllable taught us by our Lord, „ iv iii 230
Let e craft that carries sail and gun Steer toward Calais. „ v ii 275 when our good hive Needs e sting to save it. Harold iv i 18
E man about his king Fought like a king; „ iv iii 56
E man about his king Fell where he stood. „ v ii 181
when e doorway blush'd, Becket i iii 346
When e baron ground his blade in blood; „ i iii 349
From e bond and debt and obligation Incurr'd as Chancellor. „ i iii 710 that e thread of thought Is broken ere it joins— „ v ii 205
I am sure of being e way malign'd. The Cup i ii 241
I would that e man made feast to-day „ ii 225 for I've been on my knees e day for these half-dozen years The Falcon 184
The blossom had open'd on e bough; Prom. of May i 42 and sat Thro' e sensual course of that full feast „ ii 254 might be Blown everyway with e gust and wreck „ iii 536 is always a-telling us that e man, Foresters i i 95
Softly! softly! there may be a thief in e bush. „ ii i 368 for being e inch a man I honour e inch of a woman. „ iii 63
Ay, for old Much is e inch a man. „ iv 289
And loves and dotes on e dingle of it. „ iv 390 Everyway (See also Every) Her ghost is e about me here. Prom. of May ii 353 might be Blown e with every gust and wreck „ iii 536 Evil (adj.) She hath harken'd e counsel—ah! Queen Mary v i 54 but last night An e dream that ever came and went— Harold i ii 70 with thy goodwill that I Proceed against thine e councillors, Becket iii iii 209
It may be they were e councillors. „ iii iii 216
Whose e song far on into the night „ v ii 208
I fear some strange and e chance Coming upon me, The Cup i iii 74
It bears an e savour among women. „ i iii 86
There came some e fairy at my birth And cursed me, Foresters ii ii 108
E fairy! do you hear? „ ii ii 116
Evil (s) spring Of all those e's that have flow'd upon us; Queen Mary iii iv 234
The Church's e is not as the King's, „ iii iv 273 kingly touch that cures the e May serve to charm the tiger Harold i i 152
E for good, it seems, Is oft as childless of the good as e For e. „ v i 171
Evil-tongue Ingratitude, Injustice, E-t, Labour-in-vain. Queen Mary v ii 156 Evolution when the man, The child of e, Prom. of May i 585
Ewe-lamb black sheep baaed to the miller's e-l, Becket i iv 163
'E l, e l, I am here by the dam.' „ i iv 171
Exalt Hugh, how proudly you e your head! „ v ii 454
Example he must die, For warning and e. Queen Mary iv iii 52
Take therefore, all, e by this man, „ iv iii 59
Exceeding With most e willingness, I will; „ iii v 214
Fourthly, to those that own e wealth, „ iv iii 201
Some hollow-hearted from e age— Foresters iii 96
Exceedingly I wish you and your ladyship's father a most e good morning. „ i i 309
Excellent Look at the hilt. What e workmanship. Becket iv ii 315
Excess Nature's moral Against e. „ i i 374 Against the moral e No physical ache, „ i i 381 his fond e of wine Springs from the loneliness „ iii i 38
Excessive seeing they were men Defective or e, „ ii ii 213
Exchange we will say—e them For your—for your— The Falcon 730
Exchequer the realm is poor, The e at neap-tide: Queen Mary i v 121
I am sorry my e runs so low I cannot help you Foresters i ii 272
Excommunicate No man without my leave shall e my tenants or my household. Becket. Pro. 30

Excommunicate (continued) Ah! Thomas, e them all! Becket I iii 573
Smite the sheep and the shepherd will e thee. „ I iv 228
More like is he to e me. „ II i 270 my poor heretic heart would e His excommunication, „ II i 283
That thou wouldst e the King. „ V ii 90
He thought to e him— „ V ii 141
How could I e him then? Rosamund. And wilt thou e him now? „ V ii 154 to e The prelates whom he chose to crown his son! „ V ii 398
What! will he e all the world? „ V ii 466
Because thou wast born e. „ V ii 472
Excommunicated My lord, you have not e him? „ V ii 130 to absolve the bishops Whom you have e. „ V ii 377
I should be grateful—He hath not e me. „ V ii 471
Excommunicating The King condemns your e— „ V ii 318
Excommunication heart would excommunicate His e. „ II i 285
To blast my realms with e And interdict. „ II ii 52
Excuse must Accuse himself, e bimself; The Cup II 115
Execrable With execrating e eyes, Glared at the citizen. Queen Mary II ii 67
Execrating With e execrable eyes, Glared at the citizen. „ II ii 67
Execute let me e the vengeance of the Church upon them. Foresters IV 915 Execution to the saving of their souls, Before your e. Queen Mary IV ii 195
Exeter Deans Of Christchurch, Durham, E, and Wells— „ I ii 9
Exhibited Our supplication be e To the Lord Cardinal Pole, „ III iii 123
Exhort E them to a pure and virtuous life; „ IV ii 77
Exigency But help her in this e, „ II ii 18
I cannot help you in this e; Foresters I ii 273 Exile (s) I know a set of e's over there, Queen Mary III i 155 long petition from the foreign e's To spare the life of Cranmer. „ IV i 3
This same petition of the foreign e's „ IV i 193 condemn The blameless e?— Becket II ii 396
'Tis not the King who is guilty of mine e, „ II ii 415
Send back again those e's of my kin „ III iii 186
On a Tuesday from mine e I return'd, „ V ii 293
Exile (verb) E me from the face of Theobald. „ I iii 43
Exit Here His turtle builds; his e is our adit: „ II ii 7
Expectant E of the rack from day to day, Queen Mary IV iii 437
Expectation one step in the dark beyond Our e, that amazes us. The Cup I i 213
Expedient And all our loving subjects, most e. Queen Mary II ii 211
It is e for one man to die, „ IV iii 17 which our Queen And Council at this present deem it not E to be known. „ IV iii 57 Experience And all the heap'd e's of life, Becket I i 154
Exposure See Self-exposure
Extreme your Father must be now in e old age. Prom. of May III 400
Eye (a place) Due from his castles of Berkhamstead and E Becket I iii 629 Eye I shall judge with my own e's Queen Mary I i 134 with his fast-fading e's Fixt hard on mine, „ I ii 30 and deep-incavern'd e's Half fright me. „ I iv 267 some waxen doll Thy baby e's have rested on, „ I v 9 take mine e's, mine heart, But do not lose me Calais. „ I v 127 into some more costly stone Than ever blinded e. „ I v 371 what, have you e's, ears, brains? „ II i 96
With execrating execrable e's, Glared at the citizen. „ II ii 67
Were your e's So bashful that you look'd no higher: „ III i 64 and when her innocent e's were bound, „ III i 405 Wore in mine e's the green of Paradise. „ III ii 18
Fine e's—but melancholy, irresolute— „ III iv 337
I read his honest horror in his e's. „ III v 61
And warble those brief-sighted e's of hers? „ III vi 155 you scarce could meet his e And hold your own; „ IV i 104
I am ashamed to lift my e's to heaven, „ IV iii 127
His e was like a soldier's, whom the general „ IV iii 304
Tell her to come and close my dying e's, „ V ii 600
Mine e's are dim: what hath she written? „ V v 1
I swear it, By mine own e's— Harold I ii 110
There lodged a gleaming grimness in his e's, „ II ii 225
He tore their e's out, sliced their hands away, „ II ii 389
Tear out his e's, And plunge him into prison. „ II ii 491 Thine 'ifs' will sear thine e's out—ay. „ II ii 626 whose baby e Saw them sufficient. „ III ii 66
I saw it in her e's! „ V i 368

Eye (continued) God's e's! I know all that— Becket, Pro. 148 God's e's! what a lovely cross! „ Pro. 371 for thine e's Glare stupid-wild with wine. „ I i 213
He had good e's! „ I ii 38
He all but pluck'd the bearer's e's away. „ I iii 11
God's e's! I had meant to make him all but king. „ I iii 464
The King's 'God's e's!' come now so thick and fast, „ I iii 609 by God's e's, we will not have him crown'd. „ II ii 3
The Church alone hath e's—and now I see „ II ii 436 was a pity to blindfold such e's as mine, „ III i 127 only there was a dare-devil in his e—I should say a dare-Becket. „ III iii 89 father's e was so tender it would have called „ III iii 101 as to the young crownling himself, he looked so malapert in the e's, „ III iii 109
King plucks out their e's Who anger him, „ IV ii 406 disciplines that clear the spiritual e, „ V i 43
My liege, the Queen of England. Henry. God's e's! „ V i 98
The Church! the Church! God's e's! „ V i 217 bust of Juno and the brows and e's Of Venus; The Cup I i 121
What follows is for no wife's e's. „ I ii 231
Yea,—with our e's,—our hearts, „ I ii 412 mark'd Her e's were ever on the marble floor? „ II 19 and a-spreading to catch her e for a dozen year, till he hasn't an e left The Falcon 100
The pleasure of his e's—boast of his hand— „ 221
That bright inheritor of your e's—your boy? „ 306
i' the poorch as soon as he clapt e's of 'er. Prom. of May I 23
Under your e's, Miss Dora. „ I 89
And your e's be as blue as— „ I 91 voice a-shaäkin', and the drop in 'er e. „ II 130 Eva's e's thro' hers—A spell upon me! „ II 641 hath the fire in her face and the dew in her e's. Foresters I i 167
Would you cast An e of favour on me, „ I ii 217
How close the Sheriff peer'd into thine e's! „ I ii 253
That if I cast an e of favour on him, „ I ii 261
Elf, with spiteful heart and e, „ II ii 172
Not an e to survey, „ II ii 181
Robin, the sweet light of a mother's e, „ IV 2
Mine e most true to one hair's-breadth of aim. „ IV 694
I cannot meet his e's. „ IV 799
Eyebrow Why do you lift your e at me thus? Queen Mary III vi 102 Eyed See Far-eyed
Eyeless —tongueless and e, prison'd— Harold II ii 496 Eyelid Mine amulet . . . This last . . . upon thine e's, „ I ii 125 kiss that charms thine e's into sleep, „ I ii 140
Eyeshot and keep me still In e. „ II ii 242 Eyesight play The William with thine e and thy tongue. „ V i 27
rend away E and manhood, life itself, Becket IV ii 285
Has lost his health, his e, even his mind. Prom. of May III 767

F

Fa I would dance too. F, la, la, f la, la. Foresters I ii 59
Faäce (face) plow straäit as a line right i' the f o' the sun, Prom. of May I 370
—then hup ageän i' the f o' the sun. „ I 372 thaw the feller's gone and maäde such a litter of his f. „ II 589
she niver knawed 'is f when 'e wur 'ere afoor; „ II 606
Fable There is a pleasant f in old books, Harold IV i 56
Face (s) (See also Faäce, Janus-faces, Long-face)* wilt thou see the holy father Murdered before thy f? Queen Mary I iii 65
Is this the f of one who plays the tyrant? „ I v 194
Madam, methinks a cold f and a haughty. „ I v 197 Show me your f's! „ I v 307
show'd his back Before I read his f. „ II i 133
Here was a young mother, Her f on flame, „ II ii 70
The colour freely play'd into her f, „ II ii 321 thro' that dim dilated world of hers, To read our f's; „ II ii 326 before the Queen's f Gardiner buys them With Philip's gold. „ III i 143 there's the f coming on here of one Who knows me. „ III i 470 Pole has the Plantagenet f, „ III iv 334

Face (s) (continued) I have but shown a loathing f to you, Queen Mary III vi 113
See how the tears run down his fatherly f. „ IV iii 4 wash'd his hands and all his f therein, „ IV iii 338 and look upon my f, Not on the comet. Harold I i 26
I cannot read the f of heaven; „ I i 67
He can but read the king's f on his coins. Stigand. Ay, ay, young lord, there the king's f is power. „ I i 71 send thy saints that I may say Ev'n to their f's, „ II ii 787
The rosy f, and long down-silvering beard, „ III i 46 turn not thou Thy f away, „ III ii 40
The rosy f and long down-silvering beard— „ IV i 261
he hath risen again—he bares his f— „ V i 557
how he fells The mortal copse of f's! „ V i 589
They have so maim'd and murder'd all his f „ V ii 77
I left him with peace on his f— Becket, Pro. 396
Her f was veiled, but the back methought „ Pro. 469 Exile me from the f of Theobald. „ I iii 43 when he sign'd, his f was stormy-red— „ I iii 320 Flung the Great Seal of England in my f— „ I iii 457 he licks my f and moans and cries out against the King. „ I iv 99 and glass The faithful f of heaven— „ II i 161 Life on the f, the brows—clear innocence! „ II i 195 who hath withstood two Kings to their f's for the honour of God. „ II ii 276 as I hate the dirty gap in the f of a Cistercian monk, „ II ii 381 or I couldn't look your ladyship i' the f, „ III i 196 and to read the f's of men at a great show. „ III iii 83 ran a twitch across his f as who should say „ III iii 94 and once he strove to hide his f, „ III iii 104 his fine-cut f bowing and beaming with all that courtesy „ III iii 141 scared the red rose from your f Into your heart? „ IV ii 74
I will hide my f, Blacken and gipsyfy it; „ IV ii 99
Nay, what uncomely f's, could he see you! „ V i 201
These arm'd men in the city, these fierce f's— „ V iii 4
We will not have him slain before our f. „ V iii 55 shun To meet her f to f at once! The Cup I i 59 brows and eyes Of Venus; f and form unmatchable! „ I i 122
She—no, not ev'n my f. „ I i 132
Who are with him? I see no f that knows me. „ I i 183
In the full f of all the Roman camp? „ I ii 269
Only one, And he perhaps mistaken in the f. „ I ii 343
His f was not malignant, and he said „ I ii 451 ambition, pride So bloat and redden his f— „ II 170 far as the f goes A goodlier-looking man „ II 175
f of an angel and the heart of a—that's too positive! The Falcon 86 what you see you are saying afore his f? Count. Let him—he never spares me to my f! Filippo. No, my lord, I never spare your lordship to your lordship's f, „ 108 nor to round about and back to your lordship's f again, „ 115 and bless your sweet f, you look as beautiful „ 197 colour'd all my life, Flush'd in her f; „ 365 one sweet f Crown'd with the wreath. „ 648 her affections Will flower toward the light in some new f. Prom. of May I 487
Her bright f beaming starlike down upon me „ II 248
If he should ever show his f among us, „ II 423
the rain beating in my f all the way, „ III 367
'Go home;' but I hadn't the heart or f to do it. „ III 389
I will give thee a buffet on the f. Foresters I i 146 hath the fire in her f and the dew in her eyes. „ I i 167
How she looks up at him, how she holds her f! „ I ii 145
Why wearest thou thy cowl to hide thy f? „ I ii 207 bounden by a vow not to show his f, „ I ii 237
I hate hidden f's. (repeat) „ I ii 245, 251 and old f's Press round us, and warm hands „ I iii 19
Her f is thine, and if thou be as gentle „ II i 480
Wilt thou embrace thy sweetheart 'fore my f? „ II ii 29
Never Ob before his f. „ II ii 133
For ever buzzing at your lady's f. „ IV 11
It is not he—his f—tho' very like— „ IV 777
And scruplest not to flaunt it to our f „ IV 887
Face (verb) f me out of all My regal rights. Becket II ii 165 Faced See Black-faced, Red-faced

Facile be f to my hands. Now is my time. Becket, Pro. 218 Facility translated that hard heart into our Provençal facilities, „ Pro. 381 to spare us the hardness of your f? „ Pro. 386
Faction There is a f risen again for Tostig, Harold IV i 172
Our anti-Roman f? The Cup I ii 197
I have enough—their anti-Roman f. „ I ii 201 dishonour The daughters and the wives of your own f— Foresters IV 699 Fade f Into the deathless hell which is their doom Queen Mary III ii 174 we f and are forsaken— „ V ii 374 Faded Flower, she! Half f! „ I iv 61 this f ribbon was the mode In Florence ten years back. The Falcon 421 blossom of his youth, Has f, falling fruitless— Prom. of May II 334 Fading (See also Fast-fading) O my sick boy! My daily f Florio, The Falcon 236
Faggot then, who lights the f? Not the full faith, Queen Mary III iv 123
Last night, I dream'd the f's were alight, „ IV ii 2
Will my f's Be wet as his were? „ IV ii 228 bind a score All in one f, snap it over knee, Harold IV i 58
Faggot-band Snap not the f-b then. „ IV i 66
Fail I f Where he was fullest: Queen Mary II i 55
All traitors f like Tostig! Harold IV iii 79
Solders a race together—yea—tho' they f, The Cup I ii 163
Lest he should f to pay these thousand marks Foresters IV 454
Fail'd Few things have f to which I set my will. Queen Mary II ii 22
Wyatt was a good soldier, yet he f, „ III i 132
On my last voyage—but the wind has f— The Cup II 522
We ever f to light upon thy son. Foresters IV 984
Failing F her, my Lord, Doth not as great Queen Mary I iv 94
Failure but f it may be Of all we aim'd at. Becket I i 382
Fain Make me full f to live and die a maid. Queen Mary V iii 98
Faint I am somewhat f With our long talk. „ I v 520
I am f with fear that you will come no more. „ V i 30 but look, where Edward draws A f foot hither, Harold I i 144
Tostig, I am f again. „ I i 266
A ghostly horn Blowing continually, and f battle-hymns, „ III i 373
I am f and sleepy. Leave me. Becket III i 208
I am very f. I must lie down. Prom. of May III 472
'I am f for your honey, my sweet.' Foresters IV 15
Move me no more! I am sick and f with pain! „ IV 599
Fainted O she has f. Sister, Eva, sister! Prom. of May III 672 Fair Even so, f lady. Queen Mary I iv 97 left about Like loosely-scatter'd jewels, in f order, „ II i 28
As f and white as angels; „ III ii 16 were much amazed To find as f a sun as might have flash'd „ III ii 22 you perchance were trifling royally With some f dame of court, „ III vi 160
And all the f spice-islands of the East. „ V i 49
How f and royal—like a Queen, indeed? „ V i 235
F island star! „ V iii 15
Were you in Spain, this fine f gossamer gold— „ V iii 48
I never look'd upon so f a likeness „ V v 28
Be there not f woods and fields In England? Harold I i 261
Then fling mine own f person in the gap A sacrifice to Harold, „ I ii 202 then a f life And bless the Queen of England. „ I ii 206
Earl, wilt thou fly my falcons this f day? „ II ii 146
So thou, f friend, will take them easily. „ II ii 207
Not ever f for England? „ II ii 258
Obey him, speak him f, „ II ii 318
O speak him f, Harold, for thine own sake. „ II ii 395
Look not amazed, f earl! „ II ii 494
The wind is f For England now . . . „ II ii 766
Full thanks for your f greeting of my bride! „ IV iii 46
Good royal customs—had them written f Becket I iii 416
And one f child to fondle! „ III i 12
F Sir, a happy day to you! The Cup I i 188
Leaving your f Marian alone here. Foresters I ii 154
There are no wives like English wives So f and chaste as they be. „ II i 16
Fare you well, f lady! „ III 243 but see f play Betwixt them and Sir Richard— „ IV 98
But thou art f as ever, my sweet sister, „ IV 1017

Fairer My sister, is far f than myself. Queen Mary I v 72
How look'd the Queen? Bagenhall. No f for her jewels. „ III i 92 and the flowers Are all the f. Becket, Pro. 117
Fairest but of this England, in whose crown our Kent is the f jewel. Queen Mary II i 163
Find one a slut whose f linen seems Foul Becket V ii 202
Who art the f flower of maidenhood Foresters I ii 123
Fair-hair'd little f-h Norman maid Lived in my mother's house: Becket V ii 259 Fairly My King would know if you be f served, Queen Mary V iii 20 Fairy (adj.) What's here? A dead bat in the f ring— Foresters II ii 93
A glimpse of them and of their f Queen— „ II ii 103
F realm is breaking down „ II ii 134
there comes a deputation From our finikin f nation. „ II ii 145
Fairy (s) wish before the word Is man's good F— Queen Mary I iv 240
I thought if I followed it I should find the fairies.
Eleanor. I am the f, pretty one, a good f to thy mother. Becket IV i 24
There are good fairies and bad fairies, „ IV i 28 can't sleep sound o' nights because of the bad fairies. „ IV i 31
I am her good f. Geoffrey. But you don't look like a good f. Mother does. „ IV i 34
And leave you alone with the good f. „ IV ii 61
She may have lighted on your fairies here, Foresters II i 496
My men say The fairies haunt this glade;— „ II ii 101
There came some evil f at my birth „ II ii 108
Evil f! do you hear? „ II ii 116
We be fairies of the wood, „ II ii 118
When the f slights the crown. „ II ii 135
Fairy-ring And now be skipping in their f-r's, „ II i 497 Faith My flight were such a scandal to the f, Queen Mary I ii 53 long divided in itself, and sever'd from the f, „ I iii 22
Bonner, who hath lain so long under bonds for the f— „ I iii 36
Art thou of the true f, fellow, „ I iii 45
No, being of the true f with myself. „ I v 74
we two will lead The living waters of the F again „ I v 88
But here's some Hebrew. F, I half forgot it. „ II i 125
Good f, I was too sorry for the woman „ III i 57
All greed, no f, no courage! „ III i 145
'Hail, Daughter of God, and saver of the f. „ III ii 82
And clasp the f in Christ; „ III ii 122
Henceforth a centre of the living f. „ III ii 155
The great unborn defender of the F, „ III ii 165
His f shall clothe the world that will be his, „ III ii 180 f that seem'd to droop will feel your light, „ III iv 22 track of the true f Your lapses are far seen. „ III iv 94
For yet the f is not established there. „ III iv 109 because to persecute Makes a f hated, and is furthermore No perfect witness of a perfect f „ III iv 116
Not the full f, no, but the lurking doubt. „ III iv 124
When f is wavering makes the waverer pass „ III iv 157 call they not The one true f, a loathsome idol-worship? „ III iv 219 accuse you of indifference To all f's, all religion; „ III iv 224
the Queen, the Holy Father, The f itself. „ III vi 35
Upon the f and honour of a Spaniard, „ III vi 254
Have you remain'd in the true Catholic f I left you in? Cranmer. In the true Catholic f, „ IV ii 17 confess Your f before all hearers; „ IV ii 80 my f would seem Dead or half-drown'd, „ IV ii 96
Which frights you back into the ancient f; „ IV ii 144 Power hath been given you to try f by fire— „ IV ii 153 these burnings will not help The purpose of the f; „ IV ii 185 he seal his f In sight of all with flaming martyrdom. „ IV iii 28 proclaim Your true undoubted f, that all may hear. „ IV iii 114 declare to you my very f Without all colour. „ IV iii 225
In every article of the Catholic f, „ IV iii 230
No f with heretics, my Lord! „ IV iii 458 Died in the true f? „ V ii 518 sunk rocks; no passionate f— „ V v 222
Pray'd me to pay her debts, and keep the F; „ V v 258
What's up is f, what's down is heresy. Harold I i 84 yet to us, in f, A happy one— „ II ii 200
That runs thro' all the f's of all the world. „ III i 352 all the f's Of this grown world of ours, „ III ii 64 Faith (continued) Loyally and with good f, my lord Archbishop? Becket I iii 278 with all that loyalty and good f Thou still „ I iii 281
Mail'd in the perfect panoply of f, „ V ii 494
Die for a woman, what new f is this? The Cup I iii 67 learnt at last that all His old-world f, Prom. of May II 332 —will he ever be of one f with his wife? „ III 178
Beware, man, lest thou lose thy f in me. Foresters I ii 179 on the f and honour of a king The land is his again. „ IV 851 Faithful who am your friend And ever f counsellor, Queen Mary I v 135 that I live and die That true and f bride of Philip— „ II iv 43
Your f friend and trusty councillor. „ IV i 89
Have done my best, and as a f son, „ V ii 117 herself should see That king's are f to their marriage vow. Becket I ii 78
A f traitress to thy royal fame. „ II i 97 and glass The f face of heaven— „ II i 161 and be to Rome More f than a Roman. The Cup I i 103
This very day the Romans crown him king For all his f services to Rome. „ II 65
Our Antonius, Our f friend of Rome, „ II 244
I will be f to thee till thou die. „ II 330
Faithless Break thine alliance with this f John, Foresters IV 323
Falaise The F byblow! Harold IV iii 174
Falcon wilt thou fly my f's this fair day? „ II ii 146
Bird-babble for my f! Let it pass. The Falcon 38
Just gone To fly his f. „ 210
His f, and I come to ask for his f, „ 219 his f Ev'n wins his dinner for him in the field. „ 230
How can I ask for his f? „ 234
'Get the Count to give me his f, „ 242
How can I, dare I, ask him for his f? „ 264 and once you let him fly your f. „ 317
His F. Count. My f! Giovanna. Yes, your f, Federigo! „ 840
Nothing but my brave bird, my noble f, „ 874
Falconry The full-train'd marvel of all f, „ 25 plunge and f Of heresy to the pit: Queen Mary III iv 141 Fall (s) have I that I am fixt, Fixt beyond f; „ IV ii 90
It means the f of Tostig from his earldom. Harold I i 468
Except it be a soft one, And undereaten to the f. „ I ii 123
Do you still suffer from your f in the hollow lane? Prom. of May III 241
She said 'It's the f of the year, Foresters IV 24
Fall (verb) Hast thou let f those papers in the palace? Queen Mary I iii 1
No—being traitor Her head will f: „ I v 60 let Rebellion Roar till throne rock, and crown f. „ II i 145 hoped to f Into the wide-spread arms of fealty, „ II ii 263 Like dogs that set to watch their master's gate, F, „ III iv 311 in the daylight truth That it may f to-day! „ III v 137
If war should f between yourself and France; „ V i 9
So from a clear sky f's the thunderbolt! „ V iii 115
Come f not foul on me. Harold I i 460 see confusion f On thee and on thine house. „ II ii 489
My prayers go up as fast as my tears f, „ III i 166
F, cloud, and fill the house— „ III i 190
And on it f's the shadow of the priest; „ III ii 70
If the king f, may not the kingdom f? But if I f, I f, „ V i 123
If I f, I f—The doom of God! „ V i 135
I cannot f into a falser world— „ V i 271
And not on thee—nor England—f God's doom! „ V i 370
F's—and another f's. „ V i 500
No, daughter, no—they f behind the horse— „ V i 545
As thine own bolts that f on crimeful heads „ V i 565
Charged with the weight of heaven wherefrom they f! „ V i 568
They f on those within the palisade! „ V i 668
As seeming his, not mine, and f abroad. Becket, Pro. 228
God make not thee, but thy foes, f. Becket. I fell.
Why f? Why did He smite me? What? Shall I f off—to please the King once more? „ I i 107
Thou canst not f that way. „ I i 115
'When a bishoprick f's vacant, the King, „ I iii 100
When thieves f out, honest men— „ I iv 114
When honest men f out, thieves— „ I iv 118 Shame f on those who gave it a dog's name— „ II i 141 the sea-creek—the petty rill That f's into it— „ II ii 295
Devil's 'if Thou wilt f down and worship me.' „ III iii 286

Fall (verb) (continued) I could f down, and worship thee, my Thomas, Becket III iii 288 Go. See that you do not f in. Go. „ IV ii 59 world allows I f no inch Behind this Becket, „ V i 39
Ready to f at Henry's word or yours— „ V ii 486
I heard in Rome, This tributary crown may f to you. The Cup I i 97
So f's the throne of an hour. „ II 486 with as little pain As it is to f asleep. Prom. of May II 342
But for the slender help that I can give, F into ruin. „ II 422
I f before thee, clasp Thy knees. Foresters II i 598
When heaven f's, I may light on such a lark! „ III 12
he f's And knows no more. „ IV 526
Fallen (See also Flesh-fallen) He hath f out of favour with the Queen. Queen Mary I iv 156
We are f, and as I think, Never to rise again. „ III i 123 of all censures Of Holy Church that we be f into, „ III iii 152
we are f creatures; Look to your Bible, Paget! we are f. „ III iv 80
You sit upon this f Cranmer's throne; „ IV i 114
How are the mighty f, Master Cranmer! „ IV ii 146
From councillor to caitiff—f so low, „ IV iii 75
That should have f, and may rise again. „ V ii 6 like the bloodless head F on the block, „ V ii 21
Love will fly the f leaf, and not be overtaken; „ V ii 372 blast that came So suddenly hath f as suddenly— Harold II i 14
Many are f At Stamford-bridge . . . „ IV iii 214
Gurth hath leapt upon him And slain him: he hath f. „ V i 634 Glory to God in the Highest! f, f! „ V i 636 hath kinglike fought and f, His birthday, too. „ V ii 125 spouse of the Great King, thy King, hath f— Becket III iii 176
The folds have f from the mystery, „ IV ii 8 he hath f Into a sickness, and it troubles me. The Falcon 309 thaw I may ha' f out wi' ye sometimes, Prom. of May I 324 and now she be f out wi' ma, and I can't coom at 'er. „ II 600
We Steers are of old blood, tho' we be f. „ III 605
And darkness rises from the f sun. Foresters I iii 42
Or haply f a victim to the wolf. „ II i 509
we have f into the hands Of Robin Hood. (repeat) „ III 232, 297 my lady, Kate and I have f out again, „ III 412 Falling How oft the f axe, that never fell, Queen Mary III v 134 not to-night—the night is f. Becket III ii 52 blossom of his youth, Has faded, f fruitless— Prom. of May II 334
Fallow —our f's till'd, Much corn, Becket I iii 376
False (adj. and adv.) The f archbishop fawning on him, Queen Mary I v 30
O madam, if this Pembroke should be f? „ II iv 10
F to Northumberland, is he f to me? „ II iv 39 tho' a true one, Blazed f upon her heart. „ III i 70
And whether this flash of news be f or true, „ III ii 234
No pardon!—Why that was f: „ V v 136
Who, while ye fish for men with your f fires, Harold II i 31
So less chance for f keepers. „ II ii 688
Good for good hath borne at times A bastard f as William. „ V i 176
Thou hast been f to England and to me!— „ V i 349
As . . . in some sort . . . I have been f to thee. „ V i 352
He that was f in oath to me, it seems Was f to his own wife. „ V ii 151
And that the f Northumbrian held aloof, „ V ii 165
F to myself—it is the will of God (repeat) Becket I iii 290, 328
F to himself, but ten-fold f to me! „ I iii 472
F figure, Map would say. „ III iii 346
F oath on holy cross—for thou must leave him To-day, „ IV ii 209
Robin, I ever held that saying f That Love is blind, Foresters II i 643
No, no, f knight, thou canst not hide thyself „ II ii 23
False (s) Earth's f's are heaven's truths. Becket III iii 348
Falsehood lips that never breathed Love's f to true maid Foresters IV 73
Falsely when I sware F to him, the falser Norman, Harold V i 303 Falser I cannot fall into a f world— „ V i 271 when I sware Falsely to him, the f Norman, „ V i 303
Falter And yet methinks he f's: Queen Mary III iv 398
He f's, ha? 'fore God, we change and change; „ III iv 406
Falter'd old affection master'd you, You f into tears. Becket V ii 145
Faltering felt the f of his mother's heart, Queen Mary II ii 82
Fame A faithful traitress to thy royal f. Henry. F! what care I for f? Becket II i 98
Fame (continued) F of to-day is infamy to-morrow; Infamy of to-day is f to-morrow: Becket II i 103
—thy f too: I say that should be royal. „ II i 109
You heed not how you soil her maiden f, Foresters IV 480
Familiar Yea, some f spirit must have help'd him. William. Woe knave to thy f and to thee! Harold II ii 679 Family Be we not of the f? be we not a-supping with the head of the f? Becket I iv 178 for I am closely related to the dead man's f. Prom. of May II 715
It is the trick of the f, my lord. Foresters I iii 151
Famine Wet, f, ague, fever, storm, wreck, wrath,— Queen Mary V v 108 War, waste, plague, f, all malignities. Harold I i 466
F is fear, were it but Of being starved. „ IV iii 204
Till f dwarft the race— Becket I iii 356
if you cram me crop-full I be little better than F in the picture, Foresters I i 47
Famine-dead seen the true men of Christ lying f-d by scores, Queen Mary V iv 38
Famine-stricken Laid f-s at the gates of Death— Prom. of May III 807
Famine-wasted Who wander f-w thro' the world. Becket III iii 188
Famish'd I am footsore and f therewithal. Foresters II i 267 while f rats Eat them alive. Queen Mary V ii 196
Famishing lash'd to death, or lie F in black cells, „ V ii 196
Fan (s) that his f may thoroughly purge his floor. „ III iv 369
Fan (verb) it serves to f A kindled fire. „ I v 620
Fancied Have you f yourself in love with him? Prom. of May I 783
Why, my good Robin f me a man, Foresters III 20
F he saw thee clasp and kiss a man. Kate. Well, if he f that I fancy a man Other than him, „ III 23
Fancy (s) My f takes the burner's part, Queen Mary IV ii 231 this ghastly glare May heat their fancies. Harold I i 310
Who sow'd this f here among the people? „ IV i 147
Whether it bow'd at all but in their f; „ V i 109 had I fixt my f Upon the game I should have beaten thee, Becket, Pro. 50
And thy thoughts, thy fancies? „ Pro. 118
I speak after my fancies, for I am a Troubadour, „ Pro. 347 would she were but his paramour, for men tire of their fancies; but I fear this one f hath taken root, „ Pro. 480
That you may feed your f on the glory of it, The Cup II 133
And all Thro' following of my f. The Falcon 144 specially sick children, have strange fancies, „ 818
I have ta'en a sudden f to thee. Foresters IV 422
Fancy (verb) You must f that which follow'd, Queen Mary III i 409
Can I f him kneeling with me, and uttering Prom. of May III 179 if he fancied that I f a man Other than him, Foresters III 25 Fancy-ridd'n known a semi-madman in my time So f-r) Queen Mary II i 11
Fancy-sick F-s; these things are done, „ IV iii 453
Fangless he that lookt a f one, Issues a venomous adder. Becket I iii 451
Fanny F be the naäme i' the song, but I swopt it fur she. Prom. of May II 211
Far (See also Var) My sister, is f fairer than myself. Queen Mary I v 72
F liefer had I in my country hall Been reading some old book, „ III i 43 and rooted in f isles Beyond my seeing: Harold III i 152 at the f end of the glade I see two figures crawling up the hill. Foresters IV 331 Farce comedy meant to seem a tragedy—A feint, a f. Becket IV ii 323
You have spoilt the f. „ IV ii 337
There was the f, the feint—not mine. „ IV ii 377
Fare (s) The prison f is good enough for me. Queen Mary IV ii 42
Fare (verb) F you well, Sir Ralph. „ II ii 409
I must leave you. F you well, „ III i 473
How f's thy pretty boy, the little Geoffrey? Becket V ii 167
F you well. Synorix. Farewell! The Cup I i 158
Sir Richard and my Lady Marian f wellnigh as sparely as their people. Foresters I i 31
Where is she? and how f's she? „ II i 106
F you well, fair lady! „ III 242
Fared And f so ill in this disastrous world. Queen Mary V ii 344
Farewell (adj.) she means to make A f present to your grace. „ I iv 245
Farewell (s) heard She would not take a last f of him, „ III i 367
Farewell (verb, and inter.) f, and fly. Cranmer. Fly and f, „ I ii 103

Farewell (verb, and inter.) (continued) And so you may continue mine, f, Queen Mary I iv 137
Must be content with that; and so, f. „ I v 271
F. I am somewhat faint With our long talk. „ I v 519
F, and trust me, Philip is yours. „ I v 539
F, your Graces. „ III ii 146
F, Madam, God grant you ampler mercy „ IV i 188
For a little space, f; „ IV ii 46
Have you good hopes of mercy! So, f. „ IV ii 87
Your pardon, Sweet cousin, and f! „ V ii 204
F, my king. Harold. Not yet, but then—my queen. Harold I ii 137
F for ever! „ IV ii 81
F! Harold. Not yet. Stay. „ V i 336
Stigand will see thee safe, And so—F. „ V i 420
F! I am dead as Death this day to ought of earth's „ V i 424
F! Becket. F, friends! f, swallows! Becket I iv 43 that will swallow anything. F. „ II ii 383
And so f until we meet in England. „ III iii 236
f, my lord. Becket. F, my liege! „ III iii 271
F! I must follow the King. „ III iii 329
Ev'n so: but think not of the King: f! „ V ii 186 city is full of armed men. Becket. Ev'n so: f! „ V ii 189
Fare you well. Synorix. F! The Cup I i 160
Remember! Away—f! Camma. F! „ I iii 115
Nothing more, f. Prom. of May I 749
'F, f, my warrior Earl!' Foresters I i 18
We thank you, and f. Robin. F, f. „ I ii 249
F, Sir Richard: f, sweet Marian. „ I ii 284
F, good fellows! „ III 86
F at once, for I must hence upon The King's affair. „ IV 341
F! I left mine horse and armour with a Squire, „ IV 413 Blown like a true son of the woods. F! „ IV 428
Meanwhile, f Old friends, old patriarch oaks. „ IV 1053

Far-eyed My f-e queen of the winds— The Falcon 9

Farm (adj.) The hen cluckt late by the white f gate, Prom. of May I 38

Farm (s) her advowsons, granges, f's, And goodly acres— Becket I i 162 but the ill success of the f, and the debts, Prom. of May II 68
S'iver I mun git along back to the f, „ II 321
From the f Here, close at hand. „ II 360
I met her first at a f in Cumberland—Her uncle's. „ II 396
She has disappear'd, They told me, from the f— „ II 407
Has left his f, all his affairs, I fear, „ II 420 hunt him With pitchforks off the f, „ II 427 Allow me to go with you to the f. „ II 574 rose From the foul flood and pointed toward the f, „ II 654
The work of the f will go on still, but for how long? „ III 159
Father, this poor girl, the f, everything; „ III 212
I trust I may be able by-and-by to help you in the business of the f; „ III 223
And in the winter I will fire their f's. Foresters IV 95

Farm (verb) feller couldn't find a Mister in his mouth fur me, as f's five hoonderd haäcre. Prom. of May I 303

Farmer When theer wur a meeting o' f's at Littlechester „ I 137
Tho' you are a gentleman, I but a f's daughter— „ I 668
F, you should be in the hayfield looking after your men; „ II 46
How beautiful His manners are, and how unlike the f's! „ II 532 shamed of his poor f's daughter among the ladies in his drawing-room? „ III 294
if a gentleman Should wed a f's daughter, „ III 579

Farm-gate She gave her hand, unask'd, at the f-g; „ II 626

Farming Miss, the f men 'ull hev their dinner i' the long barn, „ I 165

Farming-men if the f-m be come for their wages, to send them up to me. „ III 15

Farmstead and scare lonely maidens at the f. Foresters III 201

Far-off I have a f-o burrow where the King Would miss her and for ever. Becket IV ii 158

Farther Your Grace's policy hath a f flight Than mine Queen Mary I v 312

Farthest that flower'd bowl my ancestor Fetch'd from the f east— The Falcon 485

Fashion red and white, the f of our land. Queen Mary I v 10
Is it the f of this clime for women „ III vi 90
Will in some lying f misreport His ending „ IV iii 326

Fashion (continued) the dead were found Sitting, and in this f; Queen Mary V ii 397
To make allowance for their rougher f's, Harold II ii 9
You are too cold to know the f of it. Becket II ii 126
Or scarce would smile that f. „ III iii 28 —to celebrate my birthdaäy i' this f. Prom. of May I 322 your Ladyship hath sung the old proverb out of f. Foresters I i 164 that he may see The f of it. „ IV 254 thou, that art churchman too In a f, „ IV 412 blow upon it Three mots, this f—listen! „ IV 425

Fashion'd (See also Old-fashioned) I have had it f, see, to meet my hand. Harold V i 422

Fast (adj. and adv.) (See also Hold-fast, Friendship-fast)
Do ye stand f by that which ye resolved? Queen Mary III iii 103
Have not I been the f friend of your life „ V ii 133
I dug mine into My old f friend the shore, Harold II i 7 come now so thick and f, Becket I iii 610

Fast (s) If f and prayer, the lacerating scourge— „ I iii 303
He fast! is that an arm of f? „ I iii 520
In scourgings, macerations, mortifyings, F's, „ V i 42
I come this day to break my f with you The Falcon 276
I have broken My f already. „ 575
Not having broken f the livelong day— Foresters IV 186

Fast (verb) Your Foliot f's and fawns too much for me. Becket, Pro. 264
He f's, they say, this mitred Hercules! He f! is that an arm of fast? „ I iii 518
F, scourge thyself, and mortify thy flesh, „ I iii 539
I love my dinner—but I can f, I can f; Foresters I ii 64

Fasten I will f thee to mine own door-post „ II i 403

Fasten'd And that myself was f to the stake, Queen Mary IV ii 3 not at the moment who had f About his throat— The Cup II 50

Faster F than ivy. Must I hack her arms off? Harold V ii 146
Come in, my friends, come in! Nay, f, f! Becket V iii 69

Fastest I am thy f friend in Normandy. Harold II ii 556

Fast-fading with his f-f eyes Fixt hard on mine, Queen Mary I ii 30

Fasting A life of prayer and f well may see Harold I i 199

Fat The shadows of a hundred f dead deer „ I ii 103
The slow, f fool! He drawl'd and prated so, „ IV ii 40
A-hawking, a-hawking! If I sit, I grow f. Becket, Pro. 414
One slow, f, white, a burthen of the hearth; „ V ii 211
That fine, f, hook-nosed uncle of mine, old Harold, Prom. of May I 509

Fatal ruling men are f twins that cannot Move one without the other. Harold III i 127
Blaze like a night of f stars on those Who read „ IV i 251
My f oath—the dead Saints—the dark dreams— „ V i 380 cowling and clouding up That f star, thy Beauty, Becket I i 312

Fatality foul fatalities That blast our natural passions Prom. of May III 723

Fate f Which hunted him when that un-Saxon blast, Harold II ii 29
f hath blown me hither, bound me too „ II ii 219
She is my f—else wherefore has my f The Cup I i 12
I fling all that upon my f, my star. „ I iii 27
Life yields to death and wisdom bows to F, „ II 90
The wheel of F has roll'd me to the top. „ II 221
Drew here the richest lot from F, „ II 442 is it thou? the F's are throned, not we— „ II 488
He had my f for it, Poison'd. „ II 516

Fated Rome is f To rule the world. „ II 415

Father (s) (See also Feyther, God-father) Let f alone, my masters! Queen Mary I i 38 child who had but obeyed her f; „ I i 95 putting by his f's will. „ I ii 28
you divorced Queen Catharine and her f; „ I ii 57
Courtenay, wilt thou see the holy f Murder'd before thy face? „ I iii 64
Your royal f (For so they say) was all pure lily „ I v 19 as tho' My f and my brother had not lived. „ I v 36 for doing that His f whipt him into doing— „ I v 63
My hard f hated me; „ I v 80
my royal f, To make the crown of Scotland one with ours, „ I v 286 Hath he the large ability of his f? „ I v 439 thing Was no such scarecrow in your f's time. „ I v 473 the child obey'd her f. Spite of her tears her f forced it on her. „ I v 494
My f on a birthday gave it me, And I have broken with my f— „ I v 527

Father (s) (continued) were a pious work To string my f's sonnets, Queen Mary II i 27
Hand me the casket with my f's sonnets. „ II i 44
Dumb children of my f, that will speak .. II i 77
I know Spain. I have been there with my f; .. II i 167 my f was the rightful heir Of England, .. II ii 170 to whom The king, my f, did commit his trust; .. II ii 208
The f ceded Naples, that the son Being a King, .. III i 74
Against the Holy F's primacy, „ III iii 131
Thro' this most reverend F, absolution, .. III iii 148
He, whom the F hath appointed Head .. III iii 206 or more Denied the Holy F! .. III iv 248
As once the Holy F did with mine, .. III v 243
Before my f married my good mother,— .. III v 245
Against the King, the Queen, the Holy F, .. III vi 33
What your imperial f said, my liege, .. III vi 56 you know my f, Retiring into cloistral solitude .. III vi 208
The Holy F in a secular kingdom Is as the soul .. IV i 34
Cranmer is head and f of these heresies, .. IV i 76
Your f was a man Of such colossal kinghood, .. IV i 100
Your f had a will that beat men down; Your f had a brain that beat men down— „ IV i 108
It is God's will, the Holy F's will, „ IV i 184
As if he had been the Holy F, sat And judged it. „ IV iii 44
O God, F of Heaven! O Son of God, „ IV iii 117
O God the F, not for little sins „ IV iii 143
Forgive me, F, for no merit of mine, „ IV iii 152
I do believe in God, F of all; „ IV iii 228 stood More like an ancient f of the Church, „ IV iii 598
You must abide my judgment, and my f's, .. V i 146
And yet I must obey the Holy F, .. V ii 38
That all day long hath wrought his f's work, „ V ii 118
Shut on him by the f whom he loved, „ V ii 122
I watch'd you dancing once With your huge f; „ V ii 145
O would I were My f for an hour! „ V ii 294
We have made war upon the Holy F All for your sake: „ V ii 307
No, Madam, not against the Holy F, „ V ii 312
There was an old-world tomb beside my f's, „ V ii 394
My sister's marriage, and my f's marriages, „ V iii 96
It was his f's policy against France. „ V v 45
Holy F Has ta'en the legateship from our cousin Pole— „ V v 125
She thank'd her f sweetly for his book „ V v 236
O f, mock not at a public fear, Harold I i 74
For my dead f's loyalty to thee? „ I i 240 my f drove the Normans out Of England?— „ I i 251
F. William. Well, boy. „ II ii 103
But for my f I love Normandy. „ II ii 270 in thy f's day They blinded my young kinsman, Alfred—ay, Some said it was thy f's deed. „ II ii 510
Thank thee, f! Thou art English, „ III i 27
Harold, shake the cloud off! Harold. Can I, f? „ III i 75
I have heard a saying of thy f Godwin, „ III i 111
F, we so loved— Aldred. The more the love, „ III i 345
Hush, f, hush! „ III i 389 for this cow-herd, like my f, „ IV i 80 for mine own f Was great, and cobbled. .. IV i 90
Holy F Hath given this realm of England to the Norman. .. V i 12
Holy F To do with England's choice of her own king? .. V i 17
What power, holy f? .. V i 454
Are those the blessed angels quiring, f? .. V i 473
Ay, good f. .. V i 516
Look, daughter, look. Edith. Nay, f, look for me! .. V i 536
Stigand, O f, have we won the day? .. V i 543
The Holy F strangled him with a hair Of Peter „ V ii 45 the Holy F, while This Barbarossa butts him, from his chair, Becket, Pro. 215
Name him; the Holy F will confirm him. „ Pro. 244
Becket, her f's friend, like enough staved „ Pro. 517
Save me, f, hide me—they follow me— „ I i 181 but, f, They say that you are wise in winged things, „ I i 254 my f drove him and his friends, De Tracy and De Brito, „ I i 276
F, I am so tender to all hardness! Nay, f, „ I i 315
Wedded? Rosamund. F! „ I i 319
O, holy f, when thou seest him next, „ I i 322 and lay My crozier in the Holy F's hands, „ I iii 125

Father (s) (continued) Have I the orders of the Holy F? Becket I iii 233
The secret whisper of the Holy F. .. I iii 236
I knew thy f; he would be mine age Had he lived now; „ I iii 249 think of me as thy f! Behold thy f kneeling .. I iii 251
F, I am the youngest of the Templars, .. I iii 260
Sons sit in judgment on their f!— .. I iii 552
Becket shall be king, and the Holy F shall be king, .. I iv 270
The mouth is only Clifford, my dear f. .. II i 221
I would that thou hadst been the Holy F. .. II ii 398
I am the King, his f, And I will look to it. .. III i 26 Hath not thy f left us to ourselves? .. III i 271 with the Holy f astride of it down upon his own head. .. III iii 77 f's eye was so tender it would have called .. III iii 101 Glancing at the days when his f was only Earl of Anjou, .. III iii 150 nay, Geoffrey Plantaganet, thine own husband's f— .. IV ii 250
His f gave him to my care, and I Became his second f: .. V ii 335
And love him next after my lord his f. .. V ii 342 scare me from my loyalty To God and to the Holy F. .. V ii 483
He is not yet ascended to the F. .. V iii 150 and send him forth The glory of his f— The Cup II 263 happy was the prodigal son, For he return'd to the rich f; The Falcon 142
Many happy returns of the day, f. Prom. of May I 351
Did 'e git into thy chaumber? Eva. F! .. I 401
No, no, f! Towser'll tear him all to pieces. .. I 423
I hate Traditions, ever since my narrow f, .. I 492
Oh, Philip, F heard you last night. .. I 557 you have robb'd poor f Of ten good apples. .. I 615 nor f, Sister, nor you, shall ever see me more. „ I 675
And poor old f not die miserable. .. I 722 make them happy in the long barn, for f is in his glory, .. I 792 mentioned her name too suddenly before my f. .. II 24 and my f's breaking down, and his blindness. .. II 69
I have lost myself, and am lost for ever to you and my poor f. .. II 85 my poor f, utterly broken down By losing her— .. II 417
My f's death, Let her believe it mine; „ II 453
My f stricken with his first paralysis, .. II 481
Might I call Upon your f— .. II 513
I cannot Well answer for my f; .. II 519
What was that? my poor blind f— .. II 566 and f Will not die miserable.' .. II 659 my f and I forgave you stealing our coals. .. III 68 which F, for a whole life, has been getting together, .. III 165
F, this poor girl, the farm, everything; .. III 211
Poor blind F's little guide, Milly, .. III 231 will you not speak with F to-day? .. III 237 always told F that the huge old ashtree „ III 243 he will be willing that you and F should live with us; .. III 261
That last was my F's fault, poor man. .. III 279
And then—what would F say? .. III 390 your F must be now in extreme old age. „ III 400
Don't you long for F's forgiveness! „ III 404
You must not expect to find our F as he was five years ago. „ III 419
Hes the cow cawved? Dora. No, F. „ III 428
Be the colt dead? Dora. No, F. „ III 430
Well, F, I have a surprise for you. „ III 438
No, F, that was a mistake. She's here again. „ III 445 lost hersen i' the river. Dora. No. F, she's here. „ III 457 speaking with Your f, asking his consent— „ III 493 state Of my poor f puts me out of heart. „ III 504
I told you—My f. „ III 574
he, the f, Thro' that dishonour which you brought „ III 764
Marian! Marian. F! Foresters I i 180
Cleave to him, f! he will come home at last. „ I i 197
Tut, f! I am none of your delicate Norman maidens „ I i 211
F, you see this cross? „ I i 284 prays your ladyship and your ladyship's f to be present at his banquet to-night. „ I i 300
I wish you and your ladyship's f a most exceeding good morning. „ I i 309 and my own f—they were born and bred on it— „ I i 331
Take it again, dear f, be not wroth „ I i 341
Sufficient for the day, dear f! „ I i 343

Father (s) (continued) My lord, myself and my good f pray — Foresters I ii 127
Not her, the f's power upon her. — „ I iii 9
Much, the miller's son, I knew thy f: — „ I iii 147 but my f will not lose his land, — „ II i 522 betray'd Thy f to the losing of his land. — „ II i 570 your good f had his draught of wine — „ II ii 1
O my poor f! — „ II ii 8
O lead me to my f! (repeat) — „ II ii 22, 48
She will not marry till her f yield. — „ II ii 82
There is a fence I cannot overleap, My f's will. — „ III 10
And were my kindly f sound again, — „ III 81
He was my f, mother, both in one. — „ IV 6
And my sick f here has come between us — „ IV 55
Quiet, quiet! or I will to my f. — „ IV 78 thy f will not grace our feast With his white beard to-day. — „ IV 79
Here is my f's bond. — „ IV 463
You scheme against her f's weal and hers, — „ IV 481
I remain Beside my F's litter. — „ IV 605
Speak not. I wait upon a dying f. — „ IV 611
It seems thy f's land is forfeited. — „ IV 640 thou shalt wed him, Or thine old f will go mad— — „ IV 645
F, I cannot marry till Richard comes. — „ IV 648 the Sheriff, f, Would buy me for a thousand marks — „ IV 651
But pity for a f, it may be, — „ IV 659
I grieve to say it was thy f's son. — „ IV 811
Art thou my son? Walter Lea. I am, good f, — „ IV 1020

Father (verb) No—murder f's murder: — Queen Mary III i 335

Fathered had I f him I had given him more of the rod than the sceptre. — Becket III iii 110
all the souls we saved and f here Will greet us — „ V ii 223

Father-king And the f-k? — „ III iii 100

Father-like Julius the Third Was ever just, and mild, and f-l; — Queen Mary V ii 31

Fatherly See how the tears run down his f face. — „ IV iii 4

Fathom Deep—I shall f him. — „ I iii 158
Thou stirrest up a grief thou canst not f. — „ III iv 299

Fatness fill all hearts with f and the lust Of plenty— — The Cup II 272

Fatter yonder's f game for you Than this old gaping gurgoyle: — Queen Mary I iii 79

Fatting the f of your calves, the making of your butter, — Prom. of May II 92

Faugh F! we shall all be poisoned. Let us go. — Becket I iv 243

Fault his f So thoroughly to believe in his own self. — Queen Mary II ii 385
—this Cardinal's f—I have gulpt it down. — „ III iv 376
To veil the f of my most outward foe— — „ IV ii 106
O God the Son, Not for slight f's alone, — „ IV iii 139 not his f, if our two houses Be less than brothers. — Harold IV i 129
And yet she plagues me too—no f in her— — Becket, Pro. 59 be had his f's, For which I would have laid — „ V ii 337 the f, mebbe, wur as much mine as yours; — Prom. of May I 325
Be that my f? — „ II 89 making us feel guilty Of her own f's. — „ II 270 would you beat a man for his brother's f? — „ III 155
That last was my Father's f, poor man. — „ III 280

Faultless The f Gardiner! — Queen Mary III iv 96

Faulty Some of my former friends Would find my logic f; — Prom. of May II 665

Favour He hath fallen out of f with the Queen. — Queen Mary I iv 156
What makes thy f like the bloodless head — „ V ii 19
God's f and king's f might so clash — Becket, Pro. 295
So that you grant me one slight f. — „ I ii 58
Would you cast An eye of f on me, — Foresters I ii 217
That if I cast an eye of f on him, — „ I ii 262

Favour'd he would pay The mortgage if she f him. — „ I iii 7

Favourer Because they think me f of this marriage. — Queen Mary I v 156 and a f Of players, and a courtier, — Becket I i 78

Favourite utterly broken down By losing her—she was his f child— — Prom. of May II 418 for you know, my dear, you were always his f— — „ III 423

Fawn f upon him? Chime in with all? — Harold I ii 165
Your Foliot fasts and f's too much for me. — Becket, Pro. 264
f upon him For thy life and thy son's. — „ IV ii 224

Fawning The false Archbishop f on him, — Queen Mary I v 30
Who rub their f noses in the dust, — „ III iii 242

Fay To a land where the f, — Foresters II ii 180

Fealty Into the wide-spread arms of f, — Queen Mary II ii 264
F to the King, obedience to thyself? — Becket I iii 587
That goes against our f to the King. — „ V ii 508
Not one to keep a woman's f — The Cup I i 176

Fear (s) he brought his doubts And f's to me. — Queen Mary I ii 76
Skips every way, from levity or from f. — „ I iii 170
There lies your f. That is your drift. — „ I v 304
I am Harry's daughter, Tudor, and not F. — „ II iv 53
St. Peter in his time of f Denied his Master, — „ III iv 263 my father married my good mother,—For f of Spain. — „ III v 247 from the f of Him Whose ministers they be to govern you. — „ IV iii 179
O father, mock not at a public f, — Harold I i 75
That's a truer f! — „ I ii 66
stuff'd the boy with f's that these may act — „ II ii 90 Thy f's infect me beyond reason. Peace! — „ II ii 451
Famine is f, were it but Of being starved. — „ IV iii 204
Yet if a f, Or shadow of a f, — „ V i 114
To lodge a f in Thomas Becket's heart — Becket I iii 176
Nay—no f! More like is he to excommunicate me. — „ II i 269 yet what f? the people Believe the wood enchanted. — „ III i 35
f creeps in at the front, honesty steals out at the back, — „ III iii 61
No f! Grim. No f, my lord. — „ V ii 578 from maiden f's Or reverential love for him I loved, — The Cup II 196
I do remember your first-marriage f's. — „ II 207
I have no f's at this my second marriage. — „ II 208

Fear (verb) I f, I f, I see you, Dear friend, — Queen Mary I ii 102 dull life in this maiden court, I f, my Lord? — „ I iii 115
She f's the Lords may side with you — „ I iv 158
Do not f it. Of that hereafter. — „ I v 130
Courtenay, Save that he f's he might be crack'd in using, — „ II i 7
I f the mine is fired before the time. — „ II i 123
I f we be too few, Sir Thomas. — „ II i 224 and I f One scruple, this or that way, — „ II ii 99
And f them not. I f them not. — „ II ii 243 how to cross it balks me. I f we cannot. — „ II iii 10
I f the Emperor much misvalued me. — „ III ii 76
This Howard, whom they f, what was he saying? — „ III vi 54 nor f but that to-day Thou shalt receive — „ IV iii 84
There will be more conspiracies, I f. — „ IV iii 433
I do much f that England will not care. — „ V ii 282
I have given her cause—I f no woman. — Harold I ii 42
Why then of England. Madam, f us not, — „ V ii 97 that I f the Queen would have her life. — Becket, Pro. 61
We f that he may reave thee of thine own. — „ I iii 611
I f Church-censures like your King. — „ IV ii 434
They f you slain: they dread they know not what. — „ V ii 600
Tut—f me not; I ever had my victories among women. — The Cup I i 152
I f not. Synorix. Then do not tell him. — „ I ii 308
Yes, my lord, f not. I will answer for you. — Foresters I ii 32
And f not thou! Each of us has an arrow on the cord; — „ IV 606

Fear'd She f it might unman him for his end. — Queen Mary III i 368 Cannot? Even so! I f as much. — The Falcon 846

Fearful Paget, despite his f heresies, I loved the man, — Queen Mary IV iii 633 whose f Priest Sits winking at the license of a king, — Becket I ii 65
More, tenfold, than this f child can do; — Harold I ii 143 thou Wast ever f. — „ II ii 351 Too f still! — „ II ii 412

Fearing f for her, sent a secret missive, — Queen Mary II ii 121

Feast (s) No sacrifice, but a life-giving f! — „ IV ii 112
Bring not thy hollowness On our full f. — Harold IV iii 204
A doter on white pheasant-flesh at f's, — Becket, Pro. 97
I would that every man made f to-day — The Cup II 225 of that full f That leaves but emptiness. — Prom. of May II 255
Why comest thou like a death's head at my f? — Foresters I ii 211
And join your f's and all your forest games — „ III 84 thy father will not grace our f With his white beard to-day. — „ IV 80
Our f is yonder, spread beneath an oak, — „ IV 189

Feast (verb) Call in the poor from the streets, and let them f. — Becket I iv 73
Feed, f, and be merry. — „ I iv 151

Feather if this Prince of fluff and f come — Queen Mary I iv 162 Night, as black as a raven's f; — Harold III ii 6 strike, make his f's Glance in mid heaven. — The Falcon 15
We cannot flaunt it in new f's now: — „ 42

Feather'd Breaks into f merriments, and flowers Queen Mary III v 13
Featherhead Courtenay, belike— Mary. A fool and f! „ v i 128 Feature of royal blood, of splendid f, „ I i 112 equal for pure innocence of nature, And loveliness of f. Prom. of May II 373
Featureless play'd at ball with And kick'd it f— The Cup II 128
Fed swoll'n and f With indraughts and side-currents, Queen Mary II i 233
F with rank bread that crawl'd upon the tongue, „ IV iii 442 pray for him who hath f you in the wilderness. Becket I iv 266 Meal enough, meat enough, well f; The Falcon 166
You be f with tit-bits, you, Foresters I i 24
I am f with tit-bits no more than you are, „ I i 27 those pale mouths which we have f will praise us— „ IV 1076
Federigo (See also Federigo degli Alberighi) my Lord F, he hath fallen Into a sickness, The Falcon 309
My lord F, Can I not speak with you once more „ 687
Yes, your falcon, F! „ 843
O F, F, I love you! Spite of ten thousand brothers, F. „ 897
And I am happy! Giovanna. And I too, F. „ 928
Federigo degli Alberighi Poor F d A Takes nothing in return „ 715
Fee (s) In f and barony of the King, Becket I iii 675
I hold Nothing in f and barony of the King. „ I iii 678
Take f's of tyranny, wink at sacrilege, „ II ii 394
And have thy f's, and break the law no more. Foresters IV 955 Fee (verb) he will f thee as freely as he will wrench Harold II i 57
if you cared To f an over-opulent superstition, Prom. of May I 693 Feeble To Dover? no, I am too f. Queen Mary III vi 221
If Rome be f, then should I be firm. Becket I iii 240
Perhaps you judge him With f charity: The Cup I ii 186 Shall I tell her he is dead? No; she is still too f. Prom. of May III 338
Feed F, feast, and be merry. Becket I iv 151
So that the fool King Louis f them not. „ II i 76 that the sheep May f in peace. „ III iii 346
That you may f your fancy on the glory of it, The Cup II 133
Feeder a f Of dogs and hawks, and apes, Becket I i 79
Feel I came to f the pulse of England, Queen Mary III i 37 faith that seem'd to droop will f your light, „ III iv 22
I f it but a duty—you will find in it Pleasure „ III iv 429 your Grace, your Grace, I f so happy: „ III v 250
And it were well, if thou shouldst let him f, Harold II ii 16
I can f for thee. Eleanor. Thou f for me!— Becket, Pro. 472
The man shall f that I can strike him yet. „ II i 78
And f it too. „ III iii 48 willing wives enough To f dishonour, honour. The Cup I ii 189 Will f no shame to give themselves the lie. „ II 117
Dost thou not f the love I bear to thee „ II 426
As years go on, he f's them press upon him, Prom. of May I 647
I f sewer, Miss Dora, that I ha' been noän too sudden wi' you, „ II 59
I f so much better, that I trust I may be able „ III 221
As yet I scarcely f it mine. „ III 613 and mighty slow To f offences. „ III 630 churchman too In a fashion, and shouldst f with him. Foresters IV 412
he will, He will—he f's it in his head. „ IV 646
That I may f thou art no phantom— „ IV 1013
Feeling with her poor blind hands f—'where is it? Queen Mary III i 407
F my native land beneath my foot, „ III ii 47
Feel'st thou f into the hands Of these same Moors Foresters II i 562 when thou f with me The ghost returns to Marian, „ III 113
Feigning F to treat with him about her marriage— Queen Mary II ii 33
Feint comedy meant to seem a tragedy—A f, a farce. Becket IV ii 323
There was the farce, the f—not mine. And yet I am all but sure my dagger was a f Till the worm turn'd— „ IV ii 377
—this was no f then? no. „ IV ii 383
No, for it came to nothing—only a f. „ IV ii 398
I'll swear to mine own self it was a f. „ IV ii 402
Fell Who stood upright when both houses f. Bagenhall. The houses f! Officer. I mean the houses knelt Queen Mary III iii 255
But stretch it wider; say when England f. „ III iii 262
God's righteous judgment f upon you „ III iv 240
nay, his noble mother's, Head f— „ III iv 296
How oft the falling axe, that never f, „ III v 134
owld lord f to 's meat wi' a will, God bless un! „ IV iii 514 Fell (continued) Like Peter's when he f, and thou wilt Harold III i 283
the first F, and the next became an Empire. „ IV i 51
Hail to the living who fought, the dead who f! „ IV iii 106 how he f's The mortal copse of faces! „ V i 588
Then all the dead f on him. „ V ii 50
Here f the truest, manliest hearts of England. „ V ii 58
Before he f into the snare of Guy; „ V ii 131 high altar Stand where their standard f . . . „ V ii 140
Every man about his king F where he stood. „ V ii 182 twelve stars f glittering out of heaven Into her bosom. Becket I i 46 smote me down upon the Minster floor. I f. „ I i 105
I f. Why fall? Why did He smite me? „ I i 108 they mock'd us and we f upon 'em, „ I ii 15 names of those who fought and f are like The Cup I ii 164
F with her motion as she rose, and she, The Falcon 536 how long we strove before Our horses f beneath us, „ 639
'er an' the owd man they f a kissin' o' one another Prom. of May I 21
f ageän coalscuttle and my kneeä gev waäy „ I 403 as I telled 'er to-daäy when she f foul „ II 582
I'd like to f 'im as deäd as a bullock! „ II 597
if ever A Norman damsel f into our hands, Foresters III 181
The deer f dead to the bottom, and the man F with him, „ IV 543
Feller (fellow) the f couldn't find a Mister in his mouth fur me, Prom. of May I 302
Why, coom then, owd f, I'll tell it to you; „ II 202
What f wur it as 'a' been a-talkin' „ II 575 thaw the f's gone and maäde such a litter of his faäce. „ II 588
The f's cleän daäzed, an' maäzed, an' maäted, „ II 728
Fellow (See also Feller) Art thou of the true faith, f, Queen Mary I iii 46
Divers honest f's, „ I iii 120
I will be there; the f's at his tricks— „ I iii 157
A goodlier-looking f than this Philip. „ I iv 3 and I warrant this fine f's life. „ II iii 84
I know some lusty f's there in France. „ III i 128
Ay! f, what! Stand staring at me! „ III i 286
Ever a rough, blunt, and uncourtly f— „ V v 120
Haul like a great strong f at my legs, Harold II i 11
F, dost thou catch crabs? „ II i 65 my f's know that I am all one scale like a fish. Becket I iv 212
The f that on a lame jade came to court, „ V i 246
He comes, a rough, bluff, simple-looking f. The Cup I i 173
I tell thee, my good f, My arrow struck the stag. „ I ii 27
I will, I will. Poor f! The Falcon 282 more than one brave f owed His death to the charm in it. „ 634
You hear, Filippo? My good f, go! „ 691
Nor am I Edgar, my good f. Prom. of May II 702 Poor f's! Foresters I i 91 there is a lot of wild f's in Sherwood Forest who hold by King Richard. „ I ii 73 good f's there in merry Sherwood That hold by Richard, „ I iii 98
A brave old f but he angers me. „ II i 471
Farewell, good f's! „ III 87
I believe thee, thou art a good f, though a friar. „ III 342
Thou payest easily, like a good f, „ IV 156
I can bring down Fourscore tall f's on thee. „ IV 177 now I love thee mightily, thou tall f. „ IV 322
Were some strong f here in the wild wood, „ IV 515 man of ours Up in the North, a goodly f too, „ IV 530 Fellow-citizen Swear with me, noble f-c's, all, Queen Mary II ii 296
Fellow-prisoner Thus Gardiner—for the two were f-p's „ I iv 198 Fellow-pupil Were not our f-p's all ladies? Prom. of May III 299
Fellow-trickster one should be This William's f-t's;— Harold III ii 77
Felony 'If any cleric be accused of f, the Church Becket I iii 87 Felt I have f within me Stirrings of some great doom Queen Mary I iv 259 babe in arms Had f the faltering of his mother's heart, „ II ii 82
The Queen hath f the motion of her babe! „ III ii 213 and the power They f in killing. „ III iv 76
if I knew you f this parting, Philip, As I do! „ III vi 251
I f his arms about me, and his lips— „ V v 99
Hate not one who f Some pity for thy hater! Harold I ii 43
F the remorseless outdraught of the deep „ II i 9
I f it in the middle of that fierce fight „ IV iii 183
And f the sun of Antioch scald our mail, Becket II ii 93
we f we had laughed too long and could not stay ourselves— „ III iii 160

Felt (continued) I never f such passion for a woman. The Cup I i 34 who never hast f a want, to whom all things, Foresters I i 208
By my halidome I f him at my leg still. „ IV 627
Female the crown F, too! Queen Mary III i 122
Fen yet like waters of the f they know not „ II ii 52
Fence (s) hath no f when Gardiner questions him; „ I iv 203
To reign is restless f, Tierce, quart, and trickery. „ V v 266 with this skill of f! let go mine arm. Foresters II ii 39
There is a f I cannot overleap, My father's will. „ III 8 Fence (verb) may f round his power with restriction, Queen Mary II i 171
'tis but to see if thou canst f. Draw! Foresters II i 572
Fenced You are doubly f and shielded sitting here Queen Mary III ii 104
He f his royal promise with an if. Becket III iii 278 Feria (attendant on King Philip of Spain) F! Hast thou not mark'd— Queen Mary V i 224 because I am not certain: You understand, F. „ V i 269
Madam, the Count de F waits without, „ V ii 400
It is the Count de F, my dear lady. „ V ii 529
Count de F, from his Majesty King Philip. „ V ii 531
Count de F, from the King of Spain. „ V iii 8
Count de F, I take it that the King hath spoken to you; „ V iii 84
Fern nun Vying a tress against our golden f. Harold V i 149
Ferrar (Bishop of St. David's) Rogers and F, for their time is come, Queen Mary III iv 425
Festal But ill befitting such a f day Foresters I iii 37
Fester'd Foul maggots crawling in a f vice! Queen Mary V v 161 Festival Sat by me at a rustic f The Falcon 350 times Of f like burnish'd summer-flies, Foresters I ii 276 Fetch I am sent to f you. Queen Mary III iv 393 and he sent me wi' the gig to Littlechester to f 'er; Prom. of May I 20 Go men, and f him hither on the litter. Foresters IV 461
Fetched but we f her round at last. Queen Mary IV iii 495
Let her be f. Harold V i 153 bowl my ancestor F from the farthest east— The Falcon 485 Fetid if the f gutter had a voice And cried I was not clean, Queen Mary V ii 322
Fetter'd now, perhaps, F and lash'd, a galley-slave, Foresters II i 654
Fetters hast thou no f For those of thine own band „ IV 831 Feud I come for counsel and ye give me f's, Queen Mary III iv 308
if she stay the f's that part The sons of Godwin Harold I ii 178
Godwin still at f with Alfgar, „ IV i 123
Plots and f's! This is my ninetieth birthday. (repeat) „ IV i 120, 126
To make all England one, to close all f's, „ IV i 141
if there ever come f between Church and Crown, Becket, Pro. 464
Are not so much at f with Holy Church „ I ii 54
f between our houses is the bar I cannot cross; The Falcon 254
No more f's, but peace, Peace and conciliation! „ 909 no more f's Disturb our peaceful vassalage to Rome. The Cup II 70
Feudalism Tut! you talk Old f. Prom. of May I 670 Fever Wet, famine, ague, f, storm, wreck, wrath,— Queen Mary V v 108
I have a Norman f on me, son, Harold I i 87 when I was down in the f, she was down „ II i 47 that be dead ten times o'er i' one day wi' the putrid f; Becket I iv 251
No f, cough, croup, sickness? „ V ii 169 whitewash that cottage of yours where your grandson had the f. Prom. of May III 44
if the f spread, the parish will have to thank you for it. „ III 46
d'ye think I'd gi'e 'em the f? „ III 50
Smitten with f in the open field, „ III 806 Fever-breeding a foul stream Thro' f-b levels,—at her side, Becket II i 156
Few for we are many of us Catholics, but f Papists, Queen Mary I i 115
In some f minutes. She will address your guilds and companies. „ II ii 14
F things have fail'd to which I set my will. „ II ii 22
We have f prisoners in mine earldom there, Harold II ii 686
I have almost drain'd the cup—A f drops left. The Cup II 386 and why ye have so f grains to peck at. Foresters I i 77
How f Junes Will heat our pulses quicker! How f frosts Will chill the hearts that beat for Robin Hood! „ IV 1060
Fewness Doth not the f of anything make the fulness Becket III iii 301
Feyther (father) Thy f eddicated his darters to marry gentlefoälk, Prom. of May II 115
I knaw'd 'im when I seed 'im ageän an' I telled f on 'im. „ III 122
Fib you told me a great f: it wasn't in the willow. Becket IV ii 371
Nip, nip him for his f. Foresters II ii 121
Fiction A shadow, a poetical f— „ IV 219
No figure, no f, Robin. „ IV 222
Fiddler and the f be theer, and the lads and lasses Prom. of May I 427
Fie These are the things that madden her. F upon it! Queen Mary III ii 222
F on her dropsy, so she have a dropsy! „ III ii 226
F! To stand at ease, and stare as at a show, „ IV iii 291 Field (See also Battle-field, Slaughter-field) To read and rhyme in solitary f's, „ II i 51 green f Beside the brimming Medway, „ II i 243 Amplier than any f on our poor earth „ III iii 197 banish'd us to Woodstock and the f's. „ III v 4
These f's are only green, they make me gape. „ III v 7 range Among the pleasant f's of Holy Writ „ III v 80 seems that we shall fly These bald, blank f's, „ III v 252
Is God's best dew upon the barren f. „ V i 102
There runs a shallow brook across our f „ V v 83
Be there not fair woods and f's In England? Harold I i 262 sons of Godwin Sit topmost in the f of England, „ I i 326
But walk'd our Norman f, „ II ii 173
Free air! free f! „ II ii 230 men are at their markets, in their f's, „ II ii 437 in some wide, waste f With nothing but my battle-axe „ II ii 778 and hurl'd it from him Three f's away, „ III i 140 and in a f So packt with carnage „ III ii 127
Who conquer'd what we walk on, our own f. „ IV i 39 that reach'd a hand Down to the f beneath it, „ IV i 45
If the f Cried out 'I am mine own;' „ IV i 48
The seed thou sowest in thy f is cursed, The steer wherewith thou plowest thy f is cursed, The fowl that fleeth o'er thy f is cursed, „ V i 70
And be thy hand as winter on the f, „ V i 132 should the King of England waste the f's Of England, „ V i 141
O rare, a whole long day of open f. Becket I i 296
Be yet within the f. „ II ii 42
—the green f—the gray church— „ II ii 295 to overstep and come at all things in the next f? „ III iii 283 Moon on the f and the foam, The Cup I ii 3 his falcon Ev'n wins his dinner for him in the f. The Falcon 231
To find one shock upon the f when all The harvest „ 301
And, having passed unwounded from the f, „ 609
My comrade of the house, and of the f. „ 876
Follow my art among these quiet f's, Prom. of May I 743 and he sent 'im awaäy to t'other end o' the f; „ II 154
This poor, flat, hedged-in f—no distance— „ II 344 this, for the moment, Will leave me a free f. „ II 456
—a daughter of the f's, This Dora! „ II 623
we fun' 'im out a-walkin' i' West F wi' a white 'at, „ III 135
Thro' f's that once were blest, „ III 202
Smitten with fever in the open f, „ III 806
We be more like scarecrows in a f than decent serving men; Foresters I i 34
We know all balms and simples of the f „ II ii 12
Fiend and the f's that utter them Tongue-torn Queen Mary V vi 192
Norman who should drive The stranger to the f's! Harold II ii 541 taking The F's advantage of a throne, Becket II i 152
Do they not fight the Great F day by day? „ V ii 586
Hence to the f! „ V iii 107
The black f grip her! Foresters III 380
Fierce how f a letter you wrote against Their superstition Queen Mary I ii 84 but this f old Gardiner—his big baldness, „ I iv 263
So f against the Headship of the Pope, „ III iii 11 are breeding A f resolve and fixt heart-hate in men „ III vi 32 suddenly fill With such f fire— „ III vi 162
You have been more f against the Pope than I; „ IV ii 148
Remember how God made the f fire seem „ IV iii 89 she lost Her f desire of bearing him a child, „ IV iii 429 the truth Was lost in that f North, where they were lost, Harold III ii 26
Lest thy f Tostig spy me out alone, „ IV i 190
Thy f forekings had clench'd their pirate hides „ IV iii 35
I felt it in the middle of that f fight At Stamford-bridge. „ IV iii 184
Thou didst arouse the f Northumbrians! „ V i 347

Fierce (continued) sorely prest upon By the f Emperor and his Antipope. Becket I iii 203
Perchance the f De Brocs from Saltwood Castle, „ V ii 249
These arm'd men in the city, these f faces— „ V iii 3 may not be seized With some f passion, Prom. of May II 336
Fiercelier Heaven help that this re-action not re-act Yet f under Queen Elizabeth, Queen Mary IV iii 389
Fiercest Out in the f storm That ever made earth tremble— Prom. of May III 796
Fierier That ever make him f. Queen Mary V ii 95 something f than fire To yield them their deserts. „ V iv 26
Fieriest And all her f partisans—are pale Before my star! „ III ii 170
Fiery And then our f Tostig, while thy hands Are palsied here, Harold II ii 453 Fiery-choleric And hates the Spaniard—f-c. Queen Mary V ii 92
Fifth This is the f conspiracy hatch'd in France; „ V i 297
Fifty We may have left their f less by five. The Falcon 625
F leagues Of woodland hear and know my horn, Foresters III 102
Fight (s) I have fought the f and go— Harold I i 184
I fought another f than this Of Stamford-bridge. „ IV iii 23
I felt it in the middle of that fierce f At Stamford-bridge. „ IV iii 184 power to balk Thy puissance in this f „ V i 119
I can no more—fight out the good f—die Conqueror. Becket V iii 189 in the front rank of the f With scarce a pang. The Cup I ii 154
The trumpets of the f had echo'd down, The Falcon 605 and with a flag of ours Ta'en in the f— „ 613 Fight (verb) who went with your train bands To f with Wyatt, Queen Mary II ii 28
Is he so safe to f upon her side? „ II ii 313
I trust that you would f along with us. „ III i 457 would you not f then? Bagenhall. I think I should f then. „ III i 466 for their heresies, Alva, they will f; „ III ii 204
Paget, You stand up here to f for heresy, „ III iv 92
I'll f it on the threshold of the grave. „ V v 189 boys will f. Leofwin would often f me, Harold I i 433
Even old Gurth would f. „ I i 436
Normans up To f for thee again! „ II ii 59
Well then, we must f. How blows the wind? „ III ii 134
He hath cursed thee, and all those who f for thee, „ III ii 153
Too drunk to f with thee! „ IV iii 165
F thou with thine own double, not with me, „ IV iii 167
How should the people f When the king flies? „ V i 137
Not f—tho' somehow traitor to the King— Becket I i 112
'I mean to f mine utmost for the Church, „ I i 123 make it clear Under what Prince I f. „ I iii 545
F for the Church, and set the Church against me! „ I iii 569
we daren't f you with our crutches, „ I iv 210
Do they not f the Great Fiend day by day? „ V ii 585
I can no more—f out the good fight—die Conqueror. „ V iii 189
We cannot f imperial Rome, The Cup II 92
'I go to f in Scotland With many a savage clan;' Foresters I i 14
if he had not gone to f the king's battles, „ I i 57
if he dare to f at all, would f for his rents, „ I i 232 f's not for himself but for the people of England. „ I i 236
I would f with any man but thee. „ II i 557
No, Sir Earl, I will not f to-day. „ II i 575
Well, I will f to-morrow. „ II i 577 he that pays not for his dinner must f for it. „ IV 200 thou f at quarterstaff for thy dinner with our Robin, „ IV 207
Fighteth The soul who f on thy side is cursed, Harold V i 69
Fighting And f for And dying for the people— „ V i 388 chosen by his people And f for his people! „ V i 491 Wilt thou destroy the Church in f for it, Becket I iii 36 they were f for her to-day in the street. „ I iv 160 to help the old man When he was f. Foresters II i 543
Were f underhand unholy wars „ IV 821
Figure to keep the f moist and make it hold water, Becket III iii 165
False f, Map would say. „ III iii 346
—a mere f. Let it go by. Foresters IV 221
No f, no fiction, Robin. „ IV 222
I see two f's crawling up the hill. „ IV 333
Filch a fox may f a hen by night, Queen Mary III v 157
f the linen from the hawthorn, Foresters III 198
Fili Salva F, Salva Spiritus, Harold V i 468

Filippo (foster brother to Count Federigo degli Alberighi)
Sh—sh—F! (repeat) The Falcon 96, 105
Come, come, F, what is there in the larder? „ 117 out of those scraps and shreds F spoke of. „ 148 Away, F! „ 155
What is it, F? Filippo. Spoons, your lordship. „ 396
I thank thee, good F. „ 554
so I, F, being, with your ladyship's pardon, „ 564
F! Giovanna. Will you not eat with me, „ 569
Wine! F, wine! „ 577
F! will you take the word out of your master's own mouth? „ 597
I and F here had done our best, „ 607
F! Count. A troop of horse— „ 616
And we kill'd 'em by the score. Elisabetta. F! „ 622
See, my lady! Giovanna. I see, F! „ 655
And why, F? „ 658 tree that his lordship—— Giovanna. Not now, F. „ 686
You hear, F? My good fellow, go! „ 690
But the prunes that your lordship—— Elisabetta. F! „ 694
F! Filippo. Well, well! the women! „ 697 Fill no foreign prince or priest Should f my throne, Queen Mary III v 237 suddenly f With such fierce fire— „ III vi 161
And we will f thee full of Norman sun, Harold II ii 180 and f the sky With free sea-laughter— „ II ii 336
Fall, cloud, and f the house— „ III i 190
God of truth F all thine hours with peace!— „ V i 316
Thou art the man to f out the Church robe; Becket, Pro. 262
And f all hearts with fatness and the lust The Cup II 272
See here, I f it. Will you drink, my lord? „ II 366
F to the brim. Foresters III 343
Fill'd saw the church all f With dead men Harold I ii 82 one who f All offices, all bishopricks with English— „ II ii 534
God Has f the quiver, and Death has drawn the bow— „ III i 400
'And when the vacancy is to be f up, Becket I iii 108 like Egypt's plague, had f All things with blood; „ I iii 345 Filthy Come, you f knaves, let us pass. „ I iv 203
What f tools our Senate works with! The Cup I i 156
Find Whose play is all to f herself a King. Queen Mary I iii 164
And f's you statues. „ II ii 265
Death and the Devil—if he f I have one— „ III i 232 F out his name and bring it me. „ III i 253 thou shalt lose thine ears and f thy tongue, „ III i 256 amazed To f as fair a sun as might have flash'd „ III ii 22
Did you f a scripture, 'I come not to bring „ III iv 87
Till, by St. James, I f myself the fool. „ III vi 101
And I can f no refuge upon earth. „ IV iii 128
I shall f Heaven or else hell ready to swallow me, „ IV iii 223
And I have often found them. Mary. F me one! „ V ii 223 you will f written Two names, Philip and Calais; „ V v 153
You will f Philip only, policy, policy,— „ V v 158
To f the sweet refreshment of the Saints. Harold I i 177 and coming back F them again. „ II i 91
And, brother, we will f a way,' said he— „ II ii 367
To f a means whereby the curse might glance „ III i 342 then would f Her nest within the cloister, „ IV i 233 Know what thou dost; and we may f for thee, „ IV ii 48 until I f Which way the battle balance. „ V i 460
Harold slain?—I cannot f his body. „ V ii 20
Go further hence and f him. „ V ii 60 for I should f An easy father confessor in thee. Becket, Pro. 87
Thou wilt f her Back in her lodging. „ I i 399
As f a hare's form in a lion's cave. „ I iii 177 Shall I f you one? „ I iv 24 makes after it too To f it. „ II i 322
To f my stray sheep back within the fold. „ III iii 355
I thought if I followed it I should f the fairies. „ IV i 24 but I don't know if I can f the way back again. „ IV i 48 Shall I f you asleep when I come back? „ IV ii 64 this will f it there, And dig it from the root „ IV ii 75
We f that it is mightier than it seems— „ IV ii 263
Follow us, my son, and we will f it for thee— „ IV ii 373
F one a slut whose fairest linen seems Foul „ V ii 202
Here, here, here will you f me. „ V ii 514
To f Antonius here. The Cup I iii 55

Find (continued) or at least shall f him There in the camp. The Cup I iii 93
Whose winter-cataracts f a realm and leave it „ II 305
I sought him and I could not f him. „ II 397
To f one shock upon the field when all The harvest The Falcon 301
I f a written scroll That seems to run in rhymings. „ 431 you Would f it stain'd—— Count. Silence, Elisabetta ! „ 664
Lady, I f you a shrewd bargainer. „ 757
But you will f me a shrewd bargainer still. „ 774
An' how d'ye f the owd man 'ere ? Prom. of May I 71 feller couldn't f a Mister in his mouth fur me, „ I 302
You never f one for me, Mr. Dobson. „ I 305 or you may f me at the bottom of the river.— „ II 88 that we Should f her in the river ; „ II 412
Some of my former friends Would f my logic faulty ; „ II 665
Did you f that you worked at all the worse „ III 55
You must not expect to f our Father as he was five years ago. „ III 419 our carters and our shepherds Still f a comfort there. „ III 529 you will f The common brotherhood of man „ III 542
I cannot f the word—forgive it—Amends. „ III 789 only they that be bred in it can f their way a-nights in it. Foresters II i 265
Your worship may f another rhyme if you care „ II i 322
Sheriff, thou wilt f me at Nottingham. Sheriff. If anywhere, I shall f thee in hell. „ IV 801 Fine (adj.) If you have falsely painted your f Prince ; Queen Mary I v 598
Carew stirs In Devon : that f porcelain Courtenay, „ II i 6
Ay, why not, Sir Thomas ? He was a f courtier, he ; „ II i 33 a f courtier of the old Court, old Sir Thomas. „ II i 45
Ay, and I warrant this f fellow's life. „ II iii 83
Lord ! they be f ; I never stitch'd none such. „ III i 226
F eyes—but melancholy, irresolute—A f beard, Bonner, a very full f beard. „ III iv 337
Of such f mould, that if you sow'd therein The seed of Hate, „ IV i 170
Were you in Spain, this f fair gossamer gold— „ V iii 48
Is it so f ? Troth, some have said so. „ V iii 53 but therein Sunk rocks—they need f steering— „ V v 214 the f attractions and repulses, the delicacies, Becket, Pro. 499
Now let the King's f game look to itself. „ III ii 44
My lord, we know you proud of your f hand, „ IV ii 261
Here's a f salad for my lady, The Falcon 546
Here's a f fowl for my lady ; „ 556
And here are f fruits for my lady— „ 561
Well, I reckons they'll hev' a f cider-crop to-year Prom. of May I 316 but I ha taäen good care to turn out boäth my darters right down f laädies. „ I 337
That f, fat, hook-nosed uncle of mine, old Harold, „ I 509 sometimes been moved to tears by a chapter of f writing in a novel ; „ III 209 and prattled to each other that we would marry f gentlemen, „ III 277
Ay, how f they be in their liveries, Foresters I i 40
Because thou sayest such f things of women, „ I iii 137
Fine (s) A round f likelier. Your pardon. Queen Mary III iii 279
A f, a f ! he hath called plain Robin Hood a lord. Foresters III 214
A f ! a f ! He hath called plain Robin a king. „ IV 217
Fine (verb) F him ! f him ! he hath called plain Robin an earl. „ IV 150
Fine-cut his f-c face bowing and beaming with all that courtesy Becket III iii 141 Finer Margery ? no, that's a f thing there. How it glitters ! „ IV i 2
Finger populace, With f's pointed like so many daggers, Queen Mary I v 149
I wear Upon this f), ye did promise full Allegiance „ II ii 168
Would you not chop the bitten f off, „ III iv 206
You have a gold ring on your f, „ V iv 32
A lesson worth F and thumb—thus Harold I ii 55
How their pointed f's Glared at me ! „ II ii 790 his f on her harp (I heard him more than once) „ IV i 203
Yet my f's itch to beat him into nothing. Becket I iv 229
Ay, and I left two f's there for dead. The Falcon 653 ye'll think more on 'is little f than hall my hand at the haltar. Prom. of May I 112 to pass it down A f of that hand Foresters I ii 299
Finger (continued) she swore it never Should leave her f. Foresters II i 593
Finger'd The cardinals have f Henry's gold. Becket I iii 295
Fingernail and he's as like the King as f to f, „ III i 165
Finger-point I Scraped from your f-p's the holy oil ; Queen Mary IV ii 132
Finikin there comes a deputation From our f fairy nation. Foresters II ii 145
Finish I am your Legate ; please you let me f. Queen Mary III iv 180
Finish'd It is f. (repeat) Harold III i 177, 203, 211
They are f. Synorix. How ! The Cup II 422
Have you not f, my lord ? Foresters II i 341
Fire (s) (See also A-hell-fire, A-vire, Fool-fire, Hell-fire, Vire) practise on my life, By poison, f, shot, Queen Mary I iv 285 Stamp out the f, or this Will smoulder and re-flame, „ I v 508 it serves to fan A kindled f. „ I v 621
the rack, the thumbscrew, the stake, the f. „ II i 201 Dare-devils, that would eat f and spit it out „ III i 156
Rascal !—this land is like a hill of f, „ III i 321
I will show f on my side—stake and f— „ III i 327
Let the dead letter live ! Trace it in f, „ III iv 34 by the churchman's pitiless doom of f, „ III iv 50
Yet others are that dare the stake and f, „ III iv 167
I am on f until I see them flame. „ III iv 287
Or a second f, Like that which lately crackled „ III v 52 but of this f he says, Nay swears, „ III v 71 but they play with f as children do, „ III vi 28 you may strike f from her, Not hope to melt her. „ III vi 38 suddenly fill With such fierce f—had it been f indeed „ III vi 162
As Cranmer hath, came to the f on earth. „ IV i 60
Power hath been given you to try faith by f— „ IV ii 154
F—inch by inch to die in agony ! „ IV ii 223 makes The f seem crueller than it is. „ IV ii 233
Remember how God made the fierce f seem „ IV iii 89
The patience of St. Lawrence in the f. „ IV iii 95
So I may come to the f. „ IV iii 251
Liar ! dissembler ! traitor ! to the f ! „ IV iii 259 Harm him not, harm him not ! have him to the f ! „ IV iii 285
howsoever hero-like the man Dies in the f, „ IV iii 325
I say they have drawn the f On their own heads : „ IV iii 380
To whom the f were welcome, „ IV iii 438
Who follow'd with the crowd to Cranmer's f. „ IV iii 555 they swarm into the f Like flies—for what ? no dogma. „ V ii 111
sir, they hurl'd it back into the f, That, being but baptized in f, the babe Might be in f for ever. „ V iv 22 something fierier than f To yield them their deserts. „ V iv 26 in a closed room, with light, f, physic, tendance ; „ V iv 37
And burn the tares with unquenchable f ! „ V v 114 that these Three rods of blood-red f up yonder Harold I i 44
For if the North take f, I should be back ; „ I ii 67 while ye fish for men with your false f's, „ II i 31 hath blown himself as red as f with curses. „ V i 87
the f, the light, The spirit of the twelve Apostles Becket I i 49
Make it so hard to save a moth from the f ? „ I i 284 Set all on f against him ! „ I ii 89
the f, when first kindled, said to the smoke, „ II ii 317
As one that blows the coal to cool the f. „ V ii 549
Is that the cup you rescued from the f ? The Cup I i 71 like A bank'd-up f that flashes out again „ I ii 166 to the wave, to the glebe, to the f ! „ II 4 a red f woke in the heart of the town, Prom. of May I 50 tho' the f should run along the ground, „ I 703 when you put it in green, and your stack caught f. „ II 56 heat and f Of life will bring them out, „ II 286
She hath the f in her face and the dew in her eyes. Foresters I i 166 mantle of the cloud, And sets, a naked f. „ II i 29
Who melts a waxen image by the f, „ II i 671
Fire (verb) Upon their lake of Garda, f the Thames ; Queen Mary III ii 23
And in the winter I will f their farms. Foresters IV 95
Fired so in this pause, before The mine be f, Queen Mary II i 26
I fear the mine is f before the time. „ II i 123
The mine is f, and I will speak to them. „ II i 155
Your houses f—your gutters bubbling blood— „ II ii 280 city rose against Antonius, Whereon he f it, The Cup I ii 64
Firelike I'll have it burnish'd f ; Queen Mary I v 374
Fireside I would taäke the owd blind man to my oä ; Prom. of May II 74
Firm make their wall of shields F as thy cliffs, Harold V i 480

Firm (continued) by thy wisdom Hast kept it f from shaking; Becket, Pro. 204
If Rome be feeble, then should I be f. „ I iii 241
My hand is f, Mine eye most true to one hair's-breadth of aim. Foresters IV 693

First (adj.) are fresh and sweet As the f flower no bee has ever tried. Queen Mary I iv 63 and your worship the f man in Kent and Christendom, „ II i 64
In William's time, in our f Edward's time, „ III iii 226 as in the day of the f church, when Christ Jesus was King. „ V iv 55
Earl, the f Christian Cæsar drew to the East Harold V i 21 wherefore now Obey my f and last commandment. Go! „ V i 359 the bright link rusts with the breath of the f after-marriage kiss, Becket, Pro. 362
The f archbishop fled, And York lay barren for a hundred years. „ I iii 53 frosted off me by the f cold frown of the King. „ I iv 67
But Hereford, you know, crown'd the f Henry. „ III iii 202
To the fond arms of her f love, Fitzurse, „ IV ii 334
You kiss'd me there For the f time. The Cup I ii 419
F kiss. There then. You talk almost as if it Might be the last. „ I ii 421
He sends you This diadem of the f Galatian Queen, „ II 132 when Synorix, f King, Camma, f Queen o' the Realm, „ II 440 Coming to visit my lord, for the f time in her life too! The Falcon 170
I lay them for the f time round your neck. „ 907
But where is this Mr. Edgar whom you praised so in your f letters? Prom. of May I 777 better death With our f wail than life— „ II 291
My father stricken with his f paralysis, „ II 481 as they are arranged here according to their f letters. „ III 37
I do believe I lost my heart to him the very f time we met, „ III 284 shall I give her the f kiss? O sweet Kate, my f love, the f kiss, the f kiss! Foresters I i 126 but I came to give thee the f kiss, and thou hast given it me. „ I i 132 does it matter so much if the maid give the f kiss?
Little John. I cannot tell, but I had sooner have given thee the f kiss. „ I i 136 if a man and a maid love one another, may the maid give the f kiss? „ I i 173
You shall give me the f kiss. „ I ii 227
The f part—made before you came among us— „ III 435

First (s) We strove against the papacy from the f, Queen Mary III iii 225
Who knew it from the f. „ III vi 114

First-marriage I do remember your f-m fears. The Cup II 206

Fish (s) I had liefer that the f had swallowed me, Harold II i 36
Rolf, what f did swallow Jonah? Rolf. A whale! „ II i 41
A sauce-deviser for thy days of f, Becket, Pro. 98 my fellows know that I am all one scale like a f. „ I iv 213 as to the f, they de-miracled the miraculous draught, „ III iii 123

Fish (verb) while ye f for men with your false fires, Let the great Devil f for your own souls. Harold II i 30
But 'e doänt f neither. Prom. of May I 214
Well, it's no sin in a gentleman not to f. „ I 216

Fisher Apostles; they were f's of men, Harold II i 34
Thy true King bad thee be A f of men; Becket II ii 286

Fisher (John, Bishop of Rochester) Did not More die, and F? he must burn. Queen Mary IV i 52

Fisherman We be fishermen; I came to see after my nets. Harold II i 27
Fishermen? devils! Who, while ye fish for men „ II i 29
Better have been A f at Bosham, my good Herbert, Becket II ii 292

Fist (s) and plunge His foreign f into our island Church Queen Mary III iv 364 the childish f That cannot strike again. Harold IV iii 30

Fist (verb) The boy would f me hard, and when we fought „ I i 444

Fit (adj.) Is the King's treasury A f place for the monies of the Church, Becket I iii 105 it is not f for us To see the proud Archbishop mutilated. „ I iii 613
he be f to bust hissen wi' spites and jalousies. Prom. of May II 164

Fit (verb) I measured his foot wi' the mark i' the bed, but it wouldn't f „ I 414

Fit See also Ague-fit

Fitter thousand times F for this grand function. Becket, Pro. 293

Fitzurse (Reginald, knight of Henry II.'s household) (See also Reginald, Reginald Fitzurse) F, that chart with the red line— Becket Pro. 427 what hast thou to do with this F? „ I i 271
And watch F, and if he follow thee, „ I i 330
No footfall—no F. We have seen her home. „ I i 367
Lord F reported this In passing to the Castle „ I ii 12
F—Becket. Nay, let him be. „ I ii 23
My lord, F beheld her in your lodging. „ I ii 33 Cursed F, and all the rest of them „ II ii 271
—F and his following—who would look down upon them? „ III iii 308
F, The running down the chase is kindlier „ IV ii 212
Kneel to thy lord F; Crouch even because thou hatest him; „ IV ii 222
My lord F—— Becket. He too! what dost thou here? „ IV ii 280
You have wrong'd F. I speak not of myself. „ IV ii 328 fond arms of her first love, F, Who swore to marry her. „ IV ii 335

Five that she met the Queen at Wanstead with f hundred horse, Queen Mary I i 78
God's righteous judgment fell upon you In your f years of imprisonment, „ III iv 242
My lord, the King demands f hundred marks, Becket I iii 641
Monks, knights, f hundred, that were there and heard. „ V ii 406
F hundred! Count. Say fifty! The Falcon 618
the feller couldn't find a Mister in his mouth fur me, as farms f hoonderd haäcre. Prom. of May I 304
It be f year sin' ye went afoor to him, „ II 5
We have been in such grief these f years, „ II 67 Poor sister, I had it f years ago. „ II 82 but can he trace me Thro' f years' absence, „ II 615
Him as did the mischief here, f year' sin'. „ III 140
You must not expect to find our Father as he was f years ago. „ III 420
F years of shame and suffering broke the heart „ III 761 and can make F quarts pass into a thimble. Foresters IV 283
Nay, my tongue tript—f hundred marks for use. „ IV 499

Five-fold and they rate the land f-f The worth of the mortgage, „ II i 149

Five-years' My f-y anger cannot die at once, Prom. of May II 462

Fixt with his fast-fading eyes F hard on mine, Queen Mary I ii 31
Well, burn me or not burn me I am f; „ IV ii 55 have I that I am f, F beyond fall; „ IV ii 89 had I f my fancy Upon the game I should Becket, Pro. 49
To-day they are f and bright—they look straight out. The Cup II 20

Flag made us lower our kingly f To yours of England. Queen Mary V i 59 must lower his f To that of England in the seas of England. „ V i 65
Our f hath floated for two hundred years Is France again. „ V ii 261 and with a f of ours Ta'en in the fight— The Falcon 612
But anger'd at their flaunting of our f, „ 628

Flame (s) (See also Altar-flame, Re-flame) Here was a young mother, Her face on f, Queen Mary II ii 70
And found it all a visionary f, „ IV ii 4
God will beat down the fury of the f, „ IV iii 98
gather'd with his hands the starting f, „ IV iii 337
And thrust his right into the bitter f; „ IV iii 610 before The f had reach'd his body; „ IV iii 616
Unmoving in the greatness of the f, „ IV iii 622 and cannot scape the f. Harold I i 13 Fling not thy soul into the f's of hell. Becket II i 316
dooms thee after death To wail in deathless f. „ IV ii 272
He miss the searching f of purgatory, „ V iii 13

Flame (verb) I am on fire until I see them f. Queen Mary III iv 288
'Tis out—mine f's. „ V v 124 by St. Denis, now will he f out, And lose his head Becket V ii 479

Flamed —O he F in brocade— Queen Mary III i 76
How he f When Tostig's anger'd earldom Harold III i 53

Flaming In sight of all with f martyrdom. Queen Mary IV iii 29
What with this f horror overhead? Harold I i 231
Then I saw Thy high black steed among the f furze, Becket II i 55

Flanders prince is known in Spain, in F, Queen Mary I v 207
Emperor counsell'd me to fly to F. „ I v 550
We heard that you were sick in F, cousin. „ III ii 34

Flanders (continued) Why then to F. I will hawk and hunt
In F. Harold I i 258
To follow thee to F! Must thou go? „ I ii 27 kisses of all kind of womankind In F, „ I ii 114
To-morrow—first to Bosham, then to F. „ I ii 240
Flap let him f The wings that beat down Wales! „ IV i 246
Flare fly out and f Into rebellions. Queen Mary III i 283
It glares in heaven, it f's upon the Thames, Harold I i 29
Flash (s) whether this f of news be false or true, Queen Mary III ii 234
It is the f that murders, the poor thunder Harold I ii 231
That which the f hath stricken. „ I ii 235
Our axes lighten with a single f „ V i 538 lest there should be f'es And fulminations Becket, Pro. 221 whose quick f splits The mid-sea mast, The Cup II 293 Flash (verb) Thou shalt f it secretly Among the good Harold I ii 219
I will both f And thunder for thee. „ I ii 228
F sometimes out of earth against the heavens. Becket V ii 37 fire that f'es out again From century to century, The Cup I ii 166 though my men and I f out at times Of festival Foresters I ii 274 Flash'd as might have f Upon their lake of Garda, Queen Mary III ii 22 to stay his hand Before he f the bolt. Becket II i 275
And when he f it Shrink from me, „ II i 276
Tho' all the swords in England f above me „ V ii 484 noblest light That ever f across my life, Foresters III 142
The hunter's passion f into the man, „ IV 539
Flashing I see the f of the gates of pearl— Harold I i 186
Flask and mine old f of wine Beside me, Queen Mary III i 46 send you down a f or two Of that same vintage? Falcon 585 Flat (adj.) but tramples f Whatever thwarts him; Harold II ii 379 and a foot to stamp it . . . F. „ V ii 194
This beggarly life, This poor, f, hedged-in field— Prom. of May II 344
Lusty bracken beaten f, Queen. Foresters II ii 154
Flat (s) No, nor with the f of it either. Becket I iv 225
Flatten gulf and f in her closing chasm Domed cities, The Cup II 300
Flatter You know to f ladies. Queen Mary I iv 98
I am safe enough; no man need f me. „ II ii 317
Will not thy body rebel, man, if thou f it? Becket, Pro. 103
—f And fright the Pope— „ II ii 472
You f me. Dear Eva Was always thought the prettier. Prom. of May II 378
Flatter'd Flutter'd or f by your notice of her, The Falcon 538
Flattering As if to win the man by f him. Queen Mary II ii 312
Flattery sucking thro' fools' ears The flatteries of corruption— Becket I iii 362
Flaunt We cannot f it in new feathers now: The Falcon 42
And scruplest not to f it to our face Foresters IV 887
Flaunting But anger'd at their f of our flag, The Falcon 628
Flay And f me all alive. Harold IV i 191
Flay'd starved, maim'd, flogg'd, f, burn'd, Queen Mary II i 210
Flaying Horrible! f, scourging, crucifying— The Cup I ii 235
Flea like a f That might have leapt upon us Queen Mary II ii 294 Fled (adj. and part.) our Bishops from their sees Or f, they say, or flying— „ I ii 5
'Sir Peter Carew f to France: „ II i 135
Is Peter Carew f? Is the Duke taken? „ II i 142
Bar the bird From following the f summer— Becket I i 259
France! Ha! De Morville, Tracy, Brito—f is he? „ IV i 199
Love that can shape or can shatter a life till the life shall have f? „ II i 12
Has f our presence and our feeding-grounds. „ II ii 22 Fled (verb) Left him and f; and thou that would'st be King, Queen Mary II iv 82 first archbishop f, And York lay barren Becket I iii 53
Who thief-like f from his own church by night, „ II ii 156
I f, and found thy name a charm to get me Food, „ V ii 96
Once I f—Never again, and you— „ V ii 498
Since Camma f from Synorix to our Temple, The Cup II 14 whereon she struck him, And f into the castle. Foresters II i 118 for Oberon f away Twenty thousand leagues to-day. „ II ii 142
Flee Then whither should I f for any help? Queen Mary IV iii 126
Griffyth when I saw him f, Chased deer-like Harold I ii 147 when I f from this For a gasp of freer air, Becket II i 27
then you are a dead man; f! „ V iii 126
Fleece hanging down from this The Golden F— Queen Mary III i 82
Fleer heard One of your Council f and jeer at him. „ II ii 393
The statesman that shall jeer and f at men, „ II ii 397
Fleet (s) Mine is the f and all the power at sea— „ I iv 287

Fleet (s) (continued) To seize upon the forts and f, Queen Mary III i 464 Hold office in the household, f, forts, army; „ III iii 72 and the French f Rule in the narrow seas. „ V i 6 collect the f; Let every craft that carries „ V ii 274 Fleet (verb) A breath that f's beyond this iron world, Harold III ii 197
Fleeted and makes it Foam over all the f wealth of kings The Cup II 289
Fleeth fowl that f o'er thy field is cursed, Harold V i 73
Fleeting My grayhounds f like a beam of light, „ I ii 129
Fleming See Fox-Fleming
Flemish Their F go-between And all-in-all. Queen Mary III vi 4 Flesh (See also Pheasant-flesh) with right reason, flies that prick the f. „ III iv 71
The soft and tremulous coward in the f? „ IV ii 107 when thou becamest Man in the F, „ IV iii 141 it was thought we two Might make one f, „ V ii 137
we were not made One f in happiness, no happiness here; But now we are made one f in misery; „ V ii 150
Where they eat dead men's f, Harold II ii 808
Treble denial of the tongue of f, „ III i 282
Fast, scourge thyself, and mortify thy f, Becket I iii 540
And as for the f at table, a whole Peter's sheet, „ III iii 128
That I would touch no f till he were well The Falcon 680 servants Are all but f and blood with those they serve. „ 709
And these take f again with our own f, Prom. of May II 277 weight of the f at odd times overbalance the weight of the church, Foresters I ii 61 and as to other frailties of the f— „ I ii 65 clothes itself In maiden f and blood, „ III 117 Flesh-fallen Look! am I not Work-wan, f-f? Harold I i 99 Flew in a narrow path. A plover f before thee. Becket II i 54 a bat f out at him In the clear noon, Foresters II ii 96
Crush'd my bat whereon I f! „ II ii 146
Flickering Pertest of our f mob, „ II ii 130
Fliest stay, fool, and tell me why thou f. Becket III ii 35 Flight My f were such a scandal to the faith, Queen Mary I ii 53 hath a farther f Than mine into the future. „ I v 312 Fling We f ourselves on you, my Lord. „ II ii 48
why f back the stone he strikes me with? „ IV ii 150
Then f mine own fair person in the gap Harold I ii 202 he f's His brand in air and catches it again, „ V i 493 all my doubts I f from me like dust, Becket I i 148 and f them out to the free air. „ I i 287
F not thy soul into the flames of hell: „ II i 316
I f all that upon my fate, my star. The Cup I iii 27
F wide the doors and let the new-made children „ II 163
f in the spices, Nard, Cinnamon, amomum, „ II 183 child of evolution, f's aside His swaddling-bands, Prom. of May I 585
To f myself over, when I heard a voice, „ III 374
Flint in all this, my Lord, her Majesty Is f of f, Queen Mary III vi 38
All your voices Are waves on f. „ IV i 122 crawl over knife-edge f Barefoot, Becket II i 272
I fear this Abbot is a heart of f, Foresters I ii 269
Flit We must f for evermore. „ II ii 123
I Titania bid you f, „ II ii 126
Float while the smoke f's from the cottage roof, „ I ii 317
Floated f downward from the throne Of God Almighty. Harold I i 17
Our flag hath f for two hundred years Is France again. Queen Mary V ii 261
Floating gonfanon of Holy Peter F above their helmets— Harold V i 550 Flock (s) your f's of swans, As fair and white as angels; Queen Mary III ii 14 doth not kill The sheep that wander from his f, „ III iv 103
To the poor f—to women and to children— „ IV ii 158 and all thy f should catch An after ague-fit Becket III iii 31
Shatter you all to pieces if ye harm One of my f! „ V iii 136
Home with the f to the fold— The Cup I ii 8
Flock (verb) —thousands will f to us. Queen Mary II i 192
Flogg'd I'll have you f and burnt too, „ I i 60 starved, maim'd, f, flay'd, burn'd, „ II i 210 Flood some mischance of f, And broken bridge, „ I v 354 like a river in f thro' a burst dam Harold II ii 465 had in it Wales, Her f's, her woods, her hills: „ IV i 207 from that f will rise the New, Prom. of May I 594
She rose From the foul f and pointed toward the farm, „ II 653 Floor that his fan may thoroughly purge his f. Queen Mary III iv 370 these chessmen on the f—the king's crown broken! Becket, Pro. 313
And smote me down upon the Minster f. „ I i 104

Floor (continued) mark'd Her eyes were ever on the marble f? The Cup II 19
Florence I left it privily At F, in her palace The Falcon 75
His grandsire struck my grandsire in a brawl At F, „ 252 True tears that year were shed for you in F. „ 385 this faded ribbon was the mode In F „ 423
he would marry me to the richest man In F; „ 749
The wildest of the random youth of F „ 809
Florio O my sick boy! My daily fading F, „ 236
My one child F lying still so sick, „ 678
Flourish (s) For these are no conventional f'es. Prom. of May II 562 Flourish (verb) Lift head, and f; Queen Mary III iv 24 hasn't an eye left in his own tail to f The Falcon 102
Flourished but in the end we f out into a merriment; Becket III iii 137
Flout since he f's the will of either realm, „ II ii 255
Flow waters of the fen they know not Which way to f. Queen Mary II ii 54
Let them f forth in charity, „ IV iii 208
William's or his own As wind blows, or tide f's: Harold V i 163
Colour F's thro' my life again, Prom. of May II 667 Flow'd spring Of all those evils that have f Queen Mary III iv 234 the black river F thro' my dreams— Prom. of May II 651 Flower (s) (See also Wild-flower) now would settle Queen Mary I iv 56 Upon this f, now that;
F, she! Half faded! „ I iv 60
As the first f no bee has ever tried. „ I iv 63
They are the f of England; set the gates wide. „ II iv 69
To kiss and cuff among the birds and f's— „ III v 259
Which in the Catholic garden are as f's, „ IV i 179
Love will hover round the f's when they first awaken; „ V ii 370
Palms, f's, pomegranates, golden cherubim Harold III i 182
A goodly f at times. „ IV i 151 Men are God's trees, and women are God's f's; Becket, Pro. 112 and the f's Are all the fairer. „ Pro. 116
And never a f at the close; (repeat) „ Pro. 332, 342
I love them More than the garden f's, „ II i 133 these golden slopes Of Solomon-shaming f's— „ III i 48
The brook's voice is not yours, and no f, „ III i 56 —would have made my pathway f's, „ V ii 371 mountain f's grew thickly round about. The Falcon 355
if but to guess what f's Had made it; „ 430
'Dead mountain f's, dead mountain-meadow f's, „ 461
You bloom again, dead mountain-meadow f's.' „ 471
A word with you, my lord! Count. 'O mountain f's!' „ 474
A word, my lord! Count. 'Dead f's!' „ 476 my nurse has broken The thread of my dead f's, „ 522
If possible, here! to crop the f and pass. Prom. of May I 253
Altho' at first he take his bonds for f's, „ I 646
The brook among its f's! Forget-me-not, „ II 298 anatomized The f's for her— „ II 303 but, my f, You look so weary and so worn! „ III 498 then the sweetest f of all the wolds, „ III 751
He that can pluck the f of maidenhood Foresters I ii 108
Who art the fairest f of maidenhood „ I ii 123 worship thee, Crown thee with f's; „ II ii 19
And answer it in f's. „ III 353
That beam of dawn upon the opening f, „ IV 4
Bees rather, flying to the f for honey. „ IV 13
The f said 'Take it, my dear, „ IV 16
When the f was wither'd and old. „ IV 22
And lie with us among the f's, and drink— „ IV 965
Flower (verb) and f's In silken pageants. Queen Mary III v 14 Mercy, that herb-of-grace, F's now but seldom. „ III vi 10 and her affections Will f toward the light Prom. of May I 486 Flower-bed but he left the mark of 'is foot i' the f-b; „ I 409
Flower'd that f bowl my ancestor Fetch'd from the farthest east— The Falcon 483
Flowery Nay, rather than so clip The f robe of Hymen, The Cup II 436
Flowing (part.) Two rivers gently f side by side— Becket I iii 445
And here the river f from the sea, Queen Mary III ii 26
Flowing (s) frost That help'd to check the f of the blood. The Falcon 645 Flown Our dovecote f! I cannot tell why monks Becket V ii 580 Hollow Pandora-box, With all the pleasures f, Prom. of May II 347
Fluff if this Prince of f and feather come Queen Mary I iv 162 Flung f them streaming o'er the battlements Harold II ii 391 flamed When Tostig's anger'd earldom f him, „ III i 54 colt winced and winnied and f up her heels; Becket, Pro. 515
F the Great Seal of England in my face— „ I iii 456

Flung (continued) if Thomas have not f himself at the King's feet. Becket III iii 168 never yet F back a woman's prayer. The Cup I ii 300
'He never yet f back a woman's prayer'— „ I ii 455
F by the golden mantle of the cloud, Foresters II i 28
f His life, heart, soul into those holy wars „ IV 406
Flurried with my lady's coming that had so f me, The Falcon 493
Flush coming up with a song in the f of the glimmering red? Becket II i 8
Flush'd Our bashful Legate, saw'st not how he f? Queen Mary III iv 351 colour'd all my life, F in her face; The Falcon 365 Fluster'd what hath f Gardiner? how he rubs His forelock! Queen Mary III iv 12 and is f by a girl's kiss. Foresters I i 186 your woman so f me that I forgot my message „ I i 296
Fluting F, and piping and luting 'Love, love, love'— „ III 33
Flutter (s) kill'd away at once Out of the f. Queen Mary III v 164 Flutter (verb) broken, out you f Thro' the new world, „ I iv 53 one half Will f here, one there. „ III vi 197
But he begins to f. Harold II ii 3 dove, who f's Between thee and the porch, „ IV i 231
f out at night? Becket I i 282
Begins to f in them, and at last Breaks Prom. of May I 649
Flutter'd F or flatter'd by your notice of her, The Falcon 538 he f his wings with a sweet little cry, Foresters I i 154
he f his wings as he gave me the lie, „ I i 159
Fluttering (part.) I found it f at the palace gates:— Queen Mary III ii 218
Fluttering (s) The leprous f's of the byway, „ IV iii 76 Fly (s) (See also Gad-fly) And cruel at it, killing helpless flies; „ III iv 65 with right reason, flies that prick the flesh. „ III iv 70 they swarm into the fire Like flies—for what? no dogma. „ V ii 112
As flies to the Gods; they kill us for their sport.' Prom. of May I 264 Cannot he take his pastime like the flies? „ I 277 that her flies Must massacre each other? „ I 284 would not crush The f that drew her blood; „ II 494 Fly (verb) Hooper, Ridley, Latimer will not f. Martyr. F, Cranmer! Queen Mary I ii 14 might be forgiven. I tell you, f, my Lord. „ I ii 43
F, my Lord, f! „ I ii 96
farewell, and f. Cranmer. F and farewell, „ I ii 104
I thank my God it is too late to f. „ I ii 112
You f your thoughts like kites. „ I v 390
Emperor counsell'd me to f to Flanders. „ I v 549
Song flies you know For ages. „ II i 80
Cranmer. F would he not, when all men bad him f. „ III i 171
f out and flare Into rebellions. „ III i 282 Swallows f again, Cuckoos cry again, „ III v 96 seems that we shall f These bald, blank fields, „ III v 251 Whose colours in a moment break and f, „ IV iii 170
Whose colours in a moment break and f!' „ V ii 207
Love will f the fallen leaf, and not be overtaken; „ V ii 372 where the black crow flies five, „ V v 85 who skips and flies To right and left, Harold I i 11
F thou to William; tell him we have Harold. „ II i 110 let f the bird within the hand, „ II ii 65 wilt thou f my falcons this fair day? „ II ii 146 two young wings To f to heaven straight with. „ III i 26 are but of spring, They f the winter change— „ III ii 97
Our Wessex dragon flies beyond the Humber, „ IV i 3
How should the people fight When the king flies? „ V i 138 and they f—the Norman flies. „ V i 541
They f once more, they f, the Norman flies! „ V i 596
Thou knowest he was forced to f to France; Becket I iii 204
When what ye shake at doth but seem to f, „ I iii 744
'F at once to France, to King Louis of France: „ I iv 53
I must f to France to-night. „ I iv 154
F thou too. The King keeps his forest head of game here, „ III ii 36 Linger not till the third horn. F! „ III ii 41
I will f with my sweet boy to heaven, „ IV ii 237 on a Tuesday did I f Forth from Northampton; „ V ii 286
I shall not f. Here, here, here will you find me. „ V ii 513 drag me not. We must not seem to f. „ V ii 637
F, f, my lord, before they burst the doors! „ V iii 56
I have it in my heart—to the Temple—f— The Cup I iii 112

Fly (verb) (continued) She—close the Temple door. Let her not f. The Cup II 461
Just gone To f his falcon. The Falcon 210 and once you let him f your falcon. „ 317
Should f like bosom friends when needed most. „ 527
Breaks thro' them, and so flies away for ever; Prom. of May I 650 Shall I say it?—f with me to-day. „ I 678
I will f to you thro' the night, the storm— „ I 701
Will he not f from you if he learn the story of my shame „ III 256
Tell them to f for a doctor. „ III 712
Their aim is ever at that which flies highest— Foresters I i 262 while the lark flies up and touches heaven! „ I ii 315
We must f from Robin Hood „ II ii 138
You see why We must leave the wood and f. „ II ii 174
How much? how much? Speak, or the arrow flies. „ III 278
Flying from their sees Or fled, they say, or f— Queen Mary I ii 5
Tut, your sonnet's a f ant, Wing'd for a moment. „ II i 83 and f to our side Left his all bare, „ II iii 3 see there the arrows f. „ II iv 51 and the traitor f To Temple Bar, „ II iv 93
A bookman, f from the heat and tussle, „ III iv 251
But wing'd souls f Beyond all change Harold III ii 100
Whither away, man? what are you f from? Becket III ii 18 when I was f from My Tetrarchy to Rome. The Cup I i 6
Who knows that he had ever dream'd of f? Prom. of May I 655 Prince John again. We are f from this John. Foresters II i 448 this is Maid Marian F from John—disguised. „ II i 680
Bees rather, f to the flower for honey. „ IV 12
Foälk (folk) F's says he likes Miss Eva the best. Prom. of May I 24
I knaws nowt o' what f's says, an' I caäres nowt neither. „ I 27
F's doesn't hallus knaw thessens; „ I 28
An' I haätes booöks an' all, fur they puts f off the owd waäys. „ I 222
Let ma aloän afoor f, wilt tha? „ II 213
Foam (s) Moon on the field and the f, The Cup I ii 3
Foam (verb) Who mouth and f against the Prince of Spain. Queen Mary II ii 250
F at the mouth because King Thomas, Becket V i 203
F over all the fleeted wealth of kings The Cup II 289
Fobbing See A-fobbing
Foe the Queen Is both my f and yours: Queen Mary I iv 42
You cannot Learn a man's nature from his natural f. „ I v 340
His f's would blame him, and I scorn'd 'em, „ I v 624
His f's—the Devil had suborn'd 'em. „ I v 626 make Those that we come to serve our sharpest f's? „ II iii 78 hath shut the gates On friend and f. „ II iv 62
My f's are at my feet and I am Queen. „ II iv 119
My f's are at my feet, and Philip King. „ II iv 143
To veil the fault of my most outward f— „ IV ii 106 seeming not as brethren, But mortal f's! „ IV iii 186 thou Hast broken all my f's, Harold I i 217 f's in Edward's hall To league against thy weal. „ I ii 31
Griffyth I hated: why not hate the f Of England? „ I iii 145
To leave the f no forage. „ V i 133 arm within Is Becket's, who hath beaten down my f's. Becket, Pro. 254
God make not thee, but thy f's, fall. „ I i 107
Serve my best friend and make him my worst f; „ I iii 568
No one comes, Nor f nor friend; „ III i 38 will you crown my f My victor in mid-battle? „ V i 149 a man may take good counsel Ev'n from his f. „ V ii 4 more of olive-branch and amnesty For f's at home— „ V ii 16
'O man, forgive thy mortal f, Prom. of May III 5
I am chased by my f's. Foresters II i 184
Fog who dream'd us blanketed In ever-closing f, Queen Mary III ii 21
Foible Not scorn him for the f's of his youth. Becket V ii 328
Foil man that hath to f a murderous aim Harold II ii 417 but f's wherein To set the precious jewel, Becket, Pro. 268
To f and spoil the tyrant Foresters II i 11
Foil'd And may be f like Tarquin, if you follow The Cup I i 143
Fold (as for sheep) will return into the one true f, Queen Mary I iii 22
And be regather'd to the Papal f? „ III ii 117
Who now recalls her to His ancient f. „ III iii 167 sends His careful dog to bring them to the f. „ III iv 105 Fold (as for sheep) (continued) that our wolf-Queen Is prowling round the f. Becket III iii 8
To find my stray sheep back within the f. „ III iii 356
Home with the flock to the f— The Cup I ii 8
Safe from the wolf to the f— „ I ii 20
Fold (thing folded) How dense a f of danger nets him round, Harold II ii 17
The f's have fallen from the mystery, Becket IV ii 8
Fold See also Five-fold
Folded It lies there f: is there venom in it? Queen Mary III v 216 whole life hath been f like a blossom in the sheath, Foresters I i 206
Foliot (Gilbert, Bishop of London) (See also Gilbert Foliot)
Your F fasts and fawns too much for me. Becket, Pro. 264 not the soldier As F swears it.— „ I i 388
F may claim the pall For London too. „ I iii 55
F, let me see what I have sign'd. „ I iii 307
I sign'd them—being a fool, as F call'd me. „ I iii 561 and tho' you suspend F or another, „ II ii 358
F is the holier man, perhaps the better. „ III iii 91
Folk (See also Foälk, Volk) Among the good Northumbrian f, Harold I ii 220 our helpless f Are wash'd away, wailing, „ II ii 470 blurt thy curse among our f, I know not— „ V i 89 sent his f, His kin, and all his belongings, Becket II i 70
Live with these honest f—And play the fool! Prom. of May I 744
Folkmote The London f Has made him all but king, Foresters I iii 80
Foller (follow) be room anew for all o' ye. F me. Prom. of May I 454 Shall I f 'er and ax 'er to maäke it up? „ II 131 Follow (See also Foller) it f's all the more that they can make thee one, Queen Mary I i 49 will you not f the procession? „ I i 129
Well, I shall f; „ I i 132 made you f The Lady Suffolk and the Lady Lennox?— „ I iv 30
I f your good counsel, gracious uncle. „ I iv 186
F their Majesties. „ III i 331
Mary would have it; and this Gardiner f's; „ III iii 231
Philip would have it; and this Gardiner f's! „ III iii 234
Indeed, I cannot f with your Grace: „ III iv 99
I do not f. „ III v 38
And in a moment I shall f him. „ V v 57 by God's grace, We'll f Philip's leading, „ V v 112 worst that f's Things that seem jerk'd Harold I i 136
To f thee to Flanders! Must thou go? „ I ii 27
F my lead, and I will make thee earl. „ I ii 216
I need thee not. Why dost thou f me? Man-at-arms. „ II ii 232
I have the Count's commands to f thee. „ II ii 320 debonair to those That f where he leads, „ II ii 818 Thy Duke will seem the darker. Hence, I f. „ III i 85
'Wulfnoth is sick,' he said; 'he cannot f;' „ III i 157
That these will f thee against the Norsemen, „ IV i 177 will ye, if I yield, F against the Norsemen? „ IV i 177
An honest fool! F me, honest fool, „ V i 88
F them, f them, drive them to the sea! „ V i 602
They murder all that f. „ V i 610
F me this Rosamund day and night, Becket, Pro. 505 they f me—and I must not be known. „ I i 182
And then what f's? Let me f thee. „ I i 190
F him out! „ I i 237
And watch Fitzurse, and if he f thee, „ I i 330
True test of coward, ye f with a yell. „ I iii 745 Cross swords all of you! swear to f him! „ I iv 200 must we f All that they overdid or underdid? „ II ii 213 ran a twitch across his face as who should say what's to f? „ III iii 95
Farewell! I must f the King. „ III iii 329
I f out my hate and thy revenge. „ IV ii 151
F us, my son, and we will find it for thee— „ IV ii 372
if you f Not the dry light of Rome's straight-going policy, The Cup I i 144
Give him a bow and arrows—f—f. „ I i 208
What f's is for no wife's eyes. „ I iii 231
F my art among these quiet fields, Prom. of May I 743 Reaction needs must f revel—yet— „ II 264
'Well now you would fain f Wealth,' Foresters I i 158
And I will f thee, and God help us both. „ I i 277
Ay, so she did not f me to the wood. „ I iii 142

Follow (continued) But if you f me, you may die with me. Foresters I iii 166 and be silent in the wood. F me. „ II i 366
Quick, friar, f them: „ II i 429
They f us. „ IV 579
thy match shall f mine. „ IV 1045 Follow'd some fifty That f me from Penenden Heath Queen Mary II i 151 but f the device of those Her nearest kin: „ III i 379
You must fancy that which f, „ III i 410 boats that f, were as glowing-gay As regal gardens; „ III ii 12
Who f with the crowd to Cranmer's fire. „ IV iii 554
I f thee. Harold I ii 215
Why am I f, haunted, harass'd, „ II ii 248
Normans left among us, Who f me for love! „ III i 304
She hath f with our host, and suffer'd all. „ IV i 28
The king's foundation, that have f him. „ V i 476
Last night I f a woman in the city here. Becket, Pro. 468 why, my lord, I f—f one—— Becket. And then what follows? „ I i 188
The woman that I f bither. „ I i 195
My lord, I f Reginald Fitzurse. „ I i 235
The dog f his calling, my lord. „ I iv 97
Then f the thunder of the captains and the shouting, „ III iii 111
I thought if I f it I should find the fairies. „ IV i 24
I watched her and f her into the woods, „ IV ii 16
I f You and the child: he babbled all the way. „ IV ii 139
Why, these are our own monks who f us! „ V iii 59
I meant thee to have f—better thus. The Cup II 498
She f thee into the forest here? Foresters II i 486
The Sheriff! the Sheriff, f by Prince John „ IV 588
Followedst Art thou so sure thou f anything? Becket I i 210 Follower boldness, which will give my f's boldness. Queen Mary II iii 71
A worldly f of the wordly strong. Becket I iii 543
He rides abroad with armed f's, „ V i 2
Thy holy f founded Canterbury— „ V iii 5 but can keep his f's true. Foresters II i 77
if the f's Of him, who heads the movement, „ II i 700
Following (See also A-follering) but all the ladies of her f. Queen Mary I i 82 hang the leaders, let their f go. „ IV i 74
F her like her sorrow. „ V v 11
And slew two hundred of his f, Harold IV i 116
Bar the bird From f the fled summer— Becket I i 259
Fitzurse and his f—who would look down upon them? „ III iii 308
And all Thro' f of my fancy. The Falcon 144
the man, the woman, F their best affinities, Prom. of May I 523
He, f his own instincts as his God, „ I 588 who truly loves and truly rules His f, Foresters II i 77
Folly F, my good Lord. Courtenay. How f? Queen Mary I iv 89 the f of all follies Is to be love-sick for a shadow. „ I v 533
if he jeer not seeing the true man Behind his f, „ II ii 401
His early follies cast into his teeth, „ V ii 124 in your chancellorship you served The follies of the King. Becket. No, not these follies! Becket I ii 31
I am sure I told him that his plot was f. The Cup I ii 284 Fond Unalterably and pesteringly f! Queen Mary V i 120 his f excess of wine Springs from the loneliness of my poor bower, Becket III i 38
To the f arms of her first love, Fitzurse, „ IV ii 334
But he were mighty f o' ye, warn't he? Prom. of May II 9
You see, they are so f o' their own voices Foresters II i 382
Fonder F of poor Eva—like everybody else. Prom. of May II 11
Fondest But since the f pair of doves will jar, Becket IV ii 40
Fondle And one fair child to f! „ III i 12
Food dogs' f thrown upon thy head. Harold II ii 431 seeing now The poor so many, and all f so dear. Queen Mary IV iii 209
We scarcely dare to bless the f we eat Becket V i 70 found thy name a charm to get me F, roof, and rest. „ V ii 98 what should you know o' the f o' the poor? Foresters II i 283 Fool and—the f—He wrecks his health Queen Mary I v 166
It may be, thro' mine honesty, like a f. „ I v 237
he is thrice the f; „ II ii 401
He is child and f, and traitor to the State. „ II ii 403
some f that once Brake bread with us, „ III v 43

Fool (continued) and her priests Have preach'd, the f's, Queen Mary III vi 99 Till, by St. James, I find myself the f. „ III vi 101 nave and aisles all empty as a f's jest! „ IV iii 287
—the world A most obedient beast and f—myself Half beast and f as appertaining to it; „ IV iii 414
The f's! (repeat) „ IV iii 521, 530
Come out, my Lord, it is a world of f's. „ IV iii 639
Courtenay, belike— Mary. A f and featherhead! „ V i 128
F, think'st thou I would peril mine own soul „ V v 167 hot religious f, Who, seeing war in heaven, Harold I i 139 make me not f! Nor make the King a f, „ I i 289 lest I make myself a f Who made the King „ I i 293
F still! or wisdom there, „ I i 359
Be not a f! „ II i 19
To marry and have no husband Makes the wife f. „ II ii 310
I think I am a f To think it can be otherwise „ III i 102
Thou uncanonical f, Wilt thou play with the thunder? „ III i 390
F and wise, I fear This curse, and scorn it. „ III ii 67
Take and slay me, I say, Or I shall count thee f. „ IV ii 16
The slow, fat f! He drawl'd and prated so, „ IV ii 40
An honest f! Follow me, honest f, „ V i 88
Hot-headed f's—to burst the wall of shields! „ V i 612
Peace, f's! Becket. Peace, friends! Becket I ii 1
F! I will make thee hateful to thy King. „ I ii 91 sucking thro' f's ears The flatteries of corruption— „ I iii 360
For, like a f, thou knowest no middle way. „ I iii 532
I sign'd them—being a f, as Foliot call'd me. „ I iii 561
I play the f again. „ I iii 751 stay, f, and tell me why thou fliest. „ III ii 34
This in thy bosom, f, And after in thy bastard's! „ IV ii 257
The jealous f balk'd of her will— „ IV ii 423 honour me, obey me! Sluggards and f's! „ V i 241
Sluggards and f's, why do you stand and stare? „ V i 256
I have play'd the sudden f. The Cup I iii 162
But I taäkes 'im fur a bad lot and a burn f, Prom. of May I 154 but I taäkes 'im for a Lunnun swindler, and a burn f. „ I 309 Live with these honest folk—And play the f! „ I 745
Superstitious f, What brought me here? „ II 350
There, there, I am a f! „ III 207
More f he! What I that have been call'd a Socialist, „ III 583
Thou speakest like a f or a woman. Foresters I i 204
There—there—be not a f again. „ I i 261 thou art f again—I am all as loyal as thyself, „ I i 293
Why do you listen, man, to the old f? „ II i 358
I know I have done amiss, have been a f. „ II ii 52
I have been a f and I have lost my Kate. „ II ii 78 or the head of a f, or the heart of Prince John, „ IV 213
See thou thwart me not, thou f! „ IV 745
If thou be king, Be not a f! „ IV 790
Fool-fire But the f-f of love or lust, The Cup I i 147 Fool-friar Back, thou f-f! Knowest thou not the Prince? Foresters IV 682
Foolhardy But that's f. Wyatt. No! boldness Queen Mary II iii 69
Foolish Which found me full of f doubts, „ I v 530
For ever, you f child! What's come over you? Prom. of May I 771
Some f mistake of Sally's; but what! „ III 153
And all the f world is pressing thither. Foresters III 147
Fool-people The f-p call her a witch— „ II i 178 Foot Yearns to set f upon your island shore. Queen Mary I v 367 the pebble which his kingly f First presses „ I v 369
It lies there in six pieces at your feet; „ II i 87 set no f theretoward unadvised Of all our Privy Council; „ II ii 204 a sound Of feet and voices thickening hither— „ II iv 45
My foes are at my feet and I am Queen. „ II iv 119
My foes are at my feet, and Philip King. „ II iv 143
as if her feet were wash'd in blood, „ III i 61
Feeling my native land beneath my f, „ III ii 47
Thou art much beholden to this f of mine, „ III ii 49 where Edward draws A faint f hither, Harold I i 144 thy leave to set my feet On board, „ I i 228 sea shall roll me back To tumble at thy feet. „ I ii 115 Down thirty feet below the smiling day— „ II ii 430
He had but one f, he must have hopt away, „ II ii 675

Foot (continued) bright sky cleave To the very feet of God, Harold II ii 743
Seven feet of English land, or something more, „ IV ii 54
'Seven feet of English earth, or something more, „ IV iii 112
Then for the bastard Six feet and nothing more! „ IV iii 116
Our guardsman hath but toil'd his hand and f, I hand, f, „ V i 201
They turn on the pursuer, horse against f, „ V i 609 and a f to stamp it . . . Flat. „ V ii 192 the Archbishop washed my feet o' Tuesday. Becket I iv 234 My bank Of wild-flowers. At thy feet! „ II i 126 if Thomas have not flung himself at the King's feet. „ III iii 169 o'erleaps a jutting rock And shoots three hundred feet. The Cup I i 111 tho' Rome may set A free f where she will, „ II 246
My feet are tons of lead, They will break „ II 476 but he left the mark of 'is f i' the flower-bed; Prom. of May I 409
I measured his f wi' the mark i' the bed, „ I 413
I thinks I'd like to taäke the measure o' your f. „ I 464 is a gentleman? Dora. That he is, from head to f. „ III 282 land now And wealth, And lay both at your feet. „ III 616 whenever I set my own f on it I say to it, Foresters I i 335 Far from solid f of men, „ II ii 169

Footed See Delicate-footed, Four-footed

Footfall No f—no Fitzurse. We have seen her home. Becket I i 367

Footsore I am f and famish'd therewithal. Foresters II i 266

Footstep I thought I heard A f. The Cup I ii 12

Footstool There let them lie, your f! Queen Mary II iv 121

For See Vor, Vor't

Forage To leave the foe no f. Harold V i 133

Foraging I am f For Norway's army. „ IV ii 5

Forbad So royal that the Queen f you wearing it. Queen Mary I iv 77
The King f it. True, my liege. Foresters IV 865

Forbear Spare and f him, Harold, if he comes! Harold III i 299
How long shall we f him? Becket V ii 417

Forbid Shall I despair then?—God f! Queen Mary IV iii 129
No, God f! Henry. No! God f! Becket II ii 222
God f! (repeat) Foresters I ii 93, 100
Ay God f, But if it be so we must bear with John. „ I ii 101 save King Richard, when he comes, f me. „ IV 665
if the King f thy marrying With Robin, „ IV 874

Forbidden loved within the pale f By Holy Church: Harold III ii 23

Force (s) in full f Roll upon London. Queen Mary II i 235 so my Lord of Pembroke in command Of all her f be safe; „ II ii 306 Lord Pembroke in command of all our f „ II iv 4 jealousy Hath in it an alchemic f to fuse „ III vi 181
No power mine To hold their f together . . . Harold IV iii 213
Have thy two brethren sent their f's in? „ V i 342
Then there's no f in thee! „ V i 344
'A Galatian serving by F in the Roman Legion.' The Cup I i 47
'A Galatian serving by F in the Roman Legion.' „ I ii 75 Serve by f? No f Could make me serve by f. „ I ii 79
The f of Rome a thousand-fold our own. „ I ii 85

Force (verb) Why do you f me thus against my will? Grim. My lord, we f you from your enemies. Becket. As you would f a king from being crown'd. John of Salisbury. We must not f the crown of martyrdom. Becket V iii 21
I could not f or wheedle to my will. The Cup I iii 167

Forced Spite of her tears her father f it on her. Queen Mary I v 495 so 'z we was f to stick her, „ IV iii 494
When being f aloof from all my guard, Harold IV iii 15 dost thou think the King F mine election? Becket I i 127 see you yon side-beam that is f from under it, „ III iii 50

Forefather Beheld our rough f's break their Gods, Queen Mary III ii 120

Foreign My f friends, who dream'd us blanketed In ever-closing fog, „ III ii 19
That Gardiner, once so one with all of us Against this f marriage, „ III iii 7 and plunge His f fist into our island Church „ III iv 364 no f prince or priest Should fill my throne, „ III v 235
A long petition from the f exiles To spare the life of Cranmer. „ IV i 3 Shall these accuse him to a f prince? „ IV i 24
That Cranmer may withdraw to f parts, „ IV i 45
This same petition of the f exiles For Cranmer's life. „ IV i 193

Foreign (continued) how it chanced That this young Earl was sent on f travel, Queen Mary V ii 489
The f courts report him in his manner Noble „ V ii 511 that seem at most Sweet guests, or f cousins, Becket II i 135

Foreigner that no f Hold office in the household, Queen Mary III iii 71

Forekings fierce f had clench'd their private hides Harold IV iii 35

Forelead twin sister of the morning star, F the sun. The Cup I iii 47

Forelock That irritable f which he rubs, Queen Mary I iv 265 what hath fluster'd Gardiner? how he rubs His f! „ III iv 13

Foremost First of the f of their files, who die For God, Becket V ii 495
F in England and in Normandy; Harold II ii 631

Forenoon I was born true man at five in the f Queen Mary I i 46

Foresee For I f dark days. Mary. And so do I, sir; „ I v 275 and there was Lambert; Who can f himself? „ IV ii 216

Foreseeing F, with whate'er unwillingness, „ I v 253

Foreshorten That so f's greatness, „ III v 41

Forespeak I can f your speaking. „ I v 137

Forest (adj.) The King keeps his f head of game here, Becket III ii 37
I have shelter'd some that broke the f laws. Foresters I iii 70 up thro' all the f land North to the Tyne: „ II i 88
So now the f lawns are all as bright As ways to heaven, „ II i 630
And join our feasts and all your f games „ III 85
It is our f custom they should revel Along with Robin. „ III 174
Have ye glanced down thro' all the f ways „ IV 111
Ay, ay, Robin, but let him know our f laws: „ IV 199
Hast broken all our Norman f laws, „ IV 886
That thou wilt break our f laws again „ IV 888
They break thy f laws—nay, by the rood „ IV 907
Our f games are ended, our free life, „ IV 1049

Forest (s) King's verdurer caught him a-hunting in the f, Becket I iv 96
More sacred than his f's for the chase? „ IV ii 24 this door Opens upon the f! Out, begone! The Cup I ii 329 there is a lot of wild fellows in Sherwood f who hold by King Richard. Foresters I ii 73
In Sherwood F. I have heard of them. „ I iii 102
I believe She came with me into the f here. Robin. She follow'd thee into the f here? „ II i 485 myself Would guide you thro' the f to the sea. „ II i 638 out of the f and over the hills and away, „ II ii 175 most beaten track Runs thro' the f, „ III 90
My lord John, In wrath because you drove him from the f, „ III 451
To bring their counter-bond into the f. „ IV 90 cuirass in this f where I dream'd That all was peace— „ IV 130 Thou art the king of the f, „ IV 232
if e'er thou be assail'd In any of our f's, „ IV 424
Thou told'st us we should meet him in the f, „ IV 440
You hide this damsel in your f here, „ IV 476
Thou art alone in the silence of the f „ IV 631
Thou Robin shalt be ranger of this f, „ IV 954
We leave but happy memories to the f. „ IV 1071

Forester He was a f good; „ II i 319

Forest-horn if I wind This f-h of mine „ IV 175

Forest-life and all the better For this free f-l, „ II i 60

Foretold my dream f my martyrdom In mine own church. Becket V ii 632

Forfeit Or I f my land to the Abbot. Foresters I ii 151
if they were not repaid within a limited time your land should be f. „ IV 469

Forfeited affirms The Queen has f her right to reign Queen Mary V i 290
It seems thy father's land is f. Foresters IV 640

Forgave my father and I f you stealing our coals. Prom. of May III 69
—her last word F—and I forgive you. „ III 811

Forged ay; if Bonner have not f the bills. Queen Mary IV i 51

Forget (See also Forgit) you f That long low minster where you gave your hand „ III ii 89 may God F me at most need when I f Her foul divorce— „ IV i 80 if that May make your Grace f yourself a little. „ V v 81 Shall I f my new archbishoprick Becket I i 220
To rest upon thy bosom and f him— „ II i 31
Forgetting that F's me too. „ II i 50
You were. I never f anything. „ V ii 413 he begs you to f it As scarce his act:— The Cup II 51
I promise you that if you f yourself in your behaviour to this gentleman, Prom. of May I 161
I am old and f. Was Prince John there? Foresters I i 251

Forget (continued) Not till she clean f thee, noble Earl.
Marian. F him—never—by this Holy Cross Foresters I ii 306
Till Nature, high and low, and great and small F's herself, " I ii 328
'Turn! turn!' but I f it. " I iii 155
Forgetfulness offal thrown Into the blind sea of f. Queen Mary III iii 193 Forget-me-not From out a bed of thick f-m-n's, " V v 94 speedwell, bluebottle, succory, f-m-n? Prom. of May I 98
F-m-n, meadowsweet, willow-herb. " II 299
Forgetting F that Forgets me too. Becket II i 49
Forgit (forget) I ha' browt these roses to ye—I f's what they calls 'em, Prom. of May II 14
Forgive She never will f you. Queen Mary I ii 96
F me, Father, for no merit of mine, " IV iii 152
F me, brother, I will live here and die. Harold II ii 803
F me thou, and help me here! " V ii 22
Not help me, nor f me? " V ii 24
I say it now, f me! " V ii 27
We do f you For aught you wrought against us. Becket II ii 109
F me and absolve me, holy father. " II ii 441 and though a Roman I F thee, Camma. The Cup II 506
I f her, I f her! The Falcon 173
They say, we should f our enemies. Prom. of May II 431
if the wretch were dead I might f him; " II 434
I trust I shall f him—by-and-by— " II 466 not So easy to f—even the dead. " II 486 sure am I that of your gentleness You will f him. " II 489 then she will f Edgar for Harold's sake. " II 677 said herself She would f him, by-and-by, " II 681
'O man, f thy mortal foe, " III 5 souls on earth that live To be forgiven must f. F him seventy times and seven; " III 8
O f me! f me! Steer. Who said that? " III 462
I do believe I could f—well, almost anything— " III 631
Make her happy, then, and I f you. " III 667
I cannot find the word—f it—Amends. " III 790 —her last word Forgave—and I f you. If you ever F yourself, " III 811
He never will f her. Foresters II i 142
Thou art Her brother—I f thee. " II i 516
Forgiven That might be f. I tell you, fly, my Lord. Queen Mary I ii 42
And, when the headsman pray'd to be f, " III i 394
These are f—matters of the past— " III iii 190
And be f for it? " III vi 124 to speak a single word That could not be f. " III vi 127
And she loved much: pray God she be f. " V v 272 Forgotten and f by them and thee. Harold I i 255 souls on earth that live To be f must forgive. Prom. of May III 8 souls in Heaven Are both forgivers and f.' " III 11 Didn't I say that we had f you? " III 75
I kneel once more to be f. Foresters II i 668
Forgiveness the King—that traitor past f, Queen Mary I v 29
Is now content to grant you full f, " III iv 389
Was there not some one ask'd me for f? Harold V ii 83
Would not—if penitent—have denied him her F. Prom. of May II 498 Go back to him and ask his f before he dies.— " III 401
Don't you long for Father's f! " III 404
Speak but one word not only of f, Foresters II i 610
Forgiver souls in Heaven Are both f's and forgiven.' Prom. of May III 11 Forgot some Hebrew. Faith, I half f it. Queen Mary II i 126
I f to tell you He wishes you to dine along with us, Prom. of May I 616 that I f my message from the Earl. Foresters I i 296 Forgotten I had f How these poor libels trouble you. Queen Mary V ii 201
F and forgiven by them and thee. Harold I i 255
And woo their loves and have f thee; " II ii 438
And all thine England hath f thee; " II ii 443 Counts his old beads, and hath f thee. " II ii 447 Boy, thou hast f That thou art English. " II ii 474 nurse, I had f thou wast sitting there. The Falcon 35 Ay, and f thy foster-brother too. " 36
he had not f his promise to come when I called him. Prom. of May III 329
I have f my horn that calls my men together. Foresters II i 185
Shame on thee, Little John, thou hast f— " III 238
When the Church and the law have f God's music, " IV 554

Forkin' And you an' your Sally was f the haäy. Prom. of May II 181
When me an' my Sally was f the haäy, " II 192 Forlorn betray'd, defamed, divorced, f! Queen Mary I v 27 and yield Full scope to persons rascal and f, " II ii 185 F I am, and let me look f. " V ii 238
The last Parthian shaft of a f Cupid at the King's left breast, Becket, Pro. 339
Form to compose the event In some such f Queen Mary I v 225
The public f thereof. " IV ii 71 face and f unmatchable! The Cup I i 122 Formal a f offer of the hand Of Philip? Queen Mary I v 349
The f offer of Prince Philip's hand. " I v 588
And that more freely than your f priest, Prom. of May III 632
I believed thee to be too solemn and f to be a ruffler. Foresters I i 168
Former we shall still maintain All f treaties with his Majesty. Queen Mary I v 266
A bastard hate born of a f love. Becket II i 174
Why then I strike into my f path For England, " II ii 455
To the monk-king, Louis, our f burthen, " IV ii 305
Some of my f friends Would find my logic faulty; Prom. of May II 663 because one of the Steers had planted it there in f times. " III 247 Forsaken we fade and are f— Queen Mary V ii 375
Forsware That he f himself for all he loved, Harold V i 622
Forswear to guard the land for which He did f himself— " V ii 163
Forsworn realm for which thou art f is cursed, " V i 63
But we hold Thou art f; and no f Archbishop Shall helm the Church. Becket I iii 596
Fort Spain in our ships, in our f's, Queen Mary II i 179
To seize upon the f's and fleet, " III i 464 Hold office in the household, fleet, f's, army; " III iii 72
A hill, a f, a city—that reach'd a hand Harold IV i 44 another hill Or f, or city, took it, " IV i 50
Fortifying I spent thrice that in f his castles. Becket I iii 632
Fortiter Suaviter in modo, f in re, " V ii 539
Fortune seem'd to smile And sparkle like our f Queen Mary II iii 24 still Beyond your f's, you are still the king The Falcon 291 though f had born you into the estate of a gentleman, Prom. of May II 120
Forty As haggard as a fast of f days, Harold IV iii 176
Some thirty—f thousand silver marks. Becket I iii 657
What! f thousand-marks! " I iii 704
F thousand marks! f thousand devils— " I iv 90
These two have f gold marks between them, Robin. Foresters III 202 Forward F to London with me! f to London! Queen Mary II i 214
f to London! Crowd. F to London! " II i 216
A Wyatt! a Wyatt! F! " II i 237
To Kingston, f! " II iii 124
F! F! Harold and Holy Cross! Harold IV i 268
Foster-brother Ay, and forgotten thy f-b too. The Falcon 37 as your ladyship knows, his lordship's own f-b, " 566 Fought I have f the fight and go— Harold I i 184
Why—how they f when boys— " I i 430
We f like great states for grave cause; " I i 440 boy would fist me hard, and when we f I conquer'd, " I i 445
And thou for us hast f as loyally, " II ii 160
Have I not f it out? " II ii 222
I f another fight than this Of Stamford-bridge. " IV iii 23 or English Ironside Who f with Knut, " IV iii 54 Every man about his king F like a king; " IV iii 57 the living Who f and would have died, " IV iii 71 Hail to the living who f, the dead who fell! " IV iii 105 hath kinglike f and fallen, His birthday too. " V ii 124
And but that Holy Peter f for us, " V ii 164 have I f men Like Harold and his brethren, " V ii 178
For how have f thine utmost for the Church, Becket I i 117
I led seven hundred knights and f his wars. " I iii 639
We f in the East, And felt the sun of Antioch " II ii 92
But kinglike f the proud archbishop, " IV ii 438 names of those who f and fell are like The Cup I ii 164 but we f for it back, And kill'd— The Falcon 614 both f against the tyranny of the kings, the Normans. Foresters I i 229
Who be those three that I have f withal? " II i 443
Thou shouldst have ta'en his place, and f for him. " II i 546
Hast thou not f for it, and earn'd it? " IV 344

Fought (continued) Give me that hand which f for Richard there. Foresters IV 1029 Foul lives Of many among your churchmen were so f Queen Mary III iv 192 may God Forget me at most need when I forget Her f divorce— „ IV i 81
F maggots crawling in a fester'd vice! „ V v 161
I free From this f charge— Harold II ii 518 a f stream Thro' fever-breeding levels,— Becket II i 154 slut whose fairest linen seems F as her dust-cloth, „ V ii 203
She rose From the f flood and pointed toward the farm, Prom. of May II 653 all the f fatalities That blast our natural passions into pains! „ III 723 in Nottingham they say There bides a f witch somewhere hereabout. Foresters II i 203
he has anger'd the f witch, „ II i 670 slut whose fairest linen seems F as her dust-cloth, Becket V ii 203 Found (See also Fun') All my hope is now It may be f a scandal. Queen Mary I v 231
Which f me full of foolish doubts, „ I v 530
Happily or not, It f her sick indeed. „ II ii 124
I've f this paper; pray your worship read it; „ II iii 55
We f him, your worship, a plundering „ II iii 72
I f it fluttering at the palace gates:— „ III ii 218 yet I f One day, a wholesome scripture, „ III iv 83
And f it all a visionary flame, „ IV ii 4
I have f thee and not leave thee any more. „ IV ii 109
Have f a real presence in the stake, „ IV ii 142 so long continuing, Hath f his pardon; „ IV iii 50 libellous papers which I f Strewn in your palace. „ V ii 172
And I have often f them. Mary. Find me one! „ V ii 222 God pardon me! I have never yet f one. „ V ii 335 and the dead were f Sitting, and in this fashion; „ V ii 396
I never f he bore me any spite. „ V ii 474
Have you f mercy there, Grant it me here: „ V v 144
If he f me thus, Harold might hate me; Harold I ii 171
I f him all a noble host should be. „ II ii 10 because we f him A Norman of the Normans. „ II ii 581 Both were lost and f together, „ III ii 7 lost and f Together in the cruel river Swale „ III ii 9
Tho' we be lost and be f together.' „ III ii 21
I have f him, I am happy. „ V ii 81
That I have f it here again? „ V ii 116
He f me once alone. Nay—nay—I cannot Tell you: Becket I i 274
They said—her Grace's people—thou wast f— „ I ii 6 that had f a King Who ranged confusions, „ I iii 369
I f a hundred ghastly murders done By men, „ I iii 407 and went on till I f the light and the lady, „ IV ii 18
He is easily f again. „ IV ii 67
F out her secret bower and murder'd her. „ V i 175
f thy name a charm to get me Food, roof, and rest. „ V ii 96 have f together In our three married years! The Cup I ii 416
we f a goat-herd's hut and shared His fruits „ I ii 426
I never f the woman I could not force or wheedle „ I iii 165
f All good in the true heart of Sinnatus, „ II 86
If you had f him plotting against Rome, „ II 406
But had I f him plotting, I had counsell'd „ II 412 chaplet on the grass, And there I f it. The Falcon 370
I have f it once again In your own self. Prom. of May II 375 seen us that wild morning when we f Her bed unslept in, „ II 470
Has anyone f me out, Dora? „ III 225
We f a letter in your bedroom torn into bits. „ III 323 even if I f it Dark with the soot of slums. „ III 601
I f this white doe wandering thro' the wood, Foresters II i 95
F him dead and drench'd in dew, „ II ii 147
the warm wine, and f it again. „ IV 245
I never f one traitor in my band. „ IV 836
Foundation Waltham, my f For men who serve the neighbour, Harold V i 97
The king's f, that have follow'd him. „ V i 476
Fountain (adj.) Were seated sadly at a f side, The Falcon 610
Fountain (s) his wealth A f of perennial alms— Queen Mary II ii 385
Four (See also Vour) f guns gaped at me, Black, silent mouths: „ II iii 30
I know Some three or f poor priests a thousand times Fitter Becket, Pro. 291

Four (continued) And this no wife has born you f brave sons, Becket V i 125
There then, f hundred marks. Foresters IV 497
Four-and-twenty We will away in f-a-t hours, „ I iii 91
Four-footed all manner of game, and f-f things, and fowls— Becket III iii 130
Fourscore This forest-horn of mine I can bring down F tall fellows on thee. Foresters IV 177
Fowl (See also Wild-fowl) The f that fleeth o'er thy field is cursed, Harold V i 73 all manner of game, and four-footed things, and f's— Becket III iii 131
Here's a fine f for my lady; The Falcon 556
Fox Die like the torn f dumb, Queen Mary II ii 331 a f may filch a hen by night, „ III v 157 a f from the glen ran away with the hen, Prom. of May I 51
Fox-Fleming Why comes that old f-F back again? Queen Mary I v 581
Foxglove Past the bank Of f, then to left by that one yew. Foresters IV 974
Fox-lion sorrow'd for my random promise given To yon f-l. Harold III i 270 Fragment or whether England Be shatter'd into f's. „ II ii 286
Frail his f transparent hand, Damp with the sweat of death, Queen Mary I ii 31
Frailer At least mine own is f: you are laming it. Becket IV ii 264
Frailty and as to other frailties of the flesh— Foresters I ii 65
France F would not accept her for a bride Queen Mary I ii 67
That makes for F. (repeat) Queen Mary I iii 89, 92, 94
But we play with Henry, King of F, Queen Mary I iii 132
The King of F, Noailles the Ambassador, „ I iv 110
Our one point on the main, the gate of F! „ I v 126
The Ambassador from F, your Grace. „ I v 239
Would make our England, F; „ I v 297
Would be too strong for F. „ I v 300
I must needs wish all good things for F. „ I v 310
'Sir Peter Carew fled to F: „ II i 135
The King of F is with us; „ II i 195
The King of F will help to break it. Bagenhall. F! We once had half of F, „ III i 105
England now Is but a ball chuck'd between F and Spain, „ III i 110
I know some lusty fellows there in F. „ III i 129
Back'd by the power of F, and landing here, „ III i 447
Not so well holpen in our wars with F, „ III vi 189
Ay, ay, beware of F. „ IV iii 434
If war should fall between yourself and F; „ V i 10
To declare war against the King of F. „ V i 117 soon or late you must have war with F; „ V i 122
he would weld F, England, Scotland, „ V i 136 yet the Pope is now colleagued with F; „ V i 140 to discourage and lay lame The plots of F, „ V i 189
The King of F the King of England too. „ V i 198
There will be war with F, at last, my liege; „ V i 283
Sailing from F, with thirty Englishmen, „ V i 285
This is the fifth conspiracy hatch'd in F; „ V i 298
Our flag hath floated for two hundred years Is F again. „ V ii 263
You did but help King Philip's war with F, „ V ii 314
As far as F, and into Philip's heart. „ V iii 18
It was his father's policy against F. „ V v 45 help to build a throne Out-towering hers of F . . . Harold II ii 765 and all F, all Burgundy, Poitou, all Christendom „ III ii 149
Louis of F loved me, and I dreamed that I loved Louis of F: Becket, Pro. 355
I will have thee frighted into F, „ I ii 94
I mean to cross the sea to F, „ I iii 124
Thou knowest he was forced to fly to F; „ I iii 205
But I that threw the mightiest knight of F, „ I iii 747
'Fly at once to F, to King Louis of F: „ I iv 53
I must fly to F to-night. „ I iv 154 or in the land of F for aught I know. „ I iv 196
F! Ha! De Morville, Tracy, Brito—fled is he? „ I iv 198 one who lives for thee Out there in F; „ II i 310 Brother of F, what shall be done with Becket? „ II ii 64 claws that you perforce again Shrank into F. „ II ii 88 Brother of F, you have taken, „ II ii 154 all the Church of F Decide on their decision, „ II ii 177
we pray you, draw yourself from under The wings of F. „ II ii 249

France (continued) I am glad that F hath scouted him at last: Becket II ii 252 you have quenched the warmth of F toward you, „ II ii 311
The wine and wealth of all our F are yours; „ II ii 446 have I Not heard ill things of her in F? Oh, she's The Queen of F. „ III i 231
My Lords of F and England, My friend of Canterbury „ III iii 227
we will to F and be Beforehand with the King, „ IV ii 453
For once in F the King had been so harsh, „ V ii 139
St. Denis of F and St. Alphege of England, „ V iii 165
Franche-Comté (a French province) voices of F-C, and the Netherlands, Queen Mary V i 45
Frange Illorum lanceas F Creator! Harold V i 584 Frankfort To Strasburg, Antwerp, F, Zurich, Queen Mary I ii 2
Fray'd f i' the knees, and out at elbow, „ I i 51
Freak Her f's and frolics with the late Lord Admiral? „ I iv 20
Free (adj.) (See also Tongue-free) To make f spoil and havock of your goods. „ II ii 186 but we can save your Grace. The river still is f. „ II iv 25
he is f enough in talk, But tells me nothing. „ III ii 193
That jail you from f life, bar you from death. „ III v 172 with f wing The world were all one Araby. „ IV v 208 but had rather Breathe the f wind from off our Saxon downs, Harold II ii 186
To chain the f guest to the banquet-board; „ II ii 193
F air! f field! „ II ii 230 and fill the sky With f sea-laughter— „ II ii 337
Should they not know f England crowns herself? „ V i 47
Softly, and fling them out to the f air. Becket I i 287
And weight down all f choice beneath the throne. „ I iii 118 couldst thou always Blurt thy f mind to the air? „ I iii 239
she holds it in F and perpetual alms, „ I iii 680
To speak without stammering and like a f man? „ I iv 8 but God and his f wind grant your lordship a happy home-return „ III iii 327
Give me the poison; set me f of him! „ IV ii 165
The power of life in death to make her f! „ V iii 101 tho' Rome may set A f foot where she will, The Cup II 246 While, had you left him f use of his wings, Prom. of May I 652 for the moment, Will leave me a f field. „ II 456
We should be f as air in the wild wood— Foresters I iii 124
And these will strike for England And man and maid be f „ II i 10
And these shall wed with freemen, And all their sons be f, „ II i 22 and all the better For this f forest-life, „ II i 60
That I might breathe for a moment f of shield And cuirass „ IV 128 Friends, your f sports have swallow'd my f hour. „ IV 339 while our Robin's life Hangs by a thread, but he is a f man. „ IV 385
Our forest games are ended, our f life, „ IV 1049
Free (verb) I f From this foul charge— Harold II ii 517 Take thee, or f thee, F thee or slay thee, „ IV ii 17
if thou light upon her—f me from her? Becket, Pro. 493
First, f thy captive from her hopeless prison, „ V i 183
O devil, can I f her from the grave? „ V i 185
That sought to f the tomb-place of the King Foresters IV 408
Freed Duke of Suffolk lately f from prison, Queen Mary I iii 121 Earl of Devon? I f him from the Tower, „ I v 163 he f himself By oath and compurgation from the charge. Harold II ii 519 Know that when made Archbishop I was f, Becket I iii 708 part real, part childlike, to be f from the dulness— „ III iii 156
I have f myself From all such dreams, Prom. of May III 594
Freedom Whereas in wars of f and defence The Cup I ii 160
The love of f, the desire of God, Foresters II i 68 maiden f which Would never brook the tyrant. „ III 119
Freeing For f my friend Bagenhall from the Tower; Queen Mary III vi 7
Freely that more f than your formal priest, Prom. of May III 632
Freeman wrench'd All hearts of freemen from thee. Harold V i 279
And these shall wed with freemen, Foresters II i 21
Freer and when I flee from this For a gasp of f air, Becket II i 29
Free-will now the stronger motive, Misnamed f-w— Prom. of May II 637
Freeze And, lest we f in mortal apathy, The Cup I iii 130
French (adj.) F, I must needs wish all goods things for France. Queen Mary I v 309
The F King winks at it. „ III i 160
French (adj.) (continued) not mix us any way With his F wars— Queen Mary III iii 79 and the F fleet Rule in the narrow seas. „ V i 6 Swine, sheep, ox—here's a F supper. Becket I iv 113
Not on F ground, nor any ground but English, „ III iii 260
French (s) it threatens us no more Than F or Norman. Harold I i 135 talk a little F like a lady; play a little like a lady? Prom. of May III 303 Frenchman You must be sweet and supple, like a F. Queen Mary V i 276 and driven back The Frenchmen from their trenches? „ V ii 258
But blaze not out before the Frenchmen here. Becket III iii 221
Frequency and so cannot suffer by the rule of f. „ III iii 319
Fresh but you, cousin, are f and sweet As the first flower Queen Mary I iv 61
Would fain have some f treaty drawn between you.
Mary. Why some f treaty? „ I v 261
And put some f device in lieu of it— „ III i 268
Cousin Pole, You are f from brighter lands. „ III iv 322
Carry f rushes into the dining-hall, Foresters I i 80
Friar (See also Fool-friar) Of those two f's ever in my prison, Queen Mary IV ii 94 as he walk'd the Spanish f's Still plied him „ IV iii 576 f's Plied him, but Cranmer only shook his head, „ IV iii 600 overbalance the weight of the church, ha f? Foresters I ii 62
Quick, f, follow them: „ II i 429
Nay, nay, but softly, lest they spy thee, f! „ II i 438
We spoil'd the prior, f, abbot, monk, „ III 167
Here come three f's. „ III 256
Thou and thy woman are a match for three f's. „ III 262
How should poor f's have money? „ III 276
These f's, thieves, and liars, Shall drink „ III 312
I believe thee, thou art a good fellow, though a f. „ III 342 by St. Mary these beggars and these f's shall join you. „ III 417
This f is of much boldness, noble captain. „ IV 234
I am overbreathed, F, by my two bouts at quarterstaff. „ IV 267 our f is so holy That he's a miracle-monger, „ IV 280
Keep silence, bully f, before the King. „ IV 919
If a cat may look at a king, may not a f speak to one? „ IV 922
—I trust Half truths, good f: „ IV 950
You, good f, You Much, you Scarlet, you dear Little John, „ IV 1082
Friar Tuck (follower of Robin Hood) coming hither for the dance—be they not, F T? „ I ii 54
Besides, tho' F T might make us one, „ II ii 88
Friday And I was bit by a mad dog o' F, Becket I iv 218
Friend fear, I see you, Dear f, for the last time; Queen Mary I ii 103
Ay, gentle f, admit them. I will go. „ I ii 110
By the mass, old f, we'll have no pope here „ I iii 42
Unless my f's and mirrors lie to me, „ I iv 2
Queen Is both my foe and yours: we should be f's. „ I iv 43
Not many f's are mine, except indeed Among the many. „ I iv 135 Speak not thereof—no, not to your best f, „ I iv 177 who am your f And ever faithful counsellor, „ I v 134 call'd my f's together, Struck home and won. „ I v 552
His f's would praise him, I believed 'em, „ I v 623
His f's—as Angels I received 'em, „ I v 625
You as poor a critic As an honest f: „ II i 116
No, my f; war for the Queen's Grace— „ II i 188 world as yet, my f, Is not half-waked; „ II i 227
Ay, ay, my f; not read it? „ II iii 64
My f's, I have not come to kill the Queen „ II iii 116
Be happy, I am your f. „ II iii 123 hath shut the gates On f and foe. „ II iv 62
My foreign f's, who dream'd us blanketed „ III ii 19
St. Andrew's day; sit close, sit close, we are f's. „ III iii 2
My seven-years' f was with me, my young boy; „ III iii 47
Our old f Cranmer, Your more especial love, „ III iv 416
To reach the hand of mercy to my f. „ IV i 65
why my f Should meet with lesser mercy „ IV i 69
Your-faithful f and trusty councillor. „ IV i 89
Without a f, a book, my faith would seem Dead „ IV ii 96
Or am I slandering my most inward f, „ IV ii 105
Good day, old f; what, you look somewhat worn; „ IV ii 115
F for so long time of a mighty King; „ IV iii 73
And I and learned f's among ourselves „ V ii 74
Have not I been the fast f of your life Since mine began, „ V ii 133
He is my good f, and I would keep him so; „ V iii 91

Friend (continued) F, tho' so late, it is not safe to preach. Queen Mary v iv 41
Our f's, the Normans, holp to shake his chair. Harold i i 85
Stand by him, mine old f, „ i i 113
Is not the Norman Count thy f and mine? „ i i 247
F's, in that last inhospitable plunge „ ii i 1
I dug mine into My old fast f the shore, „ ii i 7
Thou art his f: thou know'st my claim on England „ ii ii 11
he shall be my dear f As well as thine, „ ii ii 80
So thou, fair f, will take them easily. „ ii ii 207
Obey the Count's conditions, my good f. „ ii ii 277
I am thy fastest f in Normandy. „ ii ii 556
Be careful of thine answer, my good f. „ ii ii 605
Harold, I am thy f, one life with thee, „ ii ii 649
My f, thou hast gone too far to palter now. „ ii ii 706
I, the Count—the King—Thy f— „ ii ii 755
O f's, I shall not overlive the day. „ iii i 232
Edwin, my f—Thou lingerest.—Gurth,— „ iv i 257
F's, had I been here, Without too large self-lauding „ iv iii 85
King Loves not as statesman, but true lover and f. Becket, Pro. 81
Nolo Archiepiscopari, my good f, Is quite another matter. „ Pro. 286
Becket, her father's f, like enough staved „ Pro. 518
F, am I so much better than thyself „ i i 3
Henry the King hath been my f, my brother, „ i i 87 my father drove him and his f's, De Tracy „ i i 277 when thou seest him next, Commend me to thy f.
What f? Rosamund. The King. „ i i 324
My f, the King! . . . O thou Great Seal of England, Given me by my dear f the King of England— „ i i 335
Now must I send thee as a common f To tell the King, my f, I am against him. We are f's no more: „ i i 342
Go therefore like a f slighted by one „ i i 350
O, my dear f, the King! O brother!— „ i i 359
Peace, fools! Becket. Peace, f's! „ i ii 2
Serve my best f and make him my worst foe; „ i iii 567
Farewell, f's! farewell, swallows! „ i iv 44 may I come in with my poor f, my dog? „ i iv 94
My f's, the Archbishop bids you good night. „ i iv 261
Be f's with him again—I do beseech thee. „ ii i 21
But since he cursed My f's at Veselay, „ ii i 89
I kneel to thee—be f's with him again. „ ii i 317
Be, both, the f's you were. Henry. The f's we were!
Co-mates we were, „ ii ii 119
No one comes, Nor foe nor f; „ iii i 38
My f of Canterbury and myself Are now once more „ iii iii 228
It must be so, my f! „ iii iii 342
Soon as she learnt I was a f of thine, „ v ii 110
Why they, your f's, those ruffians, the De Brocs, „ v ii 434
My two good f's, What matters murder'd here, „ v ii 629
Come in, my f's, come in! „ v iii 68
Some f's of mine would speak with me without. The Cup i ii 202 my f's may spy him And slay him as he runs. „ i ii 390
Our Antonius, Our faithful f of Rome, „ ii 244
Thou art the last f left me upon earth— The Falcon 31
No, no—a f of hers. „ 59
For fear of losing more than f, a son; „ 332
Should fly like bosom f's when needed most. „ 527 cold-manner'd f may strangely do us The truest service, „ 642 day's bright like a f, but the wind east like an enemy. Prom. of May i 79 forget yourself in your behaviour to this gentleman, my father's f, „ i 163
Niver man 'ed better f's, and I will saäy niver master 'ed better men: „ i 323
I trust, my dear, we shall be always f's. „ i 632
After all that has gone between us—f's! What, only f's? „ i 634
All that has gone between us Should surely make us f's. „ i 638
I do not dare, like an old f, to shake it. „ ii 526
Some of my former f's Would find my logic faulty; „ ii 664
But, O dear f, If thro' the want of any— „ iii 549 a f just now, One that has been much wrong'd, „ iii 574 so true a f of the people as Lord Robin of Huntingdon. Foresters i i 188

Friend (continued) This Robin, this Earl of Huntingdon —he is a f of Richard— Foresters i i 282
My guests and f's, Sir Richard, „ i ii 77
Dost thou mistrust me? Am I not thy f? „ i ii 178 as I am thy f, I promise thee to make this Marian thine. „ i ii 182
I and my f, this monk, were here belated, „ i ii 193
Sheriff, thy f, this monk, is but a statue. „ i ii 233
F's, I am only merry for an hour or two „ i iii 10
Strike up a song, my f's, and then to bed. „ i iii 30
Ah dear Robin? ah noble captain, f of the poor! „ ii i 182
Nay—that, my f, I am sure I did not say. „ ii i 488
He has a f there will advance the monies, „ ii i 628
We never robb'd one f of the true King. „ iii 157
Robin, the people's f, the King o' the woods! „ iii 347
F's, your free sports have swallow'd my free hour. „ iv 339
Meanwhile, farewell Old f's, old patriarch oaks. „ iv 1054
Friendly-fiendly with that f-f smile of his, Harold iii i 86
Friendship hatred of another to us Is no true bond of f. Queen Mary i iv 46
I hate a split between old f's Becket ii ii 380
No f sacred, values neither man Nor woman Foresters iv 713
Friendship-fast Which binds us f-f for ever! Harold ii ii 162
Frieze Look'd somewhat crooked on him in his f; Queen Mary iv iii 333
Fright (s) what maäkes tha sa white? Eva. F, father! Prom. of May i 418
Since Tostig came with Norway—f not love. Harold iv i 173
Fright (verb) and deep-incavern'd eyes Half f me. Queen Mary i iv 268
Which f's you back into the ancient faith; „ iv ii 143
They f not me. Harold i i 39
It f's the traitor more to maim and blind. „ ii ii 503
—flatter And f the Pope— Becket ii ii 473
I see now Your purpose is to f me— „ iv ii 180
Why do you jest with me, and try To f me? Prom. of May i 666
I am not deaf: you f me. „ iii 660
To f the wild hawk passing overhead, Foresters iii 318
Frighted Are f back to Tostig. Harold iv i 119
I will have thee f into France, Becket i ii 93 Fringe Some golden f of gorgeousness beyond Old use, The Cup ii 438 old woman's blessing with them to the last f. Foresters ii i 196
Frith (John) But you were never raised to plead for F, Queen Mary iv ii 211 Frock What, Mr. Dobson? A butcher's f? Prom. of May i 94
Frog Quash'd my f that used to quack Foresters ii ii 149
Frolic Her freaks and f's with the late Lord Admiral? Queen Mary i iv 20
After my f with his tenant's girl, Prom. of May i 493
Can have f and play. Foresters ii ii 183
From See Vro'
Front (adj.) Would set him in the f rank of the fight The Cup i ii 153
Front (verb) That is Your question, and I f it with another: Queen Mary i v 141
Will f their cry and shatter them into dust. „ ii iv 5
And f the doom of God. Harold v i 436
I'll f him, cross to cross. Becket i iii 481
Frost had a touch of f That help'd to check The Falcon 644
How few f's Will chill the hearts Foresters iv 1063
Frosted f off me by the first cold frown of the King. Becket i iv 67
Frosty Like sun-gilt breathings on a f dawn— Queen Mary v iii 50
Frown (s) frosted off me by the first cold f of the King. Becket i iv 67
Let there not be one f in this one hour. „ ii i 43
Frown (verb) should not f as Power, but smile Harold i i 365
However kings and queens may f on thee. Becket i ii 19
Frowned The King hath f upon me. „ i iv 25
he f 'No mate for her, if it should come to that'— „ iii i 258
Frozen snow had f round her, and she sat Stone-dead „ v ii 237
Fructus Sit benedictus f ventris tui!' Queen Mary iii ii 83
Fruit should leave Some f of mine own body after me, „ ii ii 223
The tree that only bears dead f is gone. „ iii i 19 this dead f was ripening overmuch, „ iii i 25
Can render thanks in f for being sown, „ iii iii 198 when the full f of the royal promise might have dropt Becket iii iii 275 and shared His f's and milk. Liar! The Cup i ii 428 strows our f's, and lays Our golden grain, „ ii 285
And here are fine f's for my lady— The Falcon 561
Fruitful Most f, yet, indeed, an empty rind, Queen Mary iii ii 202
Drink and drink deep—our marriage will be f. The Cup ii 381

Fugatur Pastor f Grex trucidatur— Harold v i 513 Fulfil Speak, Master Cranmer, F your promise made me, Queen Mary iv iii 112
Fulfill'd wish f before the word Was spoken, .. i iv 232
Full but I hear that he is too f of aches and broken before his day. .. i i 124
But your own state is f of danger here. .. i iv 168 a head So f of grace and beauty ! .. i v 64 in f force Roll upon London. .. ii i 234 ye did promise f Allegiance and obedience to the death. .. ii ii 168 and yield F scope to persons rascal and forlorn, .. ii ii 185
And pointed f at Southwark ; .. ii iii 46
That hastes with f commission from the Pope .. iii ii 51
And f release from danger of all censures Of Holy Church .. iii iii 150
Not the f faith, no, but the lurking doubt. .. iii iv 124
A fine beard, Bonner, a very f fine beard. .. iii iv 338
Is now content to grant you f forgiveness, .. iii iv 389
So that you crave f pardon of the Legate. .. iii iv 391 but it was never seen That any one recanting thus at f, .. iv i 59
In f consistory, When I was made Archbishop, .. v ii 84 with f proof Of Courtenay's treason ? .. v ii 498 Make me f fain to live and die a maid. .. v iii 98 but to pay them f in kind, .. v iv 14
Pour not water In the f vessel running out at top Harold i i 378
And we will fill thee f of Norman sun, .. ii ii 180
F hope have I that love will answer love. .. iv i 237
F thanks for your fair greeting of my bride ! .. iv iii 46
The cup's f ! Harold. I saw the hand of Tostig cover it. .. iv iii 80
Bring not thy hollowness On our f feast. .. iv iii 204
Cramp thy crop f, but come when thou art call'd. .. iv iii 234
Lay hands of f allegiance in thy Lord's And crave his mercy, .. v i 11
My heart is f of tears—I have no answer. Becket, Pro. 406
And there stole into the city a breath F of the meadows, .. i i 263
if the Latin rhymes be rolled out from a f mouth ? .. ii ii 338
What more, Thomas ? I make thee f amends. .. iii iii 219 when the f fruit of the royal promise might have dropt into thy mouth .. iii iii 275
Hath used the f authority of his Church .. v i 207
My lord, the city is f of armed men. .. v ii 187
But f mid-summer in those honest hearts. .. v ii 373
Plunder'd the vessel f of Gascon wine, .. v ii 441
I would stand Clothed with the f authority of Rome, .. v ii 493 but God's f curse Shatter you all to pieces .. v iii 134
In the f face of all the Roman camp ? The Cup i ii 269
All my brain is f of sleep. .. i ii 445 but now all drown'd in love And glittering at f tide— .. ii 234
Thank you. Look how f of rosy blossom it is. Prom. of May i 84 when the tide Of f democracy has overwhelm'd This Old world, .. i 593 and sat Thro' every sensual course of that f feast .. ii 254 with what f hands, may be Waiting you in the distance ? .. ii 509
Why should I pay you your f wages ? .. iii 83
Let me bring you in here where there is still f daylight. .. iii 218 and each of 'em as f of meat as an egg, Foresters i i 42
The wood is f of echoes, owls, elfs, ouphes, oafs, .. ii i 262 though thou wert like a bottle f up to the cork, .. iv 210 Rogue, I am f of gout. I cannot dance. .. iv 562
In this f tide of love, Wave heralds wave : .. iv 1042
Fullest I fail Where he was f : Queen Mary ii i 56
Let all be done to the f in the sight The Cup ii 433
Full-throated to close at once In one f-t No ! Queen Mary i v 634
Full-train'd The f-t marvel of all falconry, The Falcon 25
Fulmina F, f Deus vastator ! Harold v i 573
Fulmination flashes And f's from the side of Rome, Becket, Pro. 222
Fulness Doth not the fewness of anything make the f of it in estimation ? .. iii iii 302 Fun' (found) you be a pretty squire. I ha' f ye out, I bev. Prom. of May ii 689 we f 'im out a-walkin' i' West Field wi' a white 'at, .. iii 134 Function thousand times Fitter for this grand f. Becket, Pro. 293
I will suspend myself from all my f's. .. i iii 301 true To either f, holding it ; .. i iii 538
Fundatur Illorum in lacrymas Cruor f ! Harold v i 532
Funeral look'd As grim and grave as from a f. Queen Mary ii ii 65
Fungus See Wood-fungus
Furrow plow Lay rusting in the f's yellow weeds, Becket i iii 355
Vein'd marble—not a f yet— .. ii i 197
Further Go f hence and find him. Harold v ii 60
Fury God will beat down the f of the flame, Queen Mary iv iii 98
Furze Thy high black steed among the flaming f, Becket ii i 56 Fuse And in this very chamber, f the glass, Queen Mary iii v 54
alchemic force to f Almost into one metal .. iii vi 181
Iron will f, and marble melt ; Prom. of May ii 505 Future hath a farther flight Than mine into the f. Queen Mary i v 313

G

Gaäme (game) a-plaäyin' the saäme g wi' my Dora— Prom. of May ii 591
Gaäy (gay) Wi' the wild white rose, an' the woodbine sa g, .. ii 175
Gad-fly deer from a dog, or a colt from a g-f, Foresters ii i 434
Gaffer but if you starve me I be G Death himself. .. i i 48
Gaiety So winsome in her grace and g, Prom. of May iii 754
Gain (s) More g than loss ; for of your wives Becket v ii 200
Gain (verb) Not to g paradise : no, nor if the Pope, time And peace for prayer to g a better one. Queen Mary iv iii 557 Harold i i 220
I may trust to g her then When I shall The Cup i i 19
Gain'd She lives—but not for him ; one point is g. Becket iv ii 416
If once our ends are g ? The Cup i i 32
I hardly g The camp at midnight. .. i iii 18
Gainsay which he G's by next sunrising— Becket iv ii 278
Gala-day This is the g-d of thy return. Foresters iv 959
Galahad (a knight) The veriest G of old Arthur's hall. Becket, Pro. 129
Galatia Well—I shall serve G taking it, The Cup i i 100
Must all G hang or drown herself ? .. i ii 87
I know of no such wives in all G. .. i ii 191
Then that I serve with Rome to serve G. .. i ii 213 my serving Rome To serve G : .. i ii 279
I am much malign'd. I thought to serve G. .. i ii 324
And I will make G prosperous too, .. i iii 169 tell him That I accept the diadem of G— .. ii 158
It is our ancient custom in G .. ii 358
The sovereign of G weds his Queen. .. ii 432
Galatian (adj.) What is Synorix ? Sinnatus. G, and not know ? .. i ii 181
He sends you This diadem of the first G Queen, .. ii 132
Artemis, Artemis, hear me, G Artemis ! .. ii 313
Artemis, Artemis, hear her, G Artemis ! .. ii 317
Thy turn, G King. .. ii 379
Galatian (s) 'A G SERVING BY FORCE IN THE ROMAN LEGION.' .. i i 47
That we G's are both Greek and Gaul. .. i i 203
'A G SERVING BY FORCE IN THE ROMAN LEGION.' .. i ii 75 know myself am that G Who sent the cup. .. i ii 209 Galatian-born But he and I are both G-b, .. ii 94
Thou art G-b. .. ii 456
Gall (bile) if the truth be g, Cram me not thou with honey, Harold iv i 15 honeymoon is the g of love ; he dies of his honey-moon. Becket, Pro. 364
Ay, whether it be g or honey to 'em— Foresters iv 967
Gall (girl) I cum behind tha, g, and couldn't make tha hear. Queen Mary iv iii 465
Gall (verb) ye three must g Poor Tostig. Leofwin. Tostig, sister, g's himself ; Harold i i 419
Gallant Our g citizens murder'd all in vain, The Cup i ii 142
A g boy, A noble bird, each perfect of the breed. The Falcon 319
A g Earl. I love him as I hate John. Foresters i i 190
Who art thou, g knight ? .. ii i 440
This g Prince would have me of his—what ? .. iv 701
My masters, welcome g Walter Lea. .. iv 1002
Gall'd His heart so g with thine ingratitude, Becket i iii 4

Gallery And I will out upon the g. Queen Mary II iv 49
In some dark closet, some long g, drawn, „ V ii 217
Galley more than one Row'd in that g—Gardiner to wit, „ IV i 87
Galley-slave now, perhaps, Fetter'd and lash'd, a g-s, Foresters II i 654
Gallop (s) On the g, on the g, Robin, like a deer „ II i 432
Gallop (verb) 'at I tell'd 'em to g 'im. Prom. of May III 433
Gallows What! the g? Queen Mary III i 24
Gamble G thyself at once out of my sight, „ II iii 95
Gambled has drunk and g out All that he had, „ II iii 87
He has g for his life, and lost, he hangs. „ II iii 91 Game (pastime) (See also Gäme) The G of Chess. (repeat) „ I iii 127 such a g, sir, were whole years a playing. „ I iii 139
Strange g of chess! a King That with her own pawns „ I iii 161
Simon Renard spy not out our g Too early. „ I iii 173
With whom they play'd their g against the king! Harold V ii 13 fixt my fancy Upon the g I should have beaten thee, Becket, Pro. 51 a perilous g For men to play with God. „ II ii 70
Is this a g for thee to play at? Away. Foresters II i 426
All our g's be put to rout. „ II ii 166
And join your feasts and all your forest g's „ III 85
Then thou shalt play the g of buffets with us. „ IV 259
Our forest g's are ended, our free life, „ IV 1049 Game (thing hunted) fatter g for you Than this old gaping gurgoyle: Queen Mary I iii 80 well train'd, and easily call'd Off from the g. Becket, Pro. 121
When they ran down the g and worried it. „ Pro. 123
The King keeps his forest head of g here, „ III ii 37 let the King's fine g look to itself. „ III ii 44 with all manner of g, and four-footed things, and fowls— „ III iii 130
No rushing on the g—the net,—the net. The Cup I i 170
And I may strike your g when you are gone. „ I ii 36
I must lure my g into the camp. „ I iii 64
You run down your g, We ours. What pity have you for your g? Foresters IV 520
Gamekeeper Have I not seen the g, the groom, Queen Mary IV iii 371
Gamel (a Northumbrian Thane) G, son of Orm, What thinkest thou this means? (repeat) Harold I i 20, 463
Hail, G, son of Orm, „ I i 91
Albeit no rolling stone, my good friend G, „ I i 94
Is the North quiet, G? „ I i 107
I trust he may do well, this G, „ I ii 190 that was his guest, G, the son of Orm: „ II ii 299 murder'd thine own guest, the son of Orm, G, „ IV ii 39
Gamester no such g As, having won the stake, The Cup I iii 145
Gangrene this rag fro' the g i' my leg. Becket I iv 237 and g's, and running sores, praise ye the Lord, „ I iv 255 Gap Sheep at the g which Gardiner takes, Queen Mary III iii 236
Then fling mine own fair person in the g Harold I ii 202 as I hate the dirty g in the face of a Cistercian monk, Becket II ii 381 Could shine away the darkness of that g „ III i 60 thaw he niver mended that g i' the glebe fence Prom. of May I 446
Gape These fields are only green, they make me g. Queen Mary III v 8
Will the earth g and swallow us? Becket V iii 205 causest the safe earth to shudder and g, The Cup II 299 throat might g before the tongue could cry who? Foresters III 225 Gaped four guns g at me, Black, silent mouths: Queen Mary II iii 31
The nurses yawn'd, the cradle g, „ III vi 93
Gaping yonder's fatter game for you Than this old g gurgoyle: „ I iii 81
Stand staring at me! shout, you g rogue! „ III i 288
The pretty g bills in the home-nest Piping for bread— Becket II ii 300
When shall your parish-parson bawl our banns Before your g clowns? Prom. of May I 687
Garb These black dog-Dons G themselves bravely. Queen Mary III i 190 Garcia (Villa) See Villa Garcia
Garda might have flash'd Upon their lake of G, „ III ii 23 Garden (adj.) I love them More than the g flowers, Becket II i 133 matched with my Harold is like a hedge thistle by a g rose. Prom. of May III 176 Garden (s) were as glowing-gay As regal g's; Queen Mary III ii 14
Which in the Catholic g are as flowers, „ IV i 178 and in the midst A g and my Rosamund. Becket, Pro. 169 into a g and not into the world, „ III i 131 not to speak one word, for that's the rule o' the g, „ III i 138 Garden (s) (continued) if I had been Eve i' the g I shouldn't ha' minded the apple, Becket III i 139
the knights are arming in the g Beneath the sycamore. „ V ii 569
There sprouts a salad in the g still. The Falcon 149
I haven't seen Eva yet. Is she anywhere in the g? Prom. of May I 47
All in the castle g, Foresters I i 10
Stole on her, she was walking in the g, „ II i 113
The serpent that had crept into the g „ II i 137
Gardener the groom, G, and huntsman, in the parson's place, Queen Mary IV iii 373
Garden-stuff profess to be great in green things and in g-s. The Falcon 552
Gardiner (Bishop of Winchester and Lord Chancellor) (See also Out-Gardiners, Stephen Gardiner) G for one, who is to be made Lord Chancellor, Queen Mary I i 86 so that G And Simon Renard spy not out our game „ I iii 172
Thus G—for the two were fellow-prisoners „ I iv 198
He hath no fence when G questions him; „ I iv 204 this fierce old G—his big baldness, „ I iv 263
G is against him; The Council, „ I v 76
It then remains for your poor G, „ I v 220
Paget is ours. G perchance is ours; „ I v 386 brake into woman-tears, Ev'n G, all amazed, „ I v 566
G knows, but the Council are all at odds, „ II i 138
I hear that G, coming with the Queen, „ II ii 308
G buys them With Philip's gold. „ III i 143 a pale horse for Death and G for the Devil. „ III i 235 how strange That G, once so one with all „ III iii 6
This G turn'd his coat in Henry's time; „ III iii 16
Ay, and for G! being English citizen, „ III iii 23 which the emperor sent us Were mainly G's: „ III iii 71
Mary would have it; and this G follows; „ III iii 230
Philip would have it; and this G follows! „ III iii 233
Sheep at the gap which G takes, „ III iii 236 what hath fluster'd G? how he rubs His forelock! „ III iv 12
The faultless G! „ III iv 96
G would have my head. „ III v 118
The gray rogue, G, Went on his knees, „ III v 165
G out-Gardiners G in his heat, „ III vi 25
G burns, And Bonner burns; „ III vi 58 more than one Row'd in that galley—G to wit, „ IV i 87 summun towld summun o' owld Bishop G's end; „ IV iii 503
G wur struck down like by the hand o' God „ IV iii 515 did not G intercept A letter which the Count de Noailles wrote „ V ii 494
Some say that G, out of love for him, „ V ii 501
G burns Already; but to pay them full in kind, „ V iv 13
Garland (See also Marriage-garland) your ladyship were not Too proud to look upon the g, The Falcon 663 dead G Will break once more into the living blossom. „ 918
Garner g the wheat; And burn the tares Queen Mary V v 113
Garnish'd We have had it swept and g after him. „ III ii 139
Garrison we might withdraw Part of our g at Calais. „ I v 123
Garrison'd See Ill-garrison'd
Garrulous poor g country-wives. Queen Mary IV iii 547
What, daunted by a g, arrogant girl! Foresters IV 736 Garter English G, studded with great emeralds, Queen Mary III i 84 Gascon amorous Of good old red sound liberal G wine: Becket, Pro. 100 when the G wine mounts to my head, „ Pro. 113
Plunder'd the vessel full of G wine, „ V ii 441
Gash (s) —brave Gurth, one g from brow to knee! Harold V ii 70
Gash (verb) here I g myself asunder from the King, Becket I i 175
Gash'd Son, husband, brother g to death in vain, The Cup I ii 143
Gasp when I flee from this For a g of freer air, Becket II i 29
Gasping 'No, madam,' he said, G; Queen Mary III i 405
Gate (See also Farm-gate) Our one point on the main, the g of France! „ I v 125
At the park g he hovers with our guards. „ II iv 15
Hark, there is battle at the palace g's, „ II iv 47 they have shut the g's! „ II iv 59 hath shut the g's On friend and foe. „ II iv 61 cry To have the g's set wide again, „ II iv 65
They are the flower of England; set the g's wide. „ II iv 70
How oft hath Peter knock'd at Mary's g! „ III ii 63
Open, Ye everlasting g's! „ III ii 183

Gate (continued) I found it fluttering at the palace g's :— Queen Mary III ii 218
Like dogs that set to watch their master's g, „ III iv 310
I see the flashing of the g's of pearl— Harold I i 186 my men will guard you to the g's. Becket I i 403
Here is a missive left at the g by one from the castle. „ I iv 50
—like some loud beggar at thy g— „ II i 181
Close the great g—ho, there—upon the town. „ V ii 530
Was not the great g shut ? „ V iii 137 waiting To clasp their lovers by the golden g's. Prom. of May I 248 Laid famine-stricken at the g's of Death— „ III 807

Gate-house Last night I climb'd into the g-h, Brett, Queen Mary II iii 15

Gateway g to the mainland over which Our flag hath floated „ V ii 260

Gather g your men—Myself must bustle. „ II ii 372
g all From sixteen years to sixty ; „ V ii 272

Gathered these our companies And guilds of London, g here, „ II ii 129
And g with his hands the starting flame, „ IV iii 336
I g from the Queen That she would see your Grace „ V iii 102
g one From out a bed of thick forget-me-nots, „ V v 92
Was not the year when this was g richer ? The Falcon 345 confirm it now Before our g Norman baronage, Harold II ii 695

Gaul That we Galatians are both Greek and G. The Cup I i 204

Gave (See also Gev, Gie'd) That g her royal crown to Lady Jane. Queen Mary I ii 19
My father on a birthday g it me, „ I v 527 and in that passion G me my Crown. „ I v 568 where you g your hand To this great Catholic King. „ III ii 90 thro' the fear of death G up his cause, „ IV iii 28
Whereat Lord Williams g a sudden cry :— „ IV iii 604
G up the ghost ; and so past martyr-like— „ IV iii 623 reft me of that legateship Which Julius g me, „ V ii 35
Look'd hard and sweet at me, and g it me. „ V v 95
To the good king who g it—not to you— Harold I i 407
G his shorn smile the lie. „ II ii 226
God g us to divide us from the wolf ! „ IV iii 101 answer which King Harold g To his dead namesake, „ IV iii 109
He g him all the kingdoms of the West. „ V i 24 and the King g it to his Chancellor. Becket, Pro. 431
G me the golden keys of Paradise. „ I i 54
We g thee to the charge of John of Salisbury, „ I i 247 chart which Henry g you With the red line— „ I ii 61
King Stephen g Many of the crown lands „ I iii 149 Shame fall on those who g it a dog's name— „ II i 141 and g me a great pat o' the cheek for a pretty wench, „ III i 125 save King Henry g thee first the kiss of peace. „ III iii 253
By very God, the cross I g the King ! „ IV ii 199 life Saved as by miracle alone with Him Who g it. „ IV ii 369
I g it you, and you your paramour ; „ V i 168
His father g him to my care, „ V ii 335 and open arms To him who g it ; The Cup I i 85
He g me his hand : The Falcon 836
she that g herself to me so easily Prom. of May I 746
She g her hand, unask'd, at the farm-gate ; „ II 625
he g me no address, and there was no word of marriage ; „ III 332
The lady g a rose to the Earl, (repeat) Foresters I i 12, 105
The lady g her hand to the Earl, (repeat) „ I i 16, 92
She g a weeping kiss to the Earl, (repeat) „ I i 20, 119 the man had given her a rose and she g him another. „ I i 111
King, thy god-father, g it thee when a baby. „ I i 286
This ring my mother g me : „ I ii 293 by this Holy Cross Which good King Richard g me when a child— „ I ii 310
g me this morning on my setting forth. „ III 281

Gavest They have taken away the toy thou g me, Harold II ii 106
Thou g thy voice against me in the Council— „ IV ii 77
Thou g thy voice against me in my life, „ V i 252
The monk's disguise thou g me for my bower : Becket V ii 93

Gawin (going) but coom, coom ! let's be g. Prom. of May I 425
Do ye think I be g' to tell it to you, „ II 190

Gay (See also Gäay, Glowing-gay) Why do you go so g then ? Queen Mary I iv 70
Dearer than when you made your mountain g, The Falcon 464

Gear Have you had enough Of all this g ? Queen Mary III i 88

Gee oop (a call to horses to start) G o ! whoä ! G o ! whoä ! (repeat) Prom. of May II 307, 317

Gel (girl) they be two o' the purtiest g's ye can see of a summer murnin'. „ I 30
Eva's säake. Yeas. Poor g, poor g ! „ II 32
Taäke me awaäy, little g. It be one o' my bad daäys. „ III 465

Gem Standard of the Warrior, Dark among g's and gold ; Harold IV i 249

Gemini Nay, by St. G, I ha' two ; Foresters II i 277

General whom the g He looks to and he leans on as his God, Queen Mary IV iii 305
Poor lads, they see not what the g sees, „ V ii 447
When you have charm'd our g into mercy, The Cup I ii 311

Generate Is as the soul descending out of heaven Into a body g. Queen Mary IV i 36

Generous You are g, but it cannot be. Prom. of May II 76

Geneva Zurich, Worms, G, Basle— Queen Mary I ii 3

Genial I know that I am g, I would be Happy, The Cup I iii 28

Genius There is a trade of g, there's glory ! Foresters IV 375

Gentle O, kind and g master, the Queen's Officers Queen Mary I ii 107
Ay, g friend, admit them. I will go. „ I ii 110
Peruse it ; is it not goodly, ay, and g ? „ I v 195
Ah, g cousin, since your Herod's death, „ III ii 61
if you knew him As I do, ever g, and so gracious, „ IV i 156
Ay—g as they call you—live or die ! „ IV ii 161 and see, he smiles and goes, G as in life. „ V v 147
A g, gracious, pure and saintly man ! Harold II ii 584
Good even, g Edith. „ III ii 118
Well, well, we will be g with him, gracious— Becket II ii 128
He is g, tho' a Roman. The Cup II 502 tho' you are good and g, Yet if thro' any want— Prom. of May III 539
if thou be as g Give me some news of my sweet Marian. Foresters II i 480
he As g as he's brave—that such as he „ II i 659

Gentlefoälk (gentlefolk) We laäys out o' the waäy fur g altogither— Prom. of May I 211
Thy feyther eddicated his darters to marry g, „ II 116
I should ha' thowt they'd hed anew o' g, „ II 581
The Steers was all g's i' the owd times, an' I worked early an' laäte to make 'em all g's ageän. „ III 447

Gentleman he says he's a poor g. Wyatt. G ! a thief ! Queen Mary II iii 74 and g he was. We have been glad together ; „ II iii 89 Take thy poor g ! „ II iii 94
But you, my Lord, a polish'd g, „ III iv 250
Out, girl ! you wrong a noble g. „ III v 68
Peters, my g, an honest Catholic, „ IV iii 553
I have small hope of the g gout in my great toe. The Falcon 657
I promise you that if you forget yourself in your behaviour to this g, Prom. of May I 162
He's a Somersetshire man, and a very civil-spoken g. Dobson. G ! „ I 207
Well, it's no sin in a g not to fish. „ I 215 and now, as far as money goäs, I be a g, „ I 332 while I wur maäkin' mysen a g, „ I 335
Tho' you are a g, I but a farmer's daughter— „ I 666 and you, a g, Told me to trust you : „ I 708
And I would loove tha moor nor ony g 'ud loove tha. „ II 105 though fortune had born you into the estate of a g, „ II 121 drest like a g, too. Damn all gentlemen, says I ! „ II 579 and prattled to each other that we would marry fine gentlemen, „ III 277
And this lover of yours—this Mr. Harold—is a g ? „ III 281
Has he offered you marriage, this g ? „ III 290
I eddicated boäth on 'em to marry gentlemen, „ III 455 that if a g Should wed a farmer's daughter, „ III 578 you are tenfold more a g, „ III 742
He may be prince ; he is not g. Foresters IV 685

Gentlemen-at-arms your g-a-a, If this be not your Grace's order, Queen Mary II iv 62

Gentleness Lady, I say it with all g, The Cup I iii 99
G, Low words best chime with this solemnity. „ II 216 sure am I that of your g You will forgive him. Prom. of May II 488
She, you mourn for, seem'd A miracle of g— „ II 491

Gentlier my liege, To deal with heresy g. Queen Mary III vi 58

Geoffrey (son of Rosamund and Henry) (See also Geoffrey Plantagenet, Plantagenet) I'll call thee little G. Henry. Call him! Rosamund. G! Becket II i 214 if little G have not tost His ball into the brook! „ II i 319
the child will drown himself. Rosamund. G! G! „ II i 324
G! Geoffrey. What are you crying for, „ III i 268
G, the pain thou hast put me to! „ IV ii 10
G, my boy, I saw the ball you lost in the fork „ IV ii 56
If pretty G do not break his own, „ IV ii 177
How fares thy pretty boy, the little G? „ V ii 168

Geoffrey Plantagenet nay, G P, thine own husband's father— „ IV ii 249

George (patron saint of England) by the dragon of St. G, we shall Do some injustice, Foresters IV 939

Germ O Thou, that dost inspire the g with life, The Cup II 258

German for his book Against that godless G. Queen Mary V v 238

Germany till the weight of G or the gold of England brings one of them down to the dust— Becket II ii 363

Gesticulating madman, is it, G there upon the bridge? Prom. of May II 327

Get (See also Git) if I can g near enough I shall judge with my own eyes Queen Mary I i 133
And g the swine to shout Elizabeth. „ I iii 39
But so I g the laws against the heretic, „ III i 323 to g her baaby born; „ IV iii 523
G you home at once. „ V iv 63
Till thou wouldst g him all apart, Harold I i 447
G thee gone! He means the thing he says. „ V i 83
G thou into thy cloister as the king Will'd it: „ V i 309
g thee to thine own bed. Becket I i 7
G ye hence, Tell what I say to the King. „ I iii 563
G you hence! a man passed in there to-day: „ III ii 24
g you hence in haste Lest worse befall you. „ IV ii 26 found thy name a charm to g Food, roof, and rest. „ V ii 97
G thee back to thy nunnery with all haste; „ V ii 163
g you back! go on with the office. „ V iii 32
What can I do—what can I g for thee? He answers, 'G the Count to give me his falcon, The Falcon 239 next time you waste them at a pot-house you g no more from me. Prom. of May III 100
Sir Richard must scrape and scrape till he g to the land again. Foresters I i 79
G thee into the closet there, „ II i 214

Getting (See also A-getting) G better, Mr. Dobson. Prom. of May I 69 which Father, for a whole life, has been g together, „ III 166

Gev (gave) fell ageän coalscuttle and my kneeä g waäy Prom. of May I 404

Ghastly how grim and g looks her Grace, Queen Mary V ii 390 nay, this g glare May heat their fancies. Harold I i 308 Strange and g in the gloom And shadowing „ III ii 157 from your g oubliette I send my voice across the narrow seas— „ V i 245
I found a hundred g murders done By men, Becket I iii 407

Ghittern that I can touch The g to some purpose. The Falcon 799

Ghoäst (ghost) If it be her g, we mun abide it. We can't keep a g out. Prom. of May III 460

Ghost (See also Ghoäst) The g's of Luther and Zuinglius fade Into the deathless hell Queen Mary III ii 174 Gave up the g; and so past martyr-like— „ IV iii 623 shadows of a hundred fat dead deer For dead men's g's. Harold I ii 104
One g of all the g's—as yet so new, The Cup II 141 haunted by The g's of the dead passions Prom. of May II 275
To see her grave? her g? Her g is everyway „ II 352
I was afear'd it was the g, your worship. Prince John. G! did one in white pass? Foresters II i 226
oafs, g's o' the mist, wills-o'-the-wisp; „ II i 263
Love himself Seems but a g, but when thou feel'st with me The g returns „ III 113
They must have sprung like G's from underground, „ IV 592

Ghostly A g horn Blowing continually, and faint battle-hymns, Harold III i 372 at Pontigny came to me The g warning of my martyrdom; Becket V ii 292 and make a g wail ever and anon to scare 'em. Foresters II i 215

Giant (adj.) He, and the g King of Norway, Harold Hardrada, Harold III ii 122

Giant (s) \as the heathen g Had but to touch the ground, Queen Mary III ii 43 or something more, Seeing he is a g. Harold IV ii 56 or something more, Seeing he is a g!' „ IV iii 114 spiritual g with our island laws And customs, Becket IV ii 444

Giant-king Their g-k, a mightier man-in-arms Harold V i 399

Gibbet In every London street a g stood. Queen Mary III i 7
witness the brawls, the g's. „ V i 86
He will come to the g at last? Foresters II i 328

Gibbeted See Cliff-gibbeted

Giddy I can bear all, And not be g. Harold I i 486

Gie (give) fur he'll g us a big dinner, Prom. of May I 9

Gi'e (give) and s'pose I kills my pig, and g's it among 'em, „ I 147
Weänt ye g me a kind answer at last? „ II 63 fur owd Dobson 'll g us a bit o' supper. „ II 216
Owd Steer g's.nubbut cowd tea to 'is men, and owd Dobson g's beer. „ II 223
G us a buss fust, lass. „ II 228 d'ye think I'd g 'em the fever? „ III 49 and wheere the big eshtree cuts athurt it, it g's a turn like, „ III 95

Gie'd (gave) but I hallus g soom on 'em to Miss Eva „ II 15

Gift A diamond, And Philip's g, as proof of Philip's love, Queen Mary III i 67
An honest g, by all the Saints, Harold I i 344 thro' The random g's of careless kings, Becket I i 159
Then he took back not only Stephen's g's, „ I iii 154
I thought it was a g; „ I iii 646 Shall God's good g's be wasted? „ I iv 71 child We waited for so long—heaven's g at last— „ III i 14
A strange g sent to me to-day. The Cup I ii 52 is another sacred to the Goddess, The g of Synorix; „ II 347
In honour of his g and of our marriage, „ II 351
And this last costly g to mine own self, The Falcon 228
Yet I come To ask a g. „ 299
g I ask for, to my mind and at this present „ 777

Gig and he sent me wi' the g to Littlechester to fetch 'er; Prom. of May I 20

Gilbert Becket (father of Thomas Becket) me, Thomas, son Of G B, London Merchant. Becket II ii 231

Gilbert Foliot (Bishop of London) (See also Foliot) There's G F. Henry. He! too thin, too thin. „ Pro. 260
But hast thou heard this cry of G F „ I i 36
Ay, For G F held himself the man. „ I i 43
If it were not, G F, I mean to cross the sea to France, „ I iii 123
And bid him re-create me, G F. „ I iii 126
Thou still hast owed thy father, G F. „ I iii 276
Thou still hast shown thy primate, G F. „ I iii 282
G F, A worldly follower of the worldly strong. „ I iii 541
Cursed be John of Oxford, Roger of York, And G F! „ II ii 267

Gild It g's the greatest wronger of her peace, Queen Mary V ii 415

Gilded over His g ark of mummy-saints, Harold V i 304

Gilt See Sun-gilt

Gingerbread He speaks As if it were a cake of g. Becket II i 230

Giovanna (See also Monna Giovanna) the Lady G, who hath been away so long, The Falcon 2
G here! Ay, ruffle thyself—be jealous! „ 21 yet if G Be here again—No, no! „ 27
G, my dear lady, in this same battle „ 601
G, dear G, I that once The wildest „ 806
Yes, G, But he will keep his love to you for ever! „ 891

Gipsyfy I will hide my face, Blacken and g it; Becket IV ii 100

Gipsy-stuff Life on the hand is naked g-s; „ II i 194

Girl (See also Gall, Gel) A king to be,—is he not noble, g? Queen Mary I v 4 that young g who dared to wear your crown? „ I v 491
G; hast thou ever heard Slanders against Prince Philip „ I v 569
No, g; most brave and loyal, „ II iv 11
G never breathed to rival such a rose; „ III i 372
There's whitethorn, g. „ III v 9
But truth of story, which I glanced at, g, „ III v 33
Out, g! you wrong a noble gentleman. „ III v 67

Girl (continued) Lord Devon, g's! what are you whispering here? Queen Mary v ii 485
I could not, g, Not this way— „ v v 170
That art the Queen; ye are boy and g no more: Harold i i 455
My g, what was it? „ i ii 73
My g, thou hast been weeping: „ iii ii 38
thou art not A holy sister yet, my g, „ iii ii 82
Ay, my g, no tricks in him— „ v i 401
I tell thee, g, I am seeking my dead Harold. „ v ii 42
Not true, my g, here is the Queen! „ v ii 91
Where is he, g? The Cup i i 106
My g, I am the bride of Death, „ ii 28
My g, At times this oracle of great Artemis „ ii 32 and she, A g, a child, then but fifteen, The Falcon 537
After my frolic with his tenant's g, Prom. of May i 493 may not a g's love-dream have too much romance in it „ iii 184
Father, this poor g, the farm, everything; „ iii 211
Can't a g when she loves her husband, and he her, „ iii 304
I heard a voice, 'G, what are you doing there?' „ iii 375
Come, come, my g, enough Of this strange talk. „ iii 619 and is flustered by a g's kiss. Foresters i i 186 but O g, g, I am almost in despair. „ i i 262
Thou hast robb'd my g of her betrothal ring. „ ii i 586 to mistrust the g you say you love Is to mistrust your own love for your g! „ ii ii 57
Come, g, thou shalt along with us on the instant. „ iv 678
What, daunted by a garrulous, arrogant g! „ iv 737
Risk not the love I bear thee for a g. „ iv 742

Girlhood tell me anything of our sweet Eva When in her brighter g, Prom. of May ii 521

Git (get) Did 'e g into thy chaumber? „ i 399 an' we'll g 'im to speechify for us arter dinner. „ i 439
G along wi' ye, do! „ ii 235
S'iver I mun g along back to the farm, „ ii 321
I mun g out on 'is waäy now, or I shall be the death on 'im. „ ii 609
I'll g the book ageän, and larn mysen the rest, „ iii 12

Give (See also Gie, Gi'e, Gi'ed) to g us all that holy absolution which— Queen Mary i iii 28 grant me my prayer: G me my Philip; „ i v 87
G it me quick. „ i v 592
Have for thine asking aught that I can g, „ ii iii 7
G me a piece of paper! „ ii iii 66 boldness, which will g my followers boldness. „ ii iii 71
'You will g me my true crown at last, „ iii i 395
I come for counsel and ye g me feuds, „ iii iv 307
I will g your message. „ iii vi 40
Ay, but to g the poor. „ iv ii 43
To g the poor—they g the poor who die. „ iv ii 52
It is the last. Cranmer. G it me, then. „ iv ii 65
I not doubt that God will g me strength, „ iv ii 234
Or g thee saintly strength to undergo. „ iv iii 99
For death g's life's last word a power to live, „ iv iii 161
G to the poor, Ye g to God. „ iv iii 212
G me the lute. He hates me! „ v ii 362
g the Devil his due, I never found he bore me any spite. „ v ii 472 in happy state To g him an heir male. „ v ii 573
Ay, ever g yourselves your own good word. Harold i i 342
As much as I can g thee, man; „ i i 479 thou didst stand by her and g her thy crabs, „ ii i 49
And I'll g her my crabs again, „ ii i 52 would g his kingly voice To me as his successor. „ ii ii 588
G me thy keys. „ ii ii 681
Stigand shall g me absolution for it— „ ii ii 798
I may g that egg-bald head The tap that silences. „ v i 90
I g my voice against thee from the grave— „ v i 254
We g our voice against thee out of heaven! „ v i 260
We will not g him A Christian burial: „ v ii 153
I would g her to thy care in England Becket, Pro. 143
G him a bone, g him a bone! „ i iv 107
Is the Archbishop a thief who g's thee thy supper? „ i iv 116 Something good, or thou wouldst not g it me. „ ii i 234 but g it me, and I promise thee not to turn the world „ ii i 241
Kind of the witch to g thee warning tho'. „ iii ii 29

Give (continued) G me thy hand. My Lords of France and England, Becket iii iii 225
I sware I would not g the kiss of peace, „ iii iii 259 here is a golden chain I will g thee „ iv i 40
G her to me. „ iv ii 135
G her to me to make my honeymoon. „ iv ii 142
G me the poison; set me free of him! „ iv ii 164
G to the King the things that are the King's, „ v ii 461
You should attend the office, g them heart. „ v ii 598
I g you here an order To seize upon him. The Cup i i 163
G him a bow and arrows—follow—follow. „ i i 208
Will feel no shame to g themselves the lie. „ ii 117
And g him limbs, then air, and send him forth „ ii 261
G it me again. It is the cup belonging our own Temple. „ ii 343
Well, Madam, I will g your message to him. The Falcon 217
'Get the Count to g me his falcon, „ 241
I g it my sick son, and if you be Not quite recover'd „ 589
I can g my time To him that is a part of you, „ 790
If the good Count would g me——' Count. G me. „ 838
G her a month or two, and her affections Prom. of May i 484
Come, g me your hand and kiss me „ i 563
But for the slender help that I can g, „ ii 421
But g me first your hand: „ ii 525
And he may die before he g's it; „ iii 407 will g him, as they say, a new lease of life. „ iii 423
G me your arm. Lead me back again. „ iii 473
I g him back to you again. „ iii 675 shall I g her the first kiss? Foresters i i 126
I came to g thee the first kiss, and thou hast given it me. „ i i 132 matter so much if the maid g the first kiss? „ i i 136 now thou hast given me the man's kiss, let me g thee the maid's. „ i i 143
I will g thee a buffet on the face. „ i i 146
Wilt thou not g me rather the little rose for Little John? „ i i 147 may the maid g the first kiss? „ i i 173 said that whenever I married he would g me away, „ i i 288 there is no other man that shall g me away. „ i i 291
I would g thee any gold So that myself „ i ii 165
You shall g me the first kiss. „ i ii 227
G me thy hand and tell him— „ i ii 241 what we wring from them we g the poor. „ ii i 56
I would g my life for thee, „ ii i 189
I can spell the hand. G me thine. „ ii i 351
I will g thee a silver penny if thou wilt show „ ii i 359
O your honour, I pray you too to g me an alms. „ ii i 389
G me a draught of wine. „ ii i 458
Take him, good Little John, and g him wine. „ ii i 469
G me some news of my sweet Marian. „ ii i 481
G me thy glove upon it. „ ii i 579
G it me, by heaven, Or I will force it from thee. „ ii i 593
g us guides To lead us thro' the windings of the wood. „ ii i 632
'Sell all thou hast and g it to the poor;' Take all they have and g it to thyself! „ iii 169
Bitters before dinner, my lady, to g you a relish. „ iii 435 love that children owe to both I g To him alone. „ iv 7
G me thy hand on that? Marian. Take it. „ iv 66
I am glad of it. G him back his gold again. „ iv 182 that will g thee a new zest for it, „ iv 208
G him the quarterstaff. „ iv 250
I g thee A buffet, and thou me. „ iv 262
G me thy hand, Much; I love thee. At him, Scarlet! „ iv 309
G him another month, and he will pay it. Justiciary. We cannot g a month. „ iv 443
G me my bow and arrows. „ iv 603
g me one sharp pinch upon the cheek „ iv 1011
G me that hand which fought for Richard there. „ iv 1029

Given They have g me a safe conduct: Queen Mary i ii 100
g A token of His more especial Grace; „ iii iii 169
God hath g Grace to repent and sorrow for their schism; „ iii iii 176
we by that authority Apostolic G unto us, „ iii iii 211
God hath g your Grace a nose, or not, „ iii v 203
Power hath been g you to try faith by fire— „ iv ii 153 Done right against the promise of this Queen Twice g. „ iv iii 457

Given (continued) We have g the church-lands back: Queen Mary v i 170
I have g her cause—I fear no woman. Harold i ii 40
God and the sea have g thee to our hands— „ ii ii 548
Stigand hath g me absolution for it. „ iii i 213 sorrow'd for my random promise g To yon fox-lion. „ iii i 269 king Hath g his virgin lamb to Holy Church „ iii i 334
And g thy realm of England to the bastard. „ iii ii 154
Thou hast g it to the enemy of our house. „ iv ii 31
Holy Father Hath g this realm of England to the Norman. „ v i 13
G me by my dear friend the King of England— Becket i i 337
I pray God I haven't g thee my leprosy, „ i iv 214 kingly promise g To our own self of pardon, „ ii ii 432 warder of the bower hath g himself Of late to wine. „ iii i 30 had I fathered him I had g him more of the rod than the sceptre. „ iii iii 110
I think, time g, I could have talk'd „ iv ii 311 had she but g Plain answer to plain query? „ iv ii 385 your ladyship has g him bitters enough in this world, The Falcon 192 the man had g her a rose and she gave him another. Foresters i i 110
I came to give thee the first kiss, and thou hast g it me. „ i i 133 but I had sooner have g thee the first kiss. „ i i 138 now thou hast g me the man's kiss, let me give thee the maid's. „ i i 143 g my whole body to the King had he asked for it, „ ii i 305
but the cow? Robin. She was g me. „ ii i 315

Giver if g And taker be but honest! Harold i i 345
if She knew the g; but I bound the seller The Falcon 72

Giving (See also Life-giving) My liberality perforce is dead Thro' lack of means of g. „ 297

Glad We have been g together; let him live. Queen Mary ii iii 90
Cranmer, be thou g. This is the work of God. „ iv iii 81
g to wreak our spite on the rosefaced minion Becket, Pro. 528
I am g that France hath scouted him at last: „ ii ii 251
She will be g at last to wear my crown. The Cup i iii 168
I am g I shall not see it. „ ii 512 an' owd Dobson should be g on it. Prom. of May ii 147
I am g it pleases you; „ ii 543
There, I am g my nonsense has made you smile! „ iii 314
if this life of ours Be a good g thing, Foresters i iii 13
I am g of it. Give him back his gold again. „ iv 182

Glade My men say The fairies haunt this g;— „ ii ii 101
See that men be set Along the g's and passes of the wood „ iii 457
Look, Robin, at the far end of the g „ iv 332

Gladness Breathing an easy g . . . not like Aldwyth . . . Harold i ii 174

Glance (s) Philip with a g of some distaste, Queen Mary iii i 99
No g yet Of the Northumbrian helmet on the heath? Harold v i 142 Dark even from a side g of the moon, Becket iv ii 148 to 'scape The g of John— Foresters iii 463

Glance (verb) Before I dare to g upon your Grace. Queen Mary iii v 186 whereby the curse might g From thee and England. Harold iii i 343
Tho' in one moment she should g away, Foresters ii i 161

Glanced But truth of story, which I g at, girl, Queen Mary iii v 33
Has never g upon me when a child. Foresters iv 5
Have ye g down thro' all the forest ways „ iv 110

Glancing a Boleyn, too, G across the Tudor— Queen Mary v v 228
Then, g thro' the story of this realm, Becket i iii 410 now and then g about him like a thief at night „ iii iii 97
G at the days when his father was only Earl of Anjou, „ iii iii 149

Glare (s) this ghastly g May heat their fancies. Harold i i 309 from the squint Of lust and g of malice. Becket i i 313
Like sudden night in the main g of day. „ ii i 57

Glare (verb) It g's in heaven, it flares upon the Thames, Harold i i 29 for thine eyes G stupid-wild with wine. Becket i i 214

Glared execrable eyes, G at the citizen. Queen Mary ii ii 68
How their pointed fingers G at me! Harold ii ii 791
How the clown g at me! that Dobbins, is it, Prom. of May ii 611

Glaring See Grimly-glaring

Glass (barometer) weather's well anew, but the g be a bit shaäky. Prom. of May ii 51

Glass (substance) and my poor chronicle Is but of g. Queen Mary iii v 47 fuse the g, And char us back again into the dust „ iv v 54

Glass (verb) and g The faithful face of heaven— Becket ii i 160

Glasses (spectacles) You see thro' warping g. Queen Mary i v 212

Glassy-smooth So far my course, albeit not g-s, Becket i iii 379

Gleam G upon gloom, „ iii i 277

Gleam (continued) Gloom upon g, Becket iii i 281
I never spied in thee one g of grace. „ v ii 474 man perceives that The lost g of an after-life Prom. of May i 503
This world of mud, on all its idiot g's Of pleasure, „ iii 722

Gleaming There lodged a g grimness in his eyes, Harold ii ii 224

Glebe (adj.) thaw he niver mended that gap i' the g fence Prom. of May i 446

Glebe (s) to the wave, to the g, to the fire! The Cup ii 4

Glen a fox from the g ran away with the hen, Prom. of May i 51
Lead us thou to some deep g, Foresters ii ii 168

Glide Seem'd as a happy miracle to make g— Queen Mary iii ii 30
There is an arm'd man ever g's behind! Harold ii ii 247
G like a light across these woodland ways! Foresters ii i 159

Glided so she g up into the heart O' the bottle, „ iv 244

Gliding Corpse-candles g over nameless graves— Harold iii i 381
Two sisters g in an equal dance, Becket i iii 444

Glimmer twilight of the coming day already g's in the east. Foresters i ii 248

Glimmering One coming up with a song in the flush of the g red? Becket ii i 8

Glimpse Rome has a g of this conspiracy; The Cup i ii 233 catch A g of them and of their fairy Queen— Foresters ii ii 103

Glitter He g's on the crowning of the hill. Harold v i 488 that's a finer thing there. How it g's! Becket iv i 2

Glittering all drown'd in love And g at full tide— The Cup ii 234

Gloom I crept along the g and saw Queen Mary ii iii 17
g of Saul Was lighten'd by young David's harp. „ v ii 358
Strange and ghastly in the g Harold iii ii 158
Gleam upon g, Becket iii i 277
G upon gleam, „ iii i 281

Glorified He is g In thy conversion: Queen Mary iv iii 82
But that Thy name by man be g, „ iv iii 153
Die with him, and be g together. Becket v iii 31

Glorify God grant me grace to g my God! Queen Mary iv iii 166

Glorifying See A-glorifying

Glorious O blessed saint, O g Benedict,— Becket v iii 1

Glory there's no g Like his who saves his country: Queen Mary ii i 109
But for the wealth and g of our realm, „ ii ii 210 misreport His ending to the g of their church. „ iv iii 327
I have wrought miracles—to God the g— Harold i i 182 and our marriage and thy g Been drunk together! „ iv iii 8 whether it symbol'd ruin Or g, who shall tell? „ v i 111
G to God in the Highest! fallen, fallen! „ v i 636
All I had I lavish'd for the g of the King; I shone from him, for him, his g, his Reflection: now the g of the Church Hath swallow'd up the g of the King; Becket i iii 663
Power and great g—for thy Church, O Lord— „ v iii 194
The g and grief of battle won or lost The Cup i ii 161
Hear thy priestesses hymn thy g! „ ii 7
That you may feed your fancy on the g of it, „ ii 134 and send him forth The g of his father— „ ii 263 make them happy in the long barn, for father is in his g, Prom. of May i 792
There is a trade of genius, there's g! Foresters iv 375

Gloss his manners want the nap And g of court; Queen Mary iii v 71

Glo'ster (Gloucester) and she brew'd the best ale in all G, Becket iii i 197

Glove Give me thy g upon it. Foresters ii i 579
A pair of g's, a pair of g's, sir; ha? Queen Mary iii i 270
The man shall paint a pair of g's. „ iii i 274

Glow Dost thou not feel the love I bear to thee G thro' thy veins? Synorix. The love I bear to thee G's thro' my veins The Cup ii 427

Glowing-gay were as g-g As regal gardens; Queen Mary iii ii 12

Glowworm yellow silk here and there, and it looked pretty like a g, Becket iv i 23
No, by wisp and g, no. Foresters ii ii 136

Glum What maäkes 'im allus sa g? Sally Allen. G! he be wuss nor g. Prom. of May ii 148

Gnarl'd hundreds of huge oaks, G— Foresters iii 92

Gnat A g that vext thy pillow! Harold i ii 71

Gnawed The rats have g 'em already. Foresters i i 88

Go (See also Goä, Gwo) God be with you! G. Queen Mary i ii 83 gentle friend, admit them. I will g. „ i ii 111
My mother said, G up; and up I went. „ i iii 98

Go (continued) there are messengers That g between us. Queen Mary I iii 138
g zigzag, now would settle Upon this flower, „ I iv 54
Why do you g so gay then? „ I iv 70
Come, come, I will g with you to the Queen. „ I iv 297
Your people, and I g with them so far, „ I v 188 Bad you g softly with your heretics here, „ I v 392 some believe that he will g beyond him. „ I v 441
she goes, I warrant, not to hear the nightingales, „ I v 463
Your apple eats the better. Let them g. They g like those old Pharisees in John „ II ii 7
Sir Thomas, pray you g away, „ II iii 99
Don't ye now g to think that we be for Philip o' Spain. „ II iii 105 come to save you all, And I'll g further off. „ II iii 119
Pray you g on. (repeat) „ III i 374, 389
I will g with you to the waterside. „ III ii 148
No, my Lord Legate, the Lord Chancellor goes. „ III ii 152
His sceptre shall g forth from Ind to Ind! „ III ii 177
We might g softlier than with crimson rowel „ III iv 182
And if he g not with you— „ III iv 348 not like a word, That comes and goes in uttering. „ III v 30 leisure wisdom of his Queen, Before he g, „ III vi 24 for women To g twelve months in bearing „ III vi 91
And goes to-morrow. „ III vi 119
O Philip! Nay, must you g indeed? „ III vi 192
But must you g? „ III vi 207
Your Majesty shall g to Dover with me, „ III vi 218
I will g to Greenwich, So you will have me with you; „ III vi 221 hang the leaders, let their following g. „ IV i 75 you must look to Calais when I g. Mary. G? must you g, indeed— „ V i 17
G in, I pray you. „ V i 214
Say g; but only say it lovingly. „ V i 216
And panting for my blood as I g by. „ V ii 219
Ah!—let him enter. Nay, you need not g: „ V iii 11
You had best g home. What are you? „ V iv 43
Why, you long-winded—— Sir, you g beyond me. „ V iv 58
Good night! G home. Besides, you curse so loud, „ V iv 61
Thou light a torch that never will g out! „ V v 122 see, he smiles and goes, Gentle as in life. Alice. Madam, who goes? King Philip? Mary. No, Philip comes and goes, but never goes. „ V v 146 before I g, To find the sweet refreshment of the Saints. Harold I i 176
I have fought the fight and g— „ I i 185
if it pass. G not to Normandy—g not to Normandy. „ I i 235
I pray thee, do not g to Normandy. „ I i 249
Harold, I will not yield thee leave to g. „ I i 257
G—the Saints Pilot and prosper all thy wandering „ I i 263
How goes it then with thy Northumbria? „ I i 332
To follow thee to Flanders! Must thou g? „ I ii 28
When Harold goes and Tostig, shall I play „ I ii 163
And when doth Harold g? Morcar. To-morrow— „ I ii 238
—I will g with thee to-morrow— „ II ii 204
'I pray you do not g to Normandy.' „ II ii 218
G not to Normandy— (repeat) „ II ii 327 yield this iron-mooded Duke To let me g. „ II ii 341
'Marry, the Saints must g along with us, „ II ii 365
the lark sings, the sweet stars come and g, „ II ii 435
Or lash'd his rascal back, and let him g. „ II ii 507
And let him g? To slander thee again! „ II ii 508
My prayers g up as fast as my tears fall, „ III i 166 not so with us—No wings to come and g. „ III ii 99
I am weary—g: make me not wroth with thee! „ V i 31
Gurth, Leofwin, g once more about the hill— „ V i 182
G round once more; See all be sound and whole. „ V i 192
Leave me. No more—Pardon on both sides—G! „ V i 354
Obey my first and last commandment. G! „ V i 359
After the battle—after the battle. G. Aldwyth. I g. „ V i 363
G further hence and find him. „ V ii 60 business Of thy whole kingdom waits me: let me g. Becket, Pro. 279
Thou shalt not g. I have not ended with thee. „ Pro. 305
Follow me this Rosamund day and night, whithersoever she goes; „ Pro. 507
That I should g against the Church with him, And I shall g against him with the Church, „ I i 93

Go (continued) G home, and sleep thy wine off, for thine eyes Becket I i 212
What shall it be? I'll g as a nun. „ I i 301
G like a monk, cowling and clouding up „ I i 311
G therefore like a friend slighted by one „ I i 350
Not slighted—all but moan'd for: thou must g. „ I i 353
G with her—at once—To-night— „ I i 400
G, g—no more of this! „ I ii 20
Customs, traditions,—clouds that come and g; „ I iii 23 for if thou g against thy King, Then must he likewise g against thy King, „ I iii 207
Let us g in to the Council, where our bishops „ I iii 547
I am confounded by thee. G in peace. „ I iii 731
Ay, g in peace, caitiff, caitiff! „ I iii 735
No; yet all but all. G, g! „ I iv 28
Wilt thou not say, 'God bless you,' ere we g? „ I iv 33
Well, then, how does it g? „ I iv 118
we shall all be poisoned. Let us g. „ I iv 244
I'll g back again. I hain't half done yet. „ I iv 258 then to be made Archbishop and g against the King „ II i 237
G try it, play. „ II i 246
I must g; but when thou layest thy lip To this, „ II i 305
Mince and g back! his politic Holiness „ II ii 45 that none may dream I g against God's honour— „ II ii 168 said to the smoke, 'G up, my son, straight to Heaven.' And the smoke said, 'I g;' „ II ii 318 it was in him to g up straight if the time had been quieter. „ II ii 324 there they g—both backs are turn'd to me— „ II ii 453
I g to have young Henry crown'd by York. „ II ii 478 Must you g, my liege, So suddenly? „ III i 84 all on us ha' had to g, bless the Saints, „ III i 146
G, you shall tell me of her some other time. „ III i 190
Nay—g. What! will you anger me? „ III i 208
I hear Margery: I'll g play with her. „ III i 274
I g myself—so many alleys, „ IV ii 6
G. See that you do not fall in. G. „ IV ii 58 you bid me g, and I'll have my ball anyhow. „ IV ii 63 let me g With my young boy, and I will hide my face, „ IV ii 97
Wilt thou g with him? he will marry thee. „ IV ii 162
The worm! shall I let her g? „ IV ii 197
G, lest I blast thee with anathema, „ IV ii 287
Lest I remember thee to the lion, g. „ IV ii 292 rather g beyond In scourgings, macerations, mortifyings, „ V i 40
That goes against our fealty to the King. „ V ii 508
Valour and holy life should g together. „ V ii 587
I g to meet my King! „ V ii 620
It is God's will. G on. „ V ii 635 get you back! g on with the office. „ V iii 33 Back, I say! G on with the office. „ V iii 39
I will g out and meet them. „ V iii 52
Wake me before you g, I'll after you— The Cup I ii 447 Shall I g? Shall I g? Death, torture— „ I ii 452
I g, but I will have my dagger with me. „ I ii 457 whither g you now? Camma. To lodge this cup „ I iii 51
Pray you, G on with the marriage rites. „ II 399
G on with the marriage rites. „ II 421
I will g To meet him, crown'd! „ II 518
There goes a musical score along with them, The Falcon 452
That seem'd to come and g. „ 650
You hear, Filippo? My good fellow, g! „ 691
Ay, prune our company of thine own and g! „ 696
I g. Master Dobson, did you hear what I said? Prom. of May I 171 to come together again in a moment and to g on together again, „ I 775
Now I must g. „ II 524
Allow me to g with you to the farm. „ II 574
Let bygones be bygones. G home! Good-night! „ III 157 Courage, courage! and all will g well. „ III 215 so that you do not copy his bad manners? G, child. „ III 362
'G home;' but I hadn't the heart or face to do it. „ III 389
G back to him and ask his forgiveness before he dies.— „ III 401
You see she is lamed, and cannot g down to him. „ III 416 to the grave he goes to, Beneath the burthen of years. „ III 516 Than even I can well believe you, G! „ III 815
'I g to fight in Scotland With many a savage clan;' Foresters I i 14
I am all but sure of him. I will g to him. „ I i 276

Go (continued) but I know not if I will let thee g. Foresters I i 312
Marian. I mean to g. „ I i 327
Well, thou shalt g, but O the land! the land!
More water goes by the mill than the miller wots of, and more goes to make right „ I ii 48
G now and ask the maid to dance with thee, „ I ii 185
What say you? shall we g? „ I iii 126
Then, Scarlet, thou at least wilt g with me. „ I iii 145
G with him. I will talk with thee anon. „ II i 132
I saw a man g in, my lord. „ II i 207 let me g to make the mound: bury me in the mound, „ II i 311 Shall we not g? „ II i 349
I pray thee g, g, for tho' thou wouldst bar „ II i 354 there goes one in the moonlight. Shoot! „ II i 394 Missed! There goes another. Shoot, Sheriff! „ II i 397
But g not yet, stay with us, and when thy brother— „ II i 640
Yet are they twins and always g together. Kate. Well, well, until they cease to g together, „ II ii 66
Wherefore, wherefore should we g „ II ii 125
Only wherefore should we g? „ II ii 137
One half of this shall g to those they have wrong'd, „ III 303
—a mere figure. Let it g by. „ IV 221 is not he that goes against the king and the law „ IV 229
I g to Nottingham. „ IV 799
What! g to slay his brother, and make me „ IV 804
Goä (go) Theer ye g's ageän, Miss, Prom. of May I 106
But let that g by. „ I 199
noän o' the parishes g's by that naäme 'ereabouts. „ I 268 and now, as far as money g's, I be a gentleman, „ I 331 winder at the end o' the passage, that g's by thy chaumber. „ I 397 Theer she g's! Shall I foller 'er and ax 'er „ II 130
I weänt g to owd Dobson; „ II 218 and wants a hand, and I'll g to him. „ II 222 Scizzars an' Pumpy was good uns to g (repeat) „ II 308, 319 says the master g's cleän off his 'eäd when he 'eärs the naäme on 'im; „ III 132
I warrants that ye g's By haäfe a scoor o' naämes— „ III 728 Goal I see the g and half the way to it.— Harold I ii 196 in the racing toward this golden g He turns „ II ii 377
Goat See Scape-goat, She-goat
Goat-herd we found a g-h's hut and shared The Cup I ii 426
Go-between Their Flemish g-b And all-in-all. Queen Mary III vi 4
God (s) (See also Warrior-god) G save her Grace; „ I i 66
By G's light a noble creature, right royal! „ I i 68
G be with you. Go. „ I ii 82
I wrote it, and G grant me power to burn! „ I ii 98
I thank my G it is too late to fly. „ I ii 112
'Fore G, I think she entreats me like a child. „ I iii 111 some great doom when G's just hour Peals— „ I iv 261 my good mother came (G rest her soul) „ I v 11
O, just G! Sweet mother, „ I v 22
G hath sent me here To take such order with all heretics „ I v 33
I am all thanks To G and to your Grace: „ I v 186
Pray G he do not be the first to break them, „ I v 269
G change the pebble which his kingly foot „ I v 368
G lay the waves and strow the storms at sea, „ I v 381
I pray G No woman ever love you, „ I v 601
By G, you are as poor a poet, Wyatt, „ II i 113 and if Philip come to be King, O, my G! „ II i 200
Or—if the Lord G will it—on the stake. „ II i 251
—'fore G, the rogues— „ II ii 96
G send her well; Here comes her Royal Grace. „ II ii 125
I thank G, I have lived a virgin, and I noway doubt But that with G's grace, I can live so still. Yet if it might please G that I should leave Some fruit „ II ii 217
Speak! in the name of G? „ II ii 272
I trust this day, thro' G, I have saved the crown. „ II ii 302
But o' G's mercy don't ye kill the Queen here, „ II iii 110
And I, by G, believe myself a man. „ III i 168
G save their Graces! (repeat) Queen Mary III i 177, 187, 342, 412
G's passion! knave, thy name? Queen Mary III i 248
Ha — Verbum Dei — verbum — word of G! G's passion! do you know the knave that painted it? „ III i 263

God (s) (continued) Word of G In English! Queen Mary III i 279 trusted G would save her thro' the blood „ III i 386 Their Graces, our disgraces! G confound them! „ III i 415 which G's hand Wrote on her conscience, „ III i 421
But all is well; 'twas ev'n the will of G, „ III ii 77
'Hail, Daughter of G, and saver of the faith. „ III ii 82
Beheld our rough forefathers break their G's, „ III ii 121
Serve G and both your Majesties. „ III iii 159
G to this realm hath given A token „ III iii 168 first whom G hath given Grace to repent „ III iii 175
By him who sack'd the house of G; „ III iii 195
Julius, G's Vicar and Viceregent upon earth, „ III iii 213
Trembled for her own g's, for these were trembling— „ III iv 128
For which G's righteous judgment fell upon you „ III iv 240
Nay, G's passion, before me! speak! „ III iv 285
G upon earth! what more? what would you have? „ III iv 383
He falters, ha? 'fore G, we change and change; „ III iv 406
G grant it last, And witness to your Grace's innocence, „ III v 49
G save the Queen! „ III v 170
G hath blest or cursed me with a nose— „ III v 178
O G, sir, do you look upon your boots, „ III v 191
G hath given your Grace a nose, or not, „ III v 203
Pray G, we 'scape the sunstroke. „ III v 279
These are the means G works with, „ III vi 68
To whom he owes his loyalty after G, „ IV i 23 may G Forget me at most need when I forget Her foul divorce— „ IV i 79
It is G's will, the Holy Father's will, „ IV i 184
G grant you ampler mercy at your call „ IV i 189
May G help you Thro' that hard hour! Cranmer. And may G bless you, Thirlby! „ IV ii 195
I not doubt that G will give me strength, „ IV ii 234
Cranmer, be thou glad. This is the work of G. „ IV iii 82
Remember how G made the fierce fire „ IV iii 89
if thou call on G and all the saints, G will beat down the fury of the flame, „ IV iii 96
O G, Father of Heaven! O Son of G, Redeemer of the world! „ IV iii 116
Three persons and one G, have mercy on me, „ IV iii 121 Shall I despair then?—G forbid! O G. For thou art merciful, refusing none That come to Thee „ IV iii 129
O Lord G, although my sins be great, „ IV iii 135
O G the Son, Not for slight faults alone, „ IV iii 138
O G the Father, not for little sins „ IV iii 143 truth of G, which I have proven and known. „ IV iii 149
G grant me grace to glorify my G! „ IV iii 166
'Love of this world is hatred against G.' Again, I pray you all that, next to G, „ IV iii 174
Albeit he think himself at home with G, „ IV iii 193
Give to the poor, Ye give to G. „ IV iii 214
I do believe in G, Father of all; „ IV iii 228
G bless him! „ IV iii 256
He looks to and he leans on as his G, „ IV iii 306 died As manfully and boldly, and, 'fore G, „ IV iii 343 beast might roar his claim To being in G's image, „ IV iii 369 owld lord fell to 's meat wi' a will, G bless un! but Gardiner wur struck down like by the hand o' G „ IV iii 515
There's nought but the vire of G's hell ez can burn out that. „ IV iii 527
Why then to heaven, and G ha' mercy on him. „ IV iii 631
Is G's best dew upon the barren field. „ V i 102 and therefore G Is hard upon the people. „ V i 175 and mine own natural man (It was G's cause); „ V ii 104
I hoped I had served G with all my might! „ V ii 296
G pardon me! I had never yet found one. „ V ii 334
Mother of G, Thou knowest never woman „ V ii 341
G help me, but methinks I love her less „ V ii 420 by G's providence a good stout staff Lay near me; „ V ii 468 light enough, G knows, And mixt with Wyatt's rising— „ V ii 477 as I love The people! whom G aid! „ V iii 36
G's death! and wherefore spake you not before? „ V iii 106
Then I and he will snaffle your 'G's death,' „ V iii 119
G's death, forsooth—you do not know King Philip. „ V iii 123

God (s) (continued) G curse her and her Legate! Queen Mary v iv 12 cries continually with sweat and tears to the Lord G „ v iv 46
Poor enough in G's grace! „ v v 50
I trust that G will make you happy yet. „ v v 76
O G! I have been too slack, too slack; „ v v 100 but by G's grace, We'll follow Philip's leading, „ v v 111
Ay, Madam, but o' G's mercy— „ v v 165
O G, I have kill'd my Philip! „ v v 180
G guide me lest I lose the way. „ v v 209
she loved much: pray G she be forgiven. „ v v 271
G save Elizabeth, the Queen of England!
Bagenhall. G save the Crown! the Papacy is no more. „ v v 283
G save the Queen! „ v v 288 floated downward from the throne Of G Almighty. Harold I i 19 in Normanland G speaks thro' abler voices, „ I i 167
But dreading G's revenge upon this realm „ I i 172
I have wrought miracles—to G the glory— „ I i 181
Pray G the people choose thee for their king! „ I i 314 that the shipwreckt are accursed of G;— „ II i 101 by the splendour of G, no guest of mine. „ II ii 26
My G, I should be there. „ II ii 310
Our Duke is all about thee like a G; „ II ii 316
G and the sea have given thee to our hands— „ II ii 548 bright sky cleave To the very feet of G, „ II ii 743
O G, that I were in some wide, waste field „ II ii 777
That sun may G speed! „ III i 72
G bless thee, wedded daughter. „ III i 293 for the king Is holy, and hath talk'd with G, „ III i 355
Pray G that come not suddenly! „ III i 364
G Has fill'd the quiver, and Death has drawn the bow— „ III i 399
O G! I cannot help it, but at times „ III ii 63 when that which reign'd Call'd itself G.— „ III ii 167
The Lord was G and came as man—the Pope Is man and comes as G.— „ III ii 172
But I dare. G with thee! „ III ii 188
G help me! I know nothing— „ III ii 193 in the name of the great G, so be it! „ IV i 240 peace with what G gave us to divide us „ IV iii 101
Here's to him, sink or swim! Thane. G sink him! „ IV iii 135
By G, we thought him dead— „ IV iii 148
Hath harried mine own cattle—G confound him! „ IV iii 190
And all the Heavens and very G: they heard— „ V i 43
Tell him that G is nobler than the Saints, „ V i 57
And bide the doom of G. „ V i 61
If I fall, I fall—The doom of G! „ V i 136
A snatch of sleep were like the peace of G. „ V i 181 great G of truth Fill all thine hours with peace!— „ V i 315
And not on thee—nor England—fall G's doom! „ V i 371
And front the doom of G. „ V i 436
O G of battles, make their wall of shields „ V i 478
G save King Harold! „ V i 489
Harold and G Almighty! „ V i 526
O G of battles, make his battle-axe keen „ V i 562
O G of battles, they are three to one, „ V i 575
O G, the G of truth hath heard my cry. „ V i 600
Glory to G in the Highest! fallen, fallen! „ V i 636
Whisper! G's angels only know it. „ V ii 31 my G, They have so maim'd and murder'd all his face „ V ii 75 build a church to G Here on the hill of battle; „ V ii 137 till that blighted vow Which G avenged to-day. „ V ii 157 by the splendour of G—have I fought men „ V ii 177 pray G My Normans may but move as true „ V ii 183
I would to G thou wert, for I should find Becket, Pro. 86
Men are G's trees, and women are G's flowers; „ Pro. 111
No, my liege, no!—not once—in G's name, no! „ Pro. 126
G's eyes! I know all that— „ Pro. 148
Would G she were—no, here within the city. „ Pro. 179
G's favour and king's favour might so clash „ Pro. 295
G's eyes! what a lovely cross! „ Pro. 370
And spake to the Lord G, and said, „ I i 74
'O Lord my G, Henry the King hath been my friend, „ I i 86
G make not thee, but thy foes, fall. „ I i 106
'Fore G, I am a mightier man than thou. „ I i 223
By G's death, thou shalt stick him like a calf! „ I iii 183

God (s) (continued) it is the will of G To break me, Becket I iii 291
'False to myself! It is the will of G!' Henry.
G's will be what it will, „ I iii 328
The King's will and G's will and justice; „ I iii 420
G's eyes! I had meant to make him all but king. „ I iii 464
The will of G—why, then it is my will— „ I iii 473
The King's 'G's eyes!' come now so thick and fast, „ I iii 609
For the King's pleasure rather than G's cause „ I iii 697
G from me withdraws Himself, And the King too. „ I iii 701
That thou obey, not me, but G in me, „ I iii 721
Wilt thou not say, 'G bless you, 'ere we go?
Becket. 'G bless you all! G redden your pale blood! But mine is human-red; „ I iv 33 and see it mounting to Heaven, my G bless you, „ I iv 38 Shall G's good gifts be wasted? „ I iv 70 his paws are past help. G help him. „ I iv 111 dawns darkly and drearily over the house of G— „ I iv 146
I pray G I haven't given thee my leprosy, „ I iv 214 this beast-body That G has plunged my soul in— „ II i 150
May G grant No ill befall or him or thee „ II i 259 by G's eyes, we will not have him crown'd. „ II ii 3 a perilous game For men to play with G. „ II ii 71 and pray G she prove True wife to you. „ II ii 77 Saving G's honour! „ II ii 140
—that Is clean against G's honour— „ II ii 163 that none may dream I go against G's honour— „ II ii 168 Would G they had torn up all By the hard root, „ II ii 207 to suppress G's honour for the sake Of any king that breathes. No, G forbid! Henry. No! G forbid! „ II ii 220
No G but one, and Mahound is his prophet. „ II ii 225 you shall have None other G but me— „ II ii 229 who hath withstood two Kings to their faces for the honour of G. „ II ii 277
I pray G pardon mine infirmity. „ II ii 353
Yet you both love G. „ II ii 376
O G, how many an innocent Has left his bones „ II ii 407 Deny not thou G's honour for a king. „ II ii 424 surrendering G's honour to the pleasure of a man. „ II ii 440 Son, I absolve thee in the name of G. „ II ii 443
G bless the great Archbishop! „ II ii 451
G help her, That she was sworn to silence. „ III i 77
G help her, she had 'em from her mother, „ III i 185
O G! some dreadful truth is breaking on me— „ III i 265 puffed out such an incense of unctuosity into the nostrils of our G's of Church and State, „ III iii 116 before G I promise you the King hath many „ III iii 321 G and his free wind grant your lordship a happy home-return „ III iii 326
The boy so late; pray G, he be not lost. „ IV ii 2 and G will be our guide. „ IV ii 104
By very G, the cross I gave the King! „ IV ii 199
Strike! I challenge thee to meet me before G. „ IV ii 254
G's grace and Holy Church deliver'd us. „ IV ii 309
If G would take him in some sudden way— „ V i 93
My liege, the Queen of England. Henry. G's eyes! „ V i 98
The Church! the Church! G's eyes! „ V i 217
Thou hast waged G's wars against the King; „ V ii 46
York against Canterbury, York against G! „ V ii 67
G bless him for it. „ V ii 146
G save him from all sickness of the soul! „ V ii 174 this mother, runs thro' all The world G made— „ V ii 243
G help thee! „ V ii 296 things that are the King's, And those of G to G. „ V ii 463 scare me from my loyalty To G and to the Holy Father. „ V ii 483 foremost of their files, who die For G, „ V ii 496 to people heaven in the great day When G makes up his jewels. „ V ii 497
G's will be done! (repeat) Becket V ii 565, 567
It is G's will. Go on. Becket V ii 634
No traitor to the King, but Priest of G, „ V iii 113
G pardon thee and these, but G's full curse „ V iii 133
I do commend my cause to G, the Virgin, „ V iii 163
O G, O noble knights, O sacrilege! „ V iii 178
O G's! She is my fate— The Cup I i 11
Rome Made war upon the peoples not the G's. „ I ii 61

God (s) (continued) to victory—I hope so—Like phantoms of the G's. The Cup I ii 170 for by the G's I seem Strange to myself. „ I iii 76 to the fullest in the sight Of all the G's. „ II 434
O all ye G's—Jupiter !—Jupiter ! „ II 453
Dost thou cry out upon the G's of Rome ? „ II 455 by the G's of Rome and all the world, „ II 465
G rest his honest soul, he bought 'em for me, The Falcon 49
I ha' heärd 'im a-gawin' on 'ud make your 'air—G bless it !—stan' on end. Prom. of May I 135
As flies to the G's ; they kill us for their sport. „ I 264
The G's ! but they, the shadows of ourselves, „ I 270
He, following his own instincts as his G, „ I 589
O my G, if man be only A willy-nilly current of sensations— „ II 261
At Michaelmas, Miss, please G. „ III 113 pauper, who had died in his misery blessing G, „ III 378
—the heart, O G !—the poor young heart „ III 679
G bless our well-beloved Robin, Earl of Huntingdon. Foresters I i 247
And I will follow thee, and G help us both. „ I i 278
G's good Angel Help him back hither, „ I ii 10
G forbid ! (repeat) „ I ii 93, 100
Ay G forbid, But if it be so we must bear with John. „ I iii 101
The love of freedom, the desire of G, „ II i 68
My G, thou art the very woman who waits „ II i 101 for, G help us, we lie by nature. „ II i 237
Is she not here with thee ? Robin. Would G she were ! „ II i 493
My G—That such a brother— „ II i 549
O G ! What sparkles in the moonlight on thy hand ? „ II i 581
O G, I would the letter of the law „ IV 514
When the Church and the law have forgotten G's music, „ IV 555 Take the left leg for the love of G. „ IV 578 by that same love of G we will hang thee, „ IV 582
—G help the mark— „ IV 714
G save the King ! „ IV 857
God (verb) How the good priest g's himself ! Becket V iii 149
God-bless-her Cried no G-b-h to the Lady Jane, Queen Mary III iv 45 Goddess (See also Love-goddess) himself an adorer of our great g, Artemis, The Cup I i 38 cup saved from a blazing shrine Of our great G, „ I ii 56
I love you—for your love to the great G. „ I ii 219
Wherefrom we make libation to the G „ II 201
Call first upon the G, Synorix. „ II 256
G, whose storm-voice Unsockets the strong oak, „ II 281
I call on our own G in our own Temple. „ II 314
Here is another sacred to the G, The gift of Synorix ; and the G, „ II 346 Making libation to the G. „ II 364
See first I make libation to the G, „ II 377
Libation to the G. „ II 387
Why then the G hears. „ II 388
God-father King, thy g-f, gave it thee when a baby. Foresters I i 285
Godless this cooler sun of England hath In breeding g vermin. Queen Mary III iv 329
She thank'd her father sweetly for his book Against that g German. „ V v 238
Godric More likely G. Harold V ii 66
Godstow (adj.) Come thou with me to G nunnery, Becket IV ii 366
To put her into G nunnery. (repeat) „ V i 208, 209
Godstow (s) Into G, into Hellstow, Devilstow ! „ V i 215
Godstow-Becket This G-B intermeddling such „ IV ii 457
Godwin (Earl of the West Saxons) (See also Half-Godwin) powers of the house of G Are not enframed in thee. Harold I i 316 sons of G Sit topmost in the field of England, „ I i 325 Unwholesome talk For G's house ! „ I i 391 feuds that part The sons of G from the sons of Alfgar „ I ii 180
Am I Harold, Harold, son Of our great G ? „ II ii 793 Remain a hostage for the loyalty Of G's house.' „ III i 91
I have heard a saying of thy father G, „ III i 112
There spake G, Who hated all the Normans ; „ III i 251
G still at feud with Alfgar, „ IV i 123
That is noble ! That sounds of G. „ IV ii 58
Come thou back, and be Once more a son of G. „ IV ii 60
Thou hast no passion for the House of G— „ IV ii 73
Godwin (Earl of the West Saxons) (continued) Noble Gurth ! Best son of G ! Harold V i 135 advise the king Against the race of G. „ V i 282 and the race of G Hath ruin'd G. „ V i 293
Goest And waste the land about thee as thou g, „ V i 131
Thou g beyond thyself in petulancy ! Becket I iii 65
Now as Archbishop g against the King ; „ I iii 530
Going (part.) (See also A-gawin', A-going, Gawin, Straight-going) g now to the Tower to loose the prisoners Queen Mary I i 108
Well, I am g. „ III vi 171
He can but stay a moment : he is g. Harold I ii 4
Oh ! that thou wert not g ! „ I ii 75
You are g to the Castle, Becket I ii 45
G to the Holy Land to Richard ! Foresters I ii 240
Going (s) three days in tears For Philip's g— Queen Mary III vi 14
I could mould myself To bear your g better ; „ III vi 236
And you will stay your g ? „ V i 186
Then it is done ; but you will stay your g „ V i 206 Gold Velvet and g. This dress was made me „ I iv 71 set it round with g, with pearl, with diamond. „ I v 375
We'll dust him from a bag of Spanish g. „ I v 422 not with g, But dearest links of love. „ I v 538 Spain moves, bribes our nobles with her g, „ II i 203 on his neck a collar, G, thick with diamonds ; „ III i 80
Gardiner buys them With Philip's g. „ III i 145
Were you in Spain, this fine fair gossamer g— „ V iii 49
Your Philip hath g hair and golden beard ; „ V iii 56
You have a g ring on your finger, „ V iv 32
In mine earldom A man may hang g bracelets on a bush, Harold II i 87
if not with g, With golden deeds and iron strokes „ II ii 46 jewel of St. Pancratius Woven into the g. „ II ii 701
Red g—a hundred purses—yea, and more ! „ III i 18
Standard of the Warrior, Dark among gems and g ; „ IV i 249 thou shalt have our love, our silence, and our g— Becket, Pro. 492
This Almoner hath tasted Henry's g. The cardinals have finger'd Henry's g. „ I iii 294
As g Outvalues dross, light darkness, „ I iii 714 till the weight of Germany or the g of England „ II ii 364 leave Lateran and Vatican in one dust of g— „ II ii 475
she sits naked by a great heap of g in the middle of the wood, „ III ii 21
No—no g. Mother says g spoils all. Love is the only g. „ IV i 42 fondest pair of doves will jar, Ev'n in a cage of g, „ IV ii 42
I would that happiness were g, The Cup II 223 a hundred G pieces once were offer'd by the Duke. The Falcon 324 ransomed for two thousand marks in g. Foresters I i 65 nor of the g, nor the man who took out the g : „ I i 74
I have lost my g, I have lost my son, „ I i 338
Good Prince, art thou in need of any g ? Prince John. G ? why ? not now. Sheriff. I would give thee any g So that myself „ I ii 163
I ran into my debt to the Abbot, Two thousand marks in g. „ II i 464
These two have forty g marks between them, Robin. „ III 202
Leave it with him and add a g mark thereto. „ III 211
Take his penny and leave him his g mark. „ III 218
I have one mark in g which a pious son of the Church „ III 280
Well, as he said, one mark in g. „ III 285
One mark in g. „ III 287
they have each ten marks in g. „ III 292 alchemy Should change this g to silver, why, the silver Were dear as g, „ IV 40
But being o' John's side we must have thy g. „ IV 158
I am glad of it. Give him back his g again. „ IV 183
But I had liefer than this g again— „ IV 185
Would buy me for a thousand marks in g— „ IV 653
Much lighter than a thousand marks in g ; „ IV 658
Is weightier than a thousand marks in g. „ IV 661
Who thought to buy your marrying me with g. „ IV 719
Here is thy g again. I am sorry for it. „ IV 985
The g—my son—my g, my son, the land— „ IV 987
Gold-dust For that is Philip's g-d, and adore Queen Mary III iii 243

Golden yet stay, this g chain—My father on a birthday gave it me, Queen Mary I v 526 hanging down from this The G Fleece— „ III i 82
Your Philip hath gold hair and g beard ; „ v iii 57
Some few of Gothic blood have g hair, „ v iii 61
With g deeds and iron stakes that brought Thy war with Brittany Harold II ii 47
For in the racing toward this g goal He turns not right or left, „ II ii 377
Lay thou thy hand upon this g pall ! „ II ii 699 Set forth our g Dragon, let him flap The wings „ IV i 245 saw thy willy-nilly nun Vying a tress against our g fern. „ v i 149 for marriage, rose or no rose, has killed the g violet. Becket, Pro. 351 Gave me the g keys of Paradise. „ I i 54 winter after summer, and the g leaves, „ I iv 65
Yea, thou my g dream of Love's own bower, „ II i 34 out of the eclipse Narrowing my g hour ! „ II i 203
Only the g Leopard printed in it Such hold-fast claws „ II ii 85 these g slopes Of Solomon-shaming flowers— „ III i 46
The g ornaments are stolen from her— „ III iii 180
Come, here is a g chain I will give thee „ IV i 40 and g provinces So that were done in equity. „ v ii 346
And roll the g oceans of our grain, The Cup II 269 and lays Our g grain, and runs to sea and makes it „ II 287
we would add Some g fringe of gorgeousness beyond Old use, „ II 438 for wasn't my lady born with a g spoon in her ladyship's mouth, and we haven't never so much as a silver one for the g lips of her ladyship. The Falcon 401 like the Moslem beauties waiting To clasp their lovers by the g gates. Prom. of May I 248
Will enter on the larger g age ; „ I 590
Who can tell What g hours, with what full hands, „ II 509
Flung by the g mantle of the cloud, Foresters II i 28

Goldenest Less than a star among the g hours Of Alfred, Harold IV iii 51

Goldsmiths (Immanuel) See Immanuel Goldsmiths

Goliasing There again, G and Goliathising ! Becket III iii 126

Goliath There is one Come as G came of yore— Harold V i 493

Goliathising There again, Goliasing and G ! Becket III iii 127

Gone he will not come Till she be g. Queen Mary I v 513
The Duke hath g to Leicester ; „ II i 4 had g over to him With all his men, „ II ii 28 tree that only bears dead fruit is g. „ III i 19
Hence, let's be g. Usher. Well that you be not g, My Lord. „ III iv 385
The civil wars are g for evermore : „ III v 150
She has g, Maid Marian to her Robin— „ III v 155 should her love when you are g, my liege, „ III vi 173
Be somewhat pitiful, after I have g, „ IV ii 157
G narrowing down and darkening to a close. „ IV iii 431 in pursuing heresy I have g beyond your late Lord Chancellor,— „ V ii 98
G beyond him and mine own natural man „ V ii 102
Philip g ! And Calais g ! Time that I were g too ! „ V ii 319
Calais g—Guisnes g, too—and Philip g ! „ V v 22
Charles, the lord of this low world, is g ; „ V v 55
but after I am g Woe, woe to England ! Harold I i 189 —That was many a summer g— „ I i 254 thou art not g so wild But thou canst hear „ I i 299
Yea,—get thee g ! „ II ii 117
My friend, thou hast g too far to palter now. „ II ii 707
He hath g to kindle Norway against England, „ III i 79
Many are g—Drink to the dead who died for us, „ IV iii 68
Get thee g ! He means the thing he says. „ V i 83
Over and g with the roses, (repeat) Becket, Pro. 326, 333
And over and g with the sun. „ Pro. 327
Not over and g with the rose. „ Pro. 344
I more than once have g against the Church. „ I i 29
—a chink—he's out, G ! „ I i 261
Hadst thou not sign'd, I had g along with thee ; „ I iii 522
No ill befall or him or thee when I Am g. „ II i 261
I stay myself—Puff—it is g. „ II ii 151
g to the King And taken our anathema with him. „ V ii 6
he had g too far Into the King's own woods ; „ V ii 107 Going or g to-day To hunt with Sinnatus. The Cup I i 64

Gone (continued) And I may strike your game when you are g. The Cup I ii 37
He is g already. Oh, look,— „ I ii 393
Just g To fly his falcon. The Falcon 209
Beänt Miss Eva g off a bit of 'er good looks o' laäte ? Prom. of May I 33
if I could ha' g on wi' the plowin' „ I 376
After all that has g between us—friends ! „ I 633
All that has g between us Should surely make us friends. „ I 636
He has g to London. „ I 780 and now she be g, will ye taäke 'em, Miss Dora ? „ II 21 who came to us three years after you were g, how should she know you ? „ III 233 Pledge the Plantagenet, Him that is g. Foresters I ii 8
Now that the sun our King is g, „ I ii 83
All g !—my ring—I am happy— „ I iii 1 make us merry Because a year of it is g ? „ I iii 15
G, and it may be g for evermore ! „ II i 155
G, like a deer that hath escaped thine arrow ! „ IV 60
By old St. Vitus Have you g mad ? „ IV 616
Where be they g to ? „ IV 629

Gonfanon and have sent him back A holy g, Harold III ii 148
g of Holy Peter Floating above their helmets— „ V i 549

Good and of the g Lady Jane as a poor innocent child Queen Mary I i 94
I know it, my g Lord. „ I ii 92
—and now that your g bishop, Bonner, „ I iii 34
I shall fathom him. G morning, Noailles. „ I iii 159
G now, my Lady Queen, tho' by your age, „ I iv 11
Folly, my g Lord. „ I iv 89
Not very dangerous that way, my g uncle. „ I iv 167
I follow your g counsel, gracious uncle. „ I iv 186
Do they say so, g uncle ? „ I iv 214
Ay, g niece ! You should be plain and open with me, „ I iv 216
No, g uncle. „ I iv 220 to have the wish before the word Is man's g Fairy— „ I iv 240
But my g mother came (God rest her soul) Of Spain, „ I v 11
G morning, my g Lord. „ I v 98
That every morning of your Majesty May be most g, „ I v 102
G, then, they will revolt : but I am Tudor, „ I v 174 Bid him come in. G morning, Sir de Noailles. „ I v 242 and your g master, Pray God he do not be the first to break them, „ I v 267 French, I must needs wish all g things for France. „ I v 309
G Madam, when the Roman wish'd to reign, „ I v 497
G Lord ! but I have heard a thousand such. „ I v 578
Why, g Lord, Write you as many sonnets as you will. „ II i 94
By God, you are as poor a poet, Wyatt, As a g soldier. „ II i 114 that g helpless creature, starved, maim'd, flogg'd, „ II i 209
And see the citizens arm'd. G day ; g day. „ II ii 378 and they With their g battleaxes will do you right „ II iv 66
G, was it splendid ? „ III i 49
G faith, I was too sorry for the woman To mark the dress. „ III i 57
Wyatt was a g soldier, yet he fail'd, „ III i 132
Methinks the g land heard me, for to-day My heart beats twenty, „ III ii 57
True, g cousin Pole ; „ III ii 68
G news have I to tell you, news to make Both of us happy— „ III ii 186
G ! Well, Madam, this new happiness of mine ? „ III ii 207
G sir, for this, if Philip— „ III iii 82
Why, g ! what then ? granted !—we are fallen creatures ; „ III iv 78
And tropes are g to clothe a naked truth, „ III iv 150
With that vile Cranmer in the accursed lie Of g Queen Catharine's divorce— „ III iv 232
Ha ! g ! it seems then I was summon'd hither „ III iv 268
But this most noble prince Plantagenet, Our g Queen's cousin— „ III iv 292
Upon the g Queen's mercy ; ay, when, my Lord ? „ III v 168
Before my father married my g mother,— „ III v 245
G morrow, my Lord Cardinal ; „ IV i 42
These are but natural graces, my g Bishop, „ IV i 176
And bad me have g courage ; „ IV ii 8
The prison fare is g enough for me. „ IV ii 42

Good (continued) Have you g hopes of mercy! So, farewell. Queen Mary IV ii 86
G hopes, not theirs, have I that I am fixt, Fixt beyond fall; „ IV ii 88
G day, old friend; what, you look somewhat worn; „ IV ii 115
Weep not, g Thirlby. „ IV ii 172
G people, every man at time of death Would fain set forth „ IV iii 156
But do you g to all As much as in you lieth. „ IV iii 186
Hear him, my g brethren. „ IV iii 227
And watch a g man burn. „ IV iii 293
Out Daisy's as g 'z her. „ IV iii 479
Our Daisy's butter's as g 'z hern. „ IV iii 481 for a g pleace at the burnin'; „ IV iii 489
I wish you a g morning, g Sir Nicholas: „ V i 13
So far, g. I say I came to sue your Council and yourself „ V i 113
G, now; methinks my Queen is like enough To leave me by and by. „ V i 241
G! Renard, I will stay then. „ V i 305
And so must you, g cousin;—worse than all, „ V ii 39
What said you, my g lord, that our brave English „ V ii 254
what g could come of that? „ V ii 309
G Lord! how grim and ghastly looks her Grace, „ V ii 389
But by God's providence a g stout staff Lay near me; „ V ii 468
He is my g friend, and I would keep him so; „ V iii 91
Ah, g neighbour, There should be something fierier than fire „ V iv 24
G night! Go home. Besides, you curse so loud, „ V iv 61
Nay, dearest lady, see your g physician. „ V v 59
G counsel yours—No one in waiting? still, „ V v 202
How is the g Queen now? „ V v 229
Albeit no rolling stone, my g friend Gamel, Harold I i 93
To-day, g Earl. „ I i 106
Deeper into the mysteries of heaven Than thou, g brother. „ I i 201
What lies upon the mind of our g king „ I i 269
Like the rough bear beneath the tree, g brother, „ I i 328
G counsel truly! I heard from my Northumbria yesterday. „ I i 330
Ay, ever give yourselves your own g word. „ I i 343
G again! G counsel tho' scarce needed. „ I i 375
I have to make report of my g earldom To the g king who gave it— „ I i 406
Nay, my g sister— „ I i 462
Thou shalt flash it secretly Among the g Northumbrian folk. „ I ii 220
Help the g ship, showing the sunken rock, „ II ii 100
G! But lest we turn the scale of courtesy „ II ii 163
'Tis the g Count's care for thee! „ II ii 251
Obey the Count's conditions, my g friend. „ II ii 276 our g King Kneels mumbling some old bone— „ II ii 467
But thou and he drove our g Normans out From England, „ II ii 525
Be careful of thine answer, my g friend. „ II ii 605
G, g, and thou wilt help me to the crown? „ II ii 613
G brother, By all the truths that ever priest hath preach'd, „ III i 96
Sign it, my g son Harold, Gurth, and Leofwin, „ III i 199 and those Who make thy g their own— „ III i 330
O g son! That knowledge made him all the carefuller „ III i 339
I know all Sussex; A g entrenchment for a perilous hour! „ III i 363
Where all g things are lost, where Tostig lost The g hearts of his people. „ III ii 28
G even, my g brother! Gurth. G even, gentle Edith. Edith. G even, Gurth. „ III ii 116
The G Shepherd! Take this, and render that. „ III ii 169 when our g hive Needs every sting to save it. „ IV i 17
So the g king would deign to lend an ear Not overscornful, „ IV i 135
With g will; Yes, take the Sacrament upon it, king. „ IV i 182
We never—oh! g Morcar, speak for us, „ IV i 216
Evil for g, it seems, Is oft as childless of the g as evil For evil. „ V i 171
G for g hath borne at times A bastard false as William. „ V i 174
I will, g brother. „ V i 199 perjury-mongering Count Hath made too g an use of Holy Church „ V i 312

Good (continued) Yea so, g cheer! thou art Harold, I am Edith! Harold V i 391
Lo! our g Gurth hath smitten him to the death. „ V i 502
Ay, g father. „ V i 516
So then our g Archbishop Theobald Lies dying. Becket, Pro. 1 and most amorous Of g old red sound liberal Gascon wine: „ Pro. 100
That palate is insane which cannot tell A g dish from a bad, „ Pro. 106
G dogs, my liege, well train'd, „ Pro. 119
My g liege, if a man Wastes himself among women, „ Pro. 136
but Nolo Archiepiscopari, my g friend, „ Pro. 286
My liege, the g Archbishop is no more. „ Pro. 392
The g old man would sometimes have his jest— „ I i 61
Our g John Must speed you to your bower at once. „ I i 290
What, not g enough Even to play at nun? „ I i 303
G night! g night! „ I i 313
Send the Great Seal by daybreak. Both, g night! „ I i 406
He had g eyes! „ I ii 38
G ears too! „ I ii 44
Ay, g Madam! „ I ii 90
And with g reason too, „ I iii 58
And was thine own election so canonical, G father? „ I iii 122
O my g lord, I do entreat thee—sign. „ I iii 185
Loyally and with g faith, my lord Archbishop? „ I iii 278
O ay, with all that loyalty and g faith „ I iii 281
G royal cousins—had them written fair For John of Oxford, „ I iii 415
Permit me, my g lord, to bear it for thee, „ I iii 490
O my g lord Leicester, The King and I were brothers. „ I iii 660 Shall God's g gifts be wasted? „ I iv 71
My friends, the Archbishop bids you g night. „ I iv 261
Something g, or thou wouldst not give it me. „ II i 233
Ay, ay, g brother, They call you the Monk-King. „ II ii 72
Come, confess, g brother, „ II ii 82
O g son Louis, do not counsel me, „ II ii 219 my g lord, We that are kings are something in this world, „ II ii 244 Better have been A fisherman at Bosham, my g Herbert, „ II ii 292
My one grain of g counsel which you will not swallow. „ II ii 378
Long live the g King Louis! „ II ii 451
I am bound For that one hour to stay with g King Louis, „ III iii 247
This is the second grain of g counsel I ever proffered thee, „ III iii 318
I am the fairy, pretty one, a g fairy to thy mother. „ IV i 26
There are g fairies and bad fairies, „ IV i 28
I am her g fairy. Geoffrey. But you don't look like a g fairy. „ IV i 34
And leave you alone with the g fairy. „ IV ii 61
My g Fitzurse, The running down the chase is kindlier sport „ IV ii 211 that our g Henry Says many a thing in sudden heats, „ IV ii 275 when I strove To work against her license for her g, „ IV ii 341
York and myself, and our g Salisbury here, „ V i 56
Yes: a man may take g counsel Ev'n from his foe. „ V ii 3 when he lets his whole self go Lost in the common g, „ V ii 40
I know him; our g John of Salisbury. „ V ii 77
No, daughter, you mistake our g Archbishop; „ V ii 138
How the g Archbishop reddens! „ V ii 298
O my g lord, Speak with them privately on this hereafter. „ V ii 418
G! let them arm. „ V ii 571
My two g friends, What matters murder'd here, or murder'd there? „ V ii 629
How the g priest gods himself! „ V iii 148 ye will die the death of dogs! Nay, nay, g Tracy. „ V iii 185
I can no more—fight out the g fight—die Conqueror. „ V iii 189 may even drown you In the g regard of Rome. The Cup I i 151
I tell thee, my g fellow, My arrow struck the stag. „ I ii 27
My g Lord Sinnatus, I once was at the hunting of a lion. „ I ii 115
You, Strato, make g cheer till I return. „ I ii 205
G! Camma. If I be not back in half an hour, Come after me. „ I ii 436
Or g, or wise, that you should clasp a hand „ II 82
G! mine own dagger driven by Synorix found All g in the true heart of Sinnatus, „ II 85

Good (continued) And drown all poor self-passion in the sense Of public g? The Cup II 103
Did not some old Greek Say death was the chief g? „ II 515
G mother, happy was the prodigal son, The Falcon 140
And yet to speak white truth, my g old mother, „ 504
G! let it be but one. „ 511
You hear, Filippo? My g fellow, go! „ 690
I have anger'd your g nurse; „ 707
'I should be well again If the g Count would give me——' „ 838
Beänt Miss Eva gone off a bit of 'er g looks o' laäte? Prom. of May I 33
G day! Wilson. G day, sir. „ I 294
G day, then, Dobson. Dobson. 'G daäy then, Dobson!' „ I 299
G murnin', neighbours, and the saäme to you, my men. „ I 317 but I ha taäen g care to turn out boäth my darters right down fine laädies. „ I 335
Coom, coom, that's a g 'un. „ I 467
G wishes, not reproaches; „ I 526 you have robb'd poor father Of ten g apples. „ I 616
You had better attend to your hayfield. G afternoon. „ II 123
Seizzars an' Pumpy was g uns to goä (repeat) „ II 308, 318
That beer be as g fur 'erses as men. „ II 315
And you Seem my g angel who may help me from it. „ II 388
Now am I Edgar, my g fellow. „ II 701
My name is Harold! G day, Dobbins! „ II 726
Näay, but 'G daäy, Dobbins.' „ II 732
'G daäy, Dobbins.' Dang tha! „ II 741
G afternoon, my friends. „ III 20
You are as g as a man in the hayfield. „ III 106 and the man has doubtless a g heart, „ III 171 thou h I can be sorry for him—as the g Sally says, „ III 173 Cor , come, keep a g heart! Better for me! That's g. „ III 252 and tho' you are g and gentle, Yet if thro' any want— „ III 538
G; then what is it That makes you talk so dolefully? „ III 571 but I keep a g heart and make the most of it, Foresters I i 28
he hath wasted his revenues in the service of our g king Richard „ I i 194
I wish you and your ladyship's father a most exceedingly g morning. „ I i 309
God's g Angel Help him back hither, „ I ii 10 myself and my g father pray Thy thirtieth summer may be thirty-fold „ I ii 127
G Prince, art thou in need of any gold? „ I ii 162
O g Sir Richard, I am sorry my exchequer runs so low „ I ii 271 by this Holy Cross Which g King Richard gave me when a child— „ I ii 310 if this life of ours Be a g glad thing, „ I iii 13
There be g fellows there in merry Sherwood „ I iii 98
Not now, g Much! And thou, dear Little John, „ I iii 158
O my g lord, I am but an angel by reflected light. „ II i 107
The fool-people call her a witch—a g witch to me! „ II i 179
Quick, g mother, quick! „ II i 193
He was a forester g; „ II i 319
Take him, g Little John, and give him wine. „ II i 469
Knight, your g father had his draught of wine „ II ii 1
We be neither bad nor g. „ II ii 119
Why, my g Robin fancied me a man, „ III 19
O g Kate—If my man-Robin were but a bird-Robin, „ III 38
Farewell, g fellows! „ III 87
Art thou not hard upon them, my g Robin? „ III 222
G! Roll it in here. „ III 311
I believe thee, thou art a g fellow, though a friar. „ III 342
Quiet, g n bin, quiet! „ IV 9
G! but having lived For twenty days and nights in mail, „ IV 122
Thou payest easily, like a g fellow, „ IV 156
G, g, I love thee for that! „ IV 173
Up, g Much. „ IV 284
G, now I love thee mightily, thou tall fellow, „ IV 321
For if he did me the g grace to kick me „ IV 364
My g friend Robin, Earl of Huntingdon, For Earl thou art again, „ IV 828
O my g liege, we did believe you dead. „ IV 845
I thank thee, g Sir Richard. „ IV 858

Good (continued) But if the King forbid thy marrying With Robin, our g Earl of Huntingdon. Foresters IV 876
I trust Half truths, g friar: „ IV 950
The king's g health in ale and Malvoisie. „ IV 968
O g Sir Richard, I am like the man In Holy Writ, „ IV 980
I am, g father, I am. „ IV 1020 Embrace me, Marian, and thou, g Kate, Kiss and congratulate me, my g Kate. „ IV 1031
You, g friar, You Much, you Scarlet, you dear Little John, „ IV 1081
Good-bye I'll say something for you—so—g-b. Queen Mary IV ii 168
G-b. James. Gi'e us a buss fust, lass. Prom. of May II 227
Good-day (See also Good) G-d, my Lord of Devon; Queen Mary I iii 95
G-d, my Lord. „ I iii 160
And see the citizens arm'd. G d; g d. „ II ii 378
G d! Wilson. G d, sir. Prom. of May I 294
G d, then, Dobson. „ I 299
My name is Harold! G d, Dobbins! „ II 726
Goodlier and yet, methinks, I have seen g. Queen Mary I v 7
Yet she's no g; „ II ii 345 brought Thy war with Brittany to a g close Than else had been, Harold II ii 49 as brave a soldier as Henry and a g man: Becket, Pro. 437
Goodlier-looking A g-l fellow than this Philip. Queen Mary I iv 3
A g-l man than Sinnatus. The Cup II 176
Goodliest That makes or man or woman look their g. Queen Mary II ii 330 Goodly Most g, Kinglike and an Emperor's son,— „ I v 2
G enough, your Grace, and yet, methinks, I have seen goodlier. „ I v 5
Peruse it; is it not g, ay, and gentle? „ I v 195
Ay, true—a g one. I would his life Were half as g. „ I v 200
I have never seen her So queenly or so g. „ II ii 327
And all men cry, She is queenly, she is g. „ II ii 344
Should look more g than the rest of us. „ II ii 349
G? I feel most g heart and hand, „ II ii 351 says she will live And die true maid—a g creature too. „ III vi 46
My liege, I bring you g tidings. „ V i 279
But is Don Carlos such a g match? „ V iii 86
Who knows what sows itself among the people? A g flower at times. Harold IV i 151
G news! Morcar. Doubt it not thou! „ IV i 219 have graspt Her livings, her advowsons, granges, farms, And g acres— Becket I i 163
Well—if that isn't g wine—— Beggar. Then there isn't a g wench to serve him with it: „ I iv 157
the g way of women Who love, for which I love them. „ II i 256
O bestial! O how unlike our g Sinnatus. The Cup II 173
True, she is a g thing. Foresters II ii 140
There was a man of ours Up in the north, a g fellow too, „ IV 530
Goodman I mean your g, your husband, my lady, Becket III i 158
Where is thy g-m? Foresters II i 370
Good-night G n! Go home. Besides, you curse so loud. Queen Mary V iv 61
G-n, and dream thyself Their chosen Earl. Harold I ii 247
G n! g n! Becket I i 313
Both, g n! „ I i 406
My friends, the Archbishop bids you g n. „ I iv 261
Thou—coming my way too—Camma—g-n. The Cup II 493
Let bygones be bygones. Go home! G-n! Prom. of May III 157
Goods Confiscate lands, g, money— Queen Mary II i 102
To make free spoil and havock of your g. „ II ii 187 thou art dispossessed of all thy lands, g, and chattels; Foresters I iii 63
Sheriff had taken all our g for the King without paying, „ II i 190 Goodwill If but to prove your Majesty's g, Queen Mary I v 260
With g w; Yea, take the Sacrament upon it, Harold IV i 182 is it then with thy g that I Proceed against thine evil councillors, Becket III iii 207 Goose father's eye was so tender it would have called a g off the green, „ III iii 102
Venison, and wild boar, hare, geese, Foresters IV 191
Geese, man! for how canst thou be allied With John, and serve King Richard save thou be A traitor or a g? „ IV 349
Goosewing By arrow and gray g, „ III 427
Gorge (See also Side-gorge) not like thine To g a heretic whole, Queen Mary III iv 344

Gorgeous the g Indian shawl That Philip brought me in our happy days!— Queen Mary v ii 538
Gorgeousness Some golden fringe of g beyond The Cup ii 438
Gospeller and the Hot G's will go mad upon it. Queen Mary i i 115
Yon gray old G, sour as midwinter, „ i iii 40
Not dream'd of by the rabidest g. „ iii vi 138
there be two old gossips—g's, I take it; „ iv iii 460
There are Hot G's even among our guards— „ v v 102
Gossamer Were you in Spain, this fine fair g gold— „ v iii 48
Gossip Hist! there be two old g's—gospellers, „ iv iii 460
Gossiping with no fear Of the world's g clamour, Prom. of May i 528 Got And I g it. I woke Sir Henry— Queen Mary iii v 59 afoor I coomed up he g thruff the winder ageän.
Eva. G thro' the window again? Prom. of May i 405
Then she g me a place as nursery governess, „ iii 385
Gothic Some few of G blood have golden hair, Queen Mary v iii 60 Gotten Owd Steer's g all his grass down and wants a hand, Prom. of May ii 221
The beer's g oop into my 'eäd, „ ii 320
Gout small hope of the gentleman g in my great toe. The Falcon 657
'I hope your Lordship is quite recovered of your g?' Prom. of May iii 309 Rogue, I am full of g. I cannot dance. Foresters iv 562
Sweat out your g, friend, for by my life, „ iv 565
Govern Whose ministers they be to g you. Queen Mary iv iii 180
Ye g milder men. Harold i i 339
Governance Against thy brother Tostig's g; „ ii ii 290
We have heard Of thy just, mild, and equal g; „ ii ii 690
Governess Then she got me a place as a nursery g, Prom. of May iii 385 Government We have made them milder by just g. Harold i i 341 and by the advice of his G.' Becket i iii 113
Gown Disguise me—thy g and thy coif. Foresters ii i 186
Ay, ay, g, coif, and petticoat, „ ii i 194
Graäy (gray) Wi' the briar sa green, an' the willer sa g, Prom. of May ii 187
Grace (s) (See also Herb-of-grace) God save her G; Queen Mary i i 67 whether her G incline to this splendid scion of Plantagenet. „ i i 134
The Queen would see your G upon the moment. „ i iv 222
Your G will hear her reasons from herself. „ i iv 230
Whereof 'tis like enough she means to make A farewell present to your G. „ i iv 245
Goodly enough, your G, and yet, methinks, I have seen goodlier. „ i v 5
By your G's leave Your royal mother came of Spain, „ i v 15
I cannot, and I dare not, tell your G What Lady Jane replied. „ i v 49
—a head So full of g and beauty! „ i v 64
I say your G is loved. „ i v 131
I am all thanks To God and to your G: „ i v 186
Hath your G so sworn? „ i v 217
In some such form as least may harm your G. „ i v 226 your G And kingdom will be suck'd into the war, „ i v 256 Nay, pure phantasy, your G. „ i v 280 but I protest Your G's policy hath a farther flight „ i v 312
Who waits? Usher. The Ambassador of Spain, your G. „ i v 343
Nay, your G, it hath not reach'd me. „ i v 351
You are happy in him there, Chaste as your G! „ i v 456
What slanders? I, your G; no, never. Mary. Nothing? Alice. Never, your G. „ i v 572
I scarce had left your G's presence „ i v 583 must we levy war against the Queen's G? Wyatt. No, my friend, war for the Queen's G—to save her from herself and Philip— „ ii i 187
When will her G be here? „ ii ii 13
Here comes her Royal G. „ ii ii 126
But that with God's G, I can live so still. „ ii ii 219 but we can save your G. The river still is free. „ ii iv 24
No, no, your G; see there the arrows flying. „ ii iv 50
The porter, please your G, hath shut the gates On friend and foe. Your gentlemen-at-arms, If this be not your G's order, „ ii iv 61
I do not love your G should call me coward. Messenger. Over your G, all crush'd; „ ii iv 88
God save their G's. (repeat). Queen Mary iii i 178, 187, 343, 413
Grace (s) (continued) Seventeen—a rose of g! Queen Mary iii i 371
Their G's, our disgraces! God confound them! „ iii i 415
Farewell, your G's. „ iii ii 146
Mine echoes both your G's; „ iii iii 96
Lo! once again God to this realm hath given A token of His more especial G; „ iii iii 170
G to repent and sorrow for their schism; „ iii iii 177 their two G's Do so dear-cousin and royal-cousin him, „ iii iv 398
Why do they keep us here? Why still suspect your G? „ iii v 17
And witness to your G's innocence, „ iii v 50
Before I dare to glance upon your G. „ iii v 186
See, I lay it here, For I will come no nearer to your G; „ iii v 200
And God hath given your G a nose, or not, „ iii v 203
O Lord! your G, your G, „ iii v 248
And had your G a Robin? „ iii v 273
A g to me! Mercy, that herb-of-grace, „ iii vi 9 when last he wrote, declared His comfort in your G „ iii vi 79
Your G hath a most chaste and loving wife. „ iii vi 129
Your G's business will not suffer, sire, „ iii vi 244
Crave, in the same cause, hearing of your G. „ iv i 9
Health to your G! Good morrow, my Lord Cardinal; We make our humble prayer unto your G „ iv i 41
Ay, ay, your G; but it was never seen That any one recanting thus at full, „ iv i 57
These are but natural g's, my good Bishop, „ iv i 176
After this, Your G will hardly care to overlook „ iv i 192
By Heaven's g, I am more and more confirm'd. „ iv ii 21
Sire, if your G hath mark'd it, so have I. „ v i 231
That if your G hath mark'd her, so have I. „ v i 239 and your G, So you will take advice of mine, „ v i 300
Your G hath been More merciful to many a rebel head „ v ii 4 what sin Beyond all g, all pardon? „ v ii 340
Your G hath a low voice. „ v ii 378
Good Lord! how grim and ghastly looks her G, „ v ii 390
Ay, so your G would bide a moment yet. „ v ii 546
I trust your G is well. „ v ii 551
But shall I take some message from your G? „ v ii 597
Then I may say your G will see your sister? Your G is too low-spirited. „ v ii 603
But as to Philip and your G—consider,— „ v iii 64
I gather'd from the Queen That she would see your G before she—died. „ v iii 104
Poor enough in God's g! „ v v 50
I will, if that May make your G forget yourself a little. „ v v 81
by God's g, We'll follow Philip's leading, „ v v 111
I never spied in thee one gleam of g. Becket v ii 474
Is strength less strong when hand-in-hand with g? „ v ii 541 and 'your G' are all growing old-fashioned Prom. of May iii 318
So winsome in her g and gaiety, „ iii 754
Nay, an please your Elfin G, Foresters ii ii 132
For if he did me the good g to kick me „ iv 364
Not now, not now—with after-dinner g. „ iv 938
Grace (verb) To g his memory. Queen Mary ii i 31
My cottage, while you g it, is a palace. The Falcon 288 thy father will not g our feast With his white beard to-day. Foresters iv 80 Graced Much g are we that our Queen Rome in you The Cup ii 335
Graceless That were a g hospitality To chain the free quest Harold ii ii 192
Gracious seeing that our g Virgin Queen hath— Queen Mary i iii 23 —and since our G Queen, let me call her our second Virgin Mary, „ i iii 56
But does your g Queen entreat you kinglike? „ i iii 109
I follow your good counsel, g uncle. „ i iv 186 would that mine Were half as g! „ i v 66
A g guard Truly; shame on them! they have shut the gates! „ ii iv 56
That by your g means and intercession „ iii iii 121 and there watch All that is g in the breath of heaven „ iii vi 224
O, Madam, if you knew him As I do, ever gentle, and so g, „ iv i 156
Such weeds make dunghills g. „ iv i 182
He had his g moment, Altho' you'll not believe me. „ v v 37
A gentle, g, pure, and saintly man! Harold ii ii 584
Well, well, we will be gentle with him, g—Most g. Becket ii ii 129 will not your Holiness Vouchsafe a g answer to your Queen? „ iv ii 359

Gracious (continued) So g toward women, never yet Flung back a woman's prayer. The Cup I ii 299
And be you G enough to let me know the boon The Falcon 765
It will be all the more g of her if she do. Foresters I i 175
Grafted And g on the hard-grain'd stock of Spain— Queen Mary IV iii 426 Grain (corn) And roll the golden oceans of our g, The Cup II 269 strows our fruits, and lays Our golden g, „ II 287 and why ye have so few g's to peck at. Foresters I i 77 Grain (particle) My one g of good counsel which you will not swallow. Becket II ii 378 second g of good counsel I ever proffered thee, „ III iii 317 Grain'd See Hard-grain'd
Gramercy G for thy preachment! Foresters IV 397
Granada G, Naples, Sicily, and Milan,— Queen Mary V i 44
Grand a thousand times Fitter for this g function. Becket, Pro. 293 Grandfather My g—of him They say, that women— Prom. of May II 271 my great great great g, my great great g, my great g, my g, and my own father— Foresters I i 329
Grandsire Lost in desuetude, of my g's day— Becket I iii 413
His g struck my g in a brawl At Florence, and my g stabb'd The Falcon 250 Grandson only g To Wulfnoth, a poor cow-herd. Harold IV i 69 cottage of yours where your g had the fever. Prom. of May III 44 Grange her advowsons, g's, farms, And goodly acres— Becket I i 161
Granny G says marriages be maäde i' 'eaven. Prom. of May III 709 Grant I wrote it, and God g me power to burn! Queen Mary I ii 98
g me my prayer: Give me my Philip; „ I v 85
Sir Thomas, we may g the wine. „ II i 40
Is now content to g you full forgiveness, „ III iv 389
God g it last, And witness to your Grace's innocence, „ III v 49
God g your ampler mercy at your call „ IV i 189
God g me grace to glorify my God! „ IV iii 166
If ever, as heaven g, we clash with Spain, „ IV iii 346
By loss of Calais. G me Calais. „ V ii 305
Have you found mercy there, G it me here: „ V v 145
So that you g me one slight favour. Becket I ii 58
we g when kings are dangerous The Church must play „ I ii 67
he would g thee The crown itself. „ I iii 29
G me one day To ponder these demands. „ I iii 667
May God g No ill befall or him or thee „ II i 259
we g the Church King over this world's kings, „ II ii 241
God and his free wind g your lordship a happy home-return „ III iii 327
By granting which, if aught be mine to g, The Falcon 768
Then they would g you what they call a licence Prom. of May I 694
Granted Old Sir Thomas always g the wine. Queen Mary II i 42
Why, good! what then? g!— „ III iv 78
It shall be g him, my king; Harold III i 227
Granting let me know the boon By g which, The Falcon 767
Grape These g's are for the house of Sinnatus— The Cup I i 51 may this mouth Never suck g again, Foresters IV 394
Grape-bunches sway the long g-b of our vines, The Cup II 270 Grapple stand beside thee One who might g with thy dagger, Becket IV ii 230
He would g with a lion like the King, Foresters I i 185
Grappling and the mitre G the crown— Becket II i 27
Grasp (s) in his g a sword Of lightnings, Harold III i 136
Why, what a cold g is thine— Foresters I ii 242
Grasp (verb) should have a hand To g the world with, Harold V ii 192
Graspt have g Her livings, her advowsons, Becket I i 160
Grass balmy wind to robe our hills with g, The Cup II 266
she had thrown my chaplet on the g, The Falcon 369 Had she not thrown my chaplet on the g, „ 378
if you'd like to measure your own length upon the g. Prom. of May I 466
Owd Steer's gotten all his g down and wants a hand, „ II 221
Grasshopper G, g, Whoop—you can hear. Becket III i 102 Grateful All the church is g. Queen Mary I v 179
Most loyal and most g to the Queen. „ V iii 25
You should be g to my master, too. „ V iii 27
And g to the hand that shielded him, Harold II ii 586 —am g for thine honest oath, „ II ii 755
For which she should be duly g. Becket I ii 74
I should be g—He hath not excommunicated me. „ V ii 470
g that I show'd her The weakness The Cup I i 21 and the Goddess, being For this most g, „ II 349
That one, then, should be g for your preference. Prom. of May II 556

Grateful (continued) one that should be g to me overseas, a Count in Brittany— Foresters I i 270 so you would make it two I should be g. „ III 195
Gratefully O Dora, he signed himself 'Yours g'— fancy, Dora, 'g'! 'Yours g'! Prom. of May III 334
Gratefulness If ever man by bonds of g— Becket I iii 435
Gratia Ave Maria, g plena, Benedicta tu in mulieribus. Queen Mary III ii 1
Grating Close to the g on a winter morn The Falcon 441
Gratior G in pulchro corpore virtus. Becket V ii 542 Grave (adj.) look'd As grim and g as from a funeral. Queen Mary II ii 65
We fought like great states for g cause; Harold I i 440
Grave (s) Dug from the g that yawns for us beyond; Queen Mary V ii 163
A low voice from the dust and from the g „ V ii 386
And wear my crown, and dance upon my g. „ V ii 602
I'll fight it on the threshold of the g. „ V v 190
With dead men upright from their g's, Harold I ii 83
And thou art upright in thy living g, „ II ii 440
Corpse-candles gliding over nameless g's— „ III i 382
I give my voice against thee from the g— „ V i 255
He commends me now From out his g Becket, Pro. 420
And I shall live to trample on thy g. „ I ii 95 spire of Holy Church may prick the g's— „ I iii 554
O devil, can I free her from the g? „ V i 186
I should seem to be dancing upon a g. Prom. of May I 431
And he would hear you even from the g. „ I 763
I told her I should hear her from the g. „ II 245
To see her g? her ghost? „ II 352 as they call it so truly, to the g at the bottom, „ III 193
O g's in daisies drest, „ III 204
But now that you have been brought to us as it were from the g, „ III 235 to the g he goes to, Beneath the burthen of years. „ III 515 stillness in the g By the last trumpet. Foresters II i 47
Gravedigger like the g's child I have heard of, trying to ring the bell, Becket III iii 73
Graveness Had put off levity and put g on. Queen Mary V ii 510
Gray (See also Graäy) Yon g old Gospeller, sour as midwinter, „ I iii 40
he loved the more His own g towers, „ II i 49
Ah, g old castle of Alington, green field Beside the brimming Medway, „ II i 243
And scared the g old porter and his wife. „ II iii 16
The g rogue, Gardiner, Went on his knees, „ III v 164
And the g dawn Of an old age that never will be mine „ V ii 234 and dumb'd his carrion croak From the g sea for ever. Harold IV iii 67
the green field—the g church— Becket II ii 296
He will pass to-morrow In the g dawn before the Temple doors. The Cup I ii 295
I rise to-morrow In the g dawn, and take this holy cup „ I ii 434
And g before his time as thou art, Much. Foresters I iii 149
By arrow and g goosewing, „ III 427
Grayhound My g's fleeting like a beam of light, Harold I ii 129
Graze would not g The Prince of Spain. Queen Mary I v 453 Grazing Our horses g by us, when a troop, The Falcon 611
Greasy so g, and smell so vilely that my Lady Marian that very word 'g' hath a kind of unction in it, Foresters I i 82
„ I i 86
Great Was she not betroth'd in her babyhood to the G Emperor himself? Queen Mary I i 118
How folly? a g party in the state Wills me to wed her. „ I iv 91
Doth not as g a party in the state Will you to wed me? „ I iv 95
Is no g party in the state as yet. „ I iv 102
G, said you? nay, you shall be g. I love you, „ I iv 103
I have felt within me Stirrings of some g doom when God's just hour Peals— „ I iv 261
Let the g angel of the church come with him; „ I v 377
Spain in all the g offices of state; „ II i 178 were to do G things, my Lord. „ II ii 390 and round his knee, misplaced, Our English Garter, studded with g emeralds, „ III i 84 where you gave your hand To this g Catholic King. „ III ii 92
The g unborn defender of the Faith, „ III ii 165
Ay, sir; Inherit the G Silence. „ III ii 199
Saying, O Lord God, although my sins be g, For thy g mercy have mercy! „ IV iii 136

Great (continued) when thou becamest Man in the Flesh, was the g mystery wrought; Queen Mary IV iii 141 now I come to the g cause that weighs Upon my conscience „ IV iii 237
he look'd the G Harry, You but his cockboat; „ V ii 146
May the g angels join their wings, and make „ V iv 6
I never look'd upon so fair a likeness As your g King in armour there, „ V v 29
—we will make England g. „ V v 282
Thou art a g voice in Northumberland! Harold I i 114
I have builded the g church of Holy Peter: „ I i 179
We fought like g states for grave cause; but Tostig— „ I i 440
Haul like a g strong fellow at my legs, „ II i 11
Let the g Devil fish for your own souls. „ II i 32 and our g Count-crab will make his nippers meet in thine heart; „ II i 75
But there the g Assembly choose their king, „ II ii 126
And I will make thee my g Earl of Earls, „ II ii 629
Am I Harold, Harold, son Of our g Godwin? „ II ii 793
Then our g Council wait to crown thee King— „ III i 3 thy patriot passion Siding with our g Council against Tostig, „ III i 59
Then a g Angel past along the highest Crying „ III i 133 the g Angel rose And past again along the highest crying „ III i 154
And our g Council wait to crown thee King. „ III i 406
Let not our g king Believe us sullen— „ IV i 6
Not made but born, like the g king of all, „ IV i 85 for mine own father Was g, and cobbled. „ IV i 91
he fain Had made her g: „ IV i 203
Then in the name of the g God, so be it! „ IV i 240
Is there so g a need to tell the why? „ IV iii 39
Of Alfred, or of Edward his g son, „ IV iii 52
Were the g trumpet blowing doomsday dawn, „ V i 227
There the g God of truth Fill all thine hours with peace! „ V i 314
A g and sound policy that: Becket, Pro. 451 and chosen me For this thy g archbishoprick, „ I i 91
O thou G Seal of England, „ I i 336
Let the G Seal be sent Back to the King to-morrow. „ I i 374
Send the G Seal by daybreak. Both, good night! „ I i 405
Thy sending back the G Seal madden'd him, „ I iii 9
Did not G Gregory bid St. Austin here Found two archbishopricks, „ I iii 48 Flung the G Seal of England in my face— „ I iii 456
I, bearing this g ensign, make it clear Under what Prince I fight. „ I iii 544 where our bishops And our g lords will sit in judgment on him. „ I iii 549
King Would throne me in the g Archbishoprick: „ I iii 694
Our Lord Becket's our g sitting-hen cock, „ I iv 125
He hath retired to rest, and being in g jeopardy of his life, „ I iv 263
God bless the g Archbishop! „ II ii 452
And on a g occasion sure to wake As g a wrath in Becket— „ III i 87 and he told me he would advance me to the service of a g lady, „ III i 124 and gave me a g pat o' the cheek for a pretty wench, „ III i 125 for there were g ones who would look after me, and to be sure I ha' seen g ones to-day— „ III i 135
she sits naked by a g heap of gold in the middle of the wood, „ III ii 21
These are by-things In the g cause. „ III iii 12 hidden by-ways of the world In the g day against the wronger. „ III iii 17
Do you see that g black cloud that hath come over the sun „ III iii 45 and to read the faces of men at a g show. „ III iii 83
'g honour,' says he, 'from the King's self to the King's son.' „ III iii 144
there was a g motion of laughter among us, „ III iii 154
The spouse of the G King, thy King, hath fallen— „ III iii 175
Is not virtue prized mainly for its rarity and g baseness „ III iii 304
I saw the ball you lost in the fork of the g willow over the brook. „ IV ii 57
there is g wrong done Somehow; „ IV ii 93
Our g High-priest, will not your Holiness Vouchsafe „ IV ii 357
Mother, you told me a g fib: it wasn't in the willow. „ IV ii 370
Great (continued) to people heaven in the g day When God makes up his jewels. Becket V ii 496
Close the g gate—ho, there—upon the town— „ V ii 530
Do they not fight the G Fiend day by day? „ V ii 585
Here is the g Archbishop! He lives! he lives! „ V iii 29
And the g deeps were broken up again, „ V iii 43
Was not the g gate shut? „ V iii 137
At the right hand of Power—Power and g glory— „ V iii 194 have we still'd him? What! the g Archbishop! Does he breathe? „ V iii 202 himself an adorer of our g goddess, Artemis, The Cup I i 38
And that g break of precipice that runs Thro' all the wood, „ I ii 21
A sacred cup saved from a blazing shrine Of our g Goddess. „ I ii 56
I love you—for your love to the g Goddess, „ I ii 218
You have beauty,—O g beauty,—and Antonius, „ I ii 297
At times this oracle of g Artemis Has no more power „ II 33
G Artemis! O Camma, can it be well, „ II 80
g Goddess, whose storm-voice Unsockets the strong oak, „ II 281
She would have robb'd me then of a g pleasure. The Falcon 65
but this day has brought A g occasion. „ 489 and profess to be g in green things and in garden-stuff. „ 551
And I have small hope of the gentleman gout in my g toe. „ 657
When the g Democracy Makes a new world— Prom. of May I 670
I was brooding Upon a g unhappiness when you spoke. „ II 383 for the sake of the g blessed Mother in heaven, Foresters I i 96
I can shoot almost as closely with the bow as the g Earl himself. „ I i 217 me who worship Robin the g Earl of Huntingdon? „ I i 225
Now your g man, your Robin, all England's Robin, „ I i 235 but our g man, our Robin, against it. „ I i 241 how often in old histories have the g men striven against the stream, „ I i 243 must the g man strive against it again to save his country, „ I i 245 my g g g grandfather, my g g grandfather, my g grandfather, „ I i 328
And the g breaker beats upon the beach! Never— „ I ii 323
Till Nature, high and low, and g and small Forgets herself, „ I ii 326
In that g heat to wed her to the Sheriff „ II i 584
You dared to dream That our g Earl, „ II i 686
we must at times have wrought Some g injustice, „ III 156
G woodland king, I know not quarterstaff. „ IV 215 Greater Thy mercy must be g than all sin. Queen Mary IV iii 151
if he have the g right, Hath been the crueller. „ IV iii 382
A g King Than thou art, Love, who cares not for the word, Becket II i 114
My lord, will you be g than the Saints, „ II ii 196 so to meditate Upon my g nearness to the birthday Of the after-life, Foresters II i 44 Greatest But for the g sin that can be sinn'd, Queen Mary IV iii 146
It gilds the g wronger of her peace, „ V ii 415
Great-hearted Camma the stately, Camma the g-h, The Cup I iii 72
Greatness That so foreshortens g, Queen Mary III v 41
Unmoving in the g of the flame, „ IV iii 622
Greed All g, no faith, no courage! „ III i 145
Greek (adj.) like the G king when his daughter was sacrificed, Becket III iii 104
No Roman name? Synorix. A G, my lord; The Cup I i 201 Greek (s) That we Galatians are both G and Gaul. „ I i 203 some old G Say death was the chief good? „ II 514
Green (adj.) (See also Life-green) Ah, gray old castle of Alington, g field Beside the brimming Medway, Queen Mary II i 243
These fields are only g, they make me gape. „ III v 7
The g tree! Then a great Angel past along the highest Harold III i 132
The rest you see is colour'd g— Becket, Pro. 171
—the g field—the gray church— „ II ii 295 and profess to be great in g things and in garden-stuff. The Falcon 551 when you put it in g, and your stack caught fire. Prom. of May II 55
Wi' the briar sa g, an' the willer sa graäy, „ II 186 till the g earth drink Her health along with us Foresters III 350
When all the leaves are g; (repeat) „ III 426, 441
And live with us and the birds in the g wood. „ IV 32*e*
I scent it in the g leaves of the wood. „ IV 944

Green (s) Bagenhall, I see The Tudor g and white. Queen Mary III i 180
The colours of our Queen are g and white, „ III v 5 father's eye was so tender it would have called a goose off the g, Becket III iii 103
Greenwich I will go to G, So you will have me Queen Mary III vi 221
Greenwood Beneath the g tree. (repeat) Foresters II i 12, 24
'Grees (agree) thaw me and 'im we niver 'g about the tithe; Prom. of May I 444
Greet Wessex dragon flies beyond the Humber, No voice to g it. Harold IV i 5
Will g us as our babes in Paradise. Becket V ii 225
And music there to g my lord the king. The Cup II 191
Greeting Makes me his mouth of holy g. Queen Mary III ii 80
And scarce a g all the day for me— „ III vi 118
Full thanks for your fair g of my bride! Harold IV iii 46
G and health from Synorix! (repeat) The Cup II 40, 130
Gregory (Pope) no croucher to the Gregories That tread the kings Becket, Pro. 212
G bid St. Austin here Found two archbishopricks, „ I iii 48
Not to a G of my throning! No. „ V i 33
Gresham (Sir Thomas) See Thomas Gresham Grew thus baptized in blood G ever high and higher, Harold III i 148 like a barren shore That g salt weeds, The Cup II 232 mountain flowers g thickly round about. The Falcon 355 and when the children g too old for me, Prom. of May III 386
Grex Pastor fugatur G trucidatur— Harold V i 514 Grey (Lady Jane) See Jane
Grief Thou stirrest up a g thou canst not fathom. Queen Mary III iv 298 mine own, a g To show the scar for ever— Becket I i 177
O g for the promise of May, (repeat) Prom. of May I 59, 60, 750, 752
We have been in such g these five years, Prom. of May II 66
how should I, with this g still at my heart, „ II 91
One that has been much wrong'd, whose g's are mine, „ III 577
Whate'er thy g's, in sleep they fade away. Foresters I iii 45
Grieve Death would not g him more. Queen Mary IV i 25
I bring your Majesty such grievous news I g to bring it „ V ii 241
I g I cannot; but, indeed— Prom. of May I 621
I g I am the Raven who croaks it. Foresters III 447
I g to say it was thy father's son. „ IV 810
Grieved I am vastly g to leave your Majesty. Queen Mary III vi 255
I am g to know as much. Becket, Pro. 4
I am g, my daughter. „ V ii 82
The Sheriff—I am g it was the Sheriff; Foresters II i 449
Grievous And first I say it is a g case, Queen Mary IV iii 167
I bring your Majesty such g news I grieve to bring it. „ V ii 240 in their mood May work them g harm at times, The Falcon 821
Griffyth (King of Wales) G I hated: why not hate the foe Of England? G when I saw him flee, Chased deer-like up his mountains, all the blood That should have only pulsed for G, Harold I ii 145
Since G's head was sent To Edward, „ IV i 221
With a love Passing thy love for G? „ V i 357
Grim (adj.) look'd As g and grave as from a funeral. Queen Mary II ii 65
how g and ghastly looks her Grace, „ V ii 389
Our cancell'd warrior-gods, our g Walhalla, Harold III ii 73
Grim (a monk) Thou art but yesterday from Cambridge, G; Becket V ii 55
Grimly-glaring Yon g-g, treble-brandish'd scourge Of England! Harold I i 3
Grimness There lodged a gleaming g in his eyes, „ II ii 224
Grip The black fiend g her? Foresters III 380
Griping and g mine, Whisper'd me, Queen Mary I ii 34
Grisly Spite of this g star ye three must gall Poor Tostig. Harold I i 418
Groan (s) cries, and clashes, and the g's of men; „ III i 375
Misheard their snores for g's. „ V i 213
Groan (verb) They g amen; they swarm into the fire Queen Mary V ii 110
Groan'd crept Up even to the tonsure, and he g, Becket I iii 327
Groaning See A-groänin'
Groining The g hid the heavens; Foresters II i 62
Groom (a servant) clowns and g's May read it! Queen Mary III iv 36 the g, Gardener, and huntsman, in the parson's place, „ IV iii 372
Groom (bridegroom) (See also Bridegroom) there is one Death stands behind the G, „ V ii 166
Groove Moved in the iron g's of Destiny? Prom. of May II 267
Gross invade their hive Too g to be thrust out, Queen Mary III iii 55
Who so bolster'd up The g King's headship of the Church, „ III iv 246 your Priests G, worldly, simoniacal, unlearn'd! Harold I i 162
Grossness Delight to wallow in the g of it, Becket II ii 343 Ground We but seek Some settled g for peace Queen Mary I v 315 as the heathen giant Had but to touch the g, „ III ii 44 bit his shield, and dash'd it on the g, Harold V i 406 tho' the fire should run along the g, Prom. of May I 704
Not while the swallow skims along the g, Foresters I ii 314
Group Many such g's. Queen Mary II ii 93
Grove Oh look,—yon g upon the mountain, The Cup I ii 394
Grovel He g's to the Church when he's black-blooded, Becket IV ii 436
Grow I shall g into it—I shall be the Tower. Queen Mary II iv 105
Daisies g again, Kingcups blow again, „ III v 89
Perhaps our vines will g the better for it. Harold I i 68
If e'er the Norman g too hard for thee, „ III i 12 old men must die, or the world would g mouldy, Becket, Pro. 409
If I sit, I g fat. „ Pro. 414
How the boy g's! „ II i 217
—her main law Whereby she g's in beauty— Prom. of May I 283
So the child g to manhood: „ II 289
What rightful cause could g to such a heat Foresters II i 698 Growing G dark too—but light enough to row. The Cup II 523
I have heard that 'your Lordship,' and 'your Ladyship,' and 'your Grace' are all g old-fashioned! Prom. of May III 318
He hath been hurt, was g whole again, Foresters IV 451
Grown Why, she's g bloodier! Queen Mary III i 416
How doubly aged this Queen of ours hath g „ V i 228 all the faiths Of this g world of ours, Harold III ii 65 were he living And g to man and Sinnatus will'd it, The Cup I ii 151 Growth did not wholly clear The deadly g's of earth, Becket II ii 203
Grudge tho' I g the pretty jewel, that I Have worn, Prom. of May I 473
Grunting These beastly swine make such a g here, Queen Mary I iii 12 Guard (s) I trust the Queen comes hither with her g's. „ II ii 2
I must set The g at Ludgate. „ II ii 409
I saw Lord William Howard By torchlight, and his g; „ II iii 30
At the park gate he hovers with our g's. „ II iv 16
These Kentish ploughmen cannot break the g's. „ II iv 18 broken thro' the g's And gone to Ludgate. „ II iv 20
The g's are all driven in, skulk into corners „ II iv 54
A gracious g Truly; shame on them! „ II iv 57
And tear you piecemeal: so you have a g. „ IV ii 37
There are Hot Gospellers even among our g's— „ V v 103
When being forced aloof from all my g, Harold IV iii 16 fought men Like Harold and his brethren, and his g Of English. „ V ii 180
I have my g about me. The Cup I iii 14
Guard (verb) men-at-arms G my poor dreams for England. Queen Mary I v 154
To g and keep you whole and safe „ II ii 246
The lion needs but roar to g his young; „ III v 123 not the living rock Which g's the land. Harold I ii 121 voice of any people is the sword That g's them, „ II ii 136 to g the land for which He did forswear himself— „ V ii 161
To g this bird of passage to her cage; Becket I i 329 my men will g you to the gates. „ I i 402
G from the stroke that dooms thee after death „ IV ii 270 high Heaven g thee from his wantonness, Foresters I ii 121
And there be men-at-arms to g her. „ I ii 158
Guarded The men that g England to the South Harold IV iii 209
Guardsman Our g hath but toil'd his hand and foot, „ V i 200
Our guardsmen have slept well, since we came in? „ V i 207
Guernsey in G, I watch'd a woman burn; Queen Mary V iv 16
Guess G what they be. Edith. He cannot g who knows. Harold I ii 135
But on conditions. Canst thou g at them? „ II ii 343 might chance—perchance—To g their meaning. „ IV i 139
How should you g What manner of beast it is? The Cup I ii 370
if but to g what flowers Had made it; The Falcon 429
Guess'd You are more than g at as a heretic, Queen Mary III iv 93

Guest My lord, he is thy g. Harold II ii 24 by the splendour of God, no g of mine. „ II ii 26
To chain the free g to the banquet-board; „ II ii 193
Hath massacred the Thane that was his g, „ II ii 298
Ill news for g's, ha, Malet! „ II ii 302
Hast murder'd thine own g, the son of Orm, „ IV ii 37 what late g, As haggard as a fast of forty days, „ IV iii 175
That if they keep him longer as their g, Becket II i 92 seem at most Sweet g's, or foreign cousins, „ II i 135
Who is our g? Sinnatus. Strato he calls himself. The Cup I ii 47 a random g Who join'd me in the hunt. „ I ii 108
They shall not harm My g within my house. „ I ii 327
My g's and friends, Sir Richard, Foresters I ii 77
Are all our g's here? „ IV 993
Guide (s) and God will be our g. Becket IV ii 105 Poor blind Father's little g, Milly, Prom. of May III 232 give us g's To lead us thro' the windings of the wood. Foresters II i 633 Guide (verb) stay Yet for awhile, to shape and g the event. Queen Mary V i 303
When I should g the Church in peace at home, „ V ii 67
Two young lovers in winter weather, None to g them, Harold III ii 4
'Love, I will g thee.' „ III ii 16
How should this old lamester g us? Foresters II i 370 myself Would g you thro' the forest to the sea. „ II i 638 Guild She will address your g's and companies. Queen Mary II ii 15 and these our companies And g's of London, „ II ii 129
I, Lord Mayor Of London, and our g's and companies. „ II ii 141
Three voices from our g's and companies! „ II ii 255
With all your trades, and g's, and companies. „ II ii 297
Guildford Dudley Spared you the Duke of Suffolk, G D, „ I v 489
Till G D and the Duke of Suffolk, „ II iv 137
Guilt To absolve thee from thy g of heresy. „ III ii 53
Guiltier for he Who vows a vow to strangle his own mother Is g keeping this, Harold III i 231
Guiltless My Courts of Love would have held thee g of love— Becket, Pro. 499 Guilty Lest thou be sideways g of the violence. Harold I i 458
'Tis not the King who is g of mine exile, But Rome, Becket II ii 414
Not g of ourselves—thy doom and mine— The Cup II 490 making us feel g Of her own faults. Prom. of May II 269 Guisnes in G Are scarce two hundred men, Queen Mary V i 4
G is not taken yet? (repeat) „ V ii 276
Calais gone—G gone, too—and Philip gone! „ V v 22
Gulf (s) you would fling your lives into the g. „ III i 459 in the g Of never-dawning darkness? Prom. of May I 541
Gulf (verb) let earth rive, g in These cursed Normans— Harold II ii 782
And g and flatten in her closing chasm The Cup II 300
Gulpt I have g it down. Queen Mary III iv 377 Gun to take the g's From out the vessels „ II i 221 four g's gaped at me, Black, silent mouths: „ II iii 30 that carries sail and g Steer towards Calais. „ V ii 275 Gurgoyle fatter game for you Than this old gaping g: „ I iii 81
Gurth (Earl of East Anglia) So says old G, not I: Harold I i 302 as well with mine earldom, Leofwin's and G's. „ I i 338 Even old G would fight. „ I i 436 much ado To hold mine own against old G. Old G, „ I i 438
Be thou not stupid-honest, brother G! „ III i 123
Harold, G, where am I? „ III i 193
Sign it, my good son Harold, G, and Leofwin, „ III i 199
The voice of G! Good even, my good brother! „ III ii 115
Good even, G. „ III ii 119
Edwin, my friend—Thou lingerest.—G,— „ IV i 258
G, Leofwin, Morcar, Edwin! „ IV iii 220
Thanks, G! The simple, silent, selfless man „ V i 80
G, when I past by Waltham, „ V i 96
Noble G! Best son of Godwin! „ V i 134
G, Leofwin, go once more about the hill— „ V i 182 our good G hath smitten him to the death. „ V i 502
G hath leapt upon him And slain him: „ V i 632 dashes it on G, and G, Our noble G, is down! „ V i 640
—brave G, one gash from brow to knee! „ V ii 70
Gush midriff-shaken even to tears, as springs g out after earthquakes— Becket III iii 163
Gust mere with sudden wreckful g's From a side-gorge. Harold III i 51
Blown everyway with every g and wreck On any rock; Prom. of May III 536
Gutter Your houses fired—your g's bubbling blood— Queen Mary II ii 280
Gutter (continued) if the fetid g had a voice And cried I was not clean, Queen Mary V ii 322
I raised him from the puddle of the g, Becket I iii 437
Guy Run thou to Count G; he is hard at hand. Harold II i 55
G, Count of Ponthieu? „ II i 81 where our friend G Had wrung his ransom from him „ II ii 37 Translating his captivity from G To mine own hearth at Bayeux, „ II ii 42
Before he fell into the snare of G; „ V ii 131
Gwo (go) says the Bishop, says he, 'we'll g to dinner;' Queen Mary IV iii 513
Queen Mary g'es on a-burnin' and a-burnin', „ IV iii 523

H

H See here—an interwoven H and E! Harold I ii 57
Haäcre (acre) feller couldn't find a Mister in his mouth fur me, as farms five hoonderd h. Prom. of May I 304
Haäfe (half) and h th' parish 'll be theer, „ I 10
Ay, h an hour ago. She be in theer now. „ I 14 fur him as be handy wi' a book bean't but h a hand at a pitchfork. „ I 188
What feller wur it as 'a' been a-talkin' fur h an hour wi' my Dora? „ II 576 niver 'a been talkin' h an hour wi' the divil 'at killed her oän sister, „ II 603
'at I ha' nobbut larned mysen h on it. „ III 4 for I warrants that ye goäs By h a scoor o' naämes— „ III 729
Haäle (hale) tha looks h anew to last to a hoonderd. „ I 354
H! why shouldn't I be h? „ I 357
Why shouldn't I be h? „ I 364
But, Steer, thaw thou be h anew „ I 384
Haäte (hate) and I h's the very sight on him. „ I 154
Noä, but I h's 'im. „ I 217
An' I h's boöoks an' all, fur they puts foälk off the owd waäys. „ I 221
Yeas; but I h's 'im. „ I 312 fur I h's 'im afoor I knaws what 'e be. „ II 584
Haäy (hay) And you an' your Sally was forkin' the h, „ II 182
When me an' my Sally was forkin' the h, „ II 193
Haäycock (haycock) thou and me a-bussin' o' one another, t'other side o' the h, „ II 232
Haäyfield (hayfield) He coom'd up to me yisterdaäy i' the h, „ II 151
he wur rude to me i' tha h, „ II 219
Habit to cast All threadbare household h, Foresters I iii 112
Hack Into one sword to h at Spain and me. Queen Mary V i 138
I'll h my way to the sea. Harold II ii 312 Must I h her arms off! How shall I part them? „ V ii 146 before you can eat it you must h it with a hatchet, as you would h at Robin Hood if you could light upon him. Foresters II i 284
Hack'd Crush'd, h at, trampled underfoot. „ II i 286
Hacking I remember, Scarlet h down A hollow ash, The Falcon 640
Hades that Lucullus or Apicius might have sniffed it in their H of heathenism, Foresters II ii 95
Hag Except this old h have been bribed to lie. Robin. Becket III iii 118
We old h's should be bribed to speak truth, Foresters II i 234
Old h, how should thy one tooth drill thro' this? „ II i 275
And, old h tho' I be, I can spell the hand. „ II i 350
Haggard guest, As h as a fast of forty days, Harold IV iii 176 that world-hated and world-hating beast, A h Anabaptist. Queen Mary II ii 92
Haggardness Stare in upon me in my h; „ V v 177
Hail 'H, Daughter of God, and saver of the faith. „ III ii 81
H, Gamel, Son of Orm! Harold I i 91
H! Harold! Aldwyth! h, bridegroom and bride! „ IV iii 1
H! Harold, Aldwyth! Bridegroom and bride! „ IV iii 42 till her voice Die with the world. H—h! „ IV iii 76
H to the living who fought, the dead who fell! Voices. H, h! „ IV iii 105
H, King! Synorix. H, Queen! The Cup II 219
H, knight, and help us. Foresters IV 764

Hail'd As we past, Some h, some hiss'd us. Queen Mary II ii 61
Hair (See also 'Air) her red h all blown back, She shrilling „ II ii 70 as red as she In h and cheek ; „ II ii 76
The common barber clipt your h, „ IV ii 131
No h is harm'd. „ V i 161 and held up by the h ? „ V ii 22
Let me first put up your h ; „ V ii 232
Philip ! quick ! loop up my h ! „ V ii 535
Your Philip hath gold h and golden beard ; There must be ladies many with h like mine. Feria. Some few of Gothic blood have golden h, „ V iii 56
Heard, heard— Harold. The wind in his h ? Harold III i 371 and a blessed h Of Peter, and all France, „ III ii 148
Holy Father strangled him with a h Of Peter, „ V ii 46
I ask'd A ribbon from her h to bind it with ; The Falcon 359 a bat flew out at him In the clear noon, and hook'd him by the h, Foresters II ii 98
Hair'd See Fair-hair'd
Hair's-breadth Mine eye most true to one h-b of aim. „ IV 694
Hale (robust) See Haäle
Hale (verb) stop the heretic's mouth ! H him away ! Queen Mary IV iii 283
H him hence ! Harold II i 108
Haled H thy shore-swallow'd, armour'd Normans „ II ii 57
Ye h this tonsured devil into your courts ; Becket I iii 387
Half (See also Haäfe) Flower, she ! H faded ! Queen Mary I iv 61
His buzzard beak and deep-incavern'd eyes H fright me. „ I iv 268 and the remission Of h that subsidy levied on the people, „ I v 115 which every now and then Beats me h dead : „ I v 525
The sire begets Not h his likeness in the son. „ II i 55
And the h sight which makes her look so stern, „ II ii 322
'tis not written H plain enough. „ II iii 66
Thine is a h voice and a lean assent. „ III i 311
Out crept a wasp, with h the swarm behind. „ III iii 49
one h Will flutter here, one there. „ III vi 196 Till I myself was h ashamed for him. „ IV ii 171 myself H beast and fool as appertaining to it ; „ IV iii 415
There's h an angel wrong'd in your account ; „ V iii 1
I say not this, as being H Norman-blooded, Harold I i 169
That marriage was h sin. „ I ii 53
I see the goal and h the way to it.— „ I ii 196
And yon huge keep that hinders h the heaven. „ II ii 228
Better leave undone Than do by halves— „ II ii 496 Thou art h English. Take them away ! „ V ii 135 an' I be h dog already by this token, Becket I iv 218 I'll go back again. I hain't h done yet. „ I iv 259 or foreign cousins, not h speaking The language of the land. „ II i 135
Not h her hand—no hand to mate with her, „ II i 189
But the King hath bought h the College of Redhats. „ II ii 374
Trodden one h dead ; one h, but half-alive, „ V i 63
He loses h the meed of martyrdom Who will be martyr when he might escape. „ V ii 278
Hugh, I know well thou hast but h a heart „ V iii 129
They are thronging in to vespers—h the town. „ V iii 139
One h besotted in religious rites. The Cup I i 74 close not yet the door upon a night That looks h day. „ I ii 389
If I be not back in h an hour, Come after me. „ I ii 438
How many of you are there ? Publius. Some h a score. „ I iii 13
The camp is h a league without the city ; „ I iii 89
Beside this temple h a year ago ? „ II 393
H a breakfast for a rat ! The Falcon 123
H a tit and a hern's bill. „ 131
Have we not h a score of silver spoons ? Filippo. H o' one, my lord ! Count. How h of one ? „ 405
H an hour late ! why are you loitering here ? Prom. of May II 324
I am h afraid to pass. „ II 328
H a score of them, all directed to me— „ II 721 could it look But h as lovely. „ III 491 they have trodden it for h a thousand years, Foresters I i 333 and he hath seized On h the royal castles. „ I iii 83 Half (continued) I have paid him h. That other thousand— Foresters I i 465
I trust H truths, good friar : „ IV 950
Some hunter in day-dreams or h asleep. „ IV 1088
Halfabitical (alphabetical) H ! Taäke one o' the young 'uns fust, Prom. of May III 31
Half-afraid Still I am h-a to meet her now. „ I 488
Half-Alfgar thence a king may rise Half-Godwin and h-A, Harold IV i 144
Half-alive one half, but h-a, Cries to the King. Becket V i 64
Half-born I must—I will !—Crush it h-b ! Harold I i 359
Half-dozen for I've been on my knees every day for these h-d years The Falcon 185
Half-drown'd my faith would seem Dead or h-d, Queen Mary IV ii 98
Half-Godwin thence a king may rise H-G and half-Alfgar, Harold IV i 144
Half-hanged he hath h-h himself in the rope of the Church, Becket III iii 75
Half-rag h-r, half-sore—beggars, poor rogues „ I iv 81
Half-ruin'd The house h-r ere the lease be out ; Queen Mary V ii 66
Half-shamed I seem h-a at times to be so tall. „ V ii 423
Half-sore half-rag, h-s—beggars, poor rogues Becket I iv 82 Half-Spanish Hard-natured Queen, h-S in herself, Queen Mary IV iii 424
Half-waked world as yet, my friend, Is not h-w ; „ II i 228
Half-way I am h-w down the slope—will no man stay me ? Becket II ii 148
Those sweet tree-Cupids h-w up in heaven, Foresters III 35
Half-witted H-w and a witch to boot ! „ II i 375
But sickly, slight, h-w and a child, Harold II ii 571
Halidome By my h I felt him at my leg still. Foresters IV 627
Hall (See also Dining-hall) Far liefer had I in my country h Queen Mary III i 43
Is this a place To wail in, Madam, what ! a public h. „ V i 213 foes in Edward's h To league against thy weal. Harold I ii 32
And Tostig in his own h on suspicion „ II ii 295
At banquet in this h, and hearing me— „ IV iii 93
I held it with him in his English h's, „ V ii 128
The veriest Galahad of old Arthur's h. Becket, Pro. 129
In mine own h, and sucking thro' fools' ears „ I iii 360 trumpets in the h's, Sobs, laughter, cries : „ V ii 367
Philip Edgar of Toft H in Somerset. Prom. of May II 438
One Philip Edgar of Toft H in Somerset Is lately dead. „ II 445
I have been telling her of the death of one Philip Edgar of Toft H, Somerset. „ II 706
' O' the 17th, Philip Edgar, o' Toft H, Soomerset.' „ II 712 last time When I shall hold my birthday in this h : Foresters I ii 90 sat Among my thralls in my baronial h „ II i 61
Hall (all) ye'll think more on 'is little finger than h my hand at the haltar. Prom. of May I 112
Hall-door Shut the h-d's. Becket V ii 532 Hallus (always) Foälks doesn't h knaw thessens ; Prom. of May I 28
h a-fobbing ma off, tho' ye knaws I love ye. „ I 107 thaw 'e knaws I was h ageän heving schoolmaster i' the parish ! „ I 186
h hup at sunrise, and I'd drive the plow straäit as a line „ I 368
H about the premises ! „ I 434
but I h gi'ed soom on 'em to Miss Eva at this time o' year. „ II 15
But h ud stop at the Vine-an'-the-Hop, „ II 311 and I wur h scaäred by a big word ; „ III 33
Ye sees the holler laäne be h sa dark i' the arternoon, „ III 93 Halt That business which we have in Nottingham—— Little John. H ! Foresters III 231
Church and Law, h and pay toll ! „ IV 429
Haltar (altar) ye'll think more on 'is little finger than hall my hand at the h. Prom. of May I 113
Haman will hang as high As H. Foresters IV 752
Hammer (s) Anvil on h bang— Harold IV iii 161
H on anvil, h on anvil. „ IV iii 162 set the Church This day between the h and the anvil— Becket I iii 585
Hampton Court In H C My window look'd upon the corridor ; Queen Mary V ii 458 Hand (s) (See also Left-hand) took her h, call'd her sweet sister, „ I i 80
h, Damp with the sweat of death, „ I ii 32

Hand (s) (continued) I love you, Lay my life in your h's. Queen Mary I iv 105
I left her with rich jewels in her h, „ I iv 242
Mary of England, joining h's with Spain, „ I v 298 a formal offer of the h Of Philip ? „ I v 349
For Philip comes, one h in mine, „ I v 515
The formal offer of Prince Philip's h. „ I v 588 counts on you And on myself as her two h's ; „ II ii 105
And arm and strike as with one h, „ II ii 292
I feel most goodly heart and h, „ II ii 352
His in whose h she drops ; „ III i 112
I cannot lift my h's unto my head. „ III i 240
See there be others that can use their h's. „ III i 243
She had no desire for that, and wrung her h's, „ III i 385 with her poor blind h's feeling—' where is it ? „ III i 407 which God's h Wrote on her conscience, „ III i 421 where you gave your h To this great Catholic King. „ III ii 91
From stirring h or foot to wrong the realm. „ III iii 60
The sword Is in her Grace's h to smite with. „ III iv 90
What, if a mad dog bit your h, my Lord, „ III iv 205
Their hour is hard at h, „ III iv 426 with my h's Milking the cow ? (repeat) Queen Mary III v 87, 94, 101
Rose h in h, and whisper'd, ' come away ! Queen Mary III v 148
By seeking justice at a stranger's h „ IV i 20
To reach the h of mercy to my friend. „ IV i 65
By mine own self—by mine own h ! O thin-skinn'd h and jutting veins, „ IV ii 203 papers by my h Sign'd since my degradation—by this h „ IV iii 243 since my h offended, having written Against my heart, my h shall first be burnt, So I may come to the fire. „ IV iii 247 gather'd with his h's the starting flame, And wash'd his h's and all his face therein, „ IV iii 336
Gardiner wur struck down like by the h o' God „ IV iii 516
I could see that many silent h's Came from the crowd „ IV iii 582
Then Cranmer lifted his left h to heaven, „ IV iii 608
' This hath offended—this unworthy h ! ' „ IV iii 614
they clapt their h's Upon their swords when ask'd ; „ V i 173
The h's that write them should be burnt clean off „ V ii 190
And, like a thief, push'd in his royal h ; „ V ii 467
How her h burns ! (repeat) „ V ii 552, 616 your h Will be much coveted ! What a delicate one ! „ V iii 43
King in armour there, his h Upon his helmet. „ V v 30
there is the right h still Beckons me hence. „ V v 137
To sleek and supple himself to the king's h. Harold I i 150
Our Tostig loves the h and not the man. „ I i 156 to turn and bite the h Would help thee „ I i 382
Join h's, let brethren dwell in unity ; „ I i 397
I have but bark'd my h's. „ II i 5
Run thou to Count Guy ; he is hard at h. „ II i 55 let fly the bird within the h, „ II ii 66
Thou hast but seen how Norman h's can strike, „ II ii 171 have thy conscience White as a maiden's h, „ II ii 284
He tore their eyes out, sliced their h's away, „ II ii 389 while thy h's Are palsied here, „ II ii 454
God and the sea have given thee to our h's— „ II ii 549
And grateful to the h that shielded him, „ II ii 586
Lay thou thy h upon this golden pall ! „ II ii 699 but take back thy ring. It burns my h— „ III ii 186 that reach'd a h Down to the field beneath it, „ IV i 44 Somewhere hard at h. Call and she comes. „ IV i 185 join our h's before the hosts, That all may see. „ IV i 241 these poor h's but sew, Spin, broider— „ IV iii 9
I saw the h of Tostig cover it. „ IV iii 81
Cannot h's which had the strength To shove „ IV iii 136
And be thy h as winter on the field, „ V i 132
Our guardsman hath but toil'd his h and foot, I h, foot, „ V i 201
Fain had I kept thine earldom in thy h's „ V i 276
I have had it fashion'd, see, to melt my h. „ V i 423
Stigand, With h's too limp to brandish iron— „ V i 449 wicked sister clapt her h's and laugh'd ; „ V ii 48
we should have a h To grasp the world with, „ V ii 191

Hand (s) (continued) be facile to my h's. Now is my time. Becket, Pro. 219
Thou hast but to hold out thy h. „ Pro. 412
He sued my h. I shook at him. „ I i 273
May the h that next Inherits thee be but as true „ I i 357
Hath often laid a cold h on my heats, „ I i 384
Church must play into the h's of kings ; „ I ii 68
Shall h's that do create the Lord be bound „ I iii 94 lay My crozier in the Holy Father's h's, „ I iii 125
For, like a son, I lift my h's to thee. „ I iii 264
He sat down there And dropt it in his h's, „ I iii 324 wouldst deliver Canterbury To our King's h's again, „ I iii 581
Which came into thy h's when Chancellor. „ I iii 653
Cornwall's h or Leicester's : they write marvellously alike. „ I iv 51
if thou hast not laid h's upon me ! „ I iv 212 let the h of one To whom thy voice is all her music, „ II i 176 happy boldness of this h hath won it Love's alms, „ II i 182
Not half her h—no h to mate with her, „ II i 189 Life on the h is naked gipsy-stuff ; „ II i 193 to stay his h Before he flash'd the bolt. „ II i 274
I here deliver all this controversy Into your royal h's. „ II ii 137
primm'd her mouth and put Her h's together— „ III i 76
Give me thy h. My Lords of France and England, „ III iii 226
I might deliver all things to thy h— „ III iii 270 bosom never Heaved under the King's h „ IV ii 189
My lord, we know you proud of your fine h, „ IV ii 261 so still I reach'd my h and touch'd ; „ V ii 235
I cannot bear a h upon my person, „ V iii 20
At the right h of Power— „ V iii 193
Into Thy h's, O Lord—into Thy h's !— „ V iii 196
There is my h—if such a league there be. The Cup I ii 103
For I have always play'd into their h's, „ I iii 150
More than once You have refused his h. „ II 43 clasp a h Red with the sacred blood of Sinnatus ? „ II 83
So shook within my h, that the red wine Ran down „ II 202
See here—I stretch my h out—hold it there. „ II 210 and my h's are too sleepy To lift it off. „ II 530
Shame on her that she took it at thy h's, The Falcon 61
The pleasure of his eyes—boast of his h— „ 222 who could trace a h So wild and staggering ? „ 438 having his right h Lamed in the battle, „ 444
He gave me his h : „ 836
ye'll think more on 'is little finger than hall my h at the haltar. Prom. of May I 112 fur him as be handy wi' a book bean't but haäfe a h at a pitchfork. „ I 188 he's walking to us, and with a book in his h. „ I 220 storm is hard at h will sweep away Thrones, „ I 517
Come, give me your h and kiss me „ I 564
Owd Steer's gotten all his grass down and wants a h, „ II 222
From the farm Here, close at h. „ II 361 what full h's, may be Waiting you in the distance ? „ II 510
But give me first your h : „ II 525
She gave her h, unask'd, at the farm-gate ; „ II 625 should walk h in h together down this valley of tears, „ III 191
The lady gave her h to the Earl, The maid her h to the man. (repeat) Foresters I i 16, 92
That is no true man's h. I hate hidden faces. „ I ii 245
A finger of that h which should be mine „ I ii 299 and warm h's close with warm h's, „ I iii 20
Your h's, your h's ! „ I iii 127
Your h's again. „ I iii 164 old hag tho' I be, I can spell the h. „ II i 351
And capering h in h with Oberon. „ II i 498 fell'st into the h's Of these same Moors „ II i 563
What sparkles in the moonlight on thy h ? „ II i 583
O hold thy h ! this is our Marian. „ II ii 36
call Kate when you will, for I am close at h. „ III 51
bulrush now in this right h For sceptre, „ III 76 all that live By their own h's, the labourer, the poor priest ; „ III 165
if ever A Norman damsel fell into our h's, „ III 181

Hand (s) (continued) we have fallen into the h's Of Robin Hood. (repeat) Foresters III 233, 298
Give me thy h on that? Marian. Take it. „ IV 66
Give me thy h, Much; I love thee. At him, Scarlet! „ IV 309
My h is firm, Mine eye most true to one hair's-breadth of aim. „ IV 693
Our rebel Abbot then shall join your h's, „ IV 934
Give me that h which fought for Richard there. „ IV 1029

Hand (verb) H me the casket with my father's sonnets. Queen Mary II i 43
H it me, then! I thank you. „ IV ii 44
King would act servitor and h a dish to his son; Becket III iii 139
Might not your courtesy stoop to h it me? „ IV ii 296

Handed See Two-handed

Handedness See Left-handedness, Under-handedness

Hand-in-hand (See also Hand) Is strength less strong when h-i-h with grace? Becket V ii 540

Handle In all that h's matter of the state Harold I i 412 h all womankind gently, and hold them in all honour, Foresters I i 99
„ IV 102

Handled They shall be h with all courteousness. The Falcon 197

Handsome and he so h—and bless your sweet face,

Handy fur him as be h wi' a book bean't but haäfe a hand at a pitchfork. Prom. of May I 187

Hang All h's on her address, And upon you, Lord Mayor. Queen Mary II ii 54
Gentleman? a thief! Go h him. „ II iii 76
H him, I say. „ II iii 80
He has gambled for his life, and lost, he h's. „ II iii 92 may but h On the chance mention of some fool „ III v 42
After a riot We h the leaders, „ IV i 74
H's all my past, and all my life to be, „ IV iii 219
A man may h gold bracelets on a bush, Harold II i 87 they should h Cliff-gibbeted for sea-marks; „ II i 96
Were there no boughs to h on, Rivers to drown in? The Cup I ii 78
Must all Galatia h or drown herself? „ I ii 87
I am like to h myself on the hooks. The Falcon 121 while our Robin's life H's by a thread, Foresters IV 385
You will all of you h. „ IV 580
Let us h, so thou dance meanwhile; „ IV 581 we will h thee, prince or no prince, sheriff or no sheriff. „ IV 583 twist it round thy neck and h thee by it. „ IV 688 will h as high As Haman. „ IV 750

Hang'd (See also Half-hanged) A hundred here and hundreds h in Kent. Queen Mary III i 2
There were not many h for Wyatt's rising. „ V ii 8
I hope they whipt him. I would have h him. Becket, Pro. 16 ye but degraded him Where I had h him. „ I iii 392
H at mid-day, their traitor of the dawn The Cup II 123 thaw they h ma at 'Size fur it. Prom. of May II 697

Hanging (See also A-lolluping) h down from this The Golden Fleece— Queen Mary III i 80

Hapless H doom of woman happy in betrothing! „ V ii 364
Our h brother, Tostig—He, and the giant King of Norway, Harold III ii 121
O h Harold! King but for an hour! „ V i 257

Happen See 'Appen

Happen'd ever have h thro' the want Of any or all of them. Prom. of May III 546

Happier it would seem this people Care more for our brief life in their wet land, Than yours in h Spain. Queen Mary III vi 64
H he than I. „ V ii 520 upon thine eyelids, to shut in A h dream. Harold I ii 127 and pray in thy behalf For h homeward winds „ II ii 198 the living Who fought and would have died, but h lived, if h be to live; „ IV iii 72
Whispering 'it will be h,' and old faces Press round us, Foresters I iii 18
I should be h for it all the year. „ II i 163
Thou art h than thy king. Put him in chains. „ IV 837

Happiest but after that Might not St. Andrew's be her h day? Queen Mary III ii 123
Sit down here: Tell me thine h hour. „ V v 79

Happiest (continued) being King And happy! h, Lady, in my power To make you happy. The Cup II 239

Happily Ay, Madam, h. Mary. Happier he than I. Queen Mary V ii 519

Happiness Well, Madam, this new h of mine? „ III ii 208 we were not made One flesh in h, no h here; „ V ii 150
What is the strange thing h? „ V v 78
My liege, your will and h are mine. Becket III iii 43
I would that h were gold, that I The Cup II 223
If marriage ever brought a woman h Prom. of May III 639
But lack of h in a blatant wife. Foresters I iii 132

Happy (See also 'Appy) Well, sir, I look for h times, Queen Mary I i 99
A h morning to your Majesty. Mary. And I should some time have a h morning; „ I v 243
You are h in him there, „ I v 454
I am h in him there. Renard. And would be altogether h, Madam, „ I v 457
Be h, I am your friend. „ II iii 123
Seem'd as a h miracle to make glide— „ III ii 29
No, cousin, h—H to see you; never yet so h „ III ii 86
True, cousin, I am h. „ III ii 113
Good news have I to tell you, news to make Both of us h— „ III ii 188 by and by Both h! „ III v 157 your Grace, your Grace, I feel so h: „ III v 250
My life is not so h, no such boon, „ IV i 130 ever looking to the h haven Where he shall rest at night, „ IV iii 579 Hapless doom of woman h in betrothing! „ V ii 364 gorgeous Indian shawl That Philip brought me in our h days!— „ V ii 540 it was hoped Your Highness was once more in h state „ V ii 571
I am h you approve it. „ V iii 63
Dead or alive you cannot make him h. „ V v 71
I trust that God will make you h yet. „ V v 76 and babble all the way As if itself were h. „ V v 87
Ah, those days Were h. „ V v 240
A h one—whereby we came to know Thy valour Harold II ii 201
Ay, and perchance a h one for thee, „ II ii 203
Ay, that h day! A birthday welcome! h days and many! „ V i 430
I have found him, I am h. „ V ii 81
And Harold was most h. „ V ii 134 thou wast not h taking charge Of this wild Rosamund Becket I i 391 Nor am I h having charge of her— „ I i 394
at her side, Among these h dales, „ II i 157
The h boldness of this hand hath won it Love's alms, „ II i 182 and known Nothing but him—h to know no more, „ III i 224
So many h hours alone together, „ III iii 39 but God and his free wind grant your lordship a h home-return „ III iii 327
I am not so h I could not die myself, „ IV ii 87 Fair Sir, a h day to you! The Cup I i 188 our hearts, our prophet hopes Let in the h distance, „ I ii 414
I would be H, and make all others h so „ I iii 29 speak I now too mightily, being King And h! happiest, Lady, in my power To make you h. „ II 239 make me h in my marriage! „ II 274
Drink and drink deep, and thou wilt make me h. „ II 383
Thou hast drunk deep enough to make me h. „ II 425
This all too h day, crown—queen at once. „ II 451
h was the prodigal son, For he return'd The Falcon 140 and tell her all about it and make her h? „ 183 made more h than I hoped Ever to be again. „ 769
And I am h! Giovanna. And I too, Federigo. „ 927
Many h returns of the day, father. Prom. of May I 350
I am sure I wish her h. „ I 479 that should make you h, if you love her! „ I 547 all the world is beautiful If we were h, „ I 578
As h as the bees there at their honey „ I 606
I have been in trouble, but I am h—I think, quite h now. „ I 788 and make them h in the long barn, „ I 791
'O h lark, that warblest high Above thy lowly nest, „ III 199
He said we had been most h together, „ III 327
I doubt not I can make you h. Dora. You make me H already. „ III 641

Happy (continued) Make her h, then, and I forgive you. Dora. H ! Prom. of May III 666
So h in herself and in her home— „ III 756
As h as any of those that went before. Foresters I ii 129
—my ring—I am h—should be h. „ I iii 2 Sleep, h soul ! all life will sleep at last. „ I iii 48
Both be h, and adieu for ever and for evermore— „ II ii 196
Shall I be h ? H vision, stay. „ II ii 199
Could live as h as the larks in heaven, „ III 82
We leave but h memories to the forest. „ IV 1070
I am most h—Art thou not mine ?—and h that our King „ IV 1096
Harass'd Why am I follow'd, haunted, h, watch'd ? Harold II ii 248
Harbour At last a h opens ; but therein Sunk rocks— Queen Mary V v 213
Harbour (arbour) Didn't I spy 'em a-sitting i' the woodbine h togither ? Prom. of May I 125
Hard (See also Stone-hard) That's a h word, legitimate ; what does it mean ? Queen Mary I i 11
My h father hated me ; „ I v 80
And that were h upon you, my Lord Chancellor. „ I v 158
And those h men brake into woman-tears, „ I v 564
the provinces Are h to rule and must be hardly ruled ; „ III ii 201
You are h to please. „ III iv 154
Their hour is h at hand, their ' dies Iræ,' „ III iv 426
H upon both. „ III v 18
This h coarse man of old hath crouch'd to me „ IV ii 169
May God help you Thro' that h hour ! „ IV ii 196
' How h it is For the rich man to enter into Heaven ; ' Let all rich men remember that h word. „ IV iii 203 and awaay betimes wi' dree h eggs for a good pleace at the burnin' ; „ IV iii 489 and therefore God Is h upon the people. „ V i 176 strike h and deep into The prey they are rending from her— „ V ii 267 Look'd h and sweet at me, and gave it me. „ V v 95
Tostig says true ; my son, thou art too h, Harold I i 206
The boy would fist me h, and when we fought I conquer'd, „ I i 444 Run thou to Count Guy ; he is h at hand. „ II i 55 would make the h earth rive To the very Devil's horns, „ II ii 739
If e'er the Norman grow too h for thee, „ III i 12 a war-crash, and so h, So loud, that, by St. Dunstan, old St. Thor— „ IV iii 145 Harsh is the news ! h is our honeymoon ! „ IV iii 229
Take it and wear it on that h heart of yours—there. Becket, Pro. 373
On this left breast before so h a heart, „ Pro. 376
Nay, if I took and translated that h heart into our Provençal facilities, „ Pro. 380
Make it so h to save a moth from the fire ? „ I i 283
What doth h murder care For degradation ? „ I iii 393
Would God they had torn up all By the h root, „ II ii 209
To assail our Holy Mother lest she brood Too long o'er this h egg, „ V ii 253 it is thou Hath set me this h task, The Falcon 237
It will be h, I fear, To find one shock upon the field „ 300
She smiles at him—how h the woman is ! „ 661
My brother ! my h brother ! „ 895
The storm is h at hand will sweep away Thrones, Prom. of May I 517
I fear this Abbot is a heart of flint, H as the stones of his abbey. Foresters I ii 270
Our cellar is h by. Take him, good Little John, and give him wine. „ II i 468
Art thou not h upon them, my good Robin ? „ III 221
I should be h beset with thy fourscore. „ IV 179
Harder might be h upon thee, if met in a black lane „ III 223
Hardest The h, cruellest people in the world, Queen Mary II i 100
Hard-grain'd And grafted on the h-g stock of Spain— „ IV iii 426
Hard-hearted Out upon all h-h maidenhood ! Foresters IV 50
Hard-natured H-n Queen, half-Spanish in herself, Queen Mary IV iii 424
Hardness spare us the h of your facility ? Becket, Pro. 386
Father, I am so tender to all h ! „ I i 316
Hardrada (King of Norway) (See also Harold) the giant King of Norway, Harold H— Harold III ii 123
Hardrada (King of Norway) (continued) little help without our Saxon carles Against H. Harold IV i 36 striking at H and his madmen I had wish'd „ IV iii 17
May all invaders perish like H ! „ IV iii 78
Hard Tillery (artillery) 'Listed for a soädger, Miss, i' the Queen's Real H T. Prom. of May III 109
Hardy Too h with thy king ! Harold I i 198
Hare As find a h's form in a lion's cave. Becket I iii 177
Venison, and wild boar, h, geese, Foresters IV 191
Harebell Bluebell, h, speedwell, bluebottle, Prom. of May I 97
Harem new term Brought from the sacred East, his h ? Foresters IV 705
Harfleur To-morrow we will ride with thee to H, Harold II ii 196
To-morrow will we ride with thee to H. „ II ii 648
To-morrow will I ride with thee to H. „ II ii 770
For when I rode with William down to H, „ III i 83
Hark H ! the trumpets. Queen Mary I i 64
H, there is battle at the palace gates, „ II iv 47
H, how those Roman wolfdogs howl and bay him ! „ IV iii 354
H ! Madam ! Eleanore. Ay, Becket III ii 14
H ! Is it they ? Coming ! „ V iii 15
The murderers, h ! Let us hide ! „ V iii 46
H ! Dora, some one is coming. Prom. of May III 339
Harken'd She hath h evil counsel— Queen Mary I v 54
Harlot She play the h ! never. „ III vi 136
They are so much holier than their h's son Harold V ii 11 kill with knife or venom One of his slanderous h's ? Becket IV ii 411 Harm (s) and thou canst not come to h. Queen Mary I iii 68 sharper h to England and to Rome, Than Calais taken. „ V ii 29
What h ? She hath but blood enough to live, Harold I ii 160
He meant no h nor damage to the Church. Becket I iii 216 and should h come of it, it is the Pope Will be to blame— „ I iii 220 or any h done to the people if my jest be in defence of the Truth ? „ II ii 339
I never meant you h in any way. „ IV ii 106
May work them grievous h at times, The Falcon 821
And what h will that do you, Prom. of May III 360
Harm (verb) If they dared To h you, I would blow this Philip Queen Mary I iv 290
In some such form as least may h your Grace. „ I v 225
That our commission is to heal, not h ; „ III iii 185
Than you would h your loving natural brother „ IV iii 189
H him not, h him not ! have him to the fire ! „ IV iii 284 scorn'd her too much To h her. Becket IV ii 394
God's full curse Shatter you all to pieces if ye h One of my flock ! „ V iii 135
They shall not h My guest within my house. The Cup I ii 326
It is but pastime—nay, I will not h thee. Foresters II i 554
Came stepping o'er him, so as not to h him— „ IV 538
Harm'd No hair is h. Queen Mary V i 161
the poor thunder Never h head. Harold I ii 233 Harming And bind him in from h of their combs. Queen Mary III iii 57 came and went before our day, Not h any : Harold I i 133
Harmony This burst and bass of loyal h, Queen Mary II ii 285
Harold (Earl of Wessex, afterwards King of England) (See also Harold the Saxon) H, I will not yield thee leave to go. Harold I i 256
Son H, I will in and pray for thee. „ I i 267
My wise head-shaking H ? „ I i 361
H always hated him. „ I i 429
How H used to beat him ! „ I i 432 lest the king Should yield his ward to H's will. „ I ii 159
When H goes and Tostig, shall I play The craftier Tostig with him ? „ I ii 163
If he found me thus, H might hate me ; „ I ii 172
H Hear the king's music, all alone with him, „ I ii 193
Peace-lover is our H for the sake Of England's „ I ii 197
A sacrifice to H, a peace-offering, „ I ii 203 thou assured By this, that H loves but Edith ? „ I ii 210 that I—That H loves me—yea, and presently That I and H are betroth'd—and last—Perchance that H wrongs me ; „ I ii 222
And when doth H go ? Morcar. To-morrow— „ I ii 237
H ? Earl of Wessex ! „ II i 82
Fly thou to William ; tell him we have H. „ II i 111 they are not like to league With H against me. „ II ii 54

Harold (Earl of Wessex, afterwards King of England) (continued) England our own Thro' H's help, Harold II ii 79 that these may act On H when they meet. „ II ii 92
I can but love this noble, honest H. „ II ii 95
Yea, lord H. „ II ii 243
Thou canst not, H; Our Duke is all between thee „ II ii 313
'This H is not of the royal blood, „ II ii 354
O speak him fair, H, for thine own sake. „ II ii 395
H, I do not counsel thee to lie. „ II ii 416
H, for my sake and for thine own! „ II ii 607
H, if thou love thine Edith, ay. „ II ii 622
H, I am thy friend, one life with thee, „ II ii 649
Am I H, H, son Of our great Godwin? „ II ii 791
Ask me for this at thy most need, son H, „ III i 15
Come, H, shake the cloud off! „ III i 73
Let H serve for Tostig! Queen. H served Tostig so ill, he cannot serve for Tostig! „ III i 159
H? Gurth, where am I? „ III i 193
Sign it, my good son H, Gurth, and Leofwin, „ III i 199
No, no, but H. I love him: „ III i 241 but their Saints Have heard thee, H. „ III i 254 Spare and forbear him, H, if he comes! „ III i 299
And let him pass unscathed; he loves me, H! „ III i 302 on thee remains the curse, H, if thou embrace her: „ III i 316 noble H, I would thou couldst have sworn. „ III i 325
It is H! H the King! Harold. Call me not King, but H. „ III ii 31
H, H! Harold. The voice of Gurth! „ III ii 114 can but pray For H—pray, pray, pray— „ III ii 195 but our help Is H, king of England. „ IV i 11 Hear King H! he says true! „ IV i 60
And Alfgar hates King H. „ IV i 125
Old man, H Hates nothing; „ IV i 128
Aldwyth, H, Aldwyth! „ IV i 132
Thine own meaning, H, To make all England one, „ IV i 140
H, H and Aldwyth! „ IV i 244
Forward! Forward! H and Holy Cross! „ IV i 269
O brother, brother, O H— „ IV ii 63
Conjured the mightier H from his North „ IV ii 68 Hail! H! Aldwyth! hail, bridegroom and bride! „ IV iii 1
Hail, H, Aldwyth! Bridegroom and bride! „ IV iii 42 answer which King H gave To his dead namesake, „ IV iii 109
'To thrust our H's throne from under him? „ IV iii 126
Thou hast lost thine even temper, brother H! „ V i 95
A lake that dips in William As well as H. „ V i 187
Son H, I thy King, who came before To tell thee „ V i 234
O hapless H! King but for an hour! „ V i 258
O H! husband! Shall we meet again? „ V i 360 England Is but her king, and thou art H! „ V i 376 thou art H, I am Edith! „ V i 392
H and Holy Cross! (repeat) Harold V i 439, 519, 662
I have a power—would H ask me for it— Harold V i 451
Power now from H to command thee hence „ V i 455
God save King H! „ V i 489
So perish all the enemies of H! „ V i 505
H and God Almighty! „ V i 526
Against the shifting blaze of H's axe! „ V i 587
Look out upon the hill—is H there? „ V i 670
O H, H—Our H—we shall never see him more. „ V ii 2
H slain?—I cannot find his body. „ V ii 18
I tell thee, girl, I am seeking my dead H. „ V ii 43
H? Oh no—nay, if it were—my God, „ V ii 74
And what body is this? Edith. H, thy better! „ V ii 88 with all his rooftree ringing 'H,' „ V ii 130
When all men counted H would be king, And H „ V ii 132 have I fought men Like H and his brethren, „ V ii 179

Harold (King of Norway) (See also Hardrada) the giant King of Norway, H Hardrada— „ III ii 123 as having been so bruised By H, king of Norway; „ IV i 10

Harold (Mr. Philip Edgar) (See also 'Arold, Edgar, Philip, Philip Edgar, Philip Harold, Philip Hedgar) That fine, fat, hook-nosed uncle of mine, old H, Prom. of May I 510
Not H! 'Philip Edgar, Philip Edgar!' „ II 240
Might I ask your name? Harold. H. „ II 394

Harold (Mr. Philip Edgar) (continued) Nay—now—not one, for I am Philip H. Prom. of May II 451
Dobbins, or some other, spy Edgar in H? Well then, I must make her Love H first, and then she will forgive Edgar for H's sake. „ II 675
Half a score of them, all directed to me—H. „ II 723
My name is H! Good day, Dobbins! „ II 726 an' whether thou calls thysen Hedgar or H, „ II 738 matched with my H is like a hedge thistle by a garden rose. „ III 175
And this lover of yours—this Mr. H—is a gentleman? „ III 281 your own name Of H sounds so English „ III 610
Master Hedgar, H, or whativer They calls ye, „ III 726

Harold the Saxon (Earl of Wessex, afterwards King of England) (See also Harold) have loved H t S, or Hereward the Wake. Foresters I i 228

Ha Rou H R! H R! (repeat) Harold V i 437, 528, 631, 650, 661, 664

Harp (s) his finger on her h (I heard him more than once) Harold IV i 204 gloom of Saul Was lighten'd by young David's h. Queen Mary V ii 359

Harp (verb) That he should h this way on Normandy? Harold I i 270

Harried Hath h mine own cattle—God confound him! „ IV iii 190

Harrowing See A-harrowin'

Harry (great ship) he look'd the Great H, You but his cockboat; Queen Mary V ii 146

Harry (Henry) Bolingbroke such a one As H B hath a lure in it. „ I iv 10
H o B Had holpen Richard's tottering throne to stand, Could H have foreseen that all our nobles „ III i 112

Harry (Henry the Eighth) (See also Henry) Mary, the lawful and legitimate daughter of H the Eighth! „ I i 9
Our sovereign Lady by King H's will; „ II ii 268
I am H's daughter, Tudor, and not Fear. „ II iv 52
But then what's here? King H with a scroll. „ III i 260
I am H's daughter: „ III v 116 then King H look'd from out a cloud, „ IV ii 6

Harry (Henry the Seventh) born i' the tail end of old H the Seventh. „ I i 43 born true man at five in the forenoon i' the tail of old H, „ I i 46

Harry (Henry the Sixth?) It's H! Third Citizen. It's Queen Mary. „ I i 34

Harsh H is the news! hard is our honeymoon! Harold IV iii 229 but my voice is h here, not in tune, Becket, Pro. 349
For once in France the King had been so h, „ V ii 140
Even this brawler of h truths— Foresters IV 948

Hartist (artist) What's a h? I doänt believe he's iver Prom. of May I 129

Harvest (adj.) the h moon is the ripening of the harvest, Becket, Pro. 362

Harvest (s) Were scatter'd to the h . . . Harold IV iii 211 which we Inheriting reap an easier h. Becket II ii 194 find one shock upon the field when all The h has been carried. The Falcon 302

Harvestless H autumns, horrible agues, plague— Queen Mary V i 98

Harwich On all the road from H, night and day; „ V ii 579

Haste (s) with what h I might To save my royal cousin. „ II iv 77 in h put off the rags They had mock'd his misery with, „ IV iii 589

Haste (verb) That h's with full commission from the Pope „ III ii 51

Hasten harm at times, may even H their end. The Falcon 823

Hastings (Francis, second Earl of Huntingdon) Sent Cornwallis and H to the traitor, Queen Mary II ii 31

Hastings (town in Sussex) lay them both upon the waste sea-shore At H, Harold V ii 161

Hat See 'At

Hatch But h you some new treason in the woods. Queen Mary I v 465

Hatch'd This is the fifth conspiracy h in France; „ V i 297

Hatchet before you can eat it you must hack it with a h, Foresters II i 285

Hate (s) (See also Heart-hate) her h Will burn till you are burn'd. Queen Mary I ii 58
In hope to charm them from their h of Spain. „ III vi 82 to fuse Almost into one metal love and h,— „ III vi 182 sow'd therein The seed of H, it blossom'd Charity. „ IV i 172 carrion-nosing mongrel vomit With h and horror. „ IV iii 450 when she touch'd on thee, She stammer'd in her h; Harold I ii 37
If H can kill, And Loathing wield a Saxon battle-axe— „ V i 412 his, a h Not ever to be heal'd. Becket I i 178
We have but one bond, her h of Becket. „ II i 165

Hate (s) (continued) And mine a bitterer illegitimate h, A bastard h Becket II i 173
That sow this h between my lord and me! „ II ii 272
I follow out my h and thy revenge. „ IV ii 151
And private h's with our defence of Heaven. „ V ii 52 and all her loves and h's Sink again into chaos. Foresters I ii 329

Hate (verb) (See also Haäte) this bald priest, and she that h's me, Queen Mary I iv 282
My sister cowers and h's me. „ I v 83
Would I marry Prince Philip, if all England h him? „ I v 139 Lord of Devon is a pretty man. I h him. „ I v 616 no old news that all men h it. „ II i 17 and the beds I know. I h Spain. „ II i 185
Ay, since you h the telling it. „ III i 89
With all the rage of one who h's a truth „ III vi 143
H me and mine: „ V i 85
They h me also for my love to you, My Philip; „ V i 95
He h's Philip; He is all Italian, and he h's the Spaniard; „ V ii 54 but I know it of old, he h's me too; „ V ii 60
And h's the Spaniard—fiery-choleric, „ V ii 92
Clarence, they h me; even while I speak „ V ii 214
'Your people h you as your husband h's you.' „ V ii 336
My people h me and desire my death. „ V ii 345
My husband h's me, and desires my death. „ V ii 347
I h myself, and I desire my death. „ V ii 351
Give me the lute. He h's me! „ V ii 363
Even for that he h's me. „ V ii 380
Edward loves him, so Ye h him. Harold I i 429
I am sure she h's thee, Pants for thy blood. „ I ii 38
H not one who felt Some pity for thy hater! „ I ii 43
H him? I could love him More, „ I ii 141
Griffyth I hated: why not h the foe Of England? „ I ii 145
If he found me thus, Harold might h me; „ I ii 172
many among our Norman lords H thee for this, „ II ii 546
Juggler and bastard—bastard—he h's that most— „ II ii 773
Our sister h's us for his banishment; „ III i 78
And Alfgar h's King Harold. „ IV i 125
Old man, Harold H's nothing; „ IV i 129
Morcar, it is all but duty in her To h me; I have heard she h's me. „ IV i 154
If not, they cannot h the conqueror. „ IV i 215
I h King Edward, for he join'd with thee „ IV ii 12
I h myself for all things that I do. „ IV ii 45
I h thee, and despise thee, and defy thee. „ IV ii 79
I loved him as I h This liar who made me liar. „ V i 411 how your Grace must h him. Eleanor. H him? Becket, Pro. 434 break down our castles, for the which I h him. „ Pro. 448
The Church will h thee. „ I iii 566
He h's my will, not me. „ II ii 27
I h a split between old friendships as I h the dirty gap „ II ii 380
I h him for his insolence to all. „ V i 226
I h him for I h him is my reason, And yet I h him for a hypocrite. „ V i 230
I h the man! What filthy touch our Senate The Cup I i 155
I could h her for it But that she is distracted. „ II 178
My brother h's him, scorns The noblest-natured man The Falcon 257
I h tears. Marriage is but an old tradition. I h Traditions, ever since my narrow father, Prom. of May I 489
It seems to me that I h men, ever since my sister left us. „ II 79
But she h's Edgar. „ II 672
Scorn! I h scorn! A soul with no religion— „ III 531
A gallant Earl. I love him as I h John. Foresters I i 191 yet I h him for his want of chivalry. „ I ii 107
I h him, I h the man. I may not h the King „ I ii 113
Beware of John! Marian. I h him. „ I ii 215
I h hidden faces. (repeat) „ I ii 245, 250

Hated (See also World-hated) My hard father h me; My brother rather h me Queen Mary I v 81
Old Sir Thomas would have h it. „ II i 18
So h here! I watch'd a hive of late; „ III iii 46 because to persecute Makes a faith h. „ III iv 116
Harold always h him. Harold I i 429
Griffyth I h: why not hate the foe Of England? „ I ii 145
There spake Godwin, Who h all the Normans; „ III i 252

Hated (continued) Out, beast monk! I ever h monks. Harold V i 76
Roger of York, you always h him, Becket V i 9
I always h boundless arrogance. „ V i 12
I held for Richard, and I h John. Foresters II i 52

Hateful make her as h to herself and to the King, Becket, Pro. 526 Fool! I will make thee h to thy King. „ I ii 92
Save from some h cantrip of thine own. „ V i 140

Hate-philtre such A strong h-p as may madden him— „ IV ii 458

Hater Hate not one who felt Some pity for thy h! Harold I ii 44

Hatest Thou h him, h him. „ III i 172
Crouch even because thou h him; Becket IV ii 223

Hating See World-hating

Hatred the h of another to us Is no true bond Queen Mary I iv 44
h of the doctrines Of those who rule, which h by and by Involves the ruler „ III iv 159
'Love of this world is h against God.' „ IV iii 173 yet what h Christian men Bear to each other, „ IV iii 182

Haughtiness have marked the h of their nobles; „ II i 168

Haughty Madam, methinks a cold face and a h. „ I v 197
They call him cold, H, ay, worse. „ I v 432
Why, ev'n the h prince, Northumberland, „ III i 147

Haul H like a great strong fellow at my legs, Harold II i 11

Haunt There h some Papist ruffians hereabout Queen Mary III v 174
My men say The fairies h this glade;— Foresters II ii 101

Haunted Why am I follow'd, h, harrass'd, Harold II ii 248
A lying devil Hath h me— „ V i 318 is h by The ghosts of the dead passions of dead men; Prom. of May II 274

Haven looking to the happy h Where he shall rest Queen Mary IV iii 579 bays And h's filling with a blissful sea. The Cup II 236

Haveringatte-Bower nightingales in H-B Sang out Harold I ii 18

Havings Your h wasted by the scythe and spade— Queen Mary II ii 276

Havock To make free spoil and h of your goods. „ II ii 186

Havock'd That h all the land in Stephen's day. Becket I i 242

Hawk (s) Sick for an idle week of h and hound Harold I i 103 a feeder Of dogs and h's, and apes, Becket I i 80
H, buzzard, jay, the mavis and the merle, Foresters I iii 115
To fright the wild h passing overhead, „ III 318

Hawk (verb) and hunt and h beyond the seas! Harold I i 229
I will h and hunt In Flanders. „ I i 259 had past me by To hunt and h elsewhere, „ II ii 28

Hawking (See also A-hawking) Gone h on the Nene, Becket I iii 2 when he came last year To see me h, he was well enough: The Falcon 313 „ 314

Hawking-phrases then I taught him all our h-p.

Hawthorn filch the linen from the h, Foresters III 199

Hazed (asked) Why if Steer han't h schoolmaster to dinner, Prom. of May I 185

Hay See Haäy

Haycock See Haäycock

Hayfield (See also Haäyfield) you should be in the h looking after your men; Prom. of May II 47
You had better attend to your h. „ II 123 that you did not come into the h. „ III 82
You are as good as a man in the h. „ III 106

Haystack and a plum-pudding as big as the round h. „ I 794

Head (s) (See also 'Eäd) draw back your h's and your horns Queen Mary I i 4 be no peace for Mary till Elizabeth lose her h.' „ I iii 5
If Elizabeth lose her h— „ I iii 88 with an ass's, not a horse's h, „ I iii 169 Stand further off, or you may lose your h. Courtenay. I have a h to lose for your sweet sake. „ I iv 129
No—being traitor Her h will fall: „ I v 60 a h So full of grace and beauty! „ I v 63
When the h leapt—so common! „ I v 477
For all that I can carry it in my h. „ II i 88
If you can carry your h upon your shoulders. „ II i 89
I'll have my h set higher in the state; „ II i 250
Have made strong h against ourselves and you. „ II ii 146
I cannot lift my hands unto my h. „ III i 240
He, whom the Father hath appointed H „ III iii 207
I had held my h up then. „ III iii 246
What! will she have my h? „ III iii 278 lost the h's Wherewith they plotted in their treasonous malice, „ III iv 3

Head (s) (continued) Lift h, and flourish; Queen Mary III iv 24 his brother's, nay, his noble mother's, H fell— „ III iv 296
I kept my h for use of Holy Church; „ III iv 359
Gardiner would have my h. „ III v 118
I never lay my h upon the pillow But that I think, „ III v 131
Cranmer is h and father of these heresies, „ IV i 76
I say they have drawn the fire On their own h's: „ IV iii 381 become Hideously alive again from h to heel, „ IV iii 447 but Cranmer only shook his h, „ IV iii 602 and of his holy h—For Alva is true son of the true church— „ V i 158
I have broken off the h. „ V ii 3
More merciful to many a rebel h That should have fallen, „ V ii 5 like the bloodless h Fall'n on the block, „ V ii 20
He drew this shaft against me to the h, „ V ii 81
Methought some traitor smote me on the h. „ V ii 253 sent on foreign travel, Not lost his h. „ V ii 491 and make Down for their h's to heaven! „ V iv 8 all the sins of both The houses on mine h— Harold I ii 206
the poor thunder Never harm'd h. „ I ii 233 Upon the h's of those who walk'd within— „ II ii 393 dogs' food thrown upon thy h. „ II ii 432
The crime be on his h—not bounden—no. „ II ii 670
Tostig, raise my h! „ III i 158 raise his h, for thou hast laid it low! „ III i 163 wilt thou bring another, Edith, upon his h? „ III i 262 and the second curse Descend upon thine h, „ III ii 49
Since Griffyth's h was sent To Edward, „ IV i 221 may give that egg-bald h The tap that silences. „ V i 91 hand and foot, I hand, foot, heart and h. „ V i 202 and h's And arms are sliver'd off and splinter'd „ V i 539
As thine own bolts that fall on crimeful h's „ V i 566
And when the Gascon wine mounts to my h, Becket, Pro. 114
That rang Within my h last night, „ I i 71 be we not a-supping with the h of the family? „ I iv 179
A hundred of the wisest h's from England, „ II ii 171 asked our mother if I could keep a quiet tongue i' my h, „ III i 119
He bows, he bares his h, he is coming hither. „ III iii 34 with the Holy Father astride of it down upon his own h. „ III iii 78
Hugh, how proudly you exalt your h! „ V ii 455
And lose his h as old St. Denis did. „ V ii 480
Save that dear h which now is Canterbury, „ V iii 6
They howl for thee, to rend thee h from limb. The Cup I ii 321 that same h they would have play'd at ball with „ II 126 and rears his root Beyond his h, „ II 285 you that have not the h of a toad, The Falcon 90
And softly placed the chaplet on her h. „ 363
Set, as you say, so lightly on her h, „ 535 and dipt your sovereign h Thro' these low doors, „ 867
I think I scarce could hold my h up there. Prom. of May I 689 has promised to keep our h's above water; „ III 170 —is a gentleman? Dora. That he is, from h to foot. „ III 282
Now if she kiss him, I will have his h. Foresters I ii 146
Why comest thou like a death's h at my feast? „ I ii 210
She broke my h on Tuesday with a dish. „ I iii 133
A houseless h beneath the sun and stars, „ II i 64
A price is set On this poor h; „ II i 74 or the h of a fool, or the heart of Prince John, „ IV 212
he will, He will—he feels it in his h. „ IV 646
Then on the instant I will break thy h. „ IV 681
Thou hast saved my h at the peril of thine own. „ IV 795

Head (verb) And h them with a lamer rhyme of mine, Queen Mary II i 29
He h's the Church against the King with thee. Becket I iii 245
if the followers Of him, who h's the movement, Foresters II i 701

Headache And heal your h. Queen Mary I iv 146 what h? Heartache, perchance; not h. „ I iv 147 to snore away his drunkenness Into the sober h,— Becket I i 373
I have a dizzying h. Let me rest. „ V i 88

Headed See Bull-headed, Hot-headed

Heading H the holy war against the Moslem, Foresters IV 818

Headless To make me h. Queen Mary I ii 41

Headlong both of us Too h for our office. Becket II ii 290
The cataract typed the h plunge and fall Of heresy to the pit: Queen Mary III iv 140

Head-shaking My wise h-s Harold? Harold I i 361

Headship So fierce against the H of the Pope, Queen Mary III iii 11
How should he bear the h of the Pope? „ III iii 29
bolster'd up The gross King's h of the Church, „ III iv 246

Headsman when the h pray'd to be forgiven, „ III i 393

Headstone Then have my simple h by the church, „ III v 113

Headstrong A strain of hard and h in him. Becket, Pro. 234

Heal And h your headache. Queen Mary I iv 146
That our commission is to h, not harm; „ III iii 185
We two together Will help to h your son— The Falcon 923

Heal'd Cannot be h by stroking. Queen Mary III iv 274 his, a hate, Not ever to be h. Becket I i 179

Health He wrecks his h and wealth on courtesans, Queen Mary I v 167
H to your Grace! „ IV i 41
yet it is a day to test your h Ev'n at the best: „ IV ii 117
Here—all of you—my lord's h. Becket I iv 156
That h of heart, once ours, „ III iii 266
Greeting and h from Synorix! (repeat) The Cup II 41, 130
Has lost his h, his eyesight, even his mind. Prom. of May III 767 Shall drink the h of our new woodland Queen. Foresters III 314 till the green earth drink Her h along with us „ III 351 Drink to the h of our new Queen o' the woods, „ III 368
We drink the h of thy new Queen o' the woods. „ III 372
The king's good h in ale and Malvoisie. „ IV 968

Healthful A right rough life and h. Queen Mary III v 260

Heap she sits naked by a great h of gold in the middle of the wood, Becket III ii 21
she sat Stone-dead upon a h of ice-cold eggs. „ V ii 239

Heap'd And all the h experiences of life, „ I i 154

Hear (See also 'Ear) Did you h (I have a daughter in her service Queen Mary I i 75
I h that he too is full of aches and broken „ I i 124
h what the shaveling has to say for himself. „ I iii 17
Hush—h! Bourne. —and so this unhappy land, „ I iii 19
Peace! h him; let his own words damn the Papist. „ I iii 52
Her Majesty H's you affect the Prince— „ I iv 82
She h's you make your boast that after all „ I iv 87
If Mary will not h us—well—conjecture— „ I iv 117
You speak too low, my Lord; I cannot h you. „ I iv 125
Nay, if by chance you h of any such, „ I iv 175
Your Grace will h her reasons from herself. „ I iv 230
I will not h of him. „ I v 173
Madam, my master h's with much alarm, „ I v 249
Will you h why? Mary of Scotland,— „ I v 283
I see but the black night, and h the wolf. „ I v 413 not to h the nightingales, But hatch you some new treason „ I v 464
See that you neither h them nor repeat! „ I v 576
It breaks my heart to h her moan at night „ I v 603
I h them stirring in the Council Chamber. „ I v 628
I do not h from Carew or the Duke „ II i 1
Doesn't your worship h? „ II i 20
Until I h from Carew and the Duke. „ II i 122 from Penenden Heath in hope To h you speak. „ II i 153
Your Highness h's This burst and bass of loyal harmony, „ II ii 284
H us now make oath To raise your Highness „ II ii 288
I h that Gardiner, coming with the Queen, „ II ii 308
I have ears to h. Gardiner. Ay, rascal, if I leave thee ears to h. „ III i 250
I h this Legate's coming To bring us absolution „ III i 430
You'll h of me again. Bagenhall. Upon the scaffold. „ III i 474
Ay; but I h she hath a dropsy, lad, „ III ii 223
Did you h 'em? were you by? „ III iv 395
Well, they shall h my recantation there. „ IV ii 199
Ye h him, and albeit there may seem „ IV iii 31
Yourselves shall h him speak. „ IV iii 110 proclaim Your true undoubted faith, that all may h. „ IV iii 115
H him, my good brethren. „ IV iii 227
H what I might—another recantation Of Cranmer at the stake. Paget. You'd not h that. „ IV iii 299
Nay, you sicken me To h you. „ IV iii 452
I cum behind tha, gall, and couldn't make tha h. „ IV iii 466
'not till I h's ez Latimer and Ridley be a-vire;' „ IV iii 508
I h unhappy rumours—nay, I say not, I believe. „ V i 34
Alas! the Council will not h of war. „ V i 164
Lost in a wilderness where none can h! „ V ii 383
She neither sees nor h's, „ V ii 405

Hear (continued) And love to h bad tales of Philip. Queen Mary v ii 429
Much changed, I h, Had put off levity „ v ii 509
There's the Queen's light. I h she cannot live. „ v iv 11 you curse so loud, The watch will h you. „ v iv 63 speak him sweetly, he will h thee. Harold I i 117
When didst thou h from thy Northumbria? Tostig.
When did I h aught but this 'When' from thee? „ I i 281
But thou canst h the best and wisest of us. „ I i 300 yet h! thine earldom, Tostig, hath been a kingdom. „ I i 303
I fain would h him coming! . . . „ I ii 5
And h my peregrine and her bells in heaven; „ I ii 131
Harold H the king's music, all alone with him, „ I ii 194
Come, Malet, let us h! „ II ii 211
No more! I will not h thee—William comes. „ II ii 479
We h he hath not long to live. „ II ii 565
H King Harold! he says true! „ IV i 60
I h no more. Margot. H me again—for the last time. „ V i 7
H me again! Our Saints have moved the Church „ V i 39
H it thro' me. „ V i 62
I do not h our English war-cry. „ V i 651
That thou wilt h no more o' the customs. Becket I iii 255
Dost thou not h? „ I iii 267 till I h from the Pope I will suspend myself „ I iii 299
Art thou deaf? Becket. I h you. Hilary. Dost thou h those others? Becket. Ay! „ I iii 605
H first thy sentence! The King and all his lords—
Becket. Son, first h me! „ I iii 670
Nay, but h thy judgment. „ I iii 682
H me son. As gold Outvalues dross, „ I iii 713 and when ye shall h it is poured out upon earth, „ I iv 36 wind of the dawn that I h in the pine overhead? „ II i 1
I will not h it. „ II i 211
we shall h him presently with clapt wing „ II ii 48
Out! I h no more. „ II ii 233
Grasshopper, grasshopper, Whoop—you can h. „ III i 103
I did not h aright, „ III i 235
I would not h him. „ III i 257
I h Margery: I'll go play with her. „ III i 274
I holla'd to him, but he didn't h me: „ III ii 26
I h the yelping of the hounds of hell. „ III ii 48
when he h's a door open in the house and thinks 'the master.' „ III iii 98
Did you h the young King's quip? „ III iii 146
The King shall never h of me again, „ IV ii 102
Do you h me? Believe or no, I care not. „ IV ii 352
Threats! threats! ye h him. „ V ii 465
You h them, brother John; „ V ii 534
Can you not h them yonder like a storm, „ V ii 624
Do you h that? strike, strike. „ V iii 161
Artemis, Artemis, h us, O Mother, h us, and bless us! The Cup II 1
H thy people who praise thee! „ II 5
H thy priestesses hymn thy glory! „ II 7
Artemis, Artemis, h him, Ionian Artemis! „ II 277 all the fleeted wealth of kings And peoples, h. „ II 290 hurls the victor's column down with him That crowns it, h. „ II 297 gulf and flatten in her closing chasm Domed cities, h.
Whose lava-torrents blast and blacken a province
To a cinder, h. Whose winter-cataracts find a realm and leave it A waste of rock and ruin, h. „ II 301 Artemis, Artemis, h her, Ephesian Artemis! Camma.
Artemis, Artemis, h me, Galatian Artemis! „ II 310
Why then the Goddess h's. „ II 388
H that, my bird! Art thou not jealous of her? The Falcon 5 h that you are saying behind his back „ 106 by your leave if you would h the rest, The writing. „ 529
H that, my lady! (repeat) „ 636, 652
You h, Filippo? My good fellow, go! „ 690
Master Dobson, did you h what I said? Prom. of May I 172
Heaven h's you, Philip Edgar! „ I 760
And he would h you even from the grave. „ I 762 p'raps ye h's 'at I soomtimes taäkes a drop too much; „ II 107
I told her I should h her from the grave. „ II 244
You—did you h a cry? „ III 652
Sweet, do you h me? „ III 678
You wrong me there! h, h me! „ III 775

Hear (continued) You h! Sheriff. Yes, my lord, fear not. Foresters I ii 31 but no! We h he is in prison. „ II i 34
Did we not h the two would pass this way? „ II i 197
Ay, do you h? There may be murder done. „ II i 339
Evil fairy! do you h? „ II ii 116
Up with you, all of you, out of it! h and obey. „ II ii 184
Fifty leagues Of woodland h and know my horn, „ III 104 will you not h one of these beggars' catches? „ III 405
You h your Queen, obey! „ III 464
Will h our arrows whizzing overhead, „ IV 1090

Heard (See also Eärd, Heärd, Heerd) Have we not h of her in Edward's time, Queen Mary I iv 18
I have h, the tongue yet quiver'd with the jest „ I v 475 hast thou ever h Slanders against Prince Philip „ I v 569 but I have h a thousand such. „ I v 579 and your worship's name h into Maidstone market, „ II i 63
I have h One of your Council fleer and jeer „ II ii 392
I had h that every Spaniard carries „ III i 222
h She would not take a last farewell of him, „ III i 366
We h that you were sick in Flanders, cousin. „ III ii 33
Methinks the good land h me, „ III ii 57
I h An angel cry 'There is more joy in Heaven,'— „ IV ii 9
yet have h Of all their wretchedness. „ IV iii 211
Our prayers are h! „ IV iii 255
Have I not h them mock the blessed Host „ IV iii 365
And h these two, there might be sport for him. „ V ii 212
I never h him utter worse of you „ V ii 431
If ever I h a madman,—let's away! „ V iv 56
I had h of him in battle over seas, „ V v 33
I h from my Northumbria yesterday. Harold I i 331
I h from thy Northumberland to-day. „ I i 350
And he spoke—I h him— „ II ii 353 hast thou never h His savagery at Alençon,— „ II ii 381
I have h the Normans Count upon this confusion— „ II ii 457
We have h Of thy just, mild, and equal governance; „ II ii 689
Would he h me! O God, that I were in some wide, „ II ii 776
I have h a saying of thy father Godwin, „ III i 111 but their Saints Have h thee, Harold. „ III i 254
but those heavenly ears have h, „ III i 259
H, h— Harold. The wind in his hair? „ III i 370 that Archdeacon Hildebrand His master, h him, „ III ii 146
I have h she hates me. „ IV i 154
Ye h one witness even now. „ IV i 170 his finger on her harp (I h him more than once) „ IV i 205 but our old Thor H his own thunder again, „ IV iii 150
H how the war-horn sang, „ IV iii 157
H how the shield-wall rang, „ IV iii 159
And all the Heavens and very God: they h— „ V i 44 who made And h thee swear— „ V i 121
Nor seen, nor h; thine, „ V i 161
Our scouts have h the tinkle of their bells. „ V i 220
O God, the God of truth hath h my cry. „ V i 601
And I am h. „ V i 635
hast thou h this cry of Gilbert Foliot Becket I i 36
I h him swear revenge. „ I i 280
And h her cry 'Where is this bower of mine?' „ I ii 42
I have h him say He means no more; „ I iii 191
Yea, h the churl against the baron— „ I iii 365 have h say that if you boxed the Pope's ears „ II ii 369 have I Not h ill things of her in France? „ III i 231 like the gravedigger's child I have h of, trying to ring the bell, „ III iii 74
But I h say he had had a stroke, or you'd have h his horn „ IV i 53
I have h of such that range from love to love, „ IV ii 119
I have h of such—yea, even among those „ IV ii 123
Have we not h Raymond of Poitou, thine own uncle— „ IV ii 246
I h your savage cry. „ IV ii 320 knights, five hundred, that were there and h. Nay, you yourself were there: you h yourself. „ V ii 407
I h in Rome, This tributary crown may fall to you. The Cup I i 95
I have h them say in Rome, „ I i 136
I thought I h a footstep. „ I ii 11
you h him on the letter. „ I ii 279
I h a saying in Egypt, that ambition Is like the sea wave, „ I iii 137
I never h of this request of thine. „ II 394

Heard (continued) I have h these poisons May be walk'd down. The Cup II 474
I have h That, thro' his late magnificence The Falcon 226
Oh, Philip, Father h you last night. Prom. of May I 557
I have h of you. The likeness Is very striking. „ II 364
I never h her mention you. „ II 395
The painful circumstances which I h— „ II 402
I never h that he had a brother. „ III 152
I have h that ' your Lordship,' and ' your Ladyship,' and ' your Grace ' are all growing old-fashioned ! „ III 316
I h a voice, ' Girl, what are you doing there ? ' „ III 375
You h him say it was one of his bad days. „ III 469
I have h the Steers Had land in Saxon times ; „ III 607
I may be outlaw'd, I have h a rumour. Foresters I ii 91
I h this Sheriff tell her he would pay „ I iii 5
I have h of them. Have they no leader ? „ I iii 103
I have h him swear he will be even wi' thee. „ II i 344 silent blessing of one honest man Is h in heaven— „ III 322
Shamed a too trustful widow whom you h In her confession ; „ III 386
I have h 'em in the market at Mansfield. „ III 406
We h Sir Richard Lea was here with Robin. „ IV 978

Heard I ha' h 'im a-gawin' on 'ud make your 'air— God bless it !—stan' on end. Prom. of May I 134 and I h the winder—that's the winder at the end o' the passage, „ I 395

Heardst He said (thou h him) that I must not Harold II ii 260

Hearer confess Your faith before all h's ; Queen Mary IV ii 80

Hearing Crave, in the same cause, h of your Grace. „ IV i 8
At banquet in this hall, and h me— Harold IV iii 93
If h, would have spurn'd her ; Becket IV ii 346
the man himself, When h of that piteous death, Prom. of May II 500

Heart (See also Ear, Lion-heart) A bold h yours to beard that raging mob ! Queen Mary I iii 96
I meant True matters of the h. „ I iv 100
My h, my Lord, Is no great party in the state „ I iv 101
I have the jewel of a loyal h. „ I iv 247
You've a bold h ; keep it so. „ I iv 269
Make all tongues praise and all h's beat for you. „ I v 117 take mine eyes, mine h, But do not lose me Calais. „ I v 128
I am not Queen Of mine own h, „ I v 523
It breaks my h to hear her moan at night „ I v 603 felt the faltering of his mother's h, „ II ii 83
I scarce have h to mingle in this matter, „ II ii 113
They have betray'd the treason of their h's : „ II ii 157 come to cast herself On loyal h's and bosoms, „ II ii 263 never whine Like that poor h, Northumberland, „ II ii 333
I feel most goodly h and hand, „ II ii 352
And hast not h nor honour. „ II iv 84
Blazed false upon her h. „ III i 70 and hurl'd our battles Into the h of Spain ; „ III i 109
Her dark dead blood is in my h with mine. „ III i 349
If you have h to do it ! „ III i 411 to-day My h beats twenty, when I see you, cousin. „ III ii 59
Is like the cleaving of a h ; „ III vi 196
A day may save a h from breaking too. „ III vi 240
beget A kindness from him, for his h was rich, „ IV i 169
My h is no such block as Bonner's is : „ IV ii 174
Pray with one breath, one h, one soul for me. „ IV iii 104 doubt The man's conversion and remorse of h, „ IV iii 109 Against the truth I knew within my h, „ IV iii 241 since my hand offended, having written Against my h, „ IV iii 249
That might live always in the sun's warm h, „ V i 23
Reginald Pole, what news hath plagued my h ? „ V ii 18
I am sad at h myself. „ V ii 159
I used to love the Queen with all my h— „ V ii 419
As far as France, and into Philip's h. „ V iii 19
Women, when I am dead, Open my h, „ V v 153
Adulterous to the very h of Hell. „ V v 163
Brave, wary, sane to the h of her— „ V v 224
I swear I have no h To be your Queen. „ V v 264 strike Their h's, and hold their babies up to it. Harold I i 35 will make his nippers meet in thine h ; „ II i 77
It is the arrow of death in his own h— „ III i 405 where Tostig lost The good h's of his people. „ III ii 30

Heart (continued) hand and foot, I hand, foot, h and head. Harold V i 202 violent will that wrench'd All h's of freemen from thee. „ V i 279
Here fell the truest, manliest h's of England. „ V ii 58
Take it and wear it on that hard h of yours— Becket, Pro. 373
On this left breast before so hard a h, „ Pro. 376 translated that hard h into our Provençal facilities, „ Pro. 380
That the h were lost in the rhyme and the matter „ Pro. 383
My h is full of tears—I have no answer. „ Pro. 406
His h so gall'd with thine ingratitude, „ I iii 4
To lodge a fear in Thomas Becket's h „ I iii 176
That my poor heretic h would excommunicate „ II i 283
And push'd our lances into Saracen h's. „ II ii 95 in the dark h of the wood I hear the yelping „ III ii 47
That health of h, once ours, „ III iii 266 scared the red rose from your face Into your h ? „ IV ii 75
While this but leaves me with a broken h, „ IV ii 174 shall not I, the Queen, Tear out her h— „ IV ii 409 and send Her whole h's heat into it, „ V ii 255 full mid-summer in those honest h's. „ V ii 374
You should attend the office, give them h. „ V ii 599
I know well thou hast but half a h „ V iii 130
I thank you from my h. The Cup I ii 211
Yea,—with our eyes,—our h's, „ I ii 412
That this brave h of mine should shake me so, „ I iii 38
I have it in my h—to the Temple—fly— „ I iii 111 found All good in the true h of Sinnatus, „ II 87
I have no h to do it. „ II 166
As in the midmost h of Paradise. „ II 186 fill all h's with fatness and the lust Of plenty— „ II 272
The stately widow has no h for me. The Falcon 30
you that have the face of an angel and the h of a— that's too positive ! You that have a score of lovers and have not a h for any of them— „ 87
and not a h like the jewel in it— „ 91 cheek like a peach and a h like the stone in it— „ 93
Pride of his h—the solace of his hours— „ 223
I had no h to part with her for money. „ 326
We mounted, and we dash'd into the h of 'em. „ 630 best h that ever Beat for one woman. „ 667
No other h Of such magnificence in courtesy „ 722 a red fire woke in the h of the town, Prom. of May I 50 small h have I to dance. „ I 429
Keep up your h until we meet again. „ I 754
I wear it next my h. „ II 82
how should I, with this grief still at my h, „ II 91
O sir, you seem to have a h ; „ II 468
But wherefore waste your h In looking „ II 503
the man has doubtless a good h, and a true and lasting love for me : „ III 171
Come, come, keep a good h ! „ III 253
I do believe I lost my h to him the very first time we met, „ III 283
' Go home ; ' but I hadn't the h or face to do it. „ III 389
What is it Has put you out of h ? „ III 501
It puts me in h Again to see you ; but indeed the state Of my poor father puts me out of h. „ III 502
I think That I should break my h, „ III 556
—the h, O God !—the poor young h Broken „ III 679 broke the h That only beat for you ; „ III 762 sits and eats his h for want of money to pay the Abbot. Foresters I i 4 but I keep a good h and make the most of it, „ I i 28
it answers, I am thine to the very h of the earth— „ I i 337
I fear this Abbot is a h of flint, „ I ii 268
when I loved A maid with all my h „ I ii 297
Sleep, mournful h, and let the past be past ! „ I iii 47
There are no h's like English h's Such h's of oak „ II i 3
I have shot her thro' the h. Kate. He lies, my lord. I have shot him thro' the h. „ II i 98
That I had shot him thro' the h, „ II i 123 my h so down in my heels that if I stay, I can't run. „ II i 346
how to charm and waste the h's of men. „ II i 502 And drains the h and marrow from a man. „ II i 672 the bravest English h Since Hereward the Wake, „ II i 687
Elf, with spiteful h and eye, „ II ii 172

Heart (continued) And that would quite *un*man him, h and soul. Foresters III 30
And let them warm thy h to Little John. „ III 44 but I hold thee The husband of my h, „ III 140 and thy legs, and thy h, and thy liver, „ IV 204 or the head of a fool, or the h of Prince John, „ IV 213 so she glided up into the h O' the bottle, „ IV 244 flung His life, h, soul into those holy wars „ IV 407
He drove his knife into the h of the deer, „ IV 541
A woman's h is but a little thing, „ IV 656
Will chill the h's that beat for Robin Hood ! „ IV 1064

Heartache what headache ? H, perchance ; Queen Mary I iv 149

Heart-comfort H-c and a balsam to thy blood ? Becket I i 14

Hearted See Brave-hearted, Great-hearted, Hard-hearted, High-hearted, Hollow-hearted, Poor-hearted

Heartedest See Human-heartedest

Hearth with mine old hound Couch'd at my h, Queen Mary III i 46
The stranger at his h, and all his house— „ IV i 163
King Henry warms your traitors at his h. „ V i 124
Translating his captivity from Guy To mine own h at Bayeux, Harold II ii 43
Dabble your h's with our own blood. „ II ii 751 son of Orm, Gamel, at thine own h. „ IV ii 39 none could sit By his own h in peace ; Becket I iii 342 a son stone-blind Sat by his mother's h : „ V ii 106
One slow, fat, white, a burthen of the h ; „ V ii 212
I wouldn't have thy blood on my h. Foresters II i 356

Heart-hate fierce resolve and fixt h-h in men Queen Mary III vi 32

Heart-sick Better than h-s, friar. Foresters IV 674

Heart-wife so this Rosamund, my true h-w, Not Eleanor— Becket, Pro. 130

Heat (s) There must be h—there must be h enough Queen Mary III iv 26
A bookman, flying from the h and tussle, „ III v 251
It is the h and narrowness of the cage „ III v 207
Gardiner out-Gardiners Gardiner in his h, „ III vi 26 men should bear their earthly h's Into yon bloodless world, Harold V i 284 Hath often laid a cold hand on my h's, Becket I i 384
Besides, we came away in such a h, „ II i 294 do much To rake out all old dying h's, „ II ii 114
Hell's own h So dwelt on that they rose „ II ii 204
Henry Says many a thing in sudden h's, „ IV ii 276 and send Her whole heart's h into it, „ V ii 255
h and fire Of life will bring them out, Prom. of May II 285
In that great h to wed her to the Sheriff Foresters II i 584
The bee buzz'd up in the h. „ IV 14
And the bee buzz'd down from the h. „ IV 20

Heat (verb) this ghastly glare May h their fancies. Harold I i 310 secret matter which would h the King against thee. Becket, Pro. 487
Why should you h yourself for such as these ? „ V ii 544
Employ us, h us, quicken us, help us, The Cup I iii 131
How few Junes Will h our pulses quicker ! Foresters IV 1062

Heated —we have eaten—we are h. Wine ! The Cup I ii 46

Heath ten thousand men on Penenden H all calling after Queen Mary II i 61
They roar for you On Penenden H, „ II i 106 fifty That follow'd me from Penenden H in hope „ II i 151
Of the Northumbrian helmet on the h ? Harold V i 145
No, but a shoal of wives upon the h, „ V i 147

Heath (Sir Nicholas) See Nicholas, Nicholas Heath

Heathen (adj.) Ay, cousin, as the h giant Had but to touch the ground, Queen Mary III ii 43
The h priesthood of a h creed ! Becket I iii 63
Cold, but look how the table steams, like a h altar ; „ I iv 69

Heathen (s) Why do the h rage ? „ V ii 628

Heathendom Out of the deep, deep night of h, Queen Mary III iii 173

Heathenism that Lucullus or Apicius might have sniffed it in their Hades of h, Becket III iii 118

Heather Walk'd at night on the misty h ; Harold III ii 5

Heaved that bosom never H under the King's hand Becket IV ii 189

Heaven (See also 'Eaven) To him within there who made H and Earth ? Queen Mary I v 47 banks rolling incense, as of old, To h, „ I v 93 Yea, by H, The text—Your Highness knows it, „ I v 450 in his scared prayers H and earth's Maries ; „ II ii 88

Heaven (continued) Ah, h ! Pole. Unwell, your Grace ? Queen Mary III ii 84 Rise to the h's in grateful praise of Him „ III iii 165
With h for earth. „ III iii 201
That h wept and earth blush'd. „ III iv 193 pray H That you may see according to our sight. „ III iv 330
To yield the remnant of his years to h, „ III vi 211
All that is gracious in the breath of h „ III vi 225 soul descending out of h Into a body generate. „ IV i 35
An angel cry ' There is more joy in H,'— „ IV ii 11
By H's grace, I am more and more confirm'd. „ IV ii 21
On earth ; but saved in h By your recanting. „ IV ii 179
O God, Father of H ! O Son of God, „ IV iii 117
I have offended against h and earth „ IV iii 124
I am ashamed to lift my eyes to h, „ IV iii 127
' How hard it is For the rich man to enter into H ; ' „ IV iii 205 Either to live with Christ in H with joy, „ IV iii 220 find H or else hell ready to swallow me, „ IV iii 224
If ever, as h grant, we clash with Spain, „ IV iii 346
H help that this re-action not re-act „ IV iii 388
Then Cranmer lifted his left hand to h, „ IV iii 609
Why then to h, and God ha' mercy on him. „ IV iii 631
Have courage, your reward is H itself. „ V ii 109 and make Down for their heads to h ! „ V iv 8
It glares in h, it flares upon the Thames, Harold I i 29
To have the h's clear. „ I i 38 mean The doom of England and the wrath of H ? „ I i 47
Why should not H be wroth ? „ I i 53
Is there no reason for the wrath of H ? Leofwin. Why then the wrath of H hath three tails, The devil only one. „ I i 59 Stigand should know the purposes of H. Stigand. Not I. I cannot read the face of h ; „ I i 65 is this pendent hell in h A harm to England ? „ I i 76 religious fool, Who, seeing war in h, for h's credit „ I i 140
In h signs ! Signs upon earth ! „ I i 159 see Deeper into the mysteries of h Than thou, „ I i 200
Not stagger'd by this ominous earth and h : But h and earth are threads „ I i 208
Did not H speak to men in dreams of old ? „ I ii 94 and her bells in h ; And other bells on earth, which yet are h's ; „ I ii 132 thunder moulded in high h To serve the Norman purpose, „ II ii 33 yon huge keep that hinders half the h. „ II ii 229 Cleave h, and send thy saints that I may say „ II ii 785 two young wings To fly to h straight with. „ III i 26 swear To consecrate my virgin here to h— „ III i 276 all promises Made in our agony for help from h ? „ III i 288 more the love, the more acceptable The sacrifice of both your loves to h. No sacrifice to h, no help from h ; „ III i 349
there are signs in h— „ III i 358
H yield us more ! for better, „ III ii 71
Yon h is wroth with thee ? „ V i 39
And all the H's and very God : they heard— „ V i 43
a sigh With these low-moaning h's. „ V i 152
We give our voice against thee out of h ! „ V i 261
The sign in h—the sudden blast at sea— „ V i 378
Charged with the weight of h wherefrom they fall ! „ V i 567
Ye that are now of h, and see beyond „ V i 618
The Norman sends his arrows up to H, „ V i 667 twelve stars fell glittering out of h Into her bosom. Becket I i 47
Why should not H have so inspired the King ? „ I i 130
I ask no more. H bless thee ! hence ! „ I i 321
Lest there be battle between H and Earth, „ I iii 226 Strong—not in mine own self, but H ; „ I iii 537 and see it mounting to H, my God bless you, „ I iv 38 beggars, poor rogues (H bless 'em) „ I iv 83 and glass The faithful face of h— „ II i 161 dwelt on that they rose and darken'd H. „ II ii 206 said to the smoke, ' Go up, my son, straight to H.' „ II ii 319 if he move at all, H stay him, is fain to diagonalise. „ II ii 329 like Mahound's coffin hung between h and earth— „ II ii 362 child We waited for so long—h's gift at last— „ III i 14

Heaven (continued) All praise to H, and sweet St. Magdalen ! Becket III iii 234
Earth's falses are h's truths. „ III iii 348
H help you ; get you hence in haste „ IV ii 26 thy true home—the h's—cry out for thee „ IV ii 132
I will fly with my sweet boy to h, „ IV ii 238
To bless thine enemies—— Becket. Ay, mine, not H's. „ V ii 26 lightnings that we think are only H's Flash sometimes out of earth against the h's. „ V ii 36
And private hates with our defence of H. „ V ii 53 to people h in the great day When God makes up his jewels. „ V ii 496
He is not here—Not yet, thank h. O save him ! „ V iii 17
Shall not H be served Tho' earth's last earthquake „ V iii 39 Seen by the Church in H, the Church on earth— „ V iii 98 open'd out The purple zone of hill and h ; The Cup I ii 408 cloudless h which we have found together „ I ii 415 drew the light From h to brood upon her, „ I iii 58 strike, make his feathers Glance in mid h. The Falcon 16
O h's ! the very letters seem to shake With cold, „ 447
Here, or else well in H, where all is well. „ 682
No other heart Of such magnificence in courtesy Beats—out of h. „ 724
And so return—H help him !—to our son. „ 861
H hears you, Philip Edgar ! Prom. of May I 760
H curse him if he come not at your call ! „ I 764
The body !—H's ! I come ! „ II 572
For all the blessed souls in H „ III 10 to be realised all at once, or altogether, or anywhere but in H ? „ III 187
I pray H we may not have to take to the rushes. Foresters I i 89 for the sake of the great blessed Mother in h, „ I i 97 come as freely as h's air and mother's milk ? „ I i 210
The high H guard thee from his wantonness, „ I ii 121 while the lark flies up and touches h ! „ I ii 316 topmost tree, that shoots New buds to h, „ I iii 26 that worship for me which H knows I ill deserve— „ I iii 161 and the blessed Queen of H, „ II i 39
The groining hid the h's ; „ II i 62
Thou comest a very angel out of h. „ II i 105
Your h is vacant of your angel. „ II i 109
—the Sheriff, and by h, Prince John himself „ II i 173
Give it me, by h, Or I will force it from thee. „ II i 594
Thou seem'st a saintly splendour out from h, „ II i 607 forest lawns are all as bright As ways to h, „ II i 632
When h falls, I may light on such a lark ! „ III 12
Those sweet tree-Cupids half-way up in h, „ III 36
Could live as happy as the larks in h, „ III 83 silent blessing of one honest man Is heard in h— „ III 322
Sweet h's, I could wish that all the land „ IV 666
I breathe H's air, and H looks down on me, „ IV 725
Heavenly I know He knew not, but those h ears have heard, Harold III i 258
Heavier Is it so much h than thy Chancellor's robe ? Becket I i 20
Not h than thine armour at Thoulouse ? „ I i 25
Beware, Lord Legate, of a h crime Than heresy is itself ; Queen Mary III iv 221
Heavy Too h for me, this, off with it, Herbert ! Becket I i 18
h As thine own bolts that fall on crimeful heads Harold V i 564 Hebrew But here's some H. Queen Mary II i 125 Hedgar (Edgar) What dost a knaw o' this Mr. H as be a-lodgin' wi' ye ? Prom. of May I 200
but if iver I cooms upo' Gentleman H ageän, „ II 137 Philip H o' Soomerset ! (repeat) „ II 586 whether thou be H, or H's business man, „ II 734 an' whether thou calls thysen H or Harold, „ II 737 Master H, Harold, or whativer They calls ye, „ III 726
Hedge matched with my Harold is like a h thistle by a garden rose. „ III 176
Hedged-in This poor, flat, h-i field—no distance— „ II 344
Hedge-pig besides H-p's, a savoury viand, Foresters IV 193
Hedge-priest He is but h-p, Sir King. „ IV 930
Hedge-rose like the wild h-r Of a soft winter, Queen Mary III vi 14
Heed (See also Take heed) You h not how you soil her maiden fame, Foresters IV 479
Heed (continued) I have had a year of prison-silence, Robin, And h him not— Foresters IV 925
Heel (See also Under-heel) bursten at the toes, and down at h's. Queen Mary I i 53
Her cap would brush his h's. „ III i 14 become Hideously alive again from head to h, „ IV iii 447 colt winced and whinnied and flung up her h's ; Becket, Pro. 516 less loyalty in it than the backward scrape of the clown's h— „ III iii 144 not yield To lay your neck beneath your citizen's h. „ V i 32 my heart so down in my h's that if I stay, I can't run. Foresters II i 347
Heerd (heard) I h summat as summun towld summun o' owld Bishop Gardiner's end ; Queen Mary IV iii 501 Height (See also Eagle-height) from that h something was said to me Becket II i 59
Blared from the h's of all the thrones of her kings, „ V ii 489
What breadth, h, strength—torrents of eddying bark ! Foresters III 94
Heir You, The h presumptive. Queen Mary I iv 33
—after me Is h of England ; „ I v 286
H of this England and the Netherlands ! „ I v 418 my father was the rightful h Of England, „ II ii 170
You must proclaim Elizabeth your h. (repeat) „ V i 191, 204 in happy state To give him an h male. „ V ii 573
Mary hath acknowledged you her h. „ V iii 31
She knew me, and acknowledged me her h, „ V v 256
Pronounced his h of England. Harold I ii 195
I am h Of England by the promise of her king. „ II ii 124
Why then the h of England, who is he ? „ II ii 567 hath King Edward not pronounced his h ? „ II ii 576 leave the royalty of my crown Unlessen'd to mine h's. Becket II i 108 citizen's h hath conquer'd me For the moment. „ II ii 60 left his h, Born, happily, with some sense of art, Prom. of May I 496
And cursed me, as the last h of my race : Foresters II ii 109 Held the boy she h Mimick'd and piped her 'Wyatt,' Queen Mary II ii 73 this day be h in after years More solemn „ III iii 89
I had h my head up then. „ III iii 246 were he wroth indeed, You h it less, or not at all. „ IV i 107
That when I was Archbishop h with me. „ IV ii 160
So h it till it all was burn'd, „ IV iii 615 and h up by the hair ? „ V ii 21
But h from you all papers sent by Rome, „ V ii 45 nor as some have h, Because I love the Norman better— Harold I i 170 she h with Edward, At least methought she h with holy Edward, „ I ii 49 yet he h that Dane, Jute, Angle, Saxon, „ IV i 75
He h with Morcar.— „ IV ii 43 were man's to have h The battle-axe by thee ! „ IV iii 12 whether that which h it Had weaken'd, „ V i 105
Some h she was his wife in secret— „ V ii 100
I h it with him in his English halls, „ V ii 128
And that the false Northumbrian h aloof, „ V ii 165
For Gilbert Foliot h himself the man. Becket I i 43
I that h the orange blossom Dark as the yew ? Prom. of May II 629
True, I have h opinions, hold some still, „ III 622
I h for Richard, and I hated John. Foresters II i 52
I ever h that saying false That Love is blind, „ II i 642 who heads the movement, h him craven ? „ II i 701 Tho' you should queen me over all the realms H by King Richard, „ IV 709 but all those that h with him, Except I plead for them, „ IV 748 Hell (See also A-hell-fire) Look at the New World—a paradise made h ; Queen Mary II i 208
Traced in the blackest text of H—' Thou shalt ! ' „ III i 426
Into the deathless h which is their doom „ III ii 175
The unity of Universal H, „ III iii 232
He burns in Purgatory, not in H. „ IV i 56
Or to be still in pain with devils in h ; „ IV iii 222 find Heaven or else h ready to swallow me, „ IV iii 224
There's nought but the vire of God's h ez can burn out that. „ IV iii 527
Adulterous to the very heart of H. „ V v 163 like a spirit in H who skips and flies Harold I i 11

Hell (continued) is this pendent h in heaven A harm to England? Harold I i 76
Is thy wrath H, that I should spare to cry, „ V i 37
H take thy bishop then, and my kingship too! Becket, Pro. 93
With a wanton in thy lodging—H requite 'em! „ I ii 9
I scatter all their cowls to all the h's. „ II i 93
Fling not thy soul into the flames of h: „ II i 316 which H's own heat So dwelt on that they rose „ II ii 204
I hear the yelping of the hounds of h. „ III ii 48
I would the Church were down in h! „ V i 218
Too late on earth may be too soon in h. „ V ii 528
She lies! They are made in H. Prom. of May III 711
By all the devils in and out of H! Foresters II ii 27
Devils, that make this blessed England h. „ III 128 yells of thief And rogue and liar echo down in H, „ III 324 Maid? Friar. Paramour! Friar. H take her! „ III 403
Or, like the Devils they are, straight up from H. „ IV 595
If anywhere, I shall find thee in h. „ IV 803
Hellebore madden Against his priest beyond all h. Becket IV ii 460
Hell-fire and the soul of Eleanor from h-f. „ Pro. 151
Hellstow Into Godstow, into H, Devilstow! „ V i 215
Helm (armour for the head) Cowl, h; and crozier, battle-axe. Harold V i 444
Helm (as of a boat) Cranmer, as the helmsman at the h Steers, Queen Mary IV iii 578 Helm (verb) wherefore not H the huge vessel of your state, „ V i 73 and no forsworn Archbishop Shall h the Church. Becket I iii 598 Helmet his hand Upon his h. Queen Mary V v 31
Of the Northumbrian h on the heath? Harold V i 144 gonfanon of Holy Peter Floating above their h's— „ V i 550
Helmeted not courtly to stand h Before the Queen. Queen Mary V v 36
Helmsman Cranmer, as the h at the helm Steers, „ IV iii 578
Help (s) thro' thine h we are come to London Bridge; „ II iii 8
Then whither should I flee for any h? „ IV iii 126
Without the h of Spain. „ V iii 78
England our own Thro' Harold's h, Harold II ii 79 all promises Made in our agony for h from heaven? „ III i 288
No sacrifice to heaven, no h from heaven; „ III i 350 pray, pray, pray—no h but prayer, „ III ii 195 but our h Is Harold, king of England. „ IV i 10 old crown Were little h without our Saxon carles „ IV i 35 Call not for h from me. I knew him not. „ V ii 54 butts him from his chair, Will need my h— Becket, Pro. 218 Past h! his paws are past h. God help him! „ I iv 110
Man's h! but we, we have the Blessed Virgin „ V ii 219
But for the slender h that I can give, Prom. of May II 421
Help (verb) I cannot h it. Queen Mary I ii 60
I will h you, Madam, Even to the utmost. „ I v 177
But h her in this exigency, „ II ii 18
The King of France will h to break it. „ III i 105
H it can I? with my hands Milking the cow? „ III v 101
H me: what think you, Is it life or death? „ III v 192
I'll h you, if I may. „ III v 205 these burnings will not h The purpose of the faith; „ IV ii 184
May God h you Thro' that dark hour! „ IV ii 195 are profitless to the burners, And h the other side. „ IV ii 220
Heaven h that this re-action not re-act „ IV iii 388
Not to h me? They hate me also for my love to you, „ V i 94 many English in your ranks To h your battle. „ V i 112
Will you not h me here? „ V i 161
You did but h King Philip's war with France, „ V ii 313
God h me, but methinks I love her less „ V ii 420
Drugs—but he knows they cannot h me— „ V v 61
—H me hence. „ V v 200
Would h thee from the trap. Harold I i 383
H the good ship, showing the sunken rock, „ II ii 100
Good, good, and thou wilt h me to the crown? „ II ii 614
I ask thee, wilt thou h me to the crown? „ II ii 627
Swear thou to h me to the crown of England. „ II ii 705
I swear to h thee to the crown of England . . . (repeat) Harold II ii 712, 721
h to build a throne Out-towering hers of France . . . Harold II ii 763
To h us from their brethren yonder? „ III i 221
Oh God! I cannot h it, but at times They seem to me „ III ii 63
Help (verb) (continued) God h me! I know nothing— Harold III ii 193
To h the realm from scattering. „ IV i 106 will ye upon oath, H us against the Norman? „ IV i 181
I cannot find his body. O h me thou! „ V ii 20
Forgive me thou, and h me here! „ V ii 22
Not h me, nor forgive me? „ V ii 24 thou didst h me to my throne In Theobald's time, Becket, Pro. 200 Shall I not h your lordship to your rest? „ I i 1 better than thyself That thou shouldst h me? „ I i 5
H me off, Herbert, with this— „ I i 10
Past help! his paws are past help. God h him! „ I iv 110
God h her, That she was sworn to silence. „ III i 77
Heaven h you; get you hence in haste „ IV ii 26
H! h! Eleanor. They say that walls have ears; „ IV ii 78
God h thee! „ V ii 296 laid mine own life down To h him from them, „ V ii 340
I cannot h the mould that I was cast in. The Cup I iii 25
Employ us, heat us, quicken us, h us, „ I iii 131
O h us from all that oppress us! „ II 5
Will hardly h to make him sane again. The Falcon 83
Not quite recover'd of your wound, the wine Might h you. „ 592
And so return—Heaven h him!—to our own. „ 861
We two together Will h to heal your son— „ 923
H me to move this bench for him into the sun. Prom. of May I 80
Seem my good angel who may h me from it. „ II 388
How can I h him? „ II 392
I trust I may be able by-and-by to h you in the business of the farm; „ III 222 and I asked her once more to h me, „ III 388
And I will follow thee, and God h us both. Foresters I i 278
God's good Angel H him back hither, „ I ii 11
I must pass overseas to one that I trust will h me. „ I ii 153
I cannot h you in this exigency; „ I ii 273
A worthy messenger! how should he h it? „ I iii 86 for, God h us, we lie by nature. „ II i 237 to h the old man When he was fighting. „ II i 541 balms and simples of the field To h a wound. „ II ii 13 Robin's an outlaw, but he h's the poor. While Richard hath outlaw'd himself, and h's Nor rich, nor poor. „ IV 358
—God h the mark— „ IV 714
Hail, knight, and h us. „ IV 765 Help'd-helpt (See also Holp, Holpen) Pole Will tell you that the devil helpt them thro' it. Queen Mary IV iii 352 some familiar spirit must have help'd him. Harold II ii 677
The Norseman's raid Hath helpt the Norman, „ V i 292 and his brother Tostig helpt; „ V ii 47
King Stephen gave Many of the crown lands to those that helpt him; Becket I iii 151
King Louis, Who helpt me when none else. „ III iii 249 frost That help'd to check the flowing of the blood. The Falcon 645 Helping as she was h to build the mound against the city. Foresters II i 308
Helpless the red man, that good h creature, starved, maim'd, flogg'd, Queen Mary II i 209
And cruel at it, killing h flies; „ III iv 65 our h folk Are wash'd away, wailing, in their own blood— Harold II ii 470
Helpt See Help'd
Heman (a singer) sing, Asaph! clash The cymbal, H! „ III i 188
Hen (See also Sitting-hen) a fox may filch a h by night, Queen Mary III v 157
Who stole the widow's sitting h o' Sunday, Becket I iv 121 Sitting h! Our Lord Becket's our great sitting-hen cock, „ I iv 124
The h cluckt late by the white farm gate, Prom. of May I 38 a fox from the glen ran away with the h, „ I 52
Henceforward none shall hold them in his house and live, H. Queen Mary IV i 98
Henry (Bedingfield) (See also Henry Bedingfield) I woke Sir H—and he's true to you— „ III v 60
Henry (King of France) but we play with H, King of France, „ I iii 131
King H warms your traitors at his hearth. „ V i 123 this H Stirs up your land against you „ V i 130
Henry (son of Henry II.) I will have My young son H crowned the King of England, Becket, Pro. 224

Henry (son of Henry II.) (continued) You have not crown'd young H yet, Becket II ii 2
England scarce would hold Young H king, „ II ii 32
For England, crown young H there, „ II ii 456
I go to have young H crown'd by York. „ II ii 478 and crown Young H there to-morrow. „ III ii 10 hath in this crowning of young H by York and London „ III iii 71
And thou shalt crown my H o'er again. „ III iii 206
On those that crown'd young H in this realm, „ V ii 392

Henry (the Eighth) (See also Harry the Eighth, Herod-Henry) When H broke the carcase of your church Queen Mary I v 397
This Gardiner turn'd his coat in H's time; „ III iii 17
And in my master H's time; „ III iii 228
Did she not In H's time and Edward's? „ III iv 132 for since H for a doubt— „ IV iii 399 beard, which he had never shaven Since H's death, „ IV iii 594

Henry (the First) Hereford, you know, crown'd the first H. Becket. But Anselm crown'd this H o'er again. Becket III iii 202

Henry (the Second) (See also Henry of England) What should come Between us, H? „ Pro. 196 as brave a soldier as H and a goodlier man: „ Pro. 437
I can see further into a man than our hot-headed H, „ Pro. 464
H had many, and I loved him none the less— „ Pro. 476
For H could not work a miracle— „ I i 40
H the King hath been my friend, my brother, „ I i 87
I served King H well as Chancellor; „ I i 144 chart which H gave you With the red line— „ I ii 61
Didst thou not promise H to obey These ancient laws „ I iii 17
King H sware That, saving his King's kingship, „ I iii 27
Shall I do less for Canterbury Than H for the crown? „ I iii 148
When H came into his own again, „ I iii 153
This did H. „ I iii 158
Hath H told thee? hast thou talk'd with him? „ I iii 258
This Almoner hath tasted H's gold. The cardinals have finger'd H's gold. „ I iii 294 might well have sway'd All England under H, „ I iii 468 betwixt thine Appeal, and H's anger, yield. „ I iii 623
I had been so true To H and mine office „ I iii 693 obey, not me, but God in me, Rather than H. „ I iii 722
That in thy cause were stirr'd against King H, „ II ii 430 tho' I count H honest enough, yet when fear creeps „ III iii 60 save King H gave thee first the kiss of peace. „ III iii 253 life which H bad me Guard from the stroke „ IV ii 268
H Says many a thing in sudden heats, „ IV ii 275
H—Becket tells him this—To take my life „ IV ii 394
I that wedded H, Honouring his manhood— „ IV ii 420 Down with King H! up with the Archbishop! „ V i 260 was out with H in the days When H loved me, „ V ii 230 Ready to fall at H's word or yours— „ V ii 486
Save him, his blood would darken H's name; „ V iii 11

Henry Bedingfield (See also Henry) Sir H B May split it for a spite. Queen Mary III v 47
Sir H B! I will have no man true to me, „ III v 63

Henry of England (the Second) I loved H o E, and H o E dreamed that he loved me; Becket, Pro. 357

Henry of Winchester (Bishop of Winchester, brother of King Stephen) H o W? Henry. Him who crown'd Stephen— „ Pro. 272

Henry the Seventh See Harry the Seventh

Her Yet h—what h? he hinted of some h— Becket III i 242

Herald In this full tide of love, Wave h's wave: Foresters IV 1044

Herb See Willow-herb

Herbert (of Bosham) There's no jest on the brows of H there. What is it, H? Becket, Pro. 391 Leave me with H, friend. Help me off, H, „ I i 9
Too heavy for me, this; off with it, H! „ I i 19
O H, H, in my chancellorship I more than once „ I i 27
O H, here I gash myself asunder from the King, „ I i 174
Pass in with H there. „ I i 184
H, take out a score of armed men „ I i 327
I am martyr in myself already.—H! „ I i 362
And H hath rebuked me even now. „ I i 385
H, H, have I betray'd the Church? „ I iii 284

Herbert (of Bosham) (continued) H, till I hear from the Pope I will suspend myself Becket I iii 299
H, for the sake of the Church itself, „ I iv 152
Better have been A fisherman at Bosham, my good H, „ II ii 292
H, When I was in mine anger with King Louis, „ III iii 256

Herb-of-grace Mercy, that h-o-g, Flowers now but seldom. Queen Mary III vi 9

Hercules He fasts, they say, this mitred H! Becket I iii 519

Herd You are the stateliest deer in all the h— Queen Mary V ii 426

Hereafter Do not fear it. Of that h. „ I v 131

Hereford (Bishop of) H, you know, crown'd the first Henry. Becket III iii 201

Heresiarch Did I call him heretic? A huge h! Queen Mary IV iii 46

Heresy no one in her time should be burnt for h. „ I i 97
Stiff as the very backbone of h. „ I v 44
There is no h there. „ III i 272
To absolve thee from thy guilt of h. „ III ii 53
All hollow'd out with stinging heresies; And for their heresies, „ III ii 203 all the realm And its dominions from all h, „ III iii 216 heat enough To scorch and wither h to the root. „ III iv 28
If we could burn out h, my Lord Paget, „ III iv 53
Paget, You stand up here to fight for h, „ III iv 92 wherein have been Such holocausts of h! „ III iv 108 plunge and fall Of h to the pit: „ III iv 142 of a heavier crime Than h is itself; „ III iv 222 you are art and part with us In purging h, „ III iv 317
To deal with h gentlier. „ III vi 58
In hope to crush all h under Spain. „ III vi 84
He hath recanted all his heresies. „ IV i 49
Cranmer is head and father of these heresies, „ IV i 76
Your learning, and your stoutness, and your h, „ IV ii 126
Pitiful to this pitiful h? „ IV ii 163
despite his fearful heresies, I loved the man, „ IV iii 634
He has cited me to Rome, for h, „ V ii 42 and what h since? „ V ii 89 in pursuing h I have gone beyond your late Lord Chancellor,— „ V ii 97 Ah! much h Shelter'd in Calais. „ V ii 298 you were burnt for h, not for treason, „ V v 139
What's up is faith, what's down is h. Harold I i 84

Heretic (adj.) Gardiner perchance is ours; But for our h Parliament— Queen Mary I v 388
It was not meet the h swine should live In Lambeth. „ III ii 134
His sword shall hew the h peoples down! „ III ii 178
h throats Cried no God-bless-her to the Lady Jane, „ III iv 44
That layest so long in h bonds with me; „ III iv 280
That I should spare to take a h priest's, „ IV i 131
But on the h dunghill only weeds. „ IV i 180
He here, this h metropolitan, „ IV iii 43
And cried I was not clean, what should I care? Or you, for h cries? „ V ii 326
We have but burnt The h priest, workmen, and women and children. „ V v 106
That my poor h heart would excommunicate His excommunication, Becket II i 283

Heretic (s) (See also Traitor-heretic) disaffected, h's, reformers, Look to you Queen Mary I iv 170 married The mother of Elizabeth—a h Ev'n as she is; but God hath sent me here To take such order with all h's „ I v 32 Bad you go softly with your h's here, „ I v 392 tell you that all English h's have tails. „ III i 229
But so I get the laws against the h, „ III i 323
As traitor, or as h, or for what? „ III iii 272
To bring the h to the stake, „ III iv 9
For h and traitor are all one: „ III iv 38
there be some disloyal Catholics, And many h's loyal; „ III iv 44
We kill the h's that sting the soul— „ III iv 68
You are more than guess'd at as a h, „ III iv 93
I would not, were I Queen, tolerate the h, „ III iv 210
To gorge a h whole, roasted or raw. „ III iv 344 and the Pope Together, says the h. „ IV i 29
The h must burn. „ IV i 122
Yet a h still. „ IV i 158

Heretic (s) (continued) And there be many h's in the town, Queen Mary IV ii 30
Did I call him h? A huge heresiarch! „ IV iii 45
Ay, stop the h's mouth! Hale him away! „ IV iii 282
I know them h's, but right English ones. „ IV iii 344
I have seen h's of the poorer sort, „ IV iii 436
No faith with h's, my Lord! „ IV iii 458
Than h of these times; „ IV iii 599 blood and sweat of h's at the stake Is God's best dew „ V i 101
But she's a h, and, when I am gone, „ V i 200
So brands me in the stare of Christendom, A h! „ V ii 63 all my lifelong labour to uphold The primacy—a h. „ V ii 71
A h! He drew his shaft against me to the head, „ V ii 79 have sent me Legate hither, Deeming me h? „ V ii 89
I, a h? Your Highness knows that in pursuing heresy „ V ii 95
the Pope Pointing at me with 'Pole, the h, „ V ii 175
H and rebel Point at me and make merry. „ V ii 316
Heretical Touch him upon his old h talk, „ III iv 352
I will take Such order with all bad, h books „ IV i 95
Hereward the Wake have loved Harold the Saxon, or H t W. Foresters I i 228 our great Earl, the bravest English heart Since H t W, „ II i 688
Heritage to the intent That you may lose your English h. Queen Mary V i 133
Yea, let a stranger spoil his h, Becket II ii 259
Hern No bird? Filippo. Half a tit and a h's bill. The Falcon 131
Hern (hers) Our Daisy's butter's as good 'z h. Queen Mary IV iii 482
Herod since your H's death, How oft hath Peter „ III ii 61
Herod-Henry When H-H first Began to batter „ III iv 184
Hero-like howsoever h-l the man Dies in the fire, „ IV iii 324
Herring-pond liest as loud as the black h-p behind thee. Harold II i 26
Herring-shoal here's a crowd as thick as h-s's. Queen Mary III i 182
Hers See Hern
Herse (horse) Blacksmith, thaw be niver shoes a h to my likings; Prom. of May I 448
Herse-pond (horse-pond) I'd like to drag 'im thruff the h-p, and she to be a-lookin' at it. „ II 593
Hew His sword shall h the heretic peoples down! Queen Mary III ii 178
Hewn I'll have the drawbridge h into the Thames, „ II ii 376
They had h the drawbridge down into the river. „ II iii 18
Hid with his brother Odo The Bayeux bishop, and I h myself. Harold II ii 348
I was afraid of her, and I h myself. Prom. of May I 551
She h this sister, told me she was dead— „ III 689
The groining h the heavens; Foresters II i 62
Hidden Then h in the street He watch'd her pass Becket I ii 39
From all the h by-ways of the world „ III iii 15
I hate h faces. (repeat) Foresters I ii 245, 251 Hide (skin) town Hung out raw h's along their walls, Harold II ii 383 clench'd their pirate h's To the bleak church doors, „ IV iii 36
Hide (verb) and h himself and die; Queen Mary IV i 142
To h the scar left by thy Parthian dart. Becket, Pro. 377
Save me, father, h me—they follow me— „ I i 181 and once he strove to h his face, „ III iii 103
I will h my face, Blacken and gipsyfy it; „ IV ii 98
But these arm'd men—will you not h yourself? „ V ii 247
Pray you, h yourself. „ V ii 257
The murderers, hark! Let us h! let us h! „ V iii 47
Why wearest thou thy cowl to h thy face? Foresters I ii 206 thou canst not h thyself From her who loves thee. „ II ii 24
You h this damsel in your forest here, „ IV 476
Hide and seek You play at h a s. Queen Mary I v 305
Higgins (a farm labourer) H, Jackson, Luscombe, Nokes, Prom. of May III 52
High Before our own H Court of Parliament, Queen Mary II ii 234
There stands a man, once of so h degree, „ IV iii 68
And bolts of thunder moulded in h heaven To serve the Norman purpose, Harold II ii 32 that thus baptized in blood Grew ever h and higher, „ III i 148 let our h altar Stand where their standard fell . . . „ V ii 138
Then I saw Thy h black steed among the flaming furze, Becket II i 55
And is the King's if too h a stile for your lordship to overstep „ III iii 281
But crowns must bow when mitres sit so h. „ IV ii 298
The h Heaven guard thee from his wantonness, Foresters I ii 121
Till Nature, h and low, and great and small Forgets herself, „ I ii 326
Highback'd The deer, the h polecat, the wild boar, Foresters I iii 119
High-dropsy Or a h-d, as the doctors call it. Queen Mary III ii 225 Higher I'll have my head set h in the state; „ II i 250 eyes So bashful that you look'd no h? „ III i 65
O h, holier, earlier, purer church, „ IV ii 108
Grew ever high and h, beyond my seeing, Harold III i 148
Your ladyship lives h in the sun. The Falcon 583 strain to make ourselves Better and h than Nature, Prom. of May I 604 Highest That all of you, the h as the lowest, Queen Mary IV iii 64 great Angel past along the h Crying Harold III i 133
Angel rose And past again along the h „ III i 156
Glory to God in the H! fallen, fallen! „ V i 636
High-hearted Then the maid is not h-h enough. Foresters I i 258
High-priest I have it . . . My lord Paramount, Our great H-p, Becket IV ii 357
High-set sitting here Between the two most h-s thrones on earth, Queen Mary III ii 106
Hildebrand (afterwards Pope Gregory VII.) and that Archdeacon H His master, Harold III ii 144
Hill this land is like a h of fire, Queen Mary III i 521 signs on earth! Knowest thou Senlac h? Harold III i 361 passing by that h three nights ago— „ III i 366
And dreadful shadows strove upon the h, „ III i 378
A h, a fort, a city—that reach'd a band „ IV i 44 another h Or fort, or city, took it, „ IV i 49 had in it Wales, Her floods, her woods, her h's: „ IV i 207 and yet I saw thee drive him up his h's— „ IV i 211 Scatter thy people home, descend the h, „ V i 10 tell him we stand arm'd on Senlac H, „ V i 60
Gurth, Leofwin, go once more about the h— „ V i 183
To tell thee thou shalt die on Senlac h— „ V i 242
He glitters on the crowning of the h. „ V i 488
All the Norman foot Are storming up the h. „ V i 523 axes lighten with a single flash About the summit of the h, „ V i 539 their horse Swallow the h locust-like, „ V i 560
The horse and horseman roll along the h, „ V i 595
Look out upon the h—is Harold there? „ V i 669 build a church to God Here on the h of battle; „ V ii 138 open'd out The purple zone of h and heaven; The Cup I ii 408 whose breath Is balmy wind to robe our h's with grass, „ II 265 storm was drawing hither Across the h's „ II 320 there is Monna Giovanna coming down the h from the castle. The Falcon 161 out of the forest and over the h's and away, Foresters II ii 176
Old as the h's. „ IV 301
I see two figures crawling up the h. „ IV 333
Hillo H, the stag! What, you are all unfurnish'd? The Cup I i 205
H! H! „ I i 214
Hilt Look at the h. What excellent workmanship. Becket IV ii 314
Himself See 'Issen
Hinder I'd make a move myself to h that: Queen Mary III i 127
What h's but that Spain and England join'd, „ V iii 68
What h's me to hold with mine own men? Harold II i 102 yon huge keep that h's half the heaven. „ II ii 228 Hindering See Burial-hindering
Hinted Yet her—what her? he h of some her— Becket III i 243
Hip Back and side and h and rib, Foresters II ii 120
Hiss and h Against the blaze they cannot quench— Harold III i 395
Hiss'd As we past, Some hail'd, some h us. Queen Mary II ii 61
And h against the sun? Becket V iii 45
Hissing Stab me in fancy, h Spain and Philip; Queen Mary I v 150 Whose doings are a horror to the east, A h in the west!' Becket IV ii 245
History how often in old histories have the great men Foresters I i 242 Hit This is the likelier tale. We have h the place. Becket III ii 43
This is no bow to h nightingales; Foresters II i 391
H! Did I not tell you an old woman could shoot better? „ II i 406 Hive So hated here! I watch'd a h of late; Queen Mary III iii 46 bees, If any creeping life invade their h „ III iii 54 when our good h Needs every sting to save it. Harold IV i 17 Hoäm (home) H wi' it, then. Haymaker. Well, it be the last loäd h. Prom. of May II 143 as I said afoor, it be the last loäd h; do thou and thy sweet'art sing us h to supper— „ II 169
—'The Last Loäd H.' (repeat) „ II 171, 172

Hoäm (home) (continued) At the end of the daäy, For the last loäd h? (repeat) Prom. of May II 184, 195
Till the end of the daäy And the last loäd h. „ II 209
Till the end o' the daäy An' the last loäd h.' „ II 239
To the end o' the daäy An' the last loäd h.' „ II 260
An' the last loäd h, Loäd h.' „ II 293
H? fro' the bottom o' the river? „ III 443
Hoäm-maäde (home-made) and Baäker, thaw I sticks to h-m— „ I 449
Hoarse I have, my Lord, shouted till I am h. Queen Mary III i 291
Hobnail'd Your rights and charters h into slush— „ II ii 278
Hodge H 'ud ha' been a-harrowin' o' white peasen i' the outfield— „ IV iii 491
Hog The h hath tumbled himself into some corner, Becket I i 369 Hoist But I would h the drawbridge, like thy master. Foresters I i 318
Hold (s) (See also Holt) hottest h in all the devil's den Queen Mary V iv 15
Hold (verb) (See also 'Owd) Seek to possess our person, h our Tower, „ II ii 158
I may be wrong, sir. This marriage will not h. „ III i 103
There's a brave man, if any. Bagenhall. Ay; if it h. „ III i 176 that no foreigner H office in the household, „ III iii 72
So then you h the Pope— Gardiner. I h the Pope!
What do I h him? what do I h the Pope? „ III iv 371 none shall h them in his house and live, „ IV i 96 could scarce meet his eye And h your own; „ IV i 105
I h by all I wrote within that book. „ IV iii 275
I do h The Catholic, if he have the greater right, „ IV iii 381 strike Their hearts, and h their babies up to it. Harold I i 35 much ado To h mine own against old Gurth. „ I i 438 thine eyelids into sleep, Will h mine waking. „ I ii 141
H thine own, if thou canst! „ II i 79
my men H that the shipwreckt are accursed of God;—
What hinders me to h with mine own men? „ II i 100
We h our Saxon woodcock in the springe, „ II ii 1
Yet I h out against them, as I may, Yea—would h out, „ II ii 552
Better to be a liar's dog, and h My master honest, „ III i 125
And Morcar h's with us. „ IV ii 46 must h The sequel had been other than his league „ IV iii 87
No power mine To h their force together . . . „ IV iii 213
This is the hottest of it: h, ash! h, willow! „ V i 628
The Church should h her baronies of me, Becket, Pro. 24
Thou hast but to h out thy hand. „ Pro. 412
And many a baron h's along with me— „ I ii 52 among you those that h Lands reft from Canterbury. „ I iii 140
And mean to h it, or—— Becket. To have my life. „ I iii 162
Wilt thou h out for ever, Thomas Becket? „ I iii 265 h's his cross before him thro' the crowd, „ I iii 477
I h not by my signing. „ I iii 563
But we h Thou art forsworn; „ I iii 595
I h Nothing in fee and barony of the King. Whatever the Church owns—she h's it in Free and perpetual alms, „ I iii 677
If the King h his purpose, I am myself a beggar. „ I iv 89
England scarce would h Young Henry king, „ II ii 31
We h by his defiance, not his defect. „ II ii 218 cursed those De Brocs That h our Saltwood Castle from our see! „ II ii 269 Map scoffs at Rome. I all but h with Map. „ II ii 385 keep the figure moist and make it h water, „ III iii 166 the lady h's the cleric Lovelier than any soldier, „ V i 193
Who h With York, with York against me. „ V ii 62
De Morville, H her away. De Morville. I h her. „ V iii 173
See here—I stretch my hand out—h it there. The Cup II 210
I am sinking—h me—Let me alone. „ II 478
I think I scarce could h my head up there. Prom. of May I 689
True, I have held opinions, h some still, „ III 622 Lady Marian h's her nose when she steps across it. Foresters I i 83 handle all womankind gently, and h them in all honour, „ I i 99 there is a lot of wild fellows in Sherwood Forest who h by King Richard. „ I ii 73 last time When I shall h my birthday in this hall: „ I ii 89
How she looks up at him, how she h's her face! „ I ii 144
I fear you be of those who h more by John than Richard. „ I ii 198 good fellows there in merry Sherwood That h by Richard, „ I iii 100
They h by Richard—the wild wood! „ I iii 110
O h thy hand! this is our Marian. „ II ii 36

Hold (verb) (continued) but I h thee The husband of my heart, Foresters III 139
You hope to h and keep her for yourself, „ IV 477 mate with one that h's no love is pure, „ IV 711 if you h us here Longer from our own venison. „ IV 941 Holdest thou, De Broc, that h Saltwood Castle— Becket I iii 160 that h thine estates In fee and barony „ I iii 674 Hold-fast Such h-f claws that you perforce again „ II ii 86
Holding true To either function, h it; „ I iii 538
Hold'st Thou h with him? (repeat) Foresters II i 526, 530 Hole skulk into corners Like rabbits to their h's. Queen Mary II iv 56 creep down into some dark h Like a hurt beast, „ IV i 141 crawl down thine own black h To the lowest Hell. The Cup II 495 Holiday a boon, my king, Respite, a h: Harold I i 227
Holier O higher, h, earlier, purer church, Queen Mary IV ii 108
They are so much h than their harlot's son Harold V ii 11
Foliot is the h man, perhaps the better. Becket III iii 92
Holiest From all the h shrines in Normandy! Harold II ii 735
The H of our H one should be This William's fellow-tricksters; „ III ii 76
More, what the mightiest and the h Of all his predecessors Becket II ii 179
Holiness that you might not seem To disobey his H. Queen Mary V ii 53 his politic H Hath all but climb'd the Roman perch Becket II ii 45 His H, pushed one way by the Empire and another by England, „ II ii 327 will not your H Vouchsafe a gracious answer „ IV ii 358 Holla'd (shouted) I h to him, but he didn't hear me: „ III ii 25
Holler (hollow) Dan Smith's cart hes runned ower a laädy i' the h laäne, Prom. of May II 569
Ye sees the h laäne be hallus sa dark i' the arternoon, „ III 92
Hollow (adj.) (See also Holler) —no distance—this H Pandora-box, „ II 346 when you lamed the lady in the h lane. „ III 90
Do you still suffer from your fall in the h lane. „ III 241
Scarlet hacking down A h ash, a bat flew out at him Foresters II ii 96 though thou wert like a bottle full up to the cork, or as h as a kex, „ IV 211 Hollow (verb) voice of the deep as it h's the cliffs of the land. Becket II i 4 tho' the drop may h out the dead stone, Becket III iii 315
Hollow'd All h out with stinging heresies; Queen Mary III ii 203
Hollow-hearted Some h-h from exceeding age— Foresters III 96
Hollowness Bring not thy h On our full feast. Harold IV iii 203
Holocaust wherein have been Such h's of heresy! Queen Mary III iv 108
Holp (See also Help'd) he h the King to break down our castles, Becket, Pro. 446
I do believe he h Northumberland Against me. Queen Mary I v 278
Holpen (See also Help'd) Had h Richard's tottering throne to stand, „ III i 114
Not so well h in our wars with France, „ III vi 188
All widows we have h pray for us, Foresters IV 1078
Holt (hold) and tells un ez the vire has tuk h. Queen Mary IV iii 512
Holy —hath sent for the h legate of the h father the Pope, Cardinal Pole, to give us all that absolution which— „ I iii 26
H absolution! h Inquisition! „ I iii 31
Son Courtenay, wilt thou see the h father Murdered „ I iii 64
No, by the h Virgin, being noble, But love me only: „ I v 70
H Virgin, Plead with thy blessed Son; „ I v 83 Makes me his mouth of h greeting. „ III ii 80 sent here as Legate From our most H Father Julius, Pope, „ III iii 126 Against the H Father's primacy, „ III iii 131 of all censures Of H Church that we be fall'n into, „ III iii 152 Unto the h see and reigning Pope Serve God „ III iii 158
Our Lord and H Father, Julius, God's Vicar „ III iii 212 or more Denied the H Father! „ III iv 248
I kept my head for use of H Church; „ III iv 359 range Among the pleasant fields of H Writ „ III v 80
As once the H Father did with mine, „ III v 243
Against the King, the Queen, the H Father, „ III vi 33
The H Virgin will not have me yet Lose the sweet hope „ III vi 199
The H Father in a secular kingdom Is as the soul „ IV i 34
It is God's will, the H Father's will, „ IV i 184 and I Scraped from your finger-points the h oil; „ IV ii 132
As if he had been the H Father, sat And judged it. „ IV iii 44
For if our H Queen not pardon him, „ IV iii 61

Holy (continued) O H Ghost! proceeding from them both, Queen Mary IV iii 119 Who deems it a most just and h war. „ V i 147 and of his h head— „ V i 157
And yet I must obey the H Father, „ V ii 38
We have made war upon the H Father All for your sake: „ V ii 307
No, Madam, not against the H Father; „ V ii 312
And done such mighty things by H Church, „ V v 74 set up The H Office here—garner the wheat, „ V v 113
H Father Has ta'en the legateship from our cousin Pole— „ V v 125
Our h Norman bishops down from all Their thrones in England? Harold I i 50
I have builded the great Church of H Peter: „ I i 180
And, H Mary! How Harold used to beat him! „ I i 431
At least methought she held with h Edward, „ I ii 51
'O blessed relics!' O H Peter!' „ I ii 171
And that the H Saints of Normandy When thou art home in England, „ II ii 727
The h bones of all the Canonised „ II ii 734
I would I were As h and as passionless as he! „ III i 43
H? ay, ay, forsooth, A conscience for his own soul, „ III i 61 loftiest minster ever built To H Peter in our English isle! „ III i 206
And all our just and wise and h men That shall be born hereafter. „ III i 209
Our h king Hath given his virgin lamb to H Church „ III i 334 for the king Is h, and hath talk'd with God, „ III i 355 loved within the pale forbidden By H Church: „ III ii 24 Kiss me—thou art not A h sister yet, my girl, „ III ii 81 and have sent him back A h gonfanon, „ III ii 148 Forward! Forward! Harold and H Cross! „ IV i 269
H Father Hath given this realm of England to the Norman. „ V i 12
H Father To do with England's choice of her own king? „ V i 17 the H Rood had lean'd And bow'd above me; „ V i 102 made too good an use of H Church To break her close! „ V i 312
the H Rood That bow'd to me at Waltham— „ V i 382
Harold and H Cross! (repeat) Harold V i 439, 519, 662
What power, h father? Harold V i 454 gonfanon of H Peter Floating above their helmets— „ V i 549
His oath was broken—O h Norman Saints, „ V i 616
The H Father strangled him with a hair Of Peter, „ V ii 45
And but that H Peter fought for us, „ V ii 164 to whom thou art bound By H Church. Becket, Pro. 68
I, true son Of H Church—no croucher to the Gregories Pro. 211 the H Father, while This Barbarossa butts him from his chair, Pro. 215
Name him; the H Father will confirm him. Pro. 244
Our h mother Canterbury, who sits With tatter'd robes. I i 156
O, h father, when thou seest him next, I i 322
Knowing how much you reverence H Church, I ii 48
Are not so much at feud with H Church I ii 54 and lay My crozier in the H Father's hands, I iii 125
Have I the orders of the H Father? I iii 233
The secret whisper of the H Father. I iii 236
The spire of H Church may prick the graves— I iii 553
Becket shall be king, and the H Father shall be king, I iv 270
The h Thomas! Brother, you have traffick'd Between the Emperor and the Pope, II ii 66
H Church May rock, but will not wreck, II ii 102
thanks of H Church are due to those That went before us II ii 190 Thee, thou h Thomas! I would that thou hadst been the H Father. II ii 398
I would have done my most to keep Rome h, II ii 401
Forgive me and absolve me, h father. II ii 441 with the H Father astride of it down upon his own head. III iii 77 False oath on h cross—for thou must leave him To-day, IV ii 209 God's Grace and H Church deliver'd us. IV ii 309 sometimes I have overshot My duties to our H Mother Church, V i 38 crying On H Church to thunder out her rights V ii 31
Nor make me traitor to my h office. V ii 149
To assail our H Mother lest she brood Too long V ii 251

Holy (continued) scare me from my loyalty To God and to the H Father. Becket V ii 483
Valour and h life should go together. „ V ii 587
Thy h follower founded Canterbury— „ V iii 5 and take this h cup To lodge it in the shrine of Artemis. The Cup I ii 434
To lodge this cup Within the h shrine of Artemis, „ I iii 53
H mother! To breakfast! Oh sweet saints! The Falcon 214
I keep it For h vows made to the blessed Saints Foresters I ii 175 he is a h Palmer, bounden by a vow not to show his face, „ I ii 236 till he join King Richard in the H Land. Robin. Going to the H Land to Richard! „ I ii 239 by this H Cross Which good King Richard gave me „ I ii 309
For playing upside down with H Writ. „ III 168
And you three h men, „ III 382
In the sweat of thy brow, says H Writ, shalt thou eat bread, „ IV 201
The H Virgin Stand by the strongest. „ IV 263 our friar is so h That he's a miracle-monger, „ IV 280
he flung His life, heart, soul into those h wars „ IV 407 Heading the h war against the Moslem, „ IV 818 like the man In H Writ, who brought his talent back; „ IV 981
And join'd my banner in the H Land, „ IV 1000
Holy Ghost O H G! proceeding from them both, Queen Mary IV iii 119 Homage Then here she stands! my h. „ V v 254 all manner of h's, and observances, and circumbendibuses. Foresters I i 103 Home (See also Hoäm) Struck h and won. Queen Mary I v 554 nearer h, the Netherlands, Sicily, Naples, „ II i 212
A smile abroad is oft a scowl at h. „ III i 213 bring it H to the leisure wisdom of his Queen, „ III vi 23 thou art reclaim'd; He brings thee h: „ IV iii 84
Albeit he think himself at h with God, „ IV iii 192
When I should guide the Church in peace at h, „ V ii 68
You had best go h. What are you? „ V iv 43
Good night! Go h. Get you h at once. „ V iv 61
Thy life at h Is easier than mine here. Harold I i 96
I pray thee, let me hence and bring him h. „ I i 242
I should let him h again, my lord. „ II ii 63
Since thou hast promised Wulfnoth h with us, Be h again with Wulfnoth. „ II ii 167 poor lad! how sick and sad for h! „ II ii 326
When thou art h in England, with thine own, „ II ii 728
No footfall—no Fitzurse. We have seen her h. Becket I i 368
We be a-going h after our supper in all humbleness, „ I iv 206 thy true h—the heavens—cry out for thee „ IV ii 132
Moon bring him h, bring him h The Cup I ii 5
H, sweet moon, bring him h, H with the flock „ I ii 7
A miracle that they let him h again, „ I ii 270
Strange that the words at h with me so long The Falcon 525 how long you have been away from h! Prom. of May I 768 Close by that alder-island in your brook, 'The Angler's H.' „ II 536
Let bygones be bygones. Go h! Good-night! „ III 157
'Go h;' but I hadn't the heart or face to do it. „ III 389
Eva has come h. Steer. Hoäm? „ III 442
So happy in herself and in her h— „ III 756
we should have better battels at h. Foresters I i 58
Cleave to him, father! he will come h at last. „ I i 198 till King Richard come h again. „ I ii 141
Now the King is h again, and nevermore to roam again, Now the King is h again, the King will have his own again, H again, h again, and each will have his own again, All the birds in merry Sherwood sing and sing him h again. „ IV 1103
Homely You have but trifled with our h salad, The Falcon 672 Home-made See Hoäm-maäde
Home-nest gaping bills in the h-n Piping for bread— Becket II ii 300
Home-return God and his free wind grant your lordship a happy h-r „ III iii 328
Homeward prosper all thy wandering out And h. Harold I i 260 and pray in thy behalf For happier h winds „ II ii 198 Homo H sum. I love my dinner— Foresters I ii 63
H sum, sed virgo sum, „ I ii 66

Honest (See also Stupid-honest) Divers h fellows, Queen Mary I iii 119
You as poor a critic As an h friend : „ II i 116
For all that, Most h, brave, and skilful ; „ II ii 383
I read his h horror in his eyes. „ III v 61
Right h and red-cheek'd ; Robin was violent, „ III v 106
Peters, my gentleman, an h Catholic, „ IV iii 553
He is passionate but h. Harold I i 118
An h gift, by all the Saints, if giver And taker be but h ! „ I i 344
he is broad and h, Breathing an easy gladness . . . „ I ii 173
I can but love this noble, h Harold. „ II ii 95
I, the Count—the King—Thy friend—am grateful for thine h oath, „ II ii 755
Better to be a liar's dog, and hold My master h, „ III i 126
He hath blown himself as red as fire with curses. An h fool ! Follow me, h fool, „ V i 88
To be h is to set all knaves against thee. Becket I iii 571
When thieves fall out, h men— „ I iv 114
When h men fall out, thieves—no, it can't be that. „ I iv 118
H John ! To Rome again ! the storm begins again. „ II ii 467 but most on 'em know an h woman and a lady when they see her, „ III i 179 for I never knew an h woman that could make songs, „ III i 182 but none on 'em ever made songs, and they are all h. „ III i 189 and tho' I count Henry h enough, „ III iii 61
My h lord, you are known Thro' all the courts of Christendom „ IV ii 323
But full mid-summer in those h hearts. „ V ii 373
Would clap his h citizens on the back, The Cup I ii 358
Did he, h man ? „ I ii 376
God rest his h soul, he bought 'em for me, The Falcon 49 for I'm h, your lordship. „ 116
Live with these h folk—And play the fool ! Prom. of May I 744
You are an h pair. I will come to your wedding. „ III 114
H daisy deadly bruised, Queen. Foresters II ii 156
The silent blessing of one h man Is heard in heaven— „ III 321
So that they deal with us like h men, „ IV 101
Honester bolder than the rest, Or h than all ? Queen Mary III i 439 Honesty It may be, thro' mine h, like a fool. „ I v 237
Yea, h too, paint her what way they will. Becket II i 101 fear creeps in at the front, h steals out at the back, „ III iii 62
Honey if the truth be gall, Cram me not thou with h, Harold IV i 16
As happy as the bees there at their h Prom. of May I 606
Here's a pot o' wild h from an old oak, Foresters II i 295
Bees rather, flying to the flower for h. „ IV 13
'I am faint for your h, my sweet.' „ IV 15
'Have you still any h, my dear ?' „ IV 23
Ay, whether it be gall or h to 'em— „ IV 967
Honeycomb She is none of those who loathe the h. Queen Mary V i 278
Honeying then the King came h about her, Becket, Pro. 516
Honeymaking So rare the household h bee, „ V ii 217
Honeymoon Harsh is the news ! hard is our h ! Harold IV iii 229 and the h is the gall of love ; he dies of his h. Becket, Pro. 364 Give her to me to make my h. „ IV ii 143
For she shall spend her h with me. Foresters IV 757 Honour (s) And hast not heart nor h. Queen Mary II iv 84
Upon the faith and h of a Spaniard, „ III vi 254 so wounded in his h, He can but creep down „ IV i 139 Win thro' this day with h to yourself, „ IV ii 165
For the pure h of our common nature, „ IV iii 297
H to thee ? thou art perfect in all h ! Harold II ii 691
Madam, we will entreat thee with all h. „ V ii 200
Saving the h of my order—ay. Becket I iii 20
Save the King's h here before his barons. „ I iii 187
As thou hast h for the Pope our master, „ I iii 200
Saving God's h ! „ II ii 140
Saving the Devil's h, his yes and no. „ II ii 142 —that Is clean against God's h— „ II ii 163 that none may dream I go against God's h— „ II ii 168 to suppress God's h for the sake Of any king „ II ii 220 Deny not thou God's h for a king. „ II ii 424 surrendering God's h to the pleasure of a man. „ II ii 440
'great h,' says he, 'from the King's self to the King's son.' „ III iii 144
Thro' chastest h of the Decalogue „ V i 206 willing wives enough To feel dishonour, h. The Cup I ii 189
In h of his gift and of our marriage, „ II 351 Honour (s) (continued) handle all womankind gently, and hold them in all h, Foresters I i 100
O your h, I pray you too to give me an alms. „ II i 389
H to thee, brave Marian, and thy Kate. „ III 299
we have made a song in your h, so your ladyship care to listen. „ III 414
Do you call that in my h ? „ III 433 on the faith and h of a king The land is his again. „ IV 852 Honour (verb) you would h my poor house to-night, Queen Mary I iii 117
For the which I h him. Becket, Pro. 449
No man to love me, h me, obey me ! „ V i 239
Who deign to h this my thirtieth year, Foresters I ii 79
All here will prize thee, h, worship thee, „ II ii 17 being every inch a man I h every inch of a woman. „ III 64
Why art thou mute ? Dost thou not h woman ? „ III 68
Honourable Who not alone esteem'd it h, Queen Mary II ii 209
How, Malet, if they be not h ! Harold II ii 279
Most h Sheriff ! Foresters II i 153
Honour'd I am much h—yes—Do what I told thee. The Falcon 278
No, my most h and long-worshipt lady, „ 713 Honouring I that wedded Henry, H his manhood— Becket IV ii 421
h all womankind, and more especially my lady Marian, Foresters III 55
Hood (a cowl) Put on your h and see me to the bounds. Becket III i 94
Hood (Robin) See Huntingdon, Robin, Robin Hood, Robin of Huntingdon
Hook (See also Pruning-hook) Shelves and h's, shelves and h's, and when I see the shelves I am like to hang myself on the h's. The Falcon 119
Hook'd bat flew out at him In the clear noon, and h him by the hair, Foresters II ii 97
Hook-nosed That fine, fat, h-n uncle of mine, old Harold, Prom. of May I 509
Hoonderd (hundred) feller couldn't find a Mister in his mouth fur me, as farms five h haäcre. „ I 304
I, mun ha' plowed it moor nor a h times ; „ I 368 and ower a h pounds worth o' rings stolen. „ I 393
Hooper (Bishop of Gloucester and Worcester) H, Ridley, Latimer will not fly. Queen Mary I ii 14
Cranmer and H, Ridley and Latimer, „ III iv 424
H burn'd Three-quarters of an hour. „ IV ii 225
Hoot Our men and boys would h him, stone him, Prom. of May II 425 Hope (s) All my h is now It may be found a scandal. Queen Mary I v 230 from Penenden Heath in h To hear you speak. „ II i 152
In h to charm them from their hate of Spain. Philip.
In h to crush all heresy under Spain. „ III vi 82
Lose the sweet h that I may bear a prince. „ III vi 201
Have you good h's of mercy ! So, farewell. „ IV ii 86
Good h's, not theirs, have I that I am fixt, „ IV ii 88
There is no h of better left for him, „ IV iii 79
Since she lost h of bearing us a child ? „ V i 229
There yet is h. „ V ii 279
Count de Feria waits without, In h's to see your Highness. „ V ii 401 Full h have I that love will answer love. Harold IV i 237 our prophet h's Let in the happy distance, The Cup I ii 413 in h that the saints would send us this blessed morning ; The Falcon 185 small h of the gentleman gout in my great toe. „ 656 not even H Left at the bottom ! Prom. of May II 348 but H Smiles from the threshold of the year Foresters I iii 15
The h of larger life hereafter, „ II i 69
Hope (verb) (See also 'Oäpe) may strike fire from her, Not h to melt her. Queen Mary III vi 40
I h they whipt him. I would have hang'd him. Becket, Pro. 14
We h not, my lord. „ I iv 41
Not in my chin, I h ! That threatens double. „ II i 250
Richard, if he be mine—I h him mine. „ V i 130
Mercy, mercy, As you would h for mercy. „ V iii 176
May lead them on to victory—I h so— The Cup I ii 168
I h he be not underdone, for we be undone in the doing of him. The Falcon 557
'I h your Lordship is quite recovered of your gout ?' Prom. of May III 308
What did you h to make ? (repeat) „ III 784, 788
You h to hold and keep her for yourself, Foresters IV 477

Hoped h to fall Into the wide-spread arms of fealty, Queen Mary II ii 263
I h I had served God with all my might! „ V ii 296 it was h Your Highness was once more in happy state „ V ii 570
H, were he chosen archbishop, Becket I iii 442
I would not be bold, Yet h ere this you might— „ III i 65 made more happy than I h Ever to be again. The Falcon 770
I wish'd, I h To make, to make— Prom. of May III 782
Hopeful and leaves me h. Queen Mary I v 532
Hopeless (See also Wholly-hopeless) Ho there! thy rest of life is h prison, Becket V i 180
First, free thy captive from her h prison. „ V i 183
Hopt He had but one foot, he must have h away, Harold II ii 675
Horder (order) if tha can't keep thy one cow i' h, how can tha keep all thy scholards i' h? Prom. of May I 197
Horizon past is like a trav[illegible]l'd land now sunk Below the h— The Cup II 231
Horn (See also Forest-horn, ar-horn) draw back your heads and your h's Queen Mary I i 5
Pope has pushed his h's beyond his mitre— „ V i 152
Alva will but touch him on the h's, And he withdraws; „ V i 156
Had I been by, I would have spoil'd his h. Harold I ii 73 would make the hard earth rive To the very Devil's h's, „ II ii 741
A ghostly h Blowing continually, „ III i 372
How ghostly sounds that h in the black wood! Becket III ii 16 when the h sounds she comes out as a wolf. „ III ii 23 when that h sounds, a score of wolf-dogs are let loose „ III ii 38 Linger not till the third h. Fly! „ III ii 41 or you'd have heard his h before now. „ IV i 55 have forgotten my h that calls my men together. Foresters II i 185
Fifty leagues Of woodland hear and know my h, „ III 104
Wherever the h sound and the buck bound, „ III 345
Wherever the buck bound, and the h sound, „ III 355
When h and echo ring, „ III 428
Accept this h! if e'er thou be assail'd „ IV 423
Wait till he blow the h. „ IV 787
Why blowest thou not the h? „ IV 791
I blow the h against this rascal rout! „ IV 794
And catch the winding of a phantom h. „ IV 1092
Horologe always in suspense, like the tail of the h— Becket II ii 366
Horrible scourge Of England! Courtier. H! Harold I i 6
From all the holiest shrines in Normandy! Harold. H! „ II ii 736 Harvestless autumns, h agues, plague— Queen Mary V i 99
H! flaying, scourging, crucifying— The Cup I ii 235 Horror I read his honest h in his eyes. Queen Mary III v 61 carrion-nosing mongrel vomit With hate and h. „ IV iii 450
What with this flaming h overhead? Harold I i 232 hath talk'd with God, and seen A shadowing h; „ III i 357 Whose doings are a h to the east, A hissing in the west!' Becket IV ii 244
And make thee a world's h. „ IV ii 288
And blanch the crowd with h. The Cup II 154 Horse (See also 'Erse, Herse) she met the Queen at Wanstead with five hundred h, Queen Mary I i 78 with an ass's, not a h's head, „ I iii 169 that's a noble h of yours, my Lord. „ I iv 143
And broken bridge, or spavin'd h, „ I v 355 a pale h for Death and Gardiner for the Devil. „ III i 234
Your boots are from the h's. „ III v 180
I had h's On all the road from Dover, „ V ii 576
H's there, without! „ V iii 109
Why did you keep me prating? H's, there! „ V iii 113
Because I broke The h's leg— Harold II ii 110
Thousands of h's, like as many lions „ IV iii 196
No Norman h Can shatter England, „ V i 195
No h—thousands of h's—our shield wall— „ V i 231 range of knights Sit, each a statue on his h, „ V i 525 they fall behind the h—Their h are thronging „ V i 546 all their h Swallow the hill locust-like, „ V i 559
The h and horseman cannot meet the shield, The blow that brains the horseman cleaves the h, The h and horseman roll along the hill, „ V i 591
They turn on the pursuer, h against foot, „ V i 608
No, no, his h—he mounts another— „ V i 638
Three h's had I slain beneath me: „ V ii 171
I could tear him asunder with wild h's Becket II i 267
Our h's grazing by us, when a troop, The Falcon 611

Horse (continued) A troop of h—— Filippo. Five hundred! The Falcon 617 how long we strove before Our h's fell beneath us; „ 639 lanker than an old h turned out to die on the common. Foresters I i 51
our h and our little cart— „ II i 191 when the Sheriff took my little h for the King without paying for it— „ II i 301
I left mine h and armour with a Squire, „ IV 414
A h! a h! I must away at once; „ IV 797 Horseback How should a baron love a beggar on h, Becket, Pro. 444
Horseman The horse and h cannot meet the shield, The blow that brains the h cleaves the horse, The horse and h roll along the hill, Harold V i 591 Horse-pond See Herse-pond
Horsiness To rose and lavender my h, Queen Mary III v 185
Hospitable and seeing the h lights in your castle, Foresters I ii 194
Hospital See Spital
Hospitality a graceless h To chain the free guest Harold II ii 192 knowing the fame of your h, we ventured in uninvited. Foresters I ii 196
Host (a consecrated wafer) Have I not heard them mock the blessed H Queen Mary IV iii 366
Host (array of men) and send her h's Of injured Saints Harold II ii 744
And Edward would have sent a h against you, „ IV i 99 join our hands before the h's, That all may see. „ IV i 242
Host (entertainer of guests) He was thine h in England when I went To visit Edward. „ II ii 4
I found him all a noble h should be. „ II ii 10
She hath follow'd with our h, and suffer'd all. „ IV i 29
A cleric violated The daughter of his h, Becket I iii 383
Hostage four of her poor Council too, my Lord, As h's. Queen Mary II ii 44
Is not my brother Wulfnoth h there Harold I i 239
Poor brother! still a h! „ II ii 329
They did thee wrong who made thee h; „ II ii 350
Remain a h for the loyalty Of Godwin's house.' „ III i 90
Hostis H in Angliam Ruit prædator, „ V i 506
H per Angliæ Plagas bacchatur; „ V i 510
Hot and the H Gospellers will go mad upon it. Queen Mary I i 115
But you so bubbled over with h terms Of Satan, „ I ii 94
And h desire to imitate; „ III iv 171
There are H Gospellers even among our guards— „ V v 102 jerk'd out of the common rut Of Nature in the h religious fool, Harold I i 139
H blood, ambition, pride So bloat and redden his face— The Cup ii 168
Thou blowest h and cold. Where is she then? Foresters II i 490
Hot-blooded H-b! I have heard them say in Rome, The Cup I i 135
Hot-headed H-h fools—to burst the wall of shields! Harold V i 612
I can see further into a man than our h-h Henry, Becket, Pro. 463 Hottest This is the h of it: hold, ash! hold, willow! Harold V i 628
The h hold in all the devil's den Were but a sort of winter; Queen Mary V iv 15
Hound with mine old h Couch'd at my hearth, „ III i 45
Sick for an idle week of hawk and h Harold I i 103
I hear the yelping of the h's of hell. Becket III ii 48
Huntsman, and h, and deer were all neck-broken! The Cup I ii 23
You saw my h's True to the scent; „ I ii 110
Hounded We never h on the State at home To spoil the Church. Becket II ii 96 Hour Ay, that was in her h of joy; Queen Mary I i 84 some great doom when God's just h Peals— „ I iv 262
What do and say Your Council at this h? „ II ii 46
Who knows? the man is proven by the h. White. The man should make the h, not this the man; „ II ii 364
An h will come When they will sweep her from the seas. „ III i 160 do triumph at this h In the reborn salvation „ III iii 181 tolerate the heretic, No, not an h. „ III iv 211
Their h is hard at hand, „ III iv 426
Ay, for an h in May. „ III v 10
It shall be all my study for one h „ III v 184 in strange h's, After the long brain-dazing colloquies, „ IV ii 91
May God help you Thro' that hard h! „ IV ii 196
Hooper burn'd Three-quarters of an h. „ IV ii 227 the h has come For utter truth and plainness; „ IV iii 272
Make us despise it at odd h's, my Lord. „ IV iii 386
Brook for an h such brute malignity? „ IV iii 544

Hour (continued) O would I were My father for an h! Queen Mary v ii 294
And may not speak for h's. „ v ii 406
Sit down here: Tell me thine happiest h. „ v v 79 worse than that—not one h true to me! „ v v 159
A good entrenchment for a perilous h! Harold iii i 363 among the goldenest h's Of Alfred, „ iv iii 51
O hapless Harold! King but for an h! „ v i 258
God of truth Fill all thine h's with peace!— „ v i 316
But the h is past, and our brother, Master Cook, Becket i iv 59
I have but one h with thee— „ ii i 24
Let there not be one frown in this one h. „ ii i 44 out of the eclipse Narrowing my golden h! „ ii i 203 Come, come, mine h! I bargain for mine h. „ ii i 212 our mother 'ill sing me old songs by the h, „ iii i 185
We have had so many h's together, Thomas, So many happy h's „ iii iii 37 bound For that one h to stay with good King Louis, „ iii iii 247 thy life Was not one h's worth in England „ iii iii 251
Your Grace will never have one quiet h. „ v i 79 tho' it be their h, the power of darkness, But my h too, „ v iii 93
If I be not back in half an h, Come after me. The Cup i ii 438
So falls the throne of an h. „ ii 486
Pride of his heart—the solace of his h's— The Falcon 224
Ay, haäfe an h ago. She be in theer now. Prom. of May i 14
Half an h late! why are you loitering here? „ ii 324
Who can tell What golden h's, with what full hands, „ ii 509
What feller wur it as 'a' been a-talkin' fur haäfe an h wi' my Dora? „ ii 576 niver 'a been talkin' haäfe an h wi' the divil 'at killed her oän sister, „ ii 603 may drop off any day, any h. You must see him at once. „ iii 407 the light Of these dark h's; Foresters i ii 85
We make but one h's buzz, „ i ii 277
I am only merry for an h or two Upon a birthday: „ i iii 11
We will away in four-and-twenty h's, „ i iii 91
My lonely h! The king of day hath stept „ ii i 25 to carve One lone h from it, „ ii i 43
Why break you thus upon my lonely h? „ ii i 94
The ruler of an h, but lawful King, „ iv 47
Try me an h hence. „ iv 276 your free sports have swallow'd my free h. „ iv 340
No, not an h: the debt is due to-day. „ iv 447 are delivered here in the wild wood an h after noon. „ iv 509

Houris whose cheerless H after death Are Night and Silence, Prom. of May i 249

House (See also Ale-house, Gate-house, Treasure-house)
So you would honour my poor h to-night, Queen Mary i iii 118
To Ashridge, or some other country h. „ i iv 226 seek In that lone h, to practise on my life, „ i iv 284 my h hath been assaulted, „ i v 146
Spain in our ships, in our forts, in our h's, in our beds? „ ii i 180
Your h's fired—your gutters bubbling blood— „ ii ii 280
a plundering o' Bishop Winchester's h; „ ii iii 73
Here by this h was one; „ iii i 9
You are of the h? what will you do, Sir Ralph? „ iii i 435 there were those within the h Who would not have it. „ iii ii 66 also those without the h Who would not have it. „ iii ii 70
When will you that we summon both our h's „ iii ii 115
My lords of the upper h, And ye, my masters, of the lower h, „ iii iii 102 sole man in either h Who stood upright when both the h's fell. Bagenhall. The h's fell! Officer. I mean the h's knelt „ iii iii 253
I am the one sole man in either h, „ iii iii 266
The h is all in movement. Hence, and see. „ iii v 83 play with fire as children do, And burn the h. „ iii vi 30 none shall hold them in his h and live, „ iv i 96
The stranger at his hearth, and all his h— „ iv i 164
The h half-ruin'd ere the lease be out; „ v ii 66
When Wyatt sack'd the Chancellor's h in Southwark. „ v ii 505 light enough for Alfgar's h To strike thee down Harold i i 307 powers of the h of Godwin Are not enframed in thee. „ i i 316 House (continued) running out at top To swamp the h. Harold i i 379
Unwholesome talk For Godwin's h! „ i i 391
It means the lifting of the h of Alfgar. „ i i 473 all the sins of both The h's on mine head— „ i ii 206 see confusion fall On thee and on thine h. „ ii ii 490 Remain a hostage for the loyalty Of Godwin's h.' „ iii i 91
I have built the Lord a h— (repeat) Harold iii i 178, 181, 186 Fall, cloud, and fill the h— Harold iii i 190 not his fault, if our two h's Be less than brothers. „ iv i 130
When will ye cease to plot against my h? „ iv i 162
Thou hast given it to an enemy of our h. „ iv ii 32
Thou hast no passion for the H of Godwin— „ iv ii 72
When I and thou were youths in Theobald's h, Becket i iii 41
Not he That is not of the h, but from the street „ i iii 689 dawns darkly and drearily over the h of God— „ i iv 146 Sudden change is a h on sand; „ iii iii 60 when he hears a door open in the h and thinks 'the master.' „ iii iii 99
I will be Sole master of my h. „ v i 151 and in thy name I pass'd From h to h. „ v ii 104 little fair-hair'd Norman maid Lived in my mother's h: „ v ii 261 yet threaten your Archbishop In his own h. „ v ii 506 dost thou know the h of Sinnatus? The Cup i i 49
These grapes are for the h of Sinnatus— „ i i 51 this pious cup Is passport to their h, „ i i 83
They shall not harm My guest within my h. „ i ii 327
The child, a thread within the h of birth, „ ii 259 feud between our h's is the bar I cannot cross; The Falcon 254
My comrade of the h, and of the field. „ 875
O this mortal h, Which we are born into, Prom. of May ii 273 would fight for his rents, his leases, his h's, Foresters i i 233 whose return Builds up our h again? „ iv 1009

House-breäker Beänt there h-b's down i' Littlechester, Dobson— Prom. of May i 388

House-dog filch the linen from the hawthorn, poison the h-d, Foresters iii 200

Household (adj.) The h dough was kneaded up with blood; Becket i iii 351
So rare the h honeymaking bee, „ v ii 217 to cast All threadbare h habit, Foresters i iii 112

Household (s) Your lavish h curb'd, Queen Mary i v 113 no foreigner Hold office in the h, fleet, „ iii iii 72
No man without my leave shall excommunicate My tenants or my h. Becket, Pro. 32
And when I was of Theobald's h, once— „ i i 60 you have put so many of the King's h out of communion, „ iii iii 311
Prince would have me of his—what? H? Foresters iv 703

Houseless A h head beneath the sun and stars, „ ii i 64

House-side and there is a piece of beef like a h-s, Prom. of May i 793

Hover At the park gate be h's with our guards. Queen Mary ii iv 15
Love will h round the flowers when they first awaken; „ v ii 370
That h's round your shoulder— „ v iii 52 sea-bird rouse himself and h Above the windy ripple, Harold ii ii 335

How See 'Ow

Howard (Lord William, Lord High Admiral) (See also William, William Howard) had H spied me there And made them speak, Queen Mary ii iii 32
This H, whom they fear, what was he saying? „ iii vi 54
And if he did I care not, my Lord H. „ iv i 129
Lord H, Sending an insolent shot that dash'd „ v i 56
H is all English! „ v i 61

Howiver (however) my rheumatizy be that bad h be I to win to the burnin'. „ iv iii 474

Howl if your wolf the while should h for more, „ i v 419 how those Roman wolfdogs h and bay him! „ iv iii 354
note Whereat the dog shall h and run, Harold i ii 192
if it suit their purpose to h for the King, Becket iii iii 324
They h for thee, to rend thee head from limb. The Cup i ii 321

Howsoever See Howsomiver, S'iver

Howsomiver (howsoever) but a had to bide h, Queen Mary iv iii 506

Hug thou wouldst h thy Cupid till his ribs cracked— Becket, Pro. 504

Huge or else swam heavily Against the h corruptions of the Church, Queen Mary iv ii 100 Did I call him heretic? A h heresiarch! „ iv iii 46
But wherefore not Helm the h vessel of your state, „ v i 73

Huge (continued) I watch'd you dancing once With your h father ; Queen Mary v ii 145
And yon h keep that hinders half the heaven. Harold ii ii 228
I have always told Father that the h old ashtree there would cause an accident some day ; Prom. of May iii 244 hundreds of h oaks, Gnarl'd—older than the thrones of Europe— Foresters iii 90
Hugest therefore have we shatter'd back The h wave from Norseland ever yet Surged on us, Harold iv iii 62
Hugh (de Morville, knight of the household of King Henry II.) (See also De Morville) H, H, how proudly you exalt your head ! Becket v ii 454
H, I know well thou hast but half a heart „ v iii 129
Hum thick as bees below, They h like bees,— Harold i i 32
So come, come ! ' ' H ! ' Foresters iv 19
But come, come ! ' ' H ! ' „ iv 26
Human What h reason is there why my friend Should meet Queen Mary iv i 68 not for little sins Didst thou yield up thy Son to h death ; „ iv iii 144 to cancel and abolish all bonds of h allegiance, „ v iv 50
He dyed, He soak'd the trunk with h blood, Harold iii i 143 not strange ! This was old h laughter in old Rome „ iii ii 163
It's humbling—it smells o' h natur'. Becket i iv 238
Were I h, were I h, I could love you like a woman. Foresters ii ii 190
Human-heartedest Thou art the h-h, Christian-charitiest of all crab-catchers. Harold ii i 62
Humankind After his death and better h ; Queen Mary iv iii 160
Human-red God redden your pale blood ! But mine is h-r ; Becket i iv 36
Humber (river) all the North of H is one storm. Harold ii ii 291
We could not move from Dover to the H „ ii ii 537
Are landed North of H, and in a field „ iii ii 126
Our Wessex dragon flies beyond the H, „ iv i 4
Humble So wife-like h to the trivial boy Queen Mary iii i 364
Do make most h suit unto your Majesties, „ iii iii 118
So to set forth this h suit of ours „ iii iii 145
Sir, I attend the Queen To crave most h pardon— „ iii iv 432
We make our h prayer unto your Grace „ iv i 43
Therefore I come ; h myself to Thee ; „ iv iii 133
Ay, ay ! the King h's himself enough. Becket ii ii 184
Humbleness We be a-going home after our supper in all h, my lord ; for the Archbishop loves h, „ i iv 207
Humblest Loyal and royal cousin, h thanks. Queen Mary iii ii 4
Our h thanks for your blessing. Farewell ! Becket i iv 42
Humbling It's h—it smells o' human natur'. „ i iv 238
Humiliated Being so crush'd and so h We scarcely dare „ v i 69
Humiliation bow'd herself to meet the wave Of h, „ iv ii 390
Humour man not prone to jealousies, Caprices, h's, Prom. of May iii 627
Humpt Ay, ay, no doubt ; and were I h behind, Becket ii i 255
Hundred (See also Hoonder'd) that she met the Queen at Wanstead with five h horse, Queen Mary i i 78
And when I sleep, a h men-at-arms Guard my poor dreams „ i v 152
I would not ; but a h miles I rode, „ i v 551
' Whosoever will apprehend the traitor Thomas Wyatt shall have a h pounds for reward.' „ ii iii 61
A h here and h's hang'd in Kent. „ iii i 1 in Guisnes Are scarce two h men, „ v i 5
That gateway to the mainland over which Our flag hath floated for two h years Is France again. „ v ii 261
The shadows of a h fat dead deer For dead men's ghosts. Harold i ii 103
Red gold—a h purses—yea, and more ! „ iii i 18 lost and found Together in the cruel river Swale A h years ago ; „ iii ii 11
And caked and plaster'd with a h mires, „ iv iii 177
a h thousand men—Thousands of horses, „ iv iii 194
A h pathways running everyway, Becket, Pro. 163
And York lay barren for a h years. „ i iii 54
I found a h ghastly murders done By men, „ i iii 407
My lord, the King demands three h marks, „ i iii 626
My lord, the King demands seven h marks, „ i iii 634
I led seven h knights and fought his wars. „ i iii 638 Hundred (continued) My lord, the King demands five h marks, Becket i iii 641 crawl over knife-edge flint Barefoot, a h leagues, „ ii i 273
I warrant Thou hast sworn on this my cross a h times „ iv ii 206
Monks, knights, five h, that were there and heard. „ v ii 406
But after rain o'erleaps a jutting rock And shoots three h feet. The Cup i i 111
It is old, I know not How many h years. „ ii 343
My bird ? a h Gold pieces once were offer'd by the Duke. The Falcon 323
A troop of horse—— Filippo. Five h ! Count. Say fifty ! „ 618
A h times more worth a woman's love, Than this, Prom. of May iii 743
She was murdered here a h year ago, Foresters ii i 245
Ay, ay, but there is use, four h marks. „ iv 496
There then, four h marks. „ iv 497
What did I say ? Nay, my tongue tript—five h marks for use. „ iv 499
A h more ? There then, a h more. „ iv 502 a h lovers more To celebrate this advent of our King ! „ iv 1046
And here perhaps a h years away Some hunter in day-dreams . „ iv 1087
Hung town H out raw hides along their walls, Harold ii ii 383
if that but h upon King Edward's will. „ ii ii 600 like Mahound's coffin h between heaven and earth— Becket ii ii 361
Hunger (s) when I was down in the fever, she was down with the h, Harold ii i 48
Hunger (verb) crowd that h's for a crown in Heaven Becket ii ii 282
Who h for the body, not the soul— Foresters iv 700
Hunger-nipt on a land So h-n and wretched ; Queen Mary v i 168
Hunt (s) tho' a stranger fain would be allow'd To join the h. The Cup i i 197
a random guest Who join'd me in the h. „ i ii 109
Hunt (verb) Nay, I know They h my blood. Queen Mary iii v 78 and h and hawk beyond the seas ! Harold i i 229
I will hawk and h In Flanders. „ i i 259 had past me by To h and hawk elsewhere, „ ii ii 28
Going or gone to-day To h with Sinnatus. The Cup i i 65
Have let him h the stag with you to-day. „ i ii 379
h him With pitchforks off the farm, Prom. of May ii 426
They h in couples, and when they look at a maid Foresters i i 255 Hunted Which h him when that un-Saxon blast, Harold ii ii 30 not fear the crowd that h me Across the woods, The Cup i iii 16
Hunter he stood there Staring upon the h. „ i ii 123
And take a h's vengeance on the meats. „ i ii 43 and the h's, if caught, are blinded, or worse than blinded. Foresters iv 226
The h's passion flash'd into the man, „ iv 539
Some h in day-dreams or half asleep „ iv 1088
Hunting (See also A-hunting) I once was at the h of a lion. The Cup i ii 116
Why, is not man a h animal ? Foresters iv 223
Huntingdon (Robin Hood, Earl of) (See also Robin, Robin Hood, Robin of Huntingdon) I pray you, look at Robin Earl of H's men. „ i i 36 as true a friend of the people as Lord Robin of H. „ i i 189 me who worship Robin the great Earl of H ? „ i i 226
God bless our well-beloved Robin, Earl of H. „ i i 248
This Robin, this Earl of H—he is a friend of Richard— „ i i 281
Thou, Robin Hood Earl of H, art attainted and hast lost thine earldom of H. „ i iii 57 by virtue of this writ, whereas Robin Hood Earl of H „ i iii 62
Robin Hood Earl of H is outlawed and banished. „ i iii 68
Art thou that banish'd lord of H, „ iv 140
My good friend Robin, Earl of H, „ iv 829 if the King forbid thy marrying With Robin, our good Earl of H. „ iv 876
Huntsman Gardener, and h, in the parson's place, Queen Mary iv iii 373
H, and hound, and deer were all neck-broken ! The Cup i ii 23
Hup (up) hallus h at sunrise, and I'd drive the plow straäit as a line right i' the faäce o' the sun, then back ageän, a-follering my oän shadder—then h ageän Prom. of May i 369
Huppads (upwards) an' then I wur turned h o' sixty. „ i 363

Hurl H's his soil'd life against the pikes and dies. Queen Mary IV iii 311
if his Northumbrians rise And h him from them,— Harold II ii 457
And h the dread ban of the Church on those Becket III iii 210
And h's the victor's column down with him The Cup II 295
Hurl'd and h our battles Into the heart of Spain; Queen Mary III i 107 sir, they h it back into the fire, " V iv 22 and h it from him Three fields away, Harold III i 138
Hurrah H ! Vive le Roy ! Becket I iv 274
Hurry (s) I trod upon him even now, my lord, in my h, and broke him. The Falcon 410
Hurry (verb) Why do they h out there ? Queen Mary II ii 4
Hurt He can but creep down into some dark hole Like a h beast, " IV i 142
H no man more Than you would harm " IV iii 187
He had been h, And bled beneath his armour. Foresters II ii 4
He hath been h, was growing whole again, " IV 451 Husband The traitor h dangled at the door, Queen Mary III i 10 happily symboll'd by The King your h, " III ii 110 Oh, Philip, h ! now thy love to mine Will cling " III ii 159 Philip's no sudden alien—the Queen's h, " III iii 43 parting of a h and a wife Is like the cleaving of a heart; " III vi 194 not were he ten times king, Ten times our h, " V i 64
' Your people hate you as your h hates you.' " V ii 337
My h hates me, and desires my death. " V ii 347 the child came not, and the h came not; " V ii 581
To marry and have no h Makes the wife fool. Harold II ii 309
Who did discrown thine h, unqueen thee ? Didst thou not love thine h ? " IV i 193
I had rather She would have loved her h. " IV i 224 O Harold ! h ! Shall we meet again ? " V i 360 because I love The h of another ! " V i 649
I have lost both crown And h. " V ii 40
What was he like, this h ? like to thee ? " V ii 52
I mean your goodman, your h, my lady, Becket III i 159 for her h, King Louis—— Rosamund. Hush ! " III i 170 whom you call—fancy—my h's brother's wife. " III i 202 Son, h, brother gash'd to death in vain, The Cup I ii 143
To draw you and your h to your doom. " I ii 222
And if you should betray me to your h— " I ii 243 Still—I should tell My h. " I ii 304
She may, perchance, to save this h. " I iii 33
And for the sake of Sinnatus your h, " I iii 101
So much of h in it still—that if " II 145 Can't a girl when she loves her h, and he her, Prom. of May III 305 but I hold thee The h of my heart, Foresters III 140
Husbanded nor yet so amorous That I must needs be h; Queen Mary II ii 216
Husband-in-law H-i-l, our smooth-shorn suzerain, Becket II ii 40
Hush H—hear ! Bourne. —and so this unhappy land, Queen Mary I iii 19
H ! h ! You wrong the Chancellor : " III iii 66
H, father, h ! Harold III i 389 for her husband, King Louis—— Rosamund. H ! Becket III i 171
O h ! O peace ! This violence ill becomes The Cup II 214
Husk If we may judge the kernel by the h, " I i 175 Hut we found a goat-herd's h and shared His fruits " I ii 427
Here is the witch's h. Foresters II i 178
They must have past. Here is a woodman's h. " II i 200
Not in this h I take it. " II i 205
There is but one old woman in the h. " II i 242
Hymen rather than so clip The flowery robe of H, The Cup II 436
Hymn (s) (See also Battle-hymns, 'Ymn) chants and h's In all the churches, Becket V ii 366 standing up side by side with me, and singing the same h ? Prom. of May III 182
Hymn (verb) Hear thy priestesses h thy glory ! The Cup II 7
Hypocrisy never burn out the h that makes the water in her. Queen Mary IV iii 525
Hypocrite And yet I hate him for a h. Becket V i 232
From whom he knows are h's and liars. Foresters IV 380

I

Ibyci And one an uxor pauperis I. Becket V ii 216
Iceberg To shove that stranded i off our shores, Harold IV iii 138 Ice-cold Stone-hard, i-c—no dash of daring in him. Queen Mary I v 331 sat Stone-dead upon a heap of i-c eggs. Becket V ii 239
Iceland —Scotland, Ireland, I, Orkney, Harold III ii 124
Icy white cells, beneath an i moon— " V i 325
Iden And he will prove an I to this Cade, Queen Mary II ii 369
Idiot This world of mud, on all its i gleams Of pleasure, Prom. of May III 722
Idiotcies What are all these ? Harold. Utopian i. " III 588 Idle But this is i of you. Well, sir, well, Queen Mary IV ii 75 other things As i; a weak Wyatt ! " V i 292 Sick for an i week of hawk and hound Beyond the seas— " Harold I i 103
Peace, friends ! what i brawl is this ? Becket I ii 2
Idol-worship one true faith, a loathsome i-w ? Queen Mary III iv 219
Idyll This Dobson of your i ? Prom. of May III 563
If Thine ' i's ' will sear thine eyes out—ay. Harold II ii 625
He fenced his royal pomise with an i. Becket III iii 279 is the King's i too high a stile for your lordship to overstep " III iii 280 Ay, if this i be like the Devil's ' i " III iii 284
Ignorance Wyatt, who hath tamper'd with A public i, Queen Mary II ii 182
And I crying in the streets, " IV iii 377 Spite, i, envy, Yea, honesty too, Becket II i 100
Ignorant She is i of all but that I love her. " Pro. 185 Ignorantly I am sure (Knowing the man, he wrought it i, Queen Mary III i 276 Ill The Queen is i advised : shall I turn traitor ? " I iv 5 i counsel ! These let them keep at present ; " I v 405
I am i disguised. " III i 33
And fared so i in this disastrous world. " V ii 344
My Lord Count, Her Highness is too i for colloquy. " V ii 613
I news for guests, ha, Malet ! More ? What more ? Harold II ii 302
Harold served Tostig so i, he cannot serve for Tostig ! " III i 162
I news hath come ! Our hapless brother, Tostig— " III ii 120
Madam, you do i to scorn wedded love. Becket, Pro. 353
May God grant No i befall or him or thee when I Am gone. " II i 260 Eleanor, Eleanor, have I Not heard i things of her in France ? " III i 231
This violence i becomes The silence of our Temple. The Cup II 215 but you turn right ugly when you're in an i temper ; Prom. of May I 160 but the i success of the farm, and the debts, " II 68 and so i in consequence all Monday, " III 80
But i befitting such a festal day Foresters I iii 37
Who hast that worship for me which Heaven knows I i deserve— " I iii 162
Ills Their ' dies I,' which will test their sect. Queen Mary III iv 428
Ill-bested A maiden now Were i-b in these dark days of John, Foresters II ii 45
Illegitimate And mine a bitterer i hate, Becket II i 173 Ill-garrison'd Calais is but i-g, in Guisnes Queen Mary V i 4
Illogically but unsymmetrically, preposterously, i, Becket, Pro. 336
Image beast might roar his claim To being in God's i, Queen Mary IV iii 369 set up your broken i's ; Be comfortable to me. " V ii 300
Who melts a waxen i by the fire, Foresters II i 671
Imagine And can you not i that the wreath, The Falcon 534
I said you might i it was so. " 545
Imitate And hot desire to i ; Queen Mary III iv 171
Imitative A Parliament of i apes ! " III iii 235
Immanuel Goldsmiths I G was broke into o' Monday night, Prom. of May I 391
Immediate and they threaten The i thunder-blast of interdict : Becket III iii 26
Immemorial so violated the i usage of the Church, " III iii 72
Immortal Lovers hold True love i. Foresters II i 616
You seem, as it were, I, and we mortal. " IV 1060
We have respect for man's i soul, Harold II ii 501

Imp Venal i ! What say'st thou to the Chancellorship Becket II i 224
Impair or i in any way This royal state of England, Queen Mary II ii 229
Imperial What your i father said, my liege, To deal with heresy gentlier. „ III vi 56
We cannot fight i Rome, The Cup II 92 let the new-made children Of our i mother see the show. „ II 165
Implore I thus i you, low upon my knees, Queen Mary IV i 64
Import It much i's me I should know her name. Becket I i 192 it may i her all as much Not to be known. „ I i 197 Importance policy in some matter Of small i Queen Mary III vi 168
Impossible I ; Except you put Spain down. „ V iii 79
Impress And she i her wrongs upon her Council, „ III vi 183
Imprison Degrade, i him—Not death for death. Becket I iii 400
Too politic for that. I me ? „ IV ii 397
Imprison'd I was but wounded by the enemy there And then i. The Falcon 389 Imprisonment In your five years of i, Queen Mary III iv 242
Impugn Which might i or prejudice the same ; „ III iii 133
Impute it is the traitor that i's Treachery to his King ! Becket I iii 484
Weak natures that i Themselves to their unlikes, Foresters II i 691
Incalculable Yea, even such as mine, i, Queen Mary IV iii 147 Incapable Old, miserable, diseased, I of children. „ V v 179
Incarnate Whose life was all one battle, i war, Harold V i 397
Incavern'd See Deep-incavern'd
Incense parch'd banks rolling i, as of old, Queen Mary I v 91 puffed out such an i of unctuosity into the nostrils of our Gods of Church and State, Becket III iii 115
Incenselike All her breath should, i, Rise Queen Mary III iii 164
Incest As being born from i ; „ I ii 69
Incestuous Peter, I'll swear for him He did believe the bond i. „ I ii 77
Inch Fire—i by i to die in agony ! „ IV ii 223
If thou draw one i nearer, Foresters I i 145 being every i a man I honour every i of a woman. „ III 63 for old Much is every i a man, „ IV 290 Incline whether her Grace i to this splendid scion of Plantagenet. Queen Mary I i 134
Included The i Danaë has escaped again Her tower, Becket I i 395
Inconsistency Nay, for bare shame of i, Queen Mary I ii 39
Incurr'd every bond and debt and obligation I as Chancellor. Becket I iii 712
Ind His sceptre shall go forth from I to I ! Queen Mary III ii 177
Indeterminate But a weak mouth, an i—ha ? „ III iv 340
Indian I shawl That Philip brought me in our happy days !— „ V ii 538 Indies Spain would be England on her seas, and England Mistress of the I. „ V iii 74
England Will be Mistress of the I yet, „ V iii 77
Indifference accuse you of i To all faiths, all religion ; „ III iv 223 Indignation begets An admiration and an i, „ III iv 170
In-door They are plagues enough i-d. Becket II ii 91
Indraught swoll'n and fed With i's and side-currents, Queen Mary II i 234
Indungeon'd I from one whisper of the wind, Becket IV ii 146
Infallible of her most Royal, I, Papal Legate-cousin. Queen Mary III iv 433
Infamous I wretch. Shall I tell her he is dead ? Prom. of May III 336
Infamy Fame of to-day is i to-morrow ; I of to-day is fame to-morrow ; Becket II i 103
Infant (adj.) I had to cuff the rogue For i treason. Queen Mary III iii 52
Infant (s) blast your i's, dash The torch of war among Harold II ii 747
Infatuated —i—To sue you for his life ? Queen Mary IV i 10 Infect Thy fears i me beyond reason. Peace ! Harold II ii 451
Infinite that it would please Him out of His i love to break down all kingship and queenship, Queen Mary V iv 47
Infirmity And I, that knew mine own i, Becket I iii 696
I pray God pardon mine i. „ II ii 353
Ingratitude I, Injustice, Evil-tongue, Labour-in-vain. Queen Mary V ii 156
His heart so gall'd with thine i, Becket I iii 4 Inhabitant altho' the i's Seem semi-barbarous. Prom. of May II 541 not only love the country, But its i's too ; „ II 546
Then one at least of its i's „ II 552
Inherit Ay, sir ; I the Great Silence. Queen Mary III ii 199
Why then the throne is empty. Who i's ? Harold III i 235 Inherit (continued) Who i's ? Edgar the Atheling ? Harold III i 239 hand that next I's thee be but as true to thee Becket I i 358
Thou wilt i the land, And so wouldst sell Foresters II i 534
Inherited some will say because I have i my Uncle. Prom. of May III 598
True, and I have an i loathing of these black sheep of the Papacy. Becket, Pro. 460
Inheriting which we I reap an easier harvest. Becket II ii 194
Inheritor That bright i of your eyes—your boy ? The Falcon 306
Inhospitable Friends, in that last i plunge Our boat hath burst her ribs ; Harold II i 1
Injure That none should wrong or i your Archbishop. Becket I iii 754 Injured send her hosts Of i Saints to scatter sparks of plague . Harold II ii 745 Injury not be wanting Those that will urge her i— Queen Mary III vi 176
Injustice Ingratitude, I, Evil-tongue, Labour-in-vain. „ V ii 156 Shall we too work i ? Foresters I iii 87
we must at times have wrought Some great i, „ III 156
If the king and the law work i, „ IV 229
Do some i, if you hold us here Longer „ IV 941 Ink is written in invisible i's ' Lust, Prodigality, Prom. of May II 283
Inland we two Have track'd the King to this dark i wood ; Becket III ii 3
Inmost weight of the very land itself, Down to the i centre. Foresters IV 1027 Inn at the wayside i Close by that alder-island Prom. of May II 534 Innocence And witness to your Grace's i, Queen Mary III v 50 Life on the face, the brows—clear i ! Becket I i 195 i's that will cry From all the hidden by-ways „ III iii 14 equal for pure i of nature, And loveliness of feature. Prom. of May II 372 Except she could defend her i. Foresters II ii 47
Innocent (adj.) and of the good Lady Jane as a poor i child who had but obeyed her father ; Queen Mary I i 94 perchance A child more i than Lady Jane. „ I v 502
No, no ; her i blood had blinded me. „ III i 345 and when her i eyes were bound, She, „ III i 405
And love is joyful, i, beautiful, And jealousy is wither'd, sour and ugly : Foresters II ii 64 and another—worse !—An i maid. „ III 389 Innocent (s) O God, how many an i Has left his bones Becket II ii 408
Inquisition Holy absolution ! holy I ! Queen Mary I iii 32 cited me to Rome, for heresy, Before his I. „ V ii 43
Insane That palate is i which cannot tell Becket, Pro. 104
Insolence I hate him for his i to all. De Tracy. And I for all his i to thee. „ V i 226
Insolent Sending an i shot that dash'd the seas Upon us, Queen Mary V i 57
I clown. Shall I smite him with the edge of the sword ? Becket I iv 223
Inspire O Thou, that dost i the germ with life, The Cup II 257
Inspired Why should not Heaven have so i the King ? Becket I i 130 Instant (adj.) It craves an i answer, Ay or No. Mary. An i Ay or No ! the Council sits. Give it me quick. Queen Mary I v 589 and had my constant ' No ' For all but i battle. Harold V i 7 Instant (s) You are to come to Court on the i ; Queen Mary III v 223
Come, girl, thou shalt along with us on the i. Friar Tuck. Then on the i I will break thy head. Foresters IV 679
Instinct following his own i's as his God, Prom. of May I 588
Insured I were i, Miss, an' I lost nowt by it. „ II 57
Intent to the i That you may lose your English heritage. Queen Mary V i 132
Intercept did not Gardiner i A letter which „ V ii 495
Intercession That by your gracious means and i „ III iii 121 by your i May from the Apostolic see obtain, „ III iii 146
Interdict from the side of Rome, An i on England— Becket, Pro. 223
To blast my realms with excommunication And i. „ II ii 53
The immediate thunder-blast of i : „ III iii 26 bell-silencing, anti-marrying, burial-hindering i „ III iii 56
King at last is fairly scared by this cloud—this i. „ III iii 64
Intermeddling This Godstow-Becket i such „ IV ii 457 Interpreter Is he thy mouthpiece, thine i ? Foresters I ii 212
Interwoven See here—an i H and E ! Harold I ii 57
Invade bees, If any creeping life i their hive Queen Mary III iii 54
Invader May all i's perish like Hardrada ! Harold IV iii 77
Inverted I Æsop—mountain out of mouse. Queen Mary II i 67
Invisible There, there, is written in i inks Prom. of May II 283

Involve which hatred by and by I's the ruler Queen Mary III iv 161
Inward Or am I slandering my most i friend, „ IV ii 105
Inwrought white satin his trunk-hose, I with silver,— „ III i 78
Ionian Artemis, Artemis, hear him, I Artemis ! The Cup II 277
Iræ Their hour is hard at hand, their 'dies I,' Queen Mary III iv 426
Ireland —Scotland, I, Iceland, Orkney, Harold III ii 124
Iron (adj.) The Duke Of Alva, an i soldier. Queen Mary III i 194
With golden deeds and i strokes that brought Harold II ii 47
A breath that fleets beyond this i world, „ III ii 197 knowing that he must have Moved in the i grooves of Destiny ? Prom. of May II 267
Iron (s) I on i clang, Harold IV iii 160
With hands too limp to brandish i— „ V i 449 flask or two Of that same vintage. There is i in it. The Falcon 586
I will fuse, and marble melt ; Prom. of May II 505
Iron-mooded make yield this i-m Duke To let me go. Harold II ii 339
Ironside or English I Who fought with Knut, „ IV iii 53
Irregular This is i and the work of John. [' I, i ! Foresters I iii 71
Irresolute Fine eyes—but melancholy, i— Queen Mary III iv 337
Irreverent St. Cupid, that is too i. Becket V i 198
Irritable That i forelock which he rubs, Queen Mary I iv 265
Iscariot Not red like I's. „ III i 217 Island (adj.) Yearns to set foot upon your i shore. „ I v 367 and plunge His foreign fist into our i Church „ III iv 364 Fair i star ! Elizabeth. I shine ! „ V iii 15
And send thee back among thine i mists With laughter. Harold II ii 181
The spiritual giant with our i laws And customs, Becket IV ii 444 Island (s) (See also Alder-island, Spice-island) or the stout old i will become A rotten limb Queen Mary II i 104
The i's call'd into the dawning church „ III iii 172
We parted like the brook yonder about the alder i, Prom. of May I 773 Island-Church would make Our i-C a schism from Christendom, Becket I iii 116 Islander Because these i's are brutal beasts ? Queen Mary III vi 153
Isle and rooted in far i's Beyond my seeing : Harold III i 153
To Holy Peter in our English i ! „ III i 207
Keep him away from the lone little i. Becket II i 16
Row to the blessed I's ! the blessed I's ! The Cup II 525
That ever blossom'd on this English i. Foresters I ii 124
Islip it be a var waay vor my owld legs up vro' I. Queen Mary IV iii 473
Dumble's the best milcher in I. (repeat) „ IV iii 478, 497
'Issen (himself) the owd man's coom'd ageän to 'i, Prom. of May III 703 Issue (s) Yea, were there i born to her, Queen Mary I v 301
Issue (verb) he that lookt a fangless one, I's a venomous adder. Becket I iii 453
Istis Non defensoribus i, Walter Map. „ II ii 346
Italian Catholic church as well Without as with the I ? Queen Mary III iii 99
He is all I, and he hates the Spaniard ; „ V ii 55
Italy I have seen A pine in I that cast „ III iv 136
Tainted with Lutheranism in I. „ III iv 227
In your soft I yonder ! „ III iv 254
To plump the leaner pouch of I. „ III iv 365
You make your wars upon him down in I :— „ V i 142
Your troops were never down in I. „ V ii 315 and with him who died Alone in I. „ V ii 508 Itch (s) Crutches, and i'es, and leprosies, and ulcers, Becket I iv 254
Itch (verb) Yet my fingers i to beat him into nothing. „ I iv 229
Iver (ever) I doänt believe he's i a 'eart under his waistcoat. Prom. of May I 130 but if i I cooms upo' Gentleman Hedgar ageän, „ II 136 burnin' o' the owld archbishop 'll burn the Pwoap out o' this 'ere land vor i and i. Queen Mary IV iii 536
Ivy Faster than i. Must I hack her arms off ? Harold V ii 146
Your names will cling like i to the wood. Foresters IV 1085

J

Jachin (a brass pillar, entrance to Solomon's temple) lo ! my two pillars, J and Boaz !— Harold III i 192
Jackson (labourer to Farmer Dobson) Higgins, J, Luscombe, Nokes, Prom. of May III 53
Jacta J tonitrua Deus bellator ! Harold V i 569
Jade fellow that on a lame j came to court, Becket V i 246
Jail whose bolts, That j you from free life, Queen Mary III v 172
Jailor My j— Bedingfield. One, whose bolts, „ III v 170
Hast thou such trustless j's in thy North ? Harold II ii 685
Jalousies (jealousies) he be fit to bust hissen wi' spites and j. Prom. of May II 165
James J, didst thou ever see a carrion crow Queen Mary IV iii 5
James, St. See St. James
Jane (Lady Jane Grey) and of the good Lady J as a poor innocent child „ I i 94
That gave her royal crown to Lady J. „ I ii 19 saying of this Lady J, Now in the Tower ? „ I v 37 Lady J stood up Stiff as the very backbone „ I v 42 tell your Grace What Lady J replied. „ I v 50
A child more innocent than Lady J. „ I v 502
Or Lady J ? Wyatt. No, poor soul ; no. „ II i 241
And Lady J had left us. „ II iv 139
Lady J ? Crowd. God save their Graces ! „ III i 341
Cried no God-bless-her to the Lady J, „ III iv 45
Janus-faces But J-f looking diverse ways. „ III ii 75
Jar since the fondest pair of doves will j, Becket IV ii 41 that Dobbins, is it, With whom I used to j ? Prom. of May II 613
Jarr'd but suddenly J on this rock. Becket I iii 382 Jarring See Ever-jarring
Javelin Our j's Answer their arrows. Harold V i 521
Jay Hawk, buzzard, j, the mavis and the merle, Foresters I iii 115
Jealous (See also Childlike-jealous) and thou in thy way shouldst be j of the King, Becket, Pro. 511 will he not mock at me The j fool balk'd of her will— „ IV ii 423
Art thou not j of her ? The Falcon 6
Ay, ruffle thyself—be j ! Thou shouldst be j of her. „ 22
J of me with Eva ! Is it so ? Prom. of May I 471
Jealousy (See also Jalousies) and j Hath in it an alchemic force Queen Mary III vi 180
Did you not tell me he was crazed with j, Prom. of May III 566
I am a man not prone to jealousies, „ III 626
O Kate, true love and j are twins, Foresters II ii 63
And j is wither'd, sour and ugly : „ II ii 65
J, j of the king. „ II ii 141
Elf, with spiteful heart and eye, Talk of j ? „ II ii 173
Jean they were fishers of men, Father J says. Harold II i 35
Jeer heard One of your Council fleer and j at him. Queen Mary II ii 393 nursery-cocker'd child will j at aught „ II ii 395
The statesman that shall j and fleer at men, „ II ii 397
if he j not seeing the true man Behind his folly, „ II ii 400
if he see the man and still will j, „ II ii 402
Jenny here's little Dickon, and little Robin, and little J— „ II iii 113
Jeopardy being in great j of his life, he hath made Becket I iv 263
Jerk Let be thy jokes and thy j's, man ! The Falcon 133
Jerk'd Things that seem j out of the common rut Harold I i 137
Jerusalem table steams, like a heathen altar ; nay, like the altar at J. Becket I iv 70 smell o' the mou'd 'ud ha' maäde ma live as long as J. Prom. of May I 378 Jest (s) the tongue yet quiver'd with the j Queen Mary I v 476 a j In time of danger shows the pulses even. „ II ii 356
And the Dutchman, Now laughing at some j ? „ III i 196 nave and aisles all empty as a fool's j ! „ IV iii 287 Thy j—no more. Why—look—is this a sleeve Becket, Pro. 249
Then for thy barren j Take thou mine answer „ Pro. 281 —That were a j indeed ! „ Pro. 297
There's no j on the brows of Herbert there. „ Pro. 390 good old man would sometimes have his j— „ I i 62
J or prophecy there ? Herbert. Both, Thomas, both. „ I i 67 or any harm done to the people if my j be in defence of the Truth ? „ II ii 339
if the j be so done that the people Delight „ II ii 341
Bandy their own rude j's with them, The Cup I ii 360
Jest (verb) Ha ! ha ! sir ; but you j ; I love it : Queen Mary II ii 355
Thou angerest me, man : I do not j. Becket, Pro. 300
We did but j. „ Pro. 389
Why do you j with me, and try To fright me ? Prom. of May I 664
Jester Thou art a j and a verse-maker. Becket II ii 334

Jesting if you be not j, Neither the old world, Prom. of May I 673
They are j at us yonder, mocking us? Foresters IV 676
Jesus Christ (See also Christ, Christ Jesus) save her thro' the blood Of J C Queen Mary III i 388
Jetsam range with j and with offal thrown „ III iii 191
Jew He calls us worse than J's, Moors, Saracens. „ V i 150
There is Antwerp and the J's. „ V i 183
Advanced thee at his instance by the J's, Becket I iii 644
Jewel (adj.) Beetle's j armour crack'd, Queen. Foresters II ii 160
Jewel (s) I left her with rich j's in her hand, Queen Mary I iv 242
I have the j of a loyal heart. „ I iv 247 left about Like loosely-scatter'd j's, „ II i 28 in whose crown our Kent is the fairest j. „ II i 164
How look'd the Queen? Bagenhall. No fairer for her j's. „ III i 92
To set that precious j, Roger of York. Becket, Pro. 270 God's eyes! what a lovely cross! what j's! „ Pro. 371 to people heaven in the great day When God makes up his j's. „ V ii 497 Behold the j of St. Pancratius Harold II ii 700 tho' I grudge the pretty j, that I Have worn, Prom. of May I 473 and not a heart like the j in it— The Falcon 91
Outvalues all the j's upon earth. „ 779
Jingling Has my simple song set you j? Becket, Pro. 379
Joan (country wife) Pwoaps be pretty things, J, Queen Mary IV iii 469
Our Daisy's as good 'z her. Tib. Noä, J. Joan. Our Daisy's butter's as good 'z hern. Tib. Noä, J. Joan. Our Daisy's cheeses be better. Tib. Noä, J. „ IV iii 480
Ay, J, and my owld man wur up and awaay „ IV iii 488
Ay, J; and Queen Mary gwoes on a burnin' „ IV iii 522
but tek thou my word vor't, J,— „ IV iii 533
Joan of Kent (Elizabeth Barton, executed 1534) 'twas you That sign'd the burning of poor J o K; „ IV ii 206
Jocelyn (Bishop of Salisbury) (See also Salisbury) No saying of mine—J of Salisbury. Becket II ii 372
John (Gospel of St.) They go like those old Pharisees in J Queen Mary II ii 8
John (Little) See Little John
John (of Oxford, called the Swearer) (See also John of Oxford, John the Swearer) See if our pious— what shall I call him, J?— Becket II ii 39
J, Thou hast served me heretofore with Rome— „ II ii 459 Honest J! To Rome again! the storm begins again. „ II ii 467
John (of Salisbury) (See also John of Salisbury, Salisbury)
Our good J Must speed you to your bower „ I i 290
Dan J with a nun, That Map, „ I i 305
—J, and out of breath! „ I i 388
Why, J, my kingdom is not of this world. „ V ii 18
Dan J, how much we lose, we celibates, „ V ii 197
You hear them, brother J; Why do you stand so silent, brother J? „ V ii 534
Is it so, Dan J? well, what should I have done? „ V ii 552
My counsel is already taken, J. „ V ii 561
Methought they would have brain'd me with it, J. „ V ii 613
John (Prince, afterwards King of England) and these are the days of Prince J: Foresters I i 178
A gallant Earl. I love him as I hate J. „ I i 191 in the service of our good king Richard against the party of J, „ I i 195
This J—this Norman tyranny— „ I i 238
I am old and forget. Was Prince J there? Marian. The Sheriff of Nottingham was there—not J. Sir Richard. Beware of J and the Sheriff of Nottingham. „ I i 251
he hath sold himself to that beast J— „ I i 268
Down with J! (repeat) Foresters I ii 4, 12, 16, 17, 30 Perfect—who should know you for Prince J, Foresters I ii 21 ye did wrong in crying 'Down with J;' For be he dead, then J may be our King. „ I ii 97
But if it be so we must bear with J. „ I ii 102
I fear you be of those who hold more by J than Richard. Sheriff. True, for through J I had my sheriffship. I am J'e till Richard come back again, and then I am Richard's. „ I ii 199
Beware of J! Marian. I hate him. „ I ii 214
John (Prince, afterwards King of England) (continued) Bad me beware Of J: what maid but would beware of J? Foresters I ii 256
This is irregular and the work of J. „ I iii 71
How should we cope with J? „ I iii 79
I held for Richard, and I hated J. „ II i 52
Our vice-king J, True king of vice— „ II i 82 our J By his Norman arrogance and dissoluteness, „ II i 84
J—Shame on him!—Stole on her, „ II i 110 the Sheriff, and by heaven, Prince J himself „ II i 173 Prince J, the Sheriff, and a mercenary. Sir Richard. Prince J again. We are flying from this J. „ II i 445 be there wolves in Sherwood? Marian. The wolf, J! „ II i 513 this is Maid Marian Flying from J—disguised. „ II i 680 break, Far as he might, the power of J— „ II i 696
A maiden now Were ill-bested in these dark days of J, „ II ii 46
That J last week return'd to Nottingham, „ III 147
We robb'd the traitors that are leagued with J; „ III 160
My lord J, In wrath because you drove him from the forest, „ III 449 to 'scape The glance of J—— „ III 463
The bee should buzz about the Court of J. No ribald J is Love, no wanton Prince, „ IV 45
Art thou for Richard, or allied to J? Richard. I am allied to J. „ IV 136
But being o' J's side we must have thy gold. „ IV 157
But I am more for Richard than for J. „ IV 160 or the head of a fool, or the heart of Prince J, „ IV 213 Break thine alliance with this faithless J, „ IV 324 Still I am more for Richard than for J. „ IV 330 for how canst thou be thus allied With J, „ IV 351
The Sheriff! the Sheriff, follow'd by Prince J „ IV 588
My liege, Prince J—— Richard. Say thou no word against my brother J. „ IV 823
John (St.) See John (Gospel of St.), St. John
John of Oxford (See also John, John the Swearer) I, J o O, The President of this Council, Becket I iii 74
For J o O here to read to you. „ I iii 417
Cursed be J o O, Roger of York, And Gilbert Foliot! „ II ii 265
John of Salisbury (See also John, Salisbury) We gave thee to the charge of J o S, „ I i 247
J o S Hath often laid a cold hand on my heats, „ I i 383
He watch'd her pass with J o S „ I ii 40 priest whom J o S trusted Hath sent another. „ III i 69
J o S committed The secret of the bower, „ III iii 4
I know him; our good J o S. „ V ii 77 make me not a woman, J o S, „ V ii 148
John the Swearer (See also John, John of Oxford) They call thee J t S. „ II ii 462
Join To j a voice, so potent with her Highness, Queen Mary IV i 117
May the great angels j their wings, „ V iv 6
J hands, let brethren dwell in unity; Harold I i 397
j our hands before the hosts, That all may see. „ IV i 241
And then thy King might j the Antipope, Becket I iii 211 every thread of thought Is broken ere it j's— „ V ii 207 I'll j with him: I may reap something from him— The Cup I i 177 tho' a stranger fain would be allow'd To j the hunt. „ I i 197
And j your life this day with his, „ II 135
Well, my child, let us j them. Prom. of May I 797 till he j King Richard in the Holy Land. Foresters I ii 238
And j our feasts and all your forest games „ III 84 by St. Mary these beggars and these friars shall j you. „ III 417
J them and they are a true marriage; „ III 420
Our rebel Abbot then shall j your hands, „ IV 933
Join'd What hinders but that Spain and England j, Queen Mary V iii 69 he j with thee To drive me outlaw'd. Harold IV ii 13 a random guest Who j me in the hunt. The Cup I ii 109
And j my banner in the Holy Land, Foresters IV 1000
Joining Mary of England, j hands with Spain, Queen Mary I v 298 Joke Let be thy j's and thy jerks, man! The Falcon 132
Jolt Against the unpleasant j's of this rough road Prom. of May I 228
Jonah that the fish had swallowed me, Like J, Harold II i 38
Rolf, what fish did swallow J? Rolf. A whale! „ II i 42
Jostle winds so cross and j among these towers. „ II ii 155 Journey I am an old man wearied with my j, Queen Mary III ii 128 make ready for the j. „ III v 278

Journey (continued) so much worse For last day's j. The Falcon 834 Joy Ay, that was in her hour of j; Queen Mary I i 84 wearied with my journey, Ev'n with my j. „ III ii 129
An angel cry 'There is more j in Heaven,'— „ IV ii 10
Either to live with Christ in Heaven with j, „ IV iii 221
I wish you j o' the King's brother. Becket III i 155
O j for the promise of May, (repeat) Prom. of May I 43, 44, 723, 725
I reel beneath the weight of utter j— The Cup II 450 for who could embrace such an armful of j? Foresters I ii 71
Whate'er thy j's, they vanish with the day; „ I iii 44
Joyful And love is j, innocent, beautiful, „ II ii 64
Judas-lover J-l of our passion-play Hath track'd us hither. Becket IV ii 136
Judge (s) J's had pronounced That our young Edward Queen Mary I ii 24
if I'm any j, By God, you are as poor a poet, „ II i 112 sat in mine own courts Judging my j's, Becket I iii 369
Doubtless, like j's of another bench, Foresters III 153
Judge (verb) I shall j with my own eyes Queen Mary I i 133
From thine own mouth I j thee— „ I iii 54
You cannot j the liquor from the lees. „ IV iii 550
Who but the bridegroom dares to j the bride. Becket I iii 685
If we may j the kernel by the husk, The Cup I i 174
Perhaps you j him With feeble charity: „ I ii 185
Sit here, my queen, and j the world with me. Foresters III 152
But will the King, then, j us all unheard? „ IV 897
Judged As if he had been the Holy Father, sat And j it. Queen Mary IV iii 45
The Lord be j again by Pilate? No! Becket I iii 97 make my cry to the Pope, By whom I will be j; „ I iii 725 Judgement what a day! nigh upo' j daay loike. Queen Mary IV iii 468
Judging sat in mine own courts J my judges, Becket I iii 369
Judgment (See also Judgement) J, and pain accruing thereupon; Queen Mary III iii 219
This was the cause, and hence the j on her. „ III iv 187
For which God's righteous j fell upon you „ III iv 240 and these j's on the land— „ V i 96
You must abide my j, and my father's, „ V i 145
And our great lords will sit in j on him. Becket I iii 549 Sons sit in j on their father!— „ I iii 551 decline The j of the King? „ I iii 676
Nay, but hear thy j. The King and all his barons—— Becket. J! Barons! „ I iii 682
Ay, the princes sat in j against me, „ I iv 129 yea, and in the day of j also, „ I iv 147
there are men Of canker'd j everywhere— „ V ii 61 by the j of the officers of the said lord king, Foresters I iii 64
Judgment-seat drag The cleric before the civil j-s, Becket I iii 84
Juggle What game, what j, what devilry are you playing? „ V i 153
Juggled She knew me from the first, she j with me, Prom. of May III 687
Juggler J and bastard—bastard—he hates that most— Harold II ii 773
And for my part therein—Back to that j, „ V i 54
Julius (the Third, Pope) Legate From our most Holy Father J, Pope, Queen Mary III iii 126
Our Lord and Holy Father, J, „ III iii 212
J the Third Was ever just, and mild, and father-like; „ V ii 30 reft me of that legateship Which J gave me, „ V ii 35
July King closed with me last J That I should pass the censures of the Church Becket V ii 389
Jumiéges Did ye not outlaw your archbishop Robert, Robert of J— Harold I i 57
Robert the Archbishop! Robert of J, „ II ii 530
Jumped or the cow that j over the moon. Foresters II i 435
Junction Threaten our j with the Emperor— Becket II ii 471
June They did not last three J's. Prom. of May III 589
How few J's Will beat our pulses quicker! Foresters IV 1061
Juno bust of J and the brows and eyes Of Venus; The Cup I i 120
Jupiter O all ye Gods—J!—J! „ II 453
Just O, j God! Sweet mother, you had time and cause enough Queen Mary I v 22
His learning makes his burning the more j. „ IV i 160
Who deems it a most j and holy war. „ V i 147
Julius the Third Was ever j, and mild, and father-like; „ V ii 31
We have heard Of thy j, mild, and equal governance; Harold II ii 690
And all our j and wise and holy men That shall be born hereafter. „ III i 209

Just (continued) for it seem'd to me but j The Church should pay her scutage like the lords. Becket I i 33
All that you say is j. I cannot answer it Till better times, „ III i 1
Justice Your courts of j will determine that. Queen Mary II iv 130
By seeking j at a stranger's hand „ IV i 20 make his battle-axe keen As thine own sharp-dividing j, Harold V i 564
Ay, and the King of kings, Or j; Becket I i 33
I trust I have not; Not mangled j. „ I i 356
churl against the baron—yea, And did him j; „ I iii 367
The King's will and God's will and j; „ I iii 420
he's no respect for the Queen, or the parson, or the j o' peace, or owt. Prom. of May I 133
That were a wild j indeed. „ III 156 how often j drowns Between the law and the letter of the law! Foresters IV 512
Was j dead because the King was dead? „ IV 847
We dealt in the wild j of the woods. „ IV 1072
Justiciary Before the Prince and chief J, Becket I iii 709
I have sent to the Abbot and j Foresters IV 88
The Abbot of York and his j. „ IV 335
You, my lord Abbot, you J, I made you Abbot, you J: „ IV 842 Jute Angle, J, Dane, Saxon, Norman, Harold II ii 762 yet he held that Dane, J, Angle, Saxon, „ IV i 77
Jutting O thin-skinn'd hand and j veins, Queen Mary IV ii 204
But after rain o'erleaps a j rock And shoots three hundred feet. The Cup I i 110

K

Kate (attendant on Marian) You do well, Mistress K, to sing and to gather roses. Foresters I i 23
I would like to show you, Mistress K, „ I i 49
O sweet K, my first love, the first kiss, „ I i 126
I have played at the foils too with K: „ I i 218 to stand between me and your woman, K. „ I i 305 Speak to me, K, and say you pardon me! „ II ii 53
O K, true love and jealousy are twins, „ II ii 62
I have been a fool and I have lost my K. „ II ii 79
O good K—If my man-Robin were but a bird-Robin, „ III 38
call K when you will, for I am close at hand. „ III 50
Why, where is K? Marian. K! „ III 258
Search them, K, and see if they have spoken truth. „ III 288 Honour to thee, brave Marian, and thy K. „ III 300 my lady, K and I have fallen out again, „ III 411 come between me and my K and make us one again. „ III 422 Embrace me, Marian, and thou, good K, Kiss and congratulate me, my good K. „ IV 1032
Katekin I have lodged my pretty K in her bower. „ II i 418 Keen Take heed, take heed! The blade is k as death. Queen Mary V v 175 make his battle-axe k As thine own sharp-dividing justice, Harold V i 563
Keep (s) he is here, And yonder is thy k.' „ II ii 359
Keep (verb) Stand back, k a clear lane! Queen Mary I i 1
Have you, my Lord? Best k it for your own. „ I iv 133
You've a bold heart; k it so. „ I iv 269
That I may k you thus, who am your friend „ I v 133
These let them k at present; „ I v 407
To bind me first by oaths I could not k, And k „ I v 557
To guard and k you whole and safe from all „ II i 246
He k's, they say, some secret that may cost „ III i 200
Why do they k us here? „ III v 15
He is my good friend, and I would k him so; „ V iii 91
Why did you k me prating? Horses, there! „ V iii 113
Pray'd me to pay her debts, and k the Faith; „ V v 257 and k me still In eyeshot. Harold II ii 241
arm'd men Ever k watch beside my chamber door, „ II ii 245
He did not mean to k his vow. „ III i 248
K that for Norman William! „ IV iii 169 chart here mark'd 'Her Bower,' Take, k it, friend. Becket, Pro. 161
Wast thou not told to k thyself from sight? „ I i 251
And mean to k them, In spite of thee! „ I iii 142
K him away from the lone little isle. „ II i 15

Keep (verb (continued) That if they k him longer as their guest, Becket II i 91
You did your best or worse to k her Duchy. „ II ii 83
we make the time, we k the time, ay, and we serve the time; „ II ii 368
I would have done my most to k Rome holy, „ II ii 401 asked our mother if I could k a quiet tongue i' my head, „ III i 119
The King k's his forest head of game here, „ III ii 37 to k the figure moist and make it hold water, „ III iii 165 k her Indungeon'd from one whisper of the wind, „ IV ii 145 Rest you easy, For I am easy to k. „ V ii 513
That in the summer k's the mountain side, The Cup I i 108
Not one to k a woman's fealty when Assailed „ I i 176 k it, or you sell me To torment and to death. „ I ii 214
k us From seeing all too near that urn, „ I iii 132
Then k your wreath, But you will find me The Falcon 772
I cannot k your diamonds, for the gift I ask for, „ 776
But he will k his love to you for ever! „ 892
Owd Steer wur afeärd she wouldn't be back i' time to k his birthdaäy, Prom. of May I 17
I came back to k his birthday. Dobson. Well I be coomed to k his birthdaäy an' all. „ I 74
She will break fence. I can't k her in order. „ I 194
if tha can't k thy one cow i' horder, how can tha k all thy scholards i' horder? „ I 196
Let him k awaäy, then; but coom, „ I 424
if the child could k Her counsel. „ I 477
But k us lovers. „ I 639
K up your heart until we meet again. „ I 753 Noä, noä! K 'em. But I hed a word to saäy to ye. „ II 44 has promised to k our heads above water; „ III 170 Come, come, k a good heart! „ III 252 but I k a good heart and make the most of it, Foresters I i 28 Shall I k one little rose for Little John? „ I i 112 so that you k the cowl down and speak not? „ I ii 21
I k it For holy vows made to the blessed Saints „ I ii 174 but can k his followers true. „ II i 77
Why did ye k us at the door so long? „ II i 223
I k it to kill nightingales. „ II i 380
He is old and almost mad to k the land. „ II i 528
I k it for her. Robin. Nay, she swore it never „ II i 591
You hope to hold and k her for yourself, „ IV 477
We all k watch. „ IV 608
And we shall k the land. „ IV 637
K silence, bully friar, before the King. „ IV 919
Keeper So less chance for false k's. Harold II ii 688
With Cain's answer, my lord. Am I his k? Becket I iv 187
Keepest that thou k a record of his birthdays? Foresters I i 221
Keeping Might strengthen thee in k of thy word, Harold II ii 730
Is guiltier k this, than breaking it. „ III i 231
I have done wrong in k your secret; Prom. of May III 399
Kennel if the city be sick, and I cannot call the k sweet, Becket II ii 349
Kent your worship the first man in K and Christendom, Queen Mary II i 64
Men of K; England of England; „ II i 157 in whose crown our K is the fairest jewel. „ II i 163
Or tamperers with that treason out of K. „ II ii 12 these rebels out of K Have made strong head „ II ii 145
The Queen of England or the rabble of K? „ II ii 274
And strong to throw ten Wyatts and all K. „ II ii 354 he was my neighbour once in K. „ II iii 86
A hundred here and hundreds hang'd in K. „ III i 2
'twas you That sign'd the burning of poor Joan of K; „ IV ii 206 happy home-return and the King's kiss of peace in K. Becket III iii 329
Kentish The Queen of England—or the K Squire? Queen Mary II ii 269
These K ploughmen cannot break the guards. „ II iv 17
Kept you that have k your old customs upright, „ II i 158
I k my head for use of Holy Church; „ III iv 359
I had k My Robins and my cows in sweeter order „ III v 269 thou hast sworn an oath Which, if not k, Harold II ii 739 Fain had I k thine earldom in thy hands „ V i 275 by thy wisdom Hast k it firm from shaking; Becket, Pro. 204
she k the seventh commandment better than some I know on, „ III i 193
We never k a secret from each other; Prom. of May I 552 you k your veil too close for that when they carried you in; „ III 226

Kernel If we may judge the k by the husk, The Cup I i 174
Kex like a bottle full up to the cork, or as hollow as a k, Foresters IV 211
Key Give me thy k's. Harold II ii 681
See here this little k about my neck! „ III i 10
Gave me the golden k's of Paradise. Becket I i 54
Kick if he did me the good grace to k me Foresters IV 364 Kick'd the cow k, and all her milk was spilt. Queen Mary III v 266 thou hast k down the board. I know thee of old. Becket, Pro. 315 slave that eat my bread has k his King! „ V i 242
play'd at ball with And k it featureless— The Cup II 128 Kill We do not k the child for doing that Queen Mary I v 62 we know that ye be come to k the Queen, „ II iii 108 don't ye k the Queen here, Sir Thomas; „ II iii 110
we pray you to k the Queen further off, „ II iii 114
I have not come to k the Queen Or here or there: „ II iii 117
We k the heretics that sting the soul— „ III iv 68 the shepherd doth not k The sheep that wander „ III iv 102 you must k him if you would have him rest— „ V v 69
If Hate can k, And Loathing wield a Saxon battle-axe— Harold V i 413 k, k with knife or venom One of his slanderous harlots? Becket IV ii 409 s'pose I k's my pig, and gi'es it among 'em, Prom. of May I 147
'As flies to the Gods; they k us for their sport.' „ I 264
It is Nature k's, And not for her sport either. „ I 272
That hold by Richard, tho' they k his deer. Foresters I iii 100
I keep it to k nightingales. „ II i 380
if we k a stag, our dogs have their paws cut off, „ IV 224
Kill'd Thy k but for their pleasure and the power Queen Mary III iv 74 and k away at once Out of the flutter. „ III v 163
O God, I have k my Philip! „ V v 181 rose or no rose, has k the golden violet. Becket, Pro. 351
K half the crew, dungeon'd the other half „ V ii 444 a rumour then That you were k in battle. The Falcon 382 but we fought for it back, And k— „ 615
And we k 'em by the score! „ 620 mastiff, That all but k the beggar, Prom. of May I 559 niver 'a been talkin' haäfe an hour wi' the divil 'at k her oän sister, „ II 604
If it had k one of the Steers there the other day, „ III 249
K the sward where'er they sat, Foresters II ii 152 Killing And cruel at it, k helpless flies; Queen Mary III iv 65 and the power They felt in k. „ III iv 76 Kin but follow'd the device of those Her nearest k: „ III i 380
Let kith and k stand close as our shield-wall, Harold I i 398
His k, all his belongings, overseas; Becket II i 71 restore his k, Reseat him on his throne of Canterbury, „ II ii 117
Send back again those exiles of my k „ III iii 187
From whom, as being too k, you know, „ IV ii 307
I dare not brave my brother, Break with my k. The Falcon 257 Kind O, k and gentle master, the Queen's Officers, Queen Mary I ii 107 she had seen the Archbishop once, So mild, so k. Becket V ii 120 Weänt ye gi'e me a k answer at last? Prom. of May II 63 saints were so k to both on us that he was dead before he was born. Foresters II i 372
Kindle He hath gone to k Norway against England, Harold III i 79
And k all our vales with myrtle-blossom, The Cup II 267
Kindled sparkles out as quick Almost as k; Queen Mary I ii 74 and k with the palms Of Christ! „ I v 93 you should know that whether A wind be warm or cold, it serves to fan A k fire. „ I v 621 after much smouldering and smoking, be k again upon your quarter. Becket II ii 313
the fire, when first k, said to the smoke, „ II ii 318 Kindlier The running down the chase is k sport „ IV ii 213 and will pray for you That you may thrive, but in some k trade. Foresters III 253
Kindliest The k man I ever knew; Queen Mary IV iii 421
Kindly Be k to the Normans left among us, Harold III i 303
A k rendering Of 'Render unto Cæsar.' . . . „ III ii 167
Thou art too k. „ IV iii 32
Not k to them? Sinnatus. K? O the most k Prince in all the world! The Cup I ii 354
Yet he seem'd k, And said he loathed the cruelties „ I ii 372 he always took you so k, he always took the world so k. The Falcon 187 made a wry mouth at it, but he took it so k, „ 191

Kindly (continued) he always took you so k— The Falcon 195
And were my k father sound again, Foresters III 81
Kindness beget A k from him, for his heart was rich, Queen Mary IV i 169
O Bonner, if I ever did you k— „ IV ii 152
but smile As k, watching all, Harold I i 367
King (See also Baby-king, Boy-king, Co-king, Father-king, Giant-king, Mock-king, Monk-king, Vice-king) and this wrought Upon the k; Queen Mary I ii 71
You look'd a k. „ I iii 103 but we play with Henry, K of France, „ I iii 131
The K is skilful at it? „ I iii 144
And so you well attend to the k's moves, „ I iii 152 a K That with her own pawns plays against a Queen, Whose play is all to find herself a K. „ I iii 161 make him K belike. „ I iv 212
A k to be—is he not noble, girl? „ I v 4 then the K—that traitor past forgiveness, „ I v 28
What says the K your master? „ I v 248
if this Philip be the titular k Of England, „ I v 254 but your k stole her a babe from Scotland „ I v 291
Thou speakest of the enemy of thy k. „ I v 327 he will be K, K of England, my masters; „ II i 173 and if Philip come to be K, O my God! „ II i 199 to whom The k, my father, did commit his trust; „ II ii 208
To be your k, ye would rejoice thereat, „ II ii 224
Makes enemies for himself and for his k; „ II ii 399
Their cry is, Philip never shall be k. „ II iv 2
Left him and fled; and thou that would'st be K, „ II iv 83
My foes are at my feet, and Philip K. „ II iv 143
Nay, he is K, you know, the K of Naples. The father ceded Naples, that the son Being a K, might wed a Queen— „ III i 72
The K of France will help to break it. „ III i 105
The French K winks at it. „ III i 160
Long live the K and Queen, Philip and Mary! „ III i 208
There be both K and Queen, Philip and Mary. Shout! „ III i 296 where you gave your hand To this great Catholic K. „ III ii 92 happily symboll'd by The K your husband, „ III ii 110
The K is here!—My star, my son! „ III ii 183
He's here, and k, or will be—yet cocksbody! „ III iii 44
The K and I, my Lords, now that all traitors „ III iv 1 the K And you together our two suns in one; „ III iv 18
bolster'd up The gross K's headship of the Church, „ III iv 246
The Church's evil is not as the K's, „ III iv 273
But not the force made them our mightiest k's. „ III iv 336
Crown'd slave of slaves, and mitred k of k's. „ III iv 381
'It is the K's wish, that you should wed Prince Philibert of Savoy. „ III v 221
Why then the K! for I would have him bring it „ III vi 21 Against the K, the Queen, the Holy Father, „ III vi 33
'The K hath wearied of his barren bride.' „ III vi 140
K and Queen, To whom he owes his loyalty „ IV i 21
Stood out against the K in your behalf, „ IV i 126
And when the K's divorce was sued at Rome, „ IV iii 41
Friend for so long time of a mighty K; „ IV iii 73
Obey your K and Queen, and not for dread „ IV iii 177
I conclude the K a beast; Verily a lion if you will— „ IV iii 411
Here is the K. „ V i 15
There is no k, not were he ten times k, „ V i 62
The K of France the K of England too. „ V i 198
Madam, I brought My K's congratulations; „ V ii 570
My K would know if you be fairly served. „ V iii 20
I take it that the k hath spoken to you; „ V iii 85
Ay, tell the K that I will muse upon it; „ V iii 89
But I am much beholden to your K. „ V iii 99
I am much beholden to your K, your master. „ V iii 111 the one K, the Christ, and all things in common, as in the day of the first church, when Christ Jesus was K. „ V iv 53 fair a likeness As your great K in armour „ V v 29
He can but read the k's face on his coins. Stigand. Ay, ay, young lord, there the k's face is power. Harold I i 71
To sleek and supple himself to the k's hand. „ I i 149 Too hardy with thy k! „ I i 198 after those twelve years a boon, my k, „ I i 226
King (continued) What lies upon the mind of our good k Harold I i 269
Brother, the k is wiser than he seems; And Tostig knows it; Tostig loves the k. Harold. And love should know; and—be the k so wise,— „ I i 272
The k hath made me Earl; make me not fool! Nor make the K a fool, who made me Earl! „ I i 288
Who made the K who made thee, make thee Earl. „ I i 294
Pray God the people choose thee for their k! „ I i 315
And thou art ever here about the K: „ I i 321
To the good k who gave it—not to you— „ I i 407
The k! the k is ever at his prayers; „ I i 410
In all that handles matter of the state I am the k. „ I i 413 thou hast taught the k to spoil him too; „ I i 451
Farewell, my k. Harold. Not yet, but then—my queen. „ I ii 137
If he were K of England, I his queen, „ I ii 154 lest the k Should yield his ward to Harold's will. „ I ii 158
'O thou more saint than k!' „ I ii 168
Tostig, Edward hath made him Earl: he would be k:— „ I ii 187
Harold Hear the k's music, all alone with him, „ I ii 194
Who knows I may not dream myself their k! „ I ii 252 a whale to a whelk we have swallowed the K of England. „ II i 45 Who shall be k's of England. I am heir Of England by the promise of her k. „ II ii 123 there the great Assembly choose their k, „ II ii 127
I will be k of England by the laws, „ II ii 130
More kinglike he than like to prove a k. „ II ii 143
What said the K? 'I pray you do not „ II ii 217
Yea, yea, he would be k of England. „ II ii 369
And he our lazy-pious Norman K, „ II ii 444 our good K Kneels mumbling some old bone— „ II ii 468
The k, the lords, the people clear'd him of it. „ II ii 522 and a child, Will England have him k? „ II ii 573 promised that if ever he were k In England, „ II ii 587
Ay . . . if the k have not revoked his promise. „ II ii 609
Thou shalt be verily k—all but the name— „ II ii 632
I, the Count—the K—Thy friend— „ II ii 754
Then our great Council wait to crown thee K— „ III i 4 sickness of our saintly k, for whom My prayers „ III i 164
Nay—but the council, and the k himself, „ III i 171
It lies beside thee, k, upon thy bed. „ III i 195
Let me be buried there, and all our k's, „ III i 208
It shall be granted him, my k; „ III i 228 we be not bound by the k's voice In making of a k, yet the k's voice „ III i 236 my lord, my k! He knew not whom he sware by. „ III i 255
I did not dream then I should be k.— „ III i 271 and dear son, swear When thou art k, „ III i 306 but to please our dying k, and those Who make „ III i 329
Our holy k Hath given his virgin lamb to Holy Church „ III i 333 for the k Is holy, and hath talk'd with God, „ III i 354
And our great Council wait to crown thee K. „ III i 407
Crown'd, crown'd and lost, crown'd K— „ III ii 2
Harold the K! Harold. Call me not K, but Harold. Edith. Nay, thou art K! „ III ii 32 Thine, thine, or K or churl! „ III ii 36 rather let me be K of the moment to thee, „ III ii 41 than to reign K of the world without it. „ III ii 45 thou be only K of the moment over England. „ III ii 51
Tho' somewhat less a k to my true self „ III ii 53
nor priestly k to cross Their billings ere they nest. „ III ii 93
He, and the giant K of Norway, „ III ii 122
The K hath cursed him, if he marry me; „ III ii 189
Let not our great k Believe us sullen—only shamed to the quick Before the k—as having been so bruised By Harold, k of Norway; but our help Is Harold, k of England. Pardon us, thou! Our silence is our reverence for the k! „ IV i 6 old Northumbrian crown, And k's of our own choosing. „ IV i 33
Had in him kingly thoughts—a k of men, „ IV i 83
Not made but born, like the great k of all, „ IV i 85 bad the k Who doted on him, „ IV i 102
K! thy brother, If one may dare to speak the truth, „ IV i 107 good k would deign to lend an ear Not overscornful, „ IV i 135 thence a k may rise Half-Godwin and half-Alfgar, „ IV i 142
The k can scarcely dream that we, „ IV i 163

King (continued) Who dares arraign us, k, of such a plot? Harold IV i 168
Yea, take the Sacrament upon it, k. „ IV i 183
The nimble, wild, red, wiry, savage k— „ IV i 198
Thou hast but cared to make thyself a k— „ IV ii 75
Every man about his k Fought like a k; the k like his own man, „ IV iii 56
My lord the K! William the Norman, „ IV iii 180
To do with England's choice of her own k? „ V i 20
If the k fall, may not the kingdom fall? But if I fall, I fall, and thou art k; And, if I win, I win, and thou art k; „ V i 123
How should the people fight When the k flies? „ V i 138
How should the K of England waste the fields Of England, „ V i 140
That scared the dying conscience of the k, „ V i 212
I thy k, who came before To tell thee „ V i 235
O hapless Harold! K but for an hour! „ V i 258
The k's last word—'the arrow!' „ V i 266 advise the k Against the race of Godwin. „ V i 281 Get thou into thy cloister as the k Will'd it: „ V i 309
I have not spoken to the k One word; „ V i 335
The k commands thee, woman! „ V i 340
England Is but her k, and thou art Harold! „ V i 376
Edith, if I, the last English K of England— „ V i 384 all the monks of Peterboro' Strike for the k; „ V i 447
k of England stands between his banners. „ V i 486
They have broken the commandment of the k! „ V i 615
With whom they play'd their game against the k! Aldwyth. The k is slain, the kingdom overthrown! „ V ii 14 being the true wife Of this dead K, „ V ii 85
And this dead k's Who, k or not, „ V ii 123
When all men counted Harold would be k, „ V ii 133
Every man about his k Fell where he stood. „ V ii 181
I am K of England, so they thwart me not, „ V ii 196
Look to your k. Becket, Pro. 33
my bishop Hath brought your k to a standstill. „ Pro. 44
Why, there then—down go bishop and k together. „ Pro. 48 to the statesman Who serves and loves his k, and whom the k Loves not as statesman, „ Pro. 78
That tread the k's their children under-heel— „ Pro. 213
My young son Henry crown'd the K of England, „ Pro. 224
K, Church, and State to him but foils wherein „ Pro. 268
God's favour and k's favour might so clash „ Pro. 295
Parthian shaft of a forlorn Cupid at the K's left breast, „ Pro. 340 and the K gave it to his Chancellor. „ Pro. 431 but because he had the love of the K. „ Pro. 443 retinue of three k's behind him, outroyalling royalty? „ Pro. 445
he holp the K to break down our castles, „ Pro. 446 you could not see the K for the kinglings. „ Pro. 453
she, whom the K loves indeed, is a power in the State. „ Pro. 482 Rival!—ay, and when the K passes, „ Pro. 484 secret matter which would heat the K against thee „ Pro. 488 thou in thy way shouldst be jealous of the K, „ Pro. 512 then the K came honeying about her, „ Pro. 516 make her as hateful to herself and to the K, „ Pro. 527 wreak our spite on the rosefaced minion of the K, and bring her to the level of the dust, so that the K— „ Pro. 530
To please the K! Becket. Ay, and the K of k's, „ I i 31
Shall I fall off—to please the K once more? „ I i 110
Not fight—tho' somehow traitor to the K— „ I i 113
'I mean to fight mine utmost for the Church, Against the K'? Becket. But dost thou think the K Forced mine election? Herbert. I do think the K Was potent in the election, and why not? Why should not Heaven have so inspired the K? „ I i 125
The rift that runs between me and the K. „ I i 141 thro' The random gifts of careless k's, „ I i 159 here I gash myself asunder from the K, „ I i 175
What friend! Rosamund. The K. „ I i 326
My friend, the K! . . . O thou Great Seal of England, Given me by my dear friend the K of England— „ I i 335
To tell the K, my friend, I am against him. „ I i 343
O, my dear friend, the K! O brother!— „ I i 360
Let the Great Seal be sent Back to the K to-morrow. „ I i 376
The K may rend the bearer limb from limb. „ I i 378
Of this wild Rosamund to please the K, „ I i 393

King (continued) However k's and queens may frown on thee. Becket I ii 18 in your chancellorship you served The follies of the K. „ I ii 31 Priest Sits winking at the license of a k, Altho' we grant when k's are dangerous The Church must play into the hands of k's; „ I ii 66
That k's are faithful to their marriage vow. „ I ii 78
Where I shall meet the Barons and my K. „ I ii 85
Stir up the K, the Lords! „ I ii 88
I will make thee hateful to thy K. „ I ii 92
Where is the K? Roger. Gone hawking on the Nene, „ I iii 1
But by the K's command, are written down, And by the K's command I, John of Oxford, „ I iii 72 whether between laymen or clerics, shall be tried in the K's court.' „ I iii 81
he shall answer to the summons of the K's court to be tried therein.' „ I iii 89
the K, till another be appointed, shall receive the revenues thereof.' „ I iii 100
Is the K's treasury A fit place for the monies of the Church, „ I iii 104 the K shall summon the chapter of that church to court, „ I iii 108 with the consent of our lord the K, and by the advice „ I iii 112
Without the license of our lord the K. „ I iii 130
Are ye my masters, or my lord the K? „ I iii 135
The K is quick to anger; „ I iii 164 sheathe your swords, ye will displease the K. „ I iii 180
Save the K's honour here before his barons. „ I iii 187
He pray'd me to pray thee to pacify Thy K; for if thou go against thy K, Then must he likewise go against thy K, And then thy K may join the Antipope, „ I iii 207
K swore to our cardinals He meant no harm „ I iii 215
He told me thou shouldst pacify the K, „ I iii 225
He heads the Church against the K with thee. „ I iii 245
I came, your K! Nor dwelt alone, „ I iii 357 that had found a K Who ranged confusions, „ I iii 370
The master of his master, the K's k.—God's eyes! I had meant to make him all but k. Chancellor-Archbishop, he might well have sway'd All England under Henry, the young K, „ I iii 462 it is the traitor that imputes Treachery to his K! „ I iii 485
The K will not abide thee with thy cross. „ I iii 488
Make not thy K a traitorous murderer. „ I iii 500
Arm'd with thy cross, to come before the K? „ I iii 510
Nay, nay, my lord, thou must not brave the K. „ I iii 515
Now as Archbishop goest against the K; „ I iii 531
Ay, ay! but art thou stronger than the K? „ I iii 535
I promised The K to obey these customs, „ I iii 557 Tell what I say to the K. „ I iii 564 deliver Canterbury To our K's hands again, „ I iii 581
Fealty to the k, obedience to thyself? „ I iii 587
But the K rages—most are with the K; „ I iii 591
The K's 'God's eyes!' come now so thick and fast, „ I iii 609
the K demands three hundred marks, „ I iii 626 Tell the K I spent thrice that in fortifying his castles. „ I iii 631 the K demands seven hundred marks, Lent at the siege of Thoulouse by the K. „ I iii 634
the K demands five hundred marks, „ I iii 641
For which the K was bound security, „ I iii 645
K Demands a strict account of all those revenues „ I iii 649 my good lord Leicester, The K and I were brothers. All I had I lavish'd for the glory of the K; „ I iii 661
The K and all his lords—— Becket. Son, first hear me! „ I iii 671
In fee and barony of the K, decline The judgment of the K? Becket. The K! I hold Nothing in fee and barony of the K. „ I iii 675
The K and all his barons—— Becket. Judgment! Barons! „ I iii 683
K would throne me in the great Archbishoprick: „ I iii 693
For the K's pleasure rather than God's cause „ I iii 697
God from me withdraws Himself, And the K too. „ I iii 703
Why thou, the K, the Pope, the Saints, the world, „ I iii 705
I refuse to stand By the K's censure, „ I iii 723
The K, these customs, all the Church, „ I iii 726
K commands you, upon pain of death, „ I iii 752
The K hath frowned upon me. „ I iv 25
there be those about our K who would have thy blood.' „ I iv 55

King (continued) frosted off me by the first cold frown of the K. Becket I iv 68
The Church is ever at variance with the k's, „ I iv 79
If the K hold his purpose, I am myself a beggar. „ I iv 89
K's verdurer caught him a-hunting in the forest, „ I iv 95
he licks my face and moans and cries out against the K. „ I iv 100
Were the Church k, it would be otherwise. „ I iv 104
K's meat! By the Lord, „ I iv 140
Becket shall be k, and the Holy Father shall be k, and the world shall live by the K's venison „ I iv 270
A greater K Than thou art, Love, „ II i 115
It is, my boy, to side with the K when Chancellor, and then to be made Archbishop and go against the K „ II i 236
England scarce would hold Young Henry k, „ II ii 32 for any rough sea Blown by the breath of k's. „ II ii 108 rift he made May close between us, here I am wholly k, „ II ii 133
Ay, ay! the K humbles himself enough. „ II ii 184 suppress God's honour for the sake Of any k „ II ii 221
we grant the Church K over this world's k's, yet, my good lord, We that are k's are something in this world, „ II ii 243 who hath withstood two K's to their faces for the honour of God. „ II ii 276
I thank you, sons; when k's but hold by crowns, The crowd that hungers for a crown in Heaven Is my true k. „ II ii 280
Thy true K bad thee be A fisher of men; „ II ii 285
I am too like the K here; „ II ii 288
But the K hath bought half the College of Redhats. „ II ii 373 shakes at mortal k's—her vacillation, Avarice, craft— „ II ii 405
The K had had no power except for Rome. 'Tis not the K who is guilty of mine exile, „ II ii 412 Deny not thou God's honour for a k. The K looks troubled. „ II ii 424 being ever duteous to the K, „ II ii 464
I am the K, his father, And I will look to it. „ III i 26 and I ha' seen the K once at Oxford, and he's as like the K „ III i 163 thought at first it was the K, only you know the K's married, „ III i 166
I thought if it were the K's brother he had a better bride than the K, „ III i 173
Myself confused with parting from the K. „ III i 238
Have track'd the K to this dark inland wood; „ III ii 3
Our woodland Circe that hath witch'd the K? „ III ii 33
The K keeps his forest head of game here, „ III ii 37
let the K's fine game look to itself. „ III ii 44
There is the K talking with Walter Map? „ III iii 22
K at last is fairly scared by this cloud—this interdict. I have been more for the K than the Church in this matter— „ III iii 63
He thought less of two k's than of one Roger the k of the occasion. „ III iii 90 like the Greek k when his daughter was sacrificed, „ III iii 104
K would act servitor and hand a dish to his son; „ III iii 138 part royal, for K and kingling both laughed, „ III iii 157
if Thomas have not flung himself at the K's feet. „ III iii 169
Ay, K! for in thy kingdom, as thou knowest, The spouse of the Great K, thy K, hath fallen— „ III iii 173 ere Pope or K Had come between us! „ III iii 267 is the K's if too high a stile for your lordship to overstep „ III iii 280
You wrong the K: he meant what he said to-day. „ III iii 299
K hath many more wolves than he can tame „ III iii 321
if it suit their purpose to howl for the K, „ III iii 324
Farewell. I must follow the K. „ III iii 330
Did the K Speak of the customs? „ III iii 332
The K's not like to die for that which dies; „ III iii 338
I am mine own self Of and belonging to the K. The K Hath divers ofs and ons, ofs and belongings, „ IV ii 30
The K shall never hear of me again, „ IV ii 102 burrow where the K Would miss her and for ever. „ IV ii 158
By very God, the cross I gave the K! „ IV ii 199

King (continued) Has wheedled it off the K's neck to her own. Becket IV ii 201
We thought to scare this minion of the K Back from her churchless commerce with the K „ IV ii 331
The K himself, for love of his own sons, „ IV ii 344
You have lost The ear of the K. „ IV ii 355
The world hath trick'd her—that's the K; „ IV ii 376
K plucks out their eyes Who anger him, „ IV ii 405
Madam, I am as much man as the k. Madam, I fear Church-censures like your K. „ IV ii 433 we will to France and be Beforehand with the K, „ IV ii 455
Before you made him k. But Becket ever moves against a k. „ V i 24
The Church is all—the crime to be a k. „ V i 27
one half, but half-alive, Cries to the K. „ V i 65
The brideless Becket is thy k and mine: „ V i 108
I dream'd I was the consort of a k, „ V i 144
What made the K cry out so furiously? „ V i 220 he did his best To break the barons, and now braves the K. Eleanor. Strike, then, at once, the K would have him— „ V i 236 slave that eat my bread has kick'd his K! „ V i 243 gone to the K And taken our anathema with him. „ V ii 7
Can the K de-anathematise this York? „ V ii 10
Thou hast waged God's war against the K; „ V ii 47
That thou wouldst ex-communicate the K. „ V ii 91 he had gone too far Into the K's own woods; „ V ii 108 Cried out against the cruelty of the K. I said it was the K's courts, not the K; „ V ii 113 and she wish'd The Church were k: „ V ii 118 when I was Chancellor to the K, I fear I was as cruel as the K. „ V ii 123
For once in France the K had been so harsh; „ V ii 139
'The K is sick and almost unto death.' „ V ii 152 Liker the K. Becket. No, daughter. Rosamund. Ay, but wait Till his nose rises; he will be very k. Becket. Ev'n so: but think not of the K: „ V ii 181 breathe one prayer for my liege-lord the K, „ V ii 192
we bring a message from the K Beyond the water; „ V ii 302
The K condemns your excommunicating— „ V ii 317
Now, sirs, the K's commands! Fitzurse. The K beyond the water, thro' our voices, Commands you to be dutiful and leal To your young K on this side of the water, „ V ii 322 broken Your bond of peace, your treaty with the K— „ V ii 351
K commands you to absolve the bishops „ V ii 375
The K commands you. We are all K's men. „ V ii 383
K's men at least should know That their own K „ V ii 386
What! dare you charge the K with treachery? „ V ii 397
He makes the K a traitor, me a liar. „ V ii 415
If this be so, complain to your young K, „ V ii 449
I ask no leave of K, or mortal man, „ V ii 458
Give to the K the things that are the K's, „ V ii 461
Blared from the heights of all the thrones of her k's, „ V ii 490
That goes against our fealty to the K. „ V ii 508
I go to meet my K! Grim. To meet the K? „ V ii 620
As you would force a k from being crown'd. „ V iii 25
Here, here, K's men! „ V iii 102
Where is this treble traitor to the K? „ V iii 108
No traitor to the K, but Priest of God, „ V iii 112
The Pope, the K, will curse you— „ V iii 182 and throne One k above them all, The Cup I i 93
The k, the crown! their talk in Rome? „ I i 98
We have had our leagues of old with Eastern k's. „ I ii 102
There then I rest, Rome's tributary k. „ I iii 156
This very day the Romans crown him k „ II 64
—and blast the k and me, „ II 152
Lay down the Lydian carpets for the k. The k should pace on purple to his bride, „ II 188
And music there to greet my lord the k. „ II 192
Hail, K! Synorix. Hail, Queen! „ II 219 speak I now too mightily, being K And happy! „ II 238
Foam over all the fleeted wealth of k's And peoples, „ II 289
Words are not always what they seem, my K. „ II 329
Thy turn, Galatian K. „ II 379

King (continued) Synorix, first K, Camma, first Queen o' the Realm, The Cup II 440 you are still the k Of courtesy and liberality. The Falcon 292
He would grapple with a lion like the K, Foresters I i 186
We will be beggar'd then and be true to the K. „ I i 202 both fought against the tyranny of the k's, the Normans. „ I i 230 the K, thy god-father, gave it thee when a baby. „ I i 285
I would break through them all, like the K of England. „ I i 326
Now that the sum our K is gone, „ I ii 83
For be he dead, then John may be our K. „ I ii 99
I may not hate the K For aught I know, „ I ii 115
I think they will be mightier than the k. „ I ii 120
I trust he brings us news of the K's coming. „ I iii 53
by force and arms hath trespassed against the k in divers manners, „ I iii 63
The London folkmote Has made him all but k, „ I iii 81
Traitors are rarely bred Save under traitor k's. Our vice-king John, True k of vice— „ II i 81
Hath made me k of all the discontent Of England „ II i 87
Sheriff had taken all our goods for the K without paying, „ II i 191 when the Sheriff took my little horse for the K without paying for it— „ II i 301 given my whole body to the K had he asked for it, „ II i 306
I ha' served the K living, says she, and let me serve him dead, „ II i 310
He was the k o' the wood. „ II i 321
Jealousy, jealousy of the k. „ II ii 141
We never robb'd one friend of the true K. „ III 158
Our Robin, K o' the woods, „ III 344
Robin, the people's friend, the K o' the woods ! „ III 347
We care so much for a K ; (repeat) Foresters III 429, 443
The ruler of an hour, but lawful K, Foresters IV 47
if these knaves should know me for their K ? „ IV 134 Great woodland k, I know not quarterstaff. Little John. A fine ! a fine ! He hath called plain Robin a k. „ IV 215 did ye not call me k in your song ? „ IV 220
Is that to be a k ? If the k and the law work injustice, is not he that goes against the k and the law the true k in the sight of the K of k's ? Thou art the k of the forest, and I would thou wert the k of the land. „ IV 228
We had it i' the Red K's time, „ IV 303 for I must hence upon The K's affair. „ IV 342 Richard's the k of courtesy, „ IV 362 and call it courtesy, For he's a k. „ IV 368 Richard, again, is k over a realm He hardly knows, and Robin k of Sherwood, „ IV 387 if the land Were ruleable by tongue, thou shouldst be k. And yet thou know'st how little of thy k ! „ IV 400 free the tomb-place of the K Of all the world ? „ IV 409
You, Prince, our k to come— „ IV 696
Woe to that land shall own thee for her k ! „ IV 760
It is the K Who bears all down. „ IV 783
If thou be k, Be not a fool ! „ IV 789 fighting underhand unholy wars Against your lawful k. „ IV 822 Thou art happier than thy k. Put him in chains. „ IV 838
You both are utter traitors to your k. „ IV 844
Was justice dead because the K was dead ? „ IV 848 on the faith and honour of a k The land is his again. „ IV 852
God save the K ! „ IV 857
The K forbad it. True, my liege. King Richard. How if the K command it ? „ IV 865 if the K forbid thy marrying With Robin, „ IV 874
My k, I am but the echo of the lips of love. „ IV 891
But will the K, then, judge us all unheard ? „ IV 896
If the K Condemn us without trial, men will call him An Eastern tyrant, not an English k. „ IV 901
Beware, O K, the vengeance of the Church. „ IV 913
Keep silence, bully friar, before the K. Friar Tuck. If a cat may look at a k, may not a friar speak to one ? „ IV 920
He is but hedge-priest, Sir K. „ IV 931
The k's good health in ale and Malvoisie. „ IV 968
To celebrate this advent of our K ! „ IV 1048
And we must hence to the K's court. „ IV 1050

King (continued) and happy that our K Is here again, Foresters IV 1098
Now the K is home again, and nevermore to roam again, Now the K is home again, the K will have his own again, „ IV 1103
Kingcup Daisies grow again, K's blow again, Queen Mary III v 90 Kingdom your Grace And k will be suck'd into the war, „ I v 257
Not for myself, but for the k— „ III i 455 make Both of us happy—ay, the K too. „ III ii 188
The bond between the k's be dissolved ; „ III iii 76
A secular k is but as the body Lacking a soul ; „ IV i 32
The Holy Father in a secular k Is as the soul „ IV i 34 thine earldom, Tostig, hath been a k. Harold I i 304
The k's of this world began with little, „ IV i 42
He gave him all the k's of the West. „ V i 24
If the king fall, may not the k fall ? „ V i 123
The king is slain, the k overthrown ! „ V ii 16
the business Of thy whole k waits me : Becket, Pro. 278 it was but the sacrifice of a k to his son, a smaller matter ; „ III iii 107 in thy k, as thou knowest, The spouse of the Great King, „ III iii 173
Why, John, my k is not of this world. „ V ii 18
Kinghood Your father was a man Of such colossal k, Queen Mary IV i 101
Kingless While thou and others in our k realms Were fighting Foresters IV 819
Kinglier which will make My kingship k to me Harold III ii 44
Kingliest The k Abbey in all Christian lands, „ III i 204
Kinglike does your gracious Queen entreat you k ? Queen Mary I iii 110
Most goodly, K and an Emperor's son,— „ I v 2
Here comes the would-be what I will be . . . k . . . Harold II ii 139
More k he than like to prove a king. „ II ii 142 hath k fought and fallen, His birthday, too. „ V ii 124
But k fought the proud archbishop,— Becket IV ii 438
—k Defied the Pope, and, like his kingly sires, „ IV ii 439 Kingling—you could not see the King for the k's. „ Pro. 453 part royal, for King and k both laughed, „ III iii 157 Kingly God change the pebble which his k foot First presses Queen Mary I v 369 made us lower our k flag To yours of England. „ V i 59
I trust the k touch that cures the evil May serve Harold I i 151
he would give his k voice To me as his successor. „ II ii 588
Nor k priest, nor priestly king to cross Their billings „ III ii 93
Ay, but thou art not k, only grandson To Wolfnoth, „ IV i 68
Had in him k thoughts—a king of men, „ IV i 83 despite his k promise given To our own self of pardon, Becket II ii 431
Nay, can I send her hence Without his k leave ? „ III i 220 and, like his k sires, The Normans, „ IV ii 440 that stale Church-bond which link'd me with him To bear him k sons. „ IV ii 449
King-parliament So your k-p suffer him to land, Queen Mary I v 365 Kingship to break down all k and queenship, „ V iv 48 which will make My k kinglier to me Harold III ii 44
I should beat Thy k as my bishop hath beaten it. Henry. Hell take thy bishop then, and my k too ! Becket, Pro. 91
Queen should play his k against thine ! „ Pro. 236
King Henry sware That, saving his King's k, „ I iii 28 mother Would make him play his k against mine. „ II ii 11
Kingston (adj.) we must round By K Bridge, Queen Mary II iii 48
Kingston (s) Be happy, I am your friend. To K, forward ! „ II iii 124
Kinsman They blinded my young k, Alfred— Harold II ii 511
Kiss (s) k'es of all kind of womankind In Flanders, „ I ii 113
The k that charms thine eyelids into sleep, „ I ii 139 Shall see the dewy k of dawn no more „ II ii 331 and command That k my due when subject, „ III ii 42
There might be more than brother in my k, „ III ii 84
For there was more than sister in my k, „ V ii 6 link rusts with the breath of the first after-marriage k, Becket, Pro. 362 thy k—Sacred ! I'll kiss it too. „ II i 184
To-day I almost fear'd your k was colder— „ III i 18
K in the bower, Tit on the tree ! „ III i 104 save King Henry gave thee first the k of peace. „ III iii 253
I sware I would not give the k of peace, „ III iii 259 happy home-return and the King's k of peace in Kent. „ III iii 328
First k. There then. You talk almost as if it The Cup I ii 421 by this true k, you are the first I ever Prom. of May III 647

Kiss (s) (continued) She gave a weeping k to the Earl, And the maid a k to the man. Foresters I i 20
She gave a weeping k to the Earl, The maid a k to the man. „ I i 119 shall I give her the first k? O sweet Kate, my first love, the first k, the first k! „ I i 126
I came to give thee the first k, and thou hast given it me. „ I i 132 does it matter so much if the maid give the first k? Little John. I cannot tell, but I had sooner have given thee the first k. „ I i 136 now thou hast given me the man's k, let me give thee the maid's. „ I i 143 may the maid give the first k? „ I i 173 and is flustered by a girl's k. „ I i 186
You shall give me the first k. „ I ii 228
In k'es. Kate. You, how dare you mention k'es? „ II i 126
Take thou this light k for thy clumsy word. „ III 134
I Embrace thee with the k'es of the soul. „ III 143

Kiss (verb) K me would you? with my hands Milking the cow? Queen Mary III v 87
Come, Robin, Robin, Come and k me now; „ III v 100
Come behind and k me milking the cow! „ III v 105
To k and cuff among the birds and flowers— „ III v 258
K me—thou art not A holy sister yet, Harold III ii 80 thy kiss—Sacred! I'll k it too. Becket II i 185
K me, little one, Nobody near! „ III i 100
Sinnatus, k me now. The Cup I ii 419 and k me This beautiful May-morning. Prom. of May I 564
I k it as a prelude to that privilege „ II 528
Now if she k him, I will have his head. Foresters I ii 146
Is it made up? Will you k me? „ I ii 226
I thought I saw thee clasp and k a man „ II ii 72
Thou see me clasp and k a man indeed. „ II ii 76
Fancied he saw thee clasp and k a man. „ III 23
K me again. Marian. Robin, I will not k thee, „ III 136
K him, Sir Richard—k him, my sweet Marian. „ IV 1003
K and congratulate me, my good Kate. „ IV 1033
I have seen thee clasp and k a man indeed, „ IV 1035
Well then, who k'es first? Little John. K both together. „ IV 1040

Kiss'd k not her alone, but all the ladies Queen Mary I i 80 you came and k me milking the cow. (repeat) „ III v 91, 98
K me well I vow; „ III v 93
You k me there For the first time. The Cup I ii 417 should have told us how the man first k the maid. Foresters I i 123

Kissin' 'er an' the owd man they fell a k o' one another Prom. of May I 21

Kissing See A-bussin', Kissin'

Kite (a toy) You fly your thoughts like k's. Queen Mary I v 390

Kite (bird) And the stock-dove coo'd, till a k dropt down, Prom. of May I 55
To the bleak church doors, like k's upon a barn. Harold IV iii 37

Kith Let k and kin stand close as our shield-wall, „ I i 398

Knave Shout, k's! Queen Mary I i 9
Say for ten thousand ten—and pothouse k's, „ II i 70
K, wilt thou wear thy cap before the Queen? „ III i 236
Thy name, thou k? Man. I am nobody, my Lord. „ III i 246
God's passion! k, thy name? „ III i 249
K, thou shalt lose thine ears and find thy tongue, „ III i 255
God's passion! do you know the k that painted it? „ III i 264
What hast thou shouted, k? „ III i 293
K, there be two. There be both King and Queen, „ III i 295
Must it be so, my Lord? Gardiner. Ay, k. „ III i 308
Where, k, where? Man. Sign of the Talbot. „ III i 318
The k's are easily cow'd. „ III i 329
K, hast thou let thy prisoner scape? Harold II ii 672
Woe k to thy familiar and to thee! „ II ii 679
To be honest is to set all k's against thee. Becket I iii 572
Come, you filthy k's, let us pass. „ I iv 203
K, there is a lot of wild fellows in Sherwood Forest Foresters I ii 72
Sit there, k's, till the captain call for you. „ III 219
I know them arrant k's in Nottingham. „ III 301 Louder, louder, ye k's. „ III 396 mark'd if those two k's from York be coming? „ IV 112
if these k's should know me for their King? „ IV 133

Knaw (know I k's nowt o' what foälks says, an' I caäres nowt neither. Foälks doesn't hallus k thessens; Prom. of May I 26 hallus a-fobbing ma off, tho' ye k's I love ye. „ I 108 Squire Edgar as ha' coomed among us—the Lord k's how— „ I 111 tha 'e k's I was hallus ageän heving schoolmaster i' the parish! „ I 186
What dost a k o' this Mr. Hedgar as be a-lodgin' wi' ye? „ I 199 and I k's what men be, and what masters be, „ I 328
—ye all k's the ten-aäcre— „ I 367
Noä; I k's a deäl better now. „ II 26 doänt tha k he be sweet upo' Dora Steer, „ II 160 k's the back on 'im—drest like a gentleman, „ II 578 fur I haätes 'im afoor I k's what 'e be. „ II 585 I'll maäke her k! (repeat) „ II 608 dosta k this paäper? Ye dropt it upo' the road. „ II 687 dosta k what tha meäns wi' by-and-by? „ II 690 thou hesn't naw business 'ere wi' my Dora, as I k's on, „ II 736

Knaw'd (knew) k better nor to cast her sister's misfortin inter 'er teeth „ II 126
Fur boäth on 'em k as well as mysen „ II 313
she niver k 'is faäce when 'e wur 'ere afoor; „ II 606
I k 'im when I seed 'im ageän an I telled feyther on 'im. „ III 121
I beänt sa sewer o' that, fur Sally k 'im; „ III 147

Knaw'd (known) fur they be k as far as Littlechester. „ I 213

Kneaded household dough was k up with blood; Becket I iii 351

Knee (See also Kneeä) fray'd i' the k's, and out at elbow, Queen Mary I i 51
Cast myself down upon my k's before them, „ I v 562 we'll pray for you all on our bended k's. „ II iii 109 on our k's, we pray you to kill the Queen „ II iii 114 pray for you on our bended k's till our lives' end. „ II iii 122 round his k, misplaced, Our English Garter, „ III i 82 gray rogue, Gardiner, Went on his k's, „ III v 166
I thus implore you, low upon my k's, „ IV i 64
I would dandle you upon my k At lisping-age. „ V ii 142
With both her k's drawn upward to her chin. „ V ii 391 bind a score All in one faggot, snap it over k, Harold IV i 58
This old Wulfnoth Would take me on his k's „ IV i 72 —brave Gurth, one gash from brow to k! „ V ii 71 been on my k's every day for these half-dozen years The Falcon 184
I seed tha a-limpin' up just now wi' the roomatics i' the k. Prom. of May I 385
I läame't my k last night running arter a thief. „ I 387 look at our suits, out at k, out at elbow. Foresters I i 33
I fall before thee, clasp Thy k's. „ II i 600

Kneeä (knee) fell ageän coalscuttle and my k gev waäy Prom. of May I 404

Kneel prelates k to you.— Queen Mary I iv 83
And worse than all, you had to k to me; „ IV ii 134 good King K's mumbling some old bone— Harold II ii 469
I k to thee—be friends with him again. Becket II i 317
K to thy lord Fitzurse; Crouch even „ IV ii 221
I k once more to be forgiven. Foresters II i 667
he k's! he has anger'd the foul witch, „ II i 669

Kneeling Behold thy father k to thee, Becket. Becket I iii 252
Can I fancy him k with me, and uttering the same prayer; Prom. of May III 180

Knelt k And blubber'd like a lad, Queen Mary III i 149
Then k and said the Miserere Mei— „ III i 390
I mean the houses k Before the Legate. „ III iii 257

Knew (See also Knaw'd) I k they would not do me any wrong, „ I iii 100
if I either thought or k This marriage „ II ii 226 Seventeen—and k eight languages— „ III i 358
she thought they k the laws. But for herself, she k but little law, „ III i 380
Who k it from the first. „ III vi 114
O if I k you felt this parting, Philip, As I do! „ III vi 251
if you k him As I do, ever gentle, and so gracious, „ IV i 155 Against the truth I k within my heart, „ IV iii 241
I k it would be so. „ IV iii 252
The kindliest man I ever k; „ IV iii 421

Knew (continued) I k it, cousin, But held from you all papers — Queen Mary v ii 44
What then, he k I was no Lutheran. — „ v ii 78
I thought you k me better. — „ v ii 186
Too young ! And never k a Philip. — „ v ii 361
She k me, and acknowledged me her heir, — „ v v 255
I k thy purpose ; he and Wulfnoth never Have met, — Harold II ii 84
I never k thee check thy will for ought — „ II ii 120
Far as he k in this poor world of ours— — „ II ii 363
He k not whom he sware by. — „ III i 256
I know He k not, but those heavenly ears have heard, — „ III i 258
Stigand believed he k not what he spake. — „ III ii 61
I k him brave : he loved his land : — „ IV i 201
I smote him suddenly, I k not what I did. — „ IV ii 43 by whom I k not that I sware,—not for myself— — „ V i 305
Call not for help from me. I k him not. — „ V ii 54
Since I k battle, And that was from my boyhood, — „ V ii 174
I k thy father ; he would be mine age Had he lived now ; — Becket I iii 249
Thought that I k him, err'd thro' love of him, — „ I iii 440
And I, that k mine own infirmity, — „ I iii 696 something was said to me I k not what. — „ II i 61
I never k an honest woman that could make songs, — „ III i 182
I never saw any such, Never k any such, — „ IV ii 127
Your Becket k the secret of your bower. — „ V i 177
I think our Abbess k it and allow'd it. — „ V ii 95
They k he loved me. — „ V ii 453 wrong'd Without there, k thee with Antonius. — The Cup I ii 320
One of the men there k him. — „ I ii 341
He k not at the moment who had fasten'd — „ II 49 but he k I meant to marry him. — The Falcon 51
if She k the giver ; but I bound the seller — „ 72
I k it would come to this. (repeat) — „ 156, 174
I always k it would come to this ! (repeat) — „ 158, 175
You k Eva, then ? — Prom. of May II 367
Surely I loved Eva More than I k ! — „ II 644
She k me from the first, she juggled with me, — „ III 687
Much, the miller's son, I k thy father : — Foresters I iii 146
So hollowly we k not which was which. — „ II i 260 far as we k, We never robb'd one friend — „ III 156 Knife Hast thou a k ? — Queen Mary V v 164 callous with a constant stripe, Unwoundable. The k ! — „ V v 173
Becket, beware of the k ! — Becket I iv 133
As at this loveless k that stirs the riot, — „ IV ii 191 kill, with k or venom One of his slanderous harlots ? — „ IV ii 409
And my k there—and blast the king and me, — The Cup II 152
He drove his k into the heart of the deer, — Foresters IV 541
Knife-edge crawl over k-e flint Barefoot, — Becket II i 272
Knight Call him a K, That, with an ass's, — Queen Mary I iii 168
They have taken away the toy thou gavest me, The Norman k. — Harold II ii 107 thou shalt have another Norman k ! — „ II ii 114 range of k's Sit, each a statue on his horse, — „ V i 524
I led seven hundred k's and fought his wars. — Becket I iii 638
But I that threw the mightiest k of France, — „ I iii 746
K's, bishops, earls, this London spawn— — „ II ii 143 Monks, k's, five hundred, that were there and heard. — „ V ii 406 the k's are arming in the garden Beneath the sycamore. — „ V ii 569
A score of k's all arm'd with swords and axes— — „ V iii 71
O God, O noble k's, O sacrilege ! — „ V iii 178
Did two k's pass ? — Foresters II i 230
Take thou mine arm. Who art thou, gallant k ? — „ II i 440 Seize on the k ! wrench his sword from him ! — „ II i 676
we saw thee cowering to a k And thought thou wert bewitch'd. — „ II i 683
K, your good father had his draught of wine — „ II ii 1
No, no, false k, thou canst not hide thyself — „ II ii 23
Quick with thy sword ! the yoeman braves the k. — „ II ii 31
Art thou a k ? — „ IV 116
How much is it, Robin, for a k ? — „ IV 152
He hath got it from the bottle, noble k. — „ IV 237
Shall I undertake The k at quarterstaff, — „ IV 248
Thou seest, Sir K, our friar is so holy — „ IV 279
Hail, k, and help us. — „ IV 765
Knit ere two souls be k for life and death, — The Cup II 359

Knock K off his cap there, some of you about him ! — Queen Mary III i 241
K, and it shall be open'd. — Becket V iii 64 it be i' my natur to k 'im o' the 'eäd now ; — Prom. of May I 288
K again ! k again ! — Foresters II i 212
Knock'd How oft hath Peter k at Mary's gate ! — Queen Mary III ii 63 Knot And here a k of ruffians all in rags, — „ II ii 66 thro' this common k and bond of love, — „ II ii 198
Know (See also Knaw) thou shouldst k, for thou art as white as three Christmasses. — „ I i 29
I k not if you k. — „ I i 101 child by child, you k, Were momentary sparkles — „ I ii 72
I k it, my good Lord. — „ I ii 92 and then, who k's— — „ I iv 25
Why do you ask ? you k it. — „ I iv 35
You k to flatter ladies. — „ I iv 98
You k your Latin—quiet as a dead body. — „ I iv 181
You do right well. I do not care to k ; — „ I iv 189 because they k him The last White Rose, — „ I iv 206
I do but bring the message, k no more. — „ I iv 229
I am of sovereign nature, that I k, — „ I iv 258 yet I k well, Your people, and I go with them so far, — „ I v 186
Ay, Simon Renard k's it. — „ I v 218
I k it a scandal. — „ I v 229
I k not wherefore—some mischance of flood, — „ I v 353
Yet I k the Prince, — „ I v 364
The text—Your Highness k's it, — „ I v 451 you should k that whether A wind be warm or cold, — „ I v 619
Song flies you k For ages. — „ II i 81
You k I k all this. — „ II i 120
Gardiner k's, but the Council are all at odds, — „ II i 138
I k Spain. I have been there with my father ; — „ II i 166 and the beds I k. I hate Spain. — „ II i 185 ye k, my masters, that wherever Spain hath ruled — „ II i 205
You k that after The Captain Brett, — „ II ii 25
K too what Wyatt said. — „ II ii 35
I k it. What do and say Your Council at this hour ? — „ II ii 45 waters of the fen they k not Which way to flow. — „ II ii 52 at once may k The wherefore of this coming, — „ II ii 137
To tell you what indeed ye see and k, — „ II ii 144
Now what I am ye k right well—your Queen ; — „ II ii 162
Ye k my father was the rightful heir — „ II ii 170
I k you loyal. — „ II ii 271
Who k's ? the man is proven by the hour. — „ II ii 363
' Who k's ? ' I am for England. But who k's, That k's — „ II ii 411
I k not my letters ; the old priests taught me nothing. — „ II iii 57
we k that ye be come to kill the Queen, — „ II iii 107
he is King, you k, the King of Naples. — „ III i 73 studded with great emeralds, Rubies, I k not what. — „ III i 86
I k some lusty fellows there in France. — „ III i 128
I k a set of exiles over there, — „ III i 155
God's passion ! do you k the knave that painted it ? — „ III i 264 there's the face coming on here of one Who k's me. — „ III i 472
I k that she was ever sweet to me. — „ III ii 228
—all times for aught I k. — „ III iv 67 for you k Right well that you yourself — „ III iv 224
He k's not where he stands, — „ III iv 420
Nay, I k They hunt my blood. — „ III v 77
You k I never come till I be call'd. — „ IV v 215
Best wisdom is to k the worst at once. — „ IV v 220
I k that these are breeding A fierce resolve — „ IV vi 30
Simon Renard K's me too well to speak — „ III vi 126 but, my Lord, you k what Virgil sings, — „ III vi 133 you k my father, Retiring into cloistral solitude — „ III vi 208
Not sued for that—he k's it were in vain. — „ IV i 13
I k not if he did ; — „ IV i 128 your Highness k's The saying, ' Martyr's blood— — „ IV i 145
You k that you recanted all you said — „ IV iii 261
Of recantation yield again, who k's ? — „ IV iii 315
I k them heretics, but right English ones. — „ IV iii 344 but I do k ez Pwoaps and vires be bad things ; — „ IV iii 500
Peters, you k me Catholic, but English. — „ IV iii 566
K's where he nested—ever comes again. — „ V i 26 and you k The crown is poor. — „ V i 169
Elizabeth—To Philibert of Savoy, as you k, We meant to wed her ; — „ V i 247

Know (continued) but I k it of old, he hates me too; Queen Mary v ii 60
Your Highness k's that in pursuing heresy „ v ii 96
They k nothing; They burn for nothing. „ v ii 113 who said that? I k not—true enough! „ v ii 208
Our drooping Queen should k! „ v ii 457 and you k me strong of arm; „ v ii 469 light enough, God k's, And mixt with Wyatt's rising— „ v ii 478
And tell him that I k he comes no more. Tell him at last I k his love is dead, „ v ii 589
My King would k if you be fairly served, „ v ii 20
Who k my right, and love me, „ v iii 34
God's death, forsooth—you do not k King Philip. „ v iii 123
Drugs—but he k's they cannot help me— „ v v 60
I took it, tho' I did not k I took it, „ v v 97
Who k's if Boleyn's daughter be my sister? „ v v 194
Stigand should k the purposes of Heaven. Harold I i 64
I k it, son; I am not thankless: „ I i 215
And Tostig k's it; Tostig loves the king. Harold. And love should k; and—be the king so wise,— „ I i 274
He cannot guess who k's. „ I ii 136
Who k's I may not dream myself their king! „ I ii 251
we came to k Thy valour and thy value, „ II ii 201 did Edward k of this? „ II ii 304
I k the Norman license— „ II ii 477
Edward not pronounced his heir? Harold. Not that I k. „ II ii 577
None that I k . . . if that but hung „ II ii 599
But hath he done it then? Harold. Not that I k. „ II ii 612
He is a liar who k's I am a liar, „ II ii 667
I k your Norman cookery is so spiced, „ II ii 810
Yea, I k He knew not, but those heavenly ears „ III i 257
I k all Sussex; A good entrenchment for a perilous hour! „ III i 362
Do they? I did not k it. „ III ii 106
God help me! I k nothing— „ III ii 193
Who k's what sows itself among the people? „ IV i 149 who k His prowess in the mountains of the West, „ IV i 164
K what thou dost; and we may find for thee, „ IV ii 48
They k King Edward's promise and thine — thine. Harold. Should they not k free England crowns herself? Nor k that he nor I had power to promise? Not k that Edward cancell'd his own promise? „ V i 45
blurt thy curse among our folk, I k not— „ V i 90
Whisper! God's angels only k it. Ha! „ V ii 31
I am grieved to k as much. Becket, Pro. 4 dost thou k I am not wedded to her. Becket. How should I k? „ Pro. 72
I love thee and I k thee, I k thee, „ Pro. 95
How shouldst thou k that never hast loved one? „ Pro. 140
God's eyes! I k all that— „ Pro. 148
Nay—I k not, Thomas. „ Pro. 197
I k Some three or four good priests „ Pro. 290 thou hast kicked down the board. I k thee of old. „ Pro. 316
The people k their Church a tower of strength, „ I i 15
It much imports me I should k her name. „ I i 193 let me pass, my lord, for I must k. „ I i 206
And k the ways of Nature. „ I i 257
Well—you k—the minion, Rosamund. „ I ii 36
Shame, wrath, I k not what. „ I iii 322
K that when made Archbishop I was freed, „ I iii 707 or in the land of France for aught I k. „ I iv 197 my fellows k that I am all one scale like a fish. „ I iv 213 cursed My friends at Veselay, I have let them k, „ II i 90
—thine! thine! Rosamund. I k it. „ II i 163 Dost thou k, my boy, what it is to be Chancellor of England? „ II i 231
Thine enemy k's the secret of my bower. „ II i 264
You are too cold to k the fashion of it. „ II ii 126
I would have made Rome k she still is Rome— „ II ii 402
Bee mustn't buzz, Whoop—but he k's. (repeat) Becket III i 99, 241 what's an apple, you k, save to a child, Becket III i 141 only you k the King's married, for King Louis— „ III i 166 most on 'em k an honest woman and a lady when they see her, „ III i 179
she kept the seventh commandment better than some I k on, „ III i 195

Know (continued) known Nothing but him—happy to k no more, Becket III i 224
Whoop—but he k's, Whoop—but he k's. „ III i 263
I k Thy meaning. „ III iii 18
Hereford, you k, crown'd the first Henry. „ III iii 201
Even now—Who k's?—I might deliver all things „ III iii 269
Why? Geoffrey. Don't k why. „ IV i 14 but I don't k if I can find the way back again. „ IV i 48
K you not this bower is secret, „ IV ii 21 none shall k me; The King shall never hear „ IV ii 100 Who k's but that thy lover May plead so pitifully, „ IV ii 215
we k you proud of your fine hand, „ IV ii 260 you k thro' all this quarrel I still have cleaved „ V i 46
I k—could swear—as long as Becket breathes, „ V i 76 and yet You k me easily anger'd. „ V i 84
Do you k this cross, my liege? „ V i 161
I k him; our good John of Salisbury. „ V ii 77
Deal not with things you k not. Rosamund. I k him. „ V ii 133
I k not why You call these old things „ V ii 269
I marvel at you—Ye k what is between us. „ V ii 500
K you not You have spoken to the peril „ V ii 515
He k's the twists and turnings of the place. „ V ii 576
Hugh, I k well thou hast but half a heart „ V iii 129
Boy, dost thou k the house of Sinnatus? The Cup I i 49
You k the waterfall That in the summer „ I i 107
She k's it? Ha! „ I i 131
Who are with him? I see no face that k's me. „ I i 183 k That we Galatians are both Greek and Gaul. „ I i 202 Scarce k what she has done. „ I i 135
I k of no such wives in all Galatia. „ I i 191
k myself am that Galatian Who sent the cup. „ I i 209
I k they mean to torture him to death. I dare not tell him how I came to k it; „ I ii 273
I say it to you—you are wiser—Rome k's all, But you k not the savagery of Rome. „ I ii 286 is there danger? Camma. Nay, None that I k: „ I ii 442
Will she come to me Now that she k's me Synorix? „ I iii 21
I k that I am genial, I would be Happy, „ I iii 28 as you k The camp is half a league without the city; „ I iii 88
We will let her k. „ II 13
the world may k You twain are reconciled, „ II 68
It is old, I k not How many hundred years. „ II 342
She not k? She k's There's none such other— The Falcon 77
He loves me, and he k's I k he loves me! „ 245
as your ladyship k's, his lordship's own foster-brother, „ 566
You k, my lord, I told you I was troubled. „ 676 you k the saying—'Better a man without riches, „ 749 let me k the boon By granting which, „ 765
You k that I can touch The ghittern „ 797
You k sick people, More specially sick children, „ 815
I don't k why I sing that song; I don't love it. Prom. of May I 61
He's been arter Miss Eva, haän't he? Dora. Not that I k. „ I 123
She k's nothing. Man only k's, „ I 273
Who k's that he had ever dream'd of flying? „ I 654
That's all nonsense, you k, such a baby as you are. „ I 784
Perhaps you k him? „ II 439 then you would k it is not So easy to forgive— „ II 484 has suffer'd More than we k. „ II 502
When you shall k me better. „ II 529 who came to us three years after you were gone, how should she k you? „ III 234 was a mockery, you k, for he gave me no address, and there was no word of marriage; „ III 331 for you k, my dear, you were always his favourite— „ III 422
Be he deäd? Dora. Not that I k. „ III 434
He will be sure to k you to-morrow. „ III 470
I k more fully that he can What poor earthworms „ III 634
You k her, Eva. Harold. Eva! „ III 663
She—she k's me—now . . . „ III 686 but now ye k why we live so stintedly, Foresters I i 76
I k not, but he may save the land, „ I i 282 but I k not if I will let thee go. „ I i 311 Him that is gone. Who k's whither? „ I ii 9
Perfect—who should k you for Prince John, „ I ii 20

Know (continued) and more goes to make right than I k of, Foresters I ii 50
Thou art the Earl's confessor and shouldst k. „ I ii 55
I may not hate the King For aught I k, „ I ii 116 that worship for me which Heaven k's I ill deserve— „ I iii 161
Have past away, I k not where; „ II i 120
My people are all scattered I k not where. „ II i 176 what should you k o' the food o' the poor? „ II i 282
If not with thee I k not where she is. „ II i 494
What? do I not k mine own ring? „ II i 589
Life, life. I k not death. „ II i 622
I k not, can I trust myself With your brave band? „ II i 703
We k all balms and simples of the field „ II ii 11
I k I have done amiss, have been a fool. „ II ii 51
Fifty leagues Of woodland hear and k my horn, „ III 104
I k them arrant knaves in Nottingham. „ III 301
Do me the service to tap it, and thou wilt k. „ III 334
If not I have let them k Their lives unsafe „ IV 92 if these knaves should k me for their King? „ IV 134
but let him k our forest laws: „ IV 199
Great woodland king, I k not quarterstaff. „ IV 216
I k no quarterstaff. „ IV 257
They k me. I must not as yet be known. „ IV 336
From whom he k's are hypocrites and liars. „ IV 380
Richard, again, is king over a realm He hardly k's, „ IV 388
he falls And k's no more. „ IV 527
Knowest Thou k we had to dodge, or duck, or die; Queen Mary III iv 357
Thou k I bad my chaplain, „ III vi 73
Thou k never woman meant so well, „ V ii 342
Thou k I soon go wild. Harold I i 297
K thou this? Harold. I learn it now. „ II ii 589
Thou k I am his cousin, „ II ii 592
And signs on earth! K thou Senlac hill? „ III i 361 chances and all churches, And that thou k. „ III ii 184
I doubt not but thou k Why thou art summon'd. „ IV i 187
O Thou that k, let not my strong prayer „ V i 646
K thou this other? „ V ii 98
Thou k he was forced to fly to France; Becket I iii 204 in thy kingdom, as thou k, The spouse of the Great King, „ III iii 174
Thou k that the Sheriff of Nottingham loves thee. Foresters I i 222
K thou not the Prince? „ IV 683
Knowing (K the man) he wrought it ignorantly, Queen Mary III i 276
They say, his wife was k and abetting. Harold II ii 306
Canst thou love me, thou k where I love? „ IV i 226
K how much you reverence Holy Church, Becket I ii 48
K right well with what a tenderness He loved my son. „ V i 20 k the fame of your hospitality, we ventured in uninvited. Foresters I ii 195 Have I the pleasure, friend, of k you? Prom. of May I 297 k that he must have Moved in the iron grooves „ II 265 and k as I did That I had shot him thro' the heart, Foresters II i 122
Thou art tann'd almost beyond my k, brother. „ IV 1016 Knowledge That k made him all the carefuller Harold III i 340 teach this Rome—from k of our people— The Cup II 96 Known (See also Knaw'd) but all things here At court are k; Queen Mary I iv 58
The prince is k in Spain, in Flanders, „ I v 207
(I have k a semi-madman in my time So fancy-ridd'n) „ II i 9
it will be k that we have moved; „ II i 198
—And I have k such women more than one— „ III vi 178 never was it k That any man so writing, „ IV iii 46
Council at this present deem it not Expedient to be k. „ IV iii 57
The truth of God, which I had proven and k. „ IV iii 150 men Have hardly k what to believe, „ IV iii 405 Should make the mightiest empire earth has k. „ V iii 71 than have k there were such devils. Harold II i 38 for thou Art k a speaker of the truth, „ II ii 517 they follow me—and I must not be k. Becket I i 183
it may import her all as much Not to be k. „ I i 199
'Tis k you are midwinter to all women, „ I ii 27 and k Nothing but him—happy to know no more, „ III i 223 you are k Thro' all the courts of Christendom „ IV ii 324 for how slightly have I k myself. Prom. of May II 442 but I must not be k yet. „ III 224
Shall I be k? is my disguise perfect? Foresters I ii 18

Known (continued) thee however mask'd I should have k. Foresters II i 650
I must not as yet be k. „ IV 338
Know'st thou k my claim on England Thro' Edward's Harold II ii 12
And yet thou k how little of thy king! Foresters IV 401
Knut (Canute, the Dane) or English Ironside Who fought with K, or K Harold IV iii 54
Knyvett (adherent of Wyatt) (See also Antony, Antony Knyvett) Open the window, K; Queen Mary II i 154
I'll think upon it, K. „ II i 240

L

La I would dance too. Fa, l, l, fa, l, l. Foresters I ii 59
Laäbourer (labourer) fur I wur nobbut a l, and now I be a landlord— Prom. of May I 329
Laädy (lady) to turn out boäth my darters right down fine laädies. „ I 337 and you should sit i' your oän parlour quite like a l, „ II 98 plaäy the pianner, if ye liked, all daäy long, like a l, „ II 101 likes 'er all the better fur taäkin' me down, like a l, „ II 134
Dan Smith's cart hes runned ower a l i' the holler laäne, „ II 568
'ow should I see to laäme the l, and meä coomin' along pretty sharp an' all? „ III 96 to saäy he's browt some of Miss Eva's roses for the sick l to smell on. „ III 347
Laäme't (lamed) I l my knee last night running arter a thief. „ I 386
Laäne (lane) Dan Smith's cart hes runned ower a laädy i' the holler l, „ II 569 the holler l be hallus sa dark i' the arternoon, „ III 92
Laäy (lay) We l's out o' the waäy fur gentlefoälk altogither— „ I 210 and doänt l my cartwhip athurt 'is shou'ders, „ II 138 Labour (s) And all my lifelong l to uphold The primacy —a heretic. Queen Mary V ii 70
The more or less of daily l done— Becket II ii 290
I fear me we have lost our l, then. Foresters II i 233
Labourer (See also Laäbourer) all that live By their own hands, the l, the poor priest; „ III 165
Labour-in-vain Ingratitude, Injustice, Evil-tongue, L-i-v. Queen Mary V ii 157
Labyrinthine after that This l brickwork maze in maze, Becket, Pro. 166
Lacerating If fast and prayer, and l scourge— „ I iii 303
Lack (s) My liberality perforce is dead Thro' l of means of giving. The Falcon 297
The man is able enough—no l of wit, Foresters I ii 103
'Tis for no l of love to you, my lord, But l of happiness „ I iii 130 thro' thy l of manhood hast betray'd Thy father „ II i 568 Lack (verb) And tell this learned Legate he l's zeal. Queen Mary III iv 272
Do you l any money? „ IV ii 40
I l a spiritual soldier, Thomas— Becket, Pro. 257
Lacking secular kingdom is but as the body L a soul; Queen Mary IV i 33
L the love of woman and of child. Becket V ii 199
Lacrymas Illorum in l Cruor fundatur! Harold V i 531
Lacrymation I should say rather, the l of a lamentation; Becket III iii 167 Lad knelt And blubber'd like a l, Queen Mary III i 150 but I hear she hath a dropsy, l, „ III ii 224
He stood upright, a l of twenty-one, „ IV iii 335
Poor l's, they see not what the general sees, „ V ii 447 poor l! how sick and sad for home! Harold II ii 325 lied like a l That dreads the pendent scourge, „ II ii 657 and the l's and lasses 'ull hev a dance. Prom. of May I 428 Eh l, if it be thou, I'll Philip tha! „ II 590
l, dosta knaw this paäper?—Ye dropt it upo' the road. „ II 686
Eh, l, dosta knaw what tha meäns wi' by-and-by? „ II 690
Eh, l, but whether thou be Hedgar, „ II 733 Laden a troop, L with booty and with a flag of ours The Falcon 612
Lady (See also Laädy) but all the ladies of her following. Queen Mary I i 81
Even so, fair l. „ I iv 97
You know to flatter ladies. „ I iv 98

Lady (continued) lily and rose In his youth, and like a l. Queen Mary I v 21
Our sovereign L by King Harry's will; „ II ii 268
Ay, my L. When next there comes a missive „ III v 181
Our Spanish ladies have none such— „ v iii 46
There must be ladies with hair like mine. „ v iii 58 up and down, poor l, up and down. „ v v 6
Nay, dearest L, see your good physician. „ v v 58
War, my dear l! Harold I i 22
Mightily, my dear l! „ I i 24 War, my dear l, War, waste, plague, „ I i 465 told me he would advance me to the service of a great l, Becket III i 124 but more a woman o' the world than my l here, „ III i 143
I am as well-shaped as my l here, „ III i 150 for here comes my l, and, my l, „ III i 153 most on 'em know an honest woman and a l when they see her, „ III i 180 and went on and on till I found the light and the l, „ IV ii 19 the l holds the cleric Lovelier than any soldier, „ V i 193
Your cleric hath your l. „ V i 200
O dearest l, Think,—torture,—death,— The Cup I ii 313
L, I say it with all gentleness, „ I iii 99 happiest, L, in my power To make you happy. „ II 239 if we will buy diamond necklaces To please our l, The Falcon 45
Welcome to this poor cottage, my dear l. „ 271
L, you bring your light into my cottage „ 283
A l that was beautiful as day Sat by me „ 349 wasn't my l born with a golden spoon in her ladyship's mouth, „ 401 with my l's coming that had so flurried me, „ 492
No, my most honour'd and long-worshipt l, „ 714
L, I find you a shrewd bargainer. „ 756 when you lamed the l in the hollow lane. Prom. of May III 89 marry fine gentlemen, and played at being fine ladies? „ III 278 shamed of his poor farmer's daughter among the ladies in his drawing-room? „ III 295 Wasn't Miss Vavasour, our schoolmistress at Littlechester, a l born? Were not our fellow-pupils all ladies? Wasn't dear mother herself at least by one side a l? Can't I speak like a l; pen a letter like a l; talk a little French like a l; play a little like a l? „ III 298
The sick l here might have been asleep. „ III 343
Say that the sick l thanks him! „ III 349
Tell him I cannot leave the sick l just yet. „ III 353
Tell him that I and the l here wish to see him. „ III 414
Sooner or later shamed of her among The ladies, „ III 582
The l loved the master well, Foresters I i 8
The l gave a rose to the Earl, (repeat) „ I i 12, 105
The l gave her hand to the Earl, (repeat) „ I i 16, 92 part to the shrine of our L. „ III 207
I have sworn by our L if they come „ IV 96
Our L's blessed shrines throughout the land „ IV 1079
Ladylike L! Lilylike in her stateliness Prom. of May II 620
Laggard Where is this l Richard of the Lea? Foresters IV 449 Lagoon He caught a chill in the l's of Venice, Queen Mary V ii 515
Laic L's and barons, thro' The random gifts Becket I i 157 Laid spousal ring whereof, Not ever to be l aside, Queen Mary II ii 167 attainder l on us By him who sack'd the house of God; „ III iii 194 raise his head, for thou hast l it low! Harold III i 163
Hath often l a cold hand on my heats, Becket I i 384
There now, if thou hast not l hands upon me! „ I iv 212
I would have l mine own life down „ V ii 338
L famine-stricken at the gates of Death— Prom. of May III 807
Lain Bonner, who hath l so long under bonds for the faith— Queen Mary I iii 35
Long have I l in prison, yet have heard „ IV iii 210
Where have you l in ambush all the morning? Prom. of May I 544
Lais With Phryne, Or L, or thy Rosamund, Becket, Pro. 56
My Rosamund is no L, Thomas Becket; „ Pro. 57
Laity I am but of the l, my Lord Bishop, Queen Mary III iv 81
Lake might have flash'd Upon their l of Garda, „ III ii 23
Senlac! Sanguelac, The L of Blood! Harold III i 386
—a l, A sea of blood—we are drown'd in blood „ III i 397 call it—Sanguelac, The l of blood? „ V i 185

Lake (continued) A l that dips in William As well as Harold. Harold V i 186
Lamb (See also Ewe-lamb) king Hath given his virgin l to Holy Church „ III i 334
Our Church in arms—the l the lion— „ V i 441
'Ewe l, ewe l, I am here by the dam.' Becket I iv 171
Lambert there was L; Who can foresee himself? Queen Mary IV ii 215 Lambeth (adj.) And unto no dead world; but L palace, „ III ii 154
Lambeth (s) seen your steps a mile From me and L? „ I ii 82
Permit me to withdraw. To L? „ III ii 131
Ay, L has ousted Cranmer. „ III ii 132 was not meet the heretic swine should live In L. „ III ii 136
Lame And further to discourage and lay l The plots of France, „ V i 188
The fellow that on a l jade came to court, Becket V i 246
Lamed (See also Laäme't) arm; I do believe I l his Majesty's Queen Mary V ii 471
And l and maim'd to dislocation, Becket IV ii 266 having his right hand L in the battle, The Falcon 445 when you l the lady in the hollow lane. Prom. of May III 89
You see she is l, and cannot go down to him. „ III 416
Lamentation I should say rather, the lacrymation of a l; Becket III iii 167
Lamer And head them with a l rhyme of mine, Queen Mary II i 29
Lamester How should this old l guide us? Foresters II i 370
Laming At least mine own is frailer: you are l it. Becket IV ii 265
Lammas And that's at latter L—never perhaps. Foresters II ii 86 Lamp loom Across their l's of revel, Harold II ii 407
Lamplight river, black, slimy, swirling under me in the l, Prom. of May III 370
Lance for how their l's snap and shiver Harold V i 585
And push'd our l's into Saracen hearts. Becket II ii 94
Lanceas Illorum l Frange Creator! Harold V i 583 Land (s) (See also Church-land) so this unhappy l, long divided in itself, Queen Mary I iii 20 red and white, the fashion of our l. „ I v 10
And here at l among the people! „ I v 383 stir not yet This matter of the Church l's. „ I v 409
Confiscate l's, goods, money— „ II i 102
I have seen them in their own l; „ II i 168 clash alarum as we pass, And pour along the l, „ II i 232 Rascal!—this l is like a hill of fire, „ III i 321
Feeling my native l beneath my foot, „ III ii 47
'Ah, native l of mine, Thou art much beholden „ III ii 48
Methinks the good l heard me, „ III ii 57
In the reborn salvation of a l So noble. „ III iii 182
The ruler of a l Is bounden by his power „ III iv 211
You are fresh from brighter l's. Retire with me. „ III iv 322
Care more for our brief life in their wet l, „ III vi 63
So weary am I of this wet l of theirs, „ III vi 106
Draw with your sails from our poor l, „ III vi 226 Unhappy l! Hard-natured Queen, „ IV iii 423
'll burn the Pwoap out o' this 'ere l vor iver and iver. „ IV iii 536
this Henry Stirs up your l against you „ V i 131
They will not lay more taxes on a l „ V i 167 not the living rock Which guards the l. Harold I ii 121 get himself wrecked on another man's l? „ II i 61
Large lordship there of l's and territory. „ II ii 83
In mine own l I should have scorn'd the man, „ II ii 505 in thine own l in thy father's day „ II ii 510
The kingliest Abbey in all Christian l's, „ III i 205
Thou art Tostig's brother, Who wastes the l. Harold.
This brother comes to save Your l from waste; „ IV i 93
I knew him brave: he loved his l: „ IV i 201
He looks for l among us, he and his. „ IV ii 53
Seven feet of English l, or something more, „ IV ii 54
Hath wasted all the l at Pevensey— „ IV iii 189
Neighing and roaring as they leapt to l— „ IV iii 198
And waste the l about thee as thou goest, „ V i 131 to guard the l for which He did forswear himself— „ V ii 161
That havock'd all the l in Stephen's day. Becket I i 242 among you those that hold L's reft from Canterbury. „ I iii 141
Many of the crown l's to those that helpt him; „ I iii 150
Claim'd some of our crown l's for Canterbury— „ I iii 459
With Cain belike, in the l of Nod, or in the l of France „ I iv 196 voice of the deep as it hollows the cliffs of the l. „ II i 4 not half speaking The language of the l. „ II i 137

Land (s) (continued) from the salt lips of the l we two Have track'd Becket III ii 2 lord of more l Than any crown in Europe, „ V i 29
And wrought his worst against his native l, The Cup I ii 178 past is like a travell'd l now sunk Below the horizon— „ II 230
I never saw The l so rich in blossom as this year. The Falcon 342
'The l belongs to the people!' Prom. of May I 140
s'pose my pig's the l, and you says it belongs to the parish, „ I 144 violated the whole Tradition of our l, „ I 496
Who leaves me i ll his l at Littlechester, „ I 511 pacing my new l's at Littlechester, „ II 647
We shall have to sell all the l, „ III 165
The l belonged to the Steers i' the owd times, „ III 450
I have heard the Steers Had l in Saxon times; „ III 608
I have l now And wealth, and lay both at your feet. „ III 615 not with all your wealth, Your l, your life! „ III 796 if they be not paid back at the end of the year, the l goes to the Abbot. Foresters I i 70
Sir Richard must scrape and scrape till he get to the l again. „ I i 79 must be paid in a year and a month, or I lose the l. „ I i 269
but he may save the l, (repeat) „ I i 283
Well, thou shalt go, but O the l! the l! „ I i 328 and I shall lose my l also. „ I i 339
Or I forfeit my l to the Abbot. „ I ii 151 pay My brother all his debt and save the l. „ I ii 219 till he join King Richard in the Holy L. Robin. Going to the Holy L to Richard! „ I ii 239 pay his mortgage to his brother, And save the l. „ I ii 265 thou art dispossessed of all thy l's, goods, and chattels; „ I iii 60
There is no l like England (repeat) Foresters II i 1, 5, 13, 17 thro' all the forest l North to the Tyne: being outlaw'd in a l Where law lies dead, Foresters II i 88
—if so the l may come To Marian, and they rate the l fivefold The worth of the mortgage, and who marries her Marries the l. „ II i 147 and couldst never pay The mortgage on my l. „ II i 454 but my father will not lose his l, „ II i 523
He is old and almost mad to keep the l. „ II i 529 what sort of man art thou For l, not love? Thou wilt inherit the l, „ II i 534 betray'd Thy father to the losing of his l. „ II i 570
Now he cries 'The l! the l!' Come to him. „ II ii 7
To a l where the fay, „ II ii 180 thou seest the l has come between us, „ IV 53 and I would thou wert the king of the l. „ IV 233
if the l Were ruleable by tongue, „ IV 398 if they were not repaid within a limited time your l should be forfeit. „ IV 468
The l! the l! (repeat) Foresters IV 470, 491, 854 one thousand marks, Or else the l. Foresters IV 475 old Sir Richard might redeem his l. He is all for love, he cares not for the l. „ IV 488
Out of our treasury to redeem the l. „ IV 493
And Sir Richard cannot redeem his l. „ IV 565
And we shall keep the l. „ IV 637
It seems thy father's l is forfeited. „ IV 640
He shall wed thee: The l shall still be mine. „ IV 643
I could wish that all the l Were plunged „ IV 667
Woe to that l shall own thee for her king! „ IV 759 on the faith and honour of a king The l is his again. „ IV 853
I am crazed no longer, so I have the l. „ IV 856
The gold—my son—my gold, my son, the l— „ IV 988
And join'd my banner in the Holy L, „ IV 1000 weight of the very l itself, Down to the inmost centre. „ IV 1025
Our Lady's blessed shrines throughout the l „ IV 1080 Land (verb) So your king-parliament suffer him to l, Queen Mary I v 366
Landed Are l North of Humber, and in a field Harold III ii 126
William hath l, ha? Thane. L at Pevensey—I am from Pevensey— „ IV iii 185 Landing Back'd by the power of France, and l here, Queen Mary III i 448
Landless Specially not this l Philibert Of Savoy; „ III v 240
Landlord fur I wur nobbut a laäbourer, and now I be a l— Prom. of May I 330

Land-surveyor and I taäked 'im fur soom sort of a l-s— but a beänt. Prom. of May I 204
Lane (See also Läane) Stand back, keep a clear l! Queen Mary I i 2 when you lamed the lady in the hollow l. Prom. of May III 90
Do you still suffer from your fall in the hollow l? „ III 241
if met in a black l at midnight: Foresters III 224 Language Seventeen—and knew eight l's— Queen Mary III i 359 not half speaking The l of the land. Becket II i 137
His wickedness is like my wretchedness—Beyond all l. Prom. of May III 748
Lanker I be l than an old horse turned out to die on the common. Foresters I i 51
Lap Milk? Filippo. Three l's for a cat! The Falcon 125
Lapse track of the true faith Your l's are far seen. Queen Mary III iv 95
Lapwing ..ue l's lies, says 'here' when they are there. „ III v 124
Larder Come, come, Filippo, what is there in the l? The Falcon 118 then there is anything in your lordship's l at your lordship's service, „ 137
Large Hath he the l ability of the Emperor? Queen Mary I v 323
Hath he the l ability of his father? „ I v 438
They have brought it in l measure on themselves. „ IV iii 363 thou thyself shalt have L lordship there of lands and territory. Harold II ii 83 they both have life In the l mouth of England, „ IV iii 74
Without too l self-lauding I must hold The sequel „ IV iii 87
Larger Will enter on the l golden age; Prom. of May I 590
The hope of l life hereafter, more Tenfold than under roof. Foresters II i 69
Largess Might cast my l of it to the crowd! The Cup II 224
Lark Spit them like l's for aught I care. Queen Mary I v 395
The l above, the nightingale below, „ II i 52 the l sings, the sweet stars come and go, Harold II ii 434
l first takes the sunlight on his wing, The Cup I iii 43 thou that canst soar Beyond the morning l, The Falcon 11 and the l's 'ud sing i' them daäys, Prom. of May I 374
'O happy l, that warblest high Above thy lowly nest, „ III 199
while the l flies up and touches heaven! Foresters I ii 315
When heaven falls, I may light on such a l! „ III 13
Could live as happy as the l's in heaven, „ III 82
Larn (learn, teach) Wheer did they l ye that? Dora. In Cumberland, Mr. Dobson. Prom. of May I 64
I'll git the book ageän, and l mysen the rest, „ III 12
Them be what they l's the childer' at school, „ III 39
Larned (learned, taught) 'at I ha' nobbut l mysen haäfe on it. „ III 4
Lash (verb) If they prance, Rein in, not l them, Harold I i 372
Lash (whip) with crimson rowel And streaming l. Queen Mary III iv 184 Lash'd l to death, or lie Famishing in black cells, „ V ii 194 scorn'd the man, Or l his rascal back, Harold II ii 507 now, perhaps, Fetter'd and l, a galley-slave, Foresters II i 654 Lashing storm and shower l Her casement, Prom. of May II 472
Lass Ay, l, but when thou be as owd as me „ I 380
Why, l, what maäkes tha sa red? „ I 398 and the lads and l'es 'ull hev a dance. „ I 428
Last Dear friend, for the l time; farewell, and fly. Queen Mary I ii 103 because they know him the l White Rose, the l Plantagenet „ I iv 207
L night I climb'd into the gate-house, Brett, „ II iii 14
Did not his l breath Clear Courtenay and the Princess „ III i 134
I have heard She would not take a l farewell of him, „ III i 367
Laughs at the l red leaf, and Andrew's Day. „ III iii 87
Thou l of all the Tudors, come away! With us is peace!' The l? It was a dream; „ III v 151
A missive from the Queen: l time she wrote, I had like to have lost my life: „ III v 188
L night, I dream'd the faggots were alight, „ IV ii 1
It is the l. Cranmer. Give it me, then. „ IV ii 64
For death gives life's l word a power to live, „ IV iii 161 forasmuch as I have come To the l end of life, „ IV iii 218
This l—I dare not read it her. „ V ii 183 and I say it For the l time perchance, Harold I i 176 but l night An evil dream that ever came and went— „ I ii 69
Friends, in that l inhospitable plunge Our boat hath burst her ribs; „ II i 1
L night King Edward came to me in dreams— (repeat) Harold IV i 259, 265

Last (continued) Hear me again—for the l time. Harold v i 8
Then for the l time, monk, I ask again „ v i 15
Peace! The king's l word—'the arrow!' I shall die— „ v i 266 wherefore now Obey my first and l commandment. Go! „ v i 359 Edith, if I, the l English King of England— „ v i 384 but our sun in Aquitaine l's longer. Becket, Pro. 328
The l Parthian shaft of a forlorn Cupid at the King's left breast, „ Pro. 339 and his l words were a commendation of Thomas Becket „ Pro. 400
L night I followed a woman in the city here. „ Pro. 468
That rang Within my head l night, „ I i 71 at l tongue-free To blast my realms with excommunication „ II ii 50 nigh at the end of our l crust, and that mouldy, „ III i 114
He hath the Pope's l letters, and they threaten „ III iii 24
Take thy one chance; Catch at the l straw. „ IV ii 221
Let this be thy l trespass. „ V ii 165
King closed with me l July That I should pass the censures of the Church „ V ii 388
Shall not Heaven be served Tho' earth's l earthquake clash'd the minster-bells, „ V iii 41
I need not fear the crowd that hunted me Across the woods, l night. The Cup I iii 17
He entreats you now For your l answer. „ II 46
O would it were His third l apoplexy! „ II 172
I had a touch of this l year—in—Rome. „ II 446 crown'd victor of my will—On my l voyage— „ II 521 came back l night with her son to the castle. The Falcon 3
Thou art the l friend left me upon earth— „ 31
And this l costly gift to mine own self, „ 228 when he came l year To see me hawking, „ 312
My l sight ere I swoon'd was one sweet face Crown'd „ 647 so much weaker, so much worse For l day's journey. „ 834 tha looks haäle anew to l to a hoonderd. Steer. An' why shouldn't I l to a hoonderd? Prom. of May I 355
Noä; I laäme't my knee l night running arter a thief. „ I 387
Oh, Philip, Father heard you l night. „ I 557
but you must not be too sudden with it either, as you were l year, „ II 54
The l on it, eh? Haymaker. Yeas. „ II 141
Well, it be the l loäd hoäm. „ II 144
Well but, as I said afoor, it be the l loäd hoäm; „ II 169
'The L Loäd Hoäm.' (repeat) „ II 171
At the end of the daäy, For the l loäd hoäm? (repeat) „ II 184, 195
Till the end of the daäy And the l loäd hoäm. „ II 209
Till the end o' the daäy An' the l loäd hoäm.' (repeat) „ II 239, 293
To the end o' the daäy, An' the l loäd hoäm „ II 260
Only l week at Littlechester, drove me From out her memory. „ II 404
Oh, l night, Tired, pacing my new lands at Littlechester, „ II 645 spent all your l Saturday's wages at the ale-house; „ III 78
It is almost the l of my bad days, I think. „ III 471
They did not l three Junes. „ III 589
But she there—her l word Forgave—and I forgive you. „ III 810
Nay, this may be the l time When I shall hold my birthday in this hall: Foresters I ii 87 from their stillness in the grave By the l trumpet. „ II i 48 and the old woman's blessing with them to the l fringe. „ II i 196
We have him at l; we have him at advantage. „ II i 414
There came some evil fairy at my birth And cursed me, as the l heir of my race: „ II ii 109 is it true?—That John l week return'd to Nottingham, „ III 147 Lasting and the man has doubtless a good heart, and a true and l love for me: Prom. of May III 172
Late (adj. and adv.) my daughter said that when there rose a talk of the l rebellion, Queen Mary I i 92
I will go. I thank my God it is too l to fly. „ I ii 112
Her freaks and frolics with the l Lord Admiral? „ I iv 20
My Lord, you l were loosed from out the Tower, „ I iv 49
Who loathe you for your l return to Rome, „ IV ii 32 in pursuing heresy I have gone beyond your l Lord Chancellor,— „ V ii 98
Late (adj. and adv.) (continued) Friend, tho' so l, it is not safe to preach. Queen Mary V iv 41
Am I too l? Cecil . . . God guide me lest I lose the way. „ V v 208
Ay, but what l guest, As haggard as a fast of forty days, Harold IV iii 175
Too l, my lord: you see they are signing there. Becket I iii 288
The boy so l; pray God, he be not lost. „ IV ii 1
Is it too l for me to save your soul? „ V ii 524
Becket, it is too l. Becket. Is it too l? Too l on earth may be too soon in hell. „ V ii 526 Too l—thought myself wise—A woman's dupe. The Cup II 480 —and better l than never— The Falcon 200
I have heard That, thro' his l magnificence of living „ 227
I am too l then with my quarterstaff! Foresters II i 427
Late (s) There was one here of l—William the Silent Queen Mary III ii 191
Later Sooner or l shamed of her among The ladies, Prom. of May III 581
Lateran When had the L and the Holy Father leave L and Vatican in one dust of gold— Harold V i 17 Becket II ii 475
Latimer (Bishop of Worcester) Hooper, Ridley, L will not fly. Queen Mary I ii 14
Cranmer and Hooper, Ridley and L, „ III iv 424
L Had a brief end—not Ridley. „ IV ii 224
I saw the deaths of L and Ridley. „ IV iii 295
And you saw L and Ridley die? L was eighty, was he not? „ IV iii 328
'not till I hears ez L and Ridley be a-vire;' „ IV iii 508
When we had come where Ridley burnt with L, „ IV iii 586
L! Sir, we are private with our women here— „ V v 118
Latimer-sailor Our Ridley-soldiers and our L-s's „ IV iii 348
Latin (adj.) for my verses if the L rhymes be rolled out from a full mouth? Becket II ii 337
That's a delicate L lay Of Walter Map: „ V i 191
Latin (s) You know your L—quiet as a dead body. Queen Mary I iv 181 Laugh And that's at l Lammas—never perhaps. Foresters II ii 86
Oh L's at the last red leaf, and Andrew's Day. Queen Mary III iii 87 so! l not! . . . Strange and ghastly Harold III ii 157 Latter we could not but l, as by a royal necessity— Becket III iii 158
Lauding See Self-lauding
Laugh'd William l and swore that might was right, Harold II ii 361
The wicked sister clapt her hands and l; „ V ii 49 part royal, for King and kingling both l, Becket III iii 158 when we felt we had l too long and could not stay ourselves— „ III iii 160 such a comedy as our court of Provence Had l at. „ V i 191
Laughing (See also A-laughin') And the Dutchman, Now l at some jest? Queen Mary III i 196
Laughter (See also Sea-laughter) among thine island mists With l. Harold II ii 183 thunder-cloud That lours on England—l! „ III ii 161 human l in old Rome Before a Pope was born, „ III ii 163 great motion of l among us, part real, part childlike, Becket III iii 155 trumpets in the halls, Sobs, l, cries: „ V ii 368
I Shall not be made the l of the village, Prom. of May I 720
Lava-torrents Whose l-t blast and blacken a province The Cup II 302
Lavender To rose and l my horsiness, Queen Mary III v 185
Lavish Spare not thy tongue! be l with our coins, Becket II ii 469
Your l household curb'd, and the remission Queen Mary I v 113
Lavish'd All I had I l for the glory of the King; Becket I iii 663 Law (s) the Queen, and the l's, and the people, his slaves. Queen Mary II i 174 when I was wedded to the realm And the realm's l's „ II ii 165 seeks To bend the l's to his own will, „ II ii 184
But so I get the l's against the heretic, „ III i 323 she thought she knew the l's. But for herself, she knew but little l, „ III i 381
Either in making l's and ordinances „ III iii 130
Of all such l's and ordinances made; „ III iii 142
I will be King of England by the l's, Harold II ii 131
For I shall rule according to your l's, „ II ii 759
I will rule according to their l's. „ V ii 198
Like other lords amenable to l. I'll have them written down and made the l. Becket, Pro. 25 sign'd These ancient l's and customs of the realm. „ I iii 7 to obey These ancient l's and customs of the realm? „ I iii 18

Law (s) (continued) and l From madness. Becket I iii 374
There wore his time studying the canon l „ II i 86
Co-kings we were, and made the l's together. „ II ii 123 spiritual giant with our island l's And customs, „ IV ii 444 it is the l, not he; The customs of the realm. „ V ii 126 —her main l Whereby she grows in beauty— Prom. of May I 282
according to the l and custom of the kingdom of England Foresters I iii 66
I have shelter'd some that broke the forest l's. „ I iii 70 being outlaw'd in a land Where l lies dead, we make ourselves the l. „ II i 91
An outlaw's bride may not be wife in l. „ II ii 91
We robb'd the lawyer who went against the l; „ III 162 chief of these outlaws who break the l? „ IV 142 being out of the l how should we break the l? if we broke into it we should break the l, „ IV 144
Ay, ay, Robin, but let him know our forest l's: „ IV 199
If the king and the l work injustice, is not he that goes against the king and the l the true king „ IV 228
Church and L, halt and pay toll! „ IV 429 you see the bond and the letter of the l. „ IV 505 Between the l and letter of the l! O God, I would the letter of the l Were some strong fellow „ IV 513
When the Church and the l have forgotten God's music, „ IV 554
Sweet Marian, by the letter of the l „ IV 639
You crost him with a quibble of your l. „ IV 850
Hast broken all our Norman forest l's, „ IV 886
That thou wilt break our forest l's again „ IV 888
They break thy forest l's—nay, by the rood „ IV 907
And have thy fees, and break the l no more. „ IV 955

Law (inter.) (See also Lor) O l—yeäs, Sir! I'll run fur 'im mysen. Prom. of May III 713

Law-bench Spain in the pulpit and on the l-b; Queen Mary II i 178

Lawful Long live Queen Mary, the l and legitimate daughter Of Harry the Eighth! „ I i 8 with your l Prince Stand fast against our enemies and yours, „ II ii 240
Your l Prince hath come to cast herself On loyal hearts and bosoms, „ II ii 261
The ruler of an hour, but l King, Foresters IV 47
Were fighting underhand unholy wars Against your l king, „ IV 822

Lawn forest l's are all as bright As ways to heaven, „ II i 630
Thro' wood and l and ling, „ III 425

Lawrence (Saint) The patience of St. L in the fire. Queen Mary IV iii 95

Lawyer leästwaäys, I should be wi' a l. Prom. of May III 34
We robb'd the l who went against the law; Foresters III 161

Lay (s) That's a delicate Latin l Of Walter Map: Becket V i 192

Lay (verb, trans.) (See also Laäy) I love you, L my life in your hands. Queen Mary I iv 105
God l the waves and strow the storms „ I v 381
'Will you take it off Before I l me down?' „ III i 403
I never l my head upon the pillow But that I think, „ III v 131
See, I l it here, For I will come no nearer „ III v 198
They will not l more taxes on a land „ V i 167 to discourage and l lame The plots of France, „ V i 188
L thou thy hand upon this golden pall! Harold II ii 699
L hands of full allegiance in thy Lord's „ V i 11
l them both upon the waste sea-shore At Hastings, „ V ii 159
l My crozier in the Holy Father's hands, Becket I iii 124 not yield To l your neck beneath your citizen's heel. „ V i 31
Where to l on her tribute—heavily here And lightly there. The Cup II 98
L down the Lydian carpets for the king. „ II 187 strows our fruits, and l's Our golden grain, „ II 286
But l them there for a moment! The Falcon 763
I l them for the first time round your neck. „ 907 land now And wealth, and l both at your feet. Prom. of May III 616

Lay (past tense [of Lie]) by God's providence a good stout staff L near me; Queen Mary V ii 469
And York l barren for a hundred years. Becket I iii 54 plow L rusting in the furrow's yellow weeds, „ I iii 355
The town l still in the low sun-light, Prom. of May I 37
She l so long at the bottom of her well Foresters IV 242
The man l down—the delicate-footed creature „ IV 535

Layest (intrans.) thou That l so long in heretic bonds with me; Queen Mary III iv 280

Layest (trans.) but when thou l thy lip To this, Becket II i 306

Laying I saw the covers l. Philip. Let us have it. Queen Mary III vi 258

Layman whether between laymen or clerics, shall be tried in the King's court.' Becket I iii 80

Laymen-criminals be bound Behind the back like l-c? „ I iii 96

Lazar I marked a group of l's in the marketplace— „ I iv 81

Lazarus Am I a prisoner? Leicester. By St. L, no! „ I iii 730

Lazy We dally with our l moments here, Queen Mary V iii 108

Lazy-pious And he our l-p Norman King, Harold II ii 444

Lea I come here to see this daughter of Sir Richard of the L Foresters I ii 27
Robin, I am Sir Richard of the L. „ II i 442
Where is this old Sir Richard of the L? „ IV 438
Where is this laggard Richard of the L? „ IV 450

Lea (Sir Richard) See Richard, Richard Lea, Richard of the Lea

Lea (Walter) See Walter, Walter Lea

Lead (direction) Follow my l, and I will make thee earl. Morcar. What l then? Harold I ii 216

Lead (metal) My feet are tons of l, They will break in the earth— The Cup II 476

Lead (verb) we two will l The living waters of the Faith Queen Mary I v 87
l on; ye loose me from my bonds. „ IV ii 240 debonair to those That follow where he l's, Harold II ii 320 Thy voice will l the Witan—shall I have it? „ II ii 619
if thou wilt l me to thy mother. Becket IV i 41
Save by that way which l's thro' night to light. „ V iii 88 and at last May l them on to victory— The Cup I ii 168 Give me your arm. L me back again. Prom. of May III 474
To l us thro' the windings of the wood. Foresters II i 634
O l me to my father! (repeat) „ II ii 22, 48
L us thou to some deep glen, „ II ii 168

Leader the people Claim as their natural l— Queen Mary I iv 210
All arm'd, waiting a l; „ II i 108 and ye have called me to be your l. „ II i 165
Northumberland, The l of our Reformation, „ III i 149
After a riot We hang the l's, „ IV i 74
I am no soldier, as he said—at least No l. Becket I iii 299
'Antonius l of the Roman Legion.' The Cup I i 167
I have heard of them. Have they no l? Foresters I iii 104
Be thou their l and they will all of them „ I iii 106 and their own want Of manhood to their l! „ II i 694

Leädin' so ta'en up wi' l the owd man about all the blessed murnin' Prom. of May III 2

Leading (See also Leädin') by God's grace, We'll follow Philip's l, Queen Mary V v 112

Leaf (See also Lettuce-leaf) Laughs at the last red l, and Andrew's Day. „ III iii 87
Love will fly the fallen l, and not be overtaken; „ V ii 372 golden leaves, these earls and barons, that clung to me, Becket I iv 65 all the l of this New-wakening year. The Falcon 339
I tear away The leaves were darken'd by the battle— „ 913
How happily would we lilt among the leaves Foresters III 41
When all the leaves are green; (repeat) „ III 426, 441
By all the leaves of spring, „ III 439
I scent it in the green leaves of the wood. „ IV 944
You see the darkness thro' the lighter l. „ IV 976

Leaf-sky Pillaring a l-s on their monstrous boles, „ III 100

League (alliance) may he not make A l with William, Harold II ii 461 sequel had been other than his l With Norway, „ IV iii 88
We have had our l's of old with Eastern kings. The Cup I ii 101
There is my hand—if such a l there be. „ I ii 103

League (measure) crawl over knife-edge flint Barefoot, a hundred l's, Becket II i 273
The camp is half a l without the city; The Cup I iii 89
There—l on l of ever-shining shore „ II 533 for Oberon flew away Twenty thousand l's to-day. Foresters II ii 143
Fifty l's Of woodland hear and know my horn, „ III 103

League (verb) foes in Edward's hall To l against thy weal. Harold I ii 33 they are not like to l With Harold against me. „ II ii 53

Leagued l together To bar me from my Philip. Queen Mary I iv 139
We robb'd the traitors that are l with John; Foresters III 159

Leal Commands you to be dutiful and l To your young King Becket V ii 325

Lean (adj.) worse off than any of you, for I be l by nature, Foresters I i 45

Lean (adj.) (continued) I distrust thee. Thine is a half voice and a l assent. Queen Mary III i 311
Lean (verb) He looks to and he l's on as his God, „ IV iii 306
I marvel why you never l On any man's Becket V ii 550
Lean'd the Holy Rood had l And bow'd above me; Harold V i 103
Leaner To plump the l pouch of Italy. Queen Mary III iv 365
Leaning A faint foot hither, l upon Tostig. Harold I i 144
Leap thro' the blood the wine l's to the brain Foresters I iii 22
Nor care to l into each other's arms. „ III 7
Leapt When the head l—so common! Queen Mary I v 477
That might have l upon us unawares. „ II ii 295
Neighing and roaring as they l to land— Harold IV iii 197
Gurth hath l upon him And slain him: „ V i 632
Lear (Shakespeare's play) 'What are we,' says the blind old man in L? Prom. of May I 263
Then the owd man i' L should be shaamed of hissen, „ I 267
Learn (See also Larn) Your people have begun to l your worth. Queen Mary I v 109
You cannot L a man's nature from his natural foe. „ I v 340 and so l Your royal will, and do it.— „ II ii 138 to l That ev'n St. Peter in his time of fear „ III iv 262
Will let you l in peace and privacy „ III iv 326
May l there is no power against the Lord. „ IV iii 66
Knowest thou this? Harold. I l it now. Harold II ii 591
Let me l at full The manner of his death, Becket, Pro. 425
I l but now that those poor Poitevins, „ II ii 427
Nor you, nor I Have now to l, my lord, „ IV ii 274
Will he not fly from you if he l the story of my shame Prom. of May III 256
And l from her if she do love this Earl. Foresters I ii 187 Learned-Learn'd (adj.) but you still preferr'd Your learned leisure. „ III iv 258
And tell this learned Legate he lacks zeal. „ III iv 272
And I and learned friends among ourselves „ V ii 74
I have done my best. I am not learn'd. Becket III i 25
Taught her the learned names, anatomized The flowers for her— Prom. of May II 302
Learned (verb) See Larned
Learning (part.) Or l witchcraft of your woodland witch, Foresters II i 500
Learning (s) and her l Beyond the churchmen; Queen Mary III i 361
The light of this new l wanes and dies: „ III ii 172
New l as they call it; „ IV i 78 ever gentle, and so gracious, With all his l— „ IV i 157
His l makes his burning the more just. „ IV i 159
Your l, and your stoutness, and your heresy, „ IV ii 125
Brings the new l back. „ V i 202
Learnt Thou hast learnt Thy lesson, and I mine. Queen Mary V ii 584
He hath learnt to love our Tostig much of late.
Leofwin. And he hath learnt, despite the tiger in him, Harold I i 145
Thou hast not learnt thy quarters here. „ II ii 153
When all the world hath learnt to speak the truth, „ III i 68
'We have learnt to love him, let him a little longer „ III i 88
but belike Thou hast not learnt his measure. „ IV iii 118
Soon as she learnt I was a friend of thine, Becket V ii 110
When man has surely learnt at last that all Prom. of May II 330
Lease The house half-ruin'd ere the l be out; Queen Mary V ii 66 will give him, as they say, a new l of life. Prom. of May III 424 would fight for his rents, his l's, his houses, Foresters I i 233 Least (adj.) out of which Looms the l chance of peril to our realm. Queen Mary II ii 238 even now You seem the l assassin of the four. Becket V ii 522
Anyhow we must Move in the line of l resistance Prom. of May II 670
Least (s) Ev'n to the l and meanest of my own, Becket II ii 181
Then one at l of its inhabitants Prom. of May II 552
Leather (beat) I'd like to l 'im black and blue, and she to be a-laughin' at it. „ II 595
all on us, wi' your leave, we wants to l 'im. „ III 137
Then you mun be his brother, an' we'll l 'im. „ III 151 Leave (permission) By your Grace's l Your royal mother Queen Mary I v 15 thy l to set my feet On board, Harold I i 228
Harold, I will not yield thee l to go. „ I i 257
No man without my l shall excommunicate Becket, Pro. 30

Leave (permission) (continued) No man without my l shall cross the seas Becket Pro. 34 can I send her hence Without his kingly l? „ III i 220
By thy l, beauty. Ay, the same! „ IV ii 203
—I have still thy l to speak. „ V ii 44 mount with your lordship's l to her ladyship's castle, The Falcon 413
by your l if you would hear the rest, The writing. „ 529 Leave (verb) I dare not l my post. Queen Mary I ii 55
You offend us; you may l us. „ I v 210
we will l all this, sir, to our council. „ I v 317 and l's me As hopeful. „ I v 531 that I should l Some fruit of mine own body „ II ii 222
I l Lord William Howard in your city, „ II ii 245
And l the people naked to the crown, „ III i 119
Ay, rascal, if I l thee ears to hear. „ III i 251
And shalt be thankful if I l thee that. „ III i 257
I must l you. Fare you well, „ III i 472
L me now, Will you, „ III v 210 pass And l me, Philip, with my prayers for you. „ III vi 228
I am vastly grieved to l your Majesty. „ III vi 255
I have found thee and not l thee any more. „ IV ii 109
Tell me that, or l All else untold. „ IV iii 568 my Queen is like enough To l me by and by. Feria. To l you, sire? „ V i 243
so my Queen Would l me—as—my wife. „ V i 252
L me alone, brother, with my Northumbria: Harold I i 285
I l thee, brother. „ I i 461
And l them for a year, and coming back „ II i 89
I l thee to thy talk with him alone; „ II ii 324
Better l undone Than do by halves— „ II ii 495
L them! and thee too, Aldwyth, must I l— „ IV iii 227
To l the Pope dominion in the West. „ V i 23
but l this day to me. „ V i 128
To l the foe no forage. „ V i 133
L me. No more—Pardon on both sides—Go! „ V i 353
L them. Let them be! „ V ii 149
L me with Herbert, friend. Becket I i 9
I l that, Knowing how much you reverence Holy Church, „ I ii 47
My lord, permit us then to l thy service. „ I iv 10
My Lord, we l thee not without tears. „ I iv 16
I wrong the bird; she l's only the nest she built, they l the builder. „ I iv 45
I must l you to your banquet. „ I iv 150
I mean to l the royalty of my crown Unlessen'd „ II i 107
Not l these countryfolk at court. „ II i 129 the Pope will not l them in suspense, „ II ii 359
l Lateran and Vatican in one dust of gold— „ II ii 474
—And to meet it I needs must l as suddenly. „ III i 92
I am faint and sleepy. L me. „ III i 208
And l you alone with the good fairy. „ IV ii 60
I cannot l him yet. „ IV ii 85
While this but l's thee with a broken heart, „ IV ii 173 sworn on this my cross a hundred times Never to l him— „ IV ii 207 for thou must l him To-day, but not quite yet. „ IV ii 210
L it, daughter; Come thou with me to Godstow nunnery, „ IV ii 365 and l it A waste of rock and ruin, hear. The Cup II 306
And if he l me—all the rest of life— The Falcon 334
And thou too l us, my dear nurse, alone. „ 700
Ay, the dear nurse will l you alone; „ 703
An' how did ye l the owd uncle i' Coomberland? Prom. of May I 67 but l's him A beast of prey in the dark, „ I 503
Who l's me all his land at Littlechester, „ I 511
I must l you, love, to-day. Eva. L me, to-day! „ I 624 that full feast That l's but emptiness. „ II 256 this, for the moment, Will l me a free field. „ II 456
Tell him I cannot l the sick lady just yet. „ III 352
Milly, my dear, how did you l Mr. Steer? „ III 410
But shall we l our England? Foresters I iii 92
You see why We must l the wood and fly. „ II ii 174
L it with him and add a gold mark thereto. „ III 210
L them each what they say is theirs, „ III 293
We l but happy memories to the forest. „ IV 1070
Leaven the old l sticks to my tongue yet. Queen Mary I iii 48
so much of the anti-papal l Works in him yet, „ IV i 15

Leaven (continued) be something Of this world's l in thee too, Becket v ii 29
Leaving But l light enough for Alfgar's house Harold I i 307
L so many foes in Edward's hall „ I ii 31
Tho' l each, a wound ; Becket I i 176
To steel myself against the l her ? Prom. of May I 293
How could I think of l him ? „ II 71
L your fair Marian alone here. Foresters I ii 154 Led they l Processions, chanted litanies, Queen Mary III vi 94
I l seven hundred knights and fought his wars. Becket I iii 638
S'iver we've l moäst on it. Prom. of May II 52
O Lord, I am easily l by words, Foresters I ii 39
Ledge He met a stag there on so narrow a l— „ IV 532
Lees You cannot judge the liquor from the l. Queen Mary IV iii 550 Left (adj.) The last Parthian shaft of a forlorn Cupid at the King's l breast, Becket, Pro. 340
On this l breast before so hard a heart, „ Pro. 375
Take the l leg for the love of God. Foresters IV 577 Left (s) reels Now to the right, then as far to the l, Queen Mary IV iii 396 Left (verb) I shall be l alone. No : „ I ii 13
I l her with rich jewels in her hand, „ I iv 242
I scarce had l your Grace's presence „ I v 583
As tho' the nightmare never l her bed. „ I v 605
l about Like loosely-scatter'd jewels, „ II i 27 flying to our side L his all bare, „ II iii 5
Their voice had l me none to tell you this. „ II iii 36
Where is Pembroke ? Courtenay. I l him somewhere in the thick of it. Mary. L him and fled ; and thou that would'st be King, „ II iv 80
And Lady Jane had l us. „ II iv 139
L Mary a wife-widow here alone, „ III i 462
Have you remain'd in the true Catholic faith I l you in ? „ IV ii 19
When l alone in my despondency, „ IV ii 95
There is no hope of better l for him, „ IV iii 79
Her life, since Philip l her, and she lost „ IV iii 428
Methinks there is no manhood l among us. „ V ii 284
I l her lying still and beautiful, „ V v 261
Be kindly to the Normans l among us, Harold III i 303
Then l him for the meaner ! thee !— „ IV ii 71
I saw her even now : She hath not l us. „ V i 159
I l our England naked to the South To meet thee „ V i 289
I l him with peace on his face— Becket, Pro. 395
Save for myself no Rome were l in England, „ II ii 386 how many an innocent Has l his bones upon the way to Rome „ II ii 409 darkness of the gap L by that lack of love. „ III i 61
Hath not thy father l us to ourselves ? „ III i 271
And l all naked, I were lost indeed. „ IV ii 9
Well—well—too costly to be l or lost. „ IV ii 299 live what may be l thee of a life Saved „ IV ii 367
I surely should have l That stroke to Rome. The Cup I iii 159
Thou art the last friend l me upon earth— The Falcon 31 and I l it privily At Florence, in her palace. „ 74 hasn't an eye l in his own tail to flourish „ 101
Ay, ay ! stare at it : it's all you have l us. „ 163
We may have l their fifty less by five. „ 625
They l us there for dead ! „ 651
Ay, and I l two fingers there for dead. „ 653
I l him there for dead too ! „ 659 had you l him free use of his wings, Prom. of May I 652 Hesn't he l ye nowt ? Dora. No, Mr. Dobson. „ II 7
Since I l her Here weeping, I have ranged the world, „ II 251
L but one dreadful line to say, „ II 411
Some of our workmen have l us, „ III 28
—all still—and nothing l To live for. „ III 681
I Was l alone, and knowing as I did Foresters II i 122 since the Sheriff l me naught but an empty belly, „ II i 278
He dozes. I have l her watching him. „ II ii 80
I l mine horse and armour with a Squire, „ IV 414
Left-hand Absolve the l-h thief and damn the right ? Becket II ii 392
Left-handedness all l-h and under-handedness. „ Pro. 341 Leg about our l's till we cannot move at all ; Queen Mary II i 204 it be a var waay vor my owld l's up vro' Islip. „ IV iii 472
Haul like a great strong fellow at my l's, Harold II i 11
Leg (continued) Because I broke The horse's l— Harold II ii 110
And may I break his l's ? „ II ii 116 this rag fro' the gangrene i' my l. Becket I iv 237
On my l's. Eleanor. And mighty pretty l's too. „ IV i 5 and thy l's, and thy heart, and thy liver, Foresters IV 204
I have a swollen vein in my right l, „ IV 569
Take the left l for the love of God. „ IV 577
By my halidome I felt him at my l still. „ IV 628
Legacy My l of war against the Pope Harold V i 328
Legate holy l of the holy father the Pope, Cardinal Pole, Queen Mary I iii 26
L's coming To bring us absolution from the Pope. „ III i 431
Well said, Lord L. „ III ii 93
Lord Paget Waits to present our Council to the L. „ III ii 98
No, my Lord L, the Lord Chancellor goes. „ III ii 151 all one mind to supplicate The L here for pardon, „ III iii 107
L From our most Holy Father Julius, Pope, „ III iii 125 authority Apostolic Given unto us, his L, „ III iii 211
I mean the houses knelt Before the L. „ III iii 258
You brawl beyond the question ; speak, Lord L ! „ III iv 98
I am your L ; please you let me finish. „ III iv 179
Beware, Lord L, of a heavier crime Than heresy „ III iv 221
You, Lord L And Cardinal-Deacon, „ III iv 260
And tell this learned L that he lacks zeal. „ III iv 272
Your violence and much roughness to the L, „ III iv 319 yet the L Is here as Pope and Master of the Church, „ III iv 346
Our bashful L, saw'st not how he flush'd ? „ III iv 350
So that you crave full pardon of the L. „ III iv 392 the duty which as L He owes himself, „ III iv 401 it would more become you, my Lord L, „ IV i 116
And how should he have sent me L hither, „ V ii 87
God curse her and her L ! „ V iv 12
Legate-cousin Royal, Infallible, Papal L-c. „ III iv 433
Legateship reft me of that l Which Julius gave me, and the l Annex'd to Canterbury— „ V ii 34
Holy Father Has ta'en the l from our cousin Pole— „ V v 126
Legg'd See Two-legg'd
Legion 'A Galatian serving by force in the Roman L.' The Cup I i 48
'Antonius leader of the Roman L.' „ I i 167
'A Galatian serving by force in the Roman L.' „ I ii 76
Let him come—a l with him, if he will. „ II 250 Legitimate Long live Queen Mary, the lawful and l daughter of Harry the Eighth ! Queen Mary I i 8
That's a hard word, l ; what does it mean ? „ I i 12
Leicester (Lord) How much might that amount to, my lord L ? Becket I iii 656 my good lord L, The King and I were brothers. „ I iii 660 Cornwall's hand or L's : they write marvellously alike. „ I iv 51
Was not my lord of L bidden to our supper ? „ I iv 56
Leicester (town) The Duke hath gone to L ; Queen Mary II i 4
Leisure (adj.) for I would have him bring it Home to the l wisdom of his Queen, „ III vi 23
Leisure (s) but you still preferr'd Your learned l. „ III iv 258
Lend would deign to l an ear Not overscornful, Harold IV i 136
Encumbered as we are, who would l us anything ? Prom. of May III 163
Length if you'd like to measure your own l upon the grass. „ I 466
Lenient I was too l to the Lutheran, Queen Mary V ii 73
Lennox The Lady Suffolk and the Lady L ?— „ I iv 31
Lent L at the siege of Thoulouse by the King. Becket I iii 636
Those two thousand marks l me by the Abbot Foresters I i 264
Leofric L, and all the monks of Peterboro' Harold V i 446
Leofwin (Earl of Kent and Essex) Ask thou Lord L what he thinks of this ! Morcar. Lord L, dost thou believe, that these „ I i 40 as well as with mine earldom, L's and Gurth's. „ I i 338
L, thou hast a tongue, „ I i 391
Vex him not, L. „ I i 403
L would often fight me, and I beat him. „ I i 434
Sign it, my good son Harold, Gurth, and L, „ III i 200
Gurth, L, Morcar, Edwin ! „ IV iii 220
And, L, art thou mad ? „ V i 138
Gurth, L, go once more about the hill— „ V i 182
And L is down ! „ V i 644
And here is L. Edith. And here is He ! „ V ii 72

Leopard Only the golden L printed in it Becket II ii 85
Leprosy I pray God I haven't given thee my l, „ I iv 215
Crutches, and itches, and leprosies, and ulcers, „ I iv 255
She died of l. „ V ii 268
Leprous The l flutterings of the byway, scum And offal Queen Mary IV iii 76
Less when we fought I conquer'd, and he loved me none the l, Harold I i 446
So l chance for false keepers. „ II ii 688 not his fault, if our two houses Be l than brothers. „ IV i 131
This Canterbury is only l than Rome, Becket I i 147 courtesy which hath l loyalty in it than the backward scrape of the clown's heel— „ III iii 142 Friend Scarlet, art thou l a man than Much? Foresters III 65
Lesser He is every way a l man than Charles; Queen Mary I v 330
What human reason is there why my friend Should meet with l mercy than myself? „ IV i 70
Lesson Thou hast learnt Thy l, and I mine. „ V ii 585
A l worth Finger and thumb—thus Harold I ii 54 Letter (epistle) how fierce a l you wrote against Queen Mary I ii 85
l which thine Emperor promised Long since, „ I v 347
Sent out my l's, call'd my friends together, „ I v 552
Who brings that l which we waited for— „ I v 586
Methought I smelt out Renard in the l, „ II ii 120
And what a l he wrote against the Pope! „ III i 173
Our l's of commission will declare this plainlier. „ III iii 222
A l which the Count de Noailles wrote „ V ii 496
No, no, he brings a l. „ V ii 548
Sir Count, to read the l which you bring. „ V ii 555
Madam, I bring no l. Mary. How! no l? „ V ii 557
He hath the Pope's last l's, Becket III iii 25
Take thou this l and this cup to Camma, The Cup I i 61 you heard him on the l. „ I ii 280 where is this Mr. Edgar whom you praised so in your first l's? Prom. of May I 777 arter she'd been a-reädin' me the l wi' 'er voice a-shaäkin', „ II 129
That desolate l, blotted with her tears, „ II 475
An' ow coom thou by the l to 'im? „ II 717
I had to look over his l's. „ II 720
Can't I speak like a lady; pen a l like a lady; „ III 302
We found a l in your bedroom torn into bits. „ III 323 Letter (character) I know not my l's; the old priests taught me nothing. Queen Mary II iii 57
the very l's seem to shake With cold, The Falcon 448 they are arranged here—according to their first l's. Prom. of May III 37
L's! Yeas, I sees now. „ III 38
Letter (literal meaning) be No longer a dead l, but requicken'd. Queen Mary III iv 10
'Let the dead l live! Trace it in fire, „ III iv 33
Let the dead l burn! „ III iv 40 you see the bond and the l of the law. Foresters IV 505
The l—O how often justice drowns Between the law and the l of the law! O God, I would the l of the law Were some strong fellow „ IV 511
O no, we took Advantage of the l— „ IV 621
Sweet Marian, by the l of the law „ IV 638
Letter'd he loved the more His own gray towers, plain life, and l peace, Queen Mary II i 50
Letters your name Stands first of those who sign'd the L Patent „ I ii 18 Letting And mine, a little l of the blood. „ III ii 40
l the wild brook Speak for us— „ V v 90
Lettuce yet are we now drill-sergeant to his lordship's l's, The Falcon 550
Lettuce-leaf But dallied with a single l-l; „ 673
Level a foul stream Thro' fever-breeding l's,—at her side, Becket II i 156
Levied half that subsidy l on the people, Queen Mary I v 115
Levity Skips every way, from l or from fear. „ I iii 170
Had put off l and put graveness on. „ V ii 510
Not for love of l. Foresters II ii 129
Lewd mock the blessed Host In songs so l, Queen Mary IV iii 367
His village darling in some l caress Has wheedled it off the King's neck Becket IV ii 200
Liar terms Of Satan, l's, blasphemy, Antichrist, Queen Mary I ii 95
L! dissembler! traitor! to the fire! „ IV iii 259
Liar (continued) Were such murderous l's In Wessex— Harold II i 94
He is a l who knows I am a l, „ II ii 667 they are a l's—I mean to be a l— „ II ii 796 Men would but take him for the craftier l. „ III i 115
Better to be a l's dog, and hold My master honest, „ III i 124
And thou, usurper, l— Harold. Out, beast monk! „ V i 74
I loved him as I hate This l who made me l. „ V i 412
l's all of you, Your Saints and all! „ V ii 104
L's! I shame to quote 'em—caught, my lord, Becket I ii 7
He dared not—l! yet, yet I remember— „ V i 211
He makes the King a traitor, me a l. „ V ii 416 and shared His fruits and milk. L! The Cup I ii 428 Nature a l, making us feel guilty Prom. of May II 269
These friars, thieves, and l's, Shall drink Foresters III 313 yells of thief And rogue and l echo down in Hell, „ III 324
From whom he knows are hypocrites and l's. „ IV 381
Libation Wherefrom we make l to the Goddess The Cup II 200 Making l to the Goddess. „ II 364
See first I make l to the Goddess, „ II 377
L to the Goddess. „ II 387
Libel I had forgotten How these poor l's trouble you. Queen Mary V ii 202
No, Madam; these are l's. „ V ii 350
Libellous but these l papers which I found Strewn in your palace. „ V ii 171
Liberal and most amorous Of good old red sound l Gascon wine: Becket, Pro. 100 Liberality you are still the king Of courtesy and l. The Falcon 293
My l perforce is dead Thro' lack of means „ 296
Libertine as the l repents who cannot Make done undone, Harold III i 31 Liberty If ye love your liberties or your skins, Queen Mary II i 216 to save his country, and the liberties of his people! Foresters I i 247
License I know the Norman l— Harold II ii 477
Priest Sits winking at the l of a king, Becket I ii 66
Without the l of our lord the King. „ I iii 130 strove To work against her l for her good, „ IV ii 340 grant you what they call a l To marry. Prom. of May I 695
Dear, in these days of Norman l, Foresters III 178
Licensed Why, nature's l vagabond, the swallow, Queen Mary V i 20
Lick he l's my face and moans and cries out against the King. Becket II iv 99
Cannot a smooth tongue l him whole again „ II ii 25
Licorice and English carrot's better than Spanish l; Queen Mary III i 220 Lie (s) accursed l Of good Queen Catherine's divorce— „ III iv 231
Gave his shorn smile the l. Harold II ii 226
Of all the l's that ever men have lied, „ III i 99 death is death, or else Lifts us beyond the l. „ III ii 80
I fain Had made my marriage not a l; „ V i 320
Truth! no; a l; a trick, a Norman trick! „ V i 606
Will feel no shame to give themselves the l. The Cup II 118
he flutter'd his wings as he gave me the l, Foresters I i 159
He hath spoken truth in a world of l's. „ III 212
These be the l's the people tell of us, „ III 392 Lie (speak falsely) Unless my friends and mirrors l to me, Queen Mary I iv 2 world of nature; what is weak must l; „ III v 122
The lapwing l's, says 'here' when they are there. „ III v 124
One that would neither misreport nor l, „ IV iii 556
Nay! better die than l! Harold I i 158
Better die than l! „ II ii 281
Call it to temporize; and not to l; Harold, I do not counsel thee to l. „ II ii 415
Not ev'n for thy sake, brother, would I l. „ II ii 421 people do say that his is bad beyond all reckoning, and—— Rosamund. The people l. Becket III i 177
Tha l's. (repeat) Prom. of May II 703, 708
She l's! They are made in Hell. „ III 710
He l's, my lord. I have shot him thro' the heart. Foresters II i 99 Except this old hag have been bribed to l. „ II i 235 for, God help us, we l by nature. „ II i 237 Lie (verb) There l's your fear. That is your drift. Queen Mary I v 304 and all rebellions l Dead bodies without voice. „ II i 79
It l's there in six pieces at your feet; „ II i 87
There let them l, your footstool! „ II iv 120 all that in us l's Towards the abrogation „ III iii 140
Seeing there l two ways to every end, „ III iv 113

Lie (verb) (continued) that I think, 'Wilt thou l there to-morrow?' Queen Mary III v 132
It l's there folded: is there venom in it? „ III v 216 lash'd to death, or l Famishing in black cells, „ V ii 195
Come thou down. L there. „ V v 180
What l's upon the mind of our good king Harold I i 268
That l's within the shadow of the chance. „ II ii 463
Nay let them l. Stand there and wait my will. „ II ii 682
There l's a treasure buried down in Ely: „ III i 11
It l's beside thee, king, upon thy bed. „ III i 195 curse That l's on thee and England. „ III i 279
Where l the Norsemen? on the Derwent? „ IV i 253
He l's not here: not close beside the standard. „ V ii 56 their standards fell . . . where these two l. „ V ii 141
So then our good Archbishop Theobald L's dying. Becket, Pro. 3
—there l's the secret of her whereabouts, „ Pro. 430
The daughter of Zion l's beside the way— „ III iii 177
All that L's with Antonius. The Cup I ii 293
We l too deep down in the shadow here. The Falcon 581
l down there together in the darkness which would seem but for a moment, Prom. of May III 194
I am very faint. I must l down. „ III 473
Where l's that cask of wine whereof Foresters III 306
And l with us among the flowers, and drink— „ IV 965

Lied To sit high Is to be l about. Queen Mary I v 430
Some said it was thy father's deed. Harold. They l. Harold II ii 514
l like a lad That dreads the pendent scourge, „ II ii 656
Of all the lies that ever men have l, „ III i 99

Lief we'd as l talk o' the Divil afoor ye as 'im, Prom. of May III 130

Liefer Far l had I in my country hall Queen Mary III i 43
I had l that the fish had swallowed me, Harold II i 36
But I had l than this gold again— Foresters IV 184

Liege My l's and my lords, The thanks of Holy Church Becket II ii 189

Liege-lord breathe one prayer for my l-l the King, „ V ii 191

Liest thou l as loud as the black herring-pond Harold II i 25
Norman, thou l! liars all of you, „ V ii 104

Lieth do you good to all As much as in you l. Queen Mary IV iii 187
So he said who l here. Foresters II ii 117

Lieu put some fresh device in l of it— Queen Mary III i 268

Life (See also After-life, Forest-life) Old Bourne to the l! „ I iii 30
You've but a dull l in this maiden court, I fear, my Lord? Courtenay. A l of nods and yawns. „ I iii 113 like a butterfly in a chrysalis, You spent your l; „ I iv 52
I love you, Lay my l in your hands. „ I iv 105 to practise on my l, By poison, fire, shot, stab— „ I iv 284
I would his l Were half as goodly. „ I v 201
If cold, his l is pure. „ I v 333
A very wanton l indeed. „ I v 336
Of a pure l? „ I v 448
And wastes more l. „ I v 507 plain l and letter'd peace, „ II i 49 and I warrant this fine fellow's l. „ II iii 84
He has gambled for his l, and lost, he hangs. „ II iii 91 pray for you on our bended knees till our lives' end. „ II iii 122
La, to whistle out my l, „ II iv 109 and save the l Of Devon: if I save him, „ II iv 123 some secret that may cost Philip his l. „ III i 202 you would fling your lives into the gulf. „ III i 459 scarlet thread of Rahab saved her l; „ III ii 39 bees, If any creeping l invade their hive „ III iii 54
To take the lives of others that are loyal, „ III iv 48
Paget, you are all for this poor l of ours, And care but little for the l to be. „ III iv 59
Watch'd children playing at their l to be, „ III iv 63 the lives Of many among your churchmen „ III iv 190 it is an age Of brief l, and brief purpose, „ III iv 413
For there was l—And there was l in death— „ III v 145 whose bolts, That jail you from free l, „ III v 172
I had like to have lost my l: „ III v 189
what think you, Is it l or death? „ III v 194
A right rough l and healthful. „ III v 260
Is l and lungs to every rebel birth „ III vi 51
Care more for our brief l in their wet land, „ III vi 62
The sunshine sweeps across my l again. „ III vi 250
To spare the l of Cranmer. „ IV i 4

Life (continued) To sue you for his L? Mary. His l? Oh, no; Queen Mary IV i 11
Or into private l within the realm. „ IV i 47 once he saved your Majesty's own l; „ IV i 125
My l is not so happy, no such boon, „ IV i 130 if he have to live so loath'd a l, „ IV i 152 petition of the foreign exiles For Cranmer's l. „ IV i 194
Exhort them to a pure and virtuous l; „ IV ii 77
For death gives l's last word a power to live, „ IV iii 161 as I have come To the last end of l, and thereupon Hangs all my past, and all my l to be, „ IV iii 218
Or said or done in all my l by me; „ IV iii 239
Written for fear of death, to save my l, „ IV iii 242 have been a man loved plainness all my l; „ IV iii 271 Hurls his soil'd l against the pikes and dies. „ IV iii 311 his best Of l was over then. „ IV iii 330
Her l, since Philip left her, and she lost „ IV iii 428
Philip is as warm in l As ever. „ V ii 24 fast friend of your l Since mine began, „ V ii 134
Your Majesty has lived so pure a l, „ V v 73 see, he smiles and goes, Gentle as in l. „ V v 147
More beautiful than in l. „ V v 262
Her l was winter, for her spring was nipt: „ V v 269
Thy l at home Is easier than mine here. Harold I i 96
I have lived a l of utter purity: „ I i 178
A l of prayer and fasting well may see „ I i 199
Love will stay for a whole l long. „ I ii 17 praised The convent and lone l—within the pale— „ I ii 47 then a fair l And bless the Queen of England. „ I ii 206
We seldom take man's l, except in war; „ II ii 502
Archbishop Robert hardly scaped with l. „ II ii 527
Harold, I am thy friend, one l with thee, „ II ii 650
Is naked truth actable in true l? „ III i 110 silent, cloister'd, solitary l, A l of life-long prayer „ III i 277
'Love for a whole l long' When was that sung? „ III ii 88 they both have l In the large mouth of England, „ IV iii 73
Thou gavest thy voice against me in my l, „ V i 253 Whose l was all one battle, incarnate war, „ V i 397 that I fear the Queen would have her l. Becket, Pro. 62
The l of Rosamund de Clifford more Than that „ Pro. 70 not my purveyor Of pleasures, but to save a l—her l; „ Pro. 150
And all the heap'd experiences of l, „ I i 154
And mean to hold it, or—— Becket. To have my l. „ I iii 163 since your canon will not let you take L for a l, „ I iii 391 being in great jeopardy of his l, he hath made „ I iv 263 or can shatter a l till the l shall have fled? „ II i 12
Love that can lift up a l from the dead. „ II i 14
O my l's l, not to smile Is all but death „ II i 39
There may be crosses in my line of l. „ II i 188
L on the hand is naked gipsy-stuff; L on the face, „ II i 193
He said thy l Was not one hour's worth „ III iii 250
Thy l is worth the wrestle for it: „ IV ii 194 fawn upon him For thy l and thy son's. „ IV ii 225 to take a l which Henry bad me Guard „ IV ii 268 rend away Eyesight and manhood, l itself, „ IV ii 285
a l Saved as by miracle alone with Him Who gave it. „ IV ii 367 not l shot up in blood, But death drawn in;— „ IV ii 380
To take my l might lose him Aquitaine. „ IV ii 396 thy rest of l is hopeless prison. „ V i 180
Thanks in this l, and in the l to come. „ V ii 161 drowning man, they say, remembers all The chances of his l, „ V ii 274 laid mine own l down To help him from them, „ V ii 339
You have spoken to the peril of your l? „ V ii 516
Valour and holy l should go together. „ V ii 587
Save him, he saved my l, he saved my child, „ V iii 8
The power of l in death to make her free! „ V iii 100
What would ye have of me? Fitzurse. Your l. De Tracy. Your l. „ V iii 117
But in this narrow breathing-time of l The Cup I i 29 courtesans for aught I know Whose l is one dishonour. „ I ii 194
However I thank thee; thou hast saved my l. „ I ii 333 loveliest l that ever drew the light From heaven „ I iii 56
To warm the cold bounds of our dying l „ I iii 128
He saved my l too. Did he? „ I iii 160

Life (continued) thou that art l to the wind, to the wave, The Cup II 3
L yields to death and wisdom bows to Fate, „ II 89
And join your l this day with his, „ II 135
For all my truer l begins to-day. „ II 229 that dost inspire the germ with l, The child, „ II 258 ere two souls be knit for l and death, „ II 359 came To plead to thee for Sinnatus's l, „ II 392
Coming to visit my lord, for the first time in her l too! The Falcon 171
And if he leave me—all the rest of l— „ 334
A colour, which has colour'd all my l, „ 364
I'd slaäve out my l fur 'er. Prom. of May I 178
And long l to boath on 'em. „ I 345
I have all my l before me—so has she— „ I 482 heat and fire Of l will bring them out, „ II 287 better death With our first wail than l— „ II 291 not so much for Death As against L! „ II 338
This beggarly l, This poor, flat, hedged-in field— „ II 343 Colour Flows thro' my l again, „ II 667 which Father, for a whole l, has been getting together, „ III 165
O Love and L, how weary am I, „ III 205 will give him, as they say, a new lease of l. „ III 424 niver been surprised but once i' my l, and I went blind upon it. „ III 440
Had threaten'd ev'n your l, and would say anything? „ III 567
'Twere best to make an end of my lost l. „ III 786 not with all your wealth, Your land, your l! „ III 796 whose whole l hath been folded like a blossom in the sheath, Foresters I i 205
I saved his l once in battle. „ I i 272
A question that every true man asks of a woman once in his l. „ I ii 139
if this l of ours Be a good glad thing, „ I iii 12 Sleep, happy soul! all l will sleep at last. „ I iii 48 mix with all The lusty l of wood and underwood, „ I iii 114
The hope of larger l hereafter, „ II i 69
I would give my l for thee, „ II i 189
Ay, ay, the line o' l is marked enow; „ II i 352
Mislead us, and I will have thy l! „ II i 377
L, l. I know not death. „ II i 621
Our Robin beaten, pleading for his l! „ II i 675 noblest light That ever flash'd across my l, „ III 142 Whose writ will run thro' all the range of l. „ IV 49
Their lives unsafe in any of these our woods, „ IV 93 in the fear of thy l shalt thou eat the King's venison— „ IV 205 Richard risks his l for a straw, So lies in prison—while our Robin's l Hangs by a thread, „ IV 382 flung His l, heart, soul into those holy wars „ IV 407 for by my l, you shall dance till he can. „ IV 566
Thou hast risk'd thy l for mine: bind these two men. „ IV 894
Our forest games are ended, our free l, „ IV 1049

Life-giving No sacrifice, but a l-g feast! Queen Mary IV ii 112

Life-green a thousand summers Robe you l-g again. Foresters IV 1058

Life-long To plunge thee into l-l prison here:— Harold II ii 550
A life of l-l prayer against the curse „ III i 278
she hath begun Her l-l prayer for thee. „ III i 324
And all my l labour to uphold The primacy—a heretic. Queen Mary V ii 70
I am a l-l lover of the chase, The Cup I i 194

Lift I cannot l my hands unto my head. Queen Mary III i 240
L head, and flourish; „ III iv 24
Why do you l your eyebrow at me thus? „ III vi 102
I am ashamed to l my eyes to heaven, „ IV iii 127 death is death, or else L's us beyond the lie. Harold III ii 80
For, like a son, I l my hands to thee. Becket I iii 264
Love that can l up a life from the dead. „ II i 14
I pray you l me And make me walk awhile. The Cup II 472 my hands are too sleepy To l it off. „ II 531

Lifted Then Cranmer l his left hand to heaven, Queen Mary IV iii 608

Lifting It means the l of the house of Alfgar. Harold I i 472

Light (adj.) My Lord of Devon—l enough, God knows, Queen Mary V ii 477 Growing dark too—but l enough to row. The Cup II 523
Take thou this l kiss for thy clumsy word. Foresters III 134

Light (s) By God's l a noble creature, Queen Mary I i 68
The l of this new learning wanes and dies: „ III ii 172 faith that seem'd to droop will feel your l, „ III iv 23 yet not l alone, There must be heat— „ III iv 24 springs to l That Centaur of a monstrous Commonweal, „ III iv 162 White as the l, the spotless bride of Christ, „ III iv 199 in a pale l, Rose hand in hand, „ III v 147
Cool as the l in old decaying wood; „ IV ii 5
Unpardonable,—sin against the l, „ IV iii 148
Is not yon l in the Queen's chamber? „ V iv 1
There's the Queen's l. I hear she cannot live. „ V iv 10 in a closed room, with l, fire, physic, tendance; „ V iv 36
My grayhounds fleeting like a beam of l, Harold I ii 130 dog, with thy lying l's Thou hast betray'd „ II i 22 villains with their lying l's have wreck'd us! „ II i 84 be as the shadow of a cloud Crossing your l. „ II ii 178 dreadful l's crept up from out the marsh— „ III i 379 Lost, lost, the l of day, „ III ii 12
But a little l!—And on it falls the shadow „ III ii 69
A l among the oxen. „ IV i 87
Lower the l. He must be here. „ V ii 63 the fire, the l, The spirit of the twelve Apostles Becket I i 49 moon Divides the whole long street with l and shade. „ I i 365
As gold Outvalues dross, l darkness, „ I iii 715
L again! l again! Margery? „ IV i 1 and went on and on till I found the l and the lady, „ IV ii 18
Save by that way which leads thro' night to l. „ V iii 89
I am not in the darkness but the l, „ V iii 97
the dry l of Rome's straight-going policy, The Cup I i 145 drew the l From heaven to brood upon her, „ I iii 57 Lady, you bring your l into my cottage The Falcon 283 her affections Will flower toward the l in some new face. Prom. of May I 486 to be wakened again together by the l of the resurrection, „ III 196
the l Of these dark hours; Foresters I ii 84 and seeing the hospitable l's in your castle, „ I ii 194
I am but an angel by reflected l. „ II i 108
Glide like a l across these woodland ways! „ II i 159
l of the seas by the moon's long-silvering ray! „ II ii 178 noblest l That ever flash'd across my life, „ III 141
Robin, the sweet l of a mother's eye, „ IV 2

Light (to come upon) if thou l upon her—free me from her? Becket, Pro. 493

Light (to kindle) then, who l's the faggot? Not the full faith, Queen Mary III iv 122
Thou l a torch that never will go out! „ V v 122

Lighted (come upon) and I have l On a new pleasure. Prom. of May II 668
She may have l on your fairies here, Foresters II i 496

Lighted (shone) A twilight conscience l thro' a chink; Harold III i 65

Lighten (to brighten) these lilies to l Sir Richard's black room, Foresters I i 3

Lighten (to gleam) Our axes l with a single flash Harold V i 537

Lighten'd gloom of Saul Was l by young David's harp. Queen Mary V ii 359
l for me The weight of this poor crown, Harold I i 217

Lighter Much l than a thousand marks in gold; Foresters IV 657
You see the darkness thro' the l leaf. „ IV 975

Lightning sword Of l's, wherewithal he cleft the tree Harold III i 137
This l before death Plays on the word,— „ III i 387 are sliver'd off and splinter'd by Their l— „ V i 541
The l's that we think are only Heaven's Flash Becket V ii 35

Lightning-like swoops down upon him Eagle-like, l-l— The Falcon 14

Like (adj. and adv.) These princes are l children, must be physick'd, Queen Mary I v 234
Is this l him? Renard. Ay, somewhat; „ I v 442
Rascal!—this land is l a hill of fire, „ III i 321
Much less shall others in l cause escape, „ IV iii 62
How fair and royal—l a Queen, indeed? „ V i 235 methinks my Queen is l enough To leave me by and by. „ V i 242
I mean not l to live. Elizabeth— „ V i 245
There must be ladies many with hair l mine. „ V iii 58
To draw him nearer with a charm L thine to thine. Harold I ii 9
What was he l, this husband? l to thee? „ V ii 52 have I fought men L Harold and his brethren, „ V ii 179
A pretty lusty boy. Rosamund. So l to thee; L to be liker. Becket II i 248

Like (adj. and adv.) (continued) I am too l the King here; Becket II ii 288
He is marvellously l thee. „ V ii 180
I am l a boy going to be whipt; Foresters II ii 50
Had I a bulrush now in this right hand For sceptre, I were l a queen indeed. „ III 77
By St. Nicholas They must have sprung l Ghosts from underground, „ IV 592
It is not he—his face—tho' very l—No, no! „ IV 777
O good Sir Richard, I am l the man In Holy Writ, „ IV 980
Your names will cling l ivy to the wood. „ IV 1085

Like (verb) He l's it, my lord. Becket I iv 235
I l's 'im, and Eva l's 'im. Prom. of May I 436
I l's 'er all the better fur taäkin' me down, „ II 133

Like See also Brother-like, Deer-like, Eagle-like, Father-like, Hero-like, Locust-like, Spiteful-like, Martyr-like, Thief-like, Throne-like, Wife-like

Likelier A round fine l. Your pardon. Queen Mary III iii 279
This is the l tale. We have hit the place. Becket III ii 42

Likeness sire begets Not half his l in the son. Queen Mary II i 55 fair a l As your great King in armour „ V v 28
Eva told me that he was taking her l. He's an artist. Prom. of May I 127
I have heard of you. The l Is very striking. „ II 365
I do most earnestly assure you that Your l— „ II 564

Liker we be l the blessed Apostles; Harold II i 33
So like to thee; Like to be l. Becket II i 249
L the King. Becket. No, daughter. „ V ii 181

Likings Spanish in myself, And in my l. Queen Mary I v 14

Lilt How happily would we l among the leaves Foresters III 40

Lily was all pure l and rose In his youth, Queen Mary I v 20
To sicken of his lilies and his roses. „ I v 25
The cold, white l blowing in her cell: Harold III i 274
—she Was the world's l. Becket V ii 265 Might wish its rose a l, Prom. of May III 490 these lilies to lighten Sir Richard's black room, Foresters I i 2 Modest maiden l abused, „ II ii 158

Lilylike L in her stateliness and sweetness! Prom. of May II 621

Limb Who dragg'd the scatter'd l's into their den. Queen Mary I v 401 island will become A rotten l of Spain. „ II i 105
Until they died of rotted l's; „ IV iii 445
I touch mine arms, My l's— Harold II ii 795
The King may rend the bearer l from l. Becket I i 378
They howl for thee, to rend thee head from l. The Cup I ii 322 give him l's, then air, and send him forth „ II 261

Limp With hands too l to brandish iron— Harold V i 449

Limpet Be l's to this pillar, or we are torn Queen Mary III i 184

Limping See A-limpin'

Line First of a l that coming from the people, Harold V i 386
Look, this l—The rest you see is colour'd green— Becket, Pro. 170
This blood-red l? Henry. Ay, blood, perchance, „ Pro. 174
This chart with the red l! her bower! „ Pro. 308 chart with the red l—thou sawest it— „ Pro. 428 chart which Henry gave you With the red l— „ I ii 62
There may be crosses in my l of life. „ II i 188 plow straäit as a l right i' the faäce o' the sun, Prom. of May I 370 Left but one dreadful l to say, „ II 411
we must Move in the l of least resistance „ II 670
Ay, ay, the l o' life is marked enow; but look, there is a cross l o' sudden death. Foresters II i 352

Linen slut whose fairest l seems Foul as her dust-cloth, Becket V ii 202 filch the l from the hawthorn, Foresters III 199

Ling Thro' wood and lawn and l, „ III 425

Linger L not till the third horn. Fly! Becket III ii 40

Lingerest Edwin, my friend—Thou l.—Gurth,— Harold IV i 258

Link not with gold, But dearest l's of love. Queen Mary I v 539 bright l rusts with the breath of the first Becket, Pro. 361

Link'd that stale Church-bond which l me with him „ IV ii 448

Lion (See also Fox-lion) The l needs but roar to guard his young; Queen Mary III v 123
I conclude the King a beast; Verily a l if you will— „ IV iii 413 be those I fear who prick'd the l To make him spring, Harold IV iii 95
Thousands of horses, like as many l's „ IV iii 196
Our Church in arms—the lamb the l— „ V i 441 and hawks, and apes, and l's, and lynxes. Becket I i 80

Lion (continued) As find a hare's form in a l's cave. Becket I iii 177
Dares the bear slouch into the l's den? „ IV ii 282
Lest I remember thee to the l, go. „ IV ii 292
I once was at the hunting of a l. The Cup I ii 116
He would grapple with a l like the King, Foresters I i 185 this Richard is the l of Cyprus, Robin, the l of Sherwood— „ IV 391
Be not the nobler l of the twain. „ IV 396

Lioness for she hath somewhat of the l in her, „ I ii 157

Lion-heart Drink to the L-h Every one! „ I ii 5

Lionlike let England as of old Rise l, Queen Mary V ii 267

Lip From your own royal l's, at once may know „ II ii 136
To take this absolution from your l's, „ III ii 116
I felt his arms about me, and his l's— „ V v 99
but when thou layest thy l To this, Becket II i 306 Up from the salt l's of the land we two „ III ii 1 never so much as a silver one for the golden l's of her ladyship. The Falcon 404
the l's that never breathed Love's falsehood to true maid will seal Love's truth On those sweet l's Foresters IV 71
I am but the echo of the l's of love. „ IV 892

Liquid A marvel, how He from the l sands of Coesnon Harold II ii 56

Liquor You cannot judge the l from the lees. Queen Mary IV iii 550

Lisping-age dandle you upon my knee At l-a. „ V ii 143

List (desire) not so set on wedlock as to choose But where I l, Queen Mary II ii 215

List (roll of names) but he lent me an alphabetical l of those that remain, „ III 29

'Listed (enlisted) 'L for a soädger, Miss, i' the Queen's Real Hard Tillery. Prom. of May III 108

Listen L: The King of France, Noailles Queen Mary I iv 109
Will bid you welcome, and will l to you. Prom. of May II 522 if she weänt l to me when I be a-tryin' to saäve 'er— „ II 693
Did I not promise not to l to him, „ III 569
Why do you l, man, to the old fool? Foresters II i 357
But l—overhead—Fluting, and piping and luting „ III 32
—what merry madness—l! „ III 43
we have made a song in your honour, so your ladyship care to l. „ III 415 blow upon it Three mots, this fashion—l! „ IV 425

Listen'd if he had not l, I might have sent him The Cup II 417

Listener will you have it alone, Or with these l's near you? Becket V ii 305

Listening l In some dark closet, Queen Mary V ii 216

Lit 'Make short! make short!' and so they l the wood. „ IV iii 607

Litany they led Processions, chanted litanies, „ III vi 95

Litter Go men, and fetch him hither on the l. Foresters IV 462
Take up the l! „ IV 597
I remain Beside my Father's l. „ IV 605
And this old crazeling in the l there. „ IV 634 let me out of the l. He shall wed thee: „ IV 642

Little look ye, here's l Dickon, and l Robin, and l Jenny— Queen Mary II iii 112
And mine, a l letting of the blood. „ III ii 40
Our l sister of the Song of Songs! „ III ii 103
And care but l for the life to be. „ III iv 60
l children! They kill'd but for their pleasure „ III iv 73
'L children, Love one another.' „ III iv 84
The l murder'd princes, in a pale light, „ III v 147
For a l space, farewell; Until I see you in St. Mary's Church. „ IV ii 46 not for l sins Didst thou yield up thy Son to human death; „ IV iii 143
Altho' your Lordship hath as l of each „ IV iii 416
You are the mightiest monarch upon earth, I but a l Queen: „ V i 53
A l Queen! but when I came to wed your majesty, „ V i 55
L doubt This buzz will soon be silenced; „ V i 292
Love can stay but a l while. Harold I ii 13
Save for the prattling of thy l ones. „ II ii 122
See here this l key about my neck! „ III i 10 let him a l longer Remain a hostage for the loyalty Of Godwin's house.' „ III i 89
But a l light!—And on it falls the shadow of the priest; „ III ii 68
Your old crown Were l help without our Saxon carles Against Hardrada. „ IV i 35

Little (continued) L! we are Danes, Who conquer'd what we walk on, our own field. Harold IV i 37
He calls us l! Harold. The kingdoms of this world began with l, „ IV i 41
Keep him away from the lone l isle. Becket II i 15
I'll call thee l Geoffrey. „ II i 214
Look, look! if l Geoffrey have not tost His ball into the brook! „ II i 319
Kiss me, l one, Nobody near! „ III i 100
Come to me, l one. How camest thou hither? „ IV i 3
We can't all of us be as pretty as thou art—l bastard. „ IV i 39
How fares thy pretty boy, the l Geoffrey? „ V ii 167
There was a l fair-hair'd Norman maid „ V ii 259
Nay, see, why she turns down the path through our l vineyard, The Falcon 168
When he was a l one, and I put the bitters on my breast to wean him, „ 189
ye'll think more on 'is l finger than hall my hand at the haltar. Prom. of May I 112
How gracefully there she stands Weeping—the l Niobe! „ I 736 into nescience with as l pain As it is to fall asleep „ II 341
The l 'ymn? Yeäs, Miss; „ III 1 an' axed ma to be 'is l sweet-art, „ III 120 Poor blind Father's l guide, Milly, „ III 231 talk a l French like a lady; play a l like a lady? „ III 303
Who said that? Taäke me awaäy, l gell. „ III 465 Child, read a l history, you will find The common brotherhood „ III 542 and if you cram me crop-full I be l better than Famine in the picture, Foresters I i 46 and for the love of his own l mother on earth, „ I i 98
O the sacred l thing! What a shape! „ I i 108 Shall I keep one l rose for Little John? No. „ I i 112
But he flutter'd his wings with a sweet l cry, „ I i 154
But then your Sheriff, your l man, „ I i 231 and our l Sheriff will ever swim with the stream! „ I i 239
the Sheriff had taken all our goods for the King without paying, our horse and our l cart— „ II i 192 for when the Sheriff took my l horse for the King without paying for it— „ II i 301

Littlechester (adj.) and we dragg'd The L river all in vain: Prom. of May II 414

Littlechester (s) When theer wur a meeting o' farmers at L t'other daäy, „ I 137 fur they be knaw'd as far as L. „ I 214
Beänt there house-breäkers down i' L, Dobson— „ I 389
Who leaves me all his land at L, „ I 511 afoor she went to school at L— „ II 19 fur she tell'd me to taäke the cart to L. „ II 323
Only last week at L, drove me From out her memory. „ II 404 pacing my new lands at L, „ II 647 Wasn't Miss Vavasour, our schoolmistress at L, a lady born? „ III 298 that dreadful night! that lonely walk to L, „ III 367

Little John (a follower of Robin Hood) She hath looked well at one of 'em, L J. Foresters I i 39
Shall I keep one little rose for L J? No. „ I i 113
Wilt thou not give me rather the little rose for L J? „ I i 148 thou hast ruffled my woman, L J. „ I i 166 starched stiff creature, L J, the Earl's man. „ I i 184
L J, Who hast that worship for me „ I iii 159
Take him, good L J, and give him wine. „ II i 469 thou That hast not made it up with L J! Kate. I wait till L J makes up to me. „ III 15
L J Fancied he saw thee clasp and kiss a man. „ III 21
And let them warm thy heart to L J. „ III 44
I L J, he Much the miller's son, and he Scarlet, „ III 54
I L J, he, young Scarlet, and he, old Much, and all the rest of us. „ III 60
Search them, L J. „ III 201
Shame on thee, L J, thou hast forgotten— „ III 237
Play the air, L J. „ III 418
Strike up our music, L J. „ IV 559
You, good friar, You Much, you Scarlet, you dear L J, „ IV 1083

Live Long l Queen Mary, (repeat) Queen Mary I i 7, 65
'Long l Elizabeth the Queen!' „ I iii 7
we'll have no pope here while the Lady Elizabeth l's. „ I iii 44
But that with God's grace, I can l so still. „ II ii 219 never Consent thereto, nor marry while I l; „ II ii 231 Long l Queen Mary! Down with Wyatt! The Queen! „ II ii 252
We have been glad together; let him l. „ II iii 90
I l and die The true and faithful bride of Philip— „ II iv 41
Long l the King and Queen, Philip and Mary! „ III i 208
Long l Queen Mary! „ III i 294
Where dost thou l? Man. In Cornhill. „ III i 316 was not meet the heretic swine should l In Lambeth. „ III ii 135 Let the dead letter l! Trace it in fire, „ III iv 33 says she will l And die true maid— „ III vi 45 none shall hold them in his house and l, „ IV i 97
if he have to l so loath'd a life, „ IV i 152
Ay—gentle as they call you—l or die! „ IV ii 162 set forth some saying that may l After his death and better humankind; For death gives life's last word a power to l, „ IV iii 159
I pray you all to l together Like brethren; „ IV iii 181
Either to l with Christ in Heaven with joy, „ IV iii 220
That might l always in the sun's warm heart, „ V i 22
I mean not like to l. „ V i 245
Long l your Majesty! Shall Alice sing you „ V ii 353
Make me full fain to l and die a maid. „ V iii 98
There's the Queen's light. I hear she cannot l. „ V iv 11
She hath but blood enough to l, not love.— Harold I ii 161
We hear he hath not long to l. „ II ii 565
Forgive me, brother, I will l here and die. „ II ii 804 but happier lived, If happier be to l; „ IV iii 73
l or die, I would I were among them! „ V i 463
And if I l, No man without my leave Becket, Pro. 29
For we would l and die for thee, my lord, „ I ii 16
And I shall l to trample on thy grave. „ I ii 95 and the world shall l by the King's venison „ I iv 271 one who l's for thee Out there in France; „ II i 309
Long l the good King Louis! „ II ii 450
I l to die for it, I die to l for it. „ III iii 335
They call her—But she l's secret, you see. „ IV i 12
Madam, let her l. „ IV ii 157
And l what may be left thee of a life „ IV ii 367
She l's—but not for him; one point is gain'd. „ IV ii 415
I will go l and die in Aquitaine. (repeat) „ V i 109, 142
Here is the great Archbishop! He l's! he l's! „ V iii 30
A woman I could l and die for. The Cup I iii 65 Might I not l for that, And drown all poor self-passion „ II 99 to l And die together. „ II 443 as I l, there is Monna Giovanna coming down the hill from the castle. The Falcon 159
Your ladyship l's higher in the sun. „ 583
For her sick son, if he were like to l, „ 854
What can a man, then, l for but sensations, Prom. of May I 241 smell o' the mou'd 'ud ha' maäde ma l as long as Jerusalem. „ I 378 with some sense of art, to l By brush and pencil. „ I 498 L with these honest folk—And play the fool! „ I 744 if you cared To l some time among them. „ II 550
For all the souls on earth that l „ III 7 will be willing that you and Father should l with us; „ III 261 in our spring-and-winter world If we l long enough! „ III 512
—all still—and nothing left To l for. „ III 682
She said 'all still. Nothing to l for.' „ III 685 but now ye know why we l so stintedly, Foresters I i 76 a Count in Brittany—he l's near Quimper. „ I i 272 Long l Richard, (repeat) „ I ii 1, 3
Long l Robin, Robin and Richard! Long l Robin, „ I ii 13
'Long l King Richard!' „ I ii 25
O Lord, I will l and die for King Richard— „ I ii 37
We will l and die with thee, (repeat) „ I iii 168
I believe there l's No man who truly loves „ II i 75
You gentles that l upo' manchet-bread and marchpane, „ II i 281
Then I roast 'em, for I have nought else to l on. „ II i 388
Could l as happy as the larks in heaven, „ III 82
L thou maiden! Thou art more my wife so feeling, „ III 121

Live (continued) all that l By their own hands, the labourer, the poor priest; Foresters III 164
And l with us and the birds in the green wood. „ IV 325
We needs must l. Our bowmen are so true „ IV 523
Then will I l for ever in the wild wood. „ IV 878

Lived (See also Short-lived) as tho' My father and my brother had not l. Queen Mary I v 36
I thank God, I have l a virgin, „ II ii 218
You l among your vines and oranges, „ III iv 253
And all things l and ended honestly. „ III v 115
Your Majesty has l so pure a life, „ V v 73
I have l a life of utter purity: Harold I i 178 but happier l, If happier be to live; „ IV iii 72
I die for England then, who l for England— „ V i 268
he would be mine age Had he l now; Becket I iii 250
I have l, poor bird, from cage to cage, „ III i 222 little fair-hair'd Norman maid L in my mother's house: „ V ii 261 having l For twenty days and nights in mail, Foresters IV 123

Livelong Not having broken fast the l day— „ IV 186

Liver and thy legs, and thy heart, and thy l, „ IV 205

Livery Ay, how fine they be in their liveries, „ I i 41

Living (adj. and part.) and we two will lead The l waters of the Faith again Queen Mary I v 88
And had to be removed lest l Spain Should sicken at dead England. „ III i 27
Will stir the l tongue and make the cry. „ III i 354 but Lambeth palace, Henceforth a centre of the l faith. „ III ii 155 not the l rock Which guards the land. Harold I ii 119
And thou art upright in thy l grave, „ II ii 440 and sell not thou Our l passion for a dead man's dream; „ III ii 60 the l Who fought and would have died, „ IV iii 70
Hail to the l who fought, the dead who fell! „ IV iii 105
And dying for the people—Edith. L—l! „ V i 390 doth not the l skin thicken against perpetual whippings? Becket III iii 316 were he l And grown to man and Simatus will'd it, The Cup I ii 150 dead garland Will break once more into the l blossom. The Falcon 919
We know not whether he be dead or l. Prom. of May II 436
This Edgar, then, is l? Harold. L? well— „ II 443 were she l, Would not—if penitent—have denied „ II 495
Will he not fly from you if he learn the story of my shame and that I am still l? „ III 258
Is yours yet l? Harold. No—I told you. „ III 505
I never said As much before to any woman l. „ III 645
L . . . dead . . . She said 'all still. „ III 683
I ha' served the King l, says she, and let me serve him dead, Foresters II i 310

Living (s) have grasp Her l's, her advowsons, Becket I i 161
That, thro' his late magnificence of l The Falcon 227
Hath served me better than her l— „ 901

Loäd Well, it be the last l hoäm. Prom. of May II 145 as I said afoor, it be the last l hoäm; „ II 169
'The Last L Hoäm.' (repeat) „ II 171, 172
At the end of the daäy, For the last l hoäm? (repeat) „ II 184, 195
Till the end of the daäy And the last l hoäm. „ II 209
Till the end o' the daäy An' the last l hoäm.' „ II 239
To the end o' the daäy An' the last l hoäm.' „ II 260
An' the last l hoäm, L hoäm.' „ II 293

Loan raise us l's and subsidies Among the merchants; Queen Mary V i 179

Loathe Who l you for your late return to Rome, „ IV ii 32
She is none of those who l the honeycomb. „ V i 277
I l being beaten; had I fixt my fancy Becket, Pro. 49

Loath'd if he have to live so l a life, Queen Mary IV i 152 and great baseness l as an exception: Becket III iii 304 worshipt whom she l, I should have let her be, „ IV ii 391
l the cruelties that Rome Wrought on her vassals. The Cup I ii 373

Loathing (adj.) I have but shown a l face to you, Queen Mary III vi 113

Loathing (s) Beauty passes like a breath and love is lost in l: „ V ii 366
And L wield a Saxon battle-axe— Harold V i 414
I have an inherited l of these black sheep of the Papacy. Becket, Pro. 461 sane and natural l for a soul Purer, „ II i 171

Loathsome call they not The one true faith, a l idol-worship? Queen Mary III iv 219 make Thy body l even to thy child; Becket IV ii 172

Lobster-basket The simple l-b, and the mesh— Becket II ii 297

Locusting Come l upon us, eat us up, Queen Mary II i 101

Locust-like their horse Swallow the hill l-l, Harold V i 560

Lodge To l a fear in Thomas Becket's heart Becket I iii 176 take this holy cup To l it in the shrine of Artemis. The Cup I ii 435
To l this cup Within the holy shrine of Artemis, „ I ii 52 in some of these may l That baseness Foresters II ii 705

Lodged if you be fairly served, And l, and treated. Queen Mary V iii 22
There l a gleaming grimness in his eyes, Harold II ii 224
I have l my pretty Katekin in her bower. Foresters II i 417

Lodging (See also A-lodgin') You see the l, sir, Queen Mary V iii 23 track her, if thou canst, even into the King's l, Becket, Pro. 508
Thou wilt find her Back in her l. „ I i 400
With a wanton in thy l—Hell requite 'em! „ I ii 9
My lord, Fitzurse, beheld her in your l. „ I ii 34

Lodging-house went into service—the drudge of a l-h— Prom. of May III 392

Loftiest The lordliest, l minster ever built To Holy Peter Harold III i 206

Logic Some of my former friends Would find my l faulty; Prom. of May II 665

Loiter Come, come, why do ye l here? Foresters I i 80

Loitering Half an hour late! why are you l here? Prom. of May II 324

Lollardism That those old statutes touching L Queen Mary III iv 7

Lolluping See A-lolluping

Lombardy the Netherlands, Sicily, Naples, L. „ II i 213

London (adj.) (See also Lunnon) For thro' thine help we are come to L Bridge; „ II iii 9
On over L Bridge We cannot: stay we cannot; „ II iii 41
In every L street a gibbet stood. „ III i 7
To this son of a L merchant—how your Grace must hate him. Becket, Pro. 433
Knights, bishops, earls, this L spawn—by Mahound, „ II ii 143
Thomas, son Of Gilbert Becket, L merchant. „ II ii 231
The L folkmote Has made him all but king, Foresters I iii 80

London (bishop) Who made thee L? Who, but Canterbury? Becket I iii 66 Bishops—York, L, Chichester, Westminster— „ I iii 385 hath in this crowning of young Henry by York and L „ III iii 71 crowning thy young son by York, L and Salisbury—not Canterbury. „ III iii 196

London (bishoprick) Found two archbishopricks, L and York? „ I iii 50
Foliot may claim the pall For L too. „ I iii 57

London (city) Forward to L with me! forward to L! Queen Mary II i 214 forward to L! Crowd. Forward to L! „ II i 217 in full force Roll upon L. „ II i 236 these our companies And guilds of L, gathered here, „ II ii 129
I, Lord Mayor Of L, and our guilds and companies. „ II ii 141
You droop in your dim L. „ V ii 609
Draw thou to L, there make strength to breast Harold V i 126
For L had a temple and a priest Becket I iii 59
Do I wish it? Edgar. In L. Prom. of May I 698
He has gone to L. „ I 780

Lone seek In that l house, to practise on my life, Queen Mary I iv 284
she so praised The convent and l life—within the pale— Harold I ii 47 Thine ear, Becket. That's l enough. Becket, Pro. 158
Keep him away from the l little isle. „ II i 15
I am as l and loveless as thyself. The Falcon 20

Loneliness Springs from the l of my poor bower, Becket III i 40

Lonely And if I walk within the l wood, Harold II ii 246
And it is so l here—no confessor. Becket II i 290 that dreadful night! that l walk to Littlechester, Prom. of May III 366
My l hour! The king of day hath stept from off his throne, Foresters II i 25
Why break you thus upon my l hour? „ II i 93 and scare l maidens at the farmstead. „ III 200
You caught a l woodman of our band, „ III 359

Long (adj. and adv.) Nay; not so l I trust. Queen Mary I iii 141
I am somewhat faint With our l talk. „ I v 521
L live Queen Mary! „ III i 294 you forget That l low minster where you gave your hand To this great Catholic King. „ III ii 90
And do declare our penitence and grief For our l schism and disobedience, „ III iii 129 thou That layest so l in heretic bonds with me; „ III iv 280

Long (adj. and adv.) (continued) How many names in the l sweep of time That so foreshortens greatness, Queen Mary III v 40
A l petition from the foreign exiles To spare the life of Cranmer. „ IV i 3
After the l brain-dazing colloquies, „ IV ii 92
Friend for so l time of a mighty King: „ IV iii 73
L have I lain in prison, yet have heard Of all their wretchedness. „ IV iii 210
His l white beard, which he had never shaven Since Henry's death, „ IV iii 592
Look! I have play'd with this poor rose so l I have broken off the head. „ V ii 2
That all day l hath wrought his father's work, „ V ii 118 listening In some dark closet, some l gallery, drawn, „ V ii 217
The rosy face, and l down-silvering beard, Harold III i 46
The rosy face and l down-silvering beard— „ IV i 261
O rare, a whole l day of open field. Becket I i 296 and the moon Divides the whole l street with light and shade. „ I i 365
Their l bird-echoing minster-aisles,— „ III i 44
We have watch'd So l in vain, he hath pass'd out again, „ III ii 12
And sway the l grape-bunches of our vines, The Cup II 270
'Tis l since we have met! The Falcon 274
Be thou a-gawin' to the l barn? Prom. of May I 2 and 'e telled all on us to be i' the l barn by one o'clock, „ I 8
Why coom awaäy, then, to the l barn. „ I 36
Miss, the farming men 'ull hev their dinner i' the l barn, „ I 166
And l life to boath on' em. „ I 345
the smell o' the mou'd 'ud ha' maäde ma live as l as Jerusalem. „ I 378
They ha' broached a barrel of aäle i' the l barn, „ I 426 and I've hed the l barn cleared out of all the machines, „ I 451
Oh, Dora, Dora, how l you have been away from home! „ I 767
Come, then, and make them happy in the l barn, „ I 791
And plaäy the pianner, if ye liked, all daäy l, like a laädy, „ II 101
Whoy, O lor, Miss! that wur so l back, and the walls sa thin, „ III 71 the state we all Must come to in our spring-and-winter world If we live l enough! „ III 512 and how often in the l sweep of years to come Foresters I i 244
L live Richard, Robin and Richard! L live Richard! „ I ii 1
L live Robin, Robin and Richard! L live Robin, „ I ii 13
'L live King Richard!' „ I ii 25
To sleep! to sleep! The l bright day is done, „ I iii 41
Why did ye keep us at the door so l? „ II i 224
She lay so l at the bottom of her well In the cold water „ IV 242

Long (verb) And how I l for rest.' Prom. of May III 206

Longed he l much to see your Grace and the Chancellor ere he past, Becket, Pro. 398
Less lovely than her own, and l for it. The Falcon 56

Longer should be No l a dead letter, but requicken'd. Queen Mary III iv 10 Stays l here in our poor north than you:— „ V i 24 these customs are no l As Canterbury calls them, Becket I iii 69
That if they keep him l as their guest, II i 91
And were it l—well—I should not do it. „ V ii 159 and then we were no l outlaws. Foresters IV 147
The land! the land! I am crazed no l, so I have the land. „ IV 855 if you hold us here L from our own venison. „ IV 942

Long-face Who's the l-f there, Queen Mary III i 191

Longing have strange fancies, Strange l's; The Falcon 819

Long-silvering Up thro' the light of the seas by the moon's l-s ray! Foresters II ii 179

Long-tugged-at l-t-a, threadbare-worn Quarrel of Crown and Church— Becket II ii 54

Long-winded Why, you l-w—Sir, you go beyond me. Queen Mary V iv 58

Long-withholden to enforce The l-w tribute: The Cup I i 77

Long-worshipt my most honour'd and l-w lady, The Falcon 714

Look (s) tho' by your age, And by your l's Queen Mary I iv 13
She calls you beauty, but I don't like her l's. Becket IV ii 62
Beänt Miss Eva gone off a bit of 'er good l's o' laäte? Prom. of May I 33

Look (verb) She l's comelier than ordinary to-day; Queen Mary I i 70

Look (verb) (continued) Well, sir, I l for happy times. Queen Mary I i 98 l you there—The Prince of Spain coming to wed „ I iii 81 l's it not right royal? „ I iv 74
L to you as the one to crown their ends. „ I iv 171
L to it, niece, He hath no fence when Gardiner „ I iv 201
L you, Master Wyatt, Tear up that woman's work „ II i 74
L; can you make it English? „ II i 127
L at the New World—a paradise made hell; „ II i 207 chance That I shall never l upon you more. „ II i 246
the half sight which makes her l so stern, „ II ii 322
That makes or man or woman l their goodliest. „ II ii 329
Should l more goodly than the rest of us. „ II ii 349
Be merry! yet, Sir Ralph, you l but sad. „ II ii 358
L's very Spain of very Spain? „ III i 192
But then he l's so merry. „ III i 203
L to your Bible, Paget! we are fallen. „ III iv 80
L to the Netherlands, wherein have been „ III iv 106
And make it l more seemly. „ III iv 152 let 'em l to it, Cranmer and Hooper, „ III iv 423
O God, sir, do you l upon your boots, „ III v 191
what, you l somewhat worn; „ IV ii 116
He l's to and he leans on as his God, „ IV iii 306
And you must l to Calais when I go. „ V i 17
L! I have play'd with this poor rose so long „ V ii 1
L you here—the Pope Pointing at me with ' Pole, „ V ii 173 how grim and ghastly l's her Grace, „ V ii 390
she l's a corpse. „ V ii 397
Doth he not l noble? „ V v 32
L you, there's a star That dances in it Harold I i 7 and l upon my face, Not on the comet. „ I i 25
L to the skies, then to the river, „ I i 34
L! am I not Work-wan, flesh-fallen? „ I i 97 but l, where Edward draws A faint foot „ I i 142
She is my mistress, let me l to her! „ I i 287
L thee, Rolf, when I was down in the fever, „ II i 46
L, he's here! He'll speak for himself! „ II i 78
L thou, here is Wulfnoth! „ II ii 322
L not amazed, fair earl! „ II ii 494
L at him—The rosy face, „ III i 44
L up! l up! Edith! „ III i 320
He l's for land among us, he and his. „ IV ii 53
I am Edith! L not thus wan! Edith. What matters how I l? „ V i 393
L, I will bear thy blessing into the battle „ V i 434
L out upon the battle—is he safe? (repeat) Harold V i 484, 654
L, daughter, l. Edith. Nay, father, l for me! Harold V i 535
L out upon the battle! „ V i 623
L out upon the hill—is Harold there? „ V i 669
L you, we never meant to part again. „ V ii 80
For l, our marriage ring! „ V ii 108
L to your king. Becket, Pro. 33
L, this line—The rest you see is colour'd green— „ Pro. 169
L! I would move this wanton from his sight „ I ii 70
L on me as I were thy bodily son, „ I iii 263
L to it, your own selves! „ I iii 397
It is not safe for me to l upon him. „ I iii 486
l how the table steams, like a heathen altar; „ I iv 68
L rather thou all-royal as when first I met thee. „ II i 46
L, l! if little Geoffrey have not tost His ball „ II i 319 will but l into The wrongs you did him, „ II ii 115
The King l's troubled. „ II ii 425
I am the King, his father, And I will l to it. „ III i 27 for there were great ones who would l after me, „ III i 135 or I couldn't l your ladyship i' the face, „ III i 195
L! He bows, he bares his head, „ III iii 33 were all, my lord, as noble as yourself, who would l up to you? „ III iii 306
Fitzurse and his following—who would l down upon them? „ III iii 309
But you don't l like a good fairy. Mother does. „ IV i 35
L at the hilt. What excellent workmanship. „ IV ii 313
L! how this love, this mother, runs thro' all „ V ii 241
Why do you l at her so lingeringly? The Cup I i 123
To-day they are fixt and bright—they l straight out. „ II 21
L for me! „ II 167

Look (verb) (continued) I wonder if I l as pale as she? The Cup II 322
Deigns to l in upon our barbarisms. „ II 337 you l as beautiful this morning as the very Madonna The Falcon 198 your ladyship were not Too proud to l upon the garland, „ 663
'Coomly to l at,' says she—but she said it spiteful-like. To l at—yeas, Prom. of May I 179 tha l's haäle anew to last to a hoonderd. „ I 354 and you l thin and pale. Is it for his absence? „ I 781 sweet upo' Dora Steer, and she weänt sa much as l at 'im? „ II 162
How worn he l's, poor man! who is it, I wonder. „ II 390
l to thysen, for, by the Lord, I'd think „ II 695
L there—under the deaths. „ II 710
I had to l over his letters. „ II 720 could it l But half as lovely. „ III 490 but, my flower, You l so weary and so worn! „ III 499
L up! One word, or do but smile! „ III 675
Yes, deathlike! Dead? I dare not l: if dead, „ III 717
How she l's up at him, how she holds her face! Foresters I ii 144
He often l's in here by the moonshine. „ II i 336
L, my lord, there goes one in the moonlight. „ II i 394
O l! before the shadow of these dark oaks „ II i 604
L! l! he kneels! he has anger'd the foul witch, „ II i 669
L, there comes a deputation „ II ii 144 warm thy heart to Little John. L where he comes! „ III 46 and l's at once Maid Marian, „ III 117
I l on the King's venison as my own. „ IV 197
If a cat may l at a king, may not a friar speak to one? „ IV 921
Look'd-looked-lookt You look'd a king. Queen Mary I iii 103
So that your sister were but look'd to closer. „ I v 460
How look'd the city When you past it? Quiet? „ II ii 57 and look'd As grim and grave as from a funeral. „ II ii 64
And look'd as bloodless. „ II ii 84 eyes So bashful that you look'd no higher? „ III i 65
How look'd the Queen? „ III i 91 then King Harry look'd from out a cloud, „ IV ii 6
His eighty years Look'd somewhat crooked on him „ IV iii 332
I do assure you, that it must be look'd too: „ V i 2
It must be look'd to, If war should fall „ V i 8
It shall be look'd to; „ V i 12
he look'd the Great Harry, You but his cockboat; „ V ii 145
In Hampton Court My window look'd upon the corridor; „ V ii 459
I never look'd upon so fair a likeness „ V v 28
L hard and sweet at me, and gave it me. „ V v 95 but he that lookt a fangless one, Issues Becket I iii 451 as to the young crownling himself, he looked so malapert in the eyes, „ III iii 109 yellow silk here and there, and it looked pretty like a glowworm, „ IV i 22 wine Ran down the marble and lookt like blood, The Cup II 204
Glows thro' my veins since first I look'd on thee. „ II 429
You never had look'd in on me before, The Falcon 865 for the past Look'd thro' the present, Prom. of May II 641
She hath looked well at one of 'em, Little John. Foresters I i 38
Lookest Why l thou so amazed? „ I i 130
Looketh 'Whosoever L after a woman,' Queen Mary I v 453
Lookin' (See also A-lookin') I coom'd upon 'im t'other daäy l at the coontry, Prom. of May I 201
Looking (part) (See also Lookin', Nobler-looking, Goodlier-looking, Simple-looking) But Janus-faces l diverse ways. Queen Mary III ii 75 ever l to the happy haven Where he shall rest at night, „ IV iii 579 Have you been l at the 'Dance of Death'? „ V ii 169 l thro' my reign, I found a hundred ghastly murders Becket I iii 406 you should be in the hayfield l after your men; Prom. of May II 47 Looking (s) With l on the dead. Am I so white? Harold II ii 815
In l on a chill and changeless Past? Prom. of May II 504
Lookt See Look'd
Loom (s) heaven and earth are threads of the same l, Harold I i 210 Loom (verb) out of which L's the least chance of peril Queen Mary II ii 238 blackness of my dungeon l Across their lamps Harold II ii 406
Loon the brainless l's That cannot spell Queen Mary III i 280
Loop Philip! quick! l up my hair! „ V ii 534
Loose (adj.) a score of wolf-dogs are let l that will tear thee piecemeal. Becket III ii 39

Loose (verb) going now to the Tower to l the prisoners Queen Mary I i 109 lead on; ye l me from my bonds. „ IV ii 240 Loosed you late were l from out the Tower, „ I iv 50
Loosely-scatter'd left about Like l-s jewels, „ II i 28
Loove (love) And I would l tha moor nor ony gentleman 'ud l tha. Prom. of May II 104
Lor (inter.) (See also Law) Whoy, O l, Miss! that wur sa long back, „ III 71
O l, Miss! noä, noä, noä! „ III 91
Lord (See also Liege-lord, My-lord) Gardiner for one, who is to be made L Chancellor, Queen Mary I i 87
Her freaks and frolics with the late L Admiral? „ I iv 20
She fears the L's may side with you „ I iv 158
The L Chancellor (I count it as a kind of virtue in him, „ I iv 191
Why, my l Bishop? (repeat) Queen Mary I iv 223, 227
Who waits, sir? Usher. Madam, the L Chancellor. Queen Mary I v 96 that were hard upon you, my L Chancellor. „ I v 159
The L Chancellor himself is on our side. „ II i 193
Or—if the L God will it—on the stake. „ II i 251
All hangs on her address, And upon you, L Mayor. „ II ii 56
I, the L Mayor, and these our companies And guilds „ II ii 127
I, L Mayor Of London, and our guilds and companies. „ II ii 139 tho' my L Mayor here, By his own rule, „ II ii 345 new L's Are quieted with their sop of Abbeylands, „ III i 141
No, my L Legate, the L Chancellor goes. „ III ii 151
We, the L's Spiritual and Temporal, „ III iii 113
The L who hath redeem'd us With His own blood, „ III iii 202
I am but of the laity, my L Bishop, „ III iv 81
Yet my L Cardinal— Pole. I am your Legate; „ III iv 178
Till when, my L's, I counsel tolerance. „ III iv 203
Thou Christian Bishop, thou L Chancellor Of England! „ III iv 300
My L Chancellor, You have an old trick of offending us; „ III iv 313
O L! your Grace, your Grace, „ III v 248
I told my L He should not vex her Highness; „ III vi 65
And my L Paget and L William Howard, „ IV i 6
Good morrow, my L Cardinal; „ IV i 42
My L of Ely, this. After a riot We hang the leaders, „ IV i 72
And if he did I care not, my L Howard. „ IV i 129
You are too politic for me, my L Paget. „ IV i 150
May learn there is no power against the L. „ IV iii 67
And be with Christ the L in Paradise. „ IV iii 88
O L God, although my sins be great, „ IV iii 135
And every syllable taught us by our L, „ IV iii 231
No, here's L William Howard. What, my L, „ IV iii 288
Thank the L therevore. (repeat) Queen Mary IV iii 496, 520, 529 there wur an owld l a-cum to dine wi' un, Queen Mary IV iii 504
'I wunt dine,' says my L Bishop, „ IV iii 507 the owld l fell to 's meat wi' a will, God bless un! „ IV iii 514 but when I came to wed your majesty, L Howard, „ V i 56
I have gone beyond your late L Chancellor,— „ V ii 98 cries continually with sweat and tears to the L God „ V iv 46
Charles, the l of this low world, is gone; „ V v 54
Ask thou L Leofwin what he thinks of this! Harold I i 40
L Leofwin, dost thou believe, „ I i 42
Yea, l Harold. „ II ii 243
The king, the l's, the people clear'd him of it, „ II ii 522 many among our Norman l's Hate thee for this, „ II ii 545
I have built the L a house— (repeat) Harold III i 178, 180, 186
the L hath dwelt In darkness. Harold III i 178
The L was God and came as man— „ III ii 172
Thou art one of those Who brake into L Tostig's treasure-house „ IV i 114
Lay hands of full allegiance in thy L's „ V i 11
Like other l's amenable to law. Becket, Pro. 25
Church should pay her scutage like the l's. „ I i 35
And spake to the L God, and said 'O L, I have been a lover of wines, „ I i 74
And the L answer'd me, 'Thou art the man, (repeat) „ I i 82, 98
'O L my God, Henry the King hath been my friend, „ I i 86
Stir up the King, the L's! „ I ii 88
Is not the Church the visible L on earth? Shall hands that do create the L be bound „ I iii 92
The L be judged again by Pilate? No! „ I iii 97
My l Archbishop, that we too should sign? „ I iii 272
Loyally and with good faith, my l Archbishop? „ I iii 279

Lord (continued) dwelt alone, like a soft l of the East, Becket I iii 358
And our great l's will sit in judgment on him. „ I iii 549
I would, my l Thomas of Canterbury, „ I iii 577
How much might that amount to, my l Leicester? „ I iii 656
O my good l Leicester, The King and I were brothers. „ I iii 660
The King and all his l's—— Becket. Son, first hear me! „ I iii 671
Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the L! „ I iii 759
My l Archbishop, wilt thou permit us— „ I iv 5
That is the parable of our blessed L. Becket. And why should not the parable of our blessed L be acted again? „ I iv 75 our l's and masters in Christ Jesus. „ I iv 87
My l Archbishop, may I come in with my poor friend, my dog? „ I iv 93 and the L hath prepared your table— „ I iv 130
Where is my l Archbishop? „ I iv 184 because the L hath set his mark upon him „ I iv 191 for I be his l and master i' Christ, „ I iv 241 gangrenes, and running sores, praise ye the L, „ I iv 256 world shall live by the King's venison and the bread o' the L, „ I iv 272 since we would be l of our own manor, „ II ii 19
My lieges and my l's, The thanks of Holy Church „ II ii 189
That sow this hate between my l and me! „ II ii 272 by-things of the L Are the wrong'd innocences „ III iii 13
If . . . but I say no more . . . farewell, my l. „ III iii 272
It must be so—my visions in the L: „ III iii 341
l of more land Than any crown in Europe, „ V i 28
Thomas, l Not only of your vassals but amours, „ V i 204 for thy Church, O L—Into thy hands, O L— „ V iii 195
The L bless boäth on 'em! Prom. of May I 341
—the L bless 'er—'er oän sen; „ II 39
it be the L's doin', noän o' mine; „ III 48
I would set my men-at-arms to oppose thee, like the L of the Castle. Foresters I i 324
O L, I will live and die for King Richard— „ I ii 37
O L, I am easily led by words, „ I ii 39
L's and Commons will bow down before him— Queen Mary III i 433

Lordliest The l, loftiest minster ever built To Holy Peter in our English isle! Harold III i 206

Lordship Large l there of lands and territory. Harold II ii 83

Lose be no peace for Mary till Elizabeth l her head.' Queen Mary I iii 5
If Elizabeth l her head— „ I iii 88
Stand further off, or you may l your head. Courtenay.
I have a head to l for your sweet sake. „ I iv 128
what have you done to l her? „ I iv 296
But do not l me Calais. „ I v 129
To go back Were to l all. „ II iii 40
I pass to Windsor and I l my crown. „ II iv 29 thou shalt l thine ears and find thy tongue, „ III i 255
L the sweet hope that I may bear a prince. „ III vi 201
Or you will l your Calais. „ V i 11 to the intent That you may l your English heritage. „ V i 133
God guide me lest I l the way. „ V v 209
Yet thee I would not l, and sell not thou Harold III ii 58
To take my life might l him Aquitaine. Becket IV ii 396
He l's half the meed of martyrdom „ V ii 278
And l his head as old St. Denis did. „ V ii 480 which well May make you l yourself, The Cup I i 149
I might plunge And l myself for ever. Prom. of May II 306 and I shall l my land also. Foresters I i 339 Beware, man, lest thou l thy faith in me. „ I ii 179 but my father will not l his land, „ II i 523
Or l all hope of pardon from us— „ IV 935

Losing would dare the chance Of double, or l all. The Cup I iii 148
For fear of l more than friend, a son; The Falcon 332 poor father, utterly broken down By l her— Prom. of May II 418 betray'd Thy father to the l of his land. Foresters II i 570

Loss This marriage should bring l or danger to you, Queen Mary II ii 227 angry chronicles hereafter By l of Calais. „ V ii 305
More gain than l; for of your wives Becket V ii 201

Lost To the Pleiads, uncle; they have l a sister. Queen Mary I iv 294
I have l mine office, „ I v 235
He has gambled for his life, and l, he hangs. „ II iii 92
Madam, I much fear That all is l; „ II iv 23

Lost (continued) All l, all l, all yielded! A barge, a barge! Queen Mary II iv 71 traitors Against our royal state have l the heads „ III iv 3
We reck not tho' we l this crown of England— „ III iv 55
I had like to have l my life: „ III v 189
l Her fierce desire of bearing him a child, „ IV iii 428 a star beside the moon Is all but l; „ V i 81
So; but it is not l—Not yet. „ V ii 264
Beauty passes like a breath and love is l in loathing: „ V ii 365
L in a wilderness where none can hear! „ V ii 382 sent on foreign travel, Not l his head. „ V ii 491 was l When Wyatt sack'd the Chancellor's house „ V ii 503
For having l myself to save myself, Harold II ii 654 thro' his dying sense Shrills 'l thro' thee.' „ III i 35
Crown'd, crown'd and l, crown'd King—and l to me! „ III ii 1
Both were l and found together, „ III ii 7
l and found Together in the cruel river Swale „ III ii 9
L, l, the light of day, „ III ii 12
L, l, we have l the way. „ III ii 15 into the river, Where we two may be l together, And l for ever? 'Oh! never, oh! never, Tho' we be l and be found together.' „ III ii 18
the truth Was l in that fierce North, where they were l, Where all good things are l, where Tostig l „ III ii 26
I have l Somewhat of upright stature „ III ii 55
I have l the boy who play'd at ball with me, „ IV iii 21
Thou hast l thine even temper, brother Harold! „ V i 94 when all was l, he yell'd, And bit his shield, „ V i 403
I have l both crown And husband. „ V ii 38
I l it somehow—I l it, playing with it „ V ii 109 twice I thought that all was l. „ V ii 173
That the heart were l in the rhyme Becket, Pro. 383 certain wholesome usages, L in desuetude, „ I iii 413
I think so. So I l mine. „ II i 64
I have l all trust in him. „ II ii 434
The boy so late; pray God, he be not l. „ IV ii 2 nay, if I l him, now The folds have fallen from the mystery, And left all naked, I were l indeed. „ IV ii 7
l her and went on and on till I found the light and the lady, „ IV ii 17
I saw the ball you l in the fork of the great willow over the brook. „ IV ii 57
Well—well—too costly to the left or l „ IV ii 299
You have l The ear of the King. „ IV ii 354
L in the common good, the common wrong, „ V ii 40 have I l authority among you? „ V iii 66
The glory and grief of battle won or l. The Cup I ii 161
I have l a friend of late. The Falcon 329
there wudn't be a dinner for nawbody, and I should ha' l the pig. Prom. of May I 149 and man perceives that The l gleam of an after-life but leaves him „ I 503
I were insured, Miss, an' I l nowt by it. „ II 58
I have l myself, and am l for ever to you and my poor father. „ II 83
I do believe I l my heart to him the very first time we met, „ III 283 but I couldn't buy my darter back ageän when she l hersen, „ III 454 an' one on 'em went an' l hersen i' the river. „ III 456
Has l his health, his eyesight, even his mind. „ III 767
'Twere best to make an end of my l life. „ III 786
I have l my gold, I have l my son, Foresters I i 338 art attainted, and hast l thine earldom of Huntingdon. „ I iii 58
I fear me we have l our labour, then. „ II i 232
I have l a cow from my meadow. „ II i 326
I have been a fool and I have l my Kate. „ II ii 79
In the cold water that she l her voice, „ IV 243
Have I l her then? „ IV 618
L her? O no, we took Advantage of the letter— „ IV 619

Lot The l of Princes. To sit high Is to be lied about. Queen Mary I v 428
I say no more—only this, their l is yours. „ II i 214
Is that it? That's a big l of money. „ II iii 62
Drew here the richest l from Fate, The Cup II 442
That never be thy l or mine!— Foresters III 98

Loud And dazzled men and deafen'd by some bright L venture, Queen Mary III i 453
Not so l! Our Clarence there Sees ever an aureole „ V ii 411
Not so l. Lord Devon, girls! „ V ii 484
Go home. Besides, you curse so l. „ V iv 62
So l, that, by St. Dunstan, old St. Thor— Harold IV iii 146
Why there—like some l beggar at thy gate— Becket II i 180
Wakening such brawls and l disturbances In England, „ V ii 352
L disturbances! Oh, ay—the bells rang out even to deafening, „ V ii 362
Have our l pastimes driven them all away? Foresters II ii 105 Louder L! l! Maid Marian, Queen o' the woods! „ III 374
L, l, ye knaves. „ III 396
Loud-lung'd Tho' all the l-l trumpets upon earth Becket V II 487
Louis (King of France) L of France loved me, and I dreamed that I loved L of France: „ Pro. 355
King L had no paramours, and I loved him „ Pro. 474
'Fly at once to France, to King L of France: „ I iv 53
So that the fool King L feed them not. „ II i 76 brave The Pope, King L, and this turbulent priest. „ II i 312
O good son L, do not counsel me, „ II ii 219
My lord, I see this L Returning, ah! „ II ii 417 Long live the good King L! „ II ii 451 know the King's married for King L—— Rosamund. Married! Margery. Years and years, my lady, for her husband, King L—— Rosamund. Hush! „ III i 167 bound For that one hour to stay with good King L, „ III iii 248
He said so? L, did he? „ III iii 255
When I was in mine anger with King L, „ III iii 258 my much constancy To the monk-king, L, „ IV ii 305
I, that thro' the Pope divorced King L, „ IV ii 418
You were but Aquitaine to L—no wife; „ V i 116
Lours thunder-cloud That l's on England—laughter! Harold III ii 161
Lousiest Thou the lustiest and l of this Cain's brotherhood, answer. Becket I iv 185
Lout that all the l's to whom Their A B C is darkness, Queen Mary III iv 34
L, churl, clown! Prom. of May III 739
Love (adj.) What matters? State matters? l matters? Becket, Pro. 320 Love (s) O, my lord to be, My l, for thy sake only. Queen Mary I v 67 not with gold, But dearest links of l. „ I v 539 deem This l by you return'd as heartily; And thro' this common knot and bond of l, „ II ii 197
A diamond, And Philip's gift, as proof of Philip's l, „ III i 67
She cast on him a vassal smile of l, „ III i 98 thy l to mine Will cling more close, „ III ii 159 make me shamed and tongue-tied in my l. „ III ii 163 Cranmer, Your more especial l, „ III iv 418 should her l when you are gone, my liege, „ III vi 172 should her l—And I have known such women „ III vi 177 to fuse Almost into one metal l and hate,— „ III vi 182
'L of this world is hatred against God.' „ IV iii 173
They hate me also for my l to you, My Philip; „ V i 95
Beauty passes like a breath and l is lost in loathing: „ V ii 365
L will hover round the flowers when they first awaken; „ V ii 370
L will fly the fallen leaf, and not be overtaken; „ V ii 372
Some say that Gardiner, out of l for him, „ V ii 502
he sends his veriest l, And says, he will come quickly. „ V ii 564 Tell him at last I know his l is dead, „ V ii 590 that it would please Him out of His infinite l „ V iv 47
And l should know; and—be the king so wise,— Harold I i 276
Cling to their l; for, now the sons of Godwin „ I i 324
Thy l? Aldwyth. As much as I can give thee, „ I i 478
And thy l? Aldwyth. As much as thou canst bear. „ I i 483
L is come with a song and a smile, Welcome L with a smile and a song: L can stay but a little while. „ I ii 10
L will stay for a whole life long. „ I ii 17
Sang out their l's so loud, „ I ii 20
And woo their l's and have forgotten thee; „ II ii 438
Normans left among us, Who follow'd me for l! „ III i 304
The more the l, the mightier is the prayer; The more the l, the more acceptable The sacrifice of both your l's to heaven. „ III i 346
'L, I will guide thee.' „ III ii 16
'L for a whole life long' When was that sung? „ III ii 88
Since Tostig came with Norway—fright not l. „ IV i 174

Love (s) (continued) Full hope have I that l will answer l. Harold IV i 273
—a sin against The truth of l. „ V i 171
With a l Passing thy l for Griffyth! „ V i 356
What matters? State matters? love matters? Henry. My l for thee, and thine for me. Becket, Pro. 321 Madam, you do ill to scorn wedded l. „ Pro. 354 honeymoon is the gall of l; he dies of his honeymoon. „ Pro. 364
Not for my l toward him, but because he had the l of the King. „ Pro. 441 thou shalt have our l, our silence, and our gold— „ Pro. 492
My Courts of L would have held thee guiltless of l— „ Pro. 498 worldly bond between us is dissolved, Not yet the l: „ I i 348
Ye make this clashing for no l o' the customs „ I iii 136
Thought that I knew him, err'd thro' l of him, „ I iii 441
Took it upon me—err'd thro' l of him. „ I iii 699
L that is born of the deep coming up with the sun from the sea. (repeat) „ II i 9, 19
L that can shape or can shatter a life „ II i 11
L that can lift up a life from the dead. „ II i 13 thou my golden dream of L's own bower, „ II i 34
A greater King Than thou art, L, „ II i 116
A bastard hate born of a former l. „ II i 174 Speak only of thy l. „ II i 179 boldness of this hand hath won it L's alms, „ II i 184
O by thy l for me, all mine for thee, „ II i 314 the gap Left by the lack of l. Henry. The lack of l! „ III i 61 bound me by his l to secrecy Till his own time. „ III i 228 stray'd From l's clear path into the common bush, „ III i 247
L is the only gold. „ IV i 43
I have heard of such that range from l to l, Like the wild beast—if you can call it l. „ IV ii 120
Come with me, l, And I will love thee . . . „ IV ii 155
King himself, for l of his own sons, „ IV ii 344 in aiming at your l, It may be sometimes „ V i 36
Would he were dead! I have lost all l for him. „ V i 92 Lacking the l of woman and of child. „ V ii 199 how this l, this mother, runs thro' all „ V ii 241
But the fool-fire of l or lust, The Cup I i 147 woman's fealty when Assailed by Craft and L. „ I i 177
I love you—for your l to the great Goddess. „ I ii 218 there You told your l; and like the swaying vines— „ I ii 410
—if I win her l, They too will cleave to me, „ I iii 153 all else Was l for you: he prays you to believe him. „ II 55 from maiden fears Or reverential l for him I loved, „ II 197 all drown'd in l And glittering at full tide— „ II 233
l I bear to thee Glow thro' thy veins? „ II 426
The l I bear to thee Glows thro' my veins „ II 428
But hath she yet return'd thy l? The Falcon 67
I'll be bound to confess her l to him at last. „ 172
Will he not pray me to return his l— „ 247
Hath she return'd thy l? Count. Not yet! „ 513
For that would seem accepting of your l. „ 740
It should be l that thus outvalues all. You speak like l, and yet you love me not. I have nothing in this world but l for you. Lady Giovanna. L? it is l, l for my dying boy, „ 780
—the l you said you bore me— „ 857
But he will keep his l to you for ever! „ 892 for the senses, l, are for the world; Prom. of May I 580
if you will bind l to one for ever, „ I 644
That was only true l; and I trusted— „ I 712
Have you fancied yourself in l with him? „ I 783 all of them Loved her, and she was worthy of all l. „ II 430
the man has doubtless a good heart, and a true and lasting l for me: „ III 172
O L and Life, how weary am I, „ III 205
But the l of sister for sister can never be old-fashioned. „ III 319
A hundred times more worth a woman's l, „ III 744 for the l of his own little mother on earth, Foresters I i 97 come at their l with all manner of homages, „ I i 102
L flew in at the window As Wealth walk'd „ I i 150 as I am a true believer in true l myself, „ I i 162 and all her l's and hates Sink again into chaos. „ I ii 328
'Tis for no lack of l to you, my lord, „ I iii 130

Love (s) (continued) The l of freedom, the desire of God, Foresters II i 68
Thou hast crost him in l, „ II i 343 what sort of man art thou For land, not l? „ II i 534 Mortal enough, If l for thee be mortal. Lovers hold True l immortal. „ II i 614 ever held that saying false That L is blind, „ II i 644 Stay with us here, sweet L, Maid Marian, „ II ii 14
How should you love if you mistrust your l? Little John. O Kate, true l and jealousy are twins, And l is joyful, innocent, beautiful, „ II ii 61
Tit, for l and brevity, Not for l of levity. „ II ii 128
Fluting, and piping and luting 'L, l, l'— „ III 33 lilt among the leaves 'L, l, l, l'— „ III 42 take and wear this symbol of your l; „ III 80
L himself Seems but a ghost, „ III 111
Ha, brother. Toll, my dear? the toll of l. „ III 271
The l that children owe to both I give „ IV 7
No, sweetheart! out of tune with L and me. „ IV 31
No ribald John is L, no wanton Prince, „ IV 46 lips that never breathed L's falsehood to true maid will seal L's truth „ IV 73
He is all for l, he cares not for the land. „ IV 489 mate with one that holds no l is pure, „ IV 711 Risk not the l I bear thee for a girl. „ IV 742
I am but the echo of the lips of l. „ IV 892
In this full tide of l, Wave heralds wave: „ IV 1043
Love (verb) up, son, and save him! They l thee, Queen Mary I iii 67
I l not to be called a butterfly: „ I iv 68
I l you, Lay my life in your hands. „ I iv 104 as a mastiff dog May l a puppy cur „ I iv 195 you are one Who l that men should smile upon you, „ I iv 274 by the holy Virgin, being noble, But l me only: „ I v 71
I pray God No woman ever l you, „ I v 602
If ye l your liberties or your skins, „ II i 216 cannot tell How mothers l their children; yet, methinks, A prince as naturally may l his people As these their children; and be sure your Queen So l's you, „ II ii 190
Ha! ha! sir; but you jest; I l it: „ II ii 355 flying to our side Left his all bare, for which I l thee, Brett. „ II iii 5
I do not l your Grace should call me coward. „ II iv 88
It was a sin to l her married, dead I cannot choose but l her. „ III i 339
Perchance in England, l's her like a son. „ III iii 267 wholesome scripture, 'Little children, L one another.' „ III iv 86
To sing, l, marry, churn, brew, bake, and die, „ III v 111
Here by the side of her who l's you most? „ V i 75
altho' you l her not, You must proclaim Elizabeth „ V i 189
I used to l the Queen with all my heart— „ V ii 418
I l her less For such a dotage upon such a man. „ V ii 420
And l to hear bad tales of Philip. „ V ii 429 and l me, as I l The people! whom God aid! „ V iii 34
He never loved me—nay, he could not l me. „ V v 44
He hath learnt to l our Tostig much of late. Harold I i 145
Our Tostig l's the hand and not the man. „ I i 156
Because I l the Norman better—no, „ I i 171 England l's thee for it. „ I i 221 thyself wast wont To l the chase: „ I i 228
And Tostig knows it; Tostig l's the king. „ I i 274
I l the man but not his phantasies. „ I i 279
Edward l's him, so Ye hate him. „ I i 427
I l thee for it—ay, but stay a moment; „ I ii 3
Hate him? I could l him More, „ I ii 142
I l him or think I l him. „ I ii 152
Nay, I do l him.— „ I ii 155
She hath but blood enough to live, not l.— „ I ii 162 not like Aldwyth . . . For which I strangely l him. Should not England L Aldwyth, „ I ii 176 Art thou assured By this, that Harold l's but Edith? „ I ii 210 that I—That Harold l's me—yea, „ I ii 222
I can but l this noble, honest Harold. William. L him! why not? thine is a loving office. „ II ii 94
The Normans l thee not, nor thou the Normans, „ II ii 253 for my mother's sake I l your England, But for my father I l Normandy. „ II ii 269

Love (verb) (continued) Harold, if thou l thine Edith, ay. Harold II ii 622
'We have learnt to l him, let him a little longer „ III i 88
No, no, but Harold. I l him: he hath served me: „ III i 242
They l the white rose of virginity, „ III i 273
Son, there is one who l's thee: „ III i 289
Bless thou too That brother whom I l beyond the rest, „ III i 295
And let him pass unscathed; he l's me, Harold! „ III i 301 Care not for me who l thee. „ III ii 113
—but I l thee and thou me— „ III ii 180 and I l him now, for mine own father Was great, „ IV i 89 Canst thou l one Who did discrown thine husband, unqueen thee? Didst thou not l thine husband? „ IV i 192 women Cling to the conquer'd, if they l, the more; „ IV i 213
Canst thou l me, thou knowing where I l? „ IV i 226
Canst thou l one, who cannot l again? „ IV i 235 save for Norway, Who l's not thee but war. „ IV ii 24 because I l The husband of another! „ V i 648
I cannot l them, For they are Norman saints— „ V ii 8
Take them away, I do not l to see them. „ V ii 142 to the statesman Who serves and l's his king, and whom the king L's not as statesman, Becket, Pro. 78
I l thee and I know thee, I know thee, „ Pro. 95
Well, who l's wine l's woman. „ Pro. 108 whom I l indeed As a woman should be loved— „ Pro. 132 how should he l A woman, as a woman should be loved? „ Pro. 138
She is ignorant of all but that I l her. „ Pro. 185 and tho' I l him heartily, I can spy already „ Pro. 233 but thou—dost thou l this Chancellor, „ Pro. 438
How should a baron l a beggar on horseback, „ Pro. 443 she, whom the King l's indeed, is a power in the State. „ Pro. 482 for the Archbishop l's humbleness, „ I iv 208
I l them More than the garden flowers, „ II i 132
I l them too, Yes. „ II i 137 something I had to say—I l thee none the less— „ II i 207
—the goodly way of women Who l, for which I l them. „ II i 258
Yet you both l God. „ II ii 376 and make Our waning Eleanor all but l me! „ II ii 458
There is no woman that I l so well. „ III i 9
Of one we l. Nay, I would not be bold, „ III i 63
I do not l her. Must you go, my liege, „ III i 83
So that he loved me—and he l's me— „ III i 226
Wilt thou l me? Geoffrey. No; I only l mother. „ IV i 8
I l thy mother, my pretty boy. „ IV i 44 so, if you l him—Nay, if you l him, „ IV ii 92
there are those Who say you do not l him— „ IV ii 97 Come with me, love, And I will l thee . . . „ IV ii 156
if he l thee, Thy life is worth the wrestle „ IV ii 193
'None of such?' I l her none the more. „ IV ii 413
I am not so sure But that I l him still. „ IV ii 451
I think ye four have cause to l this Becket. „ V i 224
I do not l him, for he did his best To break the barons, „ V i 233
No man to l me, honour me, obey me! „ V i 239
The people l thee, father. „ V ii 120
And l him next after my lord his father. „ V ii 342
L her, do you? The Cup I i 127
I l you—for your love to the great Goddess. „ I ii 218
Camma for my bride—The people l her— „ I iii 153
And l thee and thou me, yet if Giovanna The Falcon 26
He l's me, and he knows I know he l's me! „ 245
You speak like love, and yet you l me not. „ 782
O Federigo, Federigo, I l you! „ 897
I will make Your brother l me. „ 912
I don't know why I sing that song; I don't l it. Prom. of May I 62 hallus a-fobbing ma off, tho' ye knaws I l ye. „ I 108 that should make you happy, if you l her! „ I 548
Oh, I l her so, I was afraid of her, „ I 550
Child, do you l me now? „ I 640
Then you should wish us both to l for ever. „ I 643 they that l do not believe that death Will part them. „ I 662
I cannot l you; nay, I think I never can be brought to l any man. „ II 77 not only l the country, But its inhabitants too; „ II 544
Well then, I must make her L Harold first, „ II 677

Love (verb) (continued) and they both l me—I am all in all to both; and he l's me too, Prom. of May III 212 and I l him so much— Eva. Poor Dora! „ III 284 Could I l him else? „ III 291
Can't a girl when she l's her husband, and he her, „ III 304 for you have taught me To l you. „ III 558
I l you and you me. „ III 620
He is yours again—he will l you again; „ III 673
Could l me, could be brought to l me „ III 778 ask you all, did none of you l young Walter Lea? Foresters I i 55
if a man and a maid l one another, „ I i 172
A gallant Earl. I l him as I hate John. „ I i 190
Dost thou l him indeed, „ I i 220
Thou knowest that the Sheriff of Nottingham l's thee.
Marian. The Sheriff dare to l me? „ I i 223
I l him as a damsel of his day might have loved „ I i 226
I l my dinner—but I can fast, I can fast; „ I ii 63
I l thee much; and as I am thy friend, „ I ii 181
And learn from her if she do l this Earl. „ I ii 187
She took my ring. I trust she l's me—yet „ I iii 3 you l me, all of you, But I am outlaw'd, „ I iii 162
No man who truly l's and truly rules „ II i 76
Come be thou My brother too. She l's me. „ II i 518
Do you doubt me when I say she l's me, man? „ II i 521
but abide with me who l thee. „ II i 602 tho' I l thee, We cannot come together in this world. „ II i 616 thou canst not hide thyself From her who l's thee. „ II ii 25 to mistrust the girl you say you l Is to mistrust your own love for your girl! How should you l if you mistrust your love? „ II ii 58
'This boy will never wed the maid he l's, „ II ii 112
I could l you like a woman. „ II ii 191
And you l her and she l's you; „ II ii 195
I l you all the same. Proceed. „ III 438
Good, good, I l thee for that! „ IV 173 Give me thy hand, Much; I l thee. At him, Scarlet! „ IV 310 now I l thee mightily, thou tall fellow. „ IV 321
And l's and dotes on every dingle of it. „ IV 390
I cannot l the Sheriff. „ IV 662
And all I l, Robin, and all his men, „ IV 722
He l's the chivalry of his single arm. „ IV 786

Loveable Is she less l, Less lovely, being wholly mine? Prom. of May I 740

Loved Whisper'd me, if I l him, not to yield Queen Mary I ii 35
My brother rather hated me than l; „ I v 82
I'd have you yet more l: „ I v 119
I say your Grace is l. „ I v 132
Queen Anne l him. All the women l him. I l him, „ II i 34
he l the more His own gray towers, „ II i 48
She is l by all of us. „ II ii 112
We are not l here, and would be then „ III vi 186
I have been a man l plainness all my life; „ IV iii 270
I l the man, and needs must moan for him; „ IV iii 635
I never l you more. „ V i 219
Shut on him by the father whom he l, „ V ii 123
How he smiles As if he l me yet! „ V v 41
He never l me—nay, he could not love me. „ V v 43
I was walking with the man I l. I l him, but I thought I was not l. „ V v 88 she l much: pray God she be forgiven. „ V v 271
Yet she l one so much—I needs must say— „ V v 275
I conquer'd, and he l me none the less, Harold I i 446
When he was here in Normandy, He l us „ II ii 580
Father, we so l— Aldred. The more the love, „ III i 345 they l within the pale forbidden By Holy Church: „ III ii 22
Then I, who l my brother, bad the king „ IV i 101
I knew him brave: he l his land: „ IV i 201
I had rather She would have l her husband. „ IV i 224
Take and slay me, For Edward l me. „ IV ii 10
Because I l thee in my mortal day, „ V i 240
To part me from the woman that I l! „ V i 346
Alas, my lord, I l thee. „ V i 355
Alas, my lord, she l thee. „ V i 366
I l him as I hate This liar who made me liar. „ V i 411
That he forsware himself for all he l, „ V i 622

Loved (continued) They l him; and, pray God My Normans Harold V ii 182 whom I love indeed As a woman should be l— Becket, Pro. 133 how should he love A woman, as a woman should be l? Henry. How shouldst thou know that never hast l one? „ Pro. 139
Louis of France l me, and I dreamed that I l Louis of France: and I l Henry of England, and Henry of England dreamed that he l me; „ Pro. 356
King Louis had no paramours, and I l him none the more. Henry had many, and I l him none the less— „ Pro. 475
Madam, I have l her in my time. „ Pro. 495
I l according to the main purpose and intent of nature. „ Pro. 501
So that he l me—and he loves me— „ III i 226
I am none such. I never l but one. „ IV ii 118 with what a tenderness He l my son. „ V i 22 out with Henry in the days When Henry l me, „ V ii 232 Reginald, all men know I l the Prince. „ V ii 334
To help him from them, since indeed I l him, „ V ii 341
They knew he l me. „ V ii 453 worshipping in her Temple, and l you for it, The Cup I i 40 beheld you afar off—l you—sends you this cup— „ I ii 71 from maiden fears Or reverential love for him I l, „ II 197
I that l her. Camma. I l him. „ II 469
Her phantom call'd me by the name she l. Prom. of May II 243 all of them L her, and she was worthy of all love. „ II 429
Surely I l Eva More than I knew! „ II 643 you are the first I ever have l truly. „ III 649
So l by all the village people here, „ III 755 could be brought to love me As I l you— „ III 780
He l the Lady Anne; The lady l the master well, The maid she l the man. Foresters I i 7 have l Harold the Saxon, or Hereward the Wake. „ I i 227 when I l A maid with all my heart to pass it down „ I ii 296
Said I not, I l thee, man? „ IV 740

Love-dream may not a girl's l-d have too much romance in it Prom. of May III 185

Love-goddess Like the L-g, with no bridal veil, „ I 596

Loveless As at this l knife that stirs the riot, Becket IV ii 191
I am as lone and l as thyself. The Falcon 20

Lovelier the lady holds the cleric L than any soldier, Becket V i 194 white In the sweet moon as with a l snow! The Cup I ii 396

Loveliest This is the l day that ever smiled On England. Queen Mary III iii 161
The l life that ever drew the light From heaven The Cup I iii 56

Loveliness but naked Nature In all her l. Prom. of May I 600

Lovely Our bridemaids are not l—Disappointment, Queen Mary V ii 154
God's eyes! what a l cross! what jewels! Becket, Pro. 371
She saw it at a dance, upon a neck Less l than her own, The Falcon 56
Is she less loveable, Less l, being wholly mine? Prom. of May I 741
But you are young, and—pardon me—As l as your sister. „ II 508 could it look But half as l. „ III 491
So l in the promise of her May, „ III 753
What a shape! what l arms! Foresters I i 109

Lover (See also Judas-lover, Money-lover, Peace-lover)
Two young l's in winter weather, Harold III ii 3
To which the l answers lovingly „ III ii 13 not as statesman, but true l and friend. Becket, Pro. 80
I have been a l of wines, and delicate meats, „ I i 76
Who knows but that thy l May plead so pitifully, „ IV ii 216
Ay, still a l of the beast and bird? „ V ii 245
I am a life-long l of the chase, The Cup I i 194 have a score of l's and have not a heart for any of them— The Falcon 88 waiting To clasp their l's by the golden gates. Prom. of May I 248
But keep us l's. „ I 639
You tell me you have a l. „ III 255
And this l of yours—this Mr. Harold—is a gentleman? „ III 280
L's hold True love immortal. Foresters II i 614
You never whisper close as l's do, „ III 6
You l's are such clumsy summer-flies „ IV 10 hundred l's more To celebrate this advent of our King! „ IV 1047

Love-sick Is to be l-s for a shadow Queen Mary I v 535 so should all the l-s be sea-sick. Foresters IV 673

Loving And as ye were most l unto him, Queen Mary II ii 174 and so l, needs must deem This love by you return'd „ II ii 195
And all our l subjects, most expedient. „ II ii 211
And your so l sister? „ II iv 141
Your Grace hath a most chaste and l wife. „ III vi 129 Hurt no man more Than you would harm your l natural brother „ IV iii 189
Love him! why not? thine is a l office, Harold II ii 97
Yet if she be a true and l wife She may, The Cup I iii 32
Low You speak too l, my Lord; Queen Mary I iv 123
Wherefore now the Queen In this l pulse and palsy of the state, „ II ii 103 you forget That long l minster where you gave your hand „ III ii 90 and debased From councillor to caitiff—fallen so l, „ IV iii 75
L, my lute; speak l, my lute, but say the world is nothing—L, lute, l! „ V ii 367
L, my lute! oh l, my lute! we fade and are forsaken —L, dear lute, l! „ V ii 374
Take it away! not l enough for me! „ V ii 377
Your Grace hath a l voice. „ V ii 378
A l voice Lost in a wilderness where none can hear! „ V ii 380
A l voice from the dust and from the grave „ V ii 385
There, am I l enough now? „ V ii 388
Does he think L stature is l nature, or all women's L as his own? „ V ii 434
It is the l man thinks the woman l; „ V ii 439
And Charles, the lord of this l world, is gone; „ V v 54
Ay, raise his head, for thou hast laid it l! Harold III i 163
Gentleness, L words best chime with this solemnity. The Cup II 217
And when you came and dipt your sovereign head Thro' these l doors, The Falcon 868
The town lay still in the l sun-light, Prom. of May I 37
I sank so l that I went into service— „ III 391
Till Nature, high and l, and great and small Forgets herself, Foresters I ii 326 could I stoop so l As mate with one that holds no love is pure, „ IV 710 Lower (adj.) And ye, my masters, of the l house, Queen Mary III iii 102 you are even l and baser Than even I can well believe you. Go! Prom. of May III 813 Lower (verb) made us l our kingly flag To yours of England. Queen Mary V i 59 but must l his flag To that of England „ V i 64
L the light. He must be here. Harold V ii 63 Lowest (adj.) poor worm, crawl down thine own black hole To the l Hell. The Cup II 496
Lowest (s) That all of you, the highest as the l, Queen Mary IV iii 65
Lowliest beseech Your Highness to accept our l thanks „ II ii 131
Lowly 'O happy lark, that warblest high Above thy l nest, Prom. of May III 200
Low-moaning a sigh With these l-m heavens. Harold V i 152
Low-spirited Your Grace is too l-s. Queen Mary V ii 605
Low-statured Than that you were l-s. „ V ii 432 Loyal My Lord, I have the jewel of a l heart. Gardiner.
I doubt it not, Madam, most l. „ I iv 247 is every morning's prayer Of your most l subject, „ I v 104
But help her in this exigency, make Your city l, „ II ii 19 on you, In your own city, as her right, my Lord, For you are l. „ II ii 107 and we pray That we, your true and l citizens, „ II ii 135
Your lawful Prince hath come to cast herself On l hearts and bosoms, „ II ii 263
The Queen of England—or the Kentish Squire? I know you l. „ II ii 271
Your Highness hears This burst and bass of l harmony, „ II ii 285
We thank your Lordship and your l city. „ II ii 301
No, girl; most brave and l, brave and l. „ II iv 11
L and royal cousin, humblest thanks. „ III ii 3
Yet there be some disloyal Catholics, And many heretics l; „ III iv 44
To take the lives of others that are l. „ III iv 48
Nay, Madam, there be l papers too, „ V ii 221
Your England is as l as myself. „ V ii 328
Said you not Many of these were l? „ V ii 331 Loyal (continued) and am in everything Most l and most grateful to the Queen. Queen Mary V iii 25 and I do not then charm this secret out of our l Thomas, I am not Eleanor. Becket, Pro. 467 for which our l service, And since we likewise swore to obey the customs, „ V i 52
I am all as l as thyself, but what a vow! what a vow! Foresters I i 293
Loyally L and with good faith, my lord Archbishop? Becket I iii 278 Loyalty To whom he owes his l after God, Queen Mary IV i 23 less l in it than the backward scrape of the clown's heel— Becket III iii 143
Comrades, I thank you for your l, Foresters III 78
Lucullus that L or Apicius might have sniffed it in their Hades of heathenism, Becket III iii 117
Ludgate I must set The guard at L. Queen Mary II ii 409
If L can be reach'd by dawn to-morrow. „ II iii 53 hath broken thro' the guards And gone to L. „ II iv 21 brave Lord William Thrust him from L, „ II iv 92 Lung Is life and l's to every rebel birth „ III vi 51
Lung'd See Loud-lung'd
Lunnun (London) but I taäkes 'im for a L swindler, and a burn fool. Prom. of May I 309 seeäms to me the mark wur maäde by a L boot. „ I 416 and I thinks ye weärs a L boot. „ I 461 Lure (s) such a one As Harry Bolingbroke hath a l in it. Queen Mary I iv 10
Lure (verb) I must l my game into the camp. The Cup I iii 64
Lurk even while I speak There l's a silent dagger, Queen Mary V ii 216
Lurking Not the full faith, no, but the l doubt. „ III iv 124
Luscombe L, Nokes, Oldham, Skipworth! Prom. of May III 53
Lust (s) Which a young l had clapt upon the back, Queen Mary IV iii 401 from the squint Of l and glare of malice. Becket I i 313
But the fool-fire of love or l, The Cup I i 147
He steep'd himself In all the l of Rome. „ I ii 369 fill all hearts with fatness and the l Of plenty— „ II 273
'L, Prodigality, Covetousness, Craft, Prom. of May II 284
Lust (verb) be those that l To burn each other? Queen Mary IV iii 197
Lustiest Thou the l and lousiest of this Cain's brotherhood, answer. Becket I iv 184
Lusty I know some l fellows there in France. Queen Mary III i 128
That was a l boy of twenty-seven; „ V v 48
A pretty l boy. Becket II i 247 mix with all The l life of wood and underwood, Foresters I iii 114
L bracken beaten flat, Queen. „ II ii 154
Lute Alice, my child, Bring us your l. Queen Mary V ii 357
Give me the l. He hates me! „ V ii 362
Low, my l; speak low, my l, but say the world is nothing—Low, l, low! „ V ii 367
Low, my l! oh low, my l! we fade and are forsaken —Low, dear l, low! „ V ii 374
Luther (Martin) ghosts of L and Zuinglius fade Into the deathless hell „ III ii 174
Ah, what an acrid wine has L brew'd, „ IV iii 545
Lutheran possibly The L may be won to her again; „ III iv 202
I was too lenient to the L, „ V ii 73
What then, he knew I was no L. „ V ii 78
Seize him and burn him for a L. „ V ii 245
Lutheranism Tainted with L in Italy. „ III iv 227
Would freely canvass certain L's. „ V ii 76
Luting Fluting, and piping and l 'Love, love, love'— Foresters III 33
Lydian Lay down the L carpets for the king. The Cup II 187
Lying (adj. and part.) to take the guns From out the vessels l in the river. Queen Mary II i 222
Shot off their l cannon, and her priests Have preach'd, „ III vi 97 this Bonner or another Will in some l fashion mis-report His ending „ IV iii 326
I left her l still and beautiful, „ V v 261 dog, with thy l lights Thou hast betray'd us on these rocks of thine! Harold II i 21 Thy villains with their l lights have wreck'd us! „ II i 83 than believe that l And ruling men are fatal twins that cannot Move one without the other. „ III i 126
A l devil hath haunted me—mine oath—my wife— „ V i 316
Man, l here alone, Moody creature, Foresters II ii 186

Lying (s) And l were self-murder by that state Which was the exception. Harold III i 70
Lyin'-in and my missus a-gittin' ower 'er l-i. Prom. of May III 74
Lynx and hawks, and apes, and lions, and l'es. Becket I i 81

M

Maäde (made) seeäms to me the mark wur m by a Lunnun boot. Prom. of May I 415 thaw the feller's gone and m such a litter of his faäce. ,, II 589
Maäke (make) fur I 'ednt naw time to m mysen a scholard ,, I 333
Why, lass, what m's tha sa red? ,, I 399
Why, now, what m's tha sa white? ,, I 417
M thysen easy. I'll hev the winder naäiled up, ,, I 419
Shall I foller 'er and ax 'er to m it up? ,, II 131
What m's 'im allus sa glum? ,, II 147
I'll m 'er knaw! (repeat) ,, II 607 an' I worked early an' laäte to m 'em all gentlefoälks ageän. ,, III 449
Maäkin' (making) while I wur m mysen a gentleman, ,, I 334
I'd think na moor o' m an end o' tha nor a carrion craw— ,, II 696
Maäte (mate) Miss Dora, meä and my m's, us three, we wants to hev three words wi' ye. ,, III 125
Maäted (confused) an' maäzed, an' m, an' muddled ma. ,, II 729
Maäzed (mazed) an' m, an' maäted, an' muddled ma. ,, II 729
Mace The reeking dungfork master of the m! Queen Mary II ii 275
Maceration In scourgings, m's, mortifyings, Fasts, Becket V i 41
Machine I've hed the long barn cleared out of all the m's, Prom. of May I 452
Mad the Hot Gospellers will go m upon it. Queen Mary I i 116
Make themselves drunk and m, ,, III i 282
What, if a m dog bit your hand, my Lord, ,, III iv 204
The m bite Must have the cautery—tell him—and at once. ,, III iv 274
The world's m. Paget. My Lord, the world is like a drunken man, ,, IV iii 391
Do you mean to drive me m? ,, V ii 200
To be nor m, nor bigot—have a mind— ,, V v 216 star That dances in it as m with agony! Harold I i 9
M for thy mate, passionate nightingale . . . ,, I ii 1
And, Leofwin, art thou m? ,, V i 139
And I was bit by a m dog o' Friday, an' I be half dog already by this token, Becket I iv 218
I am not m, not sick, not old enough To doat on one alone. Yes, m for her, Camma the stately, The Cup I iii 69
So m, I fear some strange and evil chance ,, I iii 74 as men Have done on rafts of wreck—it drives you m. ,, I iii 143
Speak freely, tho' to call a madman m The Falcon 82
I shall go m for utter shame and die. Prom. of May I 682
I was so m, that I mounted upon the parapet— ,, III 371
The old wretch is m, and her bread is beyond me: Foresters II i 291
He is old and almost m to keep the land. ,, II i 528
Are the men all m? there then, and there! ,, II ii 34
By old St. Vitus Have you gone m? ,, IV 616 thou shalt wed him, Or thine old father will go m— ,, IV 645
Madden These are the things that m her. Fie upon it! Queen Mary III ii 222
Lest your whole body should m with the poison? ,, III iv 207 such A strong hate-philtre as may m him—m Becket IV ii 458
Madden'd the plots against him Had m tamer men. Harold IV i 112
Thy sending back the Great Seal m him, Becket I iii 9
Madder and a-makin' o' volk m and m; Queen Mary IV iii 532
Made (See also Maäde, New-made) Gardiner for one, who is to be m Lord Chancellor, ,, I i 86
Courtenay, to be m Earl of Devon, ,, I i 110
m you follow The Lady Suffolk and the Lady Lennox?— ,, I iv 30
This dress was m me as the Earl of Devon ,, I iv 72
To him within there who m Heaven and Earth? ,, I v 47
ah! she said, The baker m him. ,, I v 56
I m him Earl of Devon, and—the fool ,, I v 165
Look at the New World—a paradise m hell; ,, II i 208

Made (continued) Have m strong head against ourselves and you. Queen Mary II ii 146 understand We m thereto no treaty of ourselves, ,, II ii 203 had Howard spied me there And m them speak, ,, II iii 34
if I And others m that move I touch'd upon, ,, III i 445
Old Rome, that first m martyrs in the Church, ,, III iv 126
But not the force m them our mightiest kings. ,, III iv 335 all boots were ever m Since man went barefoot. ,, III v 197
Remember how God m the fierce fire ,, IV iii 89
M even the carrion-nosing mongrel vomit ,, IV iii 448 as one whose mind Is all m up, ,, IV iii 589
m us lower our kingly flag To yours of England. ,, V i 59
When I was m Archbishop, he approved me. ,, V ii 85
No—we were not m One flesh in happiness, ,, V ii 149
But now we are m one flesh in misery; ,, V ii 152
We have m war upon the Holy Father All for your sake: ,, V ii 307
The King hath m me Earl; make me not fool! Nor make the King a fool, who m me Earl! Harold I i 288
Who m the King who m thee, ,, I i 294
We have m them milder by just government. ,, I i 340
The dead men m at thee to murder thee, ,, I ii 85
Tostig, Edward hath m him Earl: ,, I ii 186
They did thee wrong who m thee hostage; ,, II ii 350
I m thee swear.—Show him by whom he hath sworn. ,, II ii 732 all promises M in our agony for help from heaven? ,, III i 288
That knowledge m him all the carefuller ,, III i 340
And touches Him that m it. ,, III ii 198
Not m but born, like the great king of all, ,, IV i 85
he loved his land: he fain Had m her great: ,, IV i 203 who m And heard thee swear— ,, V i 120
Count Hath m too good an use of Holy Church ,, V i 312
I fain Had m my marriage not a lie; ,, V i 320
I'll have them written down and m the law. Becket, Pro. 26
Who m thee London? Who, but Canterbury? ,, I iii 66 and that m me muse, Being bounden by my coronation oath ,, I iii 394
—m an uproar. Henry. And Becket had my bosom ,, I iii 432
I m him porcelain from the clay of the city— ,, I iii 438
That he m the black sheep white. ,, I iv 176
he hath m his bed between the altars, ,, I iv 264 then to be m Archbishop and go against the King who m him, ,, II i 237
Co-kings we were, and m the laws together. ,, II ii 123
I would have m Rome know she still is Rome— ,, II ii 402 none on 'em ever m songs, and they were all honest. ,, III i 188
They have m it up again—for the moment. ,, III iii 170
Who m the second mitre play the first, And acted me? ,, III iii 212
m me for the moment proud Ev'n of that stale Church-bond ,, IV ii 445
What m the King cry out so furiously? ,, V i 220 Hath she m up her mind to marry him? The Cup II 22 he m a wry mouth at it, but he took it so kindly, The Falcon 190 and he never m a wry mouth at you, ,, 193
—they are m by the blessed saints— ,, 202
I m a wreath with some of these; ,, 357
if but to guess what flowers Had m it; ,, 431
When he that m it, having his right hand ,, 443
m me A Quietist taking all things easily. Prom. of May I 231
I Shall not be m the laughter of the village, ,, I 720
—how she m her wail as for the dead! ,, III 698
Is it m up? Will you kiss me? Foresters I ii 226 thou That hast not m it up with Little John! ,, III 15 we have m a song in your honour, so your ladyship care to listen. ,, III 414 first part—m before you came among us— ,, III 436 Madman (See also Semi-madman) Peace, m!
Thou stirrest up a grief Queen Mary III iv 297
Wide of the mark ev'n for a m's dream. ,, V iii 86
If ever I heard a m,—let's away! ,, V iv 51 striking at Hardrada and his madmen Harold IV iii 71
M anywhere. Speak freely, tho' to call a m mad The Falcon 80
Some m, is it, Gesticulating there upon the bridge? Prom. of May II 326 Madness and law From m. Becket I iii 375
—what merry m—listen! Foresters III 43

Madonna Come in, M, come in. The Falcon 176 you look as beautiful this morning as the very M „ 199
No, no, not quite, M, not yet, not yet. „ 392
This was penn'd, M, Close to the grating „ 440
I bear with him no longer. Count. No, M ! „ 886
Mad-woman O murderous m-w ! I pray you lift The Cup II 471
Magdalen (a character in "Queen Mary") Ah, M, sin is bold as well as dull. Queen Mary V ii 442
Magdalen (St. Mary) Thanks to the blessed M, whose day it is. Becket III iii 171
All praise to Heaven, and sweet St. M ! „ III iii 235
Maggot Foul m's crawling in a fester'd vice ! Queen Mary V v 161
Magistrate all the m's, all the nobles, and all the wealthy ; „ V iv 50
Magnificence I have heard That, thro' his late m of living The Falcon 227
No other heart Of such m in courtesy Beats— „ 723
Magpie Peace, m ! Give him the quarterstaff. Foresters IV 249
Mahound by M, I had sooner have been born a Mussulman— Becket II ii 144
No God but one, and M is his prophet. „ II ii 225 like M's coffin hung between heaven and earth— „ II ii 361
By M I could dine with Beelzebub ! Foresters IV 970
Maid says she will live And die true m— Queen Mary III vi 46
Make me full fain to live and die a m. „ V iii 98 little fair-hair'd Norman m Lived in my mother's house : Becket V ii 260
The m to her dairy came in from the cow, Prom. of May I 39
The m she loved the man. Foresters I i 9
The m a rose to the man. (repeat) Foresters I i 13, 106
The m her hand to the man. (repeat) „ I i 17, 93
the m a kiss to the man. (repeat) „ I i 21, 120 should have told us how the man first kissed the m. „ I i 124
if a man and a m care for one another, does it matter so much if the m give the first kiss ? „ I i 134 now thou hast given me the man's kiss, let me give thee the m's. „ I i 144
if a man and a m love one another, may the m give the first kiss ? „ I i 172 when they look at a m they blast her. „ I i 256
Then the m is not high-hearted enough. „ I i 258
Go now and ask the m to dance with thee, „ I ii 185 what m but would beware of John ? „ I ii 256 when I loved A m with all my heart to pass it down „ I ii 297 man and m be free To foil and spoil the tyrant „ II i 10
There are no m's like English m's „ II i 19
' This boy will never wed the m he loves, „ II ii 111 and another—worse !—An innocent m. „ III 388
—to this m, this Queen o' the woods. „ III 394
M ! Friar. Paramour ! Friar. Hell take her ! „ III 401 Air and word, my lady, are m and man. „ III 420 lips that never breathed Love's falsehood to true m „ IV 73
For so this m would wed our brother, „ IV 483
Maiden (adj.) You've but a dull life in this m court, I fear, my Lord ? Queen Mary I iii 114
Would not for all the stars and m moon „ V ii 455 whether from m fears Or reverential love for him I loved, The Cup II 196 Modest m lily abused, Queen. Foresters II ii 158 clothes itself In m flesh and blood, „ III 117 Live thou m ! Thou art more my wife so feeling, „ III 122
You heed not how you soil her m fame, „ IV 479 Maiden (s) (See also Bower-maiden) My pretty m, tell me, did you ever Sigh for a beard ? Queen Mary I v 607 my pretty m, A pretty man for such a pretty m. „ I v 612
Then, pretty m, you should know that whether „ I v 618
Peace, pretty m. I hear them stirring „ I v 627 have thy conscience White as a m's hand, Harold II ii 284
A m slowly moving on to music Among her m's to this Temple— The Cup I i 9
When first he meets his m in a bower. „ I iii 41
I am none of your delicate Norman m's Foresters I i 212
A m now Were ill-bested in these dark days „ II ii 44 and all your forest games As far as m might. „ III 86 when Our English m's are their prey, „ III 179 and scare lonely m's at the farmstead. „ III 200
Save for this m and thy brother Abbot, „ IV 632
Maidenhood He that can pluck the flower of m Foresters I ii 108
Who art the fairest flower of m „ I ii 123
Out upon all hard-hearted m ! „ IV 50
Maiden-white Make blush the m-w of our tall cliffs, Harold II ii 332 Maiden-wife O m-w, The oppression of our people Foresters III 108 Maid Marian (daughter of Sir Richard Lea) (See also Marian) She has gone, M M to her Robin— Queen Mary III v 156
this is M M Flying from John—disguised. Men. M M ? she ? Foresters II i 679 Stay with us here, sweet love, M M, „ II ii 15 and looks at once M M, „ III 119
M M, Queen o' the woods ! (repeat) Foresters III 357, 374, 376, 397, 399
M M. Marian. Yes, King Richard. Foresters IV 859
Maidstone The bells are ringing at M. Queen Mary II i 19 and your worship's name heard into M market, „ II i 63
Mail I wear beneath my dress A shirt of m : „ I v 146
And felt the sun of Antioch scald our m, Becket II ii 93 having lived For twenty days and nights in m, Foresters IV 124
Mail'd M in the perfect panoply of faith, Becket V ii 494
Maim when he springs And m's himself against the bars, Queen Mary V v 67
It frights the traitor more to m and blind. Harold II ii 503
Maim'd starved, m, flogg'd, flay'd, burn'd, Queen Mary II i 209
They have so m and murder'd all his face Harold V ii 76
And lamed and m to dislocation, Becket IV ii 266
Not caught, m, blinded him. The Cup I ii 271
Main (adj.) Madam, I loved according to the m purpose and intent of nature. Becket, Pro. 502
Like sudden night in the m glare of day. „ II i 57
That I am his m paramour, his sultana. „ IV ii 39 her m law Whereby she grows in beauty— Prom. of May I 281 Main (s) Calais ! Our one point on the m, Queen Mary I v 125
Had prosper'd in the m, but suddenly Jarr'd Becket I iii 381 Mainland gateway to the m over which Our flag Queen Mary V ii 260
Maintain we shall still m All former treaties „ I v 265
I trust I still m my courtesy ; The Falcon 294
Maintain'd M, and entertain'd us royally ! Harold II ii 159
Majestic Be somewhat less—m to your Queen. Queen Mary III vi 149 Majesty When will her M pass, sayst thou ? „ I i 2
Her M Hears you affect the Prince— „ I iv 81
A happy morning to your M. „ I v 244 maintain All former treaties with his M. „ I v 266 Follow their Majesties. „ III i 331 my wish Echoes your M's. Pole. It shall be so. „ III iii 93
Do make most humble suit unto your Majesties, „ III iii 119
Whereon we humbly pray your Majesties, „ III iii 143
Serve God and both your Majesties. „ III iii 159
My Lords, you cannot see her M. „ III vi 20 in all this, my Lord, her M Is flint of flint, „ III vi 37
Your M shall go to Dover with me, „ III vi 218
Then one day more to please her M. „ III vi 248
I am vastly grieved to leave your M. „ III vi 255
Long live your M ! Shall Alice sing you „ V ii 354
Your M has lived so pure a life, „ V v 72
Make (See also Maäke) m what noise you will with your tongues, „ I i 5 didn't the Parliament m her a bastard ? „ I i 16 Parliament can m every true-born man of us a bastard. Old Nokes, can't it m thee a bastard ? „ I i 27 so they can't m me a bastard. „ I i 47
if Parliament can m the Queen a bastard, why, it follows all the more that they can m thee one, „ I i 49
To m me headless. „ I ii 41
These beastly swine m such a grunting here, „ I iii 12
That m's for France. (repeat) „ I iii 89, 92, 94
His Highness m's his moves across the Channel, „ I iii 134
m your boast that after all She means to wed you. „ I iv 87
That you shall marry him, m him King belike. „ I iv 212
she means to m A farewell present to your Grace. „ I iv 244
M all tongues praise and all hearts beat for you. „ I v 117
To m the crown of Scotland one with ours, „ I v 287
Would m our England, France ; „ I v 297
I can m allowance for thee, „ I v 326
M no allowance for the naked truth. „ I v 328
Pope would have you m them render these ; „ I v 403

Make (continued) Your Highness is all trembling.
Mary. M way. Queen Mary I v 595
Look; can you m it English? „ II i 127
m Your city loyal, and be the mightiest man „ II ii 18
To m free spoil and havock of your goods. „ II ii 186 Hear us now m oath To raise your Highness „ II ii 288
the half sight which m's her look so stern, „ II ii 322 Courage, sir, That m's a man or woman „ II ii 329 man should m the hour, not this the man; „ II ii 365
M's enemies for himself and for his king; „ II ii 399 Shall we m Those that we come to serve our sharpest foes? „ II iii 76 you'll m the White Tower a black 'un „ II iii 100 cloth of gold, Could m it so. „ III i 55
I'd m a move myself to hinder that: „ III i 127
You would but m us weaker, Thomas Stafford. „ III i 130
They m amends for the tails. „ III i 227
M themselves drunk and mad, „ III i 282
Will stir the living tongue and m the cry. „ III i 354
She could not m it white— „ III i 424 and m us A Spanish province; „ III i 465 Seem'd as a happy miracle to m glide— „ III ii 29
I return As Peter, but to bless thee: m me well.' „ III ii 56
M's me his mouth of holy greeting. „ III ii 80
That m me shamed and tongue-tied in my love. „ III ii 162 news to m Both of us happy—ay, the Kingdom too. „ III ii 187
Do m most humble suit unto your Majesties, „ III iii 118 because to persecute M's a faith hated, „ III iv 116
And m it look more seemly. „ III iv 152 m's the waverer pass Into more settled hatred „ III iv 157
These fields are only green, they m me gape. „ III v 7
One of those wicked wilfuls that men m, „ III v 76
And m a morning outcry in the yard; „ III v 158 narrowness of the cage That m's the captive testy; „ III v 208
m ready for the journey. „ III v 277
Than any sea could m me passing hence, „ III vi 87
We m our humble prayer unto your Grace „ IV i 43
His learning m's his burning the more just. „ IV i 159
M out the writ to-night. „ IV i 195
No man can m his Maker— „ IV ii 58
And m you simple Cranmer once again. „ IV ii 129 and m's The fire seem even crueller than it is. „ IV ii 232
I wish some thunderbolt Would m this Cole a cinder, „ IV iii 11
M us despise it at odd hours, my Lord. „ IV iii 386
I cum behind tha, gall, and couldn't m tha hear. „ IV iii 466 never burn out the hypocrisy that m's the water in her. „ IV iii 525
'M short! m short!' and so they lit the wood. „ IV iii 606
You m your wars upon him down in Italy:— „ V i 141
What m's thy favour like the bloodless head „ V ii 19 wines, That ever m him fierier. „ V ii 95 it was thought we two Might m one flesh, „ V ii 137 and m Musters in all the counties; „ V ii 271
Heretic and rebel Point at me and m merry. „ V ii 318
Should m the mightiest empire earth has known. „ V iii 70
M me full fain to live and die a maid. „ V iii 98
And break your paces in, and m you tame; „ V iii 121 and m Down for their heads to heaven! „ V iv 7
Dead or alive you cannot m him happy. „ V v 71
I trust that God will m you happy yet. „ V v 76
if that May m your Grace forget yourself „ V v 81
—we will m England great. „ V v 281 for heaven's credit M's it on earth: Harold I i 142
m me not fool! Nor m the King a fool, who made me Earl! Harold. No, Tostig—lest I m myself a fool Who made the King who made thee, m thee Earl. „ I i 288
M not thou The nothing something. „ I i 362 the true must Shall m her strike as Power: „ I i 369 would but shame me, Rather than m me vain. „ I ii 117
Follow my lead, and I will m thee earl. „ I ii 217
Count-crab will m his nippers meet in thine heart; „ II i 76
To m allowance for their rougher fashions, „ II ii 8
To marry and have no husband M's the wife fool. „ II ii 310
M blush the maiden-white of our tall cliffs, „ II ii 332

Make (continued) may he not m A league with William, Harold II ii 460
M thou not mention that I spake with thee. „ II ii 483
And I will m thee my great Earl of Earls, „ II ii 629
And m's believe that he believes my word— „ II ii 668 would m the hard earth rive To the very Devil's horns, „ II ii 739
m your ever-jarring Earldoms move To music „ II ii 760
If thou canst m a wholesome use of these „ III i 20 as the libertine repents who cannot M done undone, „ III i 33
Not mean To m our England Norman. „ III i 250 and those Who m thy good their own— „ III i 330 which will m My kingship kinglier to me „ III ii 43
To m all England one, to close all feuds, „ IV i 141
Thou hast but cared to m thyself a king— „ IV ii 74
M not our Morcar sullen: it is not wise. „ IV iii 102
I am weary—go: m me not wroth with thee! „ V i 31
there m strength to breast Whatever chance, „ V i 126
m their wall of shields Firm as thy cliffs, „ V i 478
m his battle-axe keen As thine own sharp-dividing justice, „ V i 562
M thou one man as three to roll them down! „ V i 577
M them again one people—Norman, English; „ V ii 188
A more awful one. M me Archbishop! Becket, Pro. 289
m her as hateful to herself and to the King, „ Pro. 526
M an Archbishop of a soldier? „ I i 41
we will m her whole; Not one rood lost. „ I i 163
M it so hard to save a moth from the fire? „ I i 283
if he follow thee, M him thy prisoner. „ I i 332
I will m thee hateful to thy King. „ I ii 91
Ye m this clashing for no love o' the customs „ I iii 136
I had meant to m him all but king. „ I iii 464
M not thy King a traitorous murderer. „ I iii 500
m it clear Under what Prince I fight. „ I iii 544 Serve my best friend and m him my worst foe; „ I iii 568 m my cry to the Pope, By whom I will be judged; „ I iii 723 he m's moan that all be a-getting cold. Becket. And I m my moan along with him. „ I iv 61
We can m a black sin white. „ I iv 169 let him m it his own, let him reign in it— „ II i 17 who cares not for the word, M's 'care not'— „ II i 118 m's after it too To find it. „ II i 321 mother Would m him play his kingship against mine. „ II ii 11
So we m our peace with him. „ II ii 62
we m the time, we keep the time, ay, and we serve the time; „ II ii 367 and m Our waning Eleanor all but love me! „ II ii 457 and to m me a woman of the world, „ III i 116 they say, she m's songs, and that's against her, for I never knew an honest woman that could m songs, „ III i 181 tho' you m your butt too big, you overshoot it. „ III iii 121 keep the figure moist and m it hold water, „ III iii 166
I m thee full amends. „ III iii 219
How, do you m me a traitor? „ III iii 240
Doth not the fewness of anything m the fulness of it in estimation? „ III iii 302
she says she can m you sleep o' nights. „ IV ii 19
Give her to me to m my honeymoon. „ IV ii 142
m Thy body loathsome even to thy child; „ IV ii 171 baseness as would m me Most worthy of it: „ IV ii 235
And m thee a world's horror. „ IV ii 288
But thou art like enough to m him thine. „ V i 132
m me not a woman, John of Salisbury, Nor m me traitor „ V ii 147 you would m his coronation void By cursing „ V ii 329
He m's a King a traitor, me a liar. „ V ii 415
They seek—you m—occasion for your death. „ V ii 558
Ay, m him prisoner, do not harm the man. „ V iii 145 which well May m you lose yourself, The Cup I i 149
I would be Happy, and m all others happy so „ I iii 29
And I will m Galatia prosperous too, „ I iii 169
You will not easily m me credit that. „ II 25
—m me happy in my marriage! „ II 274
To m my marriage prosper to my wish! „ II 308
See first I m libation to the Goddess, „ II 377
Thou hast drunk deep enough to m me happy. „ II 425
Will hardly help to m him sane again. The Falcon 83 and tell her all about it and m her happy? „ 183

Make (continued) to give me his falcon, And that will m me well.' The Falcon 243
I ha' heärd 'im a-gawin' on 'ud m your 'air—God bless it !—stan' on end. Prom. of May I 134
you m The May and morning still more beautiful, „ I 572
When the great Democracy M's a new world— „ I 672 and m them happy in the long barn, „ I 791 turn back at times, and m Courtesy to custom ? „ II 634
I could m his age A comfort to him— „ II 660 Well then, I must m her Love Harold first, „ II 676
m herself anything he wishes her to be ? „ III 305
I couldn't m it out. What was it ? „ III 324
I mounted upon the parapet—— Dora. You m me shudder ! „ III 373 then what is it That m's you talk so dolefully ? „ III 572
I doubt not I can m you happy. Dora. You m me Happy already. „ III 641
M her happy, then, and I forgive you. „ III 666
I wish'd, I hoped To m, to m—— Dora. What did you hope to m ? Harold. 'Twere best to m an end of my lost life. O Dora, Dora ! Dora. What did you hope to m ? Harold. M, m ! „ III 783
I keep a good heart and m the most of it, Foresters I i 29
What m's thee so down in the mouth ? „ I ii 42
My Lady Marian you can m it so If you will deign „ I ii 131
I promise thee to m this Marian thine. „ I ii 183
We m but one hour's buzz, „ I ii 277
m us merry Because a year of it is gone ? „ I iii 14
Where law lies dead, we m ourselves the law. „ II i 91
I came To eat him up and m an end of him. „ II i 125
To m this Sherwood Eden o'er again, „ II i 168
M for the cottage then ! „ II i 210 and m a ghostly wail ever and anon to scare 'em. „ II i 215 let me go to m the mound : „ II i 312 but m haste then, and be silent in the wood. „ II i 364
Besides, tho' Friar Tuck might m us one, „ II ii 88
What m's you seem so cold to Robin, lady ? Marian. What m's thee think I seem so cold to Robin ? „ III 1
I wait till Little John m's up to me. „ III 17 so you would m it two I should be grateful. „ III 194 come between me and my Kate and n us one again. „ III 423 and can m Five quarts pass into a thimble. „ IV 282
M at him, all of you, a traitor coming „ IV 780
m me The monkey that should roast „ IV 804 Maker (God) No man can make his M— Queen Mary IV ii 58 Maker See Verse-maker
Mak'st Thou m me much ashamed „ III iv 304 Making (part.) (See also A-makin', Maäkin') M libation to the Goddess. The Cup II 364
m us feel guilty Of her own faults. Prom. of May II 269 Making (s) (See also Bastard-making, Sonnet-making) Either in m laws and ordinances Queen Mary III iii 130 we be not bound by the king's voice In m of a king, yet the king's voice Is much toward his m. Harold III i 237 spirit of the twelve Apostles enter'd Into thy m. Becket I i 51 the m of your butter, and the managing of your poultry ? Prom. of May II 93
Malapert as to the young crownling himself, he looked so m in the eyes, Becket III iii 109
Male it was hoped Your Highness was once more in happy state To give him an heir m. Queen Mary V ii 573
Malet Come M, let us hear ! Harold II ii 211
M, thy mother was an Englishwoman ; „ II ii 264
How, M, if they be not honourable ! „ II ii 278
I should be there, M, I should be there ! „ II ii 293
Ill news for guests, ha, M ! „ II ii 302
M, I vow to build a church to God „ V ii 137
Pluck the dead woman off the dead man, M ! „ V ii 145
Malice he wrought it ignorantly, And not from any m. Queen Mary III i 278 Wherewith they plotted in their treasonous m, „ III iv 5 from the squint Of lust and glare of m. Becket I i 313 Twice did thy m and thy calumnies Exile me „ I iii 42
Malign For whether men m thy name, or no, The Cup I iii 84
Malignant His face was not m, and he said „ I ii 451

Malign'd I am sure of being every way m. The Cup I ii 241
I am much m. I thought to serve Galatia. „ I ii 323 and he said That men m him. „ I ii 452
Malignity Brook for an hour such brute m ? Queen Mary IV iii 544
War, waste, plague, famine, all malignities. Harold I i 466
Malvoisie (a malmsey wine) I marvel is it sack or M ? Foresters III 332
The king's good health in ale and M. „ IV 969
Man (See also Farming-men, Goodman, Man-in-arms, Men-at-arms), That was after, m ; that was after. Queen Mary I i 19
Parliament can make every true-born m of us a bastard „ I i 27
I was born true m at five in the forenoon „ I i 45 was born of a true m and a ring'd wife, „ I i 54
thinkest thou that anyone Suspected thee to be my m ? „ I iii 176 wish before the word Is m's good Fairy— „ I iv 240
Who love that men should smile upon you, „ I iv 274
Men would murder me, „ I v 155
He is every way a lesser m than Charles ; „ I v 330
You cannot Learn a m's nature from his natural foe. „ I v 340
And those hard men brake into woman-tears, „ I v 564
A pretty m for such a pretty maiden. Alice. My Lord of Devon is a pretty m. „ I v 613 no old news that all men hate it. „ II i 17 ten thousand men on Penenden Heath all calling „ II i 61 your worship the first m in Kent and Christendom, „ II i 64 Men of Kent ; England of England ; „ II i 157
If this m marry our Queen, „ II i 170
the red m, that good helpless creature, „ II i 208
I have striven in vain to raise a m for her. „ II ii 17 and be the mightiest m This day in England. „ II ii 19 had gone over to him With all his men, „ II ii 29
To raise your Highness thirty thousand men, „ II ii 291
As if to win the m by flattering him. „ II ii 312
If not, there's no m safe. White. Yes, Thomas White. I am safe enough ; no m need flatter me. Second Alderman. Nay, no m need ; but did you mark our Queen ? „ II ii 315
That makes or m or woman look their goodliest. „ II ii 329
The m had children, and he whined for those. Methinks most men are but poor-hearted, „ II ii 335 all men cry, She is queenly, she is goodly. „ II ii 343
Who knows ? the m is proven by the hour. White. The m should make the hour, not this the m ; „ II ii 363 gather your men—Myself must bustle. „ II ii 373
The statesman that shall jeer and fleer at men, „ II ii 398
if he jeer not seeing the true m Behind his folly, he is thrice the fool ; And if he see the m and still will jeer, „ II ii 400
There, any m can read that. „ II iii 68
Stafford, I am a sad m and a serious. „ III i 41
We have no men among us. „ III i 140
No men ? Did not Lord Suffolk die like a true m ? Is not Lord William Howard a true m ? „ III i 163
And I, by God, believe myself a m. Ay, even in the church there is a m—Cranmer. Fly would he not when all men bad him fly. „ III i 168
There's a brave m, if any. „ III i 175
Thou art one of Wyatt's men ? Man. No, my Lord, no. „ III i 244
The m shall paint a pair of gloves. „ III i 274
(Knowing the m) he wrought it ignorantly, „ III i 276
I say There is no m—there was one woman with us— „ III i 337 dazzled men and deafen'd by some bright „ III i 451
I am an old m wearied with my journey, „ III ii 127
You were the one sole m in either house Who stood upright „ III iii 252
I say you were the one sole m who stood. Bagenhall. I am the one sole m in either house, „ III iii 264
Well, you one m, because you stood upright, „ III iii 268
If any m in any way would be The one m, „ III iii 274 when men are tost On tides of strange opinion, „ III iv 118
Lest men accuse you of indifference To all faiths, „ III iv 223
Smiles that burn men. „ III iv 404
Men now are bow'd and old, the doctors tell you, „ III iv 408
One of those wicked wilfuls that men make, „ III v 75

Man (continued) Are you so small a m ? Queen Mary III v 192 all boots were ever made Since m went barefoot. „ III v 198 fierce resolve and fixt heart-hate in men „ III vi 32 bland And affable to men of all estates, „ III vi 81
And every soul of m that breathes therein. „ III vi 107
Your father was a m Of such colossal kinghood, „ IV i 100
Your father had a will that beat men down ; Your father had a brain that beat men down— „ IV i 108
No m can make his Maker— „ IV ii 58
At your trial Never stood up a bolder m than you ; „ IV ii 122
I must obey the Queen and Council, m. „ IV ii 164
This hard coarse m of old hath crouch'd to me „ IV ii 169
Repeat your recantation in the ears Of all men, „ IV ii 194
It is expedient for one m to die, „ IV iii 17
Those of the wrong side will despise the m, „ IV iii 25
That any m so writing, preaching so, „ IV iii 47
Other reasons There be for this m's ending, „ IV iii 54
Take therefore, all, example by this m, „ IV iii 60
There stands a m, once of so high degree, „ IV iii 68 doubt The m's conversion and remorse of heart, „ IV iii 108
Most miserable sinner, wretched m. „ IV iii 123
when thou becamest M in the Flesh, „ IV iii 141
But that Thy name by m be glorified, And Thy most blessed Son's, who died for m. Good people, every m at time of death Would fain set forth „ IV iii 153
After the vanish'd voice, and speak to men. „ IV iii 165 yet what hatred Christian men Bear to each other, „ IV iii 183 Hurt no m more Than you would harm „ IV iii 187
' How hard it is For the rich m to enter into Heaven ; ' Let all rich men remember that hard word. „ IV iii 205
Dissemble not ; play the plain Christian m. „ IV iii 268
I have been a m loved plainness all my life ; „ IV iii 270
And watch a good m burn. „ IV iii 293 the m Hurls his soil'd life against the pikes and dies. „ IV iii 310
howsoever hero-like the m Dies in the fire, „ IV iii 324 and all men Regarding her ? „ IV iii 378
My lord, the world is like a drunken m, „ IV iii 393 men Have hardly known what to believe, „ IV iii 404
The kindliest m I ever knew ; „ IV iii 421 ez thou hast wi' thy owld m. Tib. Ay, Joan, and my owld m wur up and awaay „ IV iii 487 Thou's thy way wi' m and beast, Tib. „ IV iii 498 till his m cum in post vro' here, „ IV iii 510
I loved the m, and needs must moan for him ; „ IV iii 635 in Guisnes Are scarce two hundred men, „ V i 5
I am not certain but that Philibert Shall be the m ; „ V i 265 and mine own natural m (It was God's cause) ; „ V ii 103 and cleave unto each other As m and wife ? „ V ii 139
Our altar is a mound of dead men's clay, „ V ii 162 love her less For such a dotage upon such a m. „ V ii 421
It is the low m thinks the woman low ; „ V ii 439 throat of mine, Barer than I would wish a m to see it,— „ V ii 462
I will see no m hence for evermore, „ V ii 525 seen the true men of Christ lying famine-dead by scores, „ V iv 38
I was walking with the m I loved. „ V v 88 weak and meek old m, Seven-fold dishonour'd „ V v 132
Till all men have their Bible, rich and poor. „ V v 248
Not he the m—for in our windy world Harold I i 83
Our Tostig loves the hand and not the m. „ I i 157
Thou art the m to rule her ! „ I i 223
I love the m but not his phantasies. „ I i 279
Thou art the quietest m in all the world— „ I i 312
Waits till the m let go. „ I i 329
Ye govern milder men. „ I i 339
As much as I can give thee, m ; „ I i 480 a dead m Rose from behind the altar, „ I ii 78 saw the church all fill'd With dead men upright from their graves, and all The dead men made at thee to murder thee, „ I ii 83
Did not Heaven speak to men in dreams of old ? „ I ii 94 fat dead deer For dead men's ghosts. „ I ii 104 while ye fish for men with your false fires, „ II i 30

Man (continued) Apostles ; they were fishers of men, Harold II i 34 get himself wrecked on another m's land ? „ II i 61
A m may hang gold bracelets on a bush, „ II i 87
Thou art a mighty m In thine own earldom ! „ II i 92
my men Hold that the shipwreckt are accursed of God ;— What hinders me to hold with mine own men ? „ II i 99
The Christian manhood of the m who reigns ! „ II i 105
I have commission'd thee to save the m : „ II ii 99
arm'd men Ever keep watch beside my chamber door, „ II ii 244
There is an arm'd m ever glides behind ! „ II ii 247
The m that hath to foil a murderous aim „ II ii 417
Words are the m. „ II ii 419
And men are at their markets, in their fields, „ II ii 436
We have the m that rail'd against thy birth. „ II ii 485
Better methinks have slain the m at once ! „ II ii 499
We have respect for m's immortal soul, „ II ii 500
scorn'd the m, Or lash'd his rascal back, „ II ii 506
A gentle, gracious, pure and saintly m ! „ II ii 585
Thou art the mightiest voice in England, m, „ II ii 618
Let all men bear witness of our bond ! „ II ii 698
Where they eat dead men's flesh, „ II ii 807
Of all the lies that ever men have lied, „ III i 99
That, were a m of state nakedly true, Men would but take him for the craftier liar. Leofwin. Be men less delicate than the Devil himself ? „ III i 113 that lying And ruling men are fatal twins „ III i 127 and holy men That shall be born hereafter. „ III i 209 Alas ! poor m, His promise brought it on me. „ III i 337 cries, and clashes, and the groans of men ; „ III i 376
Our living passion for a dead m's dream ; „ III ii 60
The Lord was God and came as m—the Pope Is m and comes as God.— „ III ii 173
What would ye, men ? „ IV i 30
Had in him kingly thoughts—a king of men, „ IV i 84 plots against him Had madden'd tamer men. „ IV i 112
Old m, Harold Hates nothing ; „ IV i 128
Morcar, collect thy men ; Edwin, my friend— „ IV i 256
No m would strike with Tostig, save for Norway. „ IV ii 20 Never shall any m say that I that Tostig „ IV ii 66 were m's to have held The battle-axe by thee ! „ IV iii 12
Every m about his king Fought like a king ; the king like his own m, „ IV iii 56
Sound sleep to the m Here by dead Norway „ IV iii 121
A thousand ships—a hundred thousand men— „ IV iii 195
The men that guarded England to the South „ IV iii 209 selfless m Is worth a world of tonguesters. „ V i 81
Waltham, my foundation For men who serve the neighbour, „ V i 98
What did the dead m call it—Sanguelac, „ V i 184 second-sighted m That scared the dying conscience „ V i 210
What nobler ? men must die. „ V i 270
I have done no m wrong. „ V i 272
That mortal men should bear their earthly heats „ V i 283
Make thou one m as three to roll them down ! „ V i 577
There is no m can swear to him. „ V ii 78
When all men counted Harold would be king, „ V ii 132
Pluck the dead woman off the dead m, Malet ! „ V ii 144 have I fought men Like Harold and his brethren, „ V ii 178 Every m about his king Fell where he stood. „ V ii 181
we must have a mightier m than he For his successor. Becket, P 7
No m without my leave shall excommunicate „ 1 to. 30
No m without my leave shall cross the seas „ Pro. 34
Will not thy body rebel, m, if thou flatter it ? „ Pro. 102
Men are God's trees, and women are God's flowers ; „ Pro. 111
if a m Wastes himself among women, „ Pro. 136
A m of this world and the next to boot. „ Pro. 259
Thou art the m to fill out the Church robe ; „ Pro. 262
Thou angerest me, m : I do not jest. „ Pro. 299 old men must die, or the world would grow mouldy, „ Pro. 408 dead m's dying wish should be of weight. „ Pro. 422 as brave a soldier as Henry and a goodlier m : „ Pro. 437
I can see further into a m than our hot-headed Henry, „ Pro. 463 would she were but his paramour, for men tire of their fancies ; „ Pro. 479

Man (continued) Together more than mortal m can bear. Becket I i 24
That I am not the m to be your Primate, „ I i 38
For Gilbert Foliot held himself the m. Becket. Am I the m? My mother, ere she bore me, „ I i 43 good old m would sometimes have his jest— „ I i 61
Am I the m? That rang Within my head „ I i 70 Am I the m? And the Lord answer'd me, 'Thou art the m, and all the more the m.' (repeat) „ I i 82, 98
Thou art the m—be thou A mightier Anselm. „ I i 132
I do believe thee, then. I am the m. „ I i 136
Back m! Fitzurse. Then tell me who and what she is. „ I i 207 Back, m, I tell thee! „ I i 218
'Fore God, I am a mightier m than thou. „ I i 223
Herbert, take out a score of armed men „ I i 328 my men will guard you to the gates. „ I i 402 the m shall seal, Or I will seal his doom. „ I iii 330 bounden by my coronation oath To do men justice. „ I iii 397
a hundred ghastly murders done By men, „ I iii 408
If ever m by bonds of gratefulness— „ I iii 435
Deal gently with the young m Absalom. „ I iii 757
To speak without stammering and like a free m? „ I iv 8
When thieves fall out, honest men— „ I iv 114
When honest men fall out, thieves— „ I iv 118
Lord hath set his mark upon him that no m should murder him. „ I iv 192
The m shall feel that I can strike him yet. „ II i 78
a perilous game For men to play with God. „ II ii 71
Out upon thee, m! Saving the Devil's honour, „ II ii 141
I am half-way down the slope—will no m stay me? „ II ii 149 fled from his own church by night, No m pursuing. „ II ii 158 seeing they were men Defective or excessive, „ II ii 212
Poor m, beside himself—not wise. „ II ii 235
I told the Pope what manner of m he was. „ II ii 253
Thy true King bad thee be A fisher of men; „ II ii 286 surrendering God's honour to the pleasure of a m. „ II ii 440 ever spread into the m Here in our silence? „ III i 22
Whither away, m? what are you flying from? „ III ii 18 a m passed in there to-day: I holla'd to him, „ III ii 24 and to read the faces of men at a great show. „ III iii 83
Foliot is the holier m, perhaps the better. „ III iii 92
Have I not promised, m, to send them back? „ III iii 190 when my voice Is martyr'd mute, and this m disappears, „ III iii 350 Come hither, m; stand there. „ IV ii 219
if he Had aught of m, or thou of woman; „ IV ii 232
My pleasure is to have a m about me. „ IV ii 430
Madam, I am as much m as the King „ IV ii 432
Thou as much m! No more of that; „ IV ii 452
No m to love me, honour me, obey me! „ V i 239
You are no King's men—you—you—you are Becket's men. „ V i 258
Will no m free me from this pestilent priest? Eleanor. Are ye king's men? I am king's woman, I. Knights. King's men! King's men! „ V i 262 a m may take good counsel Ev'n from his foe. „ V ii 2 there are men Of canker'd judgment everywhere— „ V ii 60
Did not a m's voice ring along the aisle, „ V ii 150
My lord, the city is full of armed men. „ V ii 188
M's help! but we, we have the Blessed Virgin „ V ii 219
she told us of arm'd men Here in the city. „ V ii 227
But these arm'd men—will you not hide yourself? „ V ii 247 drowning m, they say, remembers all The chances „ V ii 272 but these arm'd men—will you drown yourself? „ V ii 276
Reginald, all men know I loved the Prince. „ V ii 333
King commands you. We are all King's men. Becket. King's men at least should know „ V ii 385
I ask no leave of king, or mortal m, „ V ii 458 sworn Yourselves my men when I was Chancellor— „ V ii 502
On any m's advising but your own. „ V ii 551
Ay, monks, not men. „ V ii 602
These arm'd men in the city, these fierce faces— „ V iii 3
Those arm'd men in the cloister. „ V iii 49
Here, here, King's men! „ V iii 102 then you are a dead m; flee! „ V iii 126
Ay, make him prisoner, do not harm the m. „ V iii 146
Thou art my m, thou art my vassal. „ V iii 153

Man (continued) I hate the m! What filthy tools our Senate works with! The Cup I i 155
What would you with me, m? „ I i 193 were he living And grown to m and Sinnatus will'd it, „ I ii 151
My lord, the men! „ I ii 195
One of the men there knew him. „ I ii 341
Did he, honest m? „ I ii 376 and he said That men malign'd him. „ I ii 452
Or m, or woman, as traitors unto Rome. „ I iii 9
For whether men malign thy name, or no, „ I iii 84 drink too much, as men Have done on rafts of wreck— „ I iii 141
—having proof enough Against the m, „ I iii 159 that m from Synorix, who has been So oft to see the Priestess, „ II 9
Did not this m Speak well? „ II 91
A goodlier-looking m than Sinnatus. „ II 176
I would that every m made feast to-day „ II 225 or after slayest him As boy or m, „ II 281 Let be thy jokes and thy jerks, m! The Falcon 133 scorns The noblest-natured m alive, and I— „ 259
Why—no, m. Only see your cloth be clean. „ 419
he would marry me to the richest m In Florence; „ 748
'Better a m without riches, than riches without a m.' „ 751
A nobler breed of men and women. „ 755
Why, o' coorse, fur it be the owd m's birthdaäy. Prom. of May 1 6
'er an' the owd m they fell a kissin' o' one another „ 1 21
But he'll never be the same m again. Dobson. An' how d'ye find the owd m 'ere? „ 1 70
The owd m be heighty to-daäy, beänt he? „ 1 76
he cooms up, and he calls out among our oän men, „ 1 140 the farming men 'ull hev their dinner i' the long barn, „ 1 166
He's a Somersetshire m, and a very civil-spoken gentleman. „ 1 206 all but proving m An automatic series of sensations, „ 1 225
What can a m, then, live for but sensations, „ 1 241 men of old would undergo Unpleasant for the sake of pleasant ones Hereafter, „ 1 243
'What are we, says the blind old m in Lear? „ 1 263
Then the owd m i' Lear should be shaämed of hissen, „ 1 266
M only knows, the worse for him! „ 1 275
Good murnin', neighbours, and the saäme to you, my men. „ 1 318
Niver m 'ed better friends, and I will saäy niver master 'ed better men: „ 1 322 thaw I says it mysen, niver men 'ed a better master—and I knaws what men be, „ 1 327 theer be noän o' my men, thinks I to mysen, „ 1 410 and m perceives that The lost gleam of an after-life „ 1 501
Then the m, the woman, Following their best affinities, „ 1 521
And when the m, The child of evolution, „ 1 584
I seed how the owd m wur vext. „ II 27 an' ony o' Steer's men, an' ony o' my men „ II 34 you should be in the hayfield looking after your men; „ II 47 as long as the m sarved for 'is sweet'art i' Scriptur'. „ II 62
I would taäke the owd blind m to my oän fireside. „ II 74
I think I never can be brought to love any m. It seems to me that I hate men, ever since my sister left us. „ II 78
I thought Mr. Edgar the best of men, and he has proved himself the worst. „ II 86
Owd Steer gi'es nubbut cowd tea to 'is men, and owd Dobson gi'es beer. „ II 224
if m be only A willy-nilly current of sensations— „ II 262
The ghosts of the dead passions of dead men; „ II 276
That beer be as good fur 'erses as men. „ II 316
When m has surely learnt at last that all „ II 330
How worn he looks, poor m! who is it, I wonder. „ II 391
Our men and boys would hoot him, stone him, „ II 425
the m himself, When hearing of that piteous death, „ II 498
Well, my m, it seems that you can read. „ II 709 for I am closely related to the dead m's family. „ II 715 whether thou be Hedgar, or Hedgar's business m, „ II 735 so ta'en up wi' leädin' the owd m about all the blessed murnin' „ III 3
'O m, forgive thy mortal foe, „ III 5
You are as good as a m in the hayfield. „ III 106
He's dead, m—dead; gone to his account— „ III 144 would you beat a m for his brother's fault? „ III 155

Man (continued) the m has doubtless a good heart, and a true and lasting love for me: Prom. of May III 171 where the m and the woman, only differing as the stronger and the weaker, „ III 189
That last was my Father's fault, poor m. „ III 280
He be saäyin' a word to the owd m, „ III 481 brotherhood of m bas been Wrong'd by the cruelties „ III 543
Not ev'n to see the m? „ III 570
I am a m not prone to jealousies, „ III 626
The owd m's coom'd ageän to 'issen, „ III 702
Not that way, m! Curse on your brutal strength! „ III 731
The maid she loved the m. Foresters I i 9
The maid a rose to the m. (repeat) „ I i 13, 106
The maid her hand to the m. (repeat) „ I i 17, 93
the maid a kiss to the m. (repeat) „ I i 21, 120
We be more like scarecrows in a field than decent serving men; „ I i 35
I pray you, look at Robin Earl of Huntingdon's men. „ I i 37 nor of the gold, nor the m who took out the gold: „ I i 75
Robin the Earl, is always a-telling us that every m, „ I i 96
A rose to the m! Ay, the m had given her a rose „ I i 109 and the m must bring it out of her. „ I i 117 should have told us how the m first kissed the maid. „ I i 123
if a m and a maid care for one another, „ I i 134 now thou hast given me the m's kiss, let me give thee the maid's. „ I i 143
if a m and a maid love one another, „ I i 171 starched stiff creature, Little John, the Earl's m. „ I i 184 ride a-hawking with the help of the men. „ I i 214
But then your Sheriff, your little m, „ I i 231
Now your great m, your Robin, all England's Robin, „ I i 235 but our great m, our Robin, against it. „ I i 241 have the great men striven against the stream, „ I i 242 great m strive against it again to save his country, „ I i 24f there is no other m that shall give me away. „ I i 291
I am a silent m myself, and all the more wonder at our Earl. „ I ii 34
Ay, ay, and but that I am a m of weight, „ I ii 57
The m is able enough—no lack of wit, „ I ii 103
I hate him, I hate the m. „ I ii 114
A question that every true m asks of a woman once in his life. „ I ii 139
Beware, m, lest thou lose thy faith in me. „ I ii 179
What art thou, m? Sheriff of Nottingham? „ I ii 190
That is no true m's hand. I hate hidden faces. „ I ii 245
For though my men and I flash out at times „ I ii 274
Ho there! ho there, the Sheriff's men without!, Robin.
Nay, let them be, m, let them be. We yield. „ I iii 76
I am no more Than plain m to plain m. Tuck. Well, then, plain m, „ I iii 96
Each m for his own. Be thou their leader „ I iii 105
I knew thy father: He was a manly m, „ I iii 148
There are no men like Englishmen „ II i 7 m and maid be free To foil and spoil the tyrant „ II i 10 lives No m who truly loves and truly rules „ II i 76
I have forgotten my horn that calls my men together. „ II i 186
I saw a m go in, my lord. „ II i 207
There was a m just now that enter'd here? „ II i 239
How came we to be parted from our men? „ II i 255
Robin may be hard by wi' three-score of his men. „ II i 336
Why do you listen, m, to the old fool? „ II i 358 how to charm and waste the hearts of men. „ II i 503 perchance Up yonder with the m i' the moon. „ II i 507
Do you doubt me when I say she loves me, m? „ II i 521 what sort of m art thou For land, not love? „ II i 533 to help the old m When he was fighting. „ II i 542
I would fight with any m but thee. „ II i 558
And drains the heart and marrow from a m. „ II i 673 till thou wed what m thou wilt. „ II ii 15
Are the men all mad? there then, and there! „ II ii 34
I thought I saw thee clasp and kiss a m „ II ii 72
Thou see me clasp and kiss a m indeed, „ II ii 76
The old m dotes. „ II ii 83
My men say The fairies haunt this glade;— „ II ii 100
Far from solid foot of men, „ II ii 169

Man (continued) M, lying here alone, Moody creature, Foresters II ii 186
M, m, You shall wed your Marian. „ II ii 192
Why, my good Robin fancied me a m, „ III 20 Little John Fancied he saw thee clasp and kiss a m. „ III 24 that I fancy a m Other than him, he is not the m for me. „ III 26
being every inch a m I honour every inch of a woman. „ III 63 Friend Scarlet, art thou less a m than Much? „ III 66
So I would, Robin, if any m would accept her. „ III 74
no m, so His own true wife came with him, „ III 239
They are all mark'd men. „ III 290 silent blessing of one honest m Is heard in heaven— „ III 321
And you three holy men, You worshippers of the Virgin, „ III 382
Air and word, my lady, are maid and m. „ III 420
See that men be set Along the glades and passes „ III 456 then each m That owns a wife or daughter, „ III 459
So that they deal with us like honest men, „ IV 101
And thou shalt have it, m. „ IV 188
What, is not m a hunting animal? „ IV 223
And show thyself more of a m than me. Much. Well, no m yet has ever bowl'd me down. Scarlet. Ay, for old Much is every inch a m. „ IV 286
I am the oldest of thy men, and thou „ IV 294 always so much more of a m than my youngsters old Much. „ IV 298 may be more of a m than to be bowled over like a ninepin. „ IV 304
I am mortally afear'd o' thee, thou big m, „ IV 317
Geese, m! for how canst thou be thus allied „ IV 349
Robin's a wise m, Richard a wiseacre, „ IV 357 but he is a free m. „ IV 386
Have you no pity? must you see the m? „ IV 458
Go men, and fetch him hither on the litter. „ IV 461
There was a m of ours Up in the north, „ IV 529
The m lay down—the delicate-footed creature „ IV 535
The hunter's passion flash'd into the m, „ IV 540 the m Fell with him, and was crippled ever after. I fear I had small pity for that m.— „ IV 544
What pricks thee save it be thy conscience, m? „ IV 626
Carry her off, and let the old m die. „ IV 677
And all I love, Robin, and all his men, „ IV 722
Said I not, I loved thee, m? „ IV 741 Thou hast risk'd thy life for mine: bind these two men. „ IV 895 men will call him An Eastern tyrant, „ IV 902 my liege, these men are outlaws, thieves, „ IV 905 strike the bonds From these three men, „ IV 963 like the m In Holy Writ, who brought his talent back; „ IV 980
I have seen thee clasp and kiss a m indeed, For our brave Robin is a man indeed. „ IV 1035

Managing making of your butter, and the m of your poultry? Prom. of May II 94

Manchet-bread You gentles that live upo' m-b and marchpane, Foresters II i 281

Mane his monarch m Bristled about his quick ears— The Cup I ii 120

Mangle and the sacks, and the taäters, and the m's, Prom. of May I 453

Manhood Methinks there is no m left among us. Queen Mary V ii 284
The Christian m of the man who reigns! Harold II i 104
rend away Eyesight and m, life itself, Becket IV ii 285
I that wedded Henry, Honouring his m— „ IV ii 421
So the child grow to m: Prom. of May II 289
Rogues, have you no m? Foresters II i 421 thro' thy lack of m hast betray'd Thy father „ II i 568 and their own want Of m to their leader! „ II i 694

Man-in-arms a mightier m-i-a Than William. Harold V i 399

Manlier we will find it for thee—Or something m. Becket IV ii 374

Manliest Here fell the truest, m hearts of England. Harold V ii 58

Manlike Thou art m perfect. Becket II i 252
Thou standest straight. Thou speakest m. Foresters II i 409

Manly He was a m man, as thou art, Much, „ I iii 148

Manner foreign courts report him in his m Queen Mary V ii 512
Let me learn at full The m of his death, Becket, Pro. 426 with all m of game, and four-footed things, and fowls—— Herbert. And all m of creeping things too? „ III iii 130 by force and arms hath trespassed against the king in divers m's, Foresters I iii 64

Manner'd See Cold-manner'd

Mannerless M wolves! Becket I iii 739

Manners and those bleak m thaw, Queen Mary III ii 161 like his cloak, his m want the nap And gloss of court; „ III v 69 Am I to change my m, Simon Renard, „ III vi 151
How beautiful His m are, and how unlike the farmer's! Prom. of May II 531 so that you do not copy his bad m? „ III 362
M be so corrupt, and these are the days of Prince John. Foresters I i 176
Manor since we would be lord of our own m, Becket II ii 20
They slew my stags in mine own m here, „ V ii 438
Man-Robin If my m-R were but a bird-Robin, Foresters III 39
Mansfield I have heard 'em in the market at M. „ III 407
Mantle Flung by the golden m of the cloud, „ II i 28
Many Thro' m voices crying right and left, Queen Mary I ii 48
The downfall of so m simple souls, „ I ii 54 for the two were fellow-prisoners So m years in yon accursed Tower— „ I iv 200 there were m wolves among you Who dragg'd the scatter'd limbs „ I v 399
For tho' we touch'd at m pirate ports, Foresters IV 983
Many-breasted The m-b mother Artemis Emboss'd upon it. The Cup II 340
Map (See also Walter Map) That M, and these new railers at the Church Becket I i 306
M scoffs at Rome. I all but hold with M. „ II ii 384
M, tho' you make your butt too big, you overshoot it. „ III iii 121
False figure, M would say. „ III iii 346
Mar as one That m's a cause with over-violence. „ IV ii 327
Marah this bitter world again—These wells of M. „ V ii 82
Marble (adj.) have you not mark'd Her eyes were ever on the m floor? The Cup II 19 Marble (s) Vein'd m—not a furrow yet— Becket II i 197 wine Ran down the m and lookt like blood, The Cup II 204 Iron will fuse, and m melt; Prom. of May II 505
This is mere m. Old hag, how should thy one tooth Foresters II i 275
March may not those, who m Before their age, Prom. of May II 632
Marchpane You gentles that live upo' manchet-bread and m, Foresters II i 282
Margery I hear M: I'll go play with her. Becket III i 274
M? no, that's a finer thing there. How it glitters! „ IV i 1
I sent this M, and she comes not back; „ IV ii 3
You said you couldn't trust M, „ IV ii 16
Maria Ave M, gratia plena, Benedicta tu in mulieribus. Queen Mary III ii 1
Marian (daughter of Sir Richard Lea) (See also Maid Marian) These roses for my Lady M; Foresters I i 2
Sir Richard and my Lady M fare wellnigh as sparely as their people. „ I i 30
Lady M holds her nose when she steps across it. „ I i 83
M! Marian. Father! „ I i 179
Lady M, your woman so flustered me that I forgot „ I i 295
My Lady M you can make it so If you will deign „ I ii 130
Leaving your fair M alone here. „ I ii 154
I promise thee to make this M thine. „ I ii 183
Farewell, Sir Richard; farewell, sweet M. „ I ii 285 thou art the very woman who waits On my dear M. „ II i 103
She struck him, my brave M, struck the Prince, „ II i 134
Sheriff Would pay this cursed mortgage to his brother If M would marry him; „ II i 146
—if so the land may come To M, „ II i 149
Thou wilt not see My M more. „ II i 456
Give me some news of my sweet M. Where is she? Marian. Thy sweet M? I believe She came with me „ II i 481
O thou unworthy brother of my dear M! „ II i 539
O my dear M, Is it thou, is it thou? „ II i 597
O hold thy hand! this is our M. „ II ii 37
You shall wed your M. She is true, and you are true, „ II iii 193 honouring all womankind, and more especially my lady M, „ III 57 thou feel'st with me The ghost returns to M, „ III 115
M, thou and thy woman, Why, where is Kate? „ III 257
Honour to thee, brave M, and thy Kate. „ III 300
And they shall pledge thee, M, „ III 316
M! Marian. Speak not. „ IV 609
Sweet M, by the letter of the law It seems „ IV 638 would clutch Our pretty M for his paramour, „ IV 767
On those two here, Robin and M. „ IV 929
Kiss him, Sir Richard—kiss him, my sweet M. „ IV 1004
Marian (daughter of Sir Richard Lea) (continued) Embrace me, M, and thou, good Kate, Foresters IV 1031 these old oaks will murmur thee M along with Robin. „ IV 1095
Maries in his scared prayers Heaven and earth's M; Queen Mary II ii 88
Mark (an object) (See also Sea-marks) Wide of the m ev'n for a madman's dream. „ V iii 81
Mark (coin) the King demands three hundred m's, Becket I iii 627 the King demands seven hundred m's, „ I iii 635
the King demands five hundred m's, „ I iii 642
Some thirty—forty thousand silver m's. „ I iii 658
What! forty thousand m's! „ I iii 704
Forty thousand m's! forty thousand devils— „ I iv 90 ransomed for two thousand m's in gold. Foresters I i 65
Those two thousand m's lent me by the Abbot „ I i 264
I ran into my debt to the Abbot, Two thousand m's in gold. „ II i 464
These two have forty gold m's between them, Robin. „ III 203
Leave it with him and add a gold m thereto. „ III 211
Take his penny and leave him his gold m. „ III 218
I have one m in gold which a pious son of the Church „ III 280
Well, as he said, one m in gold. „ III 285
One m in gold. „ III 287
they have each ten m's in gold. „ III 292 take the twenty-seven m's to the captain's treasury. „ III 295
How much is it, Robin, for a knight? Robin. A m. „ IV 153
I had one m. Robin. What more. „ IV 165
Where he would pay us down his thousand m's. „ IV 442
Lest he should fail to pay these thousand m's „ IV 455
What more? one thousand m's, Or else the land. „ IV 474
Here be one thousand m's Out of our treasury „ IV 492
Ay, ay, but there is use, four hundred m's. Robin. There then, four hundred m's. „ IV 496
my tongue tript—five hundred m's for use. „ IV 499
Would buy me for a thousand m's in gold— „ IV 652
Much lighter than a thousand m's in gold; „ IV 657
Is weightier than a thousand m's in gold. „ IV 660
Thou art worth thy weight in all those m's of gold, „ IV 1024
Mark (impression) Lord hath set his m upon him that no man should murder him. Becket I iv 192 but he left the m of 'is foot i' the flower-bed; Prom. of May I 408
I measured his foot wi' the m i' the bed, but it wouldn't fit—seeäms to me the m wur maäde by a Lunnun boot. „ I 414
Mark (verb) I'll have one m it And bring it me. Queen Mary I v 372 no man need; but did you m our Queen? „ II ii 320
I was too sorry for the woman To m the dress. „ III i 59 said the Miserere Mei—But all in English, m you; „ III i 392 Nor m the sea-bird rouse himself and hover Harold II ii 334 hereafter Shall m out Vice from Virtue Prom. of May I 540 Mark'd Had m her for my brother Edward's bride; Queen Mary I v 289 have m the haughtiness of their nobles; „ II i 168
And m me ev'n as Cain, „ III ii 55
I stood near—M him— „ IV iii 618
Hast thou not m—come closer to mine ear— „ V i 225 if your Grace hath m it, so have I. Philip. Hast thou not likewise m Elizabeth, „ V i 231
That if your Grace hath m her, so have I. „ V i 239
m the sons of those Who made this Britain England, Harold IV iii 152
M how the war-axe swang, „ IV iii 156
M how the spear-head sprang, „ IV iii 158
This chart here m 'Her Bower,' Becket, Pro. 160
I m a group of lazars in the marketplace— „ I iv 80
m Her eyes were ever on the marble floor? The Cup II 18
Ay, ay, the line o' life is m enow; Foresters II i 352
They are all m men. „ III 290
What deer when I have m him ever yet Escaped mine arrow? „ IV 63
m if those two knaves from York be coming? „ IV 112 Market And your worship's name heard into Maidstone m, Queen Mary II i 63 men are at their m's, in their fields, Harold II ii 436 have won Their value again—beyond all m's— The Falcon 905
I have heard 'em in the m at Mansfield. Foresters III 407
Marketplace I marked a group of lazars in the m— Becket I iv 81
Marriage (adj.) While this same m question was being argued, Queen Mary II ii 37

Marriage (adj.) (continued) tore away My m ring, and rent my bridal veil; Harold I ii 80
I am his wife! and she—For look, our m ring! „ V ii 108 herself should see That kings are faithful to their m vow. Becket I ii 78
the m cup Wherefrom we make libation to the Goddess The Cup II 198 Go on with the m rites. (repeat) „ II 399, 421

Marriage (s) (See also After-marriage, First-marriage)
Have sworn this Spanish m shall not be. Queen Mary I iv 115 side with you and him Against her m; „ I iv 160
Because they think me favourer of this m. „ I v 157
Feigning to treat with him about her m— „ II ii 34
this m is the least Of all their quarrel. „ II ii 154
As to this m, ye shall understand „ II ii 202
This m had the assent of those to whom „ II ii 206
This m should bring loss or danger to you, „ II ii 227
Moreover, if this m should not seem, „ II ii 232 whether It beats hard at this m. „ III i 39
I may be wrong, sir. This m will not hold. „ III i 103 with all of us Against this foreign m, „ III iii 7 forfeited her right to reign By m with an alien— „ V i 291
My sister's m, and my father's m's, „ V iii 96
That m was half sin. Harold I ii 53
a peace-offering, A scape-goat m— „ I ii 204 and our m and thy glory Been drunk together! „ IV iii 8
I fain Had made my m not a lie; „ V i 320 for m, rose or no rose, has killed the golden violet. Becket, Pro. 350 it is the cup we use in our m's. The Cup I i 44 sends you this cup—the cup we use in our m's— „ I ii 73 Throne him—and then the m—ay and tell him „ II 156
I have no fears at this my second m. „ II 209
Entreats he may be present at our m. „ II 249
—make me happy in my m! „ II 275
To make my m prosper to my wish! „ II 308
In honour of his gift and of our m, „ II 351
Bring me The costly wines we use in m's. „ II 365 Drink and drink deep—our m will be fruitful. „ II 380 they are made by the blessed saints—these m's. Lady Giovanna. M's? I shall never marry again! The Falcon 203
She will urge m on me. I hate tears. M is but an old tradition. Prom. of May I 489
M! That fine, fat, hook-nosed uncle of mine, „ I 508 oust me from his will, if I Made such a m. And m in itself— „ I 515 traditions, customs, m One of the feeblest! „ I 520
I have no thought of m, my friend. „ II 65 which is my dream of a true m. „ III 179
I had once a vision of a pure and perfect m, „ III 189
Has he offered you m, this gentleman? „ III 290 are you quite sure that after m „ III 293 he gave me no address, and there was no word of m; „ III 333
If m ever brought a woman happiness „ III 639 an' wants To hev a word wi' ye about the m. Harold. The what? Milly. The m. Harold. The m? Milly. Yeäs, the m. Granny says m's be maäde i' 'eaven. „ III 704
Robin, I will not kiss thee, For that belongs to m; Foresters III 138
Join them and they are a true m; „ III 421
M if of the soul, not of the body. „ IV 720

Marriage-banquet Answer them thou! Is this our m-b? Harold IV iii 5

Marriage-garland the m-g withers ever with the putting on, Becket, Pro. 359

Marriage-morn For so methought it was our m-m, Harold I ii 76

Married m The mother of Elizabeth— Queen Mary I v 31
Mary of Scotland, m to your Dauphin, „ I v 295
It was a sin to love her m, „ III i 339
Before my father m my good mother,— „ III v 245
The Queen of Scots is m to the Dauphin, „ V v 52
I m her for Morcar—a sin against The truth of love. Harold V i 169 only you know the King's m, for King Louis—— Rosamund. M! Becket III i 167
Do you believe that you are m to him? (repeat) „ IV ii 46, 54
Will you not say you are not m to him? „ IV ii 109
m Since—m Sinnatus, the Tetrarch here— The Cup I i 15

Married (continued) I envied Sinnatus when he m her. The Cup I i 130 cloudless heaven which we have found together In our three m years! „ I ii 417
In symbol of their m unity, „ II 363
Why should I? I am not to be m. „ II 370
That was the very year before you m. Lady Giovanna. When I was m you were at the wars. The Falcon 374 to go on together again, till one of us be m. Prom. of May I 776
And your sweetheart—when are you and he to be m? „ III 111
I am sure that when we are m he will be willing „ III 260 said that whenever I m he would give me away, Foresters I i 288

Marrow And drains the heart and m from a man. „ II i 672

Marry council and all her people wish her to m. Queen Mary I i 113 some say, That you shall m him, „ I iv 212
Would I m Prince Philip, if all England hate him? „ I v 138
Madam, take it bluntly; m Philip, „ I v 205
That you may m Philip, Prince of Spain— „ I v 251
if we m, we shall still maintain All former treaties „ I v 265
If this man m our Queen, „ II i 170 never Consent thereto, nor m while I live; „ II ii 231
To sing, love, m, churn, brew, bake, and die, „ III v 111
I think I will not m anyone, „ III v 239
To m and have no husband Makes the wife fool. Harold II ii 309
'M, the Saints must go along with us, „ II ii 365
The King hath cursed him, if he m me; The Pope hath cursed him, m me or no! „ III ii 190
Wilt thou go with him? he will m thee. Becket IV ii 162 arms of her first love, Fitzurse, Who swore to m her. „ IV ii 336 Hath she made up her mind to m him? Priestess. To m him who stabb'd her Sinnatus. The Cup II 22
You will not m Synorix? „ II 27
I am the bride of Death, and only M the dead. „ II 30
You mean to m him? Camma. I mean to m him— „ II 60
He wills you then this day to m him, „ II 66
I am sure you will not m him. „ II 105
but he knew I meant to m him. The Falcon 51
Marriages? I shall never m again! „ 205
To m him?—I can never m him. „ 248 but be sure That I shall never m again, „ 742
he would m me to the richest man In Florence; „ 747 Philip, Philip, if you do not m me, Prom. of May I 681 grant you what they call a license To m. „ I 696
Thy feyther eddicated his darters to m gentlefoälk, „ II 116 Farmer Dobson, were I to m him, has promised „ III 169 and prattled to each other that we would m fine gentlemen, „ III 277
I eddicated boäth on 'em to m gentlemen, „ III 455 asking his consent—you wish'd me—That we should m: „ III 495 thou shouldst m one who will pay the mortgage. Foresters I i 280 mortgage to his brother If Marian would m him; „ II i 146 and who marries her Marries the land. „ II i 152
That such a brother—she m the Sheriff! „ II i 550
Thou shalt not m The Sheriff, but abide with me who love thee. „ II i 601
She will not m till her father yield. „ II ii 82
—and she will not m till Richard come, „ II ii 84
Father, I cannot m till Richard comes. „ IV 648 and she will not m till Richard come. „ IV 773
Thou wouldst m This Sheriff when King Richard came „ IV 861
If you would m me with a traitor sheriff, „ IV 870

Marrying (See also Anti-marrying) your Scottish namesake m The Dauphin, Queen Mary V i 134 from the sons of Alfgar By such a m? Harold I ii 182
Art thou—still bent—on m? The Cup II 324
Who thought to buy your m me with gold. Foresters IV 718
if the King forbid thy m With Robin, „ IV 875

Marsh dreadful lights crept up from out the m— Harold III i 380

Martyr (s) Old Rome, that first made m's in the Church, Queen Mary III iv 126
'M's blood—seed of the Church.' „ IV i 146
so past martyr-like—M I may not call him— „ IV iii 625
I am m in myself already.—Herbert! Becket I i 362
Who will be m when he might escape. „ V ii 279

Martyr (verb) but a voice Among you: murder, m me if ye will— Harold v i 78
Martyrdom seal his faith In sight of all with flaming m. Queen Mary iv iii 29
O brother !—I may come to m. Becket i i 361
Strike, and I die the death of m; „ i iii 169
He loses half the meed of m Who will be martyr „ v ii 278
The ghostly warning of my m; „ v ii 292
my dream foretold my m In mine own church. „ v ii 632
We must not force the crown of m. „ v iii 28
Martyr'd when my voice Is m mute, and this man disappears, „ iii iii 350
Martyr-like so past m-l—Martyr I may not call him— Queen Mary iv iii 623
Marvel (s) A m, how He from the liquid sands Harold ii ii 55
The full-train'd m of all falconry, The Falcon 25
Marvel (verb) and you—I m at you—Ye know what is between us. Becket v ii 499
My lord, I m why you never loan On any man's advising „ v ii 550
I m is it sack or Malvoisie ? Foresters iii 331
Marvell'd m at Our unfamiliar beauties of the west; Becket iv ii 301
Mary (Queen of England) (See also Maries, Mary of England) Long live Queen M, (repeat) Queen Mary i i 8, 65
It's Harry ! Third Citizen. It's Queen M. Old Nokes. The blessed M's a-passing ! „ i i 35 not to yield His Church of England to the Papal wolf And M; „ i ii 37 True, M was born, But France would not accept her „ i ii 65 be no peace for M till Elizabeth lose her head.' „ i iii 5 let me call her our second Virgin M, „ i iii 58
Virgin M ! we'll have no virgins here— „ i iii 60
If M will not hear us—well—conjecture— „ i iv 117
No new news that Philip comes to wed M, „ ii i 16
we will teach Queen M how to reign. „ ii i 147
Philip shall not wed M; „ ii i 164
Long live Queen M ! Down with Wyatt ! The Queen ! „ ii ii 252
And what was M's dress ? „ iii i 56
Philip and M, Philip and M ! Long live the King and Queen, Philip and M ! „ iii i 206
Long live Queen M ! „ iii i 294
There be both King and Queen, Philip and M. Shout ! „ iii i 297
The Queen comes first, M and Philip. Gardiner. Shout, then, M and Philip ! Man. M and Philip ! „ iii i 299 shouted for thy pleasure, shout for mine ! Philip and M ! „ iii i 306
Philip and M ! Gadiner. I distrust thee. „ iii i 309
M rubb'd out pale— „ iii i 422
'Thou shalt !' And sign'd it—M ! „ iii i 428
Left M a wife-widow here alone, „ iii i 462
How oft hath Peter knock'd at M's gate ! And M would have risen and let him in, But, M, there were those within the house „ iii ii 63
M would have it; and this Gardiner follows; „ iii iii 230
But shouted in Queen M. „ iii iv 46 and think of this in your coming. 'M THE QUEEN ! „ iii v 225 Queen M gwoes on a-burnin' and a-burnin', „ iv iii 522
M hath acknowledged you her heir. „ v iii 30 Mary (Virgin Mary) (See also Maria, Maries) and, Holy M ! How Harold used to beat him ! Harold i i 431 by St. M these beggars and these friars shall join you. Foresters iii 416
Mary of England (Queen Mary) M o E, joining hands with Spain, Queen Mary i v 298
Mary of Scotland (daughter of James V.) (See also Scots [Mary, Queen of]) M o S,—for I have not own'd My sister,— „ i v 284
M o S, married to your Dauphin, „ i v 295
Mash (smash) Out o' the chaumber ! I'll m tha into nowt. Prom. of May iii 735
Mask (s) not drop the m before The masquerade is over— Queen Mary iii vi 110
Vice and Virtue Are but two m's of self; Prom. of May i 538
Mask (verb) Norman cookery is so spiced, It m's all this. Harold ii ii 812
Mask'd thee however m I should have known. Foresters ii i 649
Masque court is always May, buds out in m's, Queen Mary iii v 12
Masquerade not drop the mask before The m is over— „ iii vi 111
Mass setting up a m at Canterbury To please the Queen. Cranmer. It was a wheedling monk Set up the m. „ i ii 88
By the m, old friend, we'll have no pope here „ i iii 42 that swearest by the m ? „ i iii 46
by the m we'll have no m here. „ i iii 51
And brought us back the m. „ i v 184
It is but a communion, not a m: (repeat) „ iv ii 56, 111 shall m'es here be sung By every priest in Oxford. „ iv iii 100
Who stole the widow's one sitting hen o' Sunday, when she was at m ? Becket i iv 122
Massacre that her flies Must m each other ? Prom. of May i 285
Massacred Hath m the Thane that was his guest, Harold ii ii 297
Mast whose quick flash splits The mid-sea m, The Cup ii 293 Master (See also Mister, Mr.) Let father alone, my m's ! Queen Mary i i 38 rumour that Charles, the m of the world, „ i i 105 kind and gentle m, the Queen's Officers „ i ii 107
Quiet a moment, my m's; „ i iii 16
Shame, shame, my m's ! are you English-born, „ i iii 70
My m's, yonder's fatter game for you „ i iii 79
What says the King your m ? Noailles. Madam, my m hears with much alarm, „ i v 248 wherefore, my m, If but to prove your Majesty's goodwill, „ i v 259 your good m, Pray God he do not be the first „ i v 268
Your m works against me in the dark. „ i v 277
My m, Charles, Bad you go softly with your heretics „ i v 391 he will be King, King of England, my m's; „ ii i 173 ye know, my m's, that wherever Spain hath ruled „ ii i 205
You are shy and proud like Englishmen, my m's, „ ii ii 258
The reeking dungfork m of the mace ! „ ii ii 275
And ye, my m's, of the lower house, „ iii iii 102
And in my m Henry's time; „ iii iii 228
St. Peter in his time of fear Denied his M, „ iii iv 264
Like dogs that set to watch their m's gate, „ iii iv 309
Legate Is here as Pope and M of the Church, „ iii iv 347
Which was not pleasant for you, M Cranmer. „ iv ii 137
How are the mighty fallen, M Cranmer ! „ iv ii 147
We are ready To take you to St. Mary's, M Cranmer. „ iv ii 239
Speak, M Cranmer, Fulfil your promise made me, „ iv iii 111
Be plainer, M Cranmer. „ iv iii 235
You should be grateful to my m, too. „ v iii 28
I am much beholden to the King, your m. „ v iii 112
My most dear M, What matters ? Harold i i 194 Better to be a liar's dog, and hold My m honest, „ iii i 126 and that Archdeacon Hildebrand His m, „ iii ii 146
Are ye my m's, or my lord the King ? Becket i iii 135
As thou hast honour for the Pope our m, „ i iii 201
The m of his m, the King's king.— „ i iii 462 our lords and m's in Christ Jesus. „ i iv 87
And what said the black sheep, my m's ? „ i iv 168 for I be his lord and m i' Christ, „ i iv 241 hears a door open in the house and thinks 'the m.' „ iii iii 99
I will be Sole m of my house. „ v i 151
O women, Ye will have Roman m's. The Cup ii 511
m been a-glorifying and a-velveting and a-silking himself, The Falcon 98 will you take the word out of your m's own mouth ? „ 598
Perhaps, M Dobson. I can't tell, for I have never seen him. Prom. of May i 114
M Dobson, you are a comely man to look at. „ i 156 and the m 'ud be straänge an' pleased if you'd step in fust, „ i 167
I go. M Dobson, did you hear what I said ? „ i 171
Niver man 'ed better friends, and I will saäy niver m 'ed better men : „ i 323 and, thaw I says it mysen, niver men 'ed a better m— „ i 327
An' the saäme to you, M. „ i 344
An' the saäme to you, M Steer, likewise. „ i 347 fur they says the m goäs cleän off his 'eäd when he 'eärs the naäme on 'im; „ iii 131

Master (continued) You, M Hedgar, Harold, or whatever They calls ye, Prom. of May III 726
The lady loved the m well, Foresters I i 8
My m, Robin the Earl, is always a-telling us „ I i 94
I would hoist the drawbridge, like thy m. „ I i 319
I am a virgin, my m's, I am a virgin. Much. And a virgin, my m's, three yards about the waist „ I ii 67
My m's, welcome gallant Walter Lea. „ IV 1002 Strike up a stave, my m's, all is well. „ IV 1101
Master'd old affection m you, You falter'd into tears. Becket V ii 143
Mastiff (adj.) as a m dog May love a puppy cur for no more reason Queen Mary I iv 194
Mastiff (s) Our savage m, That all but kill'd the beggar, Prom. of May I 558
Match (an equal) Thou and thy woman are a m for three friars. Foresters III 262
Match (marriage) But is Don Carlos such a goodly m? Queen Mary V iii 86
That was, my lord, a m of policy. Harold IV i 199 thy m shall follow mine. Foresters IV 1044 Match (verb) If such a one as you should m with Spain, Queen Mary V iii 66
Match'd You do misname me, m with any such, Becket IV ii 128 and m with my Harold is like a hedge thistle by a garden rose. Prom. of May III 175
Mate (s) (See also Co-mate, Maäte) News, m's ! a miracle, a miracle ! Queen Mary III ii 209
Mad for thy m, passionate nightingale . . . Harold I ii 1
They are not so true, They change their m's. „ III ii 105
he frown'd 'No m for her, if it should come to that'— Becket III i 259
I would thou hadst a m ! The Falcon 17
Mate (verb) Let York bear his to m with Canterbury. Becket I iii 512
Not half her hand—no hand to m with her, „ II i 190
As m with one that holds no love is pure, Foresters IV 711
Mated See Maäted
Mater Salva patriam, Sancta M. Harold V i 471
Matilda (or Maud, daughter of Henry I.) So did M, the King's mother. Becket I iii 152
Matter (s) stir not yet This m of the Church lands. Queen Mary I v 409
I scarce have heart to mingle in this m, „ II ii 114
These are forgiven—m's of the past— „ III iii 190 might it not be policy in some m Of small importance „ III vi 167
And if you be not secret in this m, „ V i 272
That were too small a m for a comet ! Harold I i 470
No m ! Aldwyth. How no m, Harold slain ?— „ V ii 17
No m ! Aldwyth. Not help me, „ V ii 23 my mind was set upon other m's. Eleanor. What m's ? State m's ? love m's ? Becket, Pro. 318 and the m in the metre. „ Pro. 384 that secret m which would heat the King against thee. „ Pro. 487
And on a m wholly spiritual. „ I iii 85
You have had the better of us In secular m's. „ II ii 81
I have been more for the King than the Church in this m— „ III iii 66
it was but the sacrifice of a kingdom to his son, a smaller m ; „ III iii 107
This is no secret, but a public m. „ V ii 320
No m ! see your cloth be white as snow ! The Falcon 498
A moment for some m of no moment ! Foresters II i 474 Matter (verb) No, no ; what m's ? Forlorn I am, Queen Mary V ii 237
What m's how I look ? Harold V i 394
That doth not m either. „ V ii 62
What m's ? Royal—I mean to leave the royalty Becket II i 106
That m's not. Take thou this cup and leave it The Cup I i 66
Savage, is he ? What m's ? Prom. of May I 563
Maurice (See also Maurice Berkeley) told Sir M there was one Cognisant of this, Queen Mary II iv 99
Maurice Berkeley there by Sir M B Was taken prisoner. „ II iv 94
Mavis Hawk, buzzard, jay, the m and the merle, Foresters I iii 115 May Ay, for an hour in M. But court is always M, buds out in masques, Queen Mary III v 10 which a breeze of M Took ever and anon, The Cup I ii 406 Richer than all the wide world-wealth of M, The Falcon 467
O joy for the promise of M, of M, O joy for the promise of M. (repeat) Prom. of May I 43, 723

May (continued) O grief for the promise of M, of M, O grief for the promise of M. (repeat) Prom. of May I 59, 750 most beautiful M we have had for many years ! „ I 567
Is the most beautiful morning of this M. „ I 570 you make The M and morning still more beautiful, You, the most beautiful blossom of the M. „ I 573
So lovely in the promise of her M, „ III 753
Maybe See Mebbe
May-morning and kiss me This beautiful M-m. Prom. of May I 565
Mayn't and she m be so fur out theer. „ I 181
Mayor All hangs on her address, And upon you, Lord M. Queen Mary II ii 56
I, the Lord M, and these our companies And guilds „ II ii 127
I, Lord M Of London, and our guilds and companies. „ II ii 139 tho' my Lord M here, By his own rule, „ II ii 345
May-time It was M-t, And I was walking „ V v 87 or a stump-tailed ox in M-t, Foresters II i 435 Maze This labyrinthine brickwork m in m, Becket, Pro. 166
Mazed See Maäzed
Meadow (See also Midder, Mountain-meadow) there stole into the city a breath Full of the m's, Becket I i 263
With other beauties on a mountain m, The Falcon 352
I have lost a cow from my m. Foresters II i 326
Meadowsweet Forget-me-not, m, willow-herb. Prom. of May II 299
Meal (ground corn) so dusted his back with the m in his sack, Becket I iv 174
M enough, meat enough, well fed ; The Falcon 165
Meal (repast) make Thy slender m out of those scraps and shreds „ 146
Mean That's a hard word, legitimate ; what does it m? Second Citizen. It m's a bastard. Third Citizen. Nay, it m's true-born. Queen Mary I i 12
I m the Lady Elizabeth. „ I i 74 boast that after all She m's to wed you. „ I iv 89 she m's to counsel your withdrawing To Ashridge, „ I iv 224 she m's to make A farewell present to your Grace. „ I iv 243
they m to pardon me. „ IV ii 50
I m not like to live. „ V i 245
Do you m to drive me mad ? „ V ii 200
Gamel, son of Orm, What thinkest thou this m's ? (repeat) Harold I i 21, 464
m The doom of England and the wrath of Heaven ? „ I i 45
And cannot answer sanely . . . What it m's ? „ I i 89
It m's the fall of Tostig from his earldom. „ I i 468
It m's the lifting of the house of Alfgar. „ I i 472
What did he m ? „ II ii 223
He did not m to keep his vow. Harold. Not m To make our England Norman. „ III i 248
Morcar ! Edwin ! What do they m ? „ IV i 134
Look you, we never m to part again. „ V ii 80
I have heard him say He m's no more ; Becket I iii 193 sworn upon his side, And ever m to do it. „ II ii 466
What is it you m ? Margery. I m your goodman, „ III i 157
I m her whom you call—fancy— „ III i 201
Meän'd (meant) I m they be as blue as violets. Prom. of May I 103
Meaner Then left him for the m ! thee !— Harold IV ii 71
Meanest Ev'n to the least and m of my own, Becket II ii 181
Meaning might chance—perchance—To guess their m. Morcar. Thine own m, Harold, To make all England one, Harold IV i 139
I know Thy m. Perish she, I, all, Becket III iii 19
And smiles at my best m's, Foresters IV 727
Means stakes high ? Noailles. But not beyond your m. Queen Mary I iii 147
That by your gracious m and intercession „ III iii 121
These are the m God works with, „ III vi 68
My liberality perforce is dead Thro' lack of m of giving. The Falcon 297
How hadst thou then the m to buy a cow ? Foresters II i 303
Meant (See also Meän'd) I m True matters of the heart. Queen Mary I iv 99
Elizabeth—To Philibert of Savoy, as you know, We m to wed her ; „ V i 248
Thou knowest never woman m so well, „ V ii 342
Said 'ay' when I m 'no,' lied like a lad Harold II ii 656
He m no harm nor damage to the Church. Becket I iii 216
I had m to make him all but king. „ I iii 464

Meant (continued) I never m you harm in any way. Becket IV ii 106
Not if you m it, I am sure. „ IV ii 184
I m thee to have follow'd—better thus. The Cup II 498 but he knew I m to marry him. The Falcon 51
Why? because I m it!— Prom. of May III 365

Measure (s) (See also Over-measure) still All within m—nay, Queen Mary I v 436
They have brought it in large m on themselves. „ IV iii 363
And he is with you in a m still. „ V v 27 but belike Thou hast not learnt his m. Harold IV iii 118
I thinks I'd like to taäke the m o' your foot. Prom. of May I 464
If you will deign to tread a m with me. Foresters I ii 132

Measure (verb) if you'd like to m your own length upon the grass. Prom. of May I 465

Measured an' I m his foot wi' the mark i' the bed, „ I 413

Meat owld lord fell to 's m wi' a will, God bless un! Queen Mary IV iii 514
I have been a lover of wines, and delicate m's, Becket I i 77
King's m! By the Lord, „ I iv 140
And take a hunter's vengeance on the m's The Cup I ii 44
Meal enough, m enough, well fed; The Falcon 165 each of 'em as full of m as an egg. Foresters I i 42

Mebbe (maybe) the fault, m, wur as much mine as yours; Prom. of May I 325 and Parson m, thaw he niver mended that gap „ I 445

Meddle I'll not m wi' 'im if he doänt m wi' meä. „ I 173
I promised one of the Misses I wouldn't m wi' ye, „ I 470
She telled me once not to m wi' 'im, „ II 599

Medicine I have a wholesome m here Puts that belief asleep. Becket IV ii 50
It has been much commended as a m. The Falcon 588

Meditate so to m Upon my greater nearness Foresters II i 43

Medway (river) green field Beside the brimming M, Queen Mary II i 244

Meek yet so m, so modest, So wife-like humble „ III i 362
Ah, weak and m old man, „ V v 131

Meet When do you m? Noailles. To-night. „ I iii 154 these shall m upon St. Andrew's day. „ III ii 125
It was not m heretic swine should live In Lambeth. „ III ii 134
We m at Brussels. „ III vi 214
why my friend Should m with a lesser mercy „ IV i 70 you scarce could m his eye And hold your own; „ IV i 104 Count-crab will make his nippers m in thine heart; Harold II i 76 shall they m In private? „ II ii 87 fears that these may act On Harold when they m. William. Then let them m! „ II ii 92
To m thee in the North. „ V i 290
O Harold! husband! Shall we m again? „ V i 361
I have had it fashion'd, see, to m my hand. „ V i 422
And no David To m him? „ V i 497
The horse and horseman cannot m the shield, „ V i 591
Where I shall m the Barons and my King. Becket I ii 84
—And to m it I needs must leave as suddenly. „ III i 91
And so farewell until we m in England. Becket. I fear, my liege, we may not m in England. „ III iii 237 Strike! I challenge thee to m me before God. „ IV ii 254 bow'd herself to m the wave Of humiliation, „ IV ii 388
But he and he must never m again. „ IV ii 425
I go to m my King! Grim. To m the King? „ V ii 620
I will go out and m them. „ V iii 52
shun To m her face to face at once! The Cup I i 59
When first he m's his maiden in a bower. „ I iii 41 walk with me we needs must m Antonius coming, „ I iii 92
I will go To m him, crown'd! „ II 519
Why comes he not to m me? „ II 528
Still I am half-afraid to m her now. Prom. of May I 488
Keep up your heart until we m again. „ I 754
If that should break before we m again? „ I 756 and he trusted that some time we should m again, „ III 329
If ever I m thee there, I will break thy sconce Foresters I ii 74 they can m upon anything thro' a millstone. „ II i 280
I will not m him yet, I'll watch him „ III 47
Thou told'st us we should m him in the forest, „ IV 439
I cannot m his eyes. „ IV 799

Meeting (part) Gardiner, coming with the Queen, And m Pembroke, Queen Mary II ii 310

Meeting (s) When theer wur a m o' farmers at Little-chester t'other daäy, Prom. of May I 137

Melancholy Fine eyes—but m, irresolute— Queen Mary III iv 337

Mellow and as sleek and as round-about as a m codlin. Foresters I i 43

Melt Till doomsday m it. Queen Mary III v 51 may strike fire from her, Not hope to m her. „ III vi 40
Iron will fuse, and marble m; Prom. of May II 505
Who m's a waxen image by the fire, Foresters II i 671

Memorial wear it as m of a morning Queen Mary I v 529

Memory This m to thee!—and this to England, Harold V i 326
My m is as dead. The Falcon 524 drove me From out her m. Prom. of May II 405
We leave but happy memories to the forest. Foresters IV 1070

Menace if Philip m me, I think that I will play Queen Mary III v 241

Menaced whereupon I m her with this, Becket IV ii 348

Men-at-arms m-a-a Guard my poor dreams for England. Queen Mary I v 152
I would set my m-a-a to oppose thee, Foresters I i 323 and there be m-a-a to guard her. „ I ii 158

Mended he niver m that gap i' the glebe fence as I tell'd 'im; Prom. of May I 446

Mene M, M, Tekel! Is thy wrath Hell, Harold V i 35

Mention (s) hang On the chance m of some fool Queen Mary III v 43
Make thou not m that I spake with thee. Harold II ii 483

Mention (verb) I never heard her m you. Prom. of May II 395
An' we weänt m naw naämes, „ III 129
You, how dare you m kisses? Foresters II i 127

Mentioned You haven't even m him in your last? Prom. of May I 778 you m her name too suddenly before my father. „ II 23
And if she never m me, „ II 400

Mercenary one of those mercenaries that suck the blood of England. Foresters II i 174
Strike, Sheriff! Strike, m! „ II i 416
Prince John, the Sheriff, and a m. „ II i 446
Is coming with a swarm of mercenaries „ III 452
follow'd by Prince John And all his mercenaries! „ IV 589

Merchant raise us loans and subsidies Among the m's; Queen Mary V i 180
To this son of a London m— Becket, Pro. 434
Thomas, son Of Gilbert Becket, London m. „ II ii 231

Mercians Earl of the M! if the truth be gall, Harold IV i 14

Merciful It were more m to burn him now. Queen Mary IV i 153
O God, For thou art m, refusing none „ IV iii 131
Your Grace hath been More m to many a rebel head „ V ii 5

Mercy Yet too much m is a want of m, „ I v 505
He by His m absolve you! „ III iii 208 to cast myself Upon the good Queen's m; „ III v 168
M, that herb-of-grace, Flowers now but seldom. „ III vi 9
To reach the hand of m to my friend. „ IV i 65
why my friend Should meet with lesser m than myself? „ IV i 70
God grant you ampler m at your call „ IV i 189
Will they have m on me? Villa Garcia. Have you good hopes of m! So, farewell. „ IV ii 84
Three persons and one God, have m on me, „ IV iii 121
For thy great m have m! „ IV iii 137
Thy m must be greater than all sin. „ IV iii 151
Why then to heaven, and God ha' m on him. „ IV iii 632
Have you found m there, Grant it me here: „ V v 144
Ay, Madam, but o' God's m— „ V v 166 allegiance in thy Lord's And crave his m, Harold V i 12
Have m on us! (repeat) Harold V i 501, 611, 643, 645
The child . . . No . . . m! No! Becket IV ii 186
M, m, As you would hope for m. „ V iii 175
When you have charm'd our general into m, The Cup I ii 312 a Sister of M, come from the death-bed of a pauper, Prom. of May III 376

Mere (adj.) M compliments and wishes. Queen Mary V ii 596
The m wild-beast! Prom. of May III 736
This is m marble. Foresters II i 275
A shadow, a poetical fiction—did ye not call me king in your song?—a m figure. „ IV 221

Mere (s) The brows unwrinkled as a summer m.— Harold III i 49
A summer m with sudden wreckful gusts „ III i 50

Merit (s) Forgive me, Father, for no m of mine, Queen Mary IV iii 152

Merit (verb) and that m's death—False oath on holy cross— Becket IV ii 207

Merle Hawk, buzzard, jay, the mavis and the m, Foresters I iii 116

Merriest beyond The m murmurs of their banquet clank Harold II ii 408

Merriment Breaks into feather'd m's, Queen Mary III v 13 in the end we flourished out into a m ; Becket III iii 138
Merry Be m ! yet, Sir Ralph, you look but sad. Queen Mary II ii 358
But then he looks so m. „ III i 203
Heretic and rebel Point at me and make m. „ v ii 318
It was never m world In England, since the Bible came among us. „ v v 240
It never will be m world in England, „ v v 246
Thou hast misread this m dream of thine, Harold I ii 98
To-night we will be m. (repeat) Harold II ii 768, 771
Feed, feast, and be m. Becket I iv 152 let us be m to-night at the banquet. Foresters I i 344
I am only m for an hour or two Upon a birthday : „ I iii 11
why should we make us m Because a year of it is gone ? „ I iii 14
There be good fellows there in m Sherwood That hold by Richard, „ I iii 98
' Love, love, love, love '—what m madness—listen ! „ III 42
All the birds in m Sherwood sing and sing him home again. „ IV 1109
Mesh Tho' scarce at ease ; for, save our m'es break, Harold II ii 140
The simple lobster-basket, and the m— Becket II ii 298
Message I do but bring the m, know no more. Queen Mary I iv 228
I will give your m. „ III vi 41
But shall I take some m from your Grace ? „ V ii 597
we bring a m from the King Beyond the water ; Becket V ii 301
Had you then No m with the cup ? The Cup I ii 68
Well, Madam, I will give your m to him. The Falcon 217 that I forgot my m from the Earl. Foresters I i 297 Messenger and there are m's That go between us. Queen Mary I iii 137
I chanced upon the m Who brings that letter „ I v 585
Not thee, my son : some other m. Harold I i 244
—thou art but a m of William. „ V i 29
I am the m of God, His Norman Daniel ! „ V i 33
The m from Synorix who waits Before the Temple ? The Cup II 37 too rich a prize To trust with any m. The Falcon 726
It is a royal m, my lord : Foresters I iii 52
A worthy m ! how should he help it ? „ I iii 85
Met she m the Queen at Wanstead Queen Mary I i 77 hands Came from the crowd and m his own ; „ IV iii 583 Thou hast rounded since we m. Harold I i 95
he and Wulfnoth never Have m, except in public ; „ II ii 86
Look rather thou all-royal as when first I m thee. Becket II i 47
I m a robber once, I told him I was bound „ V ii 98
'Tis long since we have m ! The Falcon 274 never since have m Her equal for pure innocence Prom. of May II 371
I m her first at a farm in Cumberland—Her uncle's. „ II 396
he tells me that he m you once in the old times, „ III 262
I do believe I lost my heart to him the very first time we m, „ III 284
if m in a black lane at midnight : Foresters III 224
He m a stag there on so narrow a ledge— „ IV 531
Metal to fuse Almost into one m love and hate,— Queen Mary III vi 182
Meteor These m's came and went before our day, Harold I i 131
Methinks and yet, m, I have seen goodlier. Queen Mary I v 6
Madam, m a cold face and a haughty. „ I v 196
m, A prince as naturally may love his people „ II ii 191
M most men are but poor-hearted, „ II ii 337
M the good land heard me, „ III ii 57
M that under our Queen's regimen We might go „ III iv 181
And yet m he falters : „ III iv 398
M that would you tarry one day more „ III vi 232
m my Queen is like enough To leave me by and by. „ V i 241
M there is no manhood left among us. „ V ii 284
m I love her less For such a dotage upon such a man. „ V ii 420
M I am all angel, that I bear it „ V iii 3 so m, my boy, Thy fears infect me beyond reason. Harold II ii 450 Better m have slain the man at once ! „ II ii 498
Methought glance of some distaste, Or so m, return'd. Queen Mary III i 101
Methusaleh live as long as Jerusalem. Eva. M, father. Prom. of May I 379
Metre and the matter in the m. Becket, Pro. 384
Metropolitan He here, this heretic m, Queen Mary IV iii 43
Mexico The voices of Peru and M, „ V i 47
Michaelmas At M, Miss, please God. Prom. of May III 112

Mid strike, make his feathers Glance in m heaven. The Falcon 16
Mid-battle will you crown my foe My victor in m-b ? Becket V i 150
Mid-day Hang'd at m-d, their traitor of the dawn The Cup II 123
Midder (meadow) An' the m's all mow'd, an' the sky sa blue— (repeat) Prom. of May II 176, 188, 200
Middle (adj.) For, like a fool, thou knowest no m way. Becket I iii 532
Middle (s) in the m of that fierce fight At Stamfordbridge. Harold IV iii 183
Midland or wreckt And dead beneath the m ocean, Foresters II i 657
Midmost As in the m heart of Paradise. The Cup II 186 Midnight I hardly gain'd The camp at m. „ I iii 19 dead m when I came upon the bridge ; Prom. of May III 368
if met in a black lane at m : Foresters III 224
Midriff-shaken many m-s even to tears, as springs gush out after earthquakes— Becket III iii 162
Mid-sea whose quick flash splits The m-s mast, The Cup II 293
Mid-summer full m-s in those honest hearts. Becket V ii 373
Midwinter Yon gray old Gospeller, sour as m, Queen Mary I iii 40
'Tis known you are m to all women, Becket I ii 27
Save that it was m-w in the street, „ V ii 372
Might (s) ' Thine is the right, for thine the m ; Harold II ii 357
William laugh'd and swore that m was right, „ II ii 362
Waste not thy m before the battle ! „ V i 415
Might (verb) See Mowt
Mightier but those of Normanland Are m than our own. Harold III i 225
The more the love, the m is the prayer ; „ III i 347 that Tostig Conjured the m Harold from his North „ IV ii 68
Their giant-king, a m man-in-arms Than William. „ V i 399
But we must have a m man than he For his successor. Becket, Pro. 6
Thou art the man—be thou A m Anselm. „ I i 134
' Fore God, I am a m man than thou. „ I i 223
We find that it is m than it seems— „ IV ii 263
I think they will be m than the king. Foresters I ii 119
Mightiest (adj.) and be the m man This day in England. Queen Mary II ii 19
But not the force made them our m kings. „ III iv 335
You are the m monarch upon earth, I but a little Queen : „ V i 52
Bride of the m sovereign upon earth ? „ V ii 544
Should make the m empire earth has known. „ V iii 70
Thou art the m voice in England, man, Harold II ii 617
But I that threw the m knight of France, Becket I iii 746
Mightiest (s) More, what the m and the holiest Of all his predecessors „ II ii 179 Mighty (adj. and adv.) For I am m popular with them, Noailles. Queen Mary I iii 101
Ay, ay, but m doctors doubted there. „ IV i 83
Friend for so long time of a m King ; „ IV iii 73
And done such m things by Holy Church, „ V v 74
Thou art a m man In thine own earldom ! Harold II i 92
And m pretty legs too. Thou art the prettiest child I ever saw. Becket IV i 6
But my sister wrote that he was m pleasant, Prom. of May I 116
But he were m fond o' ye, warn't he ? „ II 9 ready To make allowances, and m slow To feel offences. „ III 629
Mighty (s) How are the m fallen, Master Cranmer ! Queen Mary IV ii 146
Milan (town) Granada, Naples, Sicily, and M,— „ V i 44
Milcher (milch-cow) Dumble's the best m in Islip. (repeat) „ IV iii 478, 497
Mild Your m Legate Pole Will tell you that the devil helpt them thro' it. „ IV iii 351
Julius the Third Was ever just, and m, and father-like ; „ V ii 31
We have heard Of thy just, m, and equal governance ; Harold II ii 690
she had seen the Archbishop once, So m, so kind. Becket V ii 120
Milder Ye govern m men. Gurth. We have made them m by just government. Harold I i 339
Mile seen your steps a m From me and Lambeth ? Queen Mary I ii 81
I would not ; but a hundred m's I rode, „ I v 551
we must round By Kingston Bridge. Brett. Ten m's about. „ II iii 49 brook across our field For twenty m's, „ V v 84
I ha' carried him ever so many m's in my arms, Becket I iv 98
What be he a-doing here ten m an' moor fro' a raäil ? Prom. of May I 209
Militant Thou hast roll'd over the Church m Foresters IV 273

Milk mute as death, And white as her own m; Queen Mary II ii 80 the cow kick'd, and all her m was spilt. „ III v 266 and shared His fruits and m. Liar! The Cup I ii 428
M? Filippo. Three laps for a cat! The Falcon 124
No not a draught of m, no not an egg, „ 871 come as freely as heaven's air and mother's m? Foresters I i 210
Sour m and black bread. „ II i 272 and her bread is beyond me: and the m—faugh! „ II i 293 wouldst bar me fro' the m o' my cow, „ II i 355 Milking with my hands M the cow? (repeat) Queen Mary III v 88, 95, 102 you came and kiss'd me m the cow. (repeat) „ III v 91, 98 Come behind and kiss me m the cow! „ III v 105 take to the m of your cows, the fatting of your calves, Prom. of May II 92
Milkmaid I would I were a m, To sing, Queen Mary III v 110
I wish'd myself the m singing here, „ III v 256
Your Highness such a m? „ III v 268
Mill More water goes by the m than the miller wots of, Foresters I ii 48
Old as the m. „ IV 302
Miller black sheep baaed to the m's ewe-lamb, The m's away for to-night: Becket I iv 163
But the m came home that night, „ I iv 173
She beautiful: sleep as a m's mouse! The Falcon 165
Thou Much, m's son, hath not the Earl right? Much.
More water goes by the mill than the m wots of, Foresters I ii 46
Much, the m's son, I knew thy father: „ I iii 146 they can meet upon anything thro' a m. „ II i 280
I Little John, he Much the m's son, and he Scarlet, „ III 55
Millwheel The m turn'd in blood; Becket I iii 353
Milly (servant to Farmer Dobson) ye ringed fur that, Miss, didn't ye? Dora. No, M; Prom. of May III 15 no one has seen you but myself. Eva. Yes—this M. Dora. Poor blind Father's little guide, M, „ III 230
It is only M. Dora. Well, M, why do you come in so roughly? „ III 341
M, my dear, how did you leave Mr. Steer? „ III 409
Mimick'd boy she held M and piped her Queen Mary II ii 74
Mince M and go back! his politic Holiness Becket II ii 45 Mind (s) to my m the Lady Elizabeth is the more noble Queen Mary I i 71 all one m to supplicate The Legate here for pardon, „ III iii 105
We are all one m. „ III iii 110
To my m, The cataract typed the headlong plunge „ III iv 139 as one whose m Is all made up, „ IV iii 588
To be nor mad, nor bigot—have a m— „ V v 216
What lies upon the m of our good king Harold I i 268
I have a m that thou shalt catch no more. „ II i 70
I have a m to brain thee with mine axe. „ II i 73
my m was set upon other matters. Becket, Pro. 317 Blurt thy free m to the air? „ I iii 239 run my m out to a random guest Who join'd me The Cup I ii 107 Hath she made up her m to marry him? „ II 22 who call'd the m Of children a blank page, Prom. of May II 281
Has lost his health, his eyesight, even his m. „ III 768
Mind (remind) M, ma o' summun. „ II 583
Minded it m me Of the sweet woods of Clifford, Becket I i 263
Mine (poss.) M—but not yet all m. Queen Mary I v 542
May I have it as m, till m Be m again? Becket II i 298
Mine (s) in this pause, before The m be fired, Queen Mary II i 26
I fear the m is fired before the time. „ II i 123
The m is fired, and I will speak to them. „ II i 155
Mingle I scarce have heart to m in this matter, „ II ii 113
Minion glad to wreak our spite on the rosefaced m Becket, Pro. 529
Well—you know—the m, Rosamund. „ I ii 37
We thought to scare this m of the King „ IV ii 330
Minister Whose m's they be to govern you. Queen Mary IV iii 180
Minnow if you care to drag your brains for such a m. Foresters II i 324
Minster (adj.) And smote me down upon the M floor. Becket I i 104
Minster (s) as the new-made couple Came from the M, Queen Mary III i 95
That long low m where you gave your hand „ III ii 90 Methought I stood in Canterbury M, Becket I i 73
loftiest m ever built To Holy Peter Harold III i 206
Minster-aisle Their long bird-echoing m-a's,— Becket III i 44
Minster-bell Tho' earth's last earthquake clash'd the m-b's, „ V iii 42 Minute In some few m's. She will address your guilds Queen Mary II ii 14
Your pardon for a m. She must be waked. Prom. of May III 657

Miracle Our voyage by sea was all but m; Queen Mary III ii 25
Seem'd as a happy m to make glide— „ III ii 29
News, mates! a m, a m! news! „ III ii 209
—would be deem'd a m. „ V iii 55
I have wrought m's—to God the glory—And m's Harold I i 181
For Henry could not work a m— Becket I i 40 life Saved as by m alone with Him Who gave it. „ IV ii 368
A m that they let him home again, The Cup I ii 270
Why now I count it all but m, „ I iii 37
She, you mourn for seem'd A m of gentleness— Prom. of May II 491
Miracled See De-miracled
Miracle-monger our friar is so holy That he's a m-m, Foresters IV 281
Miraculous For as to the fish, they de-miracled the m draught, Becket III iii 124
Mire caked and plaster'd with a hundred m's, Harold IV iii 178 from the street Stain'd with the m thereof. Becket I iii 691
From off the stalk and trample it in the m, Foresters I ii 111 Mirror Unless my friends and m's lie to me, Queen Mary I iv 2
Mischance some m of flood, And broken bridge, „ I v 353
Mischief Him as did the m here, five year' sin.' Prom. of May III 139
Miser Close as a m's casket. Listen: Queen Mary I iv 108 Miserable scum And offal of the city would not change Estates with him; in brief, so m. „ IV iii 78
Most m sinner, wretched man. „ IV iii 123
The m see-saw of our child-world, „ IV iii 385
Old, m, diseased, „ V v 178
And poor old father not die m. Prom. of May I 722 and father Will not die m.' „ II 660 Miserere Mei said the M M—But all in English, mark you; Queen Mary III i 391
Misery put off the rags They had mock'd his m with, „ IV iii 590
But now we are made one flesh in m; „ V ii 153 pauper, who had died in his m blessing God, Prom. of May III 378
Misfortin (misfortune) knaw'd better nor to cast hes sister's m inter 'er teeth „ II 127
Mishandled If she should be m. Queen Mary II ii 115
Misheard M their snores for groans. Harold V i 213
Mislead M us, and I will have thy life! Foresters II i 376
Misleader were there but three or four Of these m's, Queen Mary III iv 174
Mismatch'd M with her for policy! „ III i 365
Misname You do m me, match'd with any such, Becket IV ii 128
Misnamed now the stronger motive, M free-will— Prom. of May II 637
Misplaced round his knee, m, Our English Garter, Queen Mary III i 83
Misread Thou hast m this merry dream of thine, Harold I ii 98
Misreport Will in some lying fashion m His ending Queen Mary IV iii 326
One that would neither m nor lie, „ IV iii 556
Miss (s) (See also Misses) and haäfe th' parish 'll be theer, an' M Dora, an' M Eva, an' all! Prom. of May I 10
Man. M Dora be coomed back, then? Prom. of May I 10
Foälks says he likes M Eva the best. „ I 25
Beänt M Eva gone off a bit of 'er good looks o' laäte? „ I 32
Noä, M. I ha'n't seed 'er neither. „ I 48
Blessings on your pretty voice, M Dora. „ I 64
Theer be redder blossoms nor them, M Dora. „ I 86
Under your eyes, M Dora. „ I 89
Noä, M Dora; as blue as— (repeat) „ I 95, 99
Theer ye goäs ageän, M niver believing owt I says to ye— „ I 106
He'll be arter you now, M Dora. „ I 118
He's been arter M Eva, haän't be? „ I 121
And I tells ye what, M Dora: „ I 131
I thank you for that, M Dora, onyhow. „ I 157
M, the farming men 'ull hev their dinner i' the long barn, „ I 165
So the owd uncle i' Coomberland be deäd, M Dora, „ II 2
Not like me, M Dora; „ II 13 but I hallus gi'ed soom on 'em to M Eva at this time o' year. Will ya taäke 'em? fur M Eva, „ II 16 and now she be gone, will ye taäke 'em, M Dora? „ II 21 an' weänt ye taäke 'em now, M Dora, „ II 41
I were insured, M, an' I lost nowt by it. But I weänt be too sudden wi' it; and I feel sewer, M Dora, „ II 57
but that be all along o' you, M, „ II 109
M Dora, Dan Smith's cart hes runned ower a laädy „ II 567

Miss (s) (continued) ye ringed fur that, M, didn't ye? Dora.
No, Milly; but if the farming-men be come for their wages, to send them up to me. Milly.
Yeäs, M. Prom. of May III 14
Taäke one o' the young 'uns fust, M? „ III 32
Noä, M; we worked naw wuss upo' the cowd tea; „ III 58
All right, M; and thank ye kindly. „ III 66
Whoy, O lor, M! „ III 71
O lor, M! noä, noä, noä! „ III 91
Yeäs, M; but he wur so rough wi' ma, „ III 103
'Listed for a soädger, M, i' the Queen's Real Hard Tillery. „ III 108
At Michaelmas, M, please God. „ III 112
An' I thanks ye fur that, M, moor nor fur the waäge. „ III 116
'A cotched ma about the waaist, M, „ III 119
Why, M Dora, meä and my maätes, us three, we wants to hev three words wi' ye. Higgins.
That be 'im, and meä, M. Jackson. An' meä, M. „ III 124
Theer, M! You ha' naämed 'im—not me. „ III 142
Wasn't M Vavasour, our schoolmistress at Littlechester, „ III 297
Pleäse, M, Mr. Dobson telled me to saäy he's browt some of M Eva's roses for the sick laädy to smell on. „ III 345
Yeäs, M; and he wants to speak to ye partic'lar. „ III 350
Yeäs, M; but he says he wants to tell ye summut very partic'lar. „ III 354
Why, M? I be afeard I shall set him a-sweäring like onythink. „ III 358
You see she is lamed, and cannot go down to him.
Milly. Yeäs, M, I will. „ III 417
M Dora! M Dora! Dora. Quiet! quiet! What is it? Milly. Mr. 'Arold, M. Dora. Below?
Milly. Yeäs, M. „ III 475
Tell him, then, that I'm waiting for him. Milly.
Yeäs, M. „ III 485

Miss (verb) I m something. The tree that only bears Queen Mary III i 18
To strike too soon is oft to m the blow. „ III vi 72 burrow where the King Would m her and for ever. Becket IV ii 159
He m the searching flame of purgatory, „ V iii 13
Why didst thou m thy quarry yester-even? The Falcon 150
if thou m I will fasten thee to thine own door-post Foresters II i 403

Missed M! There goes another. Shoot, Sheriff!
Sheriff. M! „ II i 396
They have m the vein. „ IV 636

Misses (See also Miss) but I promised one of the M I wouldn't meddle wi' ye, and I weänt. Prom. of May I 469

Missive fearing for her, sent a secret m, Queen Mary II ii 121
When next there comes a m from the Queen „ III v 182
A m from the Queen: „ III v 187
Here is a m left at the gate by one from the castle. Becket I iv 49

Misstate Swear and unswear, state and m thy best! „ II ii 476

Mist among thine island m's With laughter. Harold II ii 182 oafs, ghosts o' the m, wills-o'-the-wisp; Foresters II i 263

Mistake (s) I see it—some confusion, Some strange m. Becket III i 235
Some foolish m of Sally's; Prom. of May III 153
No, Father, that was a m. She's here again. „ III 445

Mistake (verb) You do m. I am not one to change. Queen Mary V i 217
No, daughter, you m our good Archbishop; Becket V ii 138

Mistaken Only one, And he perhaps m in the face. The Cup I ii 343

Mister (See also Master, Mr.) feller couldn't find a M in his mouth fur me, as farms five hoonderd haäcre. Prom. of May I 303
Pleäse M 'Arold. Harold. Well? „ III 700

Mistradition Monsters of m, old enough Queen Mary IV ii 102

Mistress Spain would be England on her seas, and England M of the Indies. „ V iii 74
England Will be the M of the Indies yet, „ V iii 77
She is my m, let me look to her! Harold I i 287
I shall have my tetrarchy restored By Rome, our m, when the m died, and I appealed to the Sister again, The Cup I i 21
You do well, M Kate, Prom. of May III 393
I would like to show you, M Kate. Foresters I i 23
Pretty m! Robin. What art thou, man? „ I i 49
Pretty m, will you dance? „ I ii 189
„ I ii 203

Mistress (continued) She is my queen and thine, The m of the band. Foresters II ii 42
I remain M of mine own self and mine own soul. „ IV 729

Mistrust Doth thou m me? Am I not thy friend? „ I ii 177 to m the girl you say you love Is to m your own love „ II ii 57
How should you love if you m your love? „ II ii 60

Misty Walk'd at night on the m heather; Harold III ii 5
I am m with my thimbleful of ale. Foresters IV 278

Misuse Who m's a dog would m a child— Becket I iv 108

Misused she will not have thee, Thou hast m her: Harold IV ii 35

Misvalued I fear the Emperor much m me. Queen Mary III ii 76

Mite Cheese? Filippo. A supper for twelve m's. The Falcon 127
Cast them into our treasury, the beggars' m's. Foresters III 205

Mitre Wanting the Papal m. Queen Mary III iv 148
The Pope has pushed his horns beyond his m— „ V i 153
He took his m off, and set it on me, Becket I i 63 and the m Grappling the crown— „ II i 26
Who made the second m play the first, And acted me? „ III iii 212 crowns must bow when m's sit so high. „ IV ii 297
The M! Salisbury. Will you wear it?— „ V ii 616

Mitred Crown'd slave of slaves, and m king of kings, Queen Mary III iv 381
He fasts, they say, this m Hercules! Becket I iii 518

Mix M not yourself with any plot I pray you; Queen Mary I iv 173
Philip should not m us any way With his French wars— „ III iii 78
m our spites And private hates with our defence Becket V ii 50
m with all The lusty life of wood and underwood, Foresters I iii 112

Mixing Catholic, Mumbling and m in his scared prayers Queen Mary II ii 86
M our bloods, that thence a king may rise Harold IV i 142

Mixt And m with Wyatt's rising— Queen Mary V ii 479
I fear my dear lord m With some conspiracy The Cup I ii 15

Moan (s) he never uttered m of pain: Queen Mary IV iii 618
But your m is useless now: „ IV iii 638
he makes m that all be a-getting cold. Becket I iv 61
And I make my m along with him. „ I iv 63

Moan (verb) It breaks my heart to hear her m at night Queen Mary I v 603 and needs must m for him; O Cranmer! „ IV iii 635
he licks my face and m's and cries out against the King. Becket I iv 99

Moan'd Ran sunless down, and m against the piers. Queen Mary II iii 26
Not slighted—all but m for: thou must go. Becket I i 352

Moaning See A-moänin', Low-moaning

Moänt (must not) Here! she m coom here. Prom. of May III 458

Moat And I would swim the m, like an otter. Foresters I i 321

Mob A bold heart yours to beard that raging m! Queen Mary I iii 97
Pertest of our flickering m, Foresters II ii 130

Mock (adj.) (See also Mock-king) All the church is grateful. You have ousted the m priest, Queen Mary I v 180

Mock (verb) Have I not heard them m the blessed Host „ IV iii 365
O father, m not at a public fear, Harold I i 74
M me not. I am not even a monk. Becket, Pro. 247
They m us; he is here. „ I iv 202 will he not m at me The jealous fool balk'd „ IV ii 422

Mock'd summon'd hither But to be m and baited. Queen Mary III iv 270 put off the rags They had m his misery with, „ IV iii 590 then they m us and we fell upon 'em, Becket I ii 15

Mockery And if your penitence be not m, Queen Mary III iii 179 that was a m, you know, for he gave me no address, and there was no word of marriage; Prom. of May III 331

Mocking but thou art m me. Thou art Her brother— Foresters II i 515
They are jesting at us yonder, m us? „ IV 676
If Cranmer's spirit were a m one, Queen Mary V ii 211

Mock-king M-k, I am the messenger of God, Harold V i 33

Mode this faded ribbon was the m In Florence The Falcon 422

Model as a sculptor clay, To their own m. Queen Mary III iii 34
Statesmen that are wise Take truth herself for m. „ III iii 37

Moderate I pride myself on being m. „ V iv 60

Moderately Methought I answer'd m enough. Becket V ii 546

Modest yet so meek, so m, Queen Mary III i 363
Then our m women—I know the Norman license— Harold II ii 476
I thought that naked Truth would shame the Devil The Devil is so m. „ III i 120
M maiden lily abused, Queen. Foresters II ii 158

Modo Suaviter in m, fortiter in re, Becket V ii 539

Moist tho', to keep the figure m and make it hold water, „ III iii 166

Molehill My nurse would tell me of a m Harold IV iii 128

Molochize I think that they would M them too, Harold I i 36
Moment Quiet a m, my masters; Queen Mary I iii 16
Queen would see your Grace upon the m. „ I iv 222 Or will be in a m. „ I iv 289
sonnet's a flying ant, Wing'd for a m. „ II i 85
Cries of the m and the street— „ II iv 128
Nay come with me—one m! „ III ii 189
That I was for a m wroth at thee. „ III iv 306
Yet, a m since, I wish'd myself the milkmaid „ III v 255 Whose colours in a m break and fly, „ IV iii 169 seeing in a m, I shall find Heaven or else hell „ IV iii 223 Whose colours in a m break and fly!' „ V ii 206 so your Grace would bide a m yet. „ V ii 547
We dally with our lazy m's here, And hers are number'd. „ V iii 108
He had his gracious m, Altho' you'll not believe me. „ V v 38
And in a m I shall follow him. „ V v 57 but stay a m; He can but stay a m: Harold I ii 3 but rather let me be King of the m to thee, „ III ii 41 thou be only King of the m over England. „ III ii 51
There was a m When being forced aloof „ IV iii 14
A m! thou didst help me to my throne Becket, Pro. 200 citizen's heir hath conquer'd me For the m. „ II ii 62
They have made it up again—for the m. „ III iii 170 made me for the m proud Ev'n of that stale Church-bond „ IV ii 445
A m! If you track this Sinnatus In any treason, The Cup I i 161
And that sets her against me—for the m. „ I iii 164
He knew not at the m who had fasten'd „ II 49
Your arm—a m—It will pass. „ II 449
But lay them there for a m! The Falcon 763 this, for the m, Will leave me a free field. Prom. of May II 455 lie down there together in the darkness which would seem but for a m, „ III 195
The shelter of your roof—not for one m— „ III 801
Tho' in one m she should glance away, Foresters II i 161
Young Walter, nay, I pray thee, stay a m. Marian. A m for some matter of no m! Well—take and use your m, while you may. „ II i 473
That I might breathe for a m free of shield „ IV 128
We sighted 'em Only this m. „ IV 591 for the m strike the bonds From these three men, „ IV 961 Momentary Were m sparkles out as quick Almost as kindled; Queen Mary I ii 73 are only like The rainbow of a m sun. Foresters I ii 279
Monarch (adj.) his m mane Bristled about his quick ears— The Cup I ii 120
Monarch (s) You are the mightiest m upon earth, Queen Mary V i 52
That never English m dying left England so little. „ V v 277
Monday (adj.) Immanuel Goldsmiths was broke into o' M night, Prom. of May I 393
Monday (s) I'll hev it done o' M. „ III 45 you were stupid drunk all Sunday, and so ill in consequence all M, „ III 81 Money Confiscate lands, goods, m— Queen Mary II i 102
Is that it? That's a big lot of m. „ II iii 63
Do you lack any m? „ IV ii 40
A fit place for the monies of the Church, Becket I iii 105
I had no heart to part with her for m. Giovanna. No, not for m. The Falcon 326 and now, as far as m goäs, I be a gentleman, Prom. of May I 331 Count the m and see if it's all right. „ III 64 sits and eats his heart for want of m to pay the Abbot. Foresters I i 5 he borrowed the monies from the Abbot of York, the Sheriff's brother. „ I i 67 his monies, his oxen, his dinners, himself. „ I i 234
He has monies. I will go to him. „ I i 273
Must you have these monies before the year and the month end? „ I ii 149
He has a friend there will advance the monies, „ II i 629
That baseness which for fear or monies, „ II i 706
how much m hast thou in thy purse? „ III 273
How should poor friars have m? „ III 276 and took His monies. „ III 363 it was agreed when you borrowed these monies from the Abbot „ IV 466 these monies should be paid in to the Abbot at York, „ IV 506
You have the monies and the use of them. „ IV 548
Money (continued) Sir Richard paid his monies to the Abbot. Foresters IV 849 Money-lover No m-l he! Harold II ii 216
Monger See Miracle-monger, Word-monger
Mongering See Perjury-mongering
Mongrel Made even the carrion-nosing m vomit Queen Mary IV iii 448
Monk It was a wheedling m Set up the mass. „ I ii 90
M, Thou hast said thy say, Harold V i 4 m, I ask again When had the Lateran and the Holy Father „ V i 15
Out, beast m! I ever hated m's. „ V i 75
Leofric, and all the m's of Peterboro' „ V i 446
Mock me not. I am not even a m. Becket, Pro. 248 Go like a m, cowling and clouding up „ I i 311 as I hate the dirty gap in the face of a Cistercian m, „ II ii 382
A stranger m desires access to you. „ V ii 65
The m's disguise thou gavest me for my bower: „ V ii 93
M's, knights, five hundred, that were there and heard. „ V ii 406
Robert, The apostate m that was with Randulf „ V ii 574
I cannot tell why m's should all be cowards. „ V ii 581
Why should all m's be cowards? „ V ii 588
Ay, m's, not men. Grim. I am a m, my lord. „ V ii 602 these are our own m's who follow'd us! „ V iii 59
I and my friend, this m, were here belated, Foresters I ii 193
What m of what convent art thou? „ I ii 205
Sheriff, thy friend, this m, is but a statue. „ I ii 233
We spoil'd the prior, friar, abbot, m, „ III 167
Monkery divorced King Louis, Scorning his m,— Becket IV ii 419
Monkey The m that should roast his chestnuts for him! Foresters IV 806
Monk-king good brother, They call you the M-K. Becket II ii 73
I am proud of my 'M-K,' „ II ii 101
my much constancy To the m-k, Louis, „ IV ii 305 Monna Giovanna (See also Giovanna) Ah, M G, you here again! The Falcon 85 and all along o' you, M G, „ 103
there is M G coming down the hill from the castle. „ 160 Monster M's of mistradition, old enough Queen Mary IV ii 102
Monstrous M! blasphemous! She ought to burn. „ I v 57
(thus there springs to light That Centaur of a m Commonweal, The traitor-heretic) „ III iv 163
Bark'd out at me such m charges, Becket IV ii 342
She too—she too—the bride! the Queen! and I—M! I that loved her. The Cup II 469 and some Pillaring a leaf-sky on their m boles, Foresters III 100 Month for women To go twelve m's in bearing Queen Mary III vi 91 Give her a m or two, and her affections Prom. of May I 484 must be paid in a year and a m, or I lose the land. Foresters I i 269
Must you have these monies before the year and the m end? „ I ii 150
Give him another m, and he will pay it. Justiciary. We cannot give a m. „ IV 443 paid in to the Abbot of York, at the end of the m at noon, „ IV 508 Mood I am in no m: I should be as the shadow Harold II ii 176 to thwart them in their m May work them grievous harm The Falcon 820 man not prone to jealousies, Caprices, humours, m's; Prom. of May iii 627 Mooded See Iron-mooded
Moody You, Scarlet, you are always m here. Foresters I iii 128
Man, lying here alone, M creature, „ II ii 187
Moon a star beside the m Is all but lost; Queen Mary V i 80
Would not for all the stars and maiden m „ V ii 456
Not must, but will. It is but for one m. Harold I ii 30
In cold, white cells beneath an icy m— „ V i 325 the harvest m is the ripening of the harvest, Becket, Pro. 363
m Divides the whole long street with light and shade. „ I i 364
Dark even from a side glance of the m, „ IV ii 149
No Sinnatus yet—and there the rising m. M on the field and the foam, M on the waste and the wold, M bring him home, bring him home The Cup I ii 2
Home, sweet m, bring him home, „ I ii 7
In the sweet m as with a lovelier snow! „ I ii 396 but this new m, I fear, Is darkness. Foresters I ii 85 or the cow that jumped over the m. „ II i 436 perchance Up yonder with the man i' the m. „ II i 507 Clothed with the mystic silver of her m. „ II i 609

Moon (continued) light of the seas by the m's long-silvering ray! Foresters II ii 179
Moonlight (adj.) And how her shadow crosses one by one The m casements Queen Mary V v 9
Moonlight (s) there goes one in the m. Shoot! Foresters II i 395
What sparkles in the m on thy hand? „ II i 582
Moonshine He often looks in here by the m. „ II i 337
Moor I remember it well. There on the m's. Becket II i 52
Moor (more) I warrants ye'll think m o' this young Squire Edgar as ha' coomed among us— Prom. of May I 109
What be he a-doing here ten mile an' m fro' a raäil? „ I 209
I' mun ha' plowed it m nor a hoonderd times; „ I 368
And I would loove tha m nor ony gentleman 'ud loove tha. „ II 104
I'd think na m o' maäkin' an end o' tha nor a carrion craw— „ II 696
An' I thanks ye fur that, Miss, m nor fur the waäge. „ III 117
